Vol. 26

Salisbury, Md., Saturday, April 7, 1906.

No. 18

Careful Thorough Prescription Work

Sometimes you imagine that you have to wait a long time for the medicine, but if we give it to you in less time, it would NOT be such good medicine. No matter how busy we are, every prescription is prepared carefully and thoroughly; no part of the work is slighted in any detail. It must be right before we let it go out of our hands.

You may think at the time that we are being too particular, but that is due to your anxiety and impatience. In your calmer thought you will admit that we are right, and will thank us for preparing such RELIABLE medicine. Our methods have won the commendation of all local physicians who have had occasion to know about them.

DON'T BE DECEIVED.

Adulterated paint is NOT as good as

Davis' 100 per cent Pure Paint

How can it be? Is watered milk as good as pure milk? Is a cold storage egg as good as a fresh-laid egg? Of course not, and no amount of argument could convince you to the contrary. Why, then, allow anyone to persuade you to accept an adulterated paint, when you can get Davis' carrying an analysis and guarantee?

MRS. LAURA ENNIS SHOT

And Goldsborough Bailey in Jail Arrested For The Deed. To Be Tried At This Term Of Court.

Mrs. Laura Ennis, who was well known in her section of the county was fatally shot at the home of her son, Mr. Wm. A. Ennis in Finner's District about four miles from Salisbury, Saturday. Fetal preparations were in progress to celebrate the mother's birthday which was at hand, and the social gathering was in her honor.

Between 7:30 and 8 o'clock Goldsborough Bailey, who lived about a half mile distant, went to the Ennis home and inquired if his wife was there. Being informed that she was, he demanded that she return home at once. Mrs. Bailey refused to leave, expressing fear that her husband would do her bodily harm. Her refusal to go home seemed to incense Bailey and warm words ensued between him and the members of the Ennis family. They ordered Bailey to leave their premises, which he did, but he returned within five minutes this time, (according to the testimony brought out before the jury of inquest) with a gun in his hands.

When Bailey went to the Ennis home the second time, it is said he made a more pressing demand for his wife's return home. For the second time the father and son went out into the yard and ordered Bailey to leave their premises. Warm words were said to have passed between the three men, which so irritated the attention of the mother that she went out also, entering the yard from the sitting room door. As young Davis approached Bailey the latter raised a double barreled shot gun, aiming it directly at Davis. Davis grabbed the gun and that instant the weapon exploded. With a shriek the mother fell in her tracks, and when assistance reached her she was dying. Life was extinct in less than thirty minutes. A gaping wound on the left side of her throat, and several wounds on her face and forehead showed the deadly work of the gun.

But one barrel of the gun was discharged, but the momentum of Bailey to the house, being only about 15 feet distant, caused a portion of the load to tear away a part of the door facing and narrowly escape killing Mr. Alfred Jones, who was a guest at the house. Just an instant before the gun was fired Mr. Jones opened the sitting room door and started to go out. The report of the gun startled him, as he was not more than 8 feet from the spot where Mrs. Ennis was killed. It did not take long for Jones to discover that he was wounded, for blood was pouring from his left hand. Six or seven shot pierced his left hand, one his left arm just below the shoulder, and one entered his stomach.

Jones hurried to Salisbury to have his wounds dressed, and spread the news of the shooting. Deputy Sheriff Frank Waller and Policeman Woodland Disharoon drove hurriedly to the scene of the tragedy and soon had Bailey under arrest. They found him about 600 yards from the Ennis home, lying in the field.

He was closely guarded by his dog, which defended its master until shot by the officers. When found, Bailey was in a stupor, and a bloody wound was observed upon his forehead. This, he said, was inflicted by young Ennis, who wrenched the gun from Bailey after the shooting and knocked Bailey down with it. The prisoner was hurried to Salisbury and was soon behind prison bars.

Jury Of Inquest.

The scene of the tragedy was visited by many people Sunday morning. The coroner's jury summoned by Justice Trader at 11 o'clock consisted of Harry L. Brewington, foreman, William P. Bonds, T. Byrd Lanford, Reuben P. Bailey, John T. Elliott, J. Clayton Kelley, George Causey, Daniel B. Holloway, Alex. P. Malone, Ernest Townsend, Jas. Chatham and J. Samuel Duffey. State's Attorney Bailey was present and put the questions to the witnesses.

Their verdict was: "That on March 31, one Goldsborough Bailey did feloniously and with malice aforethought, kill and murder the said Laura Ennis, by shooting her with a shot gun in the head, thereby inflicting a mortal wound, of which said Laura Ennis then and there died."

Bailey has retained Attorneys Milne and Stanford of Princess Anne to defend him. He expressed his great sorrow for his deed to Sheriff Elmer Bradley Monday morning and shed tears. He said he did not see Mrs. Ennis—that it was dark—and that he had no intention whatever of hurting her. He admitted, however, pulling the trigger of the gun while struggling with John Ennis, Mrs. Ennis' son. He said he was beside himself with drink and worry, and did not know what he was doing. He laid no blame upon his wife for his crime, but said she had caused him a great deal of trouble.

Monday morning Judge Holland gave orders that the Grand Jury, which had been discharged Saturday, be called together again on Wednesday, so that Bailey can be indicted and tried at the present term of Court.

Mrs. Laura Ennis, the deceased, was about 35 years old, and was highly esteemed by her neighbors. She was a native of New York.

A BEAUTIFUL ARRAY

Of Wonderful Millinery Creations, Displayed At The Openings Here This Week. Soon By Hundreds Of Ladies From Many Towns.

Powell's.

The Spring Opening at the large Department Store of H. E. Powell & Co., was attended by a vast concourse of people. Everything and everybody made the fact evident that Spring was surely here.

The store was very artistically decorated for the occasion in the latest novelties, potted plants also being used in great profusion.

The East window was devoted to the display of dress goods, trimmings and fancy novelties, while the West window was given up to the display of trimmed hats, flowers, etc., lavender and light blue being the color effect. The exhibition of dress goods, silks and trimmings was exceedingly attractive, gowns and crepe being the shades that were in great demand.

The principal hats this season are blocked hats in the Neapolitan, Milan, Panama, Chape and unfinished Leghorns. Among the trimmed hats that were greatly admired were:

A white chip sailor bound with green, trimmed in an old rose quill and large knot of velvet, banded in back with foliage and rosebuds.

A very pretty leghorn hat with folds of pink velvet trimmed with pink and white plumes and cream roses with pink tint, and large bow of pink ribbon on side.

A child's poke made of white chiffon, ruffled edged with val lace, also lace crown and shirred facing trimmed in high rosette of white ribbon.

Lowenthal's.

The Opening display at Lowenthal's was a brilliant scene. The windows were radiant in the American Beauty coloring. The back around represents a garden scene—the walls of which are overgrown with roses—making a novel effect.

Among the many handsome hats was one of gray Neapolitan with underlacing of gray maline, a long gray plume dropped gracefully on the side and gray roses banded in the back made a beautiful effect.

Another attractive hat was a white soft draped Neapolitan with lace facing of narrow lace, a heavy maline ruching finished the crown, whilst two long plumes and pink buds flanked the back. Children's hats in every variety and color of the natty shapes help form a brilliant array.

Taylor's.

Mrs. G. W. Taylor displays at her spring opening an unusually large number of beautiful hats. The store was not decorated save with masses of exquisite flowers, ribbons, quills, and plumes, which blended on a becoming hat being such unalloyed joy of the heart of woman kind.

In one window there were a number of exquisite creations in yellow and white. Hats for the little tots occupied another window and these were especially lovely. Pink and old rose seem to be the popular colors in the spring hat and the long graceful plume makes a very attractive trimming. Tascans, chips, leghorns, and straw braid hats of every description were found at this opening in charming array.

FROM THE MINERAL FIELD

Of Wonderful. Gooey Notes About The Wonderful Old Town And Its People.

The nice days of this week have given a chance for the farmers and truckers to catch up with their work. The tomato packers have been overhauling this community of late, trying to get the farmers to put out a large number of plants this summer. Neither party seems willing to submit themselves about prices. Many of the farmers think that it will not pay to raise them for less than fifteen cents per basket. Some packers are willing to give twelve cents.

It has often been a wonder to me that some enterprising man of means did not put up a factory here in Maryland Springs for canning peas and asparagus. Our land is adapted to this kind of truck, and canned goods of this description find ready sale in the large cities.

During this past week two or three more car loads of oyster shells have been put on our Main Street. The streets this winter have been worse than usual. The shavings put on them last fall did good for only a little while, and then they became as intolerable nuisance.

Perhaps by the time that this reaches the readers, the results of the M. P. Conference will be known. It seems to be an anxious time for both the church and the laity. There ought to be, no doubt, a much prayer that the right thing be done in the matter of appointments. Spiritual ability is surely desirable, for without it, there can be no true success.

The fishermen are complaining of the backward season in their business, but perhaps with more warmer days they may have greater success.

Even the school children are beginning to feel the effect of these warm days and it is much harder to keep their minds. The fields and woods are very inviting at this season of the year. The confinement of the school room is hard to bear. It surely is a difficult matter for the teachers to "make those young ones study."

Dr. L. M. Wilson has spent most of the winter in Baltimore, but it will soon be time for him to head his way to the little town that he dearly loves. His name is a household word in many homes in this section.

Dr. John M. Eldredge is building up for himself a reputation that will last. We hear many favorable comments on his work. For a young man he has been very successful in his practice.

Pastor B. G. Parker has announced a series of sermons on the Book of Jonah, to be preached in the Presbyterian Church of Maryland Springs. The first one will be on Sunday night at 7:30. The subjects are as follows: 1. The first preacher who ever declined a city appointment. 2. The prophet caught in the meshes of circumstantial evidence. 3. A hurried court scene on the high sea and its verdict. 4. The fish story. 5. Jonah's post-graduate course in theology. 6. The east wind that discovers one's hiding place.

Rev. Mr. Revell, the new M. E. preacher, has been heard on his new field and has made a very favorable impression. He is fearless in denunciations of wrong doing and wrong methods of raising money to support the church.

Sudden Deaths

There is a disease prevailing in this country that is dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it. It is known as the "Silent Killer."

It is a disease of the kidneys, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney troubles are allowed to advance the kidneys poison all blood will attack the vital organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and a cure is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. If you are feeling badly you can make no mistake by taking Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy. It corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night.

The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases.

Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful new discovery and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Calling on Corinne

The square-jawed young man who had been sitting in a brown study for fifteen minutes lifted himself up straight in the big chair and sighed as one who gives up a problem.

"In spite of all," he said, "I can't help but admire her colossal nerve."

"From which appalling remark," said the young man with the large and humorous mouth from across the reading table, "I take it that you years to pour out your grief upon my manly bosom. Proceed."

"Of course," went on the first one with laborious alacrity, "it isn't anything serious. It isn't as though I was desperately gone and all that, you know. I'd like to see the girl I'd lose sleep over. Only a fellow hates to think he's been done or that a girl thinks he's easy, don't you know?"

"I should say so," agreed the other young man. "Once let 'em think they have the upper hand and it's all off. Keep 'em in their proper place, I say."

"What do you know about it?" growled the other. "I'd like to see any one try to keep Corinne in her proper place—he'd have his hands full. You know her, don't you? Isn't she great? Now, I've been calling on her so often for the last six months that the very pavement in front of her house says 'How-de-do!' when I step on it. Corinne certainly is entertaining and I have jolly good times and she didn't seem to mind my coming three times a week. In fact, she seemed to like it. That's all I blame her for. If she hadn't liked it there was no need for her to act as though she did."

She knew I was coming last night, for I had promised to bring a book she wanted to see. Imagine my surprise when the maid met me at the door with the announcement that Corinne was out. No, she didn't know when she'd be back and she didn't know where she'd gone. Well, it was my last chance to see her before she left for the South, so after a minute I stepped in anyhow. I said 'I'd sit down and wait.'

"Well, I went into the reception room. The maid looked worried and hung around a little as though she wasn't acquainted with me and feared I might be a burglar, but before she had time to do anything the bell rang again. I had settled myself comfortably and was preparing to read to pass the time away till Corinne appeared. I wasn't paying much attention to what went on out in the hall. But whoever came in left his coat and hat and sauntered on down to the end of the hall into the little den, which is a cozy room. I never did care for the reception room myself, come to think of it. He walked in as though he knew he was expected and said 'Hello, Corinne,' and then I heard her voice. I guess it wouldn't have been cheerfully joyous had she known where I was at that precise minute."

"What did I do? Oh, I just soothed it into the hall, collected my overcoat and hat and slunk out of the door. Say, I was mad!"

"I don't blame you," sympathized the other young man, whose large and humorous mouth was twitching at the corners.

"I resolved to let her know she couldn't do a thing like that to me and have me take it meekly. I stepped into the nearest drug store, called a messenger boy and sent Corinne a note with instructions to the boy to deliver it into the hands of nobody but the lady of that name. I told her I had started out to call on Phyllis Green, as I had heard she had returned after her trip abroad, but I did not know where the Greens were now located. Would she please send me the address by the boy? I knew that would fetch her, for she always hated Phyllis and besides being furious at calling on her she'd think I'd forgotten my engagement at her home and be mad at that—and I'd prove to my own satisfaction that Corinne had really been at home instead of out."

"Well?"

"Oh, the boy came back and gave me a note. It read—oh, here it is in my pocket."

"Dear Mr. Dillbeck: Corinne is not at home this evening and I am sorry that I myself am unable to tell you where Miss Green lives. With sincere regrets, cordially yours, Evelyn Lapham."

"Evelyn Lapham is Mrs. Lapham, Corinne's mother, you know. And the boy when I held him up swore he'd delivered my note not to an elderly lady, but a young one, with big eyes. Even a messenger boy can be fascinated by Corinne's eyes, it seems. The note had seemed all right on the surface—only in her haste the young woman had not taken time sufficiently to disguise her handwriting. Any one at all clever could tell this was Corinne's writing even though she has made backhand of it. I'm disappointed at her lack of skill—I hate to have a good situation spoiled even for my own benefit."

"I told her not to try backhand," commented the young man with the large mouth, reminiscently.

The first young man choked and glared. "Say," he stammered. "You—then it was you—how dare—"

"Hold on," said the culprit, grinning. "What I did seemed to please Corinne."—Chicago News.

Crime in Boston

Judge—You say the prisoner held you up on the Common. What were his exact words to you?

Complainant—He said: "I am compelled to request you to kindly elevate your digital extremities."

Judge—Prisoner, you are sentenced to six months for highway robbery, and to twenty years for splitting an infinitive.—Boston Transcript.

WORK OF '06 LEGISLATURE.

The legislature that has just adjourned made a very creditable record for itself on the whole. The question that has been agitating the state for several years was settled in favor of a planting law, and we will have an opportunity of finding out whether or not the tales of almost untold wealth that the advocates of this bill claimed would roll into the State's Treasury were based on fact or the wild dreaming of theorists.

The sale of the State's interest in the Washington Branch to the B. & O. for two and one half millions dollars and the applying of this amount to the liquidation of the State debt which enabled them to reduce the tax rate to 16 cents, is highly commended all over the state.

Among the bills to fail, the Corrupt Practices act will be regretted more than any other measure, in this country, which in the past has felt perhaps more than any other part of the state the evils of large campaign contributions. The legislature this year seemed to be entirely free from boss dictation and as a result the corporation that wanted anything had to go down and make a fight in the open, and not arrange matters as has been the custom in some legislatures of the past with some big boss who would agree to look after their interest at Annapolis.

Although some very important bills died in the committee rooms yet this favorite way of killing legislation was less in evidence than usual, and most of the measures of importance were reported out of the committee and the fight for and against was made out in the open, the Corrupt Practices Bill however was one that was buried in the committee room of the House.

Among the important bills passed applying to Wicomico county especially are those giving the city of Salisbury the power to borrow $50,000 for the purpose of improving its streets; Providing for the incorporation of Sharptown, Mardela Springs, Pittsville and Willards; Amending the law relative to County Treasurer; Providing for the establishment of High Schools at Sharptown and Delmar; Dividing Pittsburg Election District in two election districts.

Mass Meeting for Men And Women At The Ashbury M. E. Church, Friday April 13, At 7.30 P. M.

Mr. George F. Tibbitts, Inter State Sec'y of the Young Men's Christian Association of Maryland, Delaware and West Virginia and the District of Columbia, will deliver an illustrated address on "The Battle of the Stars" at the Ashbury M. E. Church, Friday night, the 13th. It will be illustrated with 100 views. This address has been delivered in many of the leading cities of the Eastern and Middle States to large and representative audiences. The views have been colored by the leading artists of this country, and are projected by a dissolving stereopticon operated by Mr. Cameron Beck, Asst. Inter State Sec'y from Washington.

