

TEACHERS ASSOCIATION MEETS

Four Dates Are Chosen For Law School Tests

The Law School Admission Test required of applicants for admission to a number of leading American law schools, will be given at more than 100 centers throughout the United States on the mornings of November 13, 1954, February 19, April 23, and August 6, 1955. During 1953-54 some 8200 applicants took this test, and their scores were sent to over 100 law schools.

A candidate must make separate application for admission to each law school of his choice and should inquire of each whether it wishes him to take the Law School Admission Test and when. Since many law schools select their freshman classes in the spring preceding their entrance, candidates for admission to next year's classes are advised ordinarily to take either the November or the February test, if possible.

The Law School Admission Test, prepared and administered by Educational Testing Service, features objective questions measuring verbal aptitudes and reasoning ability rather than acquired information. It cannot be "crammed" for. Sample questions and information regarding registration for and administration of the test are given in a Bulletin of Information.

Bulletins and applications for the test should be obtained four to six weeks in advance of the desired testing date from Law School Admission Test, Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau St., Princeton, N. J. Completed applications must be received at testing date in order to allow at least ten days before the desired ETS time to complete the necessary testing arrangements for each candidate.

Christian Association Plans New Program

The Student Christian Association has as its aim promotion of religious activities, creating a friendly atmosphere, and sponsoring social functions for and by the students.

Besides regular monthly meetings the Christian Association is responsible for vespers which are held every Sunday evening at 5:30 P.M. As week-end functions, movies, folk dances, and fun-nights are featured. A more serious and spiritual mood is created when the Christian Association presents its Thanksgiving, Christmas and Easter assemblies.

At evening vespers the speaker is introduced by a member of the organization. This is a miniature worship service with scripture, hymns and prayer. A minister from Salisbury is usually the guest speaker but occasionally a student will assume the responsibility.

The business meeting is usually very short, allowing time for a discussion lead by a faculty member or student.

The Christian Association can be successful only if it has the (Continued on Col. 4)

Dr. J. D. Blackwell Honored At Vocational Education Meeting

Thursday, October 14, marked the opening date of the 87th annual convention of the Maryland State Teachers Association at Baltimore. The first general session of the convention was held at 2:00 P. M. on that date and featured an address by John Gunther, lecturer and author, and a concert by the All-Maryland High School Chorus composed of the best voices from many Old Line State schools. At a banquet the evening of the same date, the assembled educators heard Al Capp, the noted cartoonist who created Li'l Abner.

The second general session which met Friday morning was presided over by Miss Sarah L. Leiter, president of the M.S.T.A. Those attending were entertained by the All-Maryland High School Band, and listened to an address by Edwin D. Canham, editor of The Christian Science Monitor. Saturday marked the closing session of the convention. The All-Maryland Orchestra held a recital and the speaker was the outstanding labor leader, Walter Reuther.

Interspersing these main events were many smaller but equally interesting gatherings dealing with such subjects as Higher Education, Junior Colleges, Vocational Education and Teacher Education. Reservations for the dinner meeting of the latter were under the direction of Miss E. Pauline Riall of our campus elementary school. Dr. Blackwell was one of the guests honored at the Vocational Education meeting in recognition of his former service in that field. Dr. Mary L. Francis is president of the college chapter of the M.S.T.A.

Most of the larger functions of the convention were held at the Fifth Regiment Armory located at Howard and Hoffman Streets. Although the Armory is the largest building available in Baltimore for public meetings, the State Teachers Conventions in recent years have taxed its capacity. This year approximately fourteen thousand teachers attended. They occupied rooms at such outstanding hotels as the Southern, the Emerson and the Park Plaza. It had been suggested earlier this year that a system of regional meetings be held in various sections of Maryland due to the large number of delegates, but it was finally decided that the disadvantages of such a plan far outweighed its advantages.

The chief purposes of the convention were to inspire teachers with a sense of the value of their calling, to provide an opportunity for them to absorb stimulating new ideas and to allow them to make new friendships and renew old ones. We expect that all these aims were satisfactorily fulfilled.

Evergreen This Year to Show Improvements

According to the editor and staff of the Evergreen, the yearbook this year is going to be bigger and better than ever. Some of the changes this year will be:

- (1) More space devoted to activities.
- (2) Bigger pictures of seniors.
- (3) More uniform layout of material.
- (4) Greater number of ads.
- (5) More material concerning clubs and organizations.

