MR. CANNON'S DEATH.

Mr. Geo. P. Cannon, son of Mr. Jas. Cannon of this City died in Bristol, Tennessee.

Mr. George P. Cannon son of Mr. James Cannon of this city, died last Thursday at his home in Bristol, Tenn. We take the following account from the Bristol Courier.

Mr. George P. Cannon, one of Bristol's leading citizens, and a most highly esteemed man, died at his home in the southern suburbs at 12:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon, while his death was hardly expected, as soon it was known that he could not live long, since he was afflicted with consumption, and had been gradually declining for three or four months. It is only three or four weeks since Mr. Cannon went from here to his old home at Salisbury, Md., with the hope of recruiting his health, but his condition grew more serious, and on last Thursday he returned to Bristol accompanied by his mother.

Death came without a struggle, and so finally he lived in the Christian faith that he said he had no fears of death.

The only regret he had was to leave his family. Mrs. Cannon, a most excellent lady, and three or four children survive.

The deceased came to Bristol in 1890, about the time the era of land speculation was beginning to be active in this section. Prior to that he had gone from his Maryland home to Washington, D. C., to begin a real estate business. He was a man of great enterprise and untiring energy, and when he saw that the era was drawing upon this section, he concluded that it was a good opportunity for his business, and coming to Bristol, he invested extensively, meanwhile he labored with a view of bringing capital to Bristol, since he always had great faith in the future of the city.

It was through his efforts that the South West Bristol Land company was organized, and that the Akard and Davis farms were purchased for the purpose of being made an addition to the city. Mr. Cannon was the manager of that company.

Among the stockholders of the company were people of Norfolk, Richmond and Danville.

Besides being associated with this company, Mr. Cannon was interested in various enterprises of value to the city, and he was always found on the side of progress and planning for the best interests of Bristol. He was also interested in the Holston National Building and Loan association, and was for three years one of the directors of that association.

Aside from his extensive business relations, Mr. Cannon was a thorough, hardworking, earnest Christian. For quite a while he was a member of Main Street Methodist church and was superintendent of the Sunday school for a year. When the Anderson street church was organized, Mr. Cannon removed his church membership and became one of the leading spirits in Anderson street church. He was elected superintendent of the Sunday school there, and held the position most acceptably until his failing health forced him to resign.

He was in every sense a man, good gentle and true, and his happy influence and noble life will be missed among this people, who knew him to love and respect him for all that he was and for all that his high aspirations led him to hope. It is pleasant to think good thoughts of him and to say good words about the life he lived.

The funeral took place Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock from Main street church, Bristol, and the remains were interred in the cemetery.

Mr. Cannon was almost 40 years old when he died. His widow was a Miss Jamerson of Culpeper Va.

A SUMMER SAIL.

A Fair Correspondent of the Advertiser Writes as Follows from Capital.

The "Nanticoke Comet Band," which is composed of twenty-five of Nanticoke's most gallant and musical young men, chartered the latest schooner Emma Virginia to give their young friends a day's outing. On Wednesday the 21st, last, at about 8 A. M., eighty seven gay, bright, healthy young people, boarded the vessel and with a light breeze, and amid the fluttering of many flags they left Tavern Landing for Crisfield. Fruit and refreshments were in abundance. At noon a general dinner was served in splendid style. A dinner which any hotel on the peninsula might boast of. The merry crowd and sweet music attracted much attention, and when gaily saluted by all who beheld them, from the most crabber to the keepers of the light houses on the river, and the genial Captain of the steamer Tanager. As the vessel neared Crisfield the large and beautiful steamer steamed up as near as was safe, and while the officers and all on board raised their hats and waved their kerchiefs the band played several beautiful strains. After viewing the town Captain Willing put the vessel about for the homeward voyage. After enjoying a lovely sunset and when daylight had faded into darkness the crew of the Emma Virginia, and two of our literary friends, entertained the crowd by reciting old negro sermons and singing ditty songs, which was interspersed with music from the band. With a fair wind we were soon landed at our starting point, each and all, the writer also being a participant declared the band and captain Willing, that it was a most enjoyable sail, and one of the pleasantest days of her life.

Our Corn Crop.

The prospects for an average corn crop in this county have materially changed in the last three weeks. Forward corn on light lands will yield very well; but forward corn generally will yield satisfactory, but the crop on the heavy clay lands in the western part of the county are almost a total failure, especially on the pipe clay lands of Quantico and Tynah. The crops on these lands were planted late on account of the backward spring and have since suffered greatly from the dry weather. Later corn must necessarily be very short unless rain comes very soon. It is now in full bloom and needs rain very much.

