PROSPECTUS.
The Subscriber proposes to publish, in the Upper Marlboro', Prince George's county, Maryland, a weekly journal, to be called
THE BULLETIN.

In undertaking to supply this acknowledged desideratum to the populous and intelligent district in which the subscriber has the pleasure to reside, his hope of ultimate success is not its origin in sanguineousness of temperament, but proceeds from the evident advantages of its location. Published in the heart of a large and wealthy county, situated equidistant from the State and National capitals, facilities of an early communication of whatever may interest its patrons, are particularly afforded to the Editor, and though he may not hope to present to his readers much foreign information through the medium of his columns, yet derivable from other journals, it is still certain that intelligence of a local nature, interesting to all, and important to many, and of a general character, will by this means be communicated, and will also offer to those who are desirous of contributing to the cause of the public, at least a sympathetic view of all the important information they contain; and he trusts that those of literary taste may sometimes find in his columns, articles not unworthy of the employment of their leisure. As the plan of every publication which is to find success in popular support, must first be approved before public patronage can be expected, the Editor would here mark the outline of his design, with the full knowledge that will constitute an ordeal, by which, to determine both its merit and the fidelity of its execution.

The Editor proposes to adapt his paper to the wishes of those by whom he is immediately surrounded, and among whom he must naturally find a majority of his patrons: he knows that he must be intelligent and inquiring;—The literary department, shall, therefore, be as judiciously regarded, and the most approved domestic and foreign periodicals resorted to for belles lettres notices. He feels the interest of the patriotic, and that they feel a deep interest in the welfare of our common country. To gratify this sentiment to the extent of his ability, his columns shall afford whatever intelligence of a political character may be calculated to interest them. No man, with the facility of thought, is at this crisis neutral in reference to the party distinctions now prevalent in this country, and the Editor does not wish to disguise his political sentiments—they are in opposition to the measures of the present Administration. But having neither the temerity nor the motive of a partisan, his comments upon party movements shall be characterized by frankness of argument, not violence or abuse, as it never has been his practice, so shall he never become his habit to deal in political invective or party virulence. He will cheerfully lend the aid of his columns to communicate from all parties—reserving to himself the privilege of rejecting such as are objectionable for personal allusion or indecorous language. In addition to the advantages of appearing in the public eye, he is desirous to tempt into exercise whatever of literary talent may surround him, and with such assistance may not presumptuously hope to render his paper useful and interesting. He asks that the patronage of his friends longer than he merits merit and repay it, as he wishes not to be denied to his editorial labors.

The BULLETIN will be published on Thursdays in each week. Terms of subscription $3 per annum.

LITTELL'S MUSEUM OF FOREIGN LITERATURE, SCIENCE AND ART.

Price.—Six Dollars a year, in advance—seven dollars and a half, if not in advance.
Postage.—Five sheets, under 100 miles 71 cents; over 100 miles, 124 cents.
This work will be sent to any Post Office in the United States, carefully wrapped up, upon receipt of five dollars in part payment. A few complete sets are for sale.

ENLARGED SERIES OF THE MUSEUM.

MR. LITTELL has much pleasure in announcing to the patrons of the Museum, that he has made arrangements for the future publication of the work in a style much superior to the present—and nearly approaching what he has always desired that it should appear in. The circulation of the work is now so large, as to make it important to the proprietor that he should be able to give his whole attention to it. This has hitherto been prevented by the care and labour attendant upon a multifarious and widely extended business. With the view of completing more quickly the publication of Lodge's Portraits and Memoirs of Illustrious and Noble Characters, (a splendid work now in hand)—and effecting a settlement of accounts extending over the whole of the United States—and of making arrangements in all parts of the country for the vigorous prosecution of the publication of the Museum, he has made a contract with Mr. Adam Waldie of this city to print the work, attend to its distribution, and manage all the financial concerns appertaining to it after the present year.

Mr. Waldie is a practical printer, not surpassed in taste by any other in the country; and as he is advantageously and generally known as the publisher of the Select Circulating Library, it is supposed that he will have it in his power greatly to promote the sale of the Museum. He has contracted to issue it promptly, and thus will be corrected the greatest fault which has heretofore attended its management. The changes in the appearance of the work will be as follows:

1. It will be regularly and promptly published.
2. Will be uniformly and handsomely printed.
3. On better paper.
4. Will be more largely enlarged.

As the sale of the work has increased, Mr. Littell has always been desirous of devoting the enlarged portion to improvement—and although he has not been able to do so, the appearance of the new series is now considered as an improvement, and he trusts that it will be well received by its patrons.

It is now in the hands of our own wish, in reference to the work, until it shall be so far enlarged and improved as to make it clear to every reader that he will herein receive all that is valuable to an American reader from all the best Periodicals. That we can do so in a single work, by making it contain four or five times as much matter as an ordinary periodical, we have no doubt. A great part of most of the Reviews and Magazines is composed of a tedious article, and we confidently appeal to those readers of the Museum who have been in the habit of looking over the British Journals, whether we have not already, in a very great degree, succeeded in copying all that was worth preservation.

As the work will now be considerably enlarged, we shall be able more fully to accomplish this object.

In order that he may, by the present journey from home, be the earlier able to do all other business, and devote his time exclusively to the Museum, Mr. Littell has made arrangements with the Editor of the Library to edit this work after the 1st of November, 1834. However deficient the present work may be in other qualifications, he has always felt so zealous an affection for the Museum that he would not be willing to commit it, even for a time, to the care of another; were he not confident that the facilities, the experience and the ability of the new Editor, will render it more worthy of the patronage of the public than it has heretofore been. No change takes place in the Proprietorship.

Anne Arundel County Court.

PROSPECTUS Of the Extra Globe.

THE undersigned propose to issue the first number of a new series of the EXTRA GLOBE, on Monday, the 25th of May next, and to publish it weekly for six months, making twenty-six numbers; the last to contain an Index to the whole. It will be printed upon fine double-royal paper, made up in quarto form, like the Extra and Congressional Globe published by us last year. The 26 numbers will make 416 quarto royal pages.

It will contain the principal original articles of the Daily and Semi-Weekly Globes, notices of the public meetings, the elections, and public proceedings in every state in the Union, in relation to the canvass for the next Presidency—a contest which the indications of the present year will go far to decide.

The first number will contain the Proceedings of the Democratic National Convention, to be held at Baltimore on the 20th of next month. An excellent Reporter has already been engaged to report the Proceedings of the Convention, and the Speeches which may be made on the occasion.

We request the favour of those friends to whom this Prospectus may be sent, to circulate it, for the purpose of obtaining subscribers. A copy of the work will be sent to the newspapers that copy this Prospectus.

Subscribers should forward their names in time to reach us before the 25th May. If they do not, we may not be able to furnish them with all the numbers; because the work is put at so low a price, that we cannot afford to reprint any number that may be exhausted.

TERMS:

One Dollar per copy, in advance.
Eleven copies will be furnished for Ten Dollars; twenty-two copies for Twenty Dollars, and so on in proportion.

The price of this paper is so low, that we cannot afford to open accounts with those who subscribe for it. Therefore, no attention will be paid to any order, unless the money accompanies it.

POETRY.

From the London Metropolitan.
STANZAS FOR MUSIC.
We parted in silence, we parted by night,
On the banks of that lonely river,
Where the fragrant limes their boughs unite—We met, and we parted for ever.
The night-bird sang, and the stars above Told us a touching story, Of friends long past to the kingdom of love, Where the soul wears its mantle of glory.
We parted in silence, our clocks were set With the hours that were past controlling;
We vowed we would never—no never forget,
And those vows at the time were consenting;
But the lips that echoed the vow of mine,
Are cold as that lonely river;
And that eye, the beautiful spirit's shrine, Has shrouded its fires for ever.
And now on the midnight say I look,
And my heart grows full to weeping; Each star is to me a weeping look, Sorrowful of that loved one keeping.
We parted in silence, we parted in tears,
On the banks of that lonely river;
But the water and bloom of those bygone years Still bring round its water for ever.

TWAS EVENING WHEN I LEFT THE VALE.
As I—
There evening when I left the vale, My heart was full of many a tale,
My heart was full of many a tale,
My heart was full of many a tale,
Then came upon me the voice of night, I heard the distant bells, Come o'er those waters, softly bright,
With all their breathing spells;
Sweet village bells! sweet village bells!
With all their breathing spells.
The stars are in the blue sky set,
And light is on the sea,
And some that parted—now are met—But who shall welcome me?
They light not home's unwearied bowers, Of whom my spirit tells,
Nor come, as a breeze in happier hours I heard these village bells—
Sweet village bells! sweet village bells!
With all their breathing spells.

A COMFORTABLE FELLOW.

Has it not recently happened in your time, courteous reader, that a face you have been long accustomed to see daily, has suddenly disappeared, and absence, had led to the impression that he was dead; gone to the West Indies, and caught by the yellow fever, killed by the Indians, near the Rocky Mountains, or eaten by the cannibals at the Feejee Islands. However, gone he was, disappeared, vanished; and the reasonable conclusion was, that he had gone the way of all flesh. Has it not also occurred, that with this impression you have come upon such a personage suddenly, in the streets, and found him alive—in good health and spirits; and even Time, with its mellow hand, made no wrinkles on his brow? Even such a personage, so dead as I supposed, and almost forgotten, did I encounter in Broadway, a few days ago. He had been for some years, the very epitome of the bon ton—the mirror of fashion—the life of the drawing room, and convivial bear—the dashing blade of the lobby—the first fellow at brag—at a race—a rowing match—or a cock fight—a rare good fellow, who loved life—had a small fortune and lived as it small fortune was getting into a galloping consumption. "Why, Bill, is it you—alive?"

Why, my dear fellow, we all thought you dead some years ago; give me your hand; eye, it is substantial flesh and blood; you have not slept the dreamless sleep. "No, no, my dear friend, I slept long enough, and am now wide awake—an altered man; look at me: would you have recognized Bill Trille, in this pepper and salt coat, this plain jacket, and tustian pantaloons? I am married—have long cut fashion and folly—have a dear good wife, and three children—go to bed at ten, and rise at dawn with a clear head, and a sound heart, and nerves braced by labour and exercise: I am a farmer; live within a few miles of the city—sell eggs and poultry. There's a change my boy, in the course of human events;—the dashing Bill Trille, who used to sport a tandem down Broadway, or drive to the Union course with a terrier between my legs. He looked fresh and healthy, and had lost that cadaverous and sickly appearance, which always follow nights of dissipation. But tell me; how did all this happen—this a conversion miraculous, how came you to run away from the world, and play the jilt to fashion?—O, 'tis a long story; but here comes my little wagon from Fulton market—jump in and ride to my cottage and take tea; 'tis but half an hour's ride, and you shall know all; but stop, let me see if I can recognize some of my old companions of the pave. It was one, and the only one bright sunny day of last week, when the whole fashionable world had thrown aside the muff and tippet and gone abroad to welcome the return of spring with verdure on its brow and primrose in its hand. We were leaning against the iron railing of St. Paul's and the gay throng was passing in rapid, and careless, and countless currents.