Mr. Oron D. O'Neal, a baritone soloist of note from Washington and who is connected with the Young Men's Christian Association work, will sing. From the testimonials of many prominent laymen and ministers who have heard this lecture, it would seem that the people of Salisbury have a treat in store for them. No admission will be charged but the attendance will be limited to men and women. No children under 16 being admitted.

Meeting Held By S. A. C.

Large meeting was held Monday night by the S. A. C. in their room on Dock Street, the re-election of officers being the main business. Following is a list of the new officers: President, Raymond E. Truitt, Vice-President, William Phillips, Secretary, Raymond Uman, Treasurer, Chas. Wilson. It was decided to buy new equipment for the gymnasium and littles for the reading room, thus making it up to date club. The lady members are getting along very nicely.

Club is rapidly growing, male members numbering 35 and female 25.

RAILROAD CROSSINGS

Discussed By Councilman U. W. Polk. Expresses His Views To The People On Important Questions.

Mr. Editor:—In compliance with our verbal conversation a week or two ago and for the benefit of others will state my position in the matter of Grade Crossings by Steam Roads of our streets, and while I am not authorized to speak for either corporation operating in this town, yet, I believe they are as much interested, if not more, in the protection of life and property as any citizen, and believe they will co-operate in doing all that is necessary for their protection if approached in the proper spirit. And as an individual member of the City Council, I know I am as much interested in the protection and safety of our citizens as any one, and will go as far as compatible with the best business interest of the town as any man, in providing for their protection against locomotives, automobiles, vehicles or anything else, and all alike without prejudice, fear or favor, whether it is the rich, poor, old, young, corporation or individual, but will not promise to act quite so hasty as some of our friends would have us; for several reasons, two of which I will mention. First, because I do not think it best for the business interest of the town, as it certainly would be effected by a mistake in matters of this kind whether they realized it at once or not. So far as the Municipal Government is concerned, I know it is not for its best interest to not hastily or use drastic measures, neither do I see the necessity of it, when the same can be obtained on a more conciliatory plan; and satisfactory to all parties; in fact, I do not consider it good business policy for the City Council to place itself in an antagonistic attitude toward the Railroad Company, especially at this time, when they are preparing to spend from $75,000.00 to $100,000.00 for street improvements, and most of the material will have to be imported by rail, over a line that would concur in a special rate, that had been the basis of our estimates for the past year, that would benefit our town to the amount of about one thousand dollars or more, that would otherwise come out of the taxpayers, whose interest I feel it my duty to protect, in arranging to derive all the benefits possible by a judicial and economical expenditure of their money. We have plenty of room for all we can get without wasting one cent. My second reason as to why the Council should avoid hasty action, is to give them time to devise plans and inform themselves as to what kind of protection is best for our crossings. To do this requires time, thought and study to secure the best results. I do not know how well informed the members of the Council are, or what efforts they have, individually, made to satisfy themselves on this subject; I can say for myself, individually, I am not able to advise which is the best method of protection at this time; therefore I am not prepared to cast my vote on any plan yet, but propose to be when I do, which I feel it my duty as a public servant, and I can not believe any citizen of this town would have its Municipal Government to act otherwise, especially in a matter that the same conditions, or worse, have existed for nearly forty years. If it is essential there should be drastic measures or hasty action all at once, why has this condition been allowed to exist so long; surely we have not been asleep all these years and just awakened to our duty; we also know to approach the average man who has not given crossing protection a study, and ask his advice as to the best method of crossing protection, he would say gates, what kind of a gate? I don't know. Why then do you say gates? Because this is the only thing I ever noticed and because they give notice of danger to pedestrians, and if they do not notice the warning they accept the responsibility and relieve the railroad company. Now the vital question confronting us is how to keep pedestrians from taking this risk and meeting with accidents, (as there would not be any accidents if every one used due care,) is what we are striving for and hope to accomplish, and while relieving the companies of any responsibility, at the same time save life and property.

ALMS HOUSE AND JAIL

Report, By Members Of The Grand Jury. Their Conditions, Etc. Set Forth.

We, the undersigned committee appointed by our honorable foreman to visit and examine the Alms House and make a report in reference thereto, respectfully submit that we did on Thursday, March 29, visit that institution and found conditions as good as could be expected under the circumstances. We found the main building in a somewhat dilapidated condition—the door steps, some of the doors, the floors and ceilings in various places needing repairs; the kitchen, the colored quarters, the barn and outbuildings are in fair condition, and the farm machinery, implements and live stock well kept and cared for. There were 18 inmates—5 white males and 3 white females, 8 colored females and 1 colored male. The general sanitary conditions were good, excepting near the hog pen, where there is a basin or sink which should be drained or filled in with dirt. We believe the keeper is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Court House And Jail.

We, the undersigned members of the committee appointed by our honorable foreman to visit and inspect the County Jail and Court House, report that on Friday, March 30, we inspected the Court House and found all the offices and the main court room in excellent condition. We found the jail neatly, cleanly and well kept, and five prisoners confined therein. We recommended that the brick work on the south side of the jail near the cellar window be repaired. We also report that we learn that the furnace in the jail does not properly heat the building under normal conditions, and that it scarcely gives any heat at all to the cells on the north side of the building.

A SINGULAR GUEST.

Mr. Henry Apps of Horton occupied the room at the Hotel de la Cour. He looked up at the clock in the dining room, and decided that he had the best view of the street.

"A trip in time," said Mr. Apps, "is a fine thing."

He threw the rope ladder gently in the air, and at the first effort it caught the projecting wall.

"Once on board the ladder," quoth Mr. Apps, "I'll be in the room."

He opened the window very gently and soon stood inside the dining room. Near the table in the corner of the room was a man.

"Well, I'm surprised," exclaimed Mr. Apps, "to find the man of his fur cap and mopped his brow with the back of his hand."

"I'm surprised," said Mr. Apps, "to find the man of his fur cap and mopped his brow with the back of his hand."

Why I Shall Stay Thursday.

"I shall stay where I shall be on Thursday," said Mr. Apps.

"You must consider me at your disposal if you require any introduction."

"I know a good deal of people," said Mr. Apps, "and any friend of Lady Staplehurst's is my friend."

"Oh, come off the roof," said Mr. Apps, "with much discontent."

"Isn't it capital?" asked Lady Staplehurst of the Gondolier, delightfully.

"How much more interesting it would be if every one would talk to me in their character."

"Lady Staplehurst rose with something of a hurry in her manner and spoke to Henry VIII."

"What regiment do you belong to, Captain Norman?" asked the Gondolier.

"Find out," said Mr. Apps, "I know very little of the army, I'm afraid."

"The Gondolier was resolved to be agreeable to Lady Staplehurst's friend."

"I always dodge the army, I'm in the house. I suppose you know several of the Service members?"

"I know as many as I want to know," said Mr. Apps, "easily."

"A man in my position of life 'as to be a bit careful," he said, "with his words."

"The Gondolier returned from Henry VIII."

"I can make nothing of this man," whispered the Gondolier to her, as he rose.

"If you knew his qualities, you wouldn't speak of him like that."

"Well, blow me!" said Lady Staplehurst, screwing her mouth up in an effort to imitate the Cockney's accent.

"Blow me if this ain't a fair take—I mean, like, damn," she laughed.

"It's of no use, Captain Norman. I can't talk as you can."

"It's a gift," said Mr. Apps, "that's what it is."

"You don't want to be introduced to any body here, I suppose?"

"Not me."

"You have heard of—"

"She pointed in the direction of the Gondolier."

"All I want to."

"He's really making a big name in the house, you know. I watch his career with great interest."

A Necessary Thing.

Mrs. Royce—Doctor, I desire to spend next winter in Florida.

Dr. Wise—Certainly, madam. Have you selected your disease yet?

Cruel Man.

Mrs. Nowwed (their first quarrel)—Alas! I have nothing to live for.

Mr. Nowwed—You can hardly expect to live for nothing at the present market value of provisions.

Too Bewildering.

"Yes, dear boy, I lost my cane and advertised a reward for it. I don't you know?"

"Did you get your cane back, old chap?"

"I got back such a lot of 'em, don't you know, that it was positively bewildering and pretty soon it was quite impossible for me to remember how my cane looked—and so I let 'em have 'em all, don't you know."

Feared Fatal Results.

Conductor—Why don't you get up and give that lady a seat?

Passenger—She might say "thank you," and I have a weak heart.

Not of the Earth.

"You said that no earthly power should separate you from that girl, and yet her father made her give you up."

"Well, he's a devil."

Said in a Whisper.

"Paris has a school for aeronauts and contemplates a second in the one already in existence."

"In the navigation of the air can get instruction in the latest theory and practice of airship management."

"Well, whatever happens, we shall always have Italy back of us."

"Careful, cousin, Italy is shaped like a boot."

THIRTY YEARS' OWN HUMAN GAMES.

Had Suffered Terribly From Rheumatism
For 20 Years.

No matter how long you have been
sick, no matter how discouraged you
are from having tried so many remedies in vain, there is at last hope of a complete cure for you. The new scientific remedy Rheumacide, has cured hundreds of cases of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout, Catarrh, Indigestion, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Trouble, La Grippe and Contagious Blood Poison, after all other remedies have failed.

Rheumacide cured James Kenealy and J. F. Eline, of Baltimore, of terrible cases of Rheumatism, after all the specialists at the famous John Hopkins Hospital had failed. Rheumacide cured W. B. Hughes, of Atlanta, Va., after noted New York doctors
had failed.

Here is the case of a woman sixty
years old who was cured by Rheumacide after she had suffered for twenty years:

Rich Point, N. C., July 19. "After suffering for about twenty years with inflammatory Rheumatism I was induced to try a bottle of Rheumacide.
After taking one bottle I have felt five years younger. I am now eighty years of age and wish to testify that I believe Rheumacide is the best remedy for Rheumatism. And I heartily recommend it to all who are suffering with any of the forms of this dread disease. "Very truly, Mrs. Mary E. Welborn."

Your druggist sells and recommends

Many of the Belgian papers dwell upon the necessity for good milk as a preventive against sickness, reports Consul McNally, of Liege. He states that many experiments have been made there on the absorbing qualities of milk and that the Belgian Department of Agriculture is urging greater care in handling cows and for sanitary stables, etc.

DANGER IN DELAY.

Kidney Diseases Are Too Dangerous For Sallybury People To Neglect.

The great danger of kidney troubles is that they get a firm hold before the sufferer recognizes them. Health is gradually undermined. Backache, headache, nervousness, lameness, sore-ness, lumbago, dropsy, diabetes and bright's disease follow in merciless succession. Don't neglect your kidneys. Cure the kidneys with the certain and safe remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills.

Robert Jester, owner of a small farm on the southside of McDowell St., Milford, Del. says: "The pain crosses my back. It is not constant, occurs so frequently during the past 2 or 3 years that I can safely say that I was either suffering from a spell or getting over one all the time. I was never wholly free from pain and distress. Backache is enough to worry a man who is compelled to earn his daily bread, but that was not all I suffered. There was added to it trouble with the kidney secretions and a weakness which resulted in too frequent passages. I used one preparation after another but was never able to find anything to give me relief until I got Doan's Kidney Pills. They worked right to the root of the trouble and brought unexpected relief. In a comparatively short time I was cured, and I believe that the cure is permanent, for up to date there has been no signs of a recurrence. I can stoop, bend or straighten and work in my garden all day long without any inconvenience whatever. They are the best kidney remedy in the world, and I never felt better in my life than I have since taking them."

Plenty proof like this from Salis-ard's Drug store and ask what their customers report.

able coincidence, leaves and flowers
being earliest at sun spot maxima.

A SEA STORY.

Oh, father dear, go in from the sea.
And fast your wings.
The boys play with the twirl spray,
And the loud surf springs.

The chill baby hands rub by the hands
Of all the drowned,
Who know the woe of the wind and sow
Of the tides around.

Go in, go in! Oh, haste from the sea,
And let them rest—
A son, and one who was wed, and one,
Who went down unblest.

Aye, even as I, whose hands at the bell
Now labor most.

The tomb has gloom, but oh, the doom
Of the dear sea is shod!

He evermore must wander the coast,
Beneath the wave,
Forlorn to warn of the tempest born,
And to save—to save!

Then go, go in and leave us the sea!
For only so
Can peace release us and give us ease
Of our salty woe.

—Century Magazine.

Grp Quickly Knocked Out.

"Some weeks ago during the severe winter weather both my wife and myself contracted severe colds which speedily developed into the worst kind of la grippe with all its miserable symptoms," says Mr. J. S. Eggleston, of Maple Landing, Iowa. "Knees
and joints aching, muscles sore, head
stopped up, eyes and nose running,
with alternate spells of chills and fever. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, adding the same with a double dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and by this liberal use soon completely knocked out the grip." Sold by O. L. Dickerson and G. Hearn.

Caught Cold While Hunting A Bargain.

Mr. Wm. Thos. Lanorgan provincial Constable at Chapeau, Ontario, says: "I caught a severe cold while hunting a bargain in the forest swamp last fall. Hearing of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, I tried it, and after using two small bottles, I was completely cured." This remedy is intended, especially for coughs and colds. It will loosen and relieve a severe cold in less time than by any other treatment and is a favorite wherever its superior excellence has become known. For sale by O. L.

The One Remedy Which Never Falls
to Cure Dyspepsia or Indigestion:

BARNEY'S COMPOUND

NOT A CURE-ALL, but a guaranteed remedy for stomach troubles only, and one which never fails where directions are followed.

No matter what your experience with other remedies has been, BARNEY'S COMPOUND WILL CURE YOU. It is the very latest discovered formula for the cure of Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and

TAX FOR SCHOOLS ONLY.

The State Tax of Maryland To Be 7 1/2 Cents For 1907 And 1908 Less Than Now. And Is For Schools Alone.

At a joint conference of the Finance and Ways and Means Committees, Treasurer Vandiver, Comptroller Atkinson and Governor Warfield Thursday, it was decided to fix the State tax rate for the next two years at 16 cents. This is a reduction of 1/2 cent from the present rate, and the Democratic party feels well satisfied with this as the record of the Legislature. The 16 cents tax will go into effect for 1907 and 1908. It is too late to make any change this year.

As a result of the sale of the Washington Branch stock, it is unnecessary to make any levy for the sinking funds or to pay interest on the State debt. This wipes out 6 1/2 cents of the rate. The entire taxation for the next two years by the State of Maryland is for school purposes. Of the present rate of 23 1/2 cents, 15 cents is the school tax and 1/2 cent for the free school book fund.

Comptroller Atkinson favored the wiping out of the free book tax, making the tax rate 15 cents. A compromise was reached and 1 cent was added for books. This will not be considered a separate fund, however. It was decided just to make a flat school tax of 16 cents and set aside $100,000 of the revenue for free books. The tax for 1906 provides 6 1/2 cents for the sinking funds. This will result in a surplus of $600,000.

Chairman Gorman of the Finance Committee introduced the bill fixing the tax rate in the Senate. He told of the meeting of the Finance and Ways and Means Committees and the Board of Public Works, and stated that it was a pleasure to report that the Treasury was in such condition that for the first time in years it was necessary to tax for school purposes only.

Careful Thorough Prescription Work

Sometimes you imagine that you have to wait a long time for the medicine, but if we give it to you in less time, it would NOT be such good medicine.

No matter how busy we are, every prescription is prepared carefully and thoroughly; no part of the work is slighted in any detail. It must be right before we let it go out of our hands.

You may think at the time that we are being too particular, but that is due to your anxiety and impatience. In your calmer thought you will admit that we are right, and will thank us for preparing such RELIABLE medicine. Our methods have won the commendation of all local physicians who have had occasion to know about them.

FIFTY CENTS

IN some conditions the gain from the use of Scott's Emulsion is very rapid. For this reason we put up a fifty-cent size, which is enough for an ordinary cough or cold or useful as a trial for babies and children. In other conditions the gain is slower—health cannot be built up in a day. In such cases Scott's Emulsion must be taken as nourishment; a food rather than a medicine. It's a food for tired and weak digestions.

HEAVY LOSS BY FIRE

Citizens Of Salisbury Awakened At Midnight To Fight Menacing Flames. E. K. Truitt's Drug Store Hit.

While the Saturday business was being closed and the merchants preparing to depart—with half the city asleep—the explosion of an alcohol lamp in the rear of Truitt's drug store started a fire that strained the resources of our efficient Fire Department to quench. About half after eleven o'clock Saturday night Dr. Charles E. Truitt was at work in his laboratory mixing ointment over an alcohol lamp when it exploded throwing its flames over the floor in all directions. The flames spread with such strength and rapidity that Dr. Truitt and his partner, striving their utmost, could not extinguish them, whereupon a general fire alarm was given. The Fire Department responded with alacrity and quickly had streams turned on the building which was soon all ablaze on the first floor and reaching to the second. Some alcohol and coal oil in the basement made the flames almost uncontrollable and it was breaking day before all danger to the surrounding buildings, combining the Mercantile Temple, The Advertiser, The News, and the S. Q. Johnson Building was over.