In addition to these, a supplement to the annual will be sent to each subscriber during the summer which will include all the spring activities which, because of publishers' deadlines, cannot be contained in the bound volumes.

Something new has also been added to the subscription campaign in the way of a contest which is devised in the following manner. For every year book subscription purchased, one penny is deposited in the Evergreen Jackpot. At the end of the subscription campaign, the name of each subscriber will be placed in a fishbowl and one name drawn, this person receiving the money in the Evergreen Jackpot.

Dr. Mitchell Presents Talk for Men Students

The October meeting of the Men's Dorm Association was held Monday evening, October 4, in the social room of the new dorm. Con Dryden, president, opened the meeting with suggestions and discussion of dorm problems.

The guest speaker for the night was Dr. Andrew Mitchell, one of our school's doctors. After being introduced by Miss Helen Jamart, he talked on health and health practices in the dormitory. His talk, supplemented by a questioning period, was educational and very interesting to those who attended the meeting. Dr. Mitchell's friendly manner and frank statements put his audience completely at ease from the start.

A native of the Tennessee hills, he spent three years in the Army Medical Corps, and experienced over-seas duty. After being discharged he studied medicine at the University of Virginia, and took his internship in Tampa, Fla. Two years ago he moved and began general practice.

Dr. Mitchell is married, and has two children. He was active in sports in high school and college, and confesses a love for hunting and archery.

A year ago he was appointed as a doctor for State Teachers College, and still serves in that capacity. Dr. Mitchell's hopes for the future include the formation of a partnership and the building of a new office.

The group adjourned at midnight.

Record Exams Will Be Administered to Grads

The Graduate Record Examinations, required of applicants for admission to a number of graduate schools, will be administered at examination centers throughout the country four times in the coming year, Educational Testing Service has announced. During 1953-54 nearly 9,000 students took the GRE in partial fulfillment of admission requirements of graduate schools which prescribed it.

This fall candidates may take the GRE on Saturday, November 20. In 1955, the dates are January 27, April 30, and July 9. ETS advises each applicant to inquire of the graduate school of his choice which of the examinations he should take and on which dates. Applicants for graduate school fellowships should ordinarily take the designated examinations in the fall administration.

The GRE tests offered in these nationwide programs include a test of general scholastic ability and advanced level tests of achievement in 16 different subject matter fields. According to ETS, candidates are permitted to take the Aptitude Test and/or one of the Advanced Tests.

Application forms and a Bulletin of Information, which provides details of registration and administration as well as sample questions, may be obtained from college advisers or directly from Educational Testing Service, 20 Nassau St., Princeton, N. J., or P. O. Box 27896, Los Angeles 27, Calif. (Continued on Col. 2)

Students Hear Address Given by James duPont

A "Pattern For Success" was the topic of Mr. James Q. duPont of Wilmington, Del., who spoke during the student assembly in STC on Thursday, October 7 at 10:20 A. M. The great-great grandson of the founder of the duPont company talked on the elements which compose the duPont business philosophy and he developed basic points on the business compass which have guided the enterprise since its founding.

Mr. duPont is a native of Johnstown, Pa., and a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He has been associated with the duPont Company since 1940. As an engineer, he has served in several construction capacities in different sections of the country, including the atomic energy products in the University of Chicago, Oak Ridge, Tennessee, and Hanford, Washington. Since 1948 Mr. duPont has gained national recognition as a speaker for the public relations department of the company.

Mr. Harold Anderson introduced the speaker. Mr. Robert Gebhardtshauer, faculty chairman of the assembly committee of the college, was in charge of the program. An invitation to the public was extended by the president of the college, Dr. J. D. Blackwell.

(Cont.) A completed application must reach the ETS office at least 15 days before the date of the administration for which the candidate is applying.

AS THE EDITOR SEES IT

I am glad to see that the procedure for electing the annual Harvest Queen has been altered. In the past there has been an atmosphere of hostility rather than democracy surrounding this activity. The election was turned into a farce rather than an election of the most popular and deserving. I want to personally congratulate the Junior class on taking the initiative and changing the procedure.

No, I am not so happy about the lunch line business. When a person gets into that line he is taking his turn to get food which is the ultimate objective of this line. He is in back of so many people and in front of so many people. He is there because he has energy, intestinal fortitude, and integrity enough to take his turn. He stands because he is in line and expects every one else to do the same. He said nothing to his predecessors who formed the line in front of him. He said nothing to those who formed the line in back of him. But it seems, all late comers are not forming the line in back of him. Does this latecomer know that "all lines form in the rear." Does he know that despite his or her buddy's "big-heartedness" in letting him move in front of them he is disregarding the fact that he is also moving in front of all the individuals to his rear. This is not fair. If a fellow or girl is waiting for a friend, let him take his turn. There is no such thing as holding a place in line. Thank you.

