CES Series Offers Exciting Spring Season

CES Presents Esperanza Spalding Quartet

Jazz enthusiasts are in for a treat when jazz vocalist, bassist and composer Esperanza Spalding performs with the Esperanza Spalding Quartet at Windsor Hall Sunday, Feb. 8, as part of FSU’s Cultural Events Series Jazz Club sponsored by Kauffman Music. Patrons have the option of a 5 p.m. Supper Club or 6:30 p.m. concert only.

Blessed with tremendous talent, a multilingual voice that been described as “part angel and part siren” and a natural beauty, Spalding might be the hope for the future of jazz and instrumental music. While singing and playing the bass interchangeably, she adds a kind of interpretive dance to the mix, making her performances memorable and fresh, while introducing jazz to younger audiences. Critic Ed Morales describes Spalding’s music as “a sprawling collage of jazz fusion, Brazilian and even a touch of hip-hop.”

Born and raised in Portland, Ore., by the time she was 5, Spalding had taught herself to play the violin and was playing with the Chamber Music Society of Oregon, made up of musicians of all ages. She stayed until she was 15 and left as concertmaster.

Home-schooled as a child, Spalding continued her education by enrolling in Portland State University’s music program at age 16. Ultimately, this led to her enrollment in the Berklee School of Music, which opened many doors for her. Almost immediately on graduation at age 20, she became one of the youngest people to join the faculty at the Berklee School as an instructor. In 2005, she received the Boston Jazz Society scholarship for outstanding musicianship.

Spalding has recorded two albums: “Junjo” (2006) and “Esperanza” (2008). Her music may be heard on her Web site, www.esperanzaspalding.com.

The Esperanza Spalding Quartet performance begins at 6:30 p.m. Concert goers may prefer to purchase a Supper Club ticket, which entitles them to dinner plus a concert. The Supper Club option provides the ticket holder with a special table with preferred seating for the performance and a choice of a specially designed meal from Kozy Kettle featuring one of two entrees - eggplant parmesan or chicken and beef marsala. The Supper Club begins at 5 p.m.

Tickets for the Esperanza Spalding Quartet performance are only $16/adult and $11/under age 17. Tickets for the Supper Club option are $41/adult and $36/under age 17. Group-rate tickets are also available. Tickets may be ordered by calling 866-849-9237 or x3137, or by visiting ces.frostburg.edu.

Rest of the Season Highlights

The Cat in the Hat will be the host, emcee and all-around mischief maker in the TheatreworxUSA production of “Seussical” on Sunday, March 8, at 3 and 7 p.m. in FSU’s Pealer Recital Hall. Enjoy a wild musical romp through some of Dr. Seuss’ best-loved stories. It’s a fast-paced, whimsical adaptation of the original Broadway version, perfect for ages 4 and up - and their parents and grandparents.

One of America’s pre-eminent pianists, George Winston, will take the stage at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 1, at FSU’s Pealer Recital Hall. Winston’s styles of music are New Orleans R&B and his own folk piano style. Winston performed to a sold-out audience in 2007 at Windsor Hall in Town Centre with the coordination of CES at FSU.

Wrapping up the season will be Shakespeare’s “Henry V” directed by Davis McCallum. This classic will be vividly brought to life by The Acting Company/Guthrie Theatre at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, April 28, in the Drama Theatre of FSU’s Performing Arts Center. In this rousing story of courage and the price of glory, Henry V inherits a troubled crown and seeks to secure his position at home by turning the country’s attention abroad, launching a hasty invasion of France.

Ticket packages and discounts are available, including the Build Your Own Series for those planning to attend several events throughout the spring season; Corporate Nights offering group pricing, priority seating and personalized service; and Group Sales, with special rates for purchases of 15 or more tickets for a single performance. Tickets may be ordered by calling 866-849-9237 or x3137, or by visiting <http://ces.frostburg.edu>.

Staking Our Claim

FSU Foundation

Launches $15 Million Campaign

Steering Committee Named to Lead “Staking Our Claim” Fundraising Effort

The FSU Foundation Inc. recently launched the public phase of its comprehensive $15 million campaign, Staking Our Claim: The Campaign for Frostburg. Designed to support the mission of FSU, this fundraising effort comes at a critical time in the history of the institution and Western Maryland. Nearly $8.5 million has already been committed as of the end of 2008.

