Smith In Salisbury.

Democrats of Wicomico County Gives the Candidates A Magnificent Greeting.

OPERA HOUSE COULD NOT ACCOMMODATE MORE THAN HALF THE PEOPLE.

Col. John Walter Smith, Democratic Candidate for Governor, and party reached Salisbury early last Saturday morning, and spent the day fraternizing with the people of Wicomico. At 11 after twelve, Hon. E. E. Jackson entertained them and about twenty-five gentlemen of the county at "The Oaks" at luncheon. The Democratic mass meeting which had been previously announced for the day was called to order in Ullman's Opera House, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Mr. Jackson called the meeting to order and named Mr. Thos. Perry to preside. Mr. Perry thanked the audience for their concurrence in the wish of Mr. Jackson, and after a brief address introduced the Hon. John Walter Smith. The applause which greeted Col. Smith was so loud and continued that Col. Smith could not proceed with his speech for some minutes. When at last the people's enthusiasm could be in a measure confined, the speaker began an address which held throughout, his hearers' closest attention, and elicited frequent and hearty applause.

"He said that the Republicans claim that their administration has been so far superior to previous Democratic administrations that they (the Republicans) ought to be given a new lease of power. I must take issue with the Republican claims as to the superiority of their Democratic predecessors. As far as honesty goes, Gov. Lowndes' administration has been no more honestly conducted than that of Brown, Jackson, Lloyd, McLane, Whyte and a long list of Democratic Governors." Referring to the assertion of the Republicans that they are responsible for a number of good laws placed upon the statutes during the past few years, Col. Smith claimed that for the measures passed in 1896 to the Democrats was due as much credit as to the Republicans, as the Senate was Democratic and the House was Republican, and neither could pass laws without the help of the other.

He said that as Senator he had always supported all good measures of interest to the people of the State. He was the Chairman of the Committee on Elections with the Australian ballot law was introduced and passed by a Democratic Legislature. He said the Republicans even claimed the Free Book Bill, but it was needless for him to remind the people here that he introduced and had that measure passed. In 1898, he added, when both Senate and House were Republican, no legislation of a markedly reform character was enacted. The condition of the tobacco warehouses under Republican rule was described, a condition, he said, "which should cause every true Marylander to blush."

"When the Democrats took charge in 1897 the State's net debt was $7,614,413.12 and the State tax was 20 cents on $100. In 1898 the State debt had been reduced to $3,005,253.13 and the State tax to 17 1/2 cents of $100. He charged that the present Republican administration had increased the State debt during the past four years nearly nine thousand dollars. He quoted figures to prove this from Comptroller Goldsborough's last report.

"In spite of the claims of the Republicans and of Governor Lowndes," continued Col. Smith, "there is now being more effort made to inject politics into the public schools than ever before. Gov. Lowndes claims that he is in favor of minority representation on the school boards, while out of 60 appointments made by him 58 have been Republicans. The Democrats still on the school boards are those whose terms have not expired and not those placed there by Governor Lowndes. He has recently been addressing letters to the school teachers throughout the State calling attention to the plank in the Republican platform favoring the purging of politics from the public schools and promising the increase of teachers' salaries. I will

THE B. C. & A. RAILWAY

Reorganization and Election of Directors Under the Pennsylvania Ownership.

The first official meeting of the stockholders of the Baltimore Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway Company since its purchase by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company several weeks ago, was held at the Company's office last Wednesday at noon.

A large party of Pennsylvania R. R. officials attended the meeting, arriving in Salisbury at 11:30 a. m. on a special train consisting of an engine and, Vice-President S. M. Prevost's private car and one coach. The train left Philadelphia at eight o'clock and the same engine and train crew brought it to Salisbury. At the meeting which took place shortly after the arrival of the special train, President John S. Wilson presented his report and after a short session devoted to routine business, the following board of Directors was elected for the ensuing year, the majority of six represent the Pennsylvania R. R. interests. S. M. Prevost, 3rd Vice-President of the Pennsylvania R. R.; John S. Wilson, who has been President of the B. C. & A. Ry. Co., for several years; Robert Dixon, of Easton, Md.; Samuel Rea, Robert K. Cassatt, Samuel Bancroft, Jr., H. F. Kenney, C. A. Clupley, John P. Green and Willard Thompson, of the Pennsylvania Railroad; Judge J. Upshur Dennis and Skipwith Wilmer, of Baltimore, and Ex-Governor Elihu E. Jackson of Salisbury, Md. The retiring board consisted of John E. Searles, John S. Wilson, Elihu E. Jackson, Wilbur F. Jackson, W. B. Miller, Robert E. Dixon, H. P. Scott, Nicholas P. Bond, Winthrop M. Tuttle, Wm. Smith, Skipwith Wilmer and J. Upshur Dennis, whose officials in the management of the property were; John E. Searles, Chairman of the board; John S. Wilson, President; Nicholas P. Bond, Vice President and General Counsel; Winthrop M. Tuttle, Secretary and Treasurer; T. A. Joynes, General Superintendent and Purchasing Agent; W. L. Rostein, Auditor and Cashier; T. Murdoch, General Passenger Agent; J. Sawyer Wilson, General Freight Agent A. J. Benjamin, Superintendent of the Baltimore Division and W. J. Morris, Division Passenger and Freight Agent.

Immediately after the election the board organized by electing S. M. Prevost, President; Willard Thompson, Vice-President and General Manager; W. L. Rostein, Auditor; Nicholas P. Bond, Counsel; A. J. Benjamin, Superintendent of the Railway Division; John C. Sims, Secretary; Robert W. Smith Treasurer and Jas. A. Logan, General Solicitor. The last three named held similar positions with the Pennsylvania Company.

Vice President and General Manager Willard Thompson will have his headquarters in Baltimore, as will also the Auditor, Mr. W. L. Rostein. The organization of the Transportation department under Vice-President and General Manager Thompson is not yet announced. The headquarters of Superintendent A. J. Benjamin, will remain in Salisbury and there will not likely be any changes made in his force, which at present consists of F. Stratton, Master Mechanic; W. U. Polk, Engineer Maintenance of Way; George F. Sharp, Chief Clerk; John Schimmell, Jr., clerk to E. M. of W.; James Hoblitzell and E. W. McBrierty, operators; Miss Nellie Fish, stenographer and Marzie Ullman clerk.

The following gentlemen accompanied the Pennsylvania Railroad officials on the special train and dined in company with them and the local officials, at the Peninsula Hotel, after the meeting was held: George V. Massey, General Attorney of the P. W. & B. R. R.; Manlove Hayes, F. W. Schwartz, John Harding, R. L. Holliday, Superintendent Delaware Division, P. W. & B. R. R.; J. B. Book, Train Master, Delaware Division, P. W. & B. R. R.; H. P. Scott and H. T. Scott, of Wilmington, Del.; N. F. Bond and Judge Upshur Dennis, of Baltimore, and C. A. Clupley and Robert B. Dixon, of Easton, Md. The special train left for Philadelphia at 2:15 p. m.

The retention of Mr. A. J. Benjamin as Superintendent is in line with the Pennsylvania's policy to keep good men at the front. Mr. Benjamin was born in Cecil county, but came to Salisbury when a very young man, and early identified himself with the enterprises and institutions of his adopted home. He has been all his life associated with telegraph, express and railroad work. When the B. C. & A. was built and operated under the name of the Baltimore and Eastern Shore railroad he was chosen superintendent, which office he has filled through all the mutations of the road's career. The absorption of the road by the Pennsylvania gives it a permanent character and insures to its trusted employees positions no less abiding and substantial. Salisbury people will be comforted to learn that Mr. Benjamin and his family, who occupy coveted social position in the community, will continue to reside in the town.

Epworth League Officers.

The Epworth League Convention of Salisbury district elected the following officers for the ensuing year: President, G. T. Alderson of Princess Anne; first vice-president, Rev. T. R. Vandye of Cape Charles; second vice-president Mrs. F. X. Moore of Newark; third vice-president, Rev. C. T. Wyatt of Tangier; fourth vice-president, Miss Maria L. Ellegood of Salisbury; secretary, Rev. G. W. Bounds of Deal's Island; Treasurer, Mr. W. F. Byrd of Crisfield; Superintendent of Junior Work, Mrs. E. H. Nelson of Nanticoke.

Secretary Bonds' report, read to the convention, shows that there are now in the District 46 Senior Chapters, with a membership of 2600, and 22 Junior Chapters, with a membership of 1200, which is an increase in both departments of 600 over the year preceding.

New Church at Snow Hill.

Snow Hill, Md., Oct. 29—The cornerstone of the new Whatcoat Methodist Episcopal Church was laid today with impressive ceremonies. The services were in charge of Presiding Elder Martindale, assisted by the Rev. C. T. Wyatt of Crisfield, the Rev. F. C. MacSorley of Pocomoke City, and the pastor, the Rev. S. M. Morgan. The collection amounted to about $1,800. The morning sermon was preached by Dr. Martindale, the afternoon by Mr. MacSorley and the evening by Mr. Wyatt. The church will be a handsome structure of Pennsylvania granite and occupies one of the most desirable sites in the town. It is expected to be ready for occupancy by March 1st. Col. John Walter Smith and Mr. John P. Moore were large contributors.

Death of Jacob White.

Mr. Jacob White formerly of Salisbury died at his home on Deal's Island Wednesday night, aged 89 years. His wife died several years ago, but two sons and two daughters survive him. The daughters are Mrs. Charles Covington of Baltimore and Mrs. John Dix of the Island. The sons are Oscar D. White of Oxford and Capt. Benjamin T. White of the Peninsula Hotel of this city.

The deceased went to Deal's Island from Salisbury about 36 years ago, and has since resided there.

Isaac W. Sirman Dead.

Isaac W. Sirman, aged 70 years, one of the oldest citizens of Laurel, has died after a short illness. He was a native of Delaware and had lived in Laurel for about 60 years. He was postmaster of the town at one time. Several children survive him. He was a brother-in-law of Hubert A. Roop of Wilmington. The funeral will take place row afternoon. Interment will be made at the Methodist cemetery.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following is a list of the letters remaining in the Salisbury, (Md.) Post Office, Saturday, November 4, 1899:

Mrs. Mary V. White, Mrs. Maggie Walter, Miss Harriet Johnson, Mrs. Maggie Morris, Mr. Sam M. Warrington, Mr. William Smith, Mr. Levin L. Mr. R. J. Morris.

Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.

REPUBLICAN MASS MEETING.

Large Mixed Audiences both Afternoon and Evening.

A forbidding storm threatened the success of the republican mass-meeting advertised to be held in the opera house last Tuesday afternoon and evening, but the inclemency of the weather was unheeded by a large number of the faithful white and colored republicans of this and adjoining counties. When the afternoon meeting was called to order the entire capacity of the opera house had been taken, seats, aisles and galleries being filled, and several hundred people left in the hall, on the stairway and the street unable to secure more favorable accommodation.

Col. Wm. J. Leonard presided. He introduced Governor Lowndes who was tremendously applauded. The governor confined his utterances chiefly to the discussion of his administration and State issues.

Hon. John V. L. Findlay, candidate for Attorney General, followed Gov. Lowndes. He made an able, and from the republican point of view, admirable speech, in which he set forth the virtues of his party and the vices of democracy. He urged the people to stand by Governor Lowndes and his administration, and closed by predicting republican success at the polls next Tuesday.

The afternoon meeting was brought to a close with an amusing exhibition of minstrelsy by Thos. A. Parran, a perennial republican office-holder of Calvert.

Mr. A. J. Benjamin presided at the evening meeting which came to order at eight o'clock. Hon. Phillips Lee Goldsborough, comptroller of the State and candidate for reelection to that important and honorable office, made a strong presentation of his case, and earnestly pleaded the righteousness of the Republican cause. He was followed by Senator McComas who treated his subject in a scholarly manner.

Then Mr. Parran entertained the audience again with a succession of mirth provoking nonsensities which were meant to ridicule the democrats but which contained no harm for anything and a good deal of fun.

All the speakers referred to the local candidate for Senate, Hon. Wm. H. Jackson, in the strongest terms of commendation and each reference was followed by deafening applause from the audience.

The Salisbury Cornet band furnished music for both occasions. The stage was beautifully decorated with roses, chrysanthemums and potted plants and bunting and flags added to the general effect. On the stage besides the speakers were the local candidates including Mr. Wm. H. Jackson. Others on the stage were Walter B. Miller, Wm. P. Jackson, Tax Commissioner Robt P. Graham, Dr. S. A. Graham, Mr. Thos. H. William and Col. Wilbur Flak Jackson.

Many of the audience were from Worcester and Somerset counties.

An Important Difference.

To make it apparent to thousands, who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleaning, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a coactive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. THAT BOY OF YOURS like the illustrious Patrick Henry—would as soon be dead as to be robbed of his liberty.

He must have liberty no matter how high it comes—to you.

And in the exercise of that liberty he is bound to wear out a pair of shoes every—well, let's say, every once in a while. No matter how good the shoes, they will wear out—often, too.

There is only one thing to do. Buy the best shoes you can get, pay a fair price for them, thus making sure of the quality, and then—let the boy do the rest.

We believe we have a better stock of boys' shoes than any other store in town. We believe we own them chiefly as anyone can, and we are willing to part with them at a small profit.

Bring on the boys.

not say that this is a form of attempted bribery, but it is certainly an insult to the intelligence of the teachers to whom the letters are addressed. [Great applause.]

If I am elected I will strive to secure for the people just tax laws and economy in the disbursing of the State's money. I promise to give the people the very best administration possible. [Applause.] I believe in keeping politics out of the school system of the State, and I favor minority representation on the school boards. I am in favor of taking the police of the city of Baltimore out of politics, on the lines laid down in my letter of acceptance.

Colonel Smith urged his hearers to support the whole State ticket, paying high tribute to the worth and capacity of Dr. Hering and Mr. Rayner, candidates for Comptroller and Attorney-General, respectively. He also asked the vote of every Democrat in Wicomico county for the local ticket.

Col. Smith was followed by Dr. Joshua W. Herring, the candidate for Comptroller. Dr. Herring is from Western Maryland and is a pleasing looking, white haired gentleman of middle age who has made the most favorable impression upon the people of the Eastern Shore. He said in his speech:

"We are battling in this contest for good government for our State and for the restoration to power of the Democratic party, which has fashioned the glorious history of our good old Commonwealth. [Great applause.] "We find the Democrats all along the line aroused to the importance of the present campaign and determined that the Republican party shall not have a new lease of power in Maryland.

"The very logic of the situation gives the control of the State to the Democratic party, and the result of the coming election will show that we have recovered that to which we are justly entitled. Baltimore city has been redeemed by the election of that splendid Democrat, Thomas G. Hayes, to its highest office, and Maryland awaits but a few days for its redemption in the election of our illustrious standard bearer, John Walter Smith. [Cheers.]

Hon. James E. Ellegood, presided at the evening meeting which convened at 8 o'clock and which was graced by the presence of a large contingent of Salisbury's fair ladies. The first speaker introduced was Mr. Alonzo Miles, of Baltimore, who made a most effective address. He said that the efforts of the Republican party to claim the credit for the passage of the beneficial legislation in 1896 were ridiculous. The assessment law was introduced by Dr. Hering, the present Democratic candidate for comptroller, and but for the persistent efforts of the Democratic Senators that measure would have been defeated by the Republicans. After its introduction the bill was referred to a committee composed of three Republicans and two Democrats, and was reported unfavorably. On Dr. Hering's motion the bill was substituted for the unfavorable report and passed by the majority. The election law was voted for by every Democratic Senator, including Senators Smith and Hering, as was every reform measure introduced at that session. Much of the important legislation passed at the session of 1898 was done so after violent opposition on the part of the Republican House. In 1898, when the Republicans controlled both Senate and House, they accomplished nothing in the way of reform legislation.

"I was one of the Democratic members of the House in 1898. We waited a whole week for the Republicans to organize the House, and they were unable to do so, notwithstanding they had a majority of the Delegates. The entire Democratic vote was cast for Mr. Lloyd Wilkinson [applause] until it became apparent that the Republicans, because of factional differences and political jealousies, were powerless to effect organization and that legislation would be blocked and the public business neglected, if the Democratic members did not have their caucus nominee and vote for a Republican. While they believe that there were more available and capable men among the Democrats for Speaker than Mr. Schaefer, they were unable to elect them, and therefore with the best lights they had then to guide them, they united with the Baltimore city delegation, which was supposed to represent the intelligence of the Republican party in the State—if it had any—and vote for Mr. Schaefer. Mr. Schaefer's record was not highly commendable and the Democrats had no reason to expect that it would be, but did the best they could, under the circumstances, with the Republican material they were compelled to select from. Whatever may have been Mr. Schaefer's record, it was fully endorsed by Governor Lowndes, who appointed him to the responsible position of Fire Marshall of Baltimore city and afterward refused to commission him because he would not support the Governor's effort to turn Mr. Hedding and Mr. Johnson out of the Board of Police Commissioners of Baltimore. [Applause.]

Mr. Miles paid his respects to Gov. Lowndes and showed that his acts are at variance with his great promises as a reformer. While parading as an advocate of non-partisan school boards Gov. Lowndes has Republicanized every school board in the brief space of three years, and but 24 Democrats now remain on the boards in this state. He has only appointed one Democratic member.