Indeed about 8 o'clock after many who gathered to witness the disaster had again retired, the fire broke out at its worst in a bright blaze. A second alarm was sent in at this time and the second engine and hose, warden responded. The engine was placed on the dam at Lake Humphreys and two lines of hose were run up to the fire. The entire stock is now practically worthless, ruined by fire and water. Fire Chief Birman and the whole Department deserve the grateful thanks of those endangered for their prompt response, their efficient and prolonged service.

Dr. Truitt estimates his loss about $25,000.00. His insurance amounts to $25,000 as follows:—
Agency of White & Truitt—Delaware of Philadelphia, $1,000 on stock; Orient of Hartford, $500 on building; Westernstar of New York, $1,000 on building; London and Lancashire, $1,000 on stock; Springfield of Philadelphia, $1,000 on stock; Atlas of London, $1,000 on stock; Springfield of Massachusetts, $1,000 on stock; Atlas of London, $500 on stock.

Agency of Inaley Bros.—Citizens of Missouri, $700 on stock; Hanover of New York, $500 on stock.
Agency of A. G. Toadvine & Son—Phoenix of Brooklyn, $5,000 on stock and $1,000 on fixtures; British-American, $1,700 on fixtures; German-American of New York, $500 on stock; and Quaker of New York, $1,000 on building.

Agency of W. S. Gordy—Pennsylvania of Philadelphia, $1,000 on stock.
Agency of W. M. Cooper and Brothers—Niagara of New York, $1,000 on stock.

Agency of L. Atwood Bennett—Kent Mutual of Dover, $1,300 on stock.
Agency of P. S. Shockley & Co.—Insurance Company of America, $5,000 on building; Firemen of Newark, $1,000 on stock.

This brings the total insurance on the building, stock and fixtures to $23,000.

Measuring Social At Sharpstown.

The Ladies Miss Society of the Sharpstown Methodist Episcopal Church will hold a measuring social at the residence of Ben. P. Gravenor on Saturday evening, April 21, beginning at 8 o'clock, for the benefit of the church.

A "Measuring Party" is given to you, for something novel as well as new. The invitations with a sack. For use in bringing or sending back. Four cents for every foot you're tall; Measure yourself on door or wall. An extra cent for each inch give. And thereby show how high you live. With music and song, recreation and pleasure.

We will meet, one and all at our Party of Measure.

All the good qualities of Ely's Cream Balm, solid, are found in Liquid Cream Balm, which is intended for use in atomizers. That it is an infallible cure for Nasal Catarrh is proved by an ever increasing mass of testimony. It does not dry out nor rasp the tender air passages. It allays the inflammation and goes straight to the root of the disease. Obsolete old cases have been cured in a few weeks. All drugstores, 75 cents, including spraying tube, or mailed by Ely Brothers, 54 Warren Street, New York.

—H. B. Messenger of Federalburg, Md., will handle this spring the Dark Red Kola Gem watermelon, from the same seedmen and of the same strain as the ones which gave him such good results last season. They proved true to variety, large, even sized melons, and remarkably heavy yielders. They are grown by one of the most reliable seedmen in the country, and are undoubtedly the best melons of this variety ever grown here. The price is 10 cents per melon of Federalburg.

NEW ROUTE TO OCEAN CITY

The Mono-Rail Company Of Baltimore Planning To Lessen The Time. Their Charter And New Mono-Rail Operation.

Mono-rail trains carrying passengers from Baltimore to Ocean City in one hour and a half at a low fare are promised by the Baltimore and Ocean City Railroad Company which was granted a very broad charter at the recent session of Legislature. The Company was chartered under the general incorporation laws of the State but the Legislature gave it large additional powers under the terms of a bill introduced by General Seth. Under this amended charter the Company can build anywhere in the State and can consolidate with any other lines. It is stated that the charter is the property of the American Mono-rail Company which was organized several years ago to develop the invention of Mr. Howard E. Tans of Baltimore. This Company has an experimental line at Windsor Hills where the practicability of the scheme is said to have been demonstrated.

A meeting of the incorporators was held Thursday at the office of Mr. Henry W. Williams counsel of the American Mono-rail Company and plans for construction of the line were discussed. No announcement was made as to the result of the meeting but it is understood that the initial steps toward the financing of the scheme were taken into consideration.

It is the belief of the promoters of the Company that if the trip from Baltimore to Ocean City can be made in an hour and a half a large passenger traffic can be developed. The time consumed in the trip has long retarded the growth of the resort. The Company plans to build a line from Baltimore to a point on the Western Shore of the bay opposite Kent county and then cross by means of a ferry to the Kent shore. From there it is proposed to build in as straight a line as possible to Ocean City and possibly to skirt along the Atlantic Ocean for some distance. The mono-rail system is operated by electricity and one of the advantages claimed for it is the high speed that can be maintained.

It is also said that the line can be built for one half the cost of the ordinary steam railroad.

The road to Ocean City is reported to be only a part of the plans of the Company. Its charter confers the right to build anywhere in the State and to consolidate with any other lines of road on very advantageous terms and this privilege is considered to be of great value. Should the Eastern Shore line prove a success the next move will be to build roads in other parts of the State.

The mono-rail cars—which are cars that run on one rail only—will be about 50 feet long and cigar shaped. They will be slightly narrower than the ordinary street car and the seats, instead of running across the car, will face each side except over the trucks where they will be crosswise and at the front and rear of the cars where there will be three seats. Every passenger in the car will have a separate seat.

It is estimated that the cost of constructing the mono-rail line will be about three fourths of the cost of constructing a similar road by the trolley system.

The officers of the American Mono-rail Company are:—
E. O. Turnbull Jr. president; E. L. Tuxis vice president; John A. Henkus secretary; J. Coleman Drayton of New York treasurer. Directors—Henry W. Williams, Bartlett S. Johnson, Gardner C. Sims, Howard E. Tans, Phillip Lawrence, Olin Bryan, William A. Mellen.

It was said the company would probably start building at least from Fenwick Island to Ocean City as soon as plans could be prepared.

"The Prince of India" At The Academy of Music.

Klaw and Erlanger's colossal production of Gen. Lew Wallace's "The Prince of India," which has just concluded an extended engagement at the beautiful Colonial Theatre in Ohio, comes to the Academy of Music, Baltimore, on Monday, April 16th, remaining for two weeks.

"The Prince of India" written by Gen. Lew Wallace, author of "Ben Hur," and presented by Messrs. Klaw and Erlanger, the producers of that world famous spectacle, exalts its predecessor from almost every point of view. While adhering to the reverent atmosphere which dominated "Ben Hur," it is a more interesting story, largely because of the greater dramatic possibilities.

The Fifteenth Century at the time of the brief struggle between the fanatic Moslem tribes led by the warlike Sultan, Mohammed, against the Greeks of Eastern Europe under the Byzantine Emperor, Constantine, gives opportunity for study and warlike episodes, the culmination being the attack upon and the fall of Constantinople, then the Christian Capital of Greece, a scene vividly depicting the awful carnage of that memorable battle, showing as it does the terrible conflict between the opposing armies, with their mailed and armored hordes, armed with lances, spears, scimitars, shields and other warlike implements of offense and defense peculiar to the time. This remarkable scene utilizes the services of an enormous number of people, and is beyond question the apex of all animated stage pictures. There are twelve other magnificent scenic views in "The Prince of India," the most marked being the "Princely Palace at Therapia," the Audience Chamber of the Emperor Constantine, the remarkable moving panorama of the storm ridden Boeotus, and the massive golden-domed interior of the church of Santa Sophia.

There will be matinees on Wednesday and Saturday, during "The Prince of India" engagement.

PLAN OF APPOINTMENT

Of The M. P. Conference And Other Notes. New Ministers For Salisbury, Delmar, Vienna And Crisfield.

The reading of the plan of appointments by President Little, and the announcement of a total increase of $80,000 in the collections for the benevolences of the churches in the district for the past year were the features of the closing session of the Methodist Protestant Conference last night at West Baltimore Church. When President Little arose to read the appointments there was not even standing room in the main auditorium, the Sunday School or primary rooms. Methodist Protestants were present not only from the city, but from all parts of Maryland. There were a number of changes this year.

Rev. J. W. Kirk, who had served five years at Annapolis Memorial Church, and who it was surmised, might possibly be changed, was returned for another year. Rev. D. L. Greenfield, of Chestertown, who was in the same position, was also returned. Rev. W. E. Phillips was sent to Salisbury in the place of Rev. S. J. Smith, and Rev. Louis Randall succeeded Mr. Phillips at Crisfield. Rev. A. O. Boyd, a former presiding elder in the Kansas Methodist Episcopal Conference, was sent to Clayton, and Rev. Mr. Hanna, a new minister from the Pittsburgh Conference, was assigned to Oxford to succeed Rev. W. M. Strayer.

FROM CITY OF DELMAR.

Elbert—Hickman Marriage Takes Place. Grange Meets. Near-End Collision Causes Two Deaths.

The Methodist Episcopal church was the scene of a beautiful marriage ceremony on Wednesday evening, the contracting parties being Mr. John M. Elliott and Miss Stella May Hitchens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Hitchens. The nuptials were performed by Mr. Everett Williams of Salisbury. Rev. Geo. W. Townsend of Cape Charles performed the ceremony. A reception was given at the home of the bride's parents. Music was furnished by an orchestra of six pieces. Mr. Elliott is connected with his father, F. G. Elliott in the same business in this town. The bride's father left on the 1:08 express for a trip to New York, Niagara and other places and will be away about ten days. The bride was the recipient of many tokens of esteem evidenced by the large number of floral and hand-made presents. Among the out of town guests were Rev. and Mrs. G. W. Townsend, Cape Charles, Miss Hitchens Taylor, Philadelphia, Miss Hitchens, Mr. and Mrs. Victor Hitchens, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Seabrook, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lowe, Mr. E. H. Tans, Wilmington, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Williams, Miss Jane Williams, Miss Jeanette, Miss and Mrs. William Williams, Miss Eva Oatlin, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Wood Bennett, Mrs. Truitt, Mr. Robt. D. ## Baking Powder

Absolutely Pure

INSTINCTIVELY A CREAM OF TARTAR BAKING POWDER

It does not contain an atom of phosphoric acid (which is the product of bones, mixed in sulphuric acid) or of alum (which is one-third sulphuric acid) and is adapted for other baking purposes because of their richness.

BALTIMORE'S BEST STORE.

Hochschild, Kohn & Co.

HOWARD AND LEXINGTON STREETS.

We prepare Freight Charges to all points within 125 Miles of Baltimore on all Purchases Amounting to $5.00 or More.

The New Lingerie Waists ARE PRETTIER THAN EVER

As if they could be prettier—but they are, you will agree when you've seen them. The ruling lingerie idea seems to have put almost limitless opportunity in makers' hands.

Styles in the H. K. & Co. Waist Store have been constantly replenished and enlarged, until it seems like fall midsummer preparation. Folks have begun to buy for summer needs. Folks who knew that even among the less expensive waists there is something of a more exclusive air than usual.

The detail concerns three styles—

Women's Waists at $2.50

Women's Lingerie Mull Waists; yoke of tucks and scroll design of Valenciennes lace; tucked back; elbow sleeves, finished with lace-edged ruffles.

Women's Waists at $5.00

Women's Lingerie Mull Waists; daintily trimmed with German Valenciennes lace and Irish point lace insertion. Another style has circular yoke; hand embroidered front; tucked baby back; long or elbow sleeves, finished with lace.

Women's Waists at $1.50

Women's Lingerie Mull Waists; panel embroidered front, with tucks. Others of India linen; pointed yoke of embroidery; tucked baby back; long or elbow sleeves.

$1.25, $1.50 Allover Embroideries, $1.00

Allover Embroideries in openwork English patterns—twenty-five styles. Admirable for shirtwaists and yokes.

35c and 40c Swiss Insertions, 25c

An entirely new line of Swiss Insertions—they have just landed in this country. For shirtwaists and dresses.

Cunning Frocks for Little Folks

Some wee frocks so dainty that mothers can save energy and time for more important things than sewing, yet be as satisfied with their finish and fit as if made by themselves.

For the child that's "hard" on clothes, get these simple Russian dresses of linen or tulle (a very close imitation). For either boy or girl; easy to launder; difficult to tear or wear out; beautifully made. If trimmed at all, it's with a hank or otherwise embroidered panel, or hand stitching.

Boys, $1.00 to $2.00. Linens, $2.00 and $2.75. Girls, $1.00 and $1.50.

For times when sheer, lacey frocks are desired are new styles, ranging from $2.00 to $3.00.

Most have the very long waist, and tiny skirt so picturesque. Lace yokes and bertha, embroidered panels and trimmings of German Valenciennes, fluted embroidery ruffles. Many tiny tucks and hand stitching are some of the ways used to decorate them. Made of sheer lawn and linen.

Our Mail Order Department is equipped to give prompt and accurate service. The Mail Order Department of Fashion will be mailed free every month on request. Samples of Gowns, Dress Goods, Wash Fabrics and so on, will be cheerfully sent if you will send for them.

SAVED BABY LYON'S LIFE

Untold Suffering and Constant Misery—Awful Slight From that Dreadful Complaint, Infantile Eczema—Commenced at Top of his Head and Covered Entire Body.

MOTHER PRAISES CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Our baby had that dreadful complaint, Infantile Eczema, which afflicted him for several months, commencing at the top of his head, and at last covering his whole body. His sufferings were untold and constant misery, in fact, there was nothing we would not have done to have given him relief. The family doctor seemed to be wholly incapable of coping with the case, and after various experiments of his, which resulted in no benefit to the child, we sent to Mason, Ill., for a draught and got a full set of the Cuticura Remedies and applied as per directions, and he began to improve immediately, and in about three or four days began to show a brighter spirit and really laughed, for the first time in a year. In about ninety days he was fully recovered, with the exception of a rough skin, which is gradually disappearing, and eventually will be replaced by a healthy one."

"Praise for the Cuticura Remedies has always been our greatest comfort, and there is nothing too good that we could say in their favor, for they certainly saved our baby's life, for he was the most awful sight that I ever beheld, prior to the treatment of the Cuticura Remedies. Mrs. Isabelle Lyon, 1838 Appleton Ave., Parsons, Kan., July 15, 1905."

COMPLETE TREATMENT $1

Complete external and internal treatment for every humor, consisting of Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills, may now be had for one dollar. A single set is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring, itching, burning, and scaly humors, eczema, rashes, and eruptions, from infancy to age, when all else fails.

Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills are sold throughout the world. Write for a free sample and full directions. Address: J. C. Benson, Inc., 100 N. 2nd St., New York, N. Y.

Women in Our Hospitals

Appalling Increases in the Number of Operations Performed Each Year—How Women May Avoid Them.

Going through the hospitals in our large cities one is surprised to find such a large proportion of the patients lying on their snow-white beds women and girls who are either awaiting or recovering from serious operations. Why should this be the case? Simply because they have neglected themselves. Female troubles are certainly on the increase among the women of this country—they creep upon them unawares, but every one of these patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing-down feeling, pain at left or right of the abdomen, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back, dizziness, faintness, displacements of the organs or irregularities. All of these symptoms are indications of an unhealthy condition of the female organs, and if not heeded the penalty has to be paid by a dangerous operation. When these symptoms manifest themselves, do not drag along until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an operation—but remember that Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from surgical operations.

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful periods, weakness, displacement or inflammation of the organs, thus bearing-down feeling, inflammation, backache, bloating (or flatulency), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, headache, constipation, urinary troubles, etc., etc.,

Nash W. Collins.

The subject of this sketch was born in Sussex county, Delaware, April 10th, 1833, and died in the same county on March 26th, 1906, aged 72 years, 11 months and 16 days, leaving only one child, Mrs. William S. Owens, his wife having died about one year ago.

He was converted in early life and joined Mt. Pleasant Methodist Episcopal church which membership he held as the time of his death. His funeral was held in that church on March 28th, by Rev. H. W. D. Johnson, assisted by Rev. W. E. Wood. After the funeral service the remains were laid to rest in the cemetery adjoining the church.

He was a man of undoubted piety and lived a consecrated life devoted to religious thought and service. He was fitted by nature and culture with a social disposition that won for himself friends wherever he went. He had a kind sympathetic heart that endeared him to his friends. He was a living example of Christian profession in his daily walks and works and had the confidence and respect of all who knew him.

He had the gift of song and in this he was a great leader, especially in revival services. His singing made his home a cheerful place and the society in which he lived and worked was gladdened by that superb quality of entertainment. He was one of the few of the old type of Methodists. He was for many years a class leader and an earnest and faithful worker in the spiritual work of the church. He was liberal and charitable in his religious views and worked in the Master's cause wherever and whenever an opportunity was given. He was quite a power in prayer and was very effective.