SGA, Led by Rebstock, Sees Busy Year Ahead

The 1954 Student Government Association—composed of all the organization presidents and editors—has accomplished quite a lot in its three meetings. One reason for these accomplishments is the fine attendance at the meetings by its members, your representatives.

For the benefit of the newcomers this fall, the officers of the S.G.A. are: Werner Rebstock, president; Robert Denston, vice-president; Ann Thorne, secretary, and Janice Marshall, treasurer. Twenty-three make up the S.G.A. plus two faculty advisors, Dr. Weaver and Miss Whitney.

At the first meeting the board decided to reject the rules of the previous year's $200 scholarship for distribution of mail. Robert Denston headed a committee which planned a new set of rules and regulations in mail distribution, the money given being no longer termed a scholarship. At the second meeting Grayson Wheatley became the distributor by a majority of votes by secret ballot.

Allocations amounting to $4375 have been allotted to the various organizations in the college. According to the treasurer's last report there is a balance on hand, after the allocations and $100 for distributing mail have been subtracted, of $2125.66.

At the desire of the S.G.A., Delmarva Music Company agreed to place another cigarette machine and two candy machines in the Administration Building.

The S.G.A. Constitution is being brought up to date! Janice Marshall, Con Dryden, Shirley Bowdle, and Mozelle Pardew are on the committee that's digging into S.G.A. minutes of previous years to find amendments, etc., that should be added to the Constitution.

Clubs at STC Reveal Respective Activities

As students of STC, we should be aware of the extra-curricular activities one may find in our school. These clubs and organizations have as their objective the satisfaction of the needs and interests of each student.

Let us look into the future to get a picture of their forthcoming plans. The F.T.A., of which Maurice Bozman is president, plans to send six representatives to the Maryland State Teachers Meeting this month. Joanne Jones is serving as vice-president of the state organization. On October 30, they plan to sponsor a Halloween Masquerade Party in the Snack Bar. These future teachers will work with the Children's Home in helping these children pursue their studies.

The Men's Dorm has been considering occasional parties for the girls on Saturday night. Con Dryden presides as president. The Women's Dorm, of which Shirley Young is president, have as their next objective to sponsor a party and entertainment for the boys preceding our Thanksgiving vacation.

Fred Kille, president of the Photography Club, has announced the possibilities of a Snack Bar show and a Photograph Contest.

The Christian Association, with Mozelle Pardew as president, has no special activities planned with the exception of special speakers engaged for Sunday vespers.

Peggy Ross and the members of the Newman Club are making tentative plans for their annual Christmas Dance before the holidays.

The Evergreen has just begun its campaign drive and is planning a contest designed to increase subscriptions. "Sis" Givans is editor this year.

The Glee Club of which Carolyn Godfrey is president, plans to participate in the Freshman Talent Show Assembly here on October 21.

Spotlighting Students

A Senior whose most intense dislike is that of her own name is in our spotlight for this issue. A native Salisburian, Sylvia ("Sis") Givans has become one of S.T.C.'s outstanding leaders, both academically and socially. Born on June 20, 1933, she attended East Salisbury Elementary School. At Wilcomico High School, Sis had a very important part in the school program. Besides serving on both publications staffs, she was President of the Future Teachers of America, a homeroom officer and a member of the dramatic and debating societies.

After being graduated from Wil-Hi, "Sis" entered S.T.C. as a transfer student. She received her A.A. degree at the end of two years and then decided to stay and become a teacher. Immediately she became a part of many different activities. One of her first honors came in her sophomore year, when she was selected "Most Scholarly Woman." That same year she was secretary of the S.G.A., a recipient of the prized achievement key, and a member of the cast of "Born Yesterday," the Sophanes Players' three-act production. In her junior year "Sis" gave up many of her other activities to concentrate on the annual publication, the "Evergreen", of which she was associate editor. As a senior, "Sis" is now editor of the "Evergreen" and is finding it a task which takes many hours of hard work.

Although these activities have taken up most of her spare time, "Sis" has had an extensive social life, too. Her freshman class selected her as their representative to the May Court. Later, in her junior year, she was a member of the Harvest Queen's court. She becomes enthusiastic if anyone mentions a party and is always ready to take friends for a ride in her "Chevie" convertible. Also among her interests are basketball, journalism, "lams" and a certain Navy lieutenant. She especially dislikes hillbilly music, early classes, the day before the yearbook deadline, and, most of all, her own name!