In the light of the facts, as I have learned them, I am constrained to say that the claims and pretensions of Gov. Lowndes, as stated in his letter of acceptance, are not founded upon truth, and that his methods of campaigning are inconsistent with his professions as a great reformer, and unbecoming the dignity of a Governor of a great State.

Mr. Miles criticised the visit of Governor Lowndes and Comptroller Goldsborough to one of the public schools in Dorchester county while the school was in session and the making of a speech. "This was clearly intended to promote his political interests," declared Mr. Miles, "and this he did to keep the schools out of politics." [Laughter and applause.]

"I believe that every county east of the Chesapeake will be found in the Democratic column this year. Southern Maryland, where I have addressed some meetings—the old Mud machine, which has been pursuing its nefarious business down there—is out of gear, and you may look for large Democratic gains, while in Western Maryland the people have quite enough of the 'Allegany ring,' which has become so corrupt that Senator Wellington has had to withdraw from it. [Laughter and applause.]

Mr. Ferdinand Williams followed Mr. Miles and made a very witty attack upon the "Allegany ring" of which he considered Gov. Lowndes a part. His speech was eagerly received and heartily applauded. A short speech from Dr. Hering concluded the meeting. All the speakers paid warm tributes to Gov. Jackson and the audience responded with applause.

The Salisbury Cornet band supplied music. The stage was touched up with flowers and flags. A portrait of Col. Smith was a part of the decorations.

There were on the stage at each meeting many of the most prominent Democrats of the county, including business and professional men and farmers.

The meetings were among the largest and most enthusiastic ever witnessed in the county.

Glorious News

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poison, helps digestion and is up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by L. D. Collier, Druggist. Guaranteed.

Wyatt, the murder of Capt. Caulk, is anxious to have his trial come off as soon as possible. He says he will employ no counsel, and requests that his friends and relatives shall not attend his trial. He says he is satisfied with prison fare, and thanked the Annapolis jail officials for their kind treatment.

For Over Fifty Years

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures all wind colic, and is the best remedy for Diarrhoea. Twenty cents a bottle.

The piling for the bathhouse, one of the most important improvements at the Naval academy, has been started. It will extend several hundred feet into the Severn river. The piling for the armory has been completed.

Repairs are being pushed for the reconstruction of operations at historic Catton furnace. Seventy-five men are now at work on the big property, and 100 more will be added to the force this week.

Constant worry over the terrible crime of his son, who murdered Capt. Caulk, has made Walter R. Wyatt, of St. Michaels, seriously ill. He is confined to his bed under the care of physicians.

Does it Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and cold, is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles. "Boschee's German Syrup." It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. Sample bottles at White & Leonard and L. D. Collier, Salisbury, Md., also Delmar Union Store, Delmar, Del.

"Well I can't help it," was all Sam Johnson would say when informed that the governor had named the day for his execution. He still claims that he is innocent, but otherwise refuses to discuss his case. The "death watch" is now on duty. Johnson will be hanged by sheriff Seibert's successor, who will assume the office before the date fixed for the hanging—Dec. 12.

The death of Albert Curtin, of Croom, near Marlboro, Saturday, was the fourth death in the family from typhoid fever within a month. Two of his children died first, followed in a few days by his aged mother, Mrs. Eliza Curtin. The bereaved wife and mother is slowly recovering from the same disease in a Washington hospital.

Used by British Soldiers in Africa.

Capt. C. G. Dennison is well known all over Africa as commander of the forces that captured the famous rebel Ghalibe. Under date of November 4, 1897, from Vryburg, Bechuanaland, he writes: "Before starting on the last campaign I bought a quantity of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used myself when troubled with bowel complaint, and had given to my men, and in every case it proved most beneficial." Seven stores in one is what you find here. Seven stores, each with its expense of rent, service, advertising, heat, light, etc., would incur double or triple the cost, that seven stores under one roof means here. This saving is not added to our profits, but goes to you, our customers. And the convenience for buying every apparel needed for men and boys, the best shoes, the best hats, underwear furnishings suits, and overcoats, without going a step out of your way is worth car fare, time and a direct saving to you.

There is no other complete and exclusive men's and boys' store in Baltimore. There can't be, for no store would sell such good clothing as we do, at anywhere near our prices. It's taken forty years to bring our store to its present perfection; it'd take ten years at least to make any other store as prominent as ours.

Bits Of Maryland News.

A Chestertown horse knocked over several beehives and was stung to death.

Sunday's rain checked the forest fires in vicinity of White Rock, Frederick county.

A hop in the armory Saturday night opened the social season at the Naval academy.

The cabbage crop is said to have been greatly injured by overgrowth. Planted too early.

Educate Your Bowels With Cascarets. Candy Cathartic, cure constipation forever. 10c, 25c. If C. C. C. fail, druggists refund money.

An epidemic of typhoid fever is reported at Crelin and vicinity near Oaklawn. Nearly a score of cases.

The bronze plates containing the battle scenes on the Maryland monument at Antietam are being put into place.

Nearly every one needs a good spring medicine, and Hood's Sarsaparilla is by all odds the best that money can buy.

Mangansville's fat boy, Harvey Reiff, now pulls down 445 pounds, and has the comfortable girth measure of 68 inches.

A pension of $10 a month was granted Otho Norris, of Cumberland. He died the day before the notice reached his family.

A reward of $500 has been offered for Newton J. Doman, suspected of being guilty of the murder, near Magnolia, W. Va.

Oystermen in Talbot county are expressing the belief that there is need of a stricter observance of a good oyster-culling law.

Dr. W. S. Schley, son of Rear-admiral Schley, is visiting friends at Annapolis. He will shortly begin the practice of medicine in New York city.

Two men who were arrested at Frederick for holding up men, without money, on the public highway, have been fully identified by their victims.

Government inspectors accepted projectiles made by Cumberland Steel Co., and placed another order for 100 13 inch and 100 18-inch projectiles.

Sheron Conker and Charles Ritter, two boys, were attacked by an eagle while on South Mountain gathering chestnuts and seriously injured.

Sunday's heavy rains practically extinguished the forest fires that have been raging in Washington, Frederick and Allegany counties.

Merchant W. A. Hilleary, of South Cumberland, had checks to burn. By mistake he "fired" $294 worth of B. & O. checks that he had cashed.

Cumberland is putting on airs. Calls herself a "miniature Pittsburg" since she has been wallowing in the dense smoke from forest fires.

A valuable 3-year-old mare, belonging to T. W. Waters, Brooksville, Montgomery, bled to death from a cut in the neck, inflicted by some unknown scoundrel.

T. F. Antaony, Ex-Postmaster of Promise City, Iowa, says: "I bought one bottle of 'Mystic Cure' for Rheumatism, and two doses of it did me more good than any medicine I ever took. Sold by R. K. Truitt & Sons, Salisbury Md."

The large barn at Deer Park of ex-Senator Davis, of West Virginia, was destroyed by fire. Over 50 tons of hay and a large quantity of grain were in the barn.

Firebugs are thought to be responsible for the destruction of the barn, carriagehouse and cornhouse of Frank M. Draper, near Centerville. Loss, $2,000; insurance, $1,800.

An enormous swain of Eunkstown says that a miss is as good as a mile of misters. He evidently thinks that a miss is never amiss, but may change his mind after he has misters.

The campaign in Allegany county is so hot that the country is full of smoke, says the Cumberland Times. There also seems to be some fire out that way, as well as elsewhere in Maryland.

The Friendship Methodist church, at Halfway, has been incorporated. It was built in 1874 but never incorporated. The new trustees contemplate extensive improvements in the near future.

Joseph Addison Skinner, a justice of the peace for over 50 years, sergeant-at-arms of the house of delegates at Annapolis during the civil war, and former collector of internal revenue for his district, died at his home in Hagerstown aged 88 years.

Hazing has not been totally abolished at the Naval academy. The "sport" still quietly flourishes in spite of iron-clad rules, and some plebs are even required to write essays of not less than 1,900 words, or more than 1,700 words, on "The Thingness of the Is."

Because Brice Walker, Cumberland, refused to make him a present of a pint of whiskey, a stranger from McKeesport, Pa., cut him severely about the head and face with a knife. The assailant escaped after receiving a heavy blow on the head from a piece of hose in the hands of Mr. Walker.

It will not be a surprise to any who are at all familiar with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, to know that people everywhere take pleasure in relating their experience in the use of that splendid medicine and in telling of the benefit they have received from it, of bad colds it has cured, of threatened attacks of pneumonia it has averted and of the children it has saved from attacks of croup and whooping cough. It is a grand, good medicine for sale by R. K. Truitt & Sons.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and too, by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus writes W. C. Hamnick & Co., of Shelbe, N. C. Trial bottles free at L. D. Collier's Drug Store. Regular size 50c and $1.00. Every bottle guaranteed.

The tearing down of the house occupied for many years by the late Dr. Richard Scott, of Marlboro, removes one of the historic landmarks of that place. During the early years of the civil war the house was the frequent meeting place of John H. Boyle, Watt Bowie and John Wilkes Booth. No one knows when it was built, but the tombstones of former occupants date as far back as 1800. The new rectory of Trinity church will be built on the site.

Whisky Medicines.

The temperance press is emphasizing the danger to the home in the use of "medicines" which are loaded with whisky or alcohol. In this respect, as well as in the remarkable character of their cures, Dr. Pierce's medicines differ from other preparations. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and "Favor's Prescription" contains no alcohol, whisky or other intoxicant, and are equally free from opium, cocaine and other narcotics. Every family should have a copy of the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, sent absolutely free, on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the book in paper covers, or 31 stamps for cloth binding. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

A petition to congress is being circulated in Maryland asking that body to prevent the secretary of war from using the military prohibit the landing in Cuba of a cable line to compete with the Western Union which now claims the sole right for a Cuban cable by virtue of an alleged grant from Spain. The paper received numerous signers at Hagerstown.

Announcement.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in applying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Cream Balm in liquid form, which will be known as Ely's Liquid Cream Balm. Price including the spraying tube is 75 cents, Druggist or by mail. The liquid form embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Balm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren St. N. Y.

Samuel Roop, of Carroll county, attended the funeral at Morristown, N. J., of his nephew, Thurlow Washburn, a young mining engineer, who lost his life in the blizzard that swept over Colorado last week.

The Appetite of a Goat.

Is envied by all poor dyspeptics whose Stomach and Liver are out of order. All such should know that Dr. King's New Life Pills, the wonderful Stomach and Liver Remedy, gives a splendid appetite, sound digestion and a regular bodily habit that insures perfect health and great energy. Only 25c. at L. D. Collier's drug store.

After ransacking the house of Mrs. Norman B. Snyder, Hagerstown, burglars treated themselves to a generous spread of all the good things they could find. They secured nearly $30 in money but refused silver.

Beauty Is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Begin to-day to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascarets,—beauty for ten cents. All druggists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

Wyatt, the murderer of Capt. Caulk now confined in the Annapolis jail awaiting trial, has not yet secured counsel. Says there is plenty of time, and he hasn't even considered the matter yet.

He Fooled the Surgeons.

All doctors told Renick Hamilton, of West Jefferson, O., after suffering 18 months from Rectal Fistula, he would die unless a costly operation was performed; but he cured himself with five boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, the surest Pile cure on Earth, and the best Salve in the World. 25 cents a box. Sold by L. D. Collier, Druggist.

The 10th annual convention of the Eastern District Epworth League chapters closed at Chestertown with election of officers. It has 2,534 members, and will meet next year at Centerville.

Don't Tobacco Spit and Smoke Your Life Away. To quit tobacco easily and forever, be magnetic, full of life, nerve and vigor, take No-To-Bac, the wonder-worker, that makes weak men strong. All druggists, 50c or $1. Cure guaranteed. Booklet and sample free. Address Sterling Remedy Co., Chicago or New York.

Relief in Six Hours.

A CAMPAIGN CLOSING.

Since the last issue of the ADVERTISER the State candidates of both the democratic and the republican party have been into the county and have been heard by the people at the opera house in Salisbury. Both parties held afternoon and evening meetings and at each there were more people than seats to accommodate them. The meetings of the democrats last Saturday were attended by almost the entire democratic voting population of the county. A more representative gathering of Wicomico democrats has rarely been seen than those especially who filled the opera house Saturday afternoon.

Before another issue of this journal the election will have passed into history and our next duty to the public will be to announce the result of that election. The people have heard the case and now they will deliver the verdict. Wicomico is democratic by national inclination. Have Col. Smith, Mr. Rayner and Dr. Hering said anything or omitted to say anything that will justify democrats of this county, or in any other part of the state in casting their suffrages against them? Have Gov. Lowndes, Mr. Findlay and Mr. Goldsborough presented such an array of argument and fact as to win to them the support of true advocates of an economical administration of good government? Do they possess as individuals any merit which is not matched in the personalities of Col. Smith, Mr. Rayner and Dr. Hering? It is a waste of time to inquire as to the respective merits of the policies of the two parties. Partisan republicans are almost obliged to admit the superiority of democratic principles. Where then is the wisdom, or the excuse, for Wicomico democrats and independent voters to turn from the democratic standard at this important crisis?

The question is doubtless idle, for it can hardly be possible that such possessing the valuable right to cast a ballot, will exercise that right to cripple their own best interests and the welfare of the State.

Col. Smith has made a magnificent campaign in every part of the State. Likewise have his running mates, Messrs. Rayner and Hering. The latter, who was not so widely known as his associates on the ticket, has made warm friends every where he has gone. The Democratic speakers have confined themselves to the discussion of State issues, and avoided unkind personalities and mud-slinging. They have clearly and with force presented the claims of the Democratic party to the right to restoration to power. They have succeeded in re-uniting the elements of the party, and guaranteed their election next Tuesday.

Then let every Democrat in Wicomico stand by his party and help in the good work of placing the State back into the hands of its natural custodians. Bear in mind the ringing utterance of Hon. William Pinkney Whyte a few nights ago, that, "John Walter Smith is sound on every political question. His course for ten years in the Maryland Senate entitles him to your suffrage."

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Smith came down here from Philadelphia to attend the marriage of Mrs. Smith's sister, Miss Nettie Mills to Mr. Harold Fitch, Wednesday, November 1.

Mr. Wm. T. Hearn of Salisbury is in town assisting Mr. W. S. Marvel in his cabinet shop business.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Restine and Dr. and Ms. Ellegood entertained a number of their friends Sunday. Those who were there were Mrs. James Dougherty of Camden, N. J., W. A. Haas of Pittsburg, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Leary of Morristown, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Matthews of Pottsville, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Reilly of Philadelphia, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Springer of Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. M. M. Shaw of West Chester, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. Lerry of Germantown, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Wyman of Morse, Pa. All of whom are members of the "Golden Gate Club" of Philadelphia. Mr. and Mrs. Restine gave a very elegant dinner in their honor Sunday.

The new Moller pipe organ which has just been placed in the M. E. Church was tested Thursday by Prof. Maris of Wilmington and is decided to be a first class instrument.

Miss Maude Hayman gave a very enjoyable Halloween party Tuesday evening. Among those who participated were Misses Alice Hastings, Lizzie Culver, Gertrude Hearn, Agnes Marvel, Clara Culver, Hettie Renninger, Maude Melson, Ella Hill, Ethel and Mabelle Hayman, Messrs. Wm. Hearn of Salisbury, Wm. Ellis of Wilmington, George Russell, Wm. Cannon, Herbert Sipple, Allie Melson, Samuel Culver and Harry German. Music both vocal and instrumental was rendered by Miss Hastings and Miss Renninger on the piano, Mr. Cannon on the violin and mandolin, and Mr. Sipple on the banjo. The evening was spent in playing social games and trying numerous Halloween tricks. The company was also favored with the "Cake Walk." Refreshments were served at 10 o'clock and at 11.30 all started for their home having spent a most delightful evening.

SHARPTOWN, MD.

Wm. Jas. F. Anderson and wife of Massachusetts have been the guests of A. W. Robinson and W. H. Knowles, this week. Mr. Anderson is a large tack manufacturer and is an up-to-date business man. He has made several visits here and our people appreciate his coming. He is a jolly fellow and his conversational abilities enable him to render himself not only agreeable but highly entertaining.

S. J. Cooper and daughter, Miss Lena, and his sister, Mrs. Victoria Phillips, are in Philadelphia this week.

Edmund Phillips purchased this week of John H. Bennett a fine building lot corner of Railway and Church streets, opposite the M. P. Church. He will erect a residence on it soon.

Joseph Moore of Delmar is erecting a very fine residence on German street.

A. W. Robinson & Co have started up their new berry crate and basket factory. The new machinery works like a charm. A full force will be put on in a few days and their output greatly increased above its former capacity. The firm have made a new department and will manufacture on a larger scale, the wire staple butter dish. Their machinery will be in operation here in a few days. This means much more to our town's prosperity. They have also purchased an immense tract of timber land in the south much of which will be brought here. This is a useful and progressive firm.

James Robinson and wife have returned from Cambridge where they have been visiting Thomas Drennen and family.

M. V. Brewington of the News was in town this week circulating among his friends. He made a good impression upon the people with his courtesy and generosity. He was the guest of A. W. Robinson while here.

Mrs. A. C. Bradey has opened a new millinery in J. W. Phillips store room.

Mrs. M. A. Graver had her fall opening last week. She made a fine display and has larger stock.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well.