His church, home and social life were in strict harmony and the good example he set will long be remembered. He had a fixed principle of right and lived up to it and allowed nothing to move him from what he considered to be a Christian duty. He died of pneumonia after a short illness. His health had been failing for several months, though he kept up and did some work up until his death. The text used at his funeral was Numbers 23, 10. "Let me die the death of the righteous, and let my last end be like his."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is a new positive cure more known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh, being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Robinson.

Mrs. Elizabeth A. Robinson, "Aunt Betty" as she was familiarly called, surviving widow of the Rev. John Robinson of this town, died on Monday morning of this week, at the age of eighty-four years. Her illness that led to her death was short, but severe. She retained full possession of her mental faculties until the moment of her death.

Her whole life was spent in and near the town and she knew the town's history for more than seventy years. Her memory was stored with interesting reminiscences. She was a close observer of passing events and was an interesting conversationalist. The early history of the town and its people was quite familiar to her.

As a friend she was true and faithful and held the ties of friendship very dear. She had a host of friends, both young and old. She had fixed principles of justice and lived a pure life of noble womanhood. She had a kind, sympathetic heart. She was a good mother, full of tender care, sympathy and affection for her children.

She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church for sixty years and her kindness and hospitality toward the itinerant preachers in the early years of that church were well known. She entertained many of them at her home and made many sacrifices for their comfort and pleasure. She was true to the principles and teachings of her church, which she fondly cherished, and when by reason of the infirmities of age she was unable to attend the service, her offerings were a great comfort and pleasure to the church.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at her late residence, by Rev. J. Harry Wilson, who took for his text, Psalm 84: 4—"Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil, for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me." Truly the Lord has been with her from early womanhood when her spirit moved upon her with great power.

She fully trusted the Lord and had no fear of death, expressing a willingness to "rest in his arms." She expressed great gratitude to the Great Life Giver for the long life she had lived and for the comfort and blessings she enjoyed. She was the oldest person living in the town and had been well cared for mentally and physically.

Her remains were interred in the Taylor cemetery beside those of her husband, who preceded her more than twelve years ago. The pall bearers were Major D. Twiford, John R. Twiford, William E. Robinson, Albert W. Robinson, Harry E. Robinson, John O. Robinson, Samuel J. Cooper and Levin T. Cooper.

The floral tributes were beautiful, consisting of a vacant chair and a wreath by her children, a pillow of Golden Gate roses, by Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Robinson, and a daughter, Maria, a bunch of carnations by Mr. and Mrs. John O. Robinson and children Ruth and Charles, lilies by Miss Cora Bennett. These were borne to the grave by Mrs. J. W. Elsey and Mrs. S. J. Covington.

She leaves two brothers, Major D. Twiford, of Sanford, Alfred Twiford, of this town; three daughters, Mrs. Lizzie E. Robinson, Mrs. Ava J. Oonnelly and Mrs. L. T. Cooper, all of this town; two grand sons, Harry E. Robinson, of Cantonville, Md., and John O. Robinson, of Baltimore, and two grand daughters, Misses Alice G. Robinson and Mary E. Cooper, of this town.

W. D. Graveyard and Bro., undertakers.

Sharptown Honored. A New Circuit Called Sharptown.

At the recent session of the Maryland Annual Conference a new circuit was formed out of a part of Union Circuit and called Sharptown Circuit, consisting of Sharptown and Mt. Herman churches. Union Circuit will consist of Providence, Portville, the two remaining churches and Chantry, from Delmar Circuit.

This will give more service in the Sharptown church and enable the pastor to be in the Sunday School at least one half the time as there will not likely be any more service at Mt. Herman than under the former arrangement, viz., once in two weeks on Sunday afternoon.

Rev. H. W. D. Johnson, who has been pastor of Union Circuit for four years will now be the pastor of Sharptown Circuit. The parsonage is located here and while he has a new circuit he does not have to move.

The change was made by the united efforts of the pastor, Rev. H. W. D. Johnson, of Sharptown, and B. J. Cooper and S. J. Love, backed by the wishes of the members of the two churches. The change is very satisfactory and considered a progressive move upon the part of the church.

Fish Hatching At Sharptown.

Large quantities of perch spawn have been taken at the fishery here this week and are very fine. Mr. Mann, who has charge of the work has been giving much attention to the hatching of perch since he has had charge of the fish hatching here. The perch remain in the river and are caught in the Nanticoke waters during the winter months. During the past winter more perch were caught here than during any previous winter. Most of the older fish were out and never return. The various ponds, nets, seines and other fishing traps are so numerous in the lower waters of the river that there are indeed very few chances for a fish ever getting back up the river after its spawning season. The catch has been good at almost every point on the river and the prices in the markets of Baltimore and Philadelphia have been very encouraging to the fishermen. The law excluding all vendible services except from the Baltimore markets has been repealed by the recent session of the Legislature and this is a decided advantage to the fishermen.

George W. Phillips To Engage In Evangelical Work.

George W. Phillips, a ship smith of this town, has sold his tools and business here to his son and son-in-law and will go out to do evangelical work. He has a large canvas tent which he will erect here soon for a short time and will then go to other places. He has an engagement to go to Hialeah on May 15th. He is a man of deep piety and stands high in the community. He had a fine business and a growing trade, but considers it all to go out to do good.

Rev. John T. Bailey, of Haverly, Va., but formerly of this town, preached in the Methodist Protestant church here on Sunday last, both morning and evening, to large and appreciative audiences.

Mr. and Mrs. Ned H. Bounds and S. J. Cooper attended the Methodist Protestant Conference in Baltimore this week.

Capt. George Owens, who left here three years ago, who has been sailing the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, visited his sisters, Misses Lissie and Annie Owens this week. He returned to Philadelphia on Tuesday accompanied by his sister, Miss Annie.

Capt. Ernest W. Bailey, of the schooner, Annie O. Grace, is home this week from Baltimore.

Capt. E. Grant Bennett, of the schooner Davidson, is home this week from Philadelphia.

J. Edwin Phillips is having a new fence put around his premises on Church street, W. D. Graveyard & Bro., are doing the work.

Mr. and Mrs. William Drunen of Camden, N. J., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Corington Saturday and Sunday. Mr. Drunen was as cheerful as ever and called to see some of his many friends. They were called here by the serious illness of Mrs. Drunen's mother.

Berkley Phillips and James Waller left on Monday for Camden where they have work to do.

Mrs. Mamie Wheatley is visiting in Baltimore this week.

The town fathers have put up additional lights in the town, much to the appreciation of the people.

Rev. John T. Bailey will preach here on Sunday morning and night in the Methodist Protestant church.

The enterprising manager of S. J. Cooper & Company's meat department Mr. Branch H. Phillips has put in a new marble counter which adds very materially to its appearance.

Representative James O. Adams secured the passage of a bill through the Legislature creating a high school in this town and in Delmar with an annual appropriation of five hundred dollars each for their maintenance. This is a progressive measure securing additional funds for the schools.

George E. Owens attended the state council of Knights of Pythias in Baltimore this week as representative of the lodge of this town.

The town authorities, merchants or our young people would do a commendable work if they would erect a pavilion in some desirable site in town for the pleasure and comfort of the many visitors that come to our town during the summer evenings from various points on the Nanticoke river. This seems to be a visiting point for the excursionists that take

An evening's outing to grandma's boat and it would seem to be the right and proper thing to provide for the amusement and entertainment while here. They bring much money here and strow it in the purchase of ice cream, confectionary, cigars, etc.

Mrs. Grace Brody has been in Baltimore this week in the interest of her military business making purchases, etc.

James O. Adams is again at his desk in the Marvel Package Company's office.

Albert Waller, a photographer of Laurel, was in town on Tuesday and photographed the Methodist Episcopal church.

What Does it Mean to let Dividends "accumulate" on a Life Insurance Policy? In many companies it means nothing more than an agreement on the part of the policy-holder, to do without dividends for fifteen or twenty years, and then take whatever dividend the company will be willing to give. Dividends are declared every year in the Mutual Benefit, and the policyholders use them either to help pay premiums or to buy increased insurance. The policies of the

A Rule That Works Both Ways.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Greenleaf Hamilton were enjoying their first breakfast in their new home. The breakfast was over, the maternal hotel meals and the table d'hôte dinner would be enjoyed no more. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton were "at home," not only in the sense in which society understands the term, but literally. Mrs. Hamilton realized the fact with a slight feeling of apprehension. Mr. Hamilton with a sense akin to joy. To him the honeymoon trip had been a useless expenditure of good money and valuable time. To her it had been the main thing, after the honeymoon, that had reconciled her to matrimony.

Mr. Hamilton drew off the "nervous" glasses with which he had been reading the Herald, and put on his "mediums." In order to better look at his wife on the other side of the table. She presented a pretty sight, with her dark hair worn in a pompadour tumbling over the right eye, and apparently saved from falling altogether into her eyes only by a waxy white rosette above the left eye. Her breakfast jacket was of pink cashmere, so cunningly disguised with wandering embroideries and fringes of lace that one could scarcely tell of what the foundation for all this ornamentation consisted. Her skirt was nothing more or less than an extremely frivolous petticoat of pink silk and beading, with countless numbers of useless little bows and ribbons, and the foot that was outstretched on the hassock under the table was encased in a chic high-heeled slipper, above which was displayed a length of embroidered-silk stocking.

Mr. Hamilton mused upon his ideal of a wife and housekeeper. It was an ideal founded upon recollections of his own mother, who lived in the days when one good dress a year sufficed any woman, and who died while her son was still so young that her memory had become a sacred thing, undimmed by recent recollection. His mother, he remembered, always breakfasted in a linen-woolsey frock, made severely plain, with her hair neatly disposed in a net, and around her neck a simple frill of white net, fastened always with the same brooch, one containing the hair of her departed father. Would Lucille, wondered Mr. Joseph Greenleaf Hamilton, wear a look of his hair in case he was called away before her?

"I fear not," he sighed to himself, "unless I beforehand thoroughly succeed in forming her mind."

"My dear," he said, in what he imagined was a firm and unyielding voice.

"Yes, Popsey," returned Lucille in the universally sweet tone she employed to every one she considered worth speaking to, from the loaman to her dearest bosom friend.

Mr. Joseph Greenleaf Hamilton's brow became corrugated in a frown. "Popsey" was all very well as an endearment during the courting period, but it was quite inappropriate now. Perhaps it was too much to expect his wife to always refer to him as "Mr. Hamilton"—though such had been the habit of that ideal woman, his mother, but at least she might say "Joseph."

He began again—"My dear, now that we are at home we ought to talk things over in a definite manner, and have our future course of action fully arranged."

"That's so, Popsey," returned Lucille in the most cordial manner, at the same time preparing a dish of cream for the delectation of Dodo, her fat pig, that was another of Mr. Hamilton's unmentioned grievances.

"You know, my dear, as married people we shall find certain duties confronting us that perhaps never troubled us in our unwedded days," Mr. Hamilton continued. He was going to be very harsh with the pretty girl presently, but just now, in order to get to the point more easily, he was using the term "us" in order to tacitly class himself among those needing reformation.

"Sure, Popsey," replied Lucille with such amusing alacrity that her husband began to feel quite cheered, and his seemingly difficult task no trouble at all.

The man who hesitates is supposed to be lost. Mr. Hamilton at any rate lost his chance to speak, for while he was ruminating, Lucille finished feeding the dog and completed her toilet proceeding by wiping Dodo's cream bespattered jaw with her lace handkerchief. Then she came and perched herself on the arm of Joseph Greenleaf Hamilton's chair and said:

"Thinking old Popsey, I'm so glad you've started on this subject, for it's one I've bothered my head about ever since I promised to love and honor—you know the word obey was omitted by my special request. There are such a lot of things in this household that need reformation."

So she saw it too! Dear girl, she wasn't so frivolous.

"Now, Popsey, there's no use beating about the bush, we might as well speak right out straight, hadn't we, old boy?"

He was gratified at the way in which she was playing up to him that he quite overlooked the unseemly "old boy," and nodded assent.

"You," she went on, "I'm going to say what I want to say, and after that you can do your speaking, Snuffy. Now first, this house. It's all wrong."

Mr. Hamilton gazed at the dusty chairs, the table laden with articles recently unsifted to a breakfast room—new slippers and parcels of goods sent home "an general" were "leaving them" and thought that the house indeed, needed the attention and the reformation Lucille spoke of.

And so Popsey, we better just leave out the whole table and do it over. These parcels over there are some sample children and will go away, when I'm going to look at just as soon as you've gone down town, having first learned to smoke. And you hadn't better say "Popsey," for I shall show every picture to Dodo, and if he barks at "Popsey" I'll not take "Popsey" for Dodo's darling taste—haven't you, old deary-wooly? I thought I'd have this room plain, with morning glories clambering over the curtains and bluebirds done in distemper on the ceiling. You know Clara Gilman—Fred Gilman's divorced wife—well, she had her boudoir that way, and it was fine and dandy. Then we'll rip up all faded green tarnished gold in the drawing-room and have it in ivory case an' hat, with Louis XV. chairs. As for your den, you positively must have a cosy corner in it done up all Japanese, and then I'm going to make you learn to smoke cigarettes. They seem the only kind of smoke permissible in a cosy corner."

She paused to reflect, then went on:—"Then you know, deary, your clothes aren't at all what they should be. That old faggy tailor of yours isn't in it for a minute. I think you ought to send to London for a frock coat or so, and you must get some one who's up to date to put you on to the best things in tweeds and waistcoats. You'd look fine in a robin's egg blue waistcoat, only you must stop wearing mutton chop whiskers and ready-made neckties. Positively, deary, you'll never realize how your neckties made me suffer when you used to come a-wooing, and what I've gone through with because of the way my sisters laughed at them. They sneered first that I must be dead gone or I could never defend such cravats. And your collars aren't right, either, and I wish you'd have more patent leather shoes. I saw a crack in those you wore at dinner last evening."

"And when you have the house done over we must get some new servants and select a liver for them—something neat and showy, with red and yellow, is what I'd go for, with white silk stockings on the men. And I have got to have a carriage of my own if I'm to go out as much as I really think I ought in order to keep up our social standing. I'm sorry we have no regular opera season in Boston, but if you subscribe for a box each night at a couple of best theaters, we can show there; only I must have a few more diamonds, deary, if I'm to wear those velvet gowns that are such favorites with you. And Popsey, there's just one thing more you must promise me. It's the most important of all. I've wanted to speak of it all through the honeymoon, and now we're going to run the house on a rational basis, with our friends coming in every other evening or so, I hope to play a simple game of bridge if nothing else, why it just must be fixed. Popsey, I want you to promise to call me Lulu. Lucille is altogether too frumpy and aged for me, it doesn't suit my style any more than that horrible Josiah suits yours. Popsey, and I'm sure I'd as soon call you Hellogas as Josiah."

Mr. Joseph Greenleaf Hamilton has not, up to date, even started at the task of forming his wife's mind. He is too busy making money to pay for her reforms in household decoration, and trying to dodge supposed reforms in his own ways and waistcoats—Boston Home Journal.

Odd Husbands.
Many stories are told of the absent-mindedness of the late Sir John Burdon-Sanderson, formerly regius professor of medicine at Oxford. Lady Sanderson left him one evening to conduct his guests into the dining-room. When, a few minutes later, she came down into the hall she found that her husband had forgotten himself again. He was helping his guests into their overcoats, shaking hands and saying good-night.

John Redmond in a recent speech at Belfast, Ireland, announced that "parliament next session will be no place for Irish members who cannot attend." And he looked surprised when the remark was greeted with loud laughter.

A correspondent of a weekly journal makes a curious bull. Of a certain plan he writes: "It sounded well, but the need of suspicion was planted in my mind's eye and I forced it on with surmise."

In the Absence of His Valet.
It is said of the late Lord Salisbury that he once had to dress at breakfast speed for a levee, and in the absence of his valet plunged at a heap of things and threw them on as they came. He appeared at court in the coat of the elder brother of Trinity house, the trousers of a deputy lieutenant and a hat of the royal archers. Putting on the finishing touches before the mirror, he hung his sword upon the wrong side and gartered himself about the wrong knee. He had assumed a waistcoat made in days when he was of less ample girth, so that between the hem of this garment and the waist of the trousers was a gap which all but himself observed.

Formation of Rainbows.
A fine rain and a strong sun are necessary for the formation of white rainbows. The phenomenon is due to the optical principle known as interference. If the drops of water be very small, the interference of the rays causes such a complete overlapping of the colors that the bow appears white. The various prismatic colors, instead of being thrown out separately, as in the ordinary prism, are thrown into one top of the other, and the light is sent by the sun on a sheet of rain. This result is still more noticeable where a fog takes the place of the rain.

—Rev. T. H. Lewis, D. D., President of Western Maryland College is expected to preach in the Methodist Protestant Church next Sunday at 11.