Concerning practice teaching, "Sis" says, "I love it!" In Mrs. Seabrease's third grade, she has found teaching to involve lots of time and work, but she seems to have all that it takes, plus plenty of patience. In the future she would like to go to Harford County, maybe in Havre de Grace, to teach. When she leaves, "Sis" will certainly be remembered by everyone for her outstanding personality. Good luck, "Sis"!

with this group as they proceed to put on their first play of the year, "Seeds of Suspicion."

With such activities as these to look forward to, we have every right to be proud of the accomplishments of our students.

Student Teachers Get Valuable Experience In Elementary School

Three years have passed and now is the time for the seniors to find out just how little they know about school children. Sometimes it may seem like very little, especially when the pupils ask questions that the teacher can't answer. All of this is a part of teaching and must be accepted with a smile. Let's look at our student teachers of this year and find out about some of their trials and tribulations.

Oliver ("Ace") Rhine is the lone wolf of the class since he doesn't have a teaching partner. Teaching on the campus, the 6th grade, he has found that Verdi can really charm the little tots. Anything you would like to know about this composer just ask Ace, —he seems to be an authority on the subject.

In the campus school, teaching the fifth grade, we find Pat Cahall and Con Dryden. These boys have made quite an impression on their class, especially with the girls! Can you remember having such charming men teachers when you were in elementary school? I can't.

We now journey to Pinehurst where we find "Bunky" Brittingham and Carl Rathgeber teaching the fifth grade. It seems that Carl has some trouble with the window blinds falling down, and poor "Bunk" has to repeat the same lesson about five times before the pupils understand the difference between the sun and the other stars.

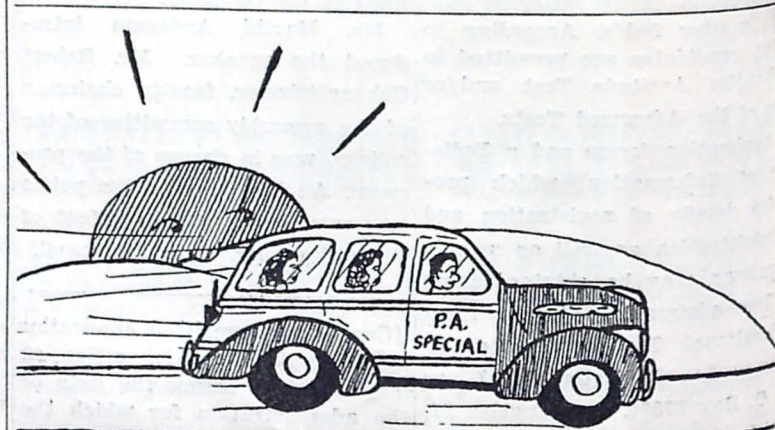

On campus again, we find Francis Johnson and Peggy Richards slaving away over their reading lesson plans for the fourth graders. They also teach music and you ever hear of a boy genius on the violin from Salisbury, more than likely it will be one of their pupils. It seems that the violin that was taken to class one day caused a great deal of hidden talent to emerge.

True believers in modern education are James Hastings and Anne Dickson who both teach the fourth grade at Princess Anne. No stuffy music for James' pupils; they learn the latest dances such as "The Bunny Hop," "The Mexican Hat Dance," and "The records of the day such as "This Old House." James may have a prospective Stan Kenton among his pupils, who knows? Anne Dickson, besides concentrating on teaching reading, uses a jump rope in her gym classes. A Bab Zaharias may be developing with all the new muscles being formed in one of Anne's classes.

Experts on the making of charts, Bonnie Wood and "Sis" Givans may be found teaching the third grade on campus. Every night these student teachers can be found in the girls' dorm drawing lines, measuring letters, and printing experience charts for the next day. If all of those charts are used, just where do the pupils sit in the classroom?

Third grade teachers at North Salisbury are Carolyn Knobel and Shirley Bowdle. They are (Continued on Column 4)

Men's A.A. Announce Its Athletic Program

It is the purpose of the Men's Athletic Association to provide wholesome, interesting activities for everyone. The association has organized a very extensive athletic program for 1954-55. They have set up a council consisting of the persons in charge of the various branches of athletics. The members of this council are: Al Younger, Intramural soccer; Clinton Bradway, Tennis; Bob Hall, Bar Bell and Archery; John Shaheen, Volleyball and Track; Roland Foskey, Golf; Al Moran, Intramural Basketball; Pat Cahall, Boxing; Bill Curtis, Intramural Softball; Grayson Wheatley, Gym Club.