—Rev. D. M. Lennox will preach in the Division Street Baptist church next Sabbath morning and evening.

—The Prohibitionists held a meeting in the opera house last Thursday night. Music added to the interest of the occasion.

—Rev. D. S. Toy will preach both afternoon and evening Sunday Nov. 5 at Branch Hill baptist church near Mardela Springs.

Messrs B. L. Gillis & Sons have repainted their store front, and the effect is very pleasing. Black and silver are the combinations.

—Mr. S. Ker Slemons, the efficient and obliging purser on the steamer Cambridge, called at the Advertiser office last Monday. He was about finishing up his vacation, and has since returned to his duties.

—Mr. Rufus Lowe of Berlin and Miss Louisa Nichols were married last Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's brother, Mr. Geo. W. Nichols, near Delmar, by Rev. W. W. Sharp. After the ceremony the couple were driven to Salisbury, where they took the 9.40 train for Berlin their future home.

—Mr. George Heath of Jesterville, Tyaskin district, presented this office with three plants of excellent raspberries last Saturday. Mr. Heath grew them in his truck garden from plants that bore a full crop last summer, those presented to the Advertiser being a second growth. They were of the "Queen of the Market" variety.

—The nor'easter this week was rather severe along the coast, and in the bay, but so far as has been heard, no serious damages was done to shipping. It brought considerable rain and terminated a drought on the peninsula. Tides were high in the rivers. At Salisbury Wednesday the river was as high as it is usually seen.

—Mr. Arthur Disharoon died Sunday morning at the home of his brother in California, aged 73 years. Mr. Disharoon spent most of his life as a sea-faring man, and was on several occasions shipwrecked on the coast. He used to relate some thrilling experiences of his life on the water. Mr. Disharoon was well known here. His remains were interred in Parsons Cemetery Monday. —Wicomico News.

A CAMPAIGN POEM.

Leaders of Republican party,
Please listen to what I say;
That on the Seventh of November,
We hope to win the day.
There will be a hot contest,
And every nerve expanded,
To dodge around the ballot law,
And work it double handed.
I sincerely beg your pardon,
I did not mean to say,
That the parties of our nation,
Would buy votes on election day.
But the parties might get worried,
And quarrel themselves so raw,
That on the day of election
They would forget the law.
The ballot law is a mighty one,
It gives the right to man;
The right to cast his ballot,
And vote for his favorite man.
Then rally, boys rally,
With minds firm and stiff,
To help the most worthy,
Col. John Walter Smith.
Vote a Democratic ticket,
If you would be wise,
And come out on election day
And help to win the prize.

Delmar, Del.

A Splendid Attraction.

Byrons Spaun's Comedians will appear at Ulman's Grand Opera House for one night only, Monday, November 6. They come highly recommended and go so far as to deposit one hundred dollars in cash with Mr. Lacy Thoroughgood that their attention is all right. This money will be on exhibition in Mr. Thoroughgood's window all day Monday and at night Mr. Thoroughgood will be present with positive instructions from Mr. Spaun to refund the money to any one who is dissatisfied in the least. Could any thing be more fair. The company numbers fifteen people and they are all finished artists in their line. One great feature is the acetylene gas plant they carry, the new light which is far ahead of electricity. In commenting on the performance the Norfolk Landmark, of Oct. 6th, says: "Remarkably clean and amusing performance." Turn out and enjoy a rare the vanderbilt line.

FITCH—MILLS.

Interesting Home Wedding Wednesday Evening at the residence of Mr. E. G. Mills.

Miss Nettie Clyde Mills, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward G. Mills, was united in marriage at half after eight o'clock last Wednesday evening to Mr. Harold N. Fitch of this city. The ceremony was impressively performed by Rev. Dr. Charles W. Prettyman, pastor of Asbury Methodist Episcopal church in the parlor of the Mills residence, near Delmar.

The house was effectively festooned with evergreens and chrysanthemums and an altar had been improvised beneath a floral bell, suspended from the wall in one angle of the room in which the ceremony was performed. Dr. Prettyman stood behind the altar, facing the bridal couple and pronounced them man and wife. After the ceremony the assembled guests approached the bride and groom, who faced about and stood standing beneath the floral bell, and extended congratulations. Miss Clara Walton of Salisbury played the wedding march from Lohengrin. The bride wore a gown of gray venetian cloth, with white taffeta silk waist. She carried a bouquet of Bride roses and asparagus ferns.

Later in the evening salads and ices were served in the dining room, the bride and groom sitting at a small table to the left of the long one in the centre of the floor. In the library a pretty collection of bridal presents was displayed.

At midnight the bridal party drove to Salisbury and Mr. and Mrs. Fitch started on the 12.48 train for a short visit to Philadelphia. On their return to Salisbury next week they will take rooms at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Woodcock on Main street.

Among the guests present at the marriage ceremony were Dr. and Mrs. Prettyman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Williams, Miss Bessie Ellegood, Miss Bertha Sheppard, Miss Marian Veasey, Miss Alice Wood, Miss Mildred Daugherty, Miss Victoria Walles, the Misses Davis, Miss Clara Walton, Miss Roberts, Mr. Wm. T. Johnson, Mr. F. Leonard Walles, Mr. A. D. Toadvine, Mr. Herbert Wilder, Mr. Walter C. Humphreys, Mr. Wm. M. Cooper, Mr. Elzey, of Salisbury; Mr. and Mrs. J. G. W. Perdue, Miss Barker and Mr. Barker, Miss Culver of Delmar, and Mr. and Mrs. W. Walter Smith of Philadelphia.

Nutters Heard From.

Said Uncle Hiram, from Nutters, as he and his wife, old Aunt Matilda, stood in front of the Farmers and Merchants Bank last Saturday, and looked in on the scene of activity, that puts me in mind of what I was agoing to think of. I just made up my mind this morning about our son Tommy. I did want him to go to college and study somethin like lawyerin', er doctorin', er electricityin', er insurancein', er dentisin', but this mornin' I made up my mind I'd put Tommy er bankin'. That's the place tew make money fer a rainy day. Here's the place fer me. They're making money so fast they can't hardly count it. Tommy's agoin' a bankin' if I have to mortgage my hennery and a hogger to start him. Nothin' to do but jest count money, and Uncle Hiram and Aunt Matilda wandered on up Main Street. Nothing to do but count money, that's the way it looks to a man when he sees a banker at work, and it looks as if Lacy Thoroughgood has nothing to do but sell clothes and hats when you come to his store, but Thoroughgood has more than that to do. There's the buying of them—the buying of the right kinds—the looking and searching for the kinds that will wear. Thoroughgood's Clothing and Hats are bought with ready cash after a great deal of thought. Very few make clothing and hats to suit Thoroughgood's Ideas—They've got to be right and right they've got to be, before they ever enter Thoroughgood's store. Nothin to do but count money—nothing to do but sell clothing and hats. It looked that way last Saturday I must acknowledge. Why? Because Thoroughgood's customers find things just as they are represented to be, and they know their money has a string to it if any purchase fails to satisfy. Try Thoroughgood's store and be convinced.

An Apology.

Miss Elizabeth Lamparter, our fashionable trimmer, wishes to apologize to those who were disappointed in not getting their Hats last week. The unprecedented rush in our Millinery Department caused us to disappoint customers, but in order that this shall not occur again, we have greatly increased our working force, and promise more prompt delivery in the future.

It is a source of great satisfaction for to know that our efforts to give the ladies the finest and most stylish creations in the Millinery line have been appreciated to an extent hitherto unknown to our business career. And we cannot refrain from expressing our thanks for the very liberal support of the public. We promise always the BEST, at reasonable prices.

We have just received a large invoice of Millinery goods, direct from the importers, embracing the most stylish novelties. We are in a position to meet your demands promptly and satisfactorily. A call will convince you of this

A HEAVENLY GUARD.

DR. TALMAGE ON THE MISSION OF THE ANGELS.

They Have Much to Do With the Everyday Affairs of Life, Says the Distinguished Preacher—A Guardian Angel For Every One.

(Copyright, Louis Klopsch, 1898.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The brilliant beings supposed by some to be imaginary are by Dr. Talmage in this sermon shown to be real and to have much to do with our everyday life. The text is, Judges xiii, 19. "And the angel did wonderfully."

Fire built on a rock. Manoah and his wife had there kindled the flames for sacrifice in praise of God and in honor of a guest whom they supposed to be a man. But as the flame rose higher and higher their stranger guest stepped into the flame and by one red leap ascended into the sky. Then they knew that he was an angel of the Lord. "The angel did wonderfully."

Two hundred and forty-eight times does the Bible refer to the angels, yet I never heard or read a sermon on angelology. The whole subject is relegated to the realm mythical, weird, spectral and unknown. Such adjournment is un-Scriptural and wicked. Of their life, their character, their habits, their actions, their velocities, the Bible gives us full length portraits, and why this prolonged and absolute silence concerning them? Angelology is my theme.

There are two nations of angels, and they are hostile to each other—the nation of good angels and the nation of bad angels. Of the former I chiefly speak today. Their capital, their headquarters, their grand rendezvous, is heaven, but their empire is the universe. They are a distinct race of creatures. No human being can ever join their confraternity. The little child who in the Sabbath school sings, "I want to be an angel," will never have her wish gratified. They are superhuman, but they are of different grades and ranks, not all on the same level or the same height. They have their superiors and inferiors and equals. I propose no guessing on this subject, but take the Bible for my only authority. Plato, the philosopher, guessed and divided angels into supercelestial, celestial and subcelestial. Dionysius, the Areopagite, guessed and divided them into three classes, the supreme, the middle and the last, and each of these into three other classes, making nine in all. Philo said that the angels were related to God, as the rays to the sun. Fulgentius said that they were composed of body and spirit. Clement said they were incorporeal. Augustine said that they had been in danger of falling, but now are beyond being tempted. But the only authority on this subject that I respect says they are divided into cherubim, seraphim, thrones, dominations, principalities, powers. Their commander in chief is Michael. Daniel called him Michael. St. John called him Michael. These supernatural beings are more thoroughly organized than any army that ever marched. They are swifter than any cyclone that ever swept the sea. They are more radiant than any morning that ever came down the sky. They have more to do with your destiny and mine than any being in the universe except God. May the Angel of the New Covenant, who is the Lord Jesus, open our eyes and touch our tongue and rouse our soul while we speak of their deathlessness, their intelligence, their numbers, their strength, their achievements.

A Cradle, but No Grave.

Yes, deathless. They had a cradle, but will never have a grave. The Lord remembers when they were born, but no one shall ever see their eye extinguished or their momentum slow up or their existence terminate. The oldest of them has not a wrinkle or a decrepitude or a hindrance, as young after 6,000 years as at the close of their first hour. Christ said of the good in heaven, "Neither can they die any more, for they are equal unto the angels." Yes, deathless are these wonderful creatures of whom I speak. They will see world after world go out, but there shall be no fading of their own brilliance. Yes, after the last world has taken its last flight they will be ready for the widest circuit through immensity, taking a quadrillion of miles in one sweep as easy as a pigeon circles a dovecot. They are never sick. They are never exhausted. They need no sleep, for they are never tired. At God's command they smote with death in one night 185,000 of Sennacherib's host, but no fatality can smite them. Awake, agile, multipotent, deathless, immortal!

A further characteristic of these radiant folk is intelligence. The woman of Tekoa was right when she spoke to King David of the wisdom of an angel. We mortals take in what little we know through eye and ear and nostril and touch, but those beings have no physical encasement, and hence they are all senses. A wall five feet thick is not solid to them. Through it they go without disturbing flake of mortar or crystal of sand. Knowledge! It flashes on them. They take it in at all points. They absorb it. They gather it up without any hindrance. No need of literature for them. The letters of their books are stars. The dashes of their books are meteors. The words of their books are constellations. The paragraphs of their books are galaxies. The pictures of their books are sunrises and sunsets and midnight auroras and the Conqueror on the white horse with the moon under his feet. Their library is an open universe. No need of telescope to see something millions of miles away, for instantly they are there to inspect and explore it. All astronomies, all geologies, all botanies, all philosophies, at their feet. What an opportunity for intelligence is theirs! What facilities for knowing everything and knowing it right away!

There is only one thing that puts them to their wits' end, and the Bible says: they have to study that. They have been studying it all through the ages, and yet I warrant they have not fully grasped it—the wonders of redemption. These wonders are so high, so deep, so grand, so stupendous, so magnificent, that even the intelligence of angelhood is confounded before it. The apostle says, "Which things the angels desire to look into." That is a subject that excites inquisitiveness on their part. That is a theme that strains their faculties to the utmost. That is higher than they can climb, deeper than they can dive. They have a desire for something too big for their comprehension. "Which things the angels desire to look into." But that does not discredit their intelligence. No one but God himself can fully understand the wonders of redemption. If all heaven should study it for 60 eternities, they would get no further than the A B C of that inexhaustible subject. But nearly all other realms of knowledge they have ransacked and explored and compassed. No one but God can tell them anything they do not know. They have read to the last word of the last line of the last page of the last volume of investigation, and what delights me most is that all their intelligence is to be at our disposal, and, coming into their presence, they will tell us in five minutes more than we can learn by 100 years of earthly surmising.

Velocity of Immortals.

A further characteristic of these immortals is their velocity. This the Bible puts sometimes under the figure of wings, sometimes under the figure of a flowing garment, sometimes under the figure of naked feet. As these superhumans are without bodies, these expressions are of course figurative and mean swiftness. The Bible tells us that Daniel was praying and Gabriel flew from heaven and touched him before he got up from his knees. How far, then, did the Angel Gabriel have to fly in those moments of Daniel's prayer? Heaven is thought to be the center of the universe, our sun and its planets only the rim of the wheel of worlds. In a moment the Angel Gabriel flew from that center to this periphery. Jesus told Peter he could instantly have 60,000 angels present if he called for them.

What foot of antelope or wing of albatross could equal that velocity? Law of gravitation, which grips all things else, has no influence upon angelic momentum. Immensities before them open and shut like a fan. That they are here is no reason why they should not be a quintillion of miles hence the next minute. Our bodies hinder us, but our minds can circle the earth in a minute. Angelic beings are bodiless and have no limitation. God may with his finger point down to some world in trouble on the outmost limits of creation, and instantly an angelic cohort is to help it, or some celestial may be standing at the farthest outpost of immensity, and God may say "Come!" and instantly it is in his bosom. Abraham, Elijah, Hagar, Joshua, Gideon, Manoah, Paul, St. John, could tell of their unhindered locomotion. The red feet of summer lightning are slow compared with their hegiras. This doubles up and compresses infinitudes into infinitesimals. This puts all the astronomical heavens into a space like the balls of a child's rattle. This mingles into one the here and the there, the now and the then, the beyond and the yonder.

Another remark I have to make concerning these illustrious immortals is that they are multitudinous. Their census has never been taken, and no one but God knows how many they are, but all the Bible accounts suggest their immense numbers—companies of them, regiments of them, armies of them, mountain tops haloed by them, skies populous with them. John speaks of angels and other beings round the throne as ten thousand times ten thousand. Now, according to my calculation, ten thousand times ten thousand are 100,000,000. But these are only the angels in one place. David counted 20,000 of them rolling down the sky in chariots. When God came away from the river rocks of Mount Sinai, the Bible says he had the companionship of 10,000 angels. I think they are in every battle, in every exigency, at every birth, at every pillow, at every hour, at every moment, the earth full of them, the heavens full of them.

Outnumber the Human Race.

They outnumber the human race in this world. They outnumber ransomed spirits in glory. When Abraham had his knife uplifted to slay Isaac, it was an angel who arrested the stroke, crying, "Abraham, Abraham!" It was a stairway of angels that Jacob saw while pilloled in the wilderness. We are told an angel led the hosts of Israelites out of Egyptian serfdom. It was an angel that showed Hagar the fountain where she filled the bottle for the lad. It was an angel that took Lot out of doomed Sodom. It was an angel that shut up the mouth of the hungry monsters when Daniel was thrown into the caverns. It was an angel that fed Elijah under the juniper tree. It was an angel that announced to Mary the approaching nativity. They were angels that chanted when Christ was born. It was an angel that strengthened our Saviour in his agony. It was an angel that encouraged Paul in the Mediterranean shipwreck. It was an angel that burst open the prison gate after gate, until Peter was liberated. It was an angel that stirred the pool of Siloam, where the sick were healed. It was an angel that John saw flying through the midst of heaven, and an angel with foot planted on the sea, and an angel that opened the book, and an angel that sounded the trumpet, and an angel that thrust in the sickle, and an angel that poured out the vials, and an angel standing in the sun. It will be an angel with uplifted hand swearing that time shall be no longer. In the great final harvest of the world the reapers are the angels. Yea, the Lord shall be revealed from heaven with mighty angels. Oh, the numbers and WOMEN do suffer!

Even so-called healthy women suffer!

But they are not healthy!

The marks left by pain are on the young faces of many of our daughters. Pain that leaves its mark comes from a curable cause.

MUST WOMEN SUFFER?

If that cause is not removed its influence reaches out and overshadows a whole life. The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been so uniformly successful for over a quarter of a century in overcoming the suffering of women, is that it is thorough and goes directly to the cause. It is a woman's remedy for woman's ills.