Staking Our Claim is named in recognition of the tenacious community of coal miners and other local citizens who struggled to found State Normal School No. 2 more than 100 years ago. It has three areas of focus: Student Enrichment, Academic Enrichment and Regional and Cultural Enrichment, all integral parts of the mission of the regional comprehensive university that grew from that Normal School for teachers.

Quincy Crawford

A steering committee of alumni and community leaders has been named to guide the effort. It is chaired by Quincy Crawford of Annapolis, Md., a 1965 Frostburg graduate who is the retired President and CEO of First Financial Group, the largest privately held financial planning firm in the Mid-Atlantic region. Crawford, a leader in industry affairs, has been the recipient of numerous honors over his career, including the 2004 FSU College of Business Alumnus of the Year.

Carl Belt Jr.

He is joined on the steering committee by Carl “Buck” Belt Jr. of Cumberland, Md., Mary Clapsaddle of Arnold, Md., and Kenneth Oldham of Germantown, Md.

Belt is a Western Maryland business and community leader. He is President of the general contracting firm Carl Belt Inc., whose reputation for quality and well-managed projects has continued to grow under his leadership. He has also expressed his community commitment through his involvement with numerous charitable and civic organizations in Allegany County.

Clapsaddle of Arnold, Md., is a 1983 FSU graduate who is currently the Legislative Manager for the Maryland Department of Legislative Services in Annapolis, her most recent post in a career focusing on government policy and service. Oldham of Germantown, Md., is a 1998 FSU graduate who, less than a decade after graduation, was named President of the National Philharmonic at Strathmore. He is committed to the education of young and future audiences and the promotion of the arts, yet still finds time to share his musical talent by teaching guitar.

Kenneth Oldham

The Staking Our Claim Steering Committee is also joined by members of the executive board of the FSU Foundation, President R. Sam Griffith, Vice President William Chesno, Secretary Lynn Fike, Treasurer Kenneth Kennedy, Assistant Treasurer Joseph Pace, Gladys Faherty and Lawrence McKenzie.

Since the University’s history is an essential part of this fundraising effort, two new leadership annual giving societies have been created in honor of two past University presidents who played significant roles in FSU history, Nelson P. Guild and Lillian C. Compton. Guild led the institution through an exceptional period of growth and expansion in enrollment, facilities and new program development through the 1970s and ‘80s. The Nelson P. Guild Society recognizes annual donations of $2,500 to $4,999. Compton played a critical role in saving what was then Frostburg State Teachers College from closure in the 1940s. The Lillian C. Compton Society denotes yearly contributions of $5,000 or more.

For more information about the “Staking Our Claim” campaign and to learn how to join the effort to support FSU, call x4161 or visit www.frostburg.edu/admin/foundation.

Theatre

Student Play Takes Stage

In celebration of Black History Month, FSU will present an original work by theatre major Keenan Scott II on Friday, Feb. 20, and Saturday, Feb. 21, at 7: 30 p.m. in the F. Perry Smith Studio Theatre in the Performing Arts Center.

After seeing Ntozake Shange’s award-winning play, “For Colored Girls Who Considered Suicide/When the Rainbow is Enuf,” Scott was moved to write a play from the viewpoint of young African American men. Scott believes that this voice needs to be heard because “the voice of the youth is often overlooked.” “Thoughts of a Colored Man on a Day When the Sun Set Too Early” mimics Shange’s title, as well as her writing style, referred to as a choreopoem. The play is monologue based and steps into the minds of young men who compellingly explore the complex realities of love, abuse, rape and growing up without a father. “Thoughts of a Colored Man” incorporates various mediums of art, such as music, film and dance to reach outside the lines of race and gender.

The cast consists of Japp Haynes, Josh Scurry, Sir Jay Stokes, Herb Little, Quino Moreno, J. D. Groomes, Tony Jarrett and Kendall Bradford. Artwork by David Baker, Adrian Boyer, Trayshina Rogers and Francesca Pehr will be highlighted in the PAC lobby during the run of the show.