Bowman-Showell.

Miss Elsie Showell, of Berlin, Worcester county, and Mr. Edmund O. Bowman, of Springfield, Ohio, were married this morning at 11 o'clock at the residence of the bride's mother. They left on the noon train for an extended tour of one month in the Northern cities. They will make their residence at Springfield, Ohio. The ceremony was performed by Rev. David Howard, of the Episcopal Church, of Berlin. The bride was given away by her brother, Lemuel Showell Jr., of Springfield, Ohio. There were about fifty of her friends present.

Ocean City furnishes entertainment for all, from the youngest to the oldest and every family should go on the Thursday excursion via the B. C. & A. Cheap rates.

AN ENJOYABLE CONCERT.

A High-toned Amateur Performance at Uman's Opera House Thursday Night for the Benefit of the Berlin Sufferers.

Many of the very elite of Salisbury braved the insufferable hot weather last Thursday night and attended the amateur concert at Uman's Opera House given for the benefit of the people of Berlin who lost their possessions in the recent fire. The occasion was pleasing to everybody who attended.

Mr. Geo. Selman Williams was foremost in putting the scheme through. He was ably and cheerfully assisted by a number of four most musical towns people besides several accomplished ladies who are visiting our town people.

A feature of the performance was the piano performances of Mr. E. J. Muhlhauser of Wilmington. The two gifted daughters of Ex Governor Jackson were among the contributors to the program. The use of the opera house was tendered by the Messrs. Uman and the newspaper offices contributed all the printing matter. Almost $75 was realized. Below is the program.

Part I.—Piano Solo, E. J. Muhlhauser, Soloist. Vocal Solo, Miss Nellie Jackson, "For all Eternity." Mascheroni, Piano Duet, Misses Wallies and Powell, "Invitation Polka." Bended, E. J. Muhlhauser, Piano Solo, Miss Nellie Jackson, "How He Saved St. Michael's." Piano Solo, Mrs. Wm. P. Jackson, "Piano Spring." Heenes, Vocal Solo, Miss Nellie Jackson, "Forgetful." Vocal Quartette, Mrs. M. V. Breckington, Miss Elna Sheppard, Dr. S. A. Graham, Mr. G. S. Williams, "Slumber Song." Bualds.

Part Second.—Piano Duet, Misses Ford (a) Valley Through Forest—(b) Top, (d) Tramp—Galop. Vocal Solo, Mrs. J. L. Selman, "The Song I'll Never Forget—Rondo." Recitation, Miss Maria Ellegood, Archie Dean. Piano Solo, Miss Margaret Jackson, "Rondo in E Flat." Von Weber. Vocal Duet, Mrs. Spring, Miss Ellegood, "See the Pils Moor." Campans. Recitation, Mrs. D. J. Tiltow, "High Tide or the Ride of Emory." Piano Solo, E. J. Muhlhauser, "Marche de St. Nul." Gattschalk. Accompanist, Mr. D. J. Wallop. Violinist, Mr. G. Selman Williams.

Wanamaker's
Philadelphia, Aug. 24, 1904.
Bountiful harvests bring general prosperity and the general possessor of money is making an extra profit by quick and judicious spending. The helpfulness of the Wanamaker system was never more manifest. Four millions of dollars' worth of merchandise is owned by us at prices of varying degree below the lowest market points touched. Immense as is this bulk of goods, it means but a small amount for each individual of the thousands turning hither for supplies.

Each day sees the closing of great lots that cannot be replaced at the prices asked. The statements are plain, simple and exact, and economical buyers are making the most of these money-saving days.

Wool Dress Goods
Rigorous clearing of the markets at quick-bid losses has at last stemmed the current for manufacturers, and to-day they are in a position to decline to accept orders at such prices as have prevailed. Every article is exercised to guard against the acceptance of speculative orders, and while there may be little money made during many months to come, losses are stopped.

You will pay more for goods, because of late you have paid too little.
But not at once if you are fortunate. Not while present stocks last at Wanamaker's.

Vast quantities of goods suitable for early Autumn wear were gathered by us even under the lowest ruling market rates. Every yard is yours as cheaply as though there was no advance. Cheaper than ever dress goods were sold.

All the lots are in liberal supply and the movement is without parallel in Dress Goods selling! These next fifteen days will mark busy times at Wanamaker's, but each lot closed out lessens the bargain range.

Every yard of goods mentioned is in proper color and weight for early Autumn wear.

A LITTLE CHILD.