MISS EMILY F. HAAS, of 148 Freeman St., Greenpoint, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I wish to state that I used your Vegetable Compound with the greatest success. I was very sick for nearly a year with hysteria, was down-hearted and nervous; also suffered with painful menstruation and pain in back and limbs. I often wished for death, thinking nothing would cure me. I had doctors, but their medicines did me no good. At last, by the advice of a friend, I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am happy to say it has entirely cured me."

JENNIE SHERMAN, of Fremont, Mich., Box 748, writes:

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I feel that I must write you and tell you what your medicine has done for me. I had neuralgia of the stomach for two years, so bad that I could not do any work. I had two or three doctors, but did not seem to get any better. I began taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills and improved from the first, had better appetite, and after taking three bottles of Compound and one box of Liver Pills, can say that I am cured. Your Vegetable Compound is a wonderful medicine."

lowed, with the effect that I, who was a wide awake girl at that time, peculiarly susceptible to first impressions, imbibed an impression of the late Mr. Knapp's eccentricities that was not altogether complimentary to the departed gentleman.
"Poor dear!" said she one day. "He tried so hard to speak. If he only could have told his wants!" We never asked her any questions. We just let her talk on, feeling that this was the kindest and best. I inferred from this last remark that her husband had been affected by paralysis, particularly as she had said on another occasion: "I used to sit at my window, and James sat at his, I sewing, he looking out of the window at what was going on in the street. He seemed perfectly happy as long as I was there. But then we can never tell. I often wish now that I had done more for him or could have learned better what he wanted."
"What did the physicians say or do?" I asked.
"They said it was the breaking up of the system by old age. I never felt that they quite understood the case."
Poor little thing! Married to an aged paralytic and yet regretting his death as the breaking up of the one tie on earth! What desolation—what utter desolation her case seemed to me! I was moved to take her in my arms and weep with her, which was a great deal for me.
Not only was the late Mr. Knapp old and imbecile and paralytic, but he had other traits which must have rendered him highly objectionable as a daily companion.
"Just about this time every afternoon I always gave James a bowl of cream with fresh sponge cake in it. He would not touch it unless it was in a certain bowl nor unless it was fresh from the baker's. And yet they tried to persuade me that he didn't know anything!"
From which I inferred that, added to his other peculiarities, the late Mr. Knapp possessed an extremely unpleasant temper.
"And, oh, Mrs. Curtis!" she wailed, "after the poor dear was dead and gone, they wouldn't let me bury him in the family lot." From which I inferred that the dear departed had come of a family of unpleasant tempers. Such heathenish doings I never heard tell of. Surely, however they felt toward him during his life, nothing but a fiend would deny him the family resting place after he was dead!
But I forgot my interest in Mrs. Knapp and her affairs by reason of some of my own. I had a delightful letter from Tom Dixon, saying he would be with us for a week. Now Tom was a favorite cousin of mine, and I spent a good deal of time furnishing up my little belongings so that I might look my very best when he came. And then, I was putting finishing touches to Tom's room, too, until the minute he arrived, so that I really had no time to talk to Mrs. Knapp or to listen to her if she wished to talk to me.
Dear old Tom! How good it was to see him that day with his blithe ways and "bonny brown hair!" We talked and talked till supper was called, and then we still talked all the way to the dining room door, and yet we found time to say nothing about any one but ourselves. As we seated ourselves at the table I saw Mrs. Knapp's vacant place (for she was a little late) and realized that I had not mentioned her presence in our household.
"Why, we have a boarder, Tom," I began, in answer to his look of inquiry at the empty place. Just as I spoke she glided in.
"Why, who on earth would have thought of finding you here?" and he shook her hand in a grasp so hearty that I could see it was painful to her.
She colored faintly and said a little unsteadily, "This is indeed a surprise, Mr. Dixon," and I read between the lines that the surprise was not an altogether agreeable one.
But Tom didn't seem to notice anything (most men are dumb about such things, you know), so I kept my eyes and ears open and waited for developments.
At last they came and in a most startling manner.
"So I hear poor Jim is gone at last?" said Tom, turning to Mrs. Knapp as he buttered his seventh biscuit (Tom always was rather a greedy youth and enjoyed most heartily the good things of this life, mother's cooking among them).
"Oh, Mr. Dixon, how can you speak of him in that way!" exclaimed the widow, hurrying from the room in a fit of sobbing.
Tom stared.

band! She hadn't any husband. She never was married. Jim was her old black cat! And then he went off again into spasms.
No wonder the hard hearted relatives had objected to having all that was mortal of "the late Mr. Knapp" laid in the family lot!
Mother and I looked at each other and said nothing. What was there to say? But we thought things. I don't know whether they were the same things or not, but we certainly thought things.—Chicago Times-Herald.

SHE BUNKOED CHOLLY.
How the Clever Girl Won a Bet From the Dude.
"Cholly," remarked Mr. Fitznoodle Flushington, with something that might have been taken for a gleam of intelligence tinting his vacuous face, "if you want to meet clevah girls go down and spend a month at one of those southern resorts."
"Ah they great, old chap?" inquired Cholly as he flicked the ash from his cigarette.
"Rawth. I met a girl down at one of 'em that beat any girl I evah met befoah. What that girl didn't know wasn't worth knowing. old man; deuced clevah, really."
"How did she show it, me boy?"
"Well, theahs a pier down there with a bathing float attached to the end of it. The float, ye know, lay about six feet below the end of the pier, quite a drop, ye know. One night I was talking to the girl on the veranda, and I suggested that the pier offered an opportunity for a good bicycle ride if it weren't for the danger of dropping off the end and taking a tumble of six feet to the float below. The girl looked at me and said that even if one did strike the float it wouldn't mattah. 'Why, I'll ride down heah and out on the raft,' she said. 'Yon daren't,' I replied. She turned up her nose and asked me what I'd bet. I bet her twenty-five dollars and a box of flowers. She told me to be out theah in the morning and I'd see her do it. I was theah bright and early. And blow my eyes, old man, she did do it!"
"Why, wasn't she hurt, me boy?"
"Not a bit. The tide had raised the float to a level with the pier, and at the end she just rolled out upon it on her wheel. Deuced clevah, wasn't it?" —Detroit Free Press.

Strange Feats of Eye and Hand.
An expert who prided himself upon the smallness of his writing sent the president of the French academy a grain of wheat on which he had written 221 words. A Polish poet wrote all of Homer's "Iliad" on a piece of paper which could be rolled up small enough to go into a nutshell.
In the sixteenth century a man named Mark offered to Queen Elizabeth a gold chain of 50 links. The chain was so fine it could not be seen unless it was put on a sheet of white paper. To prove its lightness Mark tied it to a fly, which flew away with it. The most curious fact in this matter, which required so extraordinary a facility of touch for making this ornament, was that Mark was a blacksmith, accustomed to all kinds of heavy tools all day long.
A Spaniard, Joseph Fabra, made a carriage as large as a grain of wheat. Under a magnifying glass it was possible to see the interior fitted up with seats, every detail being carried out to perfection.—Kansas City Journal.

A Lucky Horseshoe.
The Australians when they find a horseshoe throw it over their shoulder. A lady in Sydney found one and threw it gracefully over her shoulder. It went through a hatter's window and hit a customer who was trying on a new hat. This gentleman, under the impression that one of the shopmen, in a fit of temporary insanity, had played the trick, promptly struck him and sent him through the plate glass window. A general melee ensued, although on consideration nobody knew what it was all about.—Public Opinion.

Winning Ways.
"Money," said the philosopher, "may often do more harm than good. Sometimes the mighty dollar is a man's worst enemy."
"Yes," answered Senator Sorghum, "and I often feel that a number of people love me for the enemies I have made."—Washington Star.

THE EATERS OF CLAY
THERE ARE MILLIONS OF PEOPLE WHO FEED ON DIRT.
In Java the Women Eat Cakes of Earth to Keep Themselves Slender, and in New Caledonia the Natives Feed on Friable Stones.
No collection of national dishes includes earth or clay, among them, but this is a favorite "plat" with a good many millions of people up and down. Even in Europe they are not difficult to find, or were not 50 years ago. Tastes have changed a good deal since then, no doubt. But human beings do not readily give up a favorite dish, especially when it is cheap. If superior persons denounce it, they enjoy the treat on the sly.
Probably the quarrymen of Kliffhausen no longer breakfast in public upon slices of bread "battered" with fine clay, as Humboldt saw them, but we should be rather surprised to learn that thrifty souls among them do not follow the custom of their ancestors in private. Humboldt was reminded of that early experience upon the banks of the Amur, where he saw Russian soldiers eating what they called "rock butter," a similar clay.
Mr. Laing had the good fortune to observe the first appreciation of the delicacy, or almost, in one district of Sweden. Five years only before he made the "tour" so famous in our grandfathers' time there was dearth in the country. The people had already begun to eat "bark bread," when a very poor woodman noticed some white stuff among the roots of a tree he felled. It looked so clean and nice that he carried home a basketful, mixed it with rye and bark and baked it. The loaf proved to be excellent, and no disagreeable consequences followed. So the woodman told his neighbors, and a rush set in.
When the magistrates heard of this abnormal provender, they forbade the use of it of course; that would be the natural impulse of the superior person. But the peasantry were not to be persuaded or coerced into rejecting food which they knew by experience to be wholesome and nourishing. When Mr. Laing visited the district—it is called Degenfors—they were using the stuff both for soup and bread. Samples dispatched to Stockholm for analysis gave "finely pulverized flint and felspar, lime, clay, oxide of iron and a residuum of some organic matter similar to animal which yielded ammonia and an oil."
It is organic matter which contains the nourishment everywhere, no doubt, if nourishment there be. But that is not always the case, and earth eating seems to deserve more attention than has yet been paid to it, so far as our reading goes. Commonly it is dismissed as a degrading practice of savages. But German quarrymen, Swedes, even Russian soldiers, are not to be classed with savages. Nor are the potters of Scinde. Their work is fashionable at present and they make money—that is, by the Indian standard. But among their weekly expenses an allowance must be made for the quantity of "chanlah" which their wives and children consume; "chanlah" is a white, unctuous earth used for glazing pottery.
But, as a rule, of course, it is savages who affect this diet, alike useful and agreeable to their taste. Few understand, perhaps, how common it is. Instances might be found in every continent and every zone by any one who looked into the matter thoroughly. We give a few which recur to mind.
The Ainos are enthusiastic earth eaters. In the north of their island is a valley where alone the material can be dug, but it is carried to all parts. They boil it with the root of the wild lily. When a certain proportion of the clay has settled, the remainder is poured off and eaten like cream. Si-family complain that they could not where get good water when absent from their home on the banks of the Orange. The water of the Orange is a "puree" of mud; hence its name.

The peoples of New Caledonia eat pieces of a friable stone, "Lapla olaria." Messrs. Cloquet and Brischet, traveling in those islands, could get no food for several days. They came upon some green laminate talc and ate five ounces each; their strength returned, and they never felt any inconvenience. The Ottoman Indians of South America live exclusively on fish when they can get it. But during the season of floods there is no fishing, and they manage very comfortably with earth. Moreover, they find the diet so agreeable that during the rest of the year they eat a ball of clay for dessert. Evidently it agrees with them, for the Ottomacs are very tall and robust.

TALKING SHOP.

A Sentiment Concerning Which There Is Considerable Humber.

"If there is one thing that makes me a little wearier than another," said an amateur cynic, "it is to hear a man boast that he 'never talks shop.' I met a fairly eminent actor at a little gathering not long ago, and when some pleasant reference was made he drew himself up and said, 'You will pardon me, I am sure, but really, I make it a rule never to talk shop.' That remark convinced two or three thick headed hearers that he was singularly free from vanity, but it convinced the rest of us that he was a double dyed donkey and a poseur of the purest ray serene.

"Every right minded man likes to talk shop and does so whenever he gets a chance. It is that which makes class clubs almost invariably a success. The members are all interested in the same thing and can talk shop ad lib. without getting called down. One of the redeeming features of matrimony is the fact that a man secures a helpless victim to whom he can talk shop every day of the year.

"When a chap is traveling as in a strange city, what a joy it is to bump up against somebody in one's same line of business! It is like meeting a long lost brother! I have often thought that the chief objection to being a hangman is that there are so few persons with whom a fellow could chat about the craft.

"And yet it has grown to be a fashion among people of eminence in all the professions to affect a reluctance to discuss the precise thing in which each is most interested. They don't like to talk shop! 'Faugh! Nobody has any right to make such an assertion except a burglar in a police station!'"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

He Saw the Point.

A former attorney general of the United States, in a recent article, tells the following anecdotes of Mr. Justice
Miller of the federal supreme court:

Judge Miller was a very agreeable man socially, but in the later years of his life became somewhat impatient upon the bench. He was no orator himself and seemed to have an aversion to all attempts at oratory in court. I have seen him on more than one occasion disjoint with sharp questions a beautifully prepared speech with which an ambitious orator expected to charm and captivate the court. One midsummer day, as it is said, he was holding court in a western state, and a lawyer, whom we will call Brown, was addressing him in a long, rambling speech. The judge listened and fanned himself and fidgeted about on the bench for some time, and, finally, leaning over his desk, said in an audible whisper, "Confound it Brown, come to the point."

"What point?" inquired the somewhat astonished lawyer.

"Any point," responded the judge;
and, though the sequel does not appear, it is probable that there was a rapid condensation of talk in that courtroom after this short colloquy.

The Camel's Eye.

The Nile is, essentially a river of silence and mystery. Even the camels turn their beautiful soft eyes upon you as if you were intruding upon their silence and reserve. Never were the eyes in a human head so beautiful as a camel's. There is a limpid softness, an appealing plaintiveness in their expression which drag at your sympathies like the look in the eyes of a hunchback. It means that with your opportunities you might have done more with your life. Your mother looks at you that way sometimes in church when the sermon touches a particularly raw nerve in your spiritual make up.
I always feel like apologizing when a camel looks at me.—Lillian Bell in Woman's Home Companion.

was to a finish, I assure you. I was only an onlooker, it is true, but I saw more than I wanted to see, and more than I would willingly again see. It was nearly 20 years ago, but I have not forgotten it.

"At the time there was a gymnasium on Louisiana avenue, between Ninth and Tenth streets. The building adjoining was the old central guardhouse, the police station.

"One evening I was invited by a friend, who was a former newspaper man, but afterward a patent attorney, and who also acted as the resident Danish consul, to attend the gymnasium to witness a sword combat, in which two of his friends were to take part. I was told that three or four others would be present, and the combat would be rather lively. I realized that part of it fully, to my complete satisfaction.

"With the others, three newspaper writers, a couple of actors and a couple of sporting men, we got to the gymnasium about 9 o'clock, but were told that the combat would not take place until the gymnasium classes had been dismissed, as it was desired that the onlookers should be as few as possible.

"None of us had any idea as to who the participants would be or the particular reason for it, but we were told that it was desired that we should be present to see that everything was conducted properly. From this we inferred that there was a stake or something at issue, and we were to be the judges as well as referees, as it were.

"At 10 o'clock two carriages arrived, in each of which was a single occupant, each having a sword, what is commonly known as a broadsword, like that which men-of-war's men have. They had but little to say, and in a few minutes they were properly attired in the gymnasium suits and announced that they were ready for the battle.

"I had seen some professional broad-sword combats and rather looked for some heavy work, but in less than a minute we all realized that there seemed to be more earnestness about the combat than was customary in meetings of professionals. It mattered not how large the stakes were.

"The men wore the customary wire head covering, and it was well they did so, otherwise there would have been one or two heads scattered about on the floor, for the fight was fast and furious. At the expiration of ten minutes these was a halt called so that a terrible gash on the sword arm of one of the combatants could be bandaged by a physician who conveniently dropped in.

"Then the fighters started in hammer and tongs at each other, and in 12 minutes one of the men was lying on the floor with a terrible gash in his shoulder and a rap on his head which sounded so loud that it was heard in the police station adjoining. The clothing of the men was as fully covered with blood as if they had been painted with it.

"That ended it. Both men had received at least a dozen wounds, and the victor fell in a faint in less than a minute after he was declared the conqueror. My friend, on behalf of the participants, thanked us for our attendance, and we left after seeing the men lifted into carriages and taken away.

"It was several weeks before we knew to a certainty what it all meant and were not told then until both men had fully recovered. It transpired that the participants were both Danish officers: that they had quarreled in New York in regard to an official matter, and that a challenge passed and was accepted, and that all the details of the settlement had been left to the Danish consul, and that the whole party of us had innocently presided over a real duel.

"The strange part of it was that it took place within sound of the police station."—Washington Star.

Cause and Effect.

Several years ago the inmates of a small, respectable dwelling house in Philadelphia discovered upon the white-washed wall of one of the rooms the likeness of a human face, which faded and returned again. The neighbors came in to view the wonder. Other faces appeared and vanished. Crowds thronged the house and street, and accounts of the mystery were printed in the daily papers.

It was to no purpose that scientific men insisted that the figures were caused by moldy growths which came and went with the dampness and that the likeness to the human face was imaginary. The house was pronounced by the public to be haunted, and the owner was unable to find a tenant for it for years.

the might and the glory of these supernals—fleets of them, squadrons of them, host beyond host, rank above rank, millions on millions, and all on our side if we will have them!