As I live, my old flame, Miss Morrygold!—who who could out talk and out dance all creation—the brightest jewel in the cap of fashion! but oh how altered; sunken eyes, pale complexion, slender form, wrinkled brow, premature old age—she has lived too quick. The lady cast a cold and vacant gaze upon him, and passed on.

Who is that fellow in specs, buttoned up in his great coat?—he with grey hair, a shuffling gait, and an air of fashionable decrepitude? Why, it is my old friend and associate Doctor Snufflebags. Many a game of whist, and many a glass of Champagne have we cracked together. He is gone, too, in the yellow leaf coming down the ladder as quick as possible.

He thus ran on for some time—recognizing some, gazing with strange fancy on others, and at length said, "Come, let's be off—they don't remember me. I look too florid, too healthy, too well, to be recognized as the old rake who, on fashionable principles, ought to have run his race half a dozen years ago."

We rode to the cottage; and alighted at the white, washed gate. The grounds were neatly laid out and planted with vegetables—a sheep or two were browsing on a rising ground—the cows were waiting for admission into the barn, and the watch dog barked his welcome as we entered a plainly furnished room, where every thing was useful, nothing superfluous—where a cheerful smile and a kind salutation were extended to us by the fair wife, in whose beautiful and modest face was blended all that was sweet and amiable, courteous and polite. Did you ever take tea in the country? How unlike every thing in town. Butter just churned—cream just skimmed from broad zinc pans—bread of the purest flour, freshly baked—eggs brought from the nest by the little rosy-cheeked country girl in attendance—Cafe a la Mocha—smoked squid of their own curing—preserved peaches and quinces from their own garden. A hearty welcome and keen appetite, gave to such a meal far greater attractions than the sumptuous and luxurious board spread by fashion for the gratification of folly.

After tea, seated on the piazza with a bottle of sparkling cider before us, he began thus—"You thought me dead—I was so—dead to every consideration & reflection which makes life desirable, and on the high road to ruin—my fortune almost gone, and my health seriously impaired. Gunning, you may remember, was my favorite sport—one day I walked over bog and fen, and waded through fog and quagmire, in search of game, until the shades of night encompassed me—I felt jaded and fatigued as a lion gleamed from the ivy encircled eaves of this very cottage, and resting on my gun, with my pointer dogs crouched at my feet, I gazed with intent interest at the scene before me. At one end of the table, placed near a cheerful fire, sat an old man, whom I at once recognized as a veteran of our revolutionary war;—at the other end his daughter was seated, reading to him from a bible, by the broad light of an astral lamp. I never saw a creature more beautiful—her face beamed with purity and intelligence—her long eyelashes were pensively closed, and when she read from the sacred book before her, her coral lips parted over teeth of pearl, and her voice sweet as balsam to the soul, riveted me to the spot with rapture and delight. I must have her, and I—she shall be mine—such a girl should not be permitted to waste her sweetness on the desert air—I'll carry her off, I'll take her to the city, and conceal her at one of my old haunts—the bucks and misses of the town will envy me. She continued to read to me the sublime passages from the book of Isaiah—her voice was loud and sweet, and her face beamed with fire and animation. Hold, hold, said I to myself, let us talk this matter over, will it not become of her old father?—what will the old father do when I have carried off his child?—he who has used his blood for the very luxury when I am enjoying. No matter, yet I cannot marry her—nor can I give her up. At last moment she raised her head, turned aside the raven locks which covered her high arched forehead, and cast a glance towards the easement. How like a dog I looked—now like a demon I felt; I cannot marry her—she is a country girl, and I am a gentleman; the fashionable world will only laugh at me. A gentleman, a gentleman, I repeated to myself—for shame; it is the province of a gentleman, to steel, like a serpent, at night under the easement of this cottage—to twine round this innocent girl until her destruction is complete—to bring her aged father to the grave in misery, venting curses in his teeth—to blast and destroy all the happiness I see around me! If this is the act of a gentleman, of a man of fashion, I am not one; no, thank heaven, I am not so utterly lost to reason and to virtue; no, I will marry her, the rose of health and beauty, and not of guilt, shall beam upon my face. Let the world scorn—let fools deride—let fashion frown—let proud ancestry discard—she shall be my wife, my lion, nest wedded wife. Well, sir, you have seen her; it is needless to recount how I wooed and won her, honorably, faithfully, and how sincerely and truly happy I have been ever since. I seldom visit the city, because I have more powerful attractions at home; I read and labour alternately, and realize the delight of a well governed, well regulated marriage."

What a lesson for all fashionable fops and decayed rakes!—how full of instruction & example—what a escape from a precipice—what a change from the prospect from an early and unloved grave to all the riches and blessings of a well spent life.

One moral—one strong, persuasive, convincing fact arises from this story: the necessity, the advantages of pausing, reflecting, and considering the effect of any sudden determination before we take it. Let us commune with ourselves—look into our own hearts—contrast a virtuous with a vicious act, and we shall realize the blessings of a good and righteous decision, as was the triumphant case above referred to.

FRANCE AND AMERICA.

On Saturday (April 18), the members of the Chamber of Deputies, at Paris, closed the debate on the American Indemnity Bill. All the amendments were rejected, save one, to the effect that the money shall not be paid until some explanation be tendered by the United States to the French Government, for the terms in which the American President had intended to fulfill the treaty. The exception of this article—inserted with the sanction of the Ministry—the bill remains in the Chamber. The bill was carried by a large majority than even the Ministers had expected—there being 289 votes for, and 137 against it. I believe it is pretty well ascertained that 200 Deputies were pledged to support it. As soon as this majority had been secured, the bill—thereby deciding that the 25th day of June next, at 12 o'clock M. a tract or parcel of land called WATER FORBES, containing 100 ACRES, more or less. MARYLAND COLONIZATION JOURNAL.
PROSPECTUS.—The Board of Managers of the State Colonization Society, and the Board of Managers of the State Fund, have resolved to publish a quarterly journal for the purpose of diffusing information concerning the principles and progress of the Maryland plan of Colonization. The Journal will also contain occasional notices of the operations of the friends of Colonization in other parts of the Union. It will be published at least once a quarter, and sometimes oftener. Persons wishing to receive it regularly as published, may become subscribers by paying fifty cents per annum in advance. Donations for the support of the paper will be thankfully received. The friends of Colonization throughout the state will confer a great favour by transmitting for the Journal any intelligence which may promote the cause of Colonization.

All communications are to be directed to the "Maryland Colonization Journal," Office of the Maryland State Colonization Society, Baltimore.

SALE OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.
BY virtue of a Deed of Trust from Thomas Snowden, Jr. of Anne Arundel County Maryland, the undersigned Trustees will offer at PUBLIC SALE, on the premises, to the highest bidder, on TUESDAY the 25th day of June next, if fair, if not, on the next fair day thereafter at the hour of twelve o'clock, all the real estate of which the said Thomas Snowden Jr. was seized and possessed at the time of the execution of said deed of trust; lying and being in Anne Arundel and Prince George's Counties, consisting of all those tracts or parcels of land called Rutland's Purchase, Woodland Hill and Sappington's Sweep, and containing

1100 ACRES.

More or less. There is a first rate new Brick Dwelling House upon the premises, and all necessary and convenient out houses. The estate is in all respects highly valuable and desirable, being well adapted to both farming and planting purposes. There is a considerable quantity of first rate meadow land belonging to the estate. The purchaser will not be entitled to the grain crop now growing on the ground; to secure and remove which, ingress and egress to the persons entitled to the same will be reserved.

TERMS OF SALE.—The purchaser will be required to pay $5000 within thirty days from the day of sale, and on making such payment he shall be entitled to the possession of the property. The residue of the purchase money to be paid in three equal annual instalments, for payment of the several instalments with interest thereon from the day of sale. On the payment of the whole purchase money, with interest, the Trustees will execute a conveyance to the purchaser.

The difficulties in regard to the title which were suggested at the time the property was offered for sale on the 13th instant, have been removed, and the Trustees believe they will be able to convey a clear and indisputable title.

NOTICE.
The Gazette at Annapolis Chronicle and Republican at Baltimore; Intelligence, Telegraph and Globe at Washington, will insert the above until day of sale and send their bills to the Trustees at Annapolis.

NOTICE.
The publications now issued from the office of the Secret Circulating Library are of a highly popular cast, and of a character to be appreciated by the educated portions of the community, and to circulate every where, by consent with the proprietors of the Museum, that work, the Port Folio and Library, are offered to those who take the three on the following conditions, viz:

1. Those who have paid or now pay $4 for the Library, shall receive the Museum and Port Folio, the price of which is separately paid on the payment of $7.
2. Those who have paid or now pay $5 for the Museum, shall receive the Library and Port Folio, the price of which is separately paid on the payment of $5.
3. Those who have paid or now pay for the Port Folio, shall receive the Library and Museum on paying such a sum as will be equal to $12 on the whole.
4. The Circulating Library and Museum, will be sent to the same address on the payment of $10.

REMARKS.—The three works thus issued together, comprise a greater amount of the current literature of the age, than is issued in a periodical form from any other office in the United States, and with the proprietor's help, supply to families all the advantages which could be furnished in a most extensive reading room in one of our Atlantic cities. In the Library the newest and best books are regularly published; in the Museum and Port Folio it has been found by experience that every thing we could wish to copy from the entire British literary periodicals, and mostly the political articles, can be rapidly issued. These publications embrace so much that is desirable to be known, and are so generally perused in the best circles in America, that to be without either is to drop a link in the literary chain. They are all under the control of one mind, and therefore the reader will very rarely indeed be compelled to pay for the same matter twice, as they are independent of each other, complete in themselves, and free from any repetitions of the same articles.

These views the proprietor respectfully throws out for the consideration of the friends of sound and wholesome literature.

THE WASHINGTON MIRROR.
A weekly newspaper, devoted to Politics, Literature, and District Affairs, is published every Saturday at the seat of the General Government.