—The new pastor, Rev. W. S. Phillips will fill the pulpit the following Sunday, April 22nd.

—Messrs. J. B. Pink, in charge, Wm. H. Smith and F. E. Schenck of the Maryland Geological Survey, began a survey Wednesday for the purpose of estimating the cost of three mile roads from Salisbury to Snow Hill, Powellville and Quantico.

—At the meeting of County Commissioners Tuesday James Kinis was appointed road supervisor for Willard District on south side of railroad. The Commissioners passed an order recommending those interested in building a road of good road on the Powellville road, near the Quantico road.

DRIVERS OF VEHICLES

Can Signal On Approach Of Automobile. These Things Public Roads Should Have And Need.

The large addition to the mileage of the shell roads of Wicomico County, will, naturally, stimulate both commercial and social driving over roads but seldom used in the past. With a hope of averting possible accidents, I want to impress upon those of our citizens who own motor cars, and our country friends who drive over these roads the importance of using extra care and vigilance when using these roads.

Many, if not all, of the roads referred to are crude and unfinished, and in many instances will have to be widened and improved before they can be travelled with perfect safety by automobiles and other vehicles.

With a view to thoroughly draining the new roads, the builders have in many places elevated the centre and rounded the sides to ditches of considerable depth, with the result, that vehicles will have to pass within a few feet of each other to avoid slipping into the ditches on the sides.

For a nervous horse and an automobile to meet at such a point would mean the possibility of a serious accident, even should the drivers of both vehicles do all in their power to accommodate each other.

The law governing the use of the County roads and the City streets by automobiles requires the drivers of automobiles to give immediate attention to signals made by the drivers of horses, whether the horse is being driven towards the automobile or in the same direction ahead of it.

Upon receiving this signal, the automobile driver must stop his car and give the driver of the horse an opportunity to extricate himself from the danger.

The signals provided by law—and it is to these that I want to call special attention—are; THE HOLDING UP OF THE HAND IN SOME CONSPICUOUS MANNER TOWARD THE APPROACHING AUTOMOBILE, AND THE EXTENDING OF THE HAND AND ARM, AS FAR AS POSSIBLE, OUT OF THE SIDE OF THE WAGON OR CARRIAGE WHEN THE AUTOMOBILE IS COMING UP BEHIND.

The signals as a rule can be seen at some distance, and it is the duty, and I am sure the pleasure, of every automobile driver to respond to them and afford any assistance to the driver asking for help. If you are driving a horse that is unaccustomed to automobiles, do not take any chances, as the motor car driver assumes that if the signal is not given that you are willing for him to approach.

Do not use your voice as a signal, as it cannot be heard by the automobile driver when his car is running, as the noise of the engine drowns the sound.

Do not jump out or get excited, as you are not in the slightest danger if you have given the proper signal. The car is under perfect control and will stop far enough from you to give all the protection needed. The more calmly and naturally you act, the more confidence you will inspire in the horse you are driving.

Recognizing the fact that motor cars have the right to use the roads under defined conditions, and that the number of cars now owned in the county makes it probable that you will meet one at any time, I would earnestly advise that horses of a nervous and vicious class should be driven with great care, and only by experienced drivers, and never by ladies.

I would also ask the automobile drivers to use extra precaution in using the new shell roads by keeping a constant lookout forward for approaching vehicles and to be on the alert for possible signals.

—One of the saddest deaths that ever occurred in Delmar was that of Mr. D. B. White on Friday, of typhoid fever. Mr. White was 34 years of age, and his marriage to Miss Ruth Webster, daughter of Rev. E. H. Webster was to have been solemnized Wednesday.

—Mr. Minos F. Traylor, of St. Louis, Mo., returned today after a short visit to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Traylor, in this city. Mr. Traylor has been twice advanced and is now Clerk to the General Freight Agent of the Mobile and Ohio Railroad. His prospects are bright.

—On Monday evening April 16th at 7:30 o'clock Rev. T. H. Lewis, D. D., President of the Western Maryland College will preach at Mardela M. P. Church on the following subject, "The Call of the Cross." Every one is cordially invited to come as this will be something which will be enjoyed by all who hear him.

—Delmar remains dry, so far as having a salmon is concerned. The application of Mr. T. A. Vasey before the Essex County Court at Georgetown, Del., was turned down Wednesday. The objectors to Vasey's petition were represented at Georgetown by Messrs. Harry B. Freemy and B. G. Houston.

—Rev. Edward P. Perry who was appointed at the recent session of the Maryland Annual Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church as pastor of Mardela M. P. Church will preach at the following churches on Sunday, April 16th. Hebron 10:30 a. m., Bethesda 8 p. m., and Mardela 7:30 p. m. The subject for the evening service will be "The Empty Tomb." The pastor will appreciate very much to have the opportunity of seeing the members and friends of the church at these services.

A SUIT OF CLOTHES IS USUALLY A GOOD FIT OR A SPASM

The day of all days when the whole world dresses anew, you most assuredly want to be among the joyous crowd fittingly attired. To make sure that your spring garments will be fashionably correct and fit you perfectly—and these very important—come here for fine clothing which is, without exception, the most stylish and best tailored clothing to be had at moderate prices. In fact a good custom tailor could not give you better styles, better finished or better fitting clothing at double our price. Why not be a leader in the Easter fashion parade. It doesn't require much money, it all depends on knowing where to get smart styles. Lacy Thoroughgood's store is the place for that. In young men's suits we show single and double breasted suits, correct to the last detail. We begin with one of the most comprehensive assortment of strictly high-class clothing ever offered. Lacy Thoroughgood's clothing never fails to give perfect satisfaction. When you examine and try on the garment you'll say it's the smartest garment you ever saw at the price. Just come and see the new spring suits. We have every suit you see made to order then sell them as ready-made at ready-made prices. We are selling $35 suits at $15.00; $50 suits for $15; $15.00 suits for $12.50; our $10 suits are worth $12 anywhere else. We have a few suits for $8.00 that are sold all over Salisbury for $12.50. Just come in and look at our new Spring Flats.

COARSE COUGHS STUFFY COLDS

QUICKLY CURED BY
Foley's Honey and Tar

There is no case on record of a cold resulting in Pneumonia, or other serious lung trouble, after Foley's Honey and Tar had been taken.

It will cure the most obstinate hacking cough, and heals and strengthens the lungs.

Foley's Honey and Tar has cured many cases of incipient Consumption and even in the last stages will always give comfort and relief.

Foley's Honey and Tar gives quick relief to Asthma sufferers, as it relieves the difficult breathing at once.

Remember the name—Foley's Honey and Tar—and refuse substitutes that cost you the same as the genuine. Do not take chances with some unknown preparation.

Contains no opiates.

Cure of Terrible Cough on Lungs.
J. Jackson of Danville, Ill., writes: "My daughter had a severe attack of La Grippe and a terrible cough on her lungs. We tried a great many remedies without relief. She tried Foley's Honey and Tar, which cured her. She has never been troubled with a cough since."

Consumption Cured.
Foley & Co., Chicago. Dana, Ind. writes: "I was afflicted with Consumption after I had suffered two years and was almost despondent. Three physicians failed to give me any relief and the last one said he could do me no good. I tried almost every medicine I heard of without success, until Foley's Honey and Tar was recommended to me. Its effect from the start was magical. I improved steadily from the first dose and am now sound and well, and think Foley's Honey and Tar is a God-sent remedy for Throat and Lung Troubles. Yours very truly,
MRS. MARY AMBROSE.

Three sizes—25c, 50c, $1.00.

ODD SHADES IN GIRLS' FROCKS

Browns and Blues or Browns and Pinks Combined Very Popular.
Pink mauve and pale blue may be said to be a little flat, but given the right quantities the effect is charming, though it is only right to add that not every child could wear this combination successfully. The browns and pale blues will alike become the blonde and the brunette, but the pinks and browns, where the former predominates, should be chosen for fair little women alone, whose coloring is subtle rather than decided. These off shades of pink are often trying to a rosy cheeked, dark eyed little beauty, detracting from rather than increasing her charms, the latter a duty certainly expected of one's toilet. Pale rose pink will be kinder to her, but all the odd shades will be found generally becoming to those known as "between colors," a delicate featured class usually of dainty coloring, with which these shades seem to blend perfectly.

Battiste, one of the finest and coolest of cotton goods, is the foundation for many of the frocks, both short and long, the trimming mostly hand run tucks, hemstitching and the daintiest of nainsook embroideries. The latter is used sparingly, hand sewing being considered in far better taste than elaborate embroidery.

Latest Effect in Frames.
Embroidered picture frames retain a pretty fair measure of popularity even though more durable materials have been selected for the construction of photo holders in these days of the development of handicrafts. Simplicity of design and artistic treatment are the characteristics of the latest ventures in the way of embroidered frames, and linen or some equally simple fabric is used for the foundation. The accompanying illustration shows the design new and effective in fancy stitching on linen, the color scheme being exceptionally good.

CINCHESTER'S ENGLISH PENNYROYAL PILLS

SATURDAY NIGHT TALKS

By F. E. DAVENPORT
THE MESSAGE OF EASTER.
April 16, '08—(Larks 7: 1-17.)

Julius Caesar, Napoleon Bonaparte, U. S. Grant were not the world's greatest conquerors. They were only saboteurs who conspired with him. He rides a black horse of famine sometimes, often a red horse of war, but his favorite steed is a pale horse capable of out-stripping all other couriers. He gallops across the fields of carnage and sets his bloody hoofs upon the crushed hearts of the race. He has conquered every land and besieged every city and there is not a metropolis on the planet that is not going down under his fierce assault.

That conqueror is Death. He carries a black flag and shows no mercy. He has dug a trench across two hemispheres and filled it with the bodies of the slain. If it had not been for the multiplication of the race, the world would have been depopulated long ere this. Herod the King slew only those two years old and under, but this monster strangles the infant in the cradle, the youth in the school room, the business man in the office, the old man in the arm chair. Other soldiers sometimes surrender conquered territory, but this warrior has never yielded up a foot of land. Of all the millions of earth's inhabitants since Adam was created, only two human beings have escaped his dart—Enoch and Elijah, both of whom got so near the gates of paradise that they sprang through the portals, receiving a perpendicular salvation. Even the Son of God Himself, received the shaft of death in His heart and for three days lay a slain captive in the prison house of the grave. Cruel Conqueror! Bloody King! His palace a sepulchre; his flowers the faded garlands of coffin lids; his music mothers weeping for their children; his chalice a skull; his leaping fountains the falling tears of a world.

But this is not all the story. Our lesson to-day reveals the Conqueror of death, and the Grave-Breaker of the ages. There is but one being in this universe that death fears, and He lived and walked in Galilee, swaying His scepter of life with infinite power. He put His hand on the hot brow of the sufferer and the fever fled. He spoke the word of healing and the Centurion's servant got up from the bed of pain. He met a funeral procession going out through the gates of Nain, bearing the only son of his mother, and she was a widow. He halted the funeral cortege, called back the spirit of the departed, and gave the young man in perfect health to the arms of his mother. Wherever He went disease and demons fled at His approach and the gates of the sepulchre flew open.

Death is the king of terrors, but Christ is the King of Kings. And this King of Kings proposes yet to chain the King of Terrors to his chariot wheels, to unlock the gloomy prisons of the tyrant's victims, and to lead in triumph a mighty procession of redeemed souls into His eternal capital, shouting: "O Death, where is thy sting, O grave where is thy victory?"

This puts altogether a new phase on the situation. That death hath passed upon all men need not necessarily be a gloomy reflection. On the contrary it ought to inspire several considerations. For one thing it ought to keep us busy. Made it is inevitable, there is no excuse for idleness, for selfishness, for luxury, nor for harshness, hatred, or hostility. The day will soon be gone. What we do to impress society, to make a name, to create a name, to effect posterity we must do quickly. So we should do with our might what our hands find to do. It would be tragic to be called away with our work half finished.

To the sufferer the coming of death will be the release from pain. There are multitudes who never see a well day. They are stabbed with pleurisy, and twisted with rheumatism, and consumed with fever. Or their lives are one long, dull, numb, monotonous weariness that is worse than pain, but gets no sympathy. Think what a relief it will be to have it over. For the tired man, the weary pilgrim, whose sandals have long been unloosed, there will be release, liberty, the prison door flung open, pain bathed away in the waters of the crystal river.

And to all, the comfort of this Easter time should come in the certainty of wider liberty into which we go. Death is but the launching of the ship. The vessel was made for the deep sea and the rolling billow, not for the dry-dock. So man was made for the sea of eternity. We are national, international, cosmopolitan, and the bays and harbors of this world are too shallow and limited for our vessels. We are only launched here; we are to do our sailing in seas so vast as to be boundless, in waters so deep as to be fathomless, in greater spheres, with wider opportunities, we shall conduct our business. And the opportunity we have in that world will depend very largely on the preparation we have made in this. And so, for us death is abolished. Instead of being a specter, a phantom of grisly bone, he is the pale messenger of the King of Kings announcing the day of our coronation.

CURES AFTER THE DOCTORS HAVE FAILED.

RHEUMACIDE has cured thousands of cases of Rheumatism after all the doctors and all other means had failed. Rheumacide cured John F. Eline and others, of Baltimore, after the famous specialists of Johns Hopkins Hospital, the greatest hospital in the world, had failed. Rheumacide cured Austin Perrella, of Salem, Va., and D. H. Olmstead, the Norfolk, Va., contractor, after they had spent large sums on other remedies and the doctors had given up hope. Rheumacide cured Mrs. Mary Weiborn, of High Point, N. C., of rheumatism she had endured for 20 years. Rheumacide cured W. R. Hughes, of Atkins, Va., after the most famous New York specialists failed. There is a reason why it cures: Rheumacide is the latest discovery of medical science, and while powerful enough to sweep all germs and poisons out of the blood, it operates by purely natural methods, does not injure the most delicate stomach, and builds up the entire system.

GETS AT THE JOINTS FROM THE INSIDE
SWEEPS ALL POISONS OUT OF THE BLOOD.
A purely vegetable remedy that goes right to the seat of the disease and cures by removing the cause. Your druggist sells and recommends Rheumacide. Sample bottle and booklet free if you send five cents for postage to BOBBITT CHEMICAL COMPANY, Pro. cletors, Baltimore.

EUROPEAN TOWN GATES.

Recalls the Part They Played in the History of Former Times.
A good deal of the history of the Eastern world has a gate in the background. Says a writer in the New York Mail. The gates of Jewish cities were places of jurisdiction as well as of cumulative fortification. There courts were held so that men who labored in the fields might not lose time in distant journeys, and country people might not need to enter the city in order to have their litigation settled.

The day's supplies passed through them, the babble of another market place rose about them, the crippled amputees lined the highway that led under them. You remember that the Mordecai sat at the king's gate and that Absalom "rose up early and stood beside the way of the gate" to undermine his father's rule. Above was uttered the most pathetic of human laments: "And the king was much moved and went up to the chamber over the gate and wept; and as he went, thus he said, O my son, Absalom, my son, my son Absalom! Would God I had died for thee, O Absalom, my son, my son!"

With the Jews the gates stood for commerce, for defense, for justice, for dominion. They put it as strong as they knew how when they said that the gates of hell should not prevail against you. The Kremlin gates mean only to the Russians than the gates of Bible story. They are more like fortress temples than movable barriers in a breadth of wall. Richly carved and planned, the towers rise above them to a stately height, and there are recesses, chambers and balconies to diversify their upper spaces. The Gate of the Redeemer illustrates Russian history. Into it on Easter day the Czar used to pass bareheaded, leading the arm on which the patriarch rode from the Cathedral of Vasil the Bearded. Out from it they issued clad in armor when they took the field against the Tartar. The pious Russian removes his hat there as he prostrates himself before a shrine.

London has a gate of hoary memory in the Temple Bar, and the gorgeous procession of aldermen and guildsmen, the Lord Mayor at their head, that meet the King there when he makes a royal progress to the city perpetuate the ceremonial of a time when it was no trivial matter to cross a boundary. Dr. Johnson said that "the full tide of human existence" was about five minutes west of Temple Bar. Perhaps it has not moved more than a five-minute journey since his day.

Part of the charm of every European city of consequence, indeed, is the gates, still standing as memorials of a period when towns were walled and castles small and ineffectual. In most cases the cities have grown far beyond the limits where the gates were sited, and their towers mark the outline of a ring of boulevards in whose green stretches they may fulfill, as at Munich, the function of park cottages. But in some of the Italian cities their location shows that the town has shrunk from its oldtime expanse. You may still be halted under their shadow like the country people of other centuries, while guardarmes question you whether your hand baggage contains subject matter for the censors.