This leads me to speak of the offices of these supernals. To defend, to cheer, to rescue, to escort, to give victory to the right and overthrow the wrong—that is their business—just as alert to-day and efficient as when in Bible times they spread wing or unsheathed sword or rocked down penitentiaries or filled the mountains with horses of fire hitched to chariots of fire and driven by reinsmen of fire. They have turned your steps a hundred times, and you knew it not. You were on the way to do some wrong thing, and they changed your course. They brought some thought of Christian parentage or of loyalty to your own home, and that arrested you. They arranged that some one should meet you at that crisis and propose something honorable and elevating, or they took from your pocket some ticket to evil amusement, a ticket that you never found. It was an angel of God, and perhaps the very one that guided you to this service and that now waits to report some holy impression to be made upon your soul, tarrying with one foot upon the doorstep of your immortal spirit and the other foot lifted for ascent into the skies. By some prayer detain him until he can tell of a repentant and ransomed soul! Or you were some time borne down with trouble, bereavement, persecution, bankruptcy, sickness and all manner of troubles beating their discords in your heart and life. You gave up. You said: "I cannot stand it any longer. I believe I will take my life. Where is the rail train or the deep wave or the precipice that will end this torment of earthly existence?" But suddenly your mind brightened. Courage came surging into your heart like oceanic tides. You said: "God is on my side, and all these adversities he can make turn out for my good." Suddenly you felt a peace, a deep peace, the peace of God that passeth all understanding. What made the change? A sweet and mighty and comforting angel of the Lord met you. That was all.

An Incentive to Righteousness.

What an incentive to purity and righteousness is this doctrine that we are continually under angelic observation! Eyes ever on you, so that the most secret misdeed is committed in the midst of an audience of immortals. No door so bolted, no darkness so Cimmerian, as to hinder that supernatural eyesight. Not critical eyesight, not jealous eyesight, not baleful eyesight, but friendly eyesight, sympathetic eyesight, helpful eyesight. Confidential clerk of store, with great responsibility on your shoulder and no one to applaud your work when you do it well and sick with the world's ingratitude, think of the angels in the counting room raptured at your fidelity! Mother of household, stitching, mending, cooking, dusting, planning, up half the night or all night with the sick child, day in and day out, year in and year out, worn with the monotony of a life that no one seems to care for, think of the angels in the nursery, angels in all the rooms of your toiling, angels about the sick cradle, and all in sympathy!

Railroad engineer, with hundreds of lives hanging on your wrist, standing amid the cinders and the smutch, rounding the sharp curve and by appalling flexibility, discharged and disgraced if you make a mistake, but not one word of approval if you take all the trains in safety for ten years, think of the angels by the throttle valve, angels by the roaring furnace of the engine, angels looking from the overhanging crag, angels bracing the racing wheels off the precipice, angels when you mount the thunderbolt of a train and angels when you dismount! Can you not hear them, louder than the jamming of the car coupling, louder than the bell at the crossing, louder than the whistle that sounds like the scream of a flying fiend, the angelic voices saying, "You did it well, you did it well!" If I often speak of engineers, it is because I ride so much with them. I always accept their invitation to join them on their locomotive, and among them are some of the grandest men alive.

Guarded by Angels.

Men and women of all circumstances, only partly appreciated or not appreciated at all, never feel lonely again or unregarded again! Angels all around, angels to approve, angels to help, angels to remember. Yes, while all the good angels are friends of the good, there is one special angel your bodyguard. This idea until this present study of angelology I supposed to be fanciful, but I find it clearly stated in the Bible. When the disciples were praying for Peter's deliverance from prison and he appeared at the door of the prayer meeting, they could not believe it was Peter. They said, "It is his angel." So these disciples, in special nearness to Christ, evidently believed that every worthy soul has an angel. Jesus said of his followers, "Their angels behold the face of my Father." Elsewhere it is said, "He shall give his angels charge over thee, to keep thee in all thy ways." Angel shielded, angel protected, angel guarded, angel canopied, art thou! No wonder that Charles Wesley hymned these words:

Which of the petty kings of earth
Can boast a guard like ours,
Encircled from our second birth
By hosts of angels, all around,
S. E. Fox, With all the heavenly powers!

Valerius and Rufinus were put to death for Christ's sake in the year 287, and after the day when their bodies had been whipped and pounded into a jelly, in the night in prison and before the next day when they were to be executed, they both thought they saw angels standing with two glittering crowns, saying: "Be of good cheer, valiant soldiers of Jesus Christ! A little more of battle, and then these crowns are yours." And I am glad to know that before many of those who have passed through great sufferings in this life some angel of God has held a blessing coronet or eternal reward. Yea, we are to have such a guardian angel to take us upward when our work is done. You know, we are told an angel conducted Lazarus to Abraham's bosom. That shows that none shall be so poor in dying he cannot afford angelic escort. It would be a long way to go alone, and up paths we have never trod, and amid blazing worlds swinging in unimaginable momentum, out and on through such distances and across such infinitudes of space we should shudder at the thought of going alone.

But the angelic escort will come to your languishing pillow or the place of your fatal accident and say: "Hail, immortal one! All is well. God hath sent me to take you home." And without tremor or slightest sense of peril you will away and upward, farther on and farther on, until after awhile heaven heaves in sight and the rumble of chariot wheels and the roll of mighty harmonies are heard in the distance, and nearer you come, and nearer still, until the brightness is like many mornings suffused into one, and the gates lift, and you are inside the amethystine walls and on the banks of the jasper sea, forever safe, forever free, forever well, forever rested, forever united, forever happy. Mothers, do not think your little children go alone when they quit this world. Out of your arms into angelic arms, out of sickness into health, out of the cradle into a Saviour's bosom! Not an instant will the darlings be alone between the two kisses—the last kiss of earth and the first kiss of heaven. "Now, angels, do your work!" cried an expiring Christian.

Guardian Angel For All.

Yes, a guardian angel for each one of you. Put yourself now in accord with him. When he suggests the right, follow it. When he warns you against the wrong, shun it. Sent forth from God to help you in this great battle against sin and death, accept his deliverance. When tempted to a feeling of loneliness and disheartenment, appropriate the promise, "The angel of the Lord encampeth around about them that fear him and delivereth them." Oh, I am so glad that the spaces between here and heaven are thronged with these supernals taking tidings home, bringing messages here, rolling back obstacles from our path and giving us defenses, for terrific are the forces who dispute our way, and if the nation of the good angels is on our side the nation of bad angels is on the other. Paul had it right when he said, "We wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world, against spiritual wickedness in high places." In that awful fight may God send us mighty angelic reinforcement! We want all their wings on our side, all their swords on our side, all their chariots on our side.

Thank God that those who are for us are mightier than those who are against us! And that thought makes me jubilant as to the final triumph. Belgium, you know, was the battleground of England and France. Yes, Belgium more than once was the battleground of opposing nations. It so happens that this world is the Belgium or battleground between the angelic nations, good and bad. Michael, the commander in chief on one side; Lucifer, as Byron calls him, or Mephistopheles, as Goethe calls him, or Satan, as the Bible calls him, the commander in chief on the other side. All pure angelhood under the one leadership and all abandoned angelhood under the other leadership. Many a skirmish have the two armies had, but the great and decisive battle is yet to be fought. Either from our earthly homes or down from our supernal residences may we come in on the right side, for on that side are God and heaven and victory. Meanwhile the battle is being set in array, and the forces celestial and demoniacal are confronting each other. Hear the boom of the great cannonade already opened! Cherubim, seraphim, thrones, dominations, principalities and powers are beginning to ride down their foes, and, until the work is completed, "Sun, stand thou still upon Gibeon, and thou, moon, in the valley of Ajalon!"

Women's Attractions.

"It is not necessary for a woman during courtship," said a judge in a recent case, "to inform her intended husband of any device or attachment to improve the work of nature in the construction of her face, form or figure." This was apropos of a charge of deception by wearing glasses to conceal a glass eye.

STRONG ROOMS.

Remarkable Expedients Adopted to Save Some Fabulous Fortunes.

The Bank of England's strong room is one of the largest in the world. The foundation, 66 feet below the street level, is a bed of concrete 20 feet thick. Above this is a lake seven feet deep and above that thick plates of iron specially manufactured to resist both skill and force. Any one attempting an entrance from above would find a similar bed of concrete, a similar lake and similar plates of iron. The walls are impenetrable, while the doors are one foot thick, weigh four tons each and are made absolutely undrillable.

Mr. W. W. Astor's valuables are stored in the office of the Pall Mall Gazette in one of the most remarkable strong rooms ever erected. It is steel throughout and covered with half an inch of solid concrete. The door, also of solid steel, weighs over two tons and has the most remarkable lock which the ingenuity of Chubb has ever constructed. The whole cost a fabulous sum, but this is not surprising when we are told that Mr. Astor locks up about £8,000,000 worth of valuables and money in this room.

The Imperial Ottoman bank, Constantinople, had a marvelous steel fort built upon a water bearing rock, and on top of the rock foundation is a four foot bed of concrete. The height is over 36 feet, length 40 feet and width 24 feet. The steel walls are surrounded by masonry and concrete six feet thick throughout, while the whole comprises nearly 30 tons of steel.—St. Paul Globe.

Sure of Water.

Sir Joseph Prestwich had bought in 1864 a small estate near Sevenoaks, on which he built a residence, but it was high up on a dry and treeless chalk down. Where was water to be found?

"So confident was Prestwich in respect of water supply that he at once engaged an old well digger to sink a well 168 feet deep. The boring proceeded, but when a depth of 100 feet was reached the two workmen went to the city and sought an interview with their employer, whom they found at his desk. They explained that there was no sign of water and that in their opinion it was useless to bore to a greater depth. 'Go on,' was the quiet rejoinder, 'you will come upon water tomorrow. You are within two feet of it.'

"Next day it proved exactly as Prestwich had foretold. And ever after, among many of the denizens of the valley, he had the reputation, much to his amusement, of not being quite 'canny.'—Life and Letters of Sir Joseph Prestwich.

A Victim of Overconfidence.

"This bill isn't what I had a right to expect," grumbled the man who had stepped up to the cashier's window at the gas company's office.

"Two dollars, hey?" said the cashier, glancing at the bill. "That doesn't seem so very exorbitant. What was it the month before?"

"Four dollars."

"You didn't kick on that, did you?"

"No."

"Why is this so much smaller?"

"The house was shut up half the month."

"Then what are you complaining about? Isn't $2 about right?"

"Yes; but, blame it, I made a bet of $5 the other day that the bill would be as big as usual!"—Chicago Tribune.

A Hindoo believing in the transmigration of souls, ate no animal food, because in destroying even a worm he might be destroying the body occupied by an ancestor. A traveler coming upon the Brahmin taking his vegetable meal, told him it was impossible to avoid destruction of animal life and, to prove it, focused a microscope on the fruit the Brahmin was eating. That pious person drew back horrified at the living forms he saw. What did he do? Throw away the fruit? Not he! He smashed the microscope and went on with his meal.

There are people who are suffering with weak lungs. They have an obstinate cough, are weak, emaciated, hopeless. They have been taught there's no hope for them. Some one puts into their hands one of Dr. Pierce's books or advertisements and through this medium they see healthy, happy men and women, who declare that their lungs had been weak, they had been racked by coughs, had been emaciated, feeble, hopeless, and were positively and permanently cured by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. These cures can be numbered by scores of thousands.

Are you sick? Will you throw aside the advertisement, break the microscope, or will you make one effort for health? Write to Dr. R. V. Pierce, at Buffalo, N. Y. There is no charge for consultation by letter. You'll get a prompt answer, with fatherly sympathy and medical skill combined.

There is no alcohol, or other stimulant in "Golden Medical Discovery."

Address of the Democratic State Central Committee to the People of Maryland.

Fellow Citizens: Our campaign opened most auspiciously and the gratifying promise of success which met us at the beginning has deepened into a well assured confidence of triumph as the contest draws to a close.

The popular manifestations of approval of the work of our Convention in all sections of the State have left nothing to be desired.

Our candidates have been received everywhere with an enthusiasm never surpassed. Their acknowledged high character and thoroughly established qualifications—their experience in public affairs—their familiarity with the needs and resources of the State and their recognized intellectual vigor, supplemented by the inspiring circumstances under which they were nominated have given to the campaign a spirit and force seldom witnessed.

Our organization both in the city of Baltimore and in the counties is complete. The work of registration has been conducted with thoroughness and care. Factional differences in our ranks have disappeared.

Results have abundantly proved the wisdom, sagacity and patriotism of our Convention in deciding to conduct this campaign upon State issues alone.

The introduction into our Platform as tests of party allegiance of questions of national administration and policy was believed by the Convention to be as necessary as it was unwise. It was felt that in this momentous struggle for good State government in Democratic hands upon correct and sound business principles, we were entitled to have and assuredly would receive the support of the great majority of the intelligent white men of the State and that no obstacles should be put in the way of those who from interest, inclination, former associations, State pride or any other reason might be disposed to help us in re-acquiring our lost political supremacy in Maryland. It was known that our people are divided at this time on the question of Imperialism and the policy of foreign question and "forcible annexation," once so vigorously depreciated and denounced by President McKinley as a policy too shocking to be "thought of," and which in his special message to Congress of April 11, 1898, he solemnly declared would by our Code of Morality be criminal aggression.

It was not easy to perceive what influence could be exerted by the State government of Maryland or the local government of her counties upon the question of the war now being waged by President McKinley against the Philippines, and accordingly it was by all of us though most impolitic and by some of us even unpatriotic to attempt to array the Democratic party of the State against his administration upon a subject whose decision could not be affected in any degree by the result of our contest.

It was apparent too that by such a declaration we might lay ourselves and our party open to the charge, (which would assuredly have been vehemently made) that in opposing the prosecution of the war whilst it was actually going on, we would be virtually and substantially giving aid and comfort to the enemy that thus we might drive to the side of the Republicans many voters who otherwise would be glad to side with us.

It did not occur to our Convention that the Republicans would be smitten with a fatuity so extraordinary as to lead them to complain of us and attack us because with patriotic forbearance we did so; denounce the President and his policy and thus seek to embarrass and weaken his administration.

Nor did we imagine that our adversaries in their desperation and alarm over the "apathy" of their party in this State would seek to avert their impending disaster by importing into our midst impassioned spell-binders from other States to tell us of our political depravity, to prate of their monopoly of "civic honesty," virtue and morality and to urge our people to desert us because while we did not commend the President's constantly changing policy, we had carefully refrained from assailing it.

Indeed, nothing that has occurred during the campaign has helped our cause so much as these gratuitous insults heaped by imported strangers upon our honor, integrity and patriotism. If we do not resent them with the wrath which they naturally arouse, it is because we feel that they have had no effect but to consolidate our own ranks more compactly and to bring to our support multitudes who might otherwise have been indifferent or even hostile to us.

Marylanders are proverbially hospitable. We receive and entertain strangers gladly and give them of our best, but it is a sore trial to our patience and forbearance to keep silent when gentlemen from abroad who do not know our situation come here and assume, in the loftiness of their superior virtue, to instruct us as to our duty, lecture us upon our "immoralities" and "indecentcy" and rebuke us for our lack of patriotism and public spirit.

If we had denounced President McKinley's war and called on our people to mark their emphatic disapproval of it, we could understand the propriety of repelling our attack, and of depicting the beauties of the "benevolent assimilation" of the Philippines in all the glowing rhetoric of Secretary Davis, Senator Thurston and Governor Roosevelt, but as we had purposely abstained from making such an issue we can only treat the injection of it by the enemy as an effort to divert attention from the real issues in order to arouse the drooping spirits of their rank and file and, if possible, to secure some recruits.

So, too, with the money question. Our state campaign has nothing to do with Bi-metalism gold monometalism or the free coinage of silver.

These issues may come to the front in the Presidential struggle of next year, but our Convention having in view the paramount object of securing for our people the blessings of good government under the control of the white people of the State and the staying of the swelling tide of lawlessness by the vicious element of our colored population, wisely forbore to raise these issues in this State contest.

We do not understand how the election of our ticket on a platform which deliberately ignored the money question as irrelevant in this struggle for home rule and good local self government, could fairly be claimed as in any way fixing the political status of Maryland upon that question.

It is true that the thirteen Senators who are to be chosen at the coming election will vote for a United States Senator in 1903 who will take his seat in the Senate in December, 1903, but that single circumstance, so very far off in its practical bearing did not seem to our Convention to be a sufficiently strong reason for introducing into the Campaign a subject upon which honest differences of opinion exist in our ranks and whose introduction could only be the occasion of discord and weakness.

We appeal to you, therefore, fellow citizens, to stand fast to your party allegiance and to your convictions of your duty to your State in this time of her need.

Do not allow yourselves to be led astray by false issues.

You will have ample opportunity one year from now to pass upon questions of national concern, and can do so intelligently and wisely in the light of the facts as they shall then exist.

In your apprehension of possible future contingencies and evils, affecting the whole Union, do not shut your eyes to present actual evils affecting most injuriously our own State alone.

Listen to the despairing cry for relief that comes to you from Southern Maryland, once the seat of culture, refinement and prosperity, but now withering under the deadly blight of Republican control.

Heed the appeals for encouragement and protection that our suffering counties upon the Eastern Shore send up to you. Help them to honest and intelligent local government. Believe them in your generous strength and sympathy from the destructive rule of ignorance and corruption.