“Thoughts of a Colored Man” is proudly supported by University Theatre, African American Studies, Black Student Alliance and the National Pan-Hellenic Council. Tickets can be purchased by donation at the door on the day of performances. All proceeds will benefit student scholarships at FSU.

Visual Art

Artists’ Ideas about Life on View

Artwork by Cathy Stephis

Show Opens with a Public Reception Friday, Feb. 6

The public is invited to enjoy work by two artists who use abstraction, color, geometric shapes and lines to articulate their distinct impressions of the world around them in “Paintings and Prints by Cathy Stephis and Chayo de Chevez.” The exhibition is on view Friday, Feb. 6, through Sunday, Feb. 22, in the Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery, with a free, public reception from 7 to 9 p.m. Feb. 6.

Stephis depicts different life forms in a spiritual symphony of spiraling swirls of color. “Forms are in constant transition, shifting in and out of existence,” she writes in her artist statement. “It is through observing redundant shapes among various life objects that I gain a sense of universal connectedness to these forms.”

Chevez creates compositions that reflect a lifetime of living in many cultures over the past 30 years. Combining the grace and exactness of geometry with gestural contours, the imagery in her prints feels futuristic, yet ancient and tribal, not unlike the cultures she has experienced exploring places like Mexico, Australia, Jamaica and India. Her materials also reflect her respect for history infused with modern meaning.

The Stephanie Ann Roper Gallery has free admission and is open to the public Sunday through Wednesday from 1 to 4 p.m. For more information about the exhibition, please contact FSU Department of Visual Arts at x4797.

ACHA-NCHA II Survey to Help FSU Fine-tune Wellness Efforts

Assessment Will Be Sent to Full-time Undergraduates

Attention FSU students: Did you know that trying to win prizes is good for your health? And can even improve your fashion sense?

Take advantage of the chance to win great prizes, such as a $100 FSU Bookstore certificate, an iPod Shuffle and must-have, coveted FSU fashions like “Let’s CHILL” T-shirts and CHILLVILLE hoodies, when FSU’s “Creating Healthy, Informed Lasting Lifestyles” (CHILL) invites all full-time undergraduates to participate in the American College Health Association’s National College Health Assessment Survey II.

The ACHA-NCHA Survey II was organized as part of CHILL, FSU’s wellness initiative established to promote health practices and education among college students and the local community. CHILL is funded by a $228,225 contribution from AstraZeneca Pharmaceuticals LP.

The ACHA-NCHA Survey II, one of many activities offered through CHILL this spring, provides questions about important issues such as physical and mental wellness. Students will be e-mailed instructions on Monday, Feb. 2, for the survey, which must be completed by Sunday, Feb. 22. FSU’s CHILL committee will use data from ACHA-NCHA Survey II to assess how to better serve students’ wellness needs through campus resources.

For more information about CHILL, contact April Baer, project coordinator for University wellness, at x4311 or by e-mailing apbaer@frostburg.edu. To learn more about FSU, visit www.frostburg.edu. For more information about AstraZeneca, visit www.astrazeneca-us.com.

Beginning Chinese Class to Be Offered

Did the 2008 Olympic Games spark your interest in China? Have you ever wished you could speak Mandarin with friends or business contacts from China? Do you have Chinese students in your classes you’d like to connect with in their own language?

Expand your horizons and learn helpful conversational phrases in Mandarin by enrolling in “Beginning Conversational Chinese,” a class that will be offered through FSU’s Activities for Life Program Thursdays, Feb. 5 through April 16, from 7 to 9 p.m. (No class March 19.) Class will be held in Cordts PE Center Room 105. This 10-week course will cover useful, basic phrases that will help you have courteous conversations in Chinese. The class will also offer brief highlights of Chinese culture and history.

Cost for the 10-session, weekly class will be $70 plus the cost of the textbook. At $7 per class, you can’t go wrong!

For more information on the class, please contact FSU Chinese instructor Yanling Fan at yfan@frostburg.edu.

For information and/or a registration form, contact Amy Nazelrod, AFL coordinator, at anazelrod@frostburg.edu. The payment and registration deadline is Monday, Feb. 2. The form and payment should be sent to Nazelrod, PE Center Room 177. A minimum of 15 participants is needed for this class.