The old gates of Europe embody that symbolism of the Middle Ages which is no longer possible in a modern day, when the limits but no well-defined beginnings and endings. Modern architects, however, are trying to recall it in the approach of bridges, and it has plot equally affecting the entrance of great American cities. With the piers and arches and the living challenge over their entrance ways, these venerable gates represent the purpose of medieval town life to preserve to the citizen his own dignity, opportunity and efficient good looks. One can never tell from the approach of a modern day what a world of things these old gates are so constructed to preserve to the citizen.

Careful Thorough Prescription Work

Sometimes you imagine that you have to wait a long time for the medicine, but if we give it to you in less time, it would NOT be such good medicine.

No matter how busy we are, every prescription is prepared carefully and thoroughly; no part of the work is slighted in any detail. It must be right before we let it go out of our hands.

You may think at the time that we are being too particular, but that is due to your anxiety and impatience. In your calmer thought you will admit that we are right, and will thank us for preparing such RELIABLE medicine. Our methods have won the commendation of all local physicians who have had occasion to know about them.

HOW TWO BEAUTIFUL WOMEN ESCAPED PELVIC CATARRH BY AID OF PE-RU-NA.

Female Weakness Is Usually Pelvic Catarrh. Pe-ru-na Cures Catarrh Wherever Located.

Mrs. Lizzie Redding, 214 B. Clinton Place, St. Louis, Mo., writes:
"I found after trying many different medicines to restore me to health, that Peru-na was the only thing which could be depended upon. I began taking it when I was in a decline, induced by female weakness and overworked nerves. I began to feel stronger during the first week I took Peru-na and my health improved daily until now I am in perfect health and enjoy life as I never did before."—Lizzie Redding.

Mrs. Marie Bradford, 18 Chitral street, Burlington, Vt., Secretary Whittier Oratorio Society, writes:
"Peru-na is certainly a wonderful medicine for the ills of women. I have heard it spoken of in the highest praise by many, and certainly my experience is well worthy of a good word. I began to have severe pains across my back about a year ago, brought on by a cold, and each subsequent month brought me pain and distress. Your remedy was prescribed, and the way it acted upon my system was almost too good to be true. I certainly have regained my health and strength, and I no longer suffer periodical pains and extreme lassitude."—Marie Bradford.

Thousands of Women Cured Every Year by Correspondence—This is What Dr. Hartman Proposes to Do For You Without Charge.

Women who suffer should read the evidences presented here. We have thousands of letters from grateful friends who tell the same story.

Half the ills that are peculiarly women's own are of a catarrhal character. Female weakness was not understood for many years.

Peru-na produces clean, mucous membranes, the basis of facial symmetry and a perfect complexion.

The women have not been slow to discover that a course of Peru-na will do more toward restoring youthful beauty than all the devices known to science.

Many a girl has regained her beauty by this simple means, and has been diseased, including pelvic catarrh a life-long study.

Peru-na cures catarrh, whether of the pelvic organs or any other organ of the human body.

Beautiful New Spring Styles At Hochschild, Kohn & Co's.

It is worth a trip to Baltimore just to see the new Hats, Suits, Dress Goods, Wash Fabrics, Laces, Embroideries and so on at Hochschild, Kohn & Co's, Howard and Lexington streets.

Everybody who knows their store as all well calls it "Baltimore's Best Store," and it fully deserves the title. Everything in the store is fashionable and of good quality, and prices are always fair.

Almost every need—whether for person or home—can be supplied by Hochschild, Kohn & Co. You can order from them by mail if it is not convenient to go to Baltimore, and your order will be filled as carefully as though you were at the store. They pay freight on purchases of $5.00 or more to any point within 215 miles of Baltimore. See their large advertisement in this paper.

Freemy—Budd.

Bethel Methodist Protestant Church near Quantico was the scene, Wednesday evening, the 11th inst., of a pretty wedding when Miss Pearl M. Budd, of that community, was married to Mr. William J. Freemy, of Quantico. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Geobegan, pastor of Quantico M. E. Church, in the presence of a large assembly of relatives and friends of the couple. The attendants to the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Woodland Calloway, of Baltimore, Mr. Stanley Jackson, and Miss Budd, sister of the bride. Miss Gillis presided at the organ. After the wedding, a reception was given at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Freemy.

—Miss Mae Lloyd, of Princess Anne, returned home Tuesday, after spending the Easter holidays with her friend, Miss Jessica Drummond.

CALIFORNIA'S EARTHQUAKE DISASTER UNPARALLELED IN AMERICAN HISTORY

In regard to Loss of Life and Property. Several Thousand People Dead And Many More Injured. Fire Follows Quake, And Nearly The Whole Of San Francisco And Other Coast Cities Destroyed. Famous New Threatens The Afflicted People, In Their Appalling Calamity.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 18.—At least 5000 lives have been lost in the earthquake at San Francisco and the conflagration which followed.

The hospitals and improvised asylums with difficulty are able to care for the injured of whom hundreds have been treated.

Soldiers with drawn bayonets are preventing fugitives from leaving San Francisco. Many injured have been burned to death as they lay helpless on coals in the hospitals. It is feared that within the next twenty-four hours the city by the Golden Gate will be but a waste of smoldering ashes.

(Whole City Doomed.)

It looks now as if the entire city would be consumed. The fire is sweeping toward the residence districts and threatens to destroy all property which escaped the earthquake.

Five thousand persons are dead and 150,000 made homeless by the frightful holocaust.

United States soldiers are shooting down many ghoulies caught robbing the dead or looting the wreckage.

The property loss is increasing hourly and will reach $500,000,000.

Earlier reports of the dead, which were thought to be exaggerated, now seem to sadly underestimate the number. Many believe the roll of dead and injured will reach 10,000.

Many Thousand Homeless.

Oakland, Cal., April 19.—The fire at San Francisco at this hour is utterly beyond control and the entire city is doomed.

More than 150,000 people are already homeless.

The city is now a shambles.

Firemen are dropping at every point from exhaustion. Some are sleeping under their wagons.

The water supply is nil and the supply of dynamite has been exhausted, so that buildings cannot be blown up to stop the progress of the fire.

The excitement is greater this morning than yesterday and people are hopeless from fear.

Women and men are fainting in the streets, while families have been separated, driving parents to distraction for safety of their little ones.

Everything is in chaos. The situation could not be worse unless a volcano began pouring lava over the stricken metropolis.

San Francisco Triangle.

The flames ran along a path in a triangular circuit from the start in the early morning, jockeyed as the day dawned, left the business section, devastated and skipped in a dozen directions to the residence portion of the city.

After darkness thousands of homeless men, women and children made their way with blankets and scanty provisions to Golden Gate Park, where they passed the night.

Down town everything is in ruins, not a business house is standing. The streets have been crumpled into heaps. All newspaper plants are useless, the Call and Examiner buildings, including the Call editorial rooms, on Stevenson street, are entirely destroyed.

On every side there is death and suffering. There are hundreds of injured who were either burned or crushed by falling debris. Of these ten died on the operating table at Mechanics' Pavilion, an improvised hospital.

Dynamite Used.

Assistant Chief Dougherty of the fire department early saw that the only possible chance to save the city lay in an effort to check the flames by dynamite. Blasts were heard all day at intervals of a few minutes.

Buildings not destroyed by fire were blown down, but the gaps made by dynamite were in many instances jumped by the flames.

Could Not Check Fire.

The brave fire-fighters continued with desperation, but as night came the flames were eating their way into parts untouched in the ravages during the day, the flames south and north spreading down to the docks and into the residence district.

By 6 o'clock practically all the city's great buildings were gone.

Temporary Hospital Affire.

The fire swept over St. Agnes' Church and blazed down to Mechanics' Pavilion. Only shortly before, 300 injured had been removed from the pavilion to an outlying hospital. The flames then spread in all four directions. Confusion reigned everywhere.

Women fainted, and others fought their way into adjacent apartment houses to rescue something from destruction.

The scene made brave men cry. Weeping tots in their mothers' arms, the police and soldiers fighting to get women out of harm's way, and heroic dashes in ambulances and patrol wagons after the sick and injured were scenes long to be remembered. Wailing men were driven back while their homes went down before them.

First Morning Afterwards.

When the sun arose on San Francisco this morning there lay before it not the once great city of imposing buildings and bustling crowds, but a mass of burning ruins. The fairest flower on the Pacific coast is one vast desolate stretch. Where once stood the tallest structures there now is naught save piles of steel, brick and stone.

The night was one of horror. With the flames eating their way in parts of the city, panic-stricken thousands, rendered homeless, without food or water, gathered in Golden Gate Park and on the beach. There they spread their blankets for a night's rest after the frightful experience of the day, but there was little sleep for any.

All through the night firemen continued to dynamite buildings, the noise of the explosions, crash of structures and the crackling flames making it impossible for anyone to sleep.

Santa Rosa Destroyed; 300 to 500 Are Dead.

Reports from the interior are most alarming. Santa Rosa, one of the prettiest cities of the state, in the prosperous county of Sonoma, is a total wreck. There are 10,000 homeless men, women and children huddled together. The loss of life is not to be estimated. It will probably reach the thousands.

As the last great solemn tremor spent its forces in earth the whole business portion tumbled into ruins.

This destruction includes all of the county buildings. The four-story court house, with its high dome, is merely a pile of broken masonry. Nothing is left. Identification is impossible. What was not destroyed by the earthquake has been swept by fire.

Messengers bring the saddest tidings of the destruction of Heraldburg, Geyserville, Cloverdale, Hopland and Ukiah. This report takes in the country as far north as Mendocino and Lake counties and as far west as the Pacific Ocean. These are frontier counties and have not as large towns as farther south. In every case the loss of life and property is shocking.

Geysers Spent Hot Mud, Earth Opened And Sank.

The country between Monterey, Castroville and Tulare shows unmistakable signs of the terrific wrenching Wednesday in the tremendous upheaval of the earth. Great slabs, extending along the railroad tracks as far as the eye can reach, ranging from four to six feet in depth, have been left on the surface of the earth. For a distance of a quarter to three quarters of a mile the road-bed dropped from four to six feet.

Between Castroville and Monterey, along the railroad tracks and in the fields, mud and geyser have been incited into action, spouting boiling hot bluish slush and to a height of from ten to twelve feet.

At Fairman, Section Foreman J. H. Hall and Roadmaster Golden saw the geyser in violent action. Mud spouted through the sand and loam. Near Castroville, while the disturbance was at its height, Foreman H. J. Hall saw the earth open and a crevice fully six feet wide open and close several times. Panic reigned in the Hotel Delmonico.

$10,000,000 For Stricken City.

Washington, April 19.—Immediately after convening today the Senate passed a resolution appropriating $10,000,000 for the relief of the San Francisco sufferers, to be expended under the direction of the secretary of war, who is authorized to employ engineers and other means of transportation in early application to the situation there. This amount was voted on $7,000,000 by the

APALLING DESTRUCTION

Continues in Coastal California. Many Thousands Killed By Earthquake And Fire. Late News From The Afflicted States.

Late advice from the earthquake and fire stricken city of San Francisco states that two-thirds have been burned, and there is practically no hope of saving the remainder.

Nob Hill, famous for its millionaires' residences and magnificent apartments, has been swept almost clean, only smoldering ruins marking the spot where stood millions of dollars' worth of property.

It was hoped to stay the flames as they ascended this hill, and in an effort to do so 16 blocks of residences were dynamited.

In the downtown section of San Francisco not a business building is standing.

The possibility of famine among those who escaped physical injury is now a serious problem.

A number of looters were killed in the act.

Mayor Schmitz, of San Francisco, asked Governor Pardee to appeal to the bread and shelter for thousands of hungry, homeless persons.

Among the buildings destroyed was the famous Cliff House, which stood on a rocky bluff overlooking the Pacific Ocean.

The Mint Building, containing $50,000,000 in coin and bullion, was saved from both the earthquake and the fire, but the United States treasury was destroyed.

Santa Rosa, one of the prettiest cities in California, situated 55 miles north of San Francisco, is a total wreck and 10,000 persons are reported homeless. It is feared the loss of life is heavy.

Bravely, a town of about 100 population, 150 miles south of Los Angeles, was practically destroyed.

Ten persons were killed by the earthquake in San Jose.

Los Angeles was visited by an earthquake about 5.35 p. m. (Saturday) Tuesday, but so far as known no damage was done.

The property loss in Alameda, which is across the San Francisco bay from San Francisco, is put at $500,000.

Aid and offers of aid are coming from all parts of the country.

President Roosevelt has issued an appeal for aid for the earthquake sufferers, the distribution to be made through the American Red Cross society.

Contrary to earlier reports, the university of California did not suffer, but the town of Berkeley, in which it is situated, did not fare so well, the town hall having collapsed.

RAILROAD CROSSINGS

Are To Be Protected Better. Officials, Mayor And City Council Reach Agreement As To Means To Be Used.

Superintendent J. G. Rothman, of the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad, came to Baltimore to inspect the crossing at the city.

Superintendent A. J. Buchanan, of the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railroad, met the Mayor and City Council in the City Hall, in conference to better protection for the city railroad crossings Monday.

Under the agreement reached, N. Y. P. & N., are to erect gates at the East Church Street crossing, and at the crossing in San Salisbury. These gates will be operated by a flagman, which will give extra protection. The Council stipulated that all trains should be within the city limits under control of the engineer, and that the crossings should be kept clear of trains all times during the day and night except for five minutes at a time.

The question of placing gates at Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic was discussed and at President's suggestion it was decided to place alarm electric bell at Division Street and Byrd's Crossings.

The water tower at the Division Street crossing is also to be removed and placed further east of the crossing. This will give a clearer view of the crossing from that approach.

The work of putting in the gates at the two N. Y. P. & N., crossings, will be pushed forward as rapidly as possible, so as to have them in shape for the busy summer work.

Bodley And Bodley Each Received Years Sentence.

Goldborough A. Bodley, charged with the murder of Mrs. Laura Bodley, was put on trial Monday and was convicted of manslaughter, receiving a sentence of ten years in the penitentiary.

William Bodley was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary, Monday morning, on conviction of burning the town of St. Charles, La., in 1904.

EARTHQUAKE, FIRE AND RAIN.
 Shocking and terrifying as were the reports yesterday of the frightful calamity which descended upon San Francisco, they fell short of the full truth.

Indeed, the full truth is not yet known. Usually the first accounts of a great disaster are exaggerated. In the horror of the moment people feel the very foundations of life slipping from beneath them, and imagine the calamity greater than it really is. But this has not been the case with the San Francisco earthquake and fire. The earliest reports were enough to stagger humanity. But every dispatch, painfully dribbled through a clogged telegraph system, has made the story of loss of life and property more heart-breaking, has made more immediate the demand on the sympathies and the purses of the American people.

Today it is apparent that this city of more than 400,000 inhabitants is a host of shivering and smoking ruins. Two hundred thousand people are homeless, crowded in parks and having no place to lay their heads. Railroad service is stopped and the streams of provisions necessary to feed a great city are blocked. The water mains are broken and thirst is added to hunger. The pen cannot describe the suffering now being endured by tens of thousands who forty-eight hours ago were happy residents of a prosperous city.

A great city is singularly vulnerable to the attacks of nature, or of man in war. Out of its aqueduct service and it will perish of thirst in a few days. Block the railroads and starvation will speedily confront its people. San Francisco now faces these two dread terrors, after having suffered the worst that nature could do by earthquake and by fire. The people of San Francisco will rebuild their city in time.

Letter of Appreciation And Farewell From Rev. Dr. Smith.

During the six years of my residence in Salisbury I have had the honor of being brought into relation with all classes of citizens—physicians, lawyers, preachers, merchants, artisans, country officials and I have been with them in prosperity and adversity, in their joys and sorrows. My sympathies have been given to religion and to good work. For the privilege of serving the people in what I have conscientiously believed was for their welfare, for sympathy in affliction, for honest words of appreciation, for the kindnesses bestowed, I hereby express my thanks. I shall always have much pleasure in the onward and upward progress of Salisbury and Wicomico county. It would give me pleasure to visit and bid adieu to my dear friends but the time at my disposal will not permit.

Sincerely Yours,

ELIHU PEASLEY VISITS A WASHINGTON THEATER

Me and the Congressmen went to one of them air show-houses where you go up three sets of stairs and then crawl down over rows and rows of people to a place to roost and watch the folks under you.

Quite a gaggle of faddlers and one thing and another swarmed out of a small door in the platform and began scraping. A man in the middle was thrashing round with a stick but he couldn't seem to get 'em to pull together until near the wind up.
When I reckoned, they made about as much noise as the village band for a few minutes.

Everybody was busy seeing what the women folks had on, and they had to have powerful magnifying glasses to be able to see it.

Then all at once the lights went out and the band struck up with something mellow and sweet, and one side of the house slid up into the air, leavin' an old time kitchen and a likely young gal a-peelin' potatoes right in sight. I reckoned 'he'd be plum flustered before all us strangers;
but we kept still, not breathing a word, and she never knewed we was there.