Rescue them from the domination of those who levy and expend the taxes which they do not help to pay. Give them security in their homes and fire-sides against the most appalling form of crime.

Put in power a State government in sympathetic touch with the best elements of society and not dependent for existence upon the support of the very worst.

Elect as your Governor a man who, in his ten years of service in the State Senate, voted for every just and conservative measure of progress and reform that came before that body. Who will, indeed, give you a non-partisan judiciary in the persons of honest, intelligent and upright justices of the peace, everywhere—who will indeed keep politics out of our public schools and not directly appeal to the teachers for their votes by offering them an increase in their salaries—and who will never permit the patronage of his office to be disposed of and bartered, or disposed of or barter it himself to elect a United States Senator as a reward for personal political support.

Fellow citizens, the claims upon which the Republicans now rest their appeal for your votes are the same as those which were considered and passed upon and repudiated by the people in the municipal campaign in Baltimore last May.

There is nothing new in this State campaign. The Republican orators are for the most part the same and the arguments are the same now as then.

We hear the same arrogant professions of superior virtue. The same boastful assertions of pledges redeemed, economy practiced, good government given. We have now the same sort of denunciation of Democratic measures, Democratic leaders, and Democratic masses, which was poured upon us then. The same warnings against the evils which Democratic success would bring upon the City are repeated now as arguments for the reelection of Governor Lowndes.

There is no good reason however why the verdict that was then rendered against a continuance of Republican administration of the affairs of the City shall not be rendered now against a renewal of Republican management of the affairs of the State. Nor can any independent Democrat who voted for Thomas G. Hayes give a valid reason for now voting against John Walter Smith. If it was right to repudiate Mayor Malster, why is it not equally right now to repudiate Governor Lowndes.

The Democrats who joined the Republicans in 1895 and defeated us in the memorable contest of that year, declared that their purpose was to cleanse and purify, not to overthrow and destroy the party.

The smaller number of them who in 1897 still considered that the work of punishment was not complete and still kept up their association with the Republicans in the contest of that year, insisted that nothing was further from their purpose than to send the Democracy into permanent banishment.

They proved by their votes last May that they still loved their party and desired its success. They came back to their allegiance.

They took part in its councils—helped to shape its management and policy—contributed vitality to its victory and joined in the exultation of its triumph.

We appeal to them to finish now the good work of political regeneration which was then so gloriously begun and to join with us in restoring to the hands of the re-united Democracy the control of the State as they so effectively and enthusiastically joined with us in recovering control of the City.

Our adversaries last May stimulated their ranks by the cry that if they were beaten then they would assuredly be beaten again in November.

Fellow citizens, we appeal to you to make good their dismal foreboding.

Our party and our candidates are pledged to give the State, good honest, clean government.

Elect them and you may rest assured that our pledges will be fully as sacredly redeemed.

MURRAY VANDIVER, Chairman.

General Notice No. 16.

Beginning Wednesday, November 1st 1899, McDaniel Station will be removed to the new building at Soth's Road, between Harper and the present McDaniel Station, which will be still continued under the name of McDaniel.

The agency at Harper will be withdrawn after the above date and business for that point will be handled at the new McDaniel Station, but for the present, trains will stop on flag at Harper to receive and deliver freight and passengers, but freight delivered at Harper or shipped from there will be under the direction of the Agent at McDaniel, and manifested to and from that point.

A. J. BENJAMIN, Superintendent.

Winter Excursion Tickets.

On November 1 the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will place on sale at its principal ticket offices excursion tickets to all prominent winter resorts in New Jersey, Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, and Cuba. The tickets will be sold at the usual low rates, with the usual liberal return limits.

The magnificent facilities of the Pennsylvania Railroad, with its many connections and through train service, make this the favorite line for winter travel.

An illustrated book, descriptive of winter resorts, and giving routes of travel and rates for tickets, will be furnished free after November 1 on application to ticket agent.

Catarh Can Be Cured.

By radiating from the blood the scrofula taints which cause it. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh, promptly and permanently, because it strikes at the root of the trouble.

The rich, pure blood which it makes, circulating through the delicate passages of the mucous membrane, soothes and rebuilds the tissues, giving them a tendency to health instead of disease, and ultimately curing the affection.

At the same time Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens, invigorates and energizes the whole system and makes the debilitated victim of catarrh feel that new life has been imparted.

Do not dally with snuffs, inhalants or other local applications, but take Hood's Sarsaparilla and cure catarrh absolutely and surely by removing the causes which produce it.

THE JUDICIARY AMENDMENT.

To The Voters of the State.

The only purpose of the proposed Constitutional Amendment is to give authority to the city of Baltimore to increase the salary of the Judges of the Supreme bench of said City, if it should see proper to do so. It is necessary to amend the Constitution in order that the City may have the power. Such increase, if made, would be paid entirely by the City, and no part of it by the State. The Bill proposing this Amendment was supported both parties in the legislature; no party question is involved and the adoption of the Amendment is recommended.

WICOMICO FOR SMITH.

DEMOCRATS ALSO ELECT THEIR LOCAL TICKET BY A HANDSOME MAJORITY.

THE ELECTION QUIET AND ORDERLY THROUGHOUT THE COUNTY.

One of the heaviest votes ever polled in the county was cast last Tuesday. The day was crisp and clear and the party workers on both sides had left no persuasion untold to get all the voters at the polls. A constant stream of voters was in line several minutes before the opening hour—eight o'clock—till within an hour of the closing time—six o'clock. The election machinery was in good working order and no complications arose. In spite of the heavy vote and the intense interest felt by the managers and voters, the utmost good feeling prevailed between the rival parties. There was no demonstration at any voting place in the county until after the polls were counted in the evening, when the democrats let off some of their surplus enthusiasm.

The republican headquarters, corner Main and division streets, were lighted up but were not much resorted to after the first hour or two, the news of the election being received by the republican candidates, and others, at Mr. Robt. P. Graham's office on Main street. A special wire had been placed in the democratic headquarters on Main street and the results of the local, state and states elections were received there.

The headquarters filled up early in the evening and a surging crowd of enthusiastic democrats remained about the place until 8 o'clock in the morning.

When it was learned that the democrats had made large gains in all the districts and that they had carried every one of the eleven except Sharptown and Tysackin the good news was more than the average democratic rooster could stand, and soon the cornet band was making the air ring with patriotic music, and about a glowing bonfire in front of headquarters hundreds of enthusiasts were dancing and hurrahing. When it was announced that Col. John Walter Smith had certainly carried the state by an emphatic majority the overjoyed democrats fell back on their last resort "Old General Humphreys" the renowned Confederate cannon which has been reserved for thirty years to fittingly express the overwrought feelings whenever all other methods prove inadequate. She boomed throughout the night and during Wednesday morning, much to the discomfort of nervous people.

Below is a tabulated statement of the vote by districts, as taken from the poll-books which were returned to the Supervisors office by the judges Thursday.

SMITH'S VICTORY.

The State Democratic by Fifteen Thousand.

BOTH HOUSES OF THE LEGISLATURE DEMOCRATIC, AND THE PARTY WILL HAVE A MAJORITY OF 45 ON JOINT BALLOT.

Maryland has gone democratic by 15,000 majority.

The plurality for Col. John Walter Smith, Democrat, for Governor, over Gov. Lloyd Lowndes, Republican, is not far from 15,000.

The Democrats elected 11 Senators and 66 members of the House of Delegates. The Republicans elected 3 Senators and 25 Delegates. In the Senate with the hold over members, there will be 15 Democrats and 11 Republicans. The Democratic majority on joint ballot will be 45.

The Republican on the State ticket carried eight counties, as follows: Allegany, Garrett, Anne Arundel, Calvert, Charles, Kent, Prince George's and Somerset.

In Baltimore City the plurality of Smith over Lowndes was 3,023; his majority over all other candidates for Governor combined was 6,144.

The plurality for Mr. Isidor Rayner was 7,376. Dr. Hering's plurality was 8,281.

The plurality for Hayes last May was 8,633; and his majority over all was 7,758.

Colonel Smith's total vote was 2,333 less than that cast for Mr. Hayes and Governor Lowndes' vote was 1,867 less than the poll for Mayor Malster.

On joint ballot the Democrats will have a majority of 45 in the General Assembly. On Tuesday they elected 11 of the 14 Senators, which, with the 4 Democratic holdover Senators, will make 15, one more than a constitutional majority. This number is a fortunate one for them, for if Senator Clagett's illness continues, the party will have the necessary 14 votes to pass a bill. Of the 91 members of the House there will be 66 Democrats and 25 Republicans.

In the Fifth Judicial Circuit Associate Judge J. Thomas Jones, Democrat, is elected Chief Judge over Judge Jas. A. C. Bond by a majority of 409. Judge Bond was recently appointed to the bench of the Court of Appeals by Gov. Lowndes, to succeed the late Judge Roberts. The election of Judge Jones will leave the Associate Judgeship vacant. This vacancy may be filled by Governor Lowndes, and his appointee would hold the place until the general election in 1901. The Associate Judge can be appointed from either Howard or Carroll county, but not from Anne Arundel.

The Republican loss at this election occurred largely in the western counties in the Sixth Congressional district, where Senator Wellington's personal strength is greatest. The majority of nearly 5,000 received by Congressman Pearre a year ago disappeared in the storm, and a determined onslaught upon Governor Lowndes was made in his own county of Allegany, where, in consequence of Republican dissensions and dissatisfaction with the methods of the nomination, one or two Democrats were elected. It is also observed as an interesting coincidence that Republican disaster was greatest along the route traveled by Governor Roosevelt in his speaking tour through the State. The Eastern Shore gave an old-time Democratic majority, while in the "black belt" counties, with the exception of Prince George's and Anne Arundel, the white vote was almost solidly Democratic, greatly reducing the Republican majority. In St. Mary's the revolt against the Republican leaders amounted to a revolution, electing the entire Democratic local ticket by a large majority and giving a smaller majority to the Democratic State ticket. In Baltimore city and the central counties the Republican reverse was scarcely less decisive than in the western, eastern and southern counties.

Governor Smith will be inaugurated on the second Monday of next January, and will hold office for four years at an annual salary of $4,500.

Comptroller Hering was elected for two years, at an annual salary of $3,500 and will take charge of the office on MARRIAGE OF MISS TRAVERS.

Wedded To A Son of Thomas A. Edison, The Great Electrician.

A dispatch from Elizabeth, N. J., to the Baltimore Sun under date of Tuesday, November 7th says: One of "the most fashionable weddings of the season took place to day at high noon at Sunnyside, the residence of Miss Mary Cecilia Ryan, on Garden street, at Elizabeth, in the presence of a fashionable assemblage.

The bride was Miss Blanche Fowler Travers, of Maryland, and the groom, William Leslie Edison, of New York youngest son of Thomas A. Edison, of Orange, N. J. The parlors were beautifully decorated in white, green and gold. The south bow-window, where the ceremony was performed, was a bower of palms, and white chrysanthemums and similar were used in profusion with artistic effect.

The bride was attended by her uncle, Dr. Edward Fowler, of Delaware, who gave her away. The best man was Samuel Roberts Fowler, of Syracuse, N. Y. The bride wore a tailor-made, gown of oyster colored cloth with waist of white silk and chiffon and hat to match, and carried chrysanthemums.

The marriage service of the Episcopal Church was performed by Rev. Otis A. Glazebrook, formerly of Baltimore, the benediction being pronounced by Rev. D. Newland Maynard, of New York. After congratulations had been showered upon the happy pair an elaborate breakfast was served.

The bride is a cousin of Senator John W. Daniel, of Virginia.

Although the wedding was quiet and no formal invitations were sent out, the guests were representative of Elizabeth society. Among the Southern people present were Mrs. Olive Craft, of Maryland, the bride's mother; Frederick Craft, of Maryland and Mrs. Katharine E. King, of Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Edison will take a wedding trip to Europe, and on their return live in New York.

Miss Travers is very well known here, where she has relatives, and where she resided a few years ago with her mother, Mrs. Olevia Travers, and sisters. She was a guest last spring of her aunt, Mrs. Fannie Hearn, with whom her sister, Miss Fannie Travers is now staying. Mr. Edison was a guest at the same house last Easter.

Picked up at Sea.

The schooner S. T. B. Aucamp which arrived in port last Friday with a cargo of shingles for W. B. Tilghman & Co., from Florida, had on board the mate and one seaman from the foundered schooner, Wm. M. Bird. The two unfortunate men had been in the water four days when taken up. The schooner Wm. M. Bird hailed from Philadelphia. Capt. John Barret, master. She left Charleston, S. C., Oct. 29th, loaded with lumber for New Haven, Conn. On the 30th about 11 o'clock at night, she foundered 12 miles off coast during the south west gale. So far as known only the mate and one seaman survive. The Bird was a four mast schooner rigged boat and carried six hundred thousand feet of heart lumber.

An Important Difference.

To make it apparent to thousands, who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleaning, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a coactive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all druggists.

THAT BOY OF YOURS

like the illustrious Patrick Henry—would as soon be dead as to be robbed of his liberty.

He must have liberty no matter how high it comes to you.

And in the exercise of that liberty he is bound to wear out a pair of shoes every well, let say, every once in a while. No matter how good the shoes, they will wear out—often, too.

There is only one thing to do. Buy the best shoes you can get, pay a fair price for them, thus making sure of the quality, and then—let the boy do the rest.

We believe we have a better stock of boys' shoes than any other store in town. We believe we own them as chiefly as anyone can, and we are willing to part with them at a small profit.

Bring on the boys.

What a splendid type of tireless activity is the sun as the psalmist describes it issuing like "a bridegroom from his chamber and rejoicing like a strong man to run a race." Every man ought to rise in the morning refreshed by slumber and renewed by rest, eager for the struggle of the day. But how rarely this is so. Most people rise still unrefreshed, and dreading the strain of the day's labors. The cause of this is deficient vitality and behind this lies a deficient supply of pure, rich blood, and an inadequate nourishment of the body. There is nothing that will give a man strength and energy, as will Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It does this by increasing the quantity and quality of the blood supply. This nourishes the nerves, feeds the brain, builds up enfeebled organs, and gives that sense of strength and power which makes the struggle of life a joy. The "good feeling" which follows the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" is not due to stimulation as it contains no alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant. It does not build up the body, but builds it up into a condition of sound health.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your Mothers' and grandmothers' never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Sample bottles free at drug stores of White & Leonard and L. D. Collier, Salisbury Md., also Delmar Union Store, Delmar, Del.

"Spotters" are after B. & O. conductors, and a number have been suspended pending an investigation of charges preferred against them for "knocking down" fares. A Thousand Tongues.

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of 1125 Howart st., Philadelphia, Pa., when she found that Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption had completely cured her of a hacking cough that for many years had made life a burden. All other remedies and doctors could give her no help, but she says of this Royal "Cure"—"It soon removed the pain in my chest and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the Universe." So will every one who tries Dr. King's New Discovery for any trouble of the Throat, Chest or Lungs. Price 50c. and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Dr. L. D. Collier's Drug Store; every bottle guaranteed.

Advertising will bring them every time—either a new wife or bring back the old one. A Frederick county man went to a justice of the peace for advice relative to advertising for his wife, whom he said had gone with the "other fellow." He got the advice, returned home and found that his wife had already returned—and he had merely talked about advertising.

THE ELECTION LAST TUESDAY.

The result of the election in Maryland last Tuesday confirms the oft-repeated assertion that the state is normally democratic. This claim has never been denied except by men affected by party bias. For twenty-eight consecutive years the government of the state was entrusted to the democrats, until four years ago the people rebuked the party machine, which had grown powerful and corrupt, by the election of the republican candidate, Governor Lowndes.

The Baltimore Sun, always combating corrupt methods and leading the fight for good government, supported the republican ticket in that contest, but after it had won, said then, and since, that the republican victory did not indicate that the state had renounced democratic principles, but that the people aimed at a chastisement of the party leaders; that purpose accomplished the state would return to the democratic ranks. We see the Sun's prophecy fulfilled. A very important factor, by the way, of democratic success in the campaign just closed was the support of this same Sun.

The people of the state have great cause for congratulation.

The state officers just elected are foremost citizens of the commonwealth, with established records for ability and honor. No state in the union shall boast of a fitter or more high-minded executive head.

As governor Col. Smith will give his splendid energies to the permanent advancement of the material interests of the state. The state is about to enter upon an era of progressive good government.

The poll in Wicomico county was an agreeable surprise to even the most hopeful democrats, and a bitter disappointment to optimistic republicans.

The local republican ticket was composed of good men headed by our fellow townsman, Wm. H. Jackson, whose commanding personality promised to be a dangerous obstacle in the way of democratic success. A strenuous campaign was prosecuted by the democrats but as election day approached the chances for the election of a part of their ticket seemed slender, and a partial republican success looked reasonably certain. The causes which contributed to the splendid democratic victory, therefore, are sought. The first cause undoubtedly is that Wicomico is at heart democratic. Environment and tradition will keep her so many years to come. As has already been said the democrats made a game fight and got invaluable help from the Hon. E. E. Jackson, who threw his whole energies into the contest, assisted by all the other party leaders of the county, for the fight was made with the party united.