BY WILLIAM HOOPER.
TWENTY-SIX numbers of this Journal have been already published; and another series is commenced with increased and increasing patronage. The publisher and editor has enlarged the Mirror, from the Medium to the Super Royal size. It is printed on good paper and with new type, and will be delivered at the residence of each subscriber in Washington, Georgetown and Alexandria, on the day of publication. Price Two Dollars per annum—the first half year invariably in advance. Subscriptions and advertisements are respectfully solicited. Postmasters and others residing out of the District, who will procure five subscribers and remit $5, in advance for half year's subscription, will receive a gratuitous copy of the Washington Mirror. The editor will spare no pains to make correct and early information of public events at the seat of the Federal Government, and his editorial comments will be as candid as possible, free from party attachments. If the Washington Mirror should be generally and liberally patronized, the publisher will continue to make further improvements.

He respectfully announces the following new articles:

- 1st. The Washington Mirror will continue on its present size and price without any change of terms from the ensuing volume.
- 2d. The subscribers will have their papers regularly mailed on the day of publication.
- 3d. During the session of congress, a weekly article will be published, and invariably appear under the name of sayings and Doings in Congress.
- 4th. During the recess of the political government, and on the 1st of the General Government, will be published a series of articles of distant travels.
- 5th. The names of all the subscribers to the Mirror in Washington, Georgetown and Alexandria, will be published once every six months, in an alphabetical list, with the profession and residence of each subscriber.
- 6th. For the information of commercial readers, a table will be published, and published every week, from the 1st of January of each year, a table of prices, adapted to the Washington and Baltimore markets, and carefully corrected.
- 7th. For the Library and Museum, a well selected matter will be constantly provided.

Having already published seven hundred subscribers in District of Columbia, and a very large number in Georgetown and Alexandria, the Mirror will, it is presumed, be a fair portion of advertisement.

Advertisements of all descriptions, or letters, or communications, must be addressed (post paid) to the Editor of the Mirror, at No. 10, Pennsylvania Avenue, Washington, D.C.

THE FRENCH INDEMNITY.
The subject of the French Indemnity is still of chief importance to the American reader, there are indications that the question is, as means, as has been supposed. The bill, as it present, has been brought forward by the Chamber of Deputies, by M. de Rigny, Minister of War, in the absence of the Minister of Finance. It had been supposed by some, that the amendment of the Deputies, on the motion of Gen. Valaze, would be disapproved by the Ministers, and rejected by the Peers.— It appears, on the contrary, to have been approved by the Ministers. We suppose, in this place, the only sketch of the proposal of the Peers on the question, that has reached us.

CHAMBER OF PEERS.
Sitting of April 27.
The Minister of War, in the absence of the Minister of Finance, presented the Bill adopted by the Chamber of Deputies for the grant of 25 millions for the purpose of the Treaty with the United States. The Bill was then entered into some discussion on the part of the Peers, and it was stated, that if the relative to France and America were to be renewed, the former for the former to take the initiative.
The Ministers had, with the utmost good will, made their best efforts to obtain the means of meeting the American claims, and their task was not considered as such steps would be taken by America as would expunge every trace of a debt which ought never to have existed.
The Chamber of Deputies had understood the feelings of the Peers on this point, and had consequently inserted in the Bill a clause to which Ministers had assented. Another amendment which had been proposed, the object of it having been to subject to public examination the French Government the right to expect from the Government of the United States. Ministers were of opinion that the dignity of France should be satisfied, but they at the same time thought that the satisfaction must be offered in a manner agreeable to both nations.

This is a very unsatisfactory summary, more especially when taken in connexion with the following paragraph from the Nationale of April 25th.
General Journals have announced that the American Indemnity Bill would be brought to the Chamber of Peers, without the amendment of General Valaze. To-day it was presented to the Chamber, and the Minister boldly asserted that the amendment of the Deputies was the expression of his own feelings on the subject.
"I," said he, "should we have thought of paying twenty-five millions to America, without having previously obtained some satisfaction for the wrongs and wrongs in which the claimants, however founded it may otherwise be."
He further asserted by the Paris opposition papers, that the amendment of G. N. Valaze had caused dissatisfaction to Mr. Livingston; and the Courier Francais asserts, as it says, upon Mr. Livingston's own authority, that the arrangement of that gentleman at Washington will be the basis of hostile measures against France.
The London papers, in which we find these statements, discredit them entirely.

Court of Maryland, passed on the 31st January last, in a cause wherein the President, Directors and Company of the Farmers Bank of Maryland, were complainants, and John Mercer and others defendants, the subscribers will offer at public sale on FRIDAY, the 12th June next, if fair, if not, on the next day following, at 12 o'clock M., on the premises, all the Real Estate of John Mercer, which was conveyed to the complainants by a deed, bearing date of the twentieth day of March, eighteen hundred and twenty, consisting of all that part of a

Tract or Parcel of Land, now and heretofore for many years in the possession of the said John Mercer, lying on West River, in Anne Arundel county, called "THE WEST RIVER FARM," containing about 606 Acres of Land, and also the said John Mercer's one moiety of another parcel of land called "THE PARK," or "CEDAR PARK," which is comprehended within the tract aforesaid, and contains about seventy four and a half acres. The soil of this land is esteemed as valuable as any in that fertile country, and is too well known and too highly appreciated to require a particular description.
The property will be sold in one body or in parcels to suit purchasers.

THE TERMS ARE, one fifth of the purchase money to be paid on the final ratification of the sale, and the balance in four equal annual instalments from the day of sale; the whole to be secured by bond, with security to be approved of by the Trustees, bearing agers of the State Colonization Society, and the Board of Managers of the State Fund, have resolved to publish a quarterly journal for the purpose of diffusing information concerning the principles and progress of the Maryland plan of Colonization. The Journal will also contain occasional notices of the operations of the friends of Colonization in other parts of the Union. It will be published at least once a quarter, and sometimes often. Persons wishing to receive it regularly as published, may become subscribers by paying fifty cents per annum in advance.

Donations for the support of the paper will be thankfully received. The friends of Colonization throughout the state will confer a great favour by transmitting for the Journal any intelligence which may promote the cause it advocates.
All communications are to be directed to the "Maryland Colonization Journal," Office of the Maryland State Colonization Society, Baltimore.

VALUABLE REAL ESTATE.
By virtue of a Decree of Trust from Thomas Snowden, Jr. of Anne Arundel County Maryland, the undersigned Trustees will offer at PUBLIC SALE, on the premises, to the highest bidder, on TUESDAY the 23d day of June next, if fair, if not, on the next fair day thereafter, at the hour of twelve o'- clock, all the real estate of which the said Thomas Snowden Jr. was seized and possessed at the time of the execution of said deed of trust, lying and being in Anne Arundel and Prince George's Counties, consisting of all those tracts or parcels of land called Rutland's Purchase, Woodland Hill and Sap-pington's Sweep, and containing

1000 ACRES.
More or less. There is a first rate new Brick Dwelling House upon the premises, and all necessary and convenient out houses. The estate is in all respects highly valuable and desirable, being well adapted to both farming and planting purposes. There is a considerable quantity of first rate meadow land belonging to the estate. The purchaser will not be entitled to the grain crop now growing on the grounds; to secure and remove which, free ingress and egress to the persons entitled to the same will be reserved.

TERMS OF SALE: The purchaser will be required to pay $3000 within thirty days from the day of sale, and on making such payment he shall be entitled to the possession of the property. The residue of the purchase money to be paid in three equal annual instalments. The purchaser will be required to give bonds with satisfactory security to the Trustees, for payment of the several instalments with interest thereon from the day of sale.
On the payment of the whole purchase money, with interest, the Trustees will execute a conveyance to the purchaser.
The difficulties in regard to the title which were suggested at the time the property was offered for sale on the 15th inst. have been removed, and the Trustees believe they will be able to convey a clear and indisputable title.

WALDIE'S LIBRARY, PORT FO-LIO AND MUSEUM.
As the publications now issued from the office of the Select Circulating Library are of a highly popular cast, and of a character to be appreciated by the educated portions of the community, and to circulate everywhere, by concert with the proprietor of the Museum, that work, the Port Folio and Library, are offered to those who take the three on the following conditions, viz.
The Museum, Port Folio and Library, if paid for in advance and addressed to the same individual, whether in town or country, will be supplied for $12, thus enabling every individual to benefit by the clubbing system, without the necessity of applying to others.
Those who have made a payment for the current year to either of the works, of whatever amount, will be privileged to avail themselves of this arrangement, by paying the balance—thus

1. Those who have paid or now pay $5 for the Library, shall receive the Museum and Port Folio, the price of which separate is $9, on the payment of $7.
2. Those who have paid or now pay $6 for the Museum, shall receive the Library and Port Folio, the price of which is separately $8, on the payment of $6.
3. Those who have paid or now pay for the Port Folio, shall receive the Library and Museum on paying such a sum as will be equal to $12 on the whole.
4. The Circulating Library and Museum, will be sent to the same address on the payment of $10.
REMARKS.—The three works thus issued together, comprise a greater amount of the current literature of the age, than is issued in a periodical form from any other office in the United States, and will, the proprietor believes, with the addition of a good newspaper, supply to families all the advantages which could be furnished in a most extensive reading room in one of our Atlantic cities.
In the Library the newest and best books are regularly published in the Museum and Port Folio it has been found by experience that every thing we could wish to copy from the entire British literary periodicals, omitting mostly the political articles, can be rapidly issued. These publications embrace so much that is desirable to be known, and are so generally perused in the best circles in America, that to be without either is to drop a link in the literary chain. They are all under the control of one mind, and therefore the reader will very rarely indeed be compelled to pay for the same matter twice, as they are independent of each other, complete in themselves, and free in general from any repetitions of the same articles.
These views the proprietor respectfully throws out for the consideration of the friends of sound and wholesome literature.

A weekly newspaper, devoted to Politics, Literature, and District Affairs, is published every Saturday at the seat of the General Government.

BY WILLIAM HOOPER.
Twenty-six numbers of this Journal have been already published; and another series is commenced with increased and improving patronage. The publisher and editor has enlarged the Mirror, from the Medium to the Super Royal size. It is printed on good paper and with new type, and will be delivered at the residence of each subscriber in Washington, Georgetown and Alexandria, on the day of publication. Price Two Dollars per annum, the first half year invariably in advance. Subscriptions and advertisements are respectfully solicited. Postmasters and others residing out of the District, who will procure five subscribers and remit $5, in advance for half year's subscription, will receive a gratuitous copy of the Washington Mirror. The editor will spare no pains to obtain correct and early information of public occurrences at the seat of the Federal Government; and his editorial comments will be as much as possible, free from party or sectional bias. If the Washington Mirror should continue to be liberally patronized, the publisher will continue to make further improvements.