Jack Kent Cooke Foundation Accepting Nominations

The Jack Kent Cooke Foundation Graduate Scholarship Program, which is one of the country’s most competitive private scholarship programs, has opened its applications to include graduating seniors and recent alumni from any of the 2,000 accredited colleges or universities in the United States. The scholarship is open to current FSU seniors as well as alumni who have graduated since spring 2004.

The scholarship awards graduate students with as much as $50,000 per year for up to six years. The foundation will award the scholarships in early summer 2008 for the 2008-2009 academic year and will renew each award in subsequent years based on performance. Last year, the foundation awarded 34 of these scholarships.

To receive the scholarship, the candidate must have a cumulative GPA of 3.5 or better, plan to begin a first graduate degree in fall 2009, have unmet financial need and be nominated by his or her undergraduate institution.

The faculty representative for FSU is John McMullen. He can be reached at jmcmullen@frostburg.edu or x3162. The local deadline for submission to the FSU representative is Friday, Feb. 20.

Application materials and information can be found at www.jkcf.org.

FSU Accepting Entries for Environmental Photography Contest

The Environmental Planning and Land Management Institute at FSU invites photographers to submit photographs to its sixth annual Environmental Photography Contest. The institute, a joint venture between FSU’s Department of Geography and the Maryland Bureau of Mines, Maryland Department of the Environment, will begin accepting entries Monday, Jan. 5, and continue receiving them until the deadline at 4 p.m. Friday, April 10.

The competition is open to any amateur photographer over 11 years old who lives, works or attends school in Allegany or Garrett County. Images should depict environmental or natural habitat scenes of either county that reflect the environmental beauty that defines Western Maryland. Photographs should be 8 by 10 inches and matted and can be in black and white or color.

Entry forms may be obtained from the FSU Department of Geography/Bureau of Mines Lab or from the Institute’s Web site at www.frostburg.edu/dept/geog/einstitute. Participants may submit no more than three photographs.

For additional information, call Gale Yutzy at x4369 or MaryLynn Pegg at x4721 or visit the Institute’s Web site at www.frostburg.edu/dept/geog/einstitute. Entries can be delivered to Gunter Hall, Room 201, or Dunkle Hall, Room 307, on the FSU campus.

Points of Pride

FSU Librarian Named President-Elect of SLA Maryland Chapter

Dr. Seán Henry, reference librarian and Web manager for the Lewis J. Ort Library, was recently named to a three-year term as 2009 president-elect of the Maryland Chapter of the Special Libraries Association.

Besides SLA involvement, Henry participates actively in other statewide, campus and local community organizations: He serves on the boards of the Frostburg Museum and the Frostburg Palace Theatre. He joined the FSU faculty in 2004. A native of Spartanburg, S.C., Henry attended Spartanburg Methodist College and holds a Master of Library Science degree from Emporia State University (Kansas), as well as master's and Ph.D. degrees in German from the Universities of Georgia and Kansas, respectively.

FSU Students Build Web Site on Mysteries of Disabilities

FSU psychology students last semester created a Web site designed to serve the needs of those who work most closely with children with disabilities: their parents, families and educators.

Students in Dr. Megan Bradley's Psychology of Exceptional Children course populated the site (<http://faculty.frostburg.edu/mbradley/disabilities/umd.html>) with information about legal rights, resources for families and teachers, inspirational stories and frequently asked questions. The site will be updated regularly, and new resources will be added as they become available.

"The students were very passionate about two areas related to children with disabilities: combating negative stigmas associated with children who had disabilities and also informing parents of their rights under federal law. This site accomplishes both goals," Bradley said.

The site went live at the end of last semester. For more information, contact Bradley at x4194.

Get Involved

LGLG to Produce Climate Action Plan

The Learning Green, Living Green Committee is looking for additional members for spring 2009. Because of FSU's ongoing participation in the President's Climate Commitment, a significant agenda item in spring 2009 will be the development of a Climate Action Plan (due in September 2009). The CAP will identify the steps FSU will take in the coming years to reduce its carbon footprint, and producing a cohesive plan will require collaboration at all levels. FSU students, faculty members, staff and administrators are strongly urged to become involved in this important project.