Now for a resume of their activities. The intramural soccer schedule is set up on a round robin tournament basis. The competition will be by classes. Play will be ten minute quarters with five minutes between halves. Games are to be played Monday nights at 4:15 P. M. The first game was played October 4, with the Freshmen edging out the Sophomores 1-0. Both teams played good ball with a high degree of sportsmanship displayed by all. The Freshmen registered their lone tally in the second quarter. The next game was played Monday, Oct. 11, with the Juniors challenging the Seniors.

In tennis the prospect is bright with a fall and spring schedule. An intramural tournament is now in process with much enthusiasm (Continued on Column 2)

STC Enters Volleyball Tournament, Manager Bennett Announces

Activity in girls' sports began last week when volleyball tryouts were held. The team will not be chosen for about two weeks. Between now and then there will be five practices, Manager June Bennett reported.

The dates have not been chosen yet, Miss Whitney announced. As soon as the number of teams in the league is determined these dates will be posted.

The season will begin sometime in November. Last year the STC Women's Volleyball team placed second in the tournament. This year we hope to do even better—first place—no less!

The basketball schedule has still not been worked out. Miss Whitney has contacted about 10 colleges, and only a few have been heard from as yet. It is definite that we will have games with Notre Dame, King's College, and Goldey Beacom.

Keep watching the bulletin boards for announcements on activities.

shown by the tennis fans. Clint Bradway says there is also a strong possibility of introducing intercollegiate tennis at S.T.C. We all hope that this may be accomplished.

This year the Gym Squad will as usual put on an exhibition on Senior's Day of activities on the High Bar, Parallels and Mats. In the past this has always been a big event. But the boys have wanted to do more than this; so this year there is talk of taking the show on the road to the high schools of the Shore that have equipment.

Volleyball is an active sport at S.T.C. Each year, the college team plays in the city league competing with the industrial teams. In the past years they have fared well, giving them all a run for their money so to speak.

We have not had a track team (Continued on Column 3)

College football used to be composed of five or six major clubs, but at the present time there are twenty or twenty-five first-rate teams. Every Saturday one can look for a new name among the top ten in the country. This is precisely what has happened so far this season. Among the top ten only three or four are unbeaten and the most they have played has been three games. Take Number One—Notre Dame by far outplayed their first opponent to make the debut of their newly acquired coach, Terry Brennan, a success, and they in turn were upset by the underrated Boiler-makers from Purdue, who in turn were soundly walloped the following Saturday.

Nor can we ignore our own Terps from up in College Park. Jungle Jim, Coach of '53, Tatum's Terrible Terps romped over their first rivals to show the power of old, but a two week rest resulted in our upset by UCLA in a much talked about "somebody goofed, but who" game. Then in order to hold their number thirteen position, they were supposed to wallop Wake Forest, but again somebody "goofed" by forgetting to tell Wake Forest.

So you see, although some of us are optimistic enough to pick ten top teams, or even fifteen or twenty, there are actually none. The same goes for the All-American Candidates, they are merely candidates and to pick eleven players out of the hundreds of players is not to be done in any true fairness.

To come down to the immediate vicinity, I recommend you go out to one of the local high school games some Friday night. These boys don't play a bad brand of football at all. There seems to be a lot of spirit and a very good atmosphere at these games. I went to one of the aforementioned the other night and was very interested in watching these lads apply themselves in a collegiate manner. These games seem to have good sportsmanship as one of their prime factors as well as conditioning of the boys which I think are the two main points advocating high school football and as long as these are the two main objectives, no one will get hurt. But when rivalry and winning replace them it is time to drop it.

at the college for several years. This has been because of lack of interest on the part of the students. If enough interest is shown the team will be formed and will compete with other colleges in this vicinity.

Golf was initiated into the program two years ago and has proven a source of enjoyment for many.

And so on, down the list of activities. Each of these various fields mentioned will have activities planned as their respective sport comes into season. If you are interested in any or all of the ones mentioned contact the person in charge and follow the "Holly Leaf" for further details. And remember if you can't play; you can cheer. See you at the various intramural games.