He respectfully announces the following new arrangements:
1st. The Washington Mirror will continue on its present size and price without any change or alteration in the ensuing volume.
2d. Country subscribers will have their papers regularly mailed on the day of publication.
3d. During the session of congress, a weekly article will be prepared and invariably appear under the head of "Sayings and Doings in Congress."
4th. During the recess the political rumors and on-dits at the seat of the General Government, will be noted for the information of distant subscribers.
5th. The names of all the subscribers to the Mirror in Washington, Georgetown and Alexandria, will be published, once every six months, in an advertising directory, with the profession and residence of each subscriber.

6th. For the information of commercial readers, a selection will be made and published every week, from the New York Journal of Commerce; also a price current, adapted to the Washington and Georgetown markets and carefully corrected for the Mirror by intelligent mercantile gentlemen. This information will be given under the head "Commerce."
For the Ladies' and Literary Department of the Mirror, good original, and well selected matter will be constantly provided.

Having already nearly seven hundred subscribers in the city of Washington alone, and a very handsome subscription in Georgetown and Alexandria, the Mirror will, it is presumed, obtain a fair portion of advertising patronage.
Communications, whether containing orders or remittances, must be addressed (postage free) to W. Thompson, editor of the Mirror, Washington city, D. C.
We shall be most obliged to the editors with whom we exchange, if they will aid us in making known these arrangements and the enlargement of the Mirror.

GREAT NATIONAL WORK.

A JOURNAL OF THE AMERICAN MAGAZINE.

The success which has attended the publication of the best Magazines from the English Press, has led to preparation for a new and more particularly adapted to the wants and tastes of the American public. It will be the object of the proprietors to make the work strictly what its title indicates, it will, nevertheless, contain all kinds of interesting and useful information which appear in the English Magazines.

Every month a new number will be published, containing all the latest news, and all the most interesting and useful information which appears in the English Magazines.

The first number of the American Magazine, containing all the latest news, and all the most interesting and useful information which appears in the English Magazines.

PROPOSALS.

TO PUBLISH THE LONDON, EDINBURGH, FOREIGN AND WESTMINSTER QUARTERLY REVIEWS, FOR $6 PER ANNUM.

THE above Journals are already so well known to the public, that little need be said of their respective merits. The well sustained reputation of the London Quarterly, not only as an able defender of Tory principles, and the old order of things, but as the witty and entertaining of Reviews, will always command the attention of the literary and scientific.

The Edinburgh, celebrated for the vigor, learning and acuteness which its articles display, conducted by some of the principal literary men of the modern Athens, is an equally powerful champion of the moderate Reform party.

The Foreign Quarterly occupies a neutral ground in Politics, and is devoted to continental literature.

The Westminster is but little known in this country. It may be considered as the advocate of the Radicals, and the mouth piece of Benthamism. It represents the principles of a party already numerous in England, and fast increasing in the United States.

The numbers will be put to press immediately after they shall be received from Europe, and will contain the entire matter of the above works, making four annual volumes of upwards of six hundred pages.

They will be executed in a good style, and be printed in a shape but little differing from that of the European editions.

The price will be $6 per annum, payable three months after the delivery of the first number. The English copies cannot be had for less than $30. Of the three at present republished, two of them alone cost $10.

Any individual procuring four subscribers, and remitting $30 on the receipt of the first number, will be allowed an additional copy. Subscription papers to be returned, and all communications to be addressed, post paid, to Theodore Foster, Albany, N. Y.

COMPANION TO WALDIE'S LIBRARY.

The cheap reprint from English Periodicals ever offered to the public.

BEFORE the Select Circulating Library had been long in existence, it was discovered that there was still something wanting—that many occurrences in the literary world must pass unknown, as regarded our agency, without an extension of the plan. To establish a fuller medium of communication and supply the desideratum, the Journal of Belles Lettres was added; which we have reason to believe has afforded general satisfaction. The very liberal patronage extended to the Library induced the proprietor to give that gratuitously as an evidence of his acknowledgments.

More extended experience has shown other desiderata which the "Companion" is intended to supply. While reading for the "Library" a large mass of material accumulates on the hands of the editor, of an interesting, entertaining, and instructive description, such as would properly come under the designation of Magaziniaria, interspersed with the Reviews from the English Quarterlies. To publish every thing of this nature which we deem desirable would encroach too much on the columns of the "Library" designed for books, and yet to pass them by is constantly a subject of regret.

To concentrate, therefore, the publication of Books entire, Reviews, lists of new works, the choicest contributions to Magazines, &c. &c. the "Companion to Waldie's Library" will be offered to the patronage of the present subscribers and the public at large. It is believed that with the "Library," the "Journal," and the "Companion," such an acquaintance with the literature of the age may be cultivated as to leave little further to be desired. Being all published from the same office, more facility offers for subscribing, and having fewer people to deal with, mistakes are less liable to occur, and more readily corrected when they do. The short interval of two weeks between the publication of each number, it is thought too, will be an advantage over monthlies and quarterlies.

The following plan is respectfully submitted.

1. The "COMPANION" will contain the earliest possible reprints of the best matter in the British periodicals.

2. It will be issued every fortnight, and the form will be the same as that of the Library—each number containing sixteen pages—thus, every six months, giving thirteen numbers, which can be bound with the Library at little or no more expense, and making a better sized volume; and to those who do not take the Library itself, a volume every year, of 416 quarto pages of the size of the present.

3. The price will be three dollars for a subscriber—five dollars for two—and clubs five and upwards will be supplied at two dollars each.

The proprietor of the "Select Circulating Library," fully aware from experience of the advantages to the public of the rapid diffusion of cheap and select literature, has been induced to add the important feature to the work, and of course leaves it optional with the present subscribers and others to take it or not.

It is confidently believed, that, with the attention on the part of the Editor, who has already at hand the material for such a work, all the really valuable matter of the English literary and amusing publications may be comprised in this form at a rate of subscription and postage, as trifling as scarcely to be felt. It will form the cheapest reprint of reviews and magazines ever attempted in any country; a comparison with others it were useless here to enter upon, the "Library" itself being the best test by which to judge of the difference between an octavo and a quarto page. It will be the study of the Editor to embody a record of the day, adapted to the wants of this country, which can have no competitor for value or cheapness; how far he is likely to do this he must leave at present to the decision of his readers.

Clubs of five individuals, who subscribe to the "Library" and "Companion" both, will obtain the two for six dollars, the postage (a very important consideration) to the most distant post office, on the two, will be one dollar and ninety-five cents, divided into seventy-eight payments, and half that sum for 100 miles or a less distance from Philadelphia, while the same matter, in the usual American reprints of reviews and magazines in octavo form would be eighteen dollars, and the postage as three to one. We make this assertion advisedly.

Subscribers to the "Companion," will be taken either with or without the "Library."

The proprietor trusts that his punctuality and exactness in executing his part of the contract in the publication of the "Library," will be considered a sufficient guarantee of the completion of his proposed undertaking.

PROSPECTUS.
The undersigned proposes to publish, in the Upper Marlboro', Prince George's county, Maryland, a weekly journal, to be called
THE BULLETIN.
In undertaking to supply this acknowledged desideratum to the populous and intelligent district in which the subscriber has the honour to reside, his hope of ultimate success does not its origin in sanguineous expectation, but proceeds from the eminent advantages of its location. Published in the vicinity of a large and wealthy county, situated equidistant from the State and National capitals, facilities of an early communication of whatever may interest its patrons, particularly afforded to the Editor; and as he may not hope to present to his readers much foreign information through the medium of his columns, not derivable from other journals, it is still certain that intelligence of a local nature, interesting to all, and important to many, and otherwise unattainable, will by this means be communicated.
It will also offer to those whose means are inadequate to the expense of the larger journals, at least a synoptical view of all the important information they contain; and he trusts that those of literary taste may sometimes find in its columns, articles not unworthy of the employment of their leisure. As the plan of every publication which is to find its success in popular support, must first be approved before public patronage can be expected, the Editor would here mark the outline of his design, with the full knowledge that it will constitute an ordeal, by which, to deserve both its merit and the fidelity of its prosecution.

The Editor proposes to adapt his paper to the wishes of those by whom he is immediately surrounded, and among whom he must naturally find a majority of his patrons: he knows them to be intelligent and inquiring.—The literary department shall, therefore, be assuredly regarded, and the most approved domestic and foreign periodicals resorted to for select letters notices. He knows them to be patriotic, and that they feel a deep interest in the welfare of our common country. To gratify this sentiment to the extent of his abilities, his columns shall afford whatever intelligence of a political character may be calculated to interest them. No man, with the faculty of thought, is at this crisis neutral in reference to the party distinctions now prevailing in this country, and the Editor does not wish to disguise his political sentiments—they are in opposition to the measures of the present Administration. But having neither the temper nor the motive of a partisan, his comments upon party movements shall be characterized by frankness of argument, not violence or abuse and as it never has been his practice, so shall it never become his habit to deal in political invective or party violence. He will cheerfully lend the aid of his columns to communications from all parties—reserving to himself the privilege of rejecting such as are objectionable for personal allusion or indecorous language. In addition to the advantages of appropriate political and literary selections, he desires to tempt into exercise whatever of talent may surround him, and with such aid he may not presumptuously hope to render his paper useful and interesting. He asks the patronage of his friends longer than he asks merit and repay it, as he wishes not to be denied favour to personal feeling, which could be denied to his editorial labors.
The BULLETIN will be published on Thursday in each week. Terms of subscription $3 per annum.

ENLARGED SERIES OF THE MUSE- UM.

MR. LITTELL has much pleasure in an-now so large, as to make it important to the proprietor that he should be able to give his whole attention to it. This has hitherto been prevented by the care and labour attendant upon a multifarious and widely extended business. With the view of completing more quickly the publication of Lodge's Portraits and Memoirs of Illustrious and Noble Characters, (a splendid work now in hand)—of effecting a settlement of accounts extending over the whole of the United States—and of making arrangements in all parts of the country for the vigorous prosecution of the publication of the MUSEUM, he has made a contract with Mr. Adam Waldie of this city to print the work, attend to its distribution, and manage all the financial concerns appertain-ing to it after the present year.