Eight, golden curls and innocent white brow,
And lips like red rose petals blown apart,
And laughing eyes of blue, I love you now,
Come yet a little closer to my heart!
May, dear, my little child, heart understand,
That I love you, and know not to care
That I may warm my withered soul with them.

Oh, let me feel—close to my memory
No earthly love upon my life has melted—
Not heaven in glory hath reserved for me
The kisses and the clinging of a child.

PROFESSIONAL MOURNERS.

Carolina Calabrian Customs Which May Be Observed in New York.
In the Italian quarter I found myself
the other day in a home which had been devoted by a double misfortune. A little Italian boy had fallen from a five-escape to the street and been instantly killed. His widowed mother, when she came upon the body of her son, thrust with grief and attempted to take her own life. She was taken to the hospital.

The boy's body lay upon a table, and a blinding candlelight shone at its head.
At the side the boy's foster father and his wife knelt in prayer. Seated about the room was a group of women chanting an Italian death wail. One of the women raised her face, and her quavering
voice filled the room:
"Happiness has departed from us forever!"

And the others around the refrain:
"Forever!"
"He will never be absent from our thoughts!"
"Never from our thoughts!"

And so on, strophe and antistrophe,
the grief was a group of women chanting the dismal refrain. It was a sight and a sound to move even the tardy sensibilities of a reporter.

Such scenes are not uncommon in the Italian quarter, where they seldom come under the eyes of visitors. The professional mourner is an institution in some of the provinces of southern Italy.

She is a woman of the Italian type,
softer sex is analogous to the Irish
"keener," but with the difference that her wail is more musical than weird, whereas the "keener" is wild, piercing—almost anything but musical.

The Italian wailers—they are called "griefers" in their native tongue—are doubtless descendants of the professional mourners of ancient Rome. They are most common, and their office is most clearly defined in the provinces of Abruzzo and Calabria, and in Sicily. There they are regularly retained and rewarded with a fee. In other provinces a relative of the afflicted family may assume the office, but the professional mourner function may be of a wholly miscellaneous character, all the mourners joining in a song of woe.—New York Herald.

President Polk's Nashville Home.
The old Polk place on Vine street, the home of President James K. Polk, and the scene of many brilliant gatherings in former days, is viewed with interest by many visitors to Nashville. Many expressions of regret are heard from those who view the picturesque Polk place for the first time, that the historical homestead should have been allowed to fall into such a state of dilapidation. They think the old place should be maintained in good repair, for the sake of the memories that surround it. It has been suggested more than once that it would make an ideal home for the official residence of Tennessee's governors. The house that can be very properly preserved by Nashville for the present condition of the Polk place is that they have located in the city, the property being in litigation. It is feared that ultimately, in the division of the property, the old place will be cut up into lots, and if that is done the home of Polk will be only a memory.—Nashville American.

Not His Funeral.
Bluffs wrote a very bad hand generally, but in writing hurriedly, making an appointment with a friend, he did not notice the error. He had written
"I'll turn out for you," but he had meant to say "I'll turn out for you." He had written "I'll turn out for you," but he had meant to say "I'll turn out for you."

He had left the letter lying for half an hour, and on going to address the envelope he happened to glance at its envelope.
"What a mistake!" he cried.

A BICYCLE CHASE.

Milo Warren was making a call on a girl to whom he was fondly attached,
although he had never told her so.
But this was a case where actions speak louder than words, and he was a girl
about for finding out if a young man regards her with favor. Every girl is clairvoyant where affairs of the heart are concerned.

They were talking about their birthdays and the pleasant custom of giving presents at such a time.
"Did you say your birthday came in September, Miss Nellie?"
"I did not," remarked Miss Nellie demurely.

"Then it was December, wasn't it?"
Some fellow fellow will be giving you a diamond, perhaps."
"No, no," she replied, "I have not received any presents."

"I've had similar instructions," said the girl. "They've very much increased at present, but it won't last. Within six days I shall be giving a recompense dinner party. I know the dear old things so well."

THE COLONEL'S WIFE.

The rupture was all about a two-acre field. Colonel Fairholme, J. P., wanted to fill it out in his ring fence, and the other party wanted to fill it out in his ring fence.

"I don't like to be married," said the young man, "I don't like to be married."

OFFICIAL SHIPPING.

Boys who are sent off to minor officers in England are sent off to the judges to a sound thrashing at the hands of the policeman. Here is a description of it taken from an English paper:
"The judge is a very different person
from the policeman. The judge is a man of the law, and the policeman is a man of the law."

"The judge is a very different person