Massey, Hall, Shaheen Steelman Star at Kings

In ninety-eight minutes of grueling soccer, the STC Gulls managed to tally twice in the first five minutes overtime to defeat Kings, 2-0.

The Gulls, bedecked in sparkling new uniforms, trotted on the field and took brief warm-up exercises in preparation for what proved to be one of the longest, hardest games in STC history.

Play began with most of the action centering in the middle of the field and the backfield of both teams reciprocating with long kicks. Neither team seemed to be able to penetrate the other's defense. In the second quarter, which proved to be Kings' best quarter, Kings penetrated deep in STC territory many times. On several occasions the ball was in scoring position when seemingly out of nowhere Bob Hall appeared, and stifled their attempts. King's success in this quarter and throughout the regulation game was due to their condition and esprit de corps; they were beating the Gulls to loose balls consistently. Coach Benn Maggs made innumerable substitutions in an attempt to keep his players fresh. This strategy proved to be the winning factor because the Gulls became stronger as the game progressed.

The second half was a battle of goalkeepers, with the ball being in front of the goals most of the time. Lionel Massey played a superb game in the goal making 13 saves and allowing no scores. Many of his plays were difficult and he showed exceptional skill in handling them. As the final gun sounded it found the teams in a nothing-nothing deadlock. After a brief rest the teams resumed play of two five-minute overtime periods. Early in the first, STC penetrated deep into Kings' territory. The first score came with Steelman booting through an assist from John Shaheen. As soon as the ball was kicked off, Salisbury regained possession of it. Wiry John Shaheen dribbled between both fullbacks and drove the ball chest high with his left foot through the goal. The last overtime was played without score.

The game was very well attended due to the fact that it was Kings College Homecoming. Many STC fans were also present. The play became very rough many times with the referees calling numerous penalties, most of which were against Kings. The campus was arrayed with many exhibitions showing the progress and activities of the school. One particularly interesting one was an effigy of an STC soccer player laying in a casket underneath an open tent.

The starting lineup for the Gulls was as follows:
 Massey Goalkeeper
 McCrea Center forward
 Brodes Right wing

Dates have been selected for S.G.A. meetings — the first and third Tuesday each month. Two main topics of conversation in the last meeting were eating "family" style, and one hour after dances. Committees were appointed concerning these matters. Their reports will be voted upon at the next meeting.

Mozelle Pardew and Grayson Wheatley have been added to the committee already set up to decide who from this college is to be represented in "Who's Who." Those now on the committee are: Al Moran, Mozelle Pardew, Grayson Wheatley, Dr. Caruthers, Dr. May, Mr. Gebhardtsbauer, and Donald Collins, as advisor until he is graduated in February.

How many of you know there is a glass panel on the left of Dr. Blackwell's office entrance where minutes of the Student Government Association are kept? If you're interested in what your S.G.A. is doing, read these minutes and, better still, you are welcome to attend the meetings.

poetry girls, having taught language to the pupils. Bill Kniceley must get tired of hearing some of those poems, and poor Shirley has to be careful or she will miss her ride back to school again!

Do you want to know how to play with clay? If you do, just ask Mary Lou Truitt; she is an expert on the subject. While Mary Lou plays with clay, her teaching partner on campus, teaching the second grade, Janice Miles, improves her alto voice by learning songs for the pupils. At least that is probably better than teaching a very stuffy subject.

If you ever think you're very smart, just take a visit to the campus first grade room where Carolyn Godfrey and Shirley Young are teaching. Those little tots really know the questions and answers. Just ask Shirley about her experience with a drawing class pupil and Carolyn about some of her experiences with Nursery Rhymes!

Who's Who Nominees Will Be Named Soon

Nominees for the National Who's Who in American Colleges have not been named. In the last few years there has been some controversy among the students at S.T.C. as to which students actually deserve the honor.

The national committee bases its standards on scholarship and leadership, but the students have pointed out instances where the most active leaders may not have the highest scholastic standing.

A committee consisting of Dr. May, Dr. Caruthers, and Mr. Gebhardtsbauer has been studying the present standards and have been working on a revision. So far the 50 points that were required for scholarship have been cut to 45. The aim of the committee is to get a score card that will fit the standards of the national committee and the student body.

October 16 is the deadline set for the selection of the six people from S.T.C. for Who's Who.

Alice Kellam and Roger Ayers were married August 20. Roger is teaching at Wicomico Junior High. Alice is now a Junior.

There are now six on the squad. They are Bobby Denston, Lou Davis, Barbara Bailey, Doris Burke,