Mr. Waldie is a practical printer, not surpassed in taste by any other in the country; and as he is advantageously and generally known as the publisher of the Select Circulating Library, it is supposed that he will have in his power greatly to promote the sale of the MUSEUM. He has contracted to issue it promptly, and thus will be corrected the greatest fault which has heretofore attended its management. The changes in the appearance of the work will be as follows:

1. It will be regularly and promptly published.
 2. Will be uniformly and handsomely printed.
 3. On better paper.
 4. Will be considerably enlarged.
- As the sale of the work has increased, Mr.
Littell has always been desirous of devoting the enlarged profits to its improvement—and although he does not wish the appearance of the next volume to be considered as entirely carrying out his plan, he trusts that the subscribers will be convinced, upon comparing it with any other work, that it is richly worth the price asked for it.
- We shall not have satisfied our own wishes, in respect to this work, until it shall be so far enlarged and improved as to make it clear to every purchaser that he will herein receive all that is desirable to an American reader from all the Foreign Periodicals. That we can do so in a single work, by making it contain four or five times as much matter as an ordinary periodical, we have no doubt.— A great part of most of the Reviews and Magazines is composed of inferior articles, and we confidently appeal to those readers of the MUSEUM who have been in the habit of looking over the British Journals, whether we have not already, in a very great degree, succeeded in copying all that was worth preservation.

As the work will now be considerably enlarged, we shall be able more fully to accomplish this object.

In order that he may, by frequent journeys from home, be the earlier able to insert other business, and devote himself exclusively to the MUSEUM, Mr. Littell has made arrangements with the Editor of Waldie's Library to edit this work after December, 1834.
However deficient the proprietor may be in other qualifications, he has always felt so zealous an affection for the MUSEUM that he would not be willing to commit it, even for a time, to the care of another, were he not confident that the facilities, the experience and the ability of the new Editor, will render it more worthy of the patronage of the public than it has heretofore been. No change takes place in the Proprietorship.

PROSPECTUS Of the Extra Globe.

THE undersigned propose to issue the first number of a new series of the EXTRA-GLOBE, on Monday, the 25th of May next, and to publish it weekly for six months, making twenty-six numbers; the last to contain an Index to the whole. It will be printed upon fine double-royal paper, made up in quarto form, like the Extra and Congressional Globe published by us last year. The 26 numbers will make 46 quarto royal pages.

It will contain the principal original articles of the Daily and Semi-Weekly Globes, notices of the public meetings, the elections, and public proceedings in every state in the Union, in relation to the canvass for the next Presidency—a contest which the indications of the present year will go far to decide.

The first number will contain the Proceedings of the Democratic National Convention, to be held at Baltimore on the 30th of next month. An excellent Reporter has already been engaged to report the Proceedings of the Convention, and the Speeches which may be made on the occasion.

We request the favour of those friends to whom this Prospectus may be sent, to circulate it, for the purpose of obtaining subscribers. A copy of the work will be sent to the newspapers that copy this Prospectus.

Subscribers should forward their names in time to reach us before the 25th May. If they do not, we may not be able to furnish them with all the numbers; because the work is put at so low a price, that we cannot afford to reprint any number that may be exhausted.

TERMS:
One Dollar per copy, in advance.
Eleven copies will be furnished for Ten Dollars; twenty-two copies for Twenty Dollars, and so on in proportion.

The price of this paper is so low, that we cannot afford to open accounts with those who subscribe for it. Therefore, no attention will be paid to any order, unless the money accompanies it.

POETRY.

GOD PROVIDETH.

BY BISHOP HESSE.
Let the lilies of the field, How their leaves instruction yield!
Hark to nature's lesson, given By the blessed birds of Heaven!
Every bush and tufted tree Warbles sweet philosophy, Mortal fly from doubt and sorrow;
God provideth for the morrow.
Say, with richer crimson glews The kingly mantle than the rose?
Say, have kings more wholesome fare, Than we poor citizens of air?
Barns nor hoarded grain have we,
Yet we carol merrily.
Mortal fly from doubt and sorrow;
God provideth for the morrow.
One there lives, whose guardian eye Guides our humble destiny;
One there lives, who Lord of all, Keeps our fathoms lest they fall—Pace we blithely, then, the time, Fearless of the snare and line, Free from doubt and faithless sorrow;
God provideth for the morrow.

MISCELLANEOUS.

GOOD ADVICE FOR A DINNER.

A gentleman, humbly clad in a curacy coat one day entered Wood's Hotel, Clare Market, and ordered a sort of dinner lunch in the shape of unlimited mutton-chops and potatoes to correspond; not forgetting suitable fluids, porter, brandy, &c. All these things disposed of the gentleman called the waiter, and thus addressed him:
"My good friend, I have fared sumptuously; good house, this—capital chops—porter admirable—brandy exquisite! Slight difficulty however—haven't a shilling about me! Alas, rather, 'tis true, perhaps not of much consequence till to-morrow!" "Why, sir," quoth the waiter, with the much more easily conceived than expressed exultation of his eyebrows, "Why sir, I'll call master." Master was accordingly called. He came—bowed—remonstrated, complained,—but never thrust. The gentleman moved by such forbearance, said "I think that I may be of service to you.
I could tell you of a plan which, if properly pursued would be productive of the happiest results to you, not only as regards your general business, but also as regards your personal comfort. Pray be seated, I can bear to see you stand, indeed if I were not so embarrassingly situated, I should insist on your taking a glass with me.
However, perhaps you'll agree with the proverb—'In for a penny in for a pound,' so pray bring a bottle of your best port, and a wine glass for yourself, and we'll talk over this matter. I don't think you'll see cause to regret making my acquaintance." The obliging landlord smiled and complied, and after following the course given to conversation by the stranger for some half-hour, all the while awaiting the promised development of a plan, he perceived that the said stranger was buttoning up for a bolt, and making the best of his way for the door. "But sir," exclaimed Wood, "you promised to let me into a secret of some consequence, and you have not said a word about it." "Bless me!" said the gentleman, with his hand on the door, "that's very true—so I did.
Very glad you mentioned it! The fact is, we are liable to misfortune, and if you are sent to the treadmill, take the step nearest the wall; you'll find it by far the easiest part of the wheel—Good evening—You'll hear from me in a day or so." Strange to say the diner has never been heard of since.—Fraser's Magazine for April.

FASTEST BOAT IN THE WORLD.

The Steamboat Lexington made her first trip to Providence on Monday and returned yesterday. She is elegantly fitted up, and so arranged as to be airy and pleasant. But it is not in these respects particularly that she deserves notice, though in them she is probably equal to any other boat. Her superiority is in her firmness and ease in the water, and above all, her speed, in which we suppose it is safe to say, she surpasses any boat in the world, and has in fact reached a degree which was supposed two years ago impossible, and which is calculated to throw some new ingredients into the enquiry respecting the relative value of the various modern improvements in travelling. The Lexington made her passage to Providence in twelve hours and twenty-eight minutes, after deducting eight minutes for stops, and her passage back from Providence to opposite the dry dock, in this city, was performed within twelve hours. For a part of the way her speed was twenty miles an hour.
The distance from New York to Providence is called two hundred and ten miles.

The construction of the Lexington is in several respects novel, and as she acquires her superiority from those novelties they will be interesting to all persons engaged in the building of vessels. She is 208 long, has 22 feet beam, and 114 feet hold. She is timbered in a manner to give the greatest degree of strength, and is put together with the utmost accuracy and niceness of workmanship.

But that which enables her to endure, on so long a line, the immense pressure which bears upon the stem and stern while she is forced through the water at so rapid a rate, is that the deck is an arch, bringing the pressure against the ends of the timbers and planks instead of against their sides. The stroke of the piston is 11 feet, the diameter of the water wheels 24 feet, and the revolution 21 to 23 a minute. The boiler and the weight of machinery, as far as possible, is placed in the hold some of the passengers breakfasted in Boston yesterday and brought with them the Boston paper of yesterday morning. The Lexington was built by Bishop and Samson under the direction of Capt. Cornelius Vanderbilt, her owner. Her construction exhibits great knowledge of mechanical principles, and a peculiarly bold and independent genius. We ought to add, that notwithstanding her great speed, there are no wood piles necessary on deck, and the expense of fuel is not more than half so great as in an ordinary boat. The speed with which she came down from Providence, would carry her to New Orleans in four days.—N. Y. Com.

AN ALARM.

An incident of a rather ludicrous nature, occurred a short time since, in one of the seaboard towns of the 'Bay State.' Mr. B. a citizen of the north part of the town, was called upon at his workshop by Mr. M. a fellow town-man, who resided about two miles from Mr. B., when the following dialogue ensued:

Mr. B. Good morning, Mr. M., you are quite a stranger in this part of the town.—How do you do?

Mr. M. I am tolerable. How are you and your family?

Mr. B. We are all well, with the exception of a few slight colds. What is the news in your neighbourhood?

Mr. M. Nothing particular. What do you hear?

Mr. B. Nothing of importance. We have a plenty of rain of late.

Mr. M. Yes—and they say,
'March winds and April showers; Bring forth fruits and May flowers.'

Mr. M. (Again, after a pause of about half a minute.) I called down here to see if I could find the Captain of the Engine. My father's house is on fire, and I should like to have the Captain bring up some of his men to help put it out.

Mr. B. Hangnation! why didn't you cry
'fire.'—Boston Trans.

WINE OF HONEY AND CIDER.

Mr. J. Cooper, several years ago recommended from experience, wine made of new fermented cider and honey.—It was fermented, racked, clarified and pronounced superior to most foreign wines.
[As we live in a land where 'cider and honey flows,' this wine might be made with a comparative trifling expense.]

TEMPERANCE AMONG SEAMEN.

The reformation which has taken place among seamen within the last few years on the subject of Temperance, is far greater than any one would have dared to anticipate. Among the many gratifying proofs of such a change, we record with pleasure the facts stated in the following note:

To the Editors of the Journal of Commerce.

Monday, June 1st, 1835.

Gentlemen—It is with much pleasure we inform you of the remarkable fact, that we have received on board of our ships the crews of each all in a perfect state of sobriety, and what is more worthy of note, none of them having brought a drop of grog on board, there being upwards of sixty men who compose the crews.

S. H. Pomeroy, 1st officer packet ship Edrope.

J. M. Chadwick, 1st officer packet ship Westminster.

George B. Woodworth, 1st officer packet ship Chas. Carroll.

The three packet ships here mentioned sailed yesterday,—one for Liverpool, one for London, and the other for Havre. The crews were shipped by Messrs. Goin, Poole, and Pentz, who, we understand, have determined hereafter to keep a register of all seamen arriving in port.—[Jour. Com.]

THE WILMINGTON STATE JOURNAL SAYS.

The Wilmington State Journal says—"The Grand Jury of New Castle county and the trustees of the Poor, have, in their respective official capacities, united in representing to the Superior Court, sitting for this county, that the great and prominent cause of crime and pauperism is intemperance."

We understand, says the Salem (N. J.) Banner, that 'the worm' has cut off whole fields of corn in our county. The wheat crop looks very favourable.

THE HATTER AND THE RUSTIC.

'There are tricks in all trades but ours,' as the lawyer said to his client.

An honest rustic went into the shop of a Quaker to buy a hat, for which twenty-five shillings was demanded. He offered twenty shillings.