She was talkin' to herself about her gay and frisky uncle by adoption and her jealous old aunt who had sort of brought her up; when directly in comes the young farm hand with a pitchfork and a water-jug, and tells her how much he's gone on her. She peers to like that brand of chaff. Just rate, and, however she throws the potato peelin' at him
it's plain she's tickled to death.
Bimeby he kinder slides up to her,
and when he thinks her lips is puckered up about right he deals her a rousin' smack—never noticed 'em or the old uncle a-doin' on a bench in the doorway.

This here aged party puts his foot down on all the spakin' in his house. He leads the hired hand off by the ear and throws the jug after him. He storms at the young gal and she peels all the potatoes over twice more and never says a word. Then the old sinner quiets down and reckon he might possibly overlook it this time if she'd permit him to plant another smack in the same locality. She refused and the old man cursed and raged.

I was just about to talk right out in meeting, when things got so warm they had to slide down the side of the house. Then the turned on the lights and me and the Congressmen went out between the acts.

After a while they raised the partition again and I see a country hotel. The farm hand was there with the young gal in his clothes. They was runnin' away; but for some fool notion or other they didn't run worth a cent, but just hung round the tavern, and kept tellin' everybody the old uncle belin' after 'em. They let on like as if the gal was a boy that the old feller was mean to—but, seems to me, any one would have knowed better; 'cause a boy don't take short steps or talk like a canary bird.

All of a sudden some one looks out the door and says the uncle's a-comin' with shot guns and blood-hounds and wants to reason with the young couple.

Well, the runaway gal gets ready to defend herself with a rollin' pin and a broom stick. The hired hand draws out a brace of nickel plated revolvers and gives one to his sweetheart. I saw there was sure to be some shootin', and I made up my mind to get out of range.

Well, I started to find the place I came in at in the dark, not aimin' to step on nobody's corns; but it wasn't long before I got into trouble. Somebody said, "Throw him out!" and ten times quicker than I can tell it, they hustled me over their heads to the stairway. They give me a first class start down these, and I went about four steps at a time. After about five minutes I found I was all there, though I felt terribly mixed up in some parts.

When the Congressmen came out he said there wasn't no shootin' after all. I was mighty pleased to hear that, and I hope the farm hand turns out to be a good husband what don't mind buildin' the fire in the mortar, occasionally, when there ain't no other way out of it.

Skulls as Hard as Stone.
It is commonly believed that the Southern negro has a thicker skull than any other race, but while the darkies have a cranium almost bomb-proof, it is to be questioned whether they compare to certain of the Moorish tribes.

These tribes, in the vicinity of Morocco, are inordinately proud of their thick skulls, and from babyhood the heads of the boys are kept shaven, that the inherent tendency toward thickness of skull may be increased.

They have developed their heads to such a degree that one of the divisions of tourists in Morocco is to pay one of these youngsters a sum equivalent to about half a cent for the privilege of breaking bricks on his head.

The skull forms a natural defense and when attacked the Moorish lad wards off his opponent's blows by lowering his head and receiving the blows on his skull.

The thickness of the negro's skull is ascribed to the scanty covering of hair upon his pate, nature endeavoring to protect the brain from the rays of the sun by increasing the thickness of the skull.

THE GARDEN METHOD OF TOP-GRAFTING

Which Has Given Unfailing Success for Ten Years.

It is a well known fact that very little progress or improvement in the methods of top-grafting fruit trees has been made for the last one hundred years or more. The same old style of cleft-grafting, splitting the stock and inserting the scions, is largely used throughout the world as was done hundreds of years ago.
I was a writer in Field and Farm. It is an old and true saying that necessity is the mother of invention and having put out a fifty-acre orchard some twenty-two years ago in a country where the growing of fruit was a new venture, and an experiment, we naturally desired to know the best varieties of apples, pears, plums, prunes, cherries, apricots and peaches to plant.

There was no way to determine this question, except by planting and experimenting, which we proceeded at once to do. Planting, so nothing like 150 varieties, all of which, I am pleased to report, matured far better than our most sanguine ex-pectations.
After ten years, however, we discovered that the demand was for fewer varieties. The question arose—what shall we do? Dig up all the understandable kinds, and plant again, with those in most demand, or top-graft?
The old way of splitting the stock seemed to us as being a slow process and quite unreliable. Besides, it did not look mechanical, inserting the smooth-cut surface of the scion into the rough torn surface.

I adapted the following method, which has been successful for the past ten years.

I take a limb and saw a groove in the end. After sawing the groove, the sides are smoothed and beveled,
by the use of a half-moon shaped saw, or knife.

The trimming can be done with any sort of a knife, however, but the saw, or knife, is the most convenient in making the kerf smooth, and true. Next the scion, which has already been cut with a wedge-shaped side, is slipped into the groove, where the natural pressure of the beveled sides makes an almost perfect connection. After the scion has been inserted it is waxed and tied in the usual manner. By this method one can graft a limb six inches in diameter as easily and be as sure of complete success as a limb of only one inch in diameter.

Cultivating Sugar Beets.

Any crop will exhaust the soil if planted continuously and nothing is done to renew it. Sugar beets will not exhaust the soil more than other crops if right methods are pursued.
It should be the aim of every farmer growing sugar beets to make a profit out of them, the same as with any other crop. Therefore, he should be careful in the selection of land, for growing them. If a piece of land is not adapted to general cropping, avoid it for sugar beets. Put upon it something better adapted to it and operate, if possible, in such way as to make it productive. If it is wet and sour or alkalized, drain it. If light, put in grass or build it up with legumes in rotation with light crops and liberal applications of barnyard manure. At least, do not try to reclaim it with sugar beets. They are not a good reclaimer.

Stirring Orchard Soils.

The depth of stirring orchard soils, depends on the condition existing in the orchard. If the trees are large and the roots numerous in the ground, the soil should not be stirred deeply, the main object being to keep the surface soil disintegrated, so that capillary can not take place. With old orchards that have never been cultivated the stirring will have to be very shallow, because the roots of old orchard trees lie close to the surface, and if they are disturbed the tree can not readily form enough new ones to offset the losses. The only orchard soil that may be stirred freely is the soil in the young orchard previous to its coming into bearing. Deep stirring of the soil will then pulverize it in advance of the growing roots and so encourage its root extension.—Exchange.

Japanese Leather Plant.

The department of agriculture is introducing a plant native to Japan, which furnishes a sort of vegetable leather. It is a pretty shrub called the mitsumata, and its inner bark, after going through a process of manufacture, is converted into a substance as tough as French kid, and translucent that one can almost see through it and as pliable and soft as calfskin. In Japan pipe cases and tobacco pouches are manufactured from the material as well as all kinds of wall paper which is already becoming fashionable in America.
Such wall paper of vegetable leather are turned out in beautiful designs for wall and ceiling decorations, being stamped and modeled by hand in most artistic patterns.

Poultry Notes.

Don't forget to have plenty of grit handy for your poultry.
Dust your hen house frequently with lime. It is cheap and lime will not trouble your hens.
Fright or rough treatment of hens will lessen the production of eggs.
Fix the roof of your poultry house.
Wet hens do not lay eggs.

LARGE ICE PLANT

The Crystal Ice Company One of the most complete in the State. Improved Output. More Labor Used.

They are now of ice daily in the largest output now of the Crystal Ice Company, with its recently improved and enlarged plant, which stands among the latest and best in the State.

Mr. Josie D. Price, the able manager here has made a success of the business from the start and has kept in the forefront of modern ice manufacturing along, keeping in line with the general progressiveness of Salisbury's thriving industries.

This first began business five years ago with a 50 ton machine, capable of making 18 tons of ice daily, besides refrigerating 40,000 cubic feet of cold storage space. The quality of their ice put them at once in the front rank of ice manufacturers in this country. Their trade has increased from year to year until they were compelled to enlarge, which they have just done by putting in a duplicate of their original plant, so arranged that they can be run separately or jointly, making it possible to run either machine on either bank. The plant at present is equipped with two 80 horse power horizontal tubular boilers with two 80 horse power feed water heaters; two Corliss engines with the latest improved Corliss type governor and valve gear; two sets of compressors, each with two sets of the vertical single acting type; two complete water distilling systems, each fitted out with a reboiling system and the latest improved filters; two storage tanks, two double pipe ammonia condensers, and two complete cooling systems; two big tanks, each 20 feet high, 4 feet deep, fitted out complete with 400 ice cans holding a 800 pound block of ice. The company has spared no expense to make everything up to date and has several labor saving devices. Taken all together, this is no doubt the largest and most complete ice manufacturing plant in the State outside of Baltimore City.

The growth of the business of this firm has been phenomenal. Starting in a small way 5 years ago, the business has grown until in the year 1905 this firm made and sold over 5,000 tons of ice, paying out for labor over $5,000. The wonderful growth of this business has been due to the foresight of the management in providing ample facilities for the refrigeration of cars for the shipment of perishable fruits and vegetables, and these two great industries—the manufacture of ice and the refrigeration car service, has grown up together until Salisbury is the center of the fruit and vegetable business of the Peninsula.

The Crystal Ice Company was compelled to make this enlargement in order to take care of some large contracts recently made with the refrigeration car companies covering a part of several cars. This company is building another large house, which when completed will give them over 5,000 tons storage capacity. We understand Armour & Co. have a contract to take 5,000 tons a year for five years, which will enable the concern to run continuously and give employment to a number of men.

Obituary.

Died on Saturday, April 7, 1905, Mrs. Mary Margaret Hayman, wife of Thomas J. Hayman in the seventy second year of her age.

The subject of this sketch was born near Princess Anne in Somerset county in 1834 and always resided in that locality until about 18 months ago when with her husband, she removed to Salisbury to spend her declining years. For some years she had been in failing health but her indomitable will power kept her faithful to the duties of home and family, and which for so many years had been her constant care, until last spring when she was stricken down beyond hope of recovery. She bore her long suffering with the same forbearing patient, self sacrificing spirit which had ever characterized her through life and passed away as peacefully and quietly as the departing rays of the setting sun.

She was from early life a faithful and consistent member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and her example and strong Christian character will live on and on in the community where she was best known and to which she gave the best years of her life. The funeral services conducted by the Rev. T. M. Hardin of the Salisbury M. E. Church were held at 10 o'clock on Sunday, April 9, and the remains laid to rest in the family lot in the cemetery adjoining. She leaves to mourn her irreparable loss a husband and two daughters, her three other children having preceded her in the spirit world.

The writer joins the relatives in mourning the loss of this faithful wife and devoted mother. J. T. H.

BIRCKHEAD-SHOCKLEY CO., Salisbury, Maryland.

WILLARDS

Services at Eden M. E. Church Sunday as follows: Sunday School, 1.30 p. m.; Preaching by the pastor, J. W. Gray, 2.30 p. m.

Our farmers can be seen busily engaged in preparing their lands to plant their seeds, while in every garden their wives are at work.

Mrs. Wilmer Bodley returned home Wednesday afternoon after spending a few days with her husband.

Miss Edith Driscoll, of Salisbury, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George White last Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Clarence Traill, of Parsonsburg, spent Sunday with relatives here.

Miss Della Lewis, of Parsonsburg, spent the Easter holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Lewis.

Miss Emma Oaulk, our assistant school teacher, is taking a vacation with her parents and Miss Blanche Wilkins is her substitute.

Miss Eva Short left Monday for Salisbury where she will engage in dress making.

Our better tray factory has ceased to run owing to the need of gum.

OLARA.

Mrs. Mary Beardslee Watts and her daughter, Miss Helen, of Canton, Pa. are spending sometime with Mr. and Mrs. John F. Phillips. They are greatly pleased with our level country and what they term our "beautiful forests."

Mrs. J. M. Roberts, who has been quite ill, we are glad to report, is convalescing.

Mr. John F. Phillips has resigned his school at White Haven. Miss Brewington, of Salisbury, is now the "mistress." Mr. Phillips hopes to find outdoor work more healthful.

Miss Eva Robertson was at home for the holidays.

Mrs. Roberts Hearn, of Hebron, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Dickey.

A hearty appetite does not always indicate a healthy condition. It is not the quantity of food which is eaten but the quantity which is assimilated, which determines the actual value of the food consumed. If the stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition cannot convert the food into nourishment, and into blood, then the food is an injury instead of a benefit. For all disorders of the stomach and its allied organs of digestion and nutrition, there is a certain remedy in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It removes clogging obstructions, it strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves, enriches the blood and builds up the body. It is a flesh forming muscle making preparation, making first flesh instead of flabby fat. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whisky or intoxicant of any kind, and is equally free from opium, cocaine and all narcotics.

Ponies And Ponies At The Coming Circus.

The ponies, handsome little animals they are, too, and smart, are a feature of the Washburn and D'Alma Famous Trained Animal Shows, which are soon to visit this city and present its remarkable performances, afternoon and evening, on April 26, South Salisbury Grounds. There are 68 ponies of all sizes with this show including "Prince" positively the least pony ever known. This little white equine is three years old, is 14 inches high and weighs just 57 pounds. Just imagine such a little bit of a horse if you possibly can. And then there are talking ponies, musical ponies, dancing ponies, military ponies and ponies who have been taught to accomplish tricks hitherto thought impossible by animal trainers. Every boy and girl will be interested in this happy family of miniature horse-flesh and that the children fondle the cunning creatures immediately after each afternoon performance the little folks are allowed the privilege of riding them, all of which are perfectly gentle and are chaperoned by careful attendants. No other Animal Show in existence allows such a privilege to its juvenile patrons and it is no wonder that the advent of the Washburn and D'Alma Shows is so eagerly awaited by thousands of the boys and girls.

If The Baby Is Cutting Teeth.

Be sure and use that old and well-tried remedy, Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, for children teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle.

—Wanted.—Lady or gentleman of fair education to travel for firm of $250,000 capital. Salary $1,075 per year, payable weekly. Expenses advanced. Address Geo. G. Olows, Salisbury, Md.

For Thin, Poor Blood

You can trust a medicine tested 60 years! Sixty years of experience, think of that! Experience with Ayer's Sarsaparilla; the original Sarsaparilla; the Sarsaparilla the doctors endorse for thin blood, weak nerves, general debility.

But even this grand old medicine cannot do the best work if the blood is impure and the bowels constipated. For that reason, you should take laxative doses of Ayer's Pills while taking the Sarsaparilla.

Made by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Guaranteed Silk Petticoats

For the First Time

Nobody has guaranteed Silk Petticoats, until now that we do. And we don't guarantee all we have—just one special kind, the makers of which have succeeded in securing a taffeta silk that will not split or crack within a reasonable time.

Remember the S. H. & M. binding, that was so good? These are S. H. & M. petticoats.

Understand, we don't guarantee these silk petticoats for ever and ever—that would be an impossibility, namely considered.

But it's a good guarantee, for they are good petticoats.

Three kinds ready—beautifully ready. At $5.75, $10.00 and $13.00.

The New Summer Footwear is "Smart"

For Women, Girls and Boys.

A score of variations of the low shoe are ready in the Shoe Store. Many of these models are our own development. Modified and improved from presented models. The fashionable leathers are gunmetal and patent leather.

What's the fashion? For low shoes, pumps or ribbon-tied oxfords. For high shoes, a button boot with cloth top. Gunmetal or patent leather are the fashionable colors. White and colored shoes are also the vogue.

The dressiest shoes come with narrow toes and short forepart effects. This gives the foot a neater and very much shorter appearance. Particularly accomplished through the arch of the shoes, which curves the foot. Oaken heels, pitched, are most in favor.

'Twould take a half page of this paper to tell in detail about all the shoes we have—so just this today—

Women's Oxfords, Pumps and Gibson Ties, of patent colic and ideal patent kidskin; larger or smaller extension for ribbon laces; extension light hand turned soles, $4.00.

Women's Donals Oxfords; kid or patent leather tips; hand welted extension soles or light turned soles, $4.00.

Women's Tan and Black Oxfords of shiny leathers, with dull or bright finish; plain or tipped toes; all weights of soles, $4.00.

Women's Tan and Black Oxfords of shiny leathers, with dull or bright finish; plain or tipped toes; all weights of soles, $4.00.

Women's Baller Pumps of tan leather; one eyelet; light extension soles; plain pumps, $4.00.

IN NATURE'S CHARM

Of Climate, And Loyness of Life Lies A Message—By Volcano And Earthquake.