The LGLG plans to meet twice a month to meet its sustainability objectives. The first meeting of the semester will take place Thursday, Jan. 29, in the President's Board Room from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. After that, all meetings are scheduled for the second and fourth Thursdays of the month.

For information, contact Monika Urbanski at miurbanski@frostburg.edu or lglg@frostburg.edu.

Happy Chinese New Year!

The Chinese New Year day is the first day of the year on the lunar calendar, and it falls on Monday, Jan. 26, this year, the first day of the semester. Because it is the first day of spring semester, it is also called Spring Festival.

To celebrate the most important Chinese festival and promote the awareness of Chinese culture, the Chinese Culture Club will organize several activities on Saturday, Jan. 31, in Compton Science Center Room 226 and the lobby from 7 p.m., including:

- Chinese art craft exhibition auction to raise funds for CCC
- Chinese origami, writing and a presentation to introduce the Chinese New Year and other aspects of Chinese culture
- Performances of Chinese songs, dance and musical instruments by Chinese students, Chinese faculty, other CCC members and the FSU Chamber Choir

All activities are open to the public and free of charge. See you there and happy Chinese New Year!

Be a Part of the GROWS Project

Wondering what you can do to help the environment? Join other students in the FSU Arboretum from 1 to 5 p.m. on Saturdays, March 28, April 4, 11, 18 and 25 and May 2. Join other faculty members by adding these dates to your syllabi as opportunities for students to gain extra credit on exams or quizzes. Be part of the Greening and Restoration for On-campus Watershed Stewardship (GROWS) Project, implementing riparian restoration and creating green spaces to improve water quality, enhance wildlife habitats and reduce the carbon footprint of the FSU campus.

The GROWS Program is the restoration arm of the Learning Green, Living Green Initiative on campus. With your help, this spring GROWS will plant over 2,000 native trees and over 1,000 native plants near the campus entrance and in the Arboretum. The program aims to maximize tree cover and native plant biodiversity by replanting riparian areas of Sand Spring Run disrupted by invasive species. A split-rail fence will protect the wetland home of the rare Jefferson salamander (“Ambystoma jeffersonianum”). Volunteer, learn more about the environment and start really living green. For more information, come to a Student Sierra Coalition meeting, visit the Arboretum Web site at www.frostburg.edu/dept/biol/arboretum or contact Sunshine Brosi at x4213.

Fundraisers

FSU Community Gives to Toys for Happiness

FSU faculty, staff and Tau Kappa Epsilon donated 319 toys and an additional $335 to the local Toys for Happiness drive, an event organized by FSU staff member Karin Tedesco, through the Office of Leadership and Civic Engagement. AmeriCorps member Whitney Young, VISTA member Jeff Sellers and members of the TKE fraternity gathered donations during the annual President’s Holiday Reception at FSU.

Safety Message

Walk Safety – Like a Penguin

The sidewalks at FSU are often icy this time of year (no matter how carefully cleared!). Keep the following safety tips in mind when walking around campus.

- Assume all wet, dark areas on pavements are slippery and icy.
- Avoid shoes with smooth soles and heels. Wear shoes or boots that provide traction on snow and ice, e.g., boots of non-slip rubber or neoprene with grooved soles.
- Be careful getting into and out of your car. Use the vehicle for support.
- Walk in designated walkways as much as possible. Look ahead. You may need to travel along a grassy edge if you’re going uphill on a snow- or ice-covered sidewalk or driveway.
- Point your feet out slightly like a penguin. Spreading your feet out while walking on ice increases your center of gravity.
- Bend slightly and walk flat-footed with your center of gravity directly over the feet.
- Extend your arms out to your sides to maintain balance.
- Keep your hands out of your pockets. You can break your fall with your hands if you slip.
- Watch where you are going and go slowly.
- Take short steps or shuffle.
- Wear a heavy, bulky coat that will cushion your fall.
- Avoid landing on your knees, wrists or spine. Try to fall on a fleshy part of the body, like your side.
- Try to relax your muscles if you fall.