'As I live,' said the Quaker, 'I cannot afford it thee at that price.'

'As I live!' exclaimed the countryman, 'then live more moderately, and be hanged to you.'

'Friend,' said the Quaker, 'thou shalt have the hat for nothing. I have sold hats for twenty years, and my trick has never been found out till now.'

WASHINGTON'S OPINION OF PROFANE SWEARING.

In one of the recent volumes of Washington's Correspondence, edited by Mr. Sparks, the following is given in a note, as an extract from the Ordinary Book, Aug. 3d, 1779:

That the troops may have an opportunity of attending public worship, as well as to take some rest after the great fatigue they have gone through, the General in future, excuses them from fatigue duty on Sundays, except at the ship yard, or on special occasions, until further orders.—The General is sorry to be informed, that the foolish and wicked practice of profane swearing & swearing, a vice heretofore little known in the American Army, is growing into fashion; he hopes the officers will, by example as well as instruction, endeavour to check it, and that both they and the men will reflect, that we can have but little hope of the blessings of Heaven on our arms if we insult it by our impiety & folly; added to this, it is a vice so mean & low, without any temptation, that every man of sense and character de-spises and despises it.

OF VALUABLE REAL ESTATE. By virtue of a Decree of Trust from Thomas B. Bawden, Jr. of Anne Arundel County Maryland, the undersigned Trustees will offer at PUBLIC SALE, on the premises, to the highest bidder, on TUESDAY the 22d day of June next, if fair, if not, on the next fair day thereafter at the hour of twelve o'clock, all the real estate of which the said Thomas Bawden Jr. was seized and possessed at the time of the execution of said deed of trust, lying and being in Anne Arundel and Prince George's Counties, consisting of all those tracts or parcels of land called Rutland's Purchase, Woodland Hill and Sappington's Sweep, and containing 1100 ACRES.

More or less. There is a first rate new Brick Dwelling House upon the premises, and all necessary and convenient out houses. The estate is in all respects highly valuable and desirable, being well adapted to both farming and planting purposes. There is a considerable quantity of first rate meadow land belonging to the estate. The purchaser will not be entitled to the grain crop now growing on the grounds; to secure and remove which, free ingress and egress to the persons entitled to the same will be reserved.

TERMS OF SALE. The purchaser will be required to pay $3000 within thirty days from the day of sale, and on making such payment he shall be entitled to the possession of the property. The residue of the purchase money to be paid in three equal annual instalments. The purchaser will be required to give bonds with satisfactory security to the Trustees, for payment of the several instalments with interest thereon from the day of sale.

The difficulties in regard to the title which were suggested at the time the property was offered for sale on the 15th instant, have been removed, and the Trustees believe they will be able to convey a clear and indisputable title.

TH. S. ALEXANDER, } Trustees.
TH. DUCKETT, }

May 4, 1835. The Gazette at Annapolis; Chronicle and Republican at Baltimore; Intelligence, Telegraph and Globe, at Washington, will insert the above notice of sale and send their bills to the Trustees at Annapolis.

NOVEL MODE OF CIRCULATING LIBRARY.

WALDIE'S LIBRARY, PORT FOLIO AND MUSEUM.

As the publications now issued from the office of the Select Circulating Library are of a highly popular cast, and of a character to be appreciated by the educated portions of the community, and to circulate every where, my object with the proprietor of the Magazine, the Port Folio and Library, is to extend to those who take the three on the following conditions, viz:

1. Those who have paid or now pay $5 for the Library, shall receive the Museum and Port Folio, the price of which separately is $9, on the payment of $7.

2. Those who have paid or now pay $6 for the Museum, shall receive the Library and Port Folio, the price of which is separately $8, on the payment of $6.

3. Those who have paid or now pay for the Port Folio, shall receive the Library and Museum on paying such a sum as will be equal to $12 on the whole.

4. The Circulating Library and Museum, will be sent to the same address on the payment of $10.

REMARKS.—The three works thus issued together, comprise a greater amount of the current literature of the age, than is issued in a periodical form from any other office in the United States, and will, the proprietor believes, with the addition of a good newspaper, supply to families all the advantages which could be furnished in a most extensive reading room in one of our Atlantic cities.

In the Library the newest and best books are regularly published; in the Museum and Port Folio it has been found by experience that every thing we could wish to copy from the entire British literary periodicals, omitting mostly the political articles, can be rapidly issued. These publications embrace so much that is desirable to be known, and are so generally perused in the best circles in America, that to be without either is to drop a link in the literary chain. They are all under the control of one mind, and therefore the reader will very rarely indeed be compelled to pay for the same matter twice, as they are independent of each other, complete in themselves, and free in general from any repetitions of the same articles.

THE WASHINGTON MIRROR.

A weekly newspaper, devoted to Politics, Literature, and Domestic Affairs, is published every Saturday at the seat of the General Government.

BY WOODWARD WOODSON.

TWENTY-SIX numbers of this Journal have been already published; and another series is commenced with increased and increasing patronage. The publisher and editor has enlarged the Mirror, from the Medium to the Super Royal size. It is printed on good paper and with new type, and will be delivered at the residence of each subscriber in Washington, Georgetown and Alexandria, on the day of publication. Price Two Dollars per annum—the first half year invariably in advance. Subscriptions and advertisements are respectfully solicited. Postmasters and others residing out of the District, who will procure five subscribers and remit $5, in advance for half year's subscription, will receive a gratuitous copy of the Washington Mirror. The editor will spare no pains to obtain correct and early information of public occurrences at the seat of the Federal Government and his editorial comments will be as much as possible, free from party or sectional bias. If the Washington Mirror should continue to be liberally patronized, the publisher will continue to make further improvements.

He respectfully announces the following new arrangements:

1st. The Washington Mirror will continue on its present size and price without any change or alteration in the ensuing volume.

2d. Country subscribers will have their papers regularly mailed on the day of publication.

3d. During the session of congress, a weekly article will be prepared and invariably appear under the head of 'Sayings and Doings in Congress.'

4th. During the recess the political rumors and on-dits at the seat of the General Government, will be noted for the information of distant subscribers.

5th. The names of all the subscribers to the Mirror in Washington, Georgetown and Alexandria, will be published, once every six months, in an advertising directory, with the profession and residence of each subscriber.

6th. For the information of commercial readers, a selection will be made and published every week, from the New York Journal of Commerce; also a price current, adapted to the Washington and Georgetown markets and carefully corrected for the Mirror by intelligent mercantile gentlemen. This information will be given under the head 'Commercial.'

7th. For the Ladies' and Literary Department of the Mirror, good original, and well selected matter will be constantly provided.

Having already nearly seven hundred subscribers in the city of Washington alone, and a very handsome subscription in Georgetown and Alexandria, the Mirror will, it is presumed, obtain a fair portion of advertising patronage.

Communications, whether containing orders or remittances, must be addressed (postage free) to W. Thompson, editor of the Mirror, Washington city, D. C.

We shall be much obliged to the editors with whom we exchange, if they will aid us in making known these arrangements and the enlargement of the Mirror.

NOTICE.
I am committed to my custody as a Runaway on the 13th March inst. a Negro Man who calls himself HENRY JOHNSON,
and says he is free, and was raised in Baltimore. Said fellow is five feet eight inches high, dark complexion, appears to be about twenty-two years of age; clothing a roundabout grey cloth, and pantaloons of the same, black cap, and shoes and stockings, says he is a Stone Cutter by trade. The owner of said fellow is hereby notified to come forward, prove property, and take him away, he will otherwise be discharged agreeable to law.
R. WELCH, of Ben. Shiff, A. A. County.

PROSPECTUS.
THE BULLETIN.
It is undertaken to supply this acknowledged desideratum to the populous and intelligent district in which the subscriber has the pleasure to reside, his hope of ultimate success finds not its origin in sanguineness of imagination, but proceeds from the eminent advantages of its location. Published in the metropolis of a large and wealthy county, situated equidistant from the State and National Capitals, facilities of an early communication of whatever may interest its patrons, are particularly afforded to the Editor; and though he may not hope to present to his readers much foreign information through the columns of his journal, not derivable from the "Globe," it is still certain that the Bulletin, as a local nature, interesting to all, and important to many, and otherwise unattainable, will by this means be communicated. It will also offer to those whose means are inadequate to the expense of the larger journals, at least a synoptical view of all the important information they contain; and he trusts that those of literary taste may sometimes find in its columns, articles not unworthy of the employment of their leisure. As the plan of every publication which is to find success in popular support, must first be exposed before public patronage can be expected, the Editor would here mark the outline of his design, with the full knowledge that it will constitute an ordeal, by which, to determine both its merit and the fidelity of its execution.

The Editor proposes to adapt his paper to the wants of those by whom he is immediately surrounded, and among whom he must naturally find a majority of his patrons: he knows them to be intelligent and inquiring.—The Literary department, shall, therefore, be as liberally regarded, and the most approved domestic and foreign periodicals resorted to for select letters notices. He knows them to be patriotic, and that they feel a deep interest in the welfare of our common country. To gratify this sentiment to the extent of his ability, his columns shall afford whatever intelligence of a political character may be calculated to interest them. No man, with the facility of thought, is at this crisis neutral in reference to the party distinctions now prevailing in this country, and the Editor does not wish to disguise his political sentiments—they are in opposition to the measures of the present Administration. But having neither the temper nor the motive of a partisan, his comments upon party movements shall be characterized by frankness of argument, not violence or abuse—and as it never has been his practice, so shall it never become his habit to deal in political invective or party virulence. He will cheerfully lend the aid of his columns to communications from all parties—reserving to himself the privilege of rejecting such as are objectionable for personal allusion or indecorous language. In addition to the advantages of appropriate political and literary selections, he trusts also to tempt into exercise whatever of native talent may surround him, and with such aid he may not presumptuously hope to render his paper useful and interesting. He asks the patronage of his friends longer than his efforts merit and repay it, as he wishes not to owe that favour to personal feeling, which would be denied to his editorial labors.

The Bulletin will be published on Thursday in each week. Terms of subscription $3 per annum.

LITTELL'S MUSEUM OF FOREIGN LITERATURE, SCIENCE AND ART.

PRICE.—Six Dollars a year, in advance—seven dollars and a half, if not in advance.
POSTAGE.—Five sheets, under 100 miles 71 cents; over 100 miles, 121 cents.
This work will be sent to any Post Office in the United States, carefully wrapped up, upon receipt of five dollars in part payment. A few complete sets are for sale.

ENLARGED SERIES OF THE MUSEUM.