Mr. Wm. H. Jackson was the strongest factor in the republican fight. In fact it may truthfully be said that the republican plan of campaign neutralized, if it did not weaken, the effective work of Mr. Jackson. For it must be admitted that the republican campaign played the negro question a little too strong. Race prejudice exists here as elsewhere south of Mason and Dixon's line, and while the white man in Wicomico is kind and tolerant toward his colored brother under ordinary circumstances, he quickly resents the claim of equality whispered to the negroes by unscrupulous politicians about election time.

This ante-election flattery does no violence to the vanity of the old ex-slave, but it makes many of the younger men insolent and worthless. The effect is each year more marked, and each year the white man's prejudice grows correspondingly stronger.

Other causes for democratic success may come to light, but those given will be accepted as sufficient to have carried the day in their favor.

—The Wilmington Every Evening says: "Mr. Saulsbury suggests Col. John Walter Smith, leader of the victorious Maryland Democrats, as a Presidential possibility in 1904. The suggestion will bear analysis. No doubt all the Smiths in the land would vote for him, and all the Joneses and Browns would doubtless do likewise, in the hope that their families might thereby be placed in the line of legitimate succession. This enormous support, coupled with Col. Smith's qualities as a whirlwind campaigner, would make him an irresistible candidate. But he would first have to drop the 'Walter' from his name and come before the people as plain 'John Smith.'"

The return date being played by the pea louse in Southern Maryland is causing a great deal of uneasiness. It is feared that it will extend over the entire pea-growing section of the state.

War to the death has been declared against the feline tribe by a Hagerstown clerk. The store cat walked over the keys of his employer's new cash register, and counted up "receipts" to the amount of $8.

Alice Dorman is a very fast product of Hagerstown. Alice is the daughter of Baron Wilkes, and is a very speedy young mare. She is owned by R. S. Crawford, of the aforementioned place, and recently went a mile in New York city in 2.21 without an effort, pulling her owner and another man in a buggy. A total weight of 460 pounds.

Colored hackmen of Cumberland harass every couple that lands in that town if they have the slightest symptoms of being a prospective bride and groom. The Independent says their actions are a disgrace to the place.

A Michigan furniture company is negotiating for the purchase of A. Knabe & Co's 10,000 acre timber lease of the Manor lands in Garret county. The deal will include the furniture factory at Krug, which employs several hundred hands.

Many farmers are said to be having trouble with their corn. Housed it before it was dry, and it begins to mould. There are others who have their corn trouble without the mould.

Marylanders are not falling over each other to go to the Philippines. In the enlistment for the volunteer army the state fell short of its quota by 179 men. It was expected to furnish 503.

Maryland elects a governor and full state ticket this year without U. S. Senator complications. The same conditions will not prevail again until 1911. The legislature of 1901, 1903, 1907 and 1909 will elect senators.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well. —ADOLPH L. Western Maryland College.

Excitement ran high last Saturday, when we saw Johns Hopkins football team matched with our own. Their team averages about 15lbs to the man more than our team. They of course had the choice of goals in the first half of the game. This gave them the advantage over our men, both in playing down hill and having a strong wind to their backs. With these advantages they made twelve points in the first half. The position of the teams was reversed for the second half of the game and with the advantage which this gave us we kept them from breaking through our line. Neither side scored during the second half of the game. The final score being 12 to 0 in favor of Hopkins. One of the Salisbury boys appeared in suit as a substitute for Hopkins, but fortunately no one was knocked out and his services were not needed. Prof. Black announced at supper that he had made arrangements for getting the election returns by telephone, at the same time extending an invitation to the boys to come to the Faculty room after 9 o'clock. This room was crowded with an eager, anxious crowd from nine to eleven. The week of prayer as planned by the International Committee, Young Men's Christian Association will begin next Sunday. Both associations here will observe it.

Will It Come Down---NIT

Early in the fall there met in New York men who represented fifty manufacturers of fleeced lined underwear. They met to form an organization for the benefit of the public, themselves and their employees. You might think it a trust, but it isn't; it's an association. The first thing they did was to pass a resolution then they passed the hat. They passed the resolution to raise the price at once. That's for the benefit of themselves and you. Their benefit comes in when they get better prices Yours because you'll better appreciate the present prices when you bump up against the new ones. They will regulate the output. That's for their benefit and the benefit of their employees. Their benefit will come in from the market not getting overstocked so that goods will not have to be sold at "less than cost to manufacturers." And the benefit to the employed will come when the mills shut down to stop making too much stock—they can have good long vacations. Lacy Thoroughgood wants to call your attention to this fact. Thoroughgood has today more underwear for men in stock than at any time since he began business. Thoroughgood has every kind you will want. Now Thoroughgood bought this underwear last summer when these same makers were fighting each other for business instead of fighting for each other and the goods were bought for less money than thoroughgood ever bought them for before. Now this underwear will be sold to you for less money in many instances, than it can be replaced for. Thoroughgood will sell ribbed fleeced lined shirts or drawers at 50c; natural wool shirts or drawer at 75c, $1, $1.25, $1.50. Have you seen the mercerized underwear that the young men are buying in all colors, such as blue pink or tan? You would never guess the price. The price is only 50 cents for shirts and 50c for drawers. You'll never get the same underwear for the same price again for many a day after this big lot is gone. Will you get fleeced if you buy knit fleeced now? Fleeced underwear, knit, yes, fleeced? Nit. You can buy underwear that will outwear hardware at

An Apology.

Miss Elizabeth Lamparter, our fashionable trimmer, wishes to apologize to those who were disappointed in not getting their Hats last week. The unprecedented rush in our Millinery Department caused us to disappoint customers, but in order that this shall not occur again, we have greatly increased our working force, and promise more prompt delivery in the future.

It is a source of great satisfaction for to know that our efforts to give the ladies the finest and most stylish creations in the Millinery line have been appreciated to an extent hitherto unknown to our business career. And we cannot refrain from expressing our thanks for the very liberal support of the public. We promise always the BEST, at reasonable prices.

We have just received a large invoice of Millinery goods, direct from the importers, embracing the most stylish novelties. We are in a position to meet your demands promptly and satisfactorily. A call will convince you of this

OUR FATHER'S HOUSE

DR. TALMAGE DISCOURSES ON THE HEAVENLY WORLD.God's Homestead, Bailed on the Hills of Heaven. Provides Rooms
For All—Vivid Picture of the Heavenly Home.

[Copyright, Louis Klopsch, 1899.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—In a unique way the heavenly world is discoursed upon by Dr. Talmage in this sermon under the figure of a home; text, John xiv, 2, "In my Father's house are many rooms."

Here is a bottle of medicine that is a cure all. The disciples were sad, and Christ offered heaven as an alternative, a stimulant and a tonic. He shows them that their sorrows are only a dark background of a bright picture of coming felicity. He lets them know that, though now they live on the lowlands, they shall yet have a house on the uplands. Nearly all the Bible descriptions of heaven may be figurative. I am not positive that in all heaven there is a literal crown or harp or pearly gate or throne or chariot. They may be only used to illustrate the glories of the place, but how well they do it! The favorite symbol by which the Bible presents celestial happiness is a house. Paul, who never owned a house, although he lived one for two years in Italy, speaks of heaven as a "house not made with hands," and Christ in our text, the translation of which is a little changed, so as to give the more accurate meaning, says, "In my Father's house are many rooms."

This divinely authorized comparison of heaven to a great homestead of large accommodations I propose to carry out. In some healthy neighborhood a man builds a very commodious habitation. He must have room for all his children. The rooms come to be called after the different members of the family. That is mother's room, that is George's room, that is Henry's room, that is Flora's room, that is Mary's room, and the house is all occupied. But time goes by, and the sons go out into the world and build their own homes, and the daughters are married or have talents enough singly to go out and do a good work in the world. After awhile the father and mother are almost alone in the big house, and, seated by the evening stand, they say, "Well, our family is no larger now than when we started together 40 years ago." But time goes still farther by, and some of the children are unfortunate and return to the old homestead to live, and the grandchildren come with them and perhaps great-grandchildren, and again the house is full.

God Built on the Hills.

Millennia ago God built on the hills of heaven a great homestead for a family innumerable, yet to be. At first he lived alone in that great house, but after awhile it was occupied by a very large family, cherubic, seraphic, angelic. The eternities passed on, and many of the inhabitants became wayward and left, never to return, and many of the apartments were vacant. I refer to the fallen angels. Now these apartments are filling up again. There are arrivals at the old homestead of God's children every day, and the day will come when there will be no unoccupied room in all the house.

As you and I expect to enter it and make there eternal residence, I thought you would like to get some more particulars about the many roomed homestead. "In my Father's house are many rooms." You see, the place is to be apportioned off into apartments. We shall love all who are in heaven, but there are some very good people whom we would not want to live with in the same room. They may be better than we are, but they are of a divergent temperament. We would like to meet with them on the golden streets and worship with them in the temple and walk with them on the river banks, but I am glad to say that we shall live in different apartments. "In my Father's house are many rooms." You see, heaven will be so large that if one wants an entire room to himself or herself it can be afforded.

An ingenious statistician, taking the statement made in Revelation, twenty-first chapter, that the heavenly Jerusalem was measured and found to be 12,000 furlongs and that the length and height and breadth of it are equal, says that would make heaven in size 948 sextillion 988 quintillion cubic feet, and then, reserving a certain portion for the court of heaven and the streets and estimating that the world may last a hundred thousand years, he ciphers out that there are over 5,000,000,000,000 rooms, each room 17 feet long, 16 feet wide, 15 feet high. But I have no faith in the accuracy of that calculation. He makes the rooms too small. From all I can read the rooms will be palatial, and those who have not had enough room in this world will have plenty of room at the last. The fact is that most people in this world are crowded, and, though out on a vast prairie or in a mountain district people may have more room than they want, in most cases it is a house built close to house, and the streets are crowded, and the cradle is crowded by other cradles, and the graves crowded in the cemetery other graves, and one of the rich luxuries of many people in getting out of this world will be the gaining of unhindered and uncrowded room. And I should not wonder if, instead of the room that the statistician ciphered out as only 17 feet by 16, it should be larger than any of the rooms at Berlin, St. James or Winter palace. "In my Father's house are many rooms."

A Majestic Homestead.

Carrying out still further the symbolism of the text, let us join hands and go up to this majestic homestead and see for ourselves. As we ascend the golden steps an invisible guard-man swings open the front door, and we are ushered to the right into the reception room of the old homestead. That is the place where we first meet the welcome of heaven. There must be a place where the departed spirit enters and a place in which it confronts the inhabitants celestial. The reception room of the newly arrived from this world—what scenes it must have witnessed since the first guest arrived, the victim of the first fratricide, pious Abel! In that room Christ lovingly greets all newcomers. He redeems them, and he has the right to the first embrace on arrival. What a minute when the ascended spirit first sees the Lord! Better than all we ever read about him or talked about him or sang about him in all the churches and through all our earthly lifetime will it be, just for one second, to see him. The most rapturous idea we ever had of him on sacramental days or at the height of some great revival or under the uplifted baton of an orator is a bankruptcy of thought compared with the first flash of his appearance in that reception room. At that moment when you confront each other, Christ looking upon you and you looking upon Christ, there will be an ecstatic thrill and surging of emotion that beggar all description. Look! They need no introduction. Long ago Christ chose that repentant sinner, and that repentant sinner chose Christ. Mightiest moment of an immortal history—the first kiss of heaven! Jesus and the soul! The soul and Jesus!

Life in Heaven.

But now into that reception room pour the glorified kinsfolk, enough of earthly retention to let you know them, but without their wounds or their sicknesses or their troubles. See what heaven has done for them—so radiant, so gleeful, so transportingly lovely! They call you by name. They greet you with an ardor proportioned to the anguish of your parting and the length of your separation. Father! Mother! There is your child. Sisters! Brothers! Friends! I wish you joy. For years apart, together again in the reception room of the old homestead. You see, they will know you are coming. There are so many immortals filling all the spaces between here and heaven that news like that flies like lightning. They will be there in an instant. Though they were in some other world on errand from God, a signal would be thrown that would fetch them. Though you might at first feel dazed and overawed at their supernal splendor, all that feeling will be gone at their first touch of heavenly salutation, and we will say: "Oh, my lost boy!" "Oh, my lost companion!" "Oh, my lost friend! Are we here together?" What scenes in that reception room of the old homestead have been witnessed! There met Joseph and Jacob, finding it a brighter room than anything they saw in Pharaoh's palace; David and the little child for whom he once fasted and wept; Mary and Lazarus after the heartbreak of Bethany; Timothy and grandmother Lois; Isabella Graham and her sailor son; Alfred and George Cookman, the mystery of the sea at last made manifest; Luther and Magdalene, the daughter he bemoaned; John Howard and the prisoners whom he gospelled, and multitudes without number who, once so weary and so sad, parted on earth, but gloriously met in heaven. Among all the rooms of that house there is no one that more enraptures my soul than that reception room. "In my Father's house are many rooms."

The Throneroom.

Another room in our Father's house is the throneroom. We belong to the royal family. The blood of King Jesus flows in our veins, so we have a right to enter the throneroom. It is no easy thing on earth to get through even the outside door of a king's residence. During the Franco-German war, one eventide in the summer of 1870, I stood studying the exquisite sculpturing of the gate of the Tuilleries, Paris. Lost in admiration of the wonderful art of that gate, I knew not that I was exciting suspicion. Lowering my eyes to the crowds of people, I found myself being closely inspected by the governmental officials, who, from my complexion, judged me to be a German and that for some belligerent purpose I might be examining the gates of the palace. My explanation in very poor French did not satisfy them, and they followed me long distances until I reached my hotel and were not satisfied until from my landlord they found that I was only an inoffensive American. The gates of earthly palaces are carefully guarded, and if so, how much more the throneroom! A dazzling place is it for mirrors and all costly art. No one who ever saw the throneroom of the first and only Napoleon will ever forget the letter N embroidered in purple and gold on the upholstery of chair and window, the letter N gilded on the wall, the letter N chased on the chalice, the letter N flaming from the ceiling. What a conflagration of brilliance the throneroom of Charles Emmanuel of Savoy, of Ferdinand of Spain, of Elizabeth of England, of Boniface of Italy! But the throneroom of our Father's house bath a glory eclipsing all the thronerooms that ever saw scepter wave or crown glitter or foreign ambassador bow, for our Father's throne is a throne of mercy, a throne of justice, a throne of universal dominion. We need not stand shivering and cowering before it, for our Father says we may yet one day come up and sit on it beside him. "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne." You see, we are princes and princesses. Perhaps now we move about incognito, as Peter the Great in the garb of a ship carpenter at Amsterdam or as Queen Tirzah in the dress of a peasant woman seeking the prophet for her child's cure, but it will be found out after awhile who we are when we get into the throneroom. Aye, we need not wait until then. We may by prayer and song and spiritual uplifting this moment enter the throneroom. O King, live forever! We touch the scepter and prostrate ourselves at thy feet.

The crowns of the royal family of this world are tossed about from generation to generation and from family to family. There are men comparatively young in Berlin who have seen the crown on three emperors. But whenever the coronets of this world rise or fall they are destined to meet in one place. And I look and see them coming from north and south and east and west, the Spanish crown, the Italian crown, the English crown, the Turkish crown, the Russian crown, the Persian crown—aye, all the crowns from under the great archivolts of heaven—and while I watch and wonder they are all flung in rain of diamonds around the pierced feet.

Jesus shall reign where'er the sun
Does his successive journeys run,
His kingdom stretch from shore to shore
Till sun shall rise and set no more.

Music of Heaven.

Another room in our Father's house is the music room. St. John and other Bible writers talk so much about the music of heaven that there must be music there, perhaps not such as on earth was thrummed from trembling string or evoked by touch of ivory key; but, if not that, then something better. There are so many Christian harpists and Christian composers and Christian organists and Christian choristers and Christian hymnologists that have gone up from earth, there must be for them some place of especial delectation. Shall we have music in this world of discords and no music in the land of complete harmony? I cannot give you the notes of the first bar of the new song that is sung in heaven. I cannot imagine either the solo or the doxology. But heaven means music, and can mean nothing else. Occasionally that music has escaped the gate. Dr. Fuller, dying at Beaufort, S. C., said: "Do you not hear?" "Hear what?" exclaimed the bystanders. "The music! Lift me up! Open the windows!"

In that music room of our Father's house you will some day meet the old masters, Mozart and Handel and Mendelssohn and Beethoven and Dordridge, whose sacred poetry was as remarkable as his sacred prose, and James Montgomery and William Cowper, at last got rid of his spiritual melancholy, and Bishop Heber, who sang of "Greenland's icy mountains and India's coral strand," and Dr. Raffles.

How Mrs. Pinkham HELPED MRS. GOODEN.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 12,733]

"I am very grateful to you for your kindness and the interest you have taken in me, and truly believe your medicines and advice are worth more to a woman than all the doctors in the world. For years I had female troubles and did nothing for them. Of course I became no better and finally broke down entirely. My troubles began with inflammation and hemorrhages from the kidneys, then inflammation, congestion and falling of the womb and inflammation of ovaries.