Crouched amidst most beautiful flowers and tropic foliage in the gardens of the world where the citron tree blooms perpetual and the olive covers the green earth with its delicious fruit. In a land where nature seems to smile and where life is one long summer dream, the volcano looms in the distance. Italy would be a paradise were it not for the dreaded volcano, Vesuvius on the coast of the bay of Naples. It is a fearful nightmare to the inhabitants. Like most of the lands of the volcano it is a scene of nature where life flows on beneath brightest skies, one can hear the sweetest music while the dance is all gaiety. Lima the most beautiful city of tropic Peru is a garden of eden with its climate soft and balmy, the Poets dream. No snow nor any chilling cold ever visited its people. Rain never falls there, but instead a gentle shower descends every day like a veil and thus sheltered beneath the friendly cloud the people seldom feel more than a temperate heat. It is only at rare intervals when the fog is dissipated that the climate is excessively hot. Lima while under the Spanish rule was filled with the wealth of its Conquerors. Cathedrals and palaces teeming with silver were from the richest mines of Peru. Nature is good to happy Lima; fruits of every description, rare tropical flowers fanned by summer breezes. Never was there a gay people. The fair evening dress with a magnificence of lace and silk. They are fond of the dance in the soft evening twilight, the tinkle of the Guitar is heard. The Peruvian women have the most melodious voices. In Lima there is no thought of the morrow, we will live today in the morn. The dreaded Earthquake is a terror to those lovely lands, where it deliriously lingers. Without it they would indeed be a dream, with it a haunting fear, a demon. All the wealth of the fertile climate nor the luxurious scent of the orange flower can never take away from Peruvian the consciousness that his dread destroyer is always near.

Such was life in the fair city of Lima in October 1746. Earthquakes had come, gone and been forgotten. It was the night of October 28 at half past ten o'clock when the city was asleep, four minutes served to shake Lima to the ground not twenty houses out of three thousand were left standing. Chila and Peru are still the favored lands of the earthquake. In 1825 all Chila was laid in ruins. Valparaiso was destroyed in 1822, but was afterwards rebuilt.

And now San Francisco, the most picturesque city of this continent, the most interesting and romantic has been visited by the dreaded earthquake and only a memory remains. A city of adventure during the gold fever of 1849 the mad rush for wealth brought a strange wild mixture of races from every country of Europe. The first settlers were of the proudest blood of Spain. In a country where no one needs to work very hard the native Californian is a distinctive type, easy going and always gay. The climate produces almost everything in abundance. Delicious fruits, sweet spices and gorgeous flowers makes the air heavy with perfume. The old San Francisco has gone forever. Never again the wild revels and scenes like the Arabian Nights will be witnessed in the quaint old streets of the Golden Gate. The state's Spanish dance of the Senoritas will soon be a dream of other days never to return. Fair San Francisco, city of mysteries. "What is safe," said the Philosopher, if the solid earth itself cannot be relied upon.

Katherine Lewis, Philadelphia, Pa.

Beauty is born in the blood. Beauty is more than "skin deep." It is blood deep. When the blood is tainted by disease the flesh will feel it and the skin will show it. Bellow and muddy complexion, pimples, blotches and eruptions are only the surface signs of impure blood. Face washes, lotions, complexion powders, may palliate the evils but they cannot cure the disease. The only cure is to cleanse the blood of the poisonous matter which is the cause of the outbreak in the flesh and skin. Impure blood can be absolutely purified by the use of Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery." Its effect on the flesh and skin is marked. Sores, boils and pimples disappear. The skin becomes smooth, and regains its natural color. The eyes brighten and sparkle, the whole body is radiant with the brightness and beauty of health. "Golden Medical Discovery" contains no alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant, and is absolutely free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics. The use of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, assist the action of the "Discovery" by cleansing the system of clogging matter.

Shake off the grip of your old enemy, Neural Catarrh, by using Dr. Pierce's Cream Balm. Then will all the swelling and soreness be driven out of the tender, inflamed membranes. The use of sneezing will cease and the discharge, as often as others as a relief, will be cured when the cause, as that produce it are removed. Cleanliness, comfort and health renewed by the use of Cream Balm. Sold by all druggists for 50 cents or mailed by Dr. Pierce, 66 Warren Street, New York.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh, being a constitutional disease, requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly on upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

12 to denote the heat of the body. This he found and made it the starting point of his scale both upward and downward. It was some time after this that, for convenience sake, the degrees were divided into two, and thus the body heat was 24 above zero and the boiling point 58. When, many years afterward, Fahrenheit made his instrument of fused oil, which was far more convenient, he again divided the degrees into four, so that the number he multiplied afterwards was 96, 96 being 24 times 4, the boiling point, 96, for the body heat, Fahrenheit, finding that he could get a lower temperature than it would make this point zero, which brought the number, 4 of Newton's to 32 of Fahrenheit. In this way the thermometer was constructed. Awkward as the scale is, yet it is historically interesting as having been made by our own great philosopher and formed on the basis of the heat of the human body."

King Henry is said to be giving orders to his men. The story comes from a novel, which he recently wrote, the subject of the Englishman's boy, the story of his own.

WORKING WOMEN

Their Hard Struggle Made Easier—Interesting Statements by a Young Lady in Boston and One in Nashville, Tenn.

Miss Frankie Orser Miss Pearl Ackers

All women work; some in their homes, some in church, and some in the world of society. And in stores, mills and shops tens of thousands are on the never-ceasing treadmill, earning their daily bread.

All are subject to the same physical laws; all suffer alike from the same physical disturbance, and the nature of their duties, in many cases, quickly drifts them into the horrors of all kinds of female complaints, tumors, ulcerations, falling and displacements or perhaps irregularity or suppression, causing backache, nervousness, irritability and lassitude.

They especially require an invigorating, sustaining medicine which will strengthen the female organism and enable them to bear easily the fatigues of the day, to sleep well at night, and to rise refreshed and cheerful.

How distressing to see a woman struggling to earn a livelihood or perform her household duties when her back and head are aching, she is so tired she can hardly drag about or stand up, and every movement causes pain, the origin of which is due to some derangement of the female organism.

Miss F. Orser, of 14 Warrenton Street, Boston, tells women how to avoid such suffering; she writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—
"I suffered miserably for several years with female irregularities. My back ached; I had bearing-down pains, and frequent headaches.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from all these troubles. I am now strong and well."

THE MOSQUITO

New York.—The American Mosquito Extermination Society began its third annual convention here. President William J. Matheson, of New York, in his opening address, said that a large percentage of the population of this country yearly loses their lives or are incapacitated by disease from the insidious work of the mosquito. The society, he said, seeks the co-operation of every scientist and layman who wants to better his own and his neighbor's condition of existence, and when the public has been convinced that a remedy is practical for the mosquito pest, measures will be taken for relief by the State and nation.

The "Mosquito Brief" designed to convey to laymen information regarding mosquitoes and to form a "Commission of Faith" of the society, was discussed and adopted.

Some of its declarations are:
There are over 100 species of mosquitoes in the United States.
Mosquitoes require from one to three weeks to develop into winged insects. Some species lay as many as 300 or 400 eggs at a time.
Only few mosquitoes live a month.
Rigid tests prove that certain species are the only natural means of transmitting malaria and yellow fever.
Other diseases are known to be conveyed by mosquitoes.
Of the domestic variety the dangerous malarial mosquitoes are among the most generally distributed. They never seem to travel far—only a few hundred yards.
Mosquitoes are known to bite more than once.
Mosquitoes are a dangerous and noxious pest. Their propagation can be prevented.

Eighty Year Old Woman Cured.

Had Suffered Torments From Rheumatism
For 20 Years.

No matter how long you have been
sick, no matter how discouraged you
are from having tried so many remedies in vain, there is at last hope of a complete cure for you. The new scientific remedy, Rheumoidin, has cured hundreds of cases of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Gout, Osteoarthritis, Indigestion, Constipation, Liver and Kidney Trouble, La Grippe and Contagious Blood Poison, after all other
remedies have failed.

Rheumoidin cured James Kennedy and J. P. Ellis, of Baltimore, of terrible cases of Rheumatism, after all
the specialists at the famous John Hopkins Hospital had failed. Rheu-moidin cured W. R. Hughes, of Atlanta, Va., after noted New York doctors
had failed.

Here is the case of a woman sixty
years old who was cured by Rheu-moidin after she had suffered for twenty years:

Rich Point, N. C., July 19. "After suffering for about twenty years with inflammatory Rheumatism I was induced to try a bottle of Rheumoidin.
After taking one bottle I have felt
five years younger. I am now eighty years of age and wish to testify that I believe Rheumoidin is the best remedy for Rheumatism. And I heartily recommend it to all who are suffering with any of the forms of this dread disease."

Across the lonely beach we fit,

One little sandpiper and I.
And fast I gather bits by bits,
The feathered driftwood, bleached and dry.

The wild waves reach their hands for it.
The wild wind raves, the tides run high,
As up and down the beach we fit,
One little sandpiper and I.

Above our heads the sullen clouds
Send, black and swift, across the sky
Like silent ghosts in misty shrouds Stand on the white lighthouses high Almost as far as eye can reach
I see the close reefed vessels fly,
As fast we fit along the beach,
One little sandpiper and I.

I watch him as he skims along,
Uttering his sweet and mournful cry
He starts not at my stifled song,
Nor flash of fluttering drapery.
He has no thought of any wrong.
He scans me with a fearless eye:
Starched friends are we, well tried and trunk.

The little sandpiper and I.
Oomrade, where wilt thou be tonight,
When the loose storm breaks furiously?
My driftwood fire will burn so bright
To what warm shelter canst thou fly?
I do not fear for thee, though wroth
The tempest rushes through the sky.
For are we not God's children both,
Thou, little sandpiper and I.

—Della Thaxter.

never wholly free from pain and distress. Backache is enough to worry a man who is compelled to earn his
daily bread, but that was not all I suffered. There was added to it trouble with the kidney secretions and a backache which resulted in too frequent passages. I used one preparation
after another but was never able to find anything to give me relief until I got Doan's Kidney Pills. They worked right to the root of the trouble and brought unexpected relief. It is a constantly short time I was cured, and I believe that the cure is permanent, for up to date there has been no signs of a recurrence. I can stoop,
bend or straighten and work in my
garden all day long without any inconvenience whatever. They are the best kidney remedy in the world, and I never felt better in my life than I
have since taking them."

Grip Quickly Knocked Out.

"Some weeks ago during the severe
winter weather both my wife and myself contracted severe colds, which
speedily developed into the worst kind
of the gripe with all its miserable
symptoms," says Mr. J. S. Eggleston,
of Maple Landing, Iowa. "Knees
and joints aching, muscles sore, head
stopped up, eyes and nose running,
with alternate spells of chills and fever. We began using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, adding the same with
a double dose of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets, and by this liberal use soon completely knocked out the grip. Sold by O. L. Dick-

THE BEST FRIENDS OF PE-RU-NA ARE THE MOTHERS & CHILDREN

When Sickness Comes to the Little Ones It Is the Mother Who Chiefly Suffers.

She suffers even more than the child who happens to be sick. Her sympathy is deeper than that of any other member of the family. The mothers look forward with dread to the torrid heat of summer, thinking of their children and the many ailments to disease that are before them. Spring and summer are sure to bring ailments, especially among the little folks. It does not take a mother very long to discover that Peru-na is the best friend she has in times of illness among the children. The doctors may come and go with their different theories and constant change of remedies. The doctor of years ago gave entirely different remedies than he does today. Each year finds some change in his prescriptions and in the drugs he relies upon.

A Multitude of Mothers Have discovered that Peru-na is the remedy that will most quickly relieve. Whether it is spring fever or stomach derangement, whether it is indigestion or bowel disease, a catarrhal congestion of the mucous surfaces is the cause. Peru-na quickly relieves this condition of the mucous membranes. Its operation is prompt, the children do not dislike to take the medicine, it has no deleterious effects in any part of the body. It simply removes the cause of the disagreeable symptoms and restores the health.

Peru-na is not a physic. Peru-na is not a narcotic. Peru-na does not produce any drug habit, however long it may be taken. Peru-na is not a stimulant.

Peru-na is a specific remedy for all catarrhal ailments of winter and summer, acute or chronic.

The mothers all over the United States are the best friends that Peru-na has.

The Mothers Hold Peru-na in High Esteem. Not only because it has cured them of their various ailments, but because it always rescues the children from the throes and grasp of catarrhal diseases.

We have in our files hundreds of testimonials from mothers whose children have been cured by Peru-na. However, the large majority of mothers who use Peru-na, we never hear from.

But we do hear from a great number of mothers who are so overjoyed at some special good they have received from Peru-na that they cannot restrain their enthusiasm. They are anxious to share these benefits with other mothers.

The tulip is the emblem of Hungarian and anti-Austrian sentiment. A tulip league has been formed in Hungary to boycott everything Austrian. The members wear a badge of a tulip in the Hungarian colors—red, white and green.

Consul Williams, of Cardiff, reports that the quantity of coal, coke and patent fuel exported from Wales during the first 10 months of 1905 amounted to 17,556,498 tons; a decrease of 642,791 tons from the amount exported during the same months in 1904.

Consul Smith, of Moscow, writes that the Urals gold production for 1905 was 193,644 ounces, a reduction of 7,438 ounces from the 140 production, caused by labor strikes. The platinum product amounted to 126,793 ounces in 1905, or 4,000 ounces more than in 1904.

The new method of producing general anesthesia proposed by Schmelzer, of Berlin, consists in giving three hypodermic injections—two hours, one hour and half an hour before operation—of scopalamine with some morphine. Unconsciousness continues some hours after the operation.

Mr. Murphy, British consul at Bordeaux states that the supply of "French" briar root is practically exhausted. The product which formerly came from the Department of the Landes and from near the frontier in the Pyrenees, is now obtained in Scotland exclusively. The pipes are manufactured in St. Olanda.

Consul Dudley writes from Vancouver that the estimate of tin plate imports into British Columbia for 1905 is 180,000 boxes, most of which will come from the United States. The present price there is $3.75 per box. It is expected that not more than one fourth as many cases of salmon will be packed this year as last, but the tin can stock is cleaned up.

The German government has become actively interested in the reviving of the empire's ship sailing trade, because of the rapid development of its navy and the great need of seamen. Sailing vessels are the only practical schools for deckhands. The government also desires to preserve and protect the small sailing vessels.

MRS. THRENA ROOKE MOTHER and CHILD

The Benefit Which the Children of the United States Have Received From Peru-na Can Never Be Put Into Words.

The chronic ailments it has prevented, the suffering it has mitigated, will never be fully recorded. But at least this much can be said that the coming generation owes a great debt to Peru-na, for it is in the tender years of youth that slight ailments are liable to develop into lasting diseases, thus blasting the whole career of the individual.

The mothers who are bringing up their children today to believe in Peru-na are doing a great work for humanity. These children brought up to believe in Peru-na from the start, will, when they become heads of families themselves, use Peru-na with unquestioning faith.

Peru-na Protects the Entire Household. As soon as the value of Peru-na is appreciated by every household, both as a preventive and cure, tens of thousands of lives will be saved, and hundreds of thousands of chronic, lingering cases of catarrh will be prevented.

Mrs. Threna Rooker, 222 N. Ashland Ave., Chicago, Ill., "Treasurer Ladies of the Mothers," writes:

"In our home Peru-na is the only medicine we have. Grandmother, mother, father and child, all have used Peru-na. It is our great remedy for catarrh of the stomach and head, colds, and female complaints of which it has cured me."

"We find it of great value when my husband becomes worn out or catches cold. A couple of doses cure him."

"If the baby has cold, or any stomach disorders, a dose or two cures her."

"I consider Peru-na dearer than any doctor's medicine that I have ever tried, and I know that as long as we have it in the house, we will all be able to keep in good health."—Threna Rooker.

No Doctor Required. Mr. Edward Otto, 227 De Soto street, St. Paul, Minn., writes:

"I cannot say enough for Peru-na. It has done great work in my family, especially for my oldest boy. We had doctor with three or four different doctors and they did not seem to do him any good."

"We gave up hopes of cure, and so did they, but we pulled him through on Peru-na."

"We had several doctors and they said they could do no more for him, so we tried Peru-na as a last resort, and that did the work. Since then we keep it in the house all the time, and no doctor is required."—Edward Otto.

Peru-na Contains No Narcotics. One reason why Peru-na has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Peru-na is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. Peru-na does not produce temporary results. It is permanent in its effect.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh.

There are a multitude of homes where Peru-na has been used off and on for twenty years.

Such a thing could not be possible if Peru-na contained any drugs of a narcotic nature.

Peru-na should be kept in the house all the time. Don't wait until the child is sick, then send to a drug store. Buy Peru-na on hand—accept no substitute. Children are especially liable to catarrh. Indeed, most of the ailments of childhood are catarrh. All forms of sore throat, quinsy, hoarseness, laryngitis, etc., are but different phases of catarrh. Mrs. Amelia Sailer, Menasha, Wis., writes: "I have used Peru-na for a number of years. It cured me of chronic catarrh, which I suffered with from infancy. When my three children were born they all had catarrh, but I have given them Peru-na and find it very effective in ridding them of this horrible trouble. I find that it is also good to give them as a tonic and a preventative of colds and colic."

"In fact, I consider it a household blessing. I would not know how to raise my children without it. I am pleased to give it my recommendation."—Amelia Sailer.