M. R. LITTELL has much pleasure in announcing to the patrons of the Museum, that he has made arrangements for the future publication of the work in a style much superior to the present—and nearly approaching what he has always desired that it should appear in. The circulation of the work is now so large, as to make it important to the proprietor that he should be able to give his whole attention to it. This has hitherto been prevented by the care and labour attendant upon a multifarious and widely extended business. With the view of completing more quickly the publication of Lodge's Portraits and Memoirs of Illustrious and Noble Characters, (a splendid work now in hand)—of effecting a settlement of accounts extending over the whole of the United States—and of making arrangements in all parts of the country for the vigorous prosecution of the publication of the Museum, he has made a contract with Mr. Adam Waldie of this city to print the work, attend to its distribution, and manage all the financial concerns appertaining to it after the present year.

Mr. Waldie is a practical printer, not surpassed in taste by any other in the country; and as he is advantageously and generally known as the publisher of the Select Circulating Library, it is supposed that he will have the power greatly to promote the sale of the Museum. He has contracted to issue it promptly, and thus will be corrected the greatest fault which has heretofore attended its management. The changes in the appearance of the work will be as follows:

1. It will be regularly and promptly published.
 2. Will be uniformly and handsomely printed.
 3. On better paper.
 4. Will be considerably enlarged.
- As the sale of the work has increased, Mr. Littell has always been desirous of devoting the enlarged profits to its improvement—and although he does not wish the appearance of the next volume to be considered as entirely carrying out his plan, he trusts that the subscribers will be convinced, upon comparing it with any other work, that it is richly worth the price asked for it.
- We shall not have satisfied our own wishes, in respect to this work, until it shall be so far enlarged and improved as to make it clear to every purchaser that he will receive all that is desirable to an American reader from all the Foreign Periodicals. That we can do so in a single work, by making it contain four or five times as much matter as an ordinary periodical, we have no doubt. A great part of most of the Reviews and Magazines is composed of inferior articles, and we confidently appeal to those readers of the Museum who have been in the habit of looking over the British Journals, whether we have not already, in a very great degree, succeeded in copying all that was worth preservation.

In order that he may, by frequent journeys from home, be the earlier able to finish all other business, and devote himself exclusively to the Museum, Mr. Littell has made arrangements with the Editor of Waldie's Library to edit this work after December, 1834. However deficient the proprietor may be in other qualifications, he has always felt so zealous an affection for the Museum that he would not be willing to commit it, even for a time, to the care of another, were he not confident that the facilities, the experience and the ability of the new Editor, will render it more worthy of the patronage of the public than it has heretofore been. No change takes place in the Proprietorship.

PROSPECTUS OF THE EXTRA GLOBE.

THE undersigned propose to issue the first number of a new series of the EXTRA GLOBE, on Monday, the 25th of May next, and to publish it weekly for six months, making twenty-six numbers; the last to contain an Index to the whole. It will be printed upon fine double-royal paper, made up in quarto form, like the Extra and Congressional Globe published by us last year. The 26 numbers will make 416 quarto royal pages.

It will contain the principal original articles of the Daily and Semi-Weekly Globes, notices of the public meetings, the elections, and public proceedings in every state in the Union, in relation to the canvass for the next Presidency—a contest which the indications of the present year will go far to decide.

The first number will contain the Proceedings of the Democratic National Convention, to be held at Baltimore on the 20th of next month. An excellent Reporter has already been engaged to report the Proceedings of the Convention, and the Speeches which may be made on the occasion.

We request the favour of those friends to whom this Prospectus may be sent, to circulate it, for the purpose of obtaining subscribers. A copy of the work will be sent to the newspapers that copy this Prospectus.

Subscribers should forward their names in time to reach us before the 25th May. If they do not, we may not be able to furnish them with all the numbers; because the work is put at so low a price, that we cannot afford to reprint any number that may be exhausted.

TERMS:
One Dollar per copy, in advance.
Eleven copies will be furnished for Ten Dollars; twenty-two copies for Twenty Dollars, and so on in proportion.

The price of this paper is so low, that we cannot afford to open accounts with those who subscribe for it. Therefore, no attention will be paid to any order, unless the money accompanies it.

POETRY.

From Longfellow's "Pilgrimage beyond the Sea." BERNARD'S MARCH TO RONGESVALLES.

He sallies forth "with three thousand Leonese and more," to protect the glory and freedom of his native land. From all sides the peasantry of the land flock to the hero's standard:

The peasant leaves his plough a-field,
The reaper leaves his hook,
And from his hand the shepherd boy Lays fall the pastoral crook.
The young set up a shout of joy,
The old forget their years,
The feeble man grows stout of heart,
No more the craven fears.
All rush to Bernard's standard,
And on Liberty they call;
They cannot brook to wear the yoke When threatened by the Gaul.

Free were we born, 'tis thus they cry, And willingly pay we
The duty that we owe our king, By the divine decree.

But God forbid that we obey The laws of foreign slaves, Tarnish the glory of our arms,
And make our children slaves.

Our hearts have not so craven grown,
So bloodless all our veins, So vigorous our braven arms,
As to submit to chains.

Has the audacious Frank, forsooth, Subdued these seas and lands?
Shall he a bloodless victory have?
No; not while we have hands.

He shall learn that the gallant Leonese Can bravely fight and fall; But that they know not how to yield,
They are Christians all.

Was it for this the Roman power Of old were made to yield Unto Numantia's valiant hosts, On many a bloody field?

Shall the bold lion, that have bathed Their paws in Lybian gore, Couch beside to a feller foe,
And to the "strife no more?"

Let the false king sell town and tower, But not his swains free,
For to subdue the free-born soul; No royal power has he!

MY ALBUM.

"Friend after friend departs. Who hath not lost a friend?"

Seven years ago every young lady must have an album. I had one—yes and have it now, and dearly do I love to scan its pages for each one speaks to me of friends who, to remind me of their friendship, when distance, time, or death should separate us, traced upon its pure pages, in original or borrowed verse, the wishes that animated their hearts. I said I loved to scan its pages; the employ is sweet though sad; they speak to me of friends beloved and gone, but the memory of whose virtues rise to my mind like the rainbow of hope, after the summer's storm has passed away. Seven years have made great, aye, very great changes to the contributors to my Album: sorrow, disappointment and death have been their lot; and from the contemplation I draw lessons of instruction; others may do the same.

On the first page is inscribed a "Sonnet to Hope," written by one whose hopes were soon cut off by wasting disease; then he was young and happy; his prospects were all bright and cheerful; he seemed to have one long day of joy; but soon, ah! how soon, he was "laid to rest in a distant land." In a distant land he sought that health which our cold climate denied him; but he sought in vain; and he returned to die with friends beloved and loving. I turn the leaf and see the writing of a much loved brother; he, too, was young and full of hope; but disappointment came; misfortune laid her hand upon him; false friends betrayed his confidence, and care has thinned his hairs & marked his face with years he never saw; but he has learned not to trust in the arm of flesh, but in a God of love. The next page shows an essay on the "Value of Time" written by one in green old age, who has well improved his threescore years, and in full hope is waiting his summons to depart to the land of bliss. On another is the "Comforts of Religion," traced by a hand now cold in death; but death, we trust, to her was gain; may her mantle fall on those she left. The next begins, "O life, thy roses thine unfold;" little did the writer imagine the thorns which lay in the path she was to tread; many and heavy have been her sorrows, but hitherto she has been sustained, for she trusts in "that friend who never fails the just." My eye now rests upon the writing of one who has relinquished all the world admires, earth's gay pleasures and transitory good, to devote herself to the noble employ of benefiting others: "her witness is in heaven, and her record is on high." I turn the leaf and see the effusions of a pious heart, which has since been tried in the furnace of affliction, "but has come forth like gold purified in the fire." The next I see is from one "who ministered and served God's altar" now pained by the hand of death; but he was taken from evil to come. Again, I see the writing of one whose earthly hopes have been blasted by false friends, and he left to struggle against misfortune's tide. The next is penned by one early taught in "Affliction's school;" one after another of his loved companions called away till he is left "the only son of his mother." Another page was traced by all his flock: those hands, so oft upraised in prayer, are no longer; that tongue which so eloquently plied the cause of God, and man's salvation, is now silent in death; the earthly shepherd was removed that the flock might learn to stay themselves upon the "Shepherd and Bishop of souls" his work was done and well done; peace to thy memory, thou man of worth! I turn again, and another "Sonnet of Hope" appears; the writer's earthly hopes have been cut off by series of misfortunes, so called—but by them her heart has been drawn from earth, and her treasures laid up in heaven. A father's writing next meets my view, whose bright and promising children have been removed by death till he can say with one of old, "I am bereaved of my children;" but he has a friend who is better, far better than ten sons could be. The next was penned by one of those children, cheerful and happy, because he was good;

he was to go to his Heavenly Father's house, to perfect that character begun with so much promise here. On the following page his mother's hand has traced some lines, asking acceptance from that God "who has never said to any, seek ye my face in vain," yet would her heart have sunk within her could she have foreseen the store of sorrows which was to bring her "nearer to her God."—Another leaf shows the feelings of an affectionate son in reviewing the untold kindness of his mother, whose love cannot be surpassed by any thing earthly, "but closer twines in grief and woe, and loves even more in misery." I now pass over a few pages, because filled by those whose path has thus far run smoothly along, & my eye rests on the imagery of a mind just beginning to show its strength: now, though only five years have passed, through diligent and faithful improvement of the talents entrusted to him, he is placed in a highly responsible station, respected and beloved by all who knew him; may he be "faithful unto death, and then receive a crown of life." A sweet girl's writing now meets my view: she was then young and gay; now a wife and mother, sobered far more than many more years without her cares would have sobered her. Desolation of heart has been the lot of the next writer: married in early life, blest with an affectionate husband and lovely children, one short year saw her a widow and almost childless, yet her trust in the widow's God, and in his strength she bears her trials. A few more leaves bring me to the writing of one whose spirit was too sweet and mild for "our rough clime," and at an early age he passed, we trust, to behold that God and Saviour "whom having not seen have loved." The next was penned by a lovely girl, then coming forward full of life and enjoyment, ready to catch each pleasure as it flew; her father's troubles have been made her own, and she moves quietly along, as if she had numbered twice her years.

Many others have contributed their "mites" to fill my book, but enough have been noticed to give the reader an idea with what feeling I turned its leaves and read its pages. And now shall I moralize upon the changes which have come over my friends, or leave each gentle reader to do it for himself? One thought, must, I think arise in every heart; that change, decay & death are stamped on all things earthly; yet that God "who tempests the wind to the storm lamb," will never forsake any who put their trust in him however dark his ways may seem to us. When passing through the furnace, he will not leave us to perish in the fire, but when the dross is purged away, the gold will shine with tenfold lustre for having been thus purified.

A Correspondent (probably one of the Editors of the Louisville (Ky.) Journal), describing his voyage down the Ohio, thus speaks of the Earthquake of 1816.

As we were passing New Madrid, the accidental mention of its name reminded me that it was the scene of the terrific earthquake of 1816. I made enquiries as to that memorable event, and a middle aged but grey-haired passenger was pointed out to me as having been a witness of its tremendous effects. I found him communicative, intelligent, and eloquent. Laying his hand upon his whitened temples, he said with a solemnity that thrilled me: "I was young at the time of the earthquake—my hair was as dark as yours—but the terrors of a single hour made me as grey as you see me now. I have since witnessed scenes of blood upon the ocean and upon the land—but all those were as nothing to the horrors of that fearful night, when the earth groined and gasped beneath us, as if the hour of her death agony were upon her." I have failed to give the exact words of the speaker and materially weakened their force.

He subsequently entered into a minute description of the convulsion, and pointed me to several deep cliffs upon the shore where its power was written in desolations, which the lapse of time has not yet been able to efface.

He described the ground as having risen and sunk like a heaving sea—houses were shaken to the earth—the strongest trees bent to and fro like reeds—and the earth opened on every side, casting up huge columns of water, and again swallowing them up in its measureless abysses. Even the graves of the neighbouring cemetery were felt, and the dead came forth as if the awful peal had been the trump of God. The Mississippi, which at that place is unfathomable, rushed backwards in its channel with wild and fearful velocity, and when the morning dawned, new islands had risen & old ones disappeared forever. The inhabitants, as they stood amid the ruins of the shock, were silent and awe-struck, as if the finger of the Almighty were laid upon every lip and heart.

For several days, innumerable boats, with valuable cargoes, were seen floating at random upon the agitated waters—their owners dead or having fled in terror—yet not a hand was outstretched to save their perishing riches. I am told however, that Madrid, dreadful as its fate is known to have been, was not the spot, where the earthquake burst forth in its greatest violence. For an immense distance around that village, almost every square acre of ground exhibits traces of the convulsions, but a hilly and uninhabited section of the country, a few miles south-east of Madrid is described as having been the chief theatre of the shock. In that lonely wilderness, it held its fiercest revels. Every hill there was cloven in twain, thousands of acres were swallowed up, and when the sun a rose on the morrow, it gleamed upon a dead & turbid lake fifty miles in length where on the preceding evening, its parting beams had lingered upon an unbroken forest. Pardon this long narration—the facts were not uninteresting to me, and I hope they may not prove wholly so to you.

Anne-Arundel County, &c.
ON application to the subscriber, one of the Judges of the orphans court of Anne-Arundel county, and state of Maryland, by petition in writing of Edward Brookes, of Anne-Arundel county, stating that he is now in actual confinement, and praying for the benefit of the act of the General Assembly of Maryland, entitled, An act for the relief of sundry insolvent debtors, passed at December session 1805, and the several supplements thereto, on the terms therein mentioned; a schedule of his property, and a list of his creditors, on oath so far as he can ascertain the same, being annexed to his petition, and the said Edward Brookes having satisfied me by competent testimony that he has resided two years within the state of Maryland immediately preceding the time of his application, and the said Edward Brookes having taken the oath by the said act prescribed for the delivering up his property, and given sufficient security for his personal appearance at the County Court of Anne-Arundel county, to answer such interrogatories and allegations as may be made against him, and having appointed a trustee, who has given bond as such, and received from said Edward Brookes a conveyance and possession of all his property, real, personal and mixed; I do hereby order and adjudge, that the said Edward Brookes be discharged from imprisonment, and that he give notice to his creditors by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in Anne-Arundel county, once a week for three months before the 4th Monday in October next to appear before the said County Court, at the Court House of said county, at ten o'clock of the forenoon of that day, for the purpose of recommending a trustee for their benefit, and to show cause, if any they have, why the said Edward Brookes should not have the benefit of the said act and supplements, as prayed.
Given under my hand this 21st day of February, in the year of our Lord, eighteen hundred and thirty-five.

MARYLAND COLONIZATION
PROSPECTUS.—The Board of Managers of the State Colonization Society,
and the Board of Managers of the State Fund,
have resolved to publish a quarterly journal for the purpose of diffusing information concerning the principles and progress of the Maryland plan of Colonization. The Journal will also contain occasional notices of the operations of the friends of Colonization in other parts of the Union. It will be published at least once a quarter, and sometimes often. Persons wishing to receive it regularly as published, may become subscribers
by paying fifty cents per annum in advance.
Donations for the support of the paper will be thankfully received. The friends of Colonization throughout the state will confer a great favour by transmitting for the Journal
any intelligence which may promote the cause
it advocates.
All communications are to be directed to the "Maryland Colonization Journal, Office of the Maryland State Colonization Society, Baltimore."

WALDIE'S LIBRARY, PORT FO-LIO AND MUSEUM.
AS the publications now issued from the office of the Select Circulating Library
are of a highly popular cast, and of a character to be appreciated by the educated portions of the community, and to circulate everywhere, by concert with the proprietor of the Museum, that work, the Port Folio and Library, are offered to those who take the three
on the following conditions, viz:
The Museum, Port Folio and Library, if
paid for in advance and addressed to the same individual whether in town or country, will
be supplied for $12, thus enabling every individual to benefit by the clubbing system,
without the necessity of applying to others.
Those who have made a payment for the current year to either of the works, of whatever
amount, will be privileged to avail themselves of this arrangement, by paying the balance—
thus
1. Those who have paid or now pay $5 for the Library, shall receive the Museum and Port Folio, the price of which separate is $9, on the payment of $7.
2. Those who have paid or now pay $6 for the Museum, shall receive the Library and Port Folio, the price of which is separately $8, on the payment of $6.
3. Those who have paid or now pay for the Port Folio, shall receive the Library and Museum on paying such a sum as will be equal to $12 on the whole.
4. The Circulating Library and Museum, will be sent to the same address on the payment of $10.
REMARKS.—The three works thus issued together, comprise a greater amount of the current literature of the age, than is issued
in a periodical form from any other office in the United States, and will, the proprietor believes, with the addition of a good newspaper, supply to families all the advantages
which could be furnished in a most extensive
reading room in one of our Atlantic cities.
In the Library the newest and best books are regularly published; in the Museum and Port Folio it has been found by experience that
everything we could wish to copy from the entire British literary periodicals, omitting mostly the political articles, can be rapidly issued. These publications embrace so much that is desirable to be known, and are so generally perused in the best circles in America, that to be without either is to drop a link
in the literary chain. They are all under the control of one mind, and therefore the reader will very rarely indeed be compelled to pay for the same matter twice, as they are independent of each other, complete in themselves, and free in general from any repetitions of the same articles.
These views the proprietor respectfully thinks out for the consideration of the friends of sound and wholesome literature.

A weekly newspaper, devoted to Politics, Literature, and District Affairs, is published every Saturday at the seat of the General Government.
BY WILLIAM THOMPSON.
TWENTY-SIX numbers of this Journal
I have been already published; and another series is commenced with increased and increasing patronage. The publisher and editor has enlarged the Mirror, from the Medium to the Super Royal size. It is printed on good paper and with new type, and will be delivered at the residence of each subscriber
in Washington, Georgetown and Alexandria,
on the day of publication. Price Two Dollars per annum—the first half year invariably in advance. Subscriptions and advertisements are respectfully solicited. Postmasters and others residing out of the District,
who will procure five subscribers and remit $5, in advance for half year's subscription, will receive a gratuitous copy of the Washington Mirror. The editor will spare no pains to obtain correct and early information of public occurrences at the seat of the Federal Government; and his editorial comments will be as much as possible, free from party
or sectional bias. If the Washington Mirror should continue to be liberally patronized,
the publisher will continue to make further improvements.
He respectfully announces the following
new arrangements:
1st. The Washington Mirror will continue on its present size and price without any change or alteration in the ensuing volume.
2d. Country subscribers will have their papers regularly mailed on the day of publication.
3d. During the session of congress, a weekly article will be prepared and invariably appear under the head of 'Sayings and Doings
in Congress.'
4th. During the recess the political rumors and on-dits at the seat of the General Government, will be noted for the information of distant subscribers.
5th. The names of all the subscribers to the Mirror in Washington, Georgetown and Alexandria, will be published, once every
six months, in an advertising directory, with
the profession and residence of each subscriber.
6th. For the information of commercial readers, a selection will be made and published every week, from the New York Journal
of Commerce; also a price current, adapted
to the Washington and Georgetown markets
and carefully corrected for the Mirror by intelligent mercantile gentlemen. This information will be given under the head 'Commercial.'
7th. For the Ladies' and Literary Department of the Mirror, good original, and well selected matter will be constantly provided.
Having already nearly seven hundred subscribers in the city of Washington alone, and a very handsome subscription in Georgetown and Alexandria, the Mirror will, it is presumed, obtain a fair portion of advertising patronage.
Communications, whether containing orders
or remittances, must be addressed (postage free) to W. Thompson, editor of the Mirror, Washington city, D. C.
We shall be much obliged to the editors with whom we exchange, if they will aid
us in making known these arrangements and
the enlargement of the Mirror.

A BY-LAW.
Entitled, A supplement to a By-Law passed in the year 1832, excluding Hogs from the taxable property of the city of Annapolis.
SECTION 1. Be it established and ordained by the Mayor, Recorder, Aldermen and Common-Council of the City of Annapolis, and by the authority of the same, That from and after the passage of this by-law it shall be lawful to keep a hog or hogs within the city aforesaid, in a pen or sty, provided no pen or sty shall be located within sixty feet of any dwelling house street or alley.
Sec. 2. And be it established and ordined by the authority aforesaid, That if any person shall keep a hog or hogs contrary to the first section of this by-law, he shall be subject to a fine of not more than one Dollar, nor less than fifty cents, for each hog, for every day he shall so offend, to be recovered as other fines are for the use of the corporation.
Sec. 3. Be it established and ordained by the authority aforesaid, That it shall not be lawful for any negro slave to keep a hog or hogs within the city aforesaid.
Sec. 4. And be it further established and ordained by the authority aforesaid, That it shall be lawful for free persons of colour to raise a hog or hogs in the manner they are at this time allowed to raise them, provided if a free coloured person should violate this section of the by-law, he shall be subject to the penalty imposed by the second section of this by-law.
Sec. 5. And be it further established and ordained by the authority aforesaid, That all ordinances heretofore passed by the corporation in any manner or way contrary or repugnant to this by-law, and its provisions, be and the same are hereby repealed.