"I underwent local treatment every day for some time; then after nearly two months the doctor gave me permission to go back to work. I went back, but in less than a week was compelled to give up and go to bed. On breaking down the second time, I decided to let doctors and their medicine alone and try your remedies. Before the first bottle was gone I felt the effects of it. Three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and a package of her Sanative Wash did me more good than all the doctors' treatments and medicine.

who wrote of "High in yonder realms of light," and Isaac Watts, who went to visit Sir Thomas Abney and wife for a week, but proved himself so agreeable a guest that they made him stay 36 years, and side by side Augustus Toplady, who has got over his dislike for Methodists, and Charles Wesley, freed from his dislike for Calvinists, and George W. Bethune, as sweet as a songmaker as he was great as a preacher and the author of "The Village Hymns," and many who wrote in verse or song, in church or by eventide cradle, and many who were passionately fond of music, but could make none themselves, the poorest singer there more than any earthly prima donna and the poorest players there more than any earthly Gottschalk. Oh, that music room, the headquarters of cadence and rhythm, symphony and chant, psalm and antiphon! May we be there some hour when Haydn sits at the keys of one of his own oratorios, and David the psalmist fingers the harp, and Miriam of the Red Sea banks claps the cymbals, and Gabriel puts his lips to the trumpet and the four and twenty elders chant, and Lind and Parepa render matchless duet in the music room of the old heavenly homestead! "In my Father's house are many rooms."

Joyful Reunions.

Another room in our Father's house will be the family room. It may correspond somewhat with the family room on earth. At morning and evening, you know, that is the place we now meet. Though every member of the household have a separate room, in the family room they all gather, and joys and sorrows and experiences of all styles are there rehearsed. Sacred room in all our dwellings, whether it be luxurious with ottomans and divans and books in Russian lids standing in mahogany case or there be only a few plain chairs and a cradle. So the family room on high will be the place where the kinsfolk assemble and talk over the family experiences of earth, the weddings, the births, the burials, the festive days of Christmas and Thanksgiving reunion. Will the children departed remain children there? Will the aged remain aged there? Oh, no! Everything is perfect there. The child will go ahead to glorified maturity, and the aged will go back to glorified maturity. The rising sun of the one will rise to meridian, and the descending sun of the other will return to meridian. However much we love our children on earth, we would consider it a domestic disaster if they staid children, and so we rejoice at their growth here. And when we meet in the family room of our Father's house we will be glad that they have grandly and gloriously matured, while our parents, who were aged and infirm here, we shall be glad to find restored to the most agile and vigorous immortality there. If 40 or 45 or 50 years be the apex of physical and mental life on earth, then the heavenly childhood will advance to that, and the heavenly old age will retreat to that. When we join them in that family room, we shall have much to tell them. We shall want to know of them, right away, such things as these: Did you see us in this or that or the other struggle? Did you know when we lost our property and sympathized with us? Did you know we had that awful sickness? Were you hovering anywhere around us when we plunged into that memorable accident? Did you know of our backsliding? Did you know of that moral victory? Were you pleased when we started for heaven? Did you celebrate the hour of our conversion? And then, whether they know it or not, we will tell them all. But they will have more to tell us than we to tell them.

Ten years on earth may be very eventful, but what must be the biography of ten years in heaven? They will have to tell us the story of coronations, story of news from all immensity, story of conquerors and hierarchs, story of wrecked or ransomed planets, story of angelic victory over diabolic revolts, of extinguished suns, of obliterated constellations, of new galaxies kindled and swung, of stranded comets, of worlds on fire, and story of Jehovah's majestic reign. If in that family room of our Father's house we have so much to tell them of what we have passed through since we parted, how much more thrilling and arousing that which they have to tell us of what they have passed through since we parted! Surely that family room will be one of the most favored rooms in all our Father's house. What long lingering there, for we shall never again be in a hurry! "Let me open a window," said a humble Christian servant to Lady Raffles, who, because of the death of her child, had shut herself up in a dark room and refused to see any one. "You have been many days in this dark room. Are you not ashamed to grieve in this manner when you ought to be thanking God for having given you the most beautiful child that ever was seen, and, instead of leaving him in this world till he should be worn with trouble, has not God taken him to heaven in all his beauty? Leave off weeping and let me open a window." So today I am trying to open upon the darkness of earthly separation the windows and doors and rooms of the heavenly homestead. "In my Father's house are many rooms."

Rooms For All.

How would it do for my sermon to leave you in that family room today? I am sure there is no room in which you would rather stay than in the enraptured circle of your ascended and glorified kinsfolk. We might visit other rooms in our Father's house. There may be picture galleries pencilled not with earthly art, but by some process unknown in this world, preserving for the next world the brightest and most stupendous scenes of human history, and there may be lines and forms of earthly beauty preserved for heavenly inspection in something whiter and chaster and richer than Venetian sculpture ever wrought—rooms beside rooms, rooms over rooms, large rooms majestic rooms, opalescent rooms, amethystine rooms. "In my Father's house are many rooms."

I hope none of us will be disappointed about getting there. There is a room for us if we will go and take it, but in order to reach it it is absolutely necessary that we take the right way, and Christ is the way, and we must enter at the right door, and Christ is the door, and we must start in time, and the only hour you are sure of is the hour the clock now strikes, and the only second the one your watch is now ticking. I hold in my hand a roll of letters inviting you all to make that your home forever. The New Testament is only a roll of letters inviting you, as the spirit of them practically says: "My dying yet immortal child in earthly neighborhood, I have built for you a great residence. It is full of rooms. I have furnished them as no palace was ever furnished. Pearls are nothing, emeralds are nothing, chryso-prasus is nothing, illumined panels of sunrise and sunset nothing, the aurora of the northern heavens nothing, compared with the splendor with which I have garnished them. But you must be clean before you can enter there, and so I have opened a fountain where you may wash all your sins away. Come now! Put your weary but cleansed feet on the upward pathway. Do you not see amid the thick foliage on the heavenly hilltops the old family homestead?" "In my Father's house are many rooms."

Foreman Sanders' Error.

James Sanders, foreman of the dry goods department of the Mammoth Racket, was the victim of a pretty good joke the other day. A lady while in the store trading lost a veil, which he carefully laid up until it should be called for. Soon afterward a lady called and said to one of the clerks she had lost her baby. Mr. Sanders, being in the rear of the store and not hearing distinctly, thought she said veil, as he had that in mind, and rushed forward and asked her if it was a white or a black one. When he found out it was a baby she had lost, he retreated in a collapsed condition. —Chautau Tribune

Pride's Fall.

"Winded, eh?" sneered the automobile as it bowled past the old gray mare which had stopped to get her breath.

But almost simultaneously with the unkind words one of the puffed up tires of the automobile was punctured by a discarded hatpin that lay in the road.

Whereupon the old gray mare smiled and spared enough breath to gasp mockingly, "Winded, eh?"

Which story is told to show that even automobiles may live in glass houses and throw stones. —Brooklyn Life.

He Meant It.

"Jim is an ingenious fellow. He spent half the summer building a cottage on his new lake shore tract. It is a pretty cottage too. He's covered the outside of the ground story with terra firma."

"You mean terra cotta."

"I don't. I mean mud." —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Warning Phrase.

"What made you break off the argument so suddenly?"

"Didn't you hear what he said?" asked the cautious citizen.

"Yes. When you left, he had just said, 'Let us talk this over calmly and reasonably.'"

"That's why I went. Whenever a man says 'Let us talk it over calmly and reasonably' you may depend on his being so angry it won't take more than three words to make him fight." —Washington Star.

Placing the Responsibility.

Visitor (in penitentiary): "What brought you to this place, my friend?"

Convict: "Th' sheriff. — Ohio State Journal.

A Good Memory.

"Excuse me, sir, but haven't we met before? Your face is strangely familiar."

"Yes, madam, our host introduced us to each other just before dinner."

"Ah, I was positive I had seen you somewhere! I never forget a face." —Harlem Life.

A Blue Grass Deceiver.

The applicants for teachers' certificates in Calloway county were asked at examination to define "bric-a-brac."

One teacher answered that "bric-a-brac is something to throw at a dog." —Louisville Courier-Journal

HE KNEW HUMAN NATURE.

And had no trouble in disposing of the Old Stock.

In Dearborn street is a haberdasher—time was when they answered to a less formidable name—who counts a genius among his employees. This "favored of fortune" is a youth who once clerked in a general store in the country, and his present proprietor wonders if there are any more like him running at large in the provinces.

There had been a stock of cheap collars and cuffs on the shelves for years. Once in awhile, usually just before invoicing, these articles had been brought down, carefully dusted, tied with new baby ribbon, arranged in orderly fashion in the window and marked "9 cents" for the cuffs, "3 cents" for the collars. But patrons would none of them. Occasionally a man would come along and toss them over, attracted by the price, but that was all. They would not sell.

The country youth waited till the first hard rain. Then he took an armful of the goods and dipped them carefully in a pail of water so that about half of each article was moistened. Then he dried them in the sun at the back door and next morning heaped them in the window with this marking:

Ruined by the Rain.
Collars, 10 Cents.
Cuffs, 20 Cents.

And they went before noon. It was all the genius from the country could do to get subsequent armfuls soaked and dried fast enough to supply the demand. —Chicago Post.

Eating Like a Bird.

It isn't as polite as it is intended to be to say that a person has the appetite of a bird. If a human being ate as much proportionately as does the average bird, the sight would be disgusting. In one shrike there have been found the remains of 79 caterpillars, 24 bugs, one field mouse and one leech. A field hawk that was observed for a month is credited with a record of 1,000 mice in that time. A tame owl ate seven mice, one after the other, and three hours afterward ate four more. The robin eats on an average 14 feet of worms daily.

The End.

"What have you been writing, my dear?" asked Mrs. Beechwood of her daughter.

"These are the last sad writes, mamma," replied the girl. "This note tells Mr. Homewood that I have ceased to love him." —Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

Not a Military Cook.

His Wife—And what did she say when you offered her $13 a month? The Suburbanite—She told me contemptuously they got as much as that in the army. —Brooklyn Life.

Charles Darwin was so weak in health that but for the wife and children who saved him from trouble and gave him the leisure of a peaceful home he would probably never have made his great discoveries.

The carrier pigeon was in use by the state department of the Ottoman empire as early as the fourteenth century.

A WORD OF CAUTION.

The old saying that "a man, who is naked can't give away his shirt," is only another way of saying that you can't give what you haven't got. The man can't give "free medical advice," or any other kind of medical advice who hasn't got a medical education and a certificate to the fact, in the form of a diploma. And in this particular a woman has no more privilege than a man. She can't give medical advice without medical education and medical knowledge.

The offer of free medical advice made by Dr. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., has been imitated by so many, who without any medical qualifications claim to give "medical advice" that a word of caution is necessary.

Don't write for medical advice to any one, man or woman, who is not a physician. If they are physicians they will take the title of physicians or doctors so that you may recognize them. If they don't claim that title it is because they dare not, for fear of the law.

Do not forget that there is just as much difference in doctors as in artists. Every little town has its artist who draws and paints. But these "artists" generally paint copies of the works of great artists like Millet. There was only one Millet.

There is only one Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, such as Dr. Pierce presides over. Thousands of women come or write to Dr. Pierce who have found no help at the hands of doctors of lesser skill and narrower experience.

Any sick or ailing woman, suffering from the distressing forms of disease peculiar to women, is invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. Such consultations are absolutely private. Each letter is treated as a sacred confidence, and each answer is sent in a plain envelope, bearing no printing upon it.

In this way offensive questions and repulsive examinations may be avoided. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Messrs. John H. Farlow and Charles Massey of Berlin visited friends here Sunday.

Miss Sallie C. Middleton of Pittsville and Mr. Virgil P. Wilkins, of Parsonsburg were married Wednesday evening at the M. E. church. The Rev. Mr. Wood of Parsonsburg performed the ceremony.

Miss Esther Adkins of Willard's visited relatives here this week.

Mrs. Amanda Lewis and Mrs. Wonnell of Snow Hill are the guests of Mrs. Amanda Truitt this week.

Verdie D. Parsons son of T. A. Parsons, while out gunning with some boys Tuesday morning, carelessly picked his gun up by the muzzle hitting the hammer against a bush which fired the load in his right wrist. Dr. Freemy and Truitt dressed the wound.

GAME ON THE PENINSULA.

Birds and Rabbits Plentiful and Ducks Numerous.

The gunning season on the Eastern Shore has opened prosperously, and, notwithstanding reports to the contrary, birds fair to give good sport, despite the severe winter. In Kent county rabbits are numerous, but partridges are rather scarce, though gunners are making fairly good bags. At Centerville, Queen Anne's county, the local gunners are trying to prevent gunning for partridges, as they claim the birds should rest a season. To replace this sport fox-hunting is receiving much attention. Kent county is also indulging in this pastime to a great extent.

The two counties hunt the fox after a different fashion. Kent contains have fast dogs, and to give Reynard a chance they cut off or have its bush whenever caught. There are now three tailless foxes near Chestertown that have been run three seasons. In Queen Anne's they do not bother with Reynard's extremely, but use slow dogs so they can have an all-day chase and finish in good condition.

At Queen Anne, in the lower end of Queen Anne's county, birds and rabbits are plentiful.

In Caroline county, particularly near Denton, there are plenty of rabbits but few birds. Near Greenwood, Del., a famous gunning section, birds and rabbits are scarce, though one hunter found and killed 24 birds and nine rabbits in two days.

Talbot county is overrun with rabbits and birds are numerous, particularly along the roads from Easton to Trappe and Oxford. At St. Michael's a few birds and plenty of rabbits are reported. From St. Michael's point of view ducking is by far better sport than either bird or rabbit hunting. There are large numbers of coots on the Miles river, and some red-heads are reported on the Wye river.

Through Dorchester county gunners seem to find rabbits plentiful, but report birds scarce. Mr. Conway W. Sams spent a few days recently in Somerset county trying some dogs, and he says the season for birds will be fair to good.

There is one thing very noticeable in every county, and that is that local gunners are trying to make everyone believe that there is no game at all, in order to keep out visiting sportsmen. There is, however, no doubt that the Eastern Shore sportsmen will try to get a closed season as soon as they can, and it is generally believed that it will be for three years.

Coon hunting will be at its height about the latter part of this month. Throughout the Shore there is an abundance of these scrappy animals, and many a good night's sport will be furnished. —Baltimore News.

Fertilizing Strawberries.

How many times we have been disappointed in our strawberry crop. The fruit was not as large and fine as it should have been, and the number of quarts was not up to what we expected from the amount of fertilizer applied. We think how much more of something else could have been grown on that piece of land with the same outlay, and we feel very much like plowing up the patch. The articles we have read in the papers about enormous yields of berries, seem very much like a myth. There was manure enough put on that piece of land to make anything, we believe, and still our strawberries were a failure. And why? This is a question which many cannot answer, but as we study the nature of the strawberry, we can see where we have gone wrong, and feel encouraged to try again.

Now let us examine carefully the structure and a composition of the plant and berry, and see if our fertilizer was of the right kind, and if it was put in the right place at the right time. We find the strawberry to be comparatively a very small plant, with its root system extending little if any, beyond the spread of its leaves. When we turn to the chemical composition we find that while the vines have nearly an equal amount of phosphoric acid and potash, the fruit has three times as much potash as phosphoric acid or nitrogen. We know that a strawberry plant under proper conditions, will bear an enormous quantity of fruit for its size; indeed it has been estimated that a strawberry plant properly fertilized, taking up one square foot of ground, will bear as much fruit as a raspberry plant, which occupies sixteen square feet of ground. From this we see that the strawberry requires a great deal of plant food in a very small space to do its best; for the fertilizer must be put where the roots can reach it. Also that this plant food must consist largely of potash to insure large, fine berries.

If you have observed the strawberry plant closely, you have probably noticed that it forms its fruit crowns in the fall, as cool weather approaches, so then, if we want fine fruit and plenty of it next year, we must encourage growth at this time. A prompt thinning of the plants to eight or ten inches each way, and a liberal application of potash and phosphoric acid at this time, will be a great help. We can leave off the nitrogen until blooming time, next spring, when an application of 250 lbs. of Nitrate of soda to the acre, will do wonders. But just now we want to make good, firm fruit-crowns which will withstand the cold. The potash and phosphoric acid will be there all right next spring in better condition than ever to make berries; so we need not be afraid to put it on liberally this fall. A fertilizer analyzing 8 per cent nitrogen, 7 per cent phosphoric acid and 9 per cent potash, is about right for strawberries; but as I stated before we would leave off the nitrogen until spring. Mix 1000 pounds of acid phosphate with 400 pounds muriate of potash, and use from 1000 to 2000 pounds per acre, according to the number of plants on the ground; and we would put it close to the plants too, where there would be no doubt about their getting it.

If you have four foot matted rows with about two foot space between, there is no use putting fertilizer in the middle of this space. Broadcast it right over the rows while the plants are dry, and work in with a rake or pronged hoe. Of course there are other things necessary to a good strawberry crop, besides fertilizers. Water is an absolute necessity; and to get and hold this, the land must be full of humus, and must be kept well cultivated, and fully prepared.

The practice of mulching in the fall with stable manure has been widely advocated. We tried this once, and do not wish to repeat the experiment. Timothy, oats and several other kinds of grass and weeds took possession of our patch that year to the great detriment of the crop and our backs. Again, when we apply stable manure we are apt to overestimate the amount of plant food we are putting on, and it is difficult to get this close around the plant in sufficient quantity. Remember 100 lbs. of the fertilizer mentioned above, is nearly equal to a ton of stable manure, and it is more available form, being nearly all soluble in water, the condition in which all plant food must become before the plants can use it; while our manure must become very well rotted and fine, before the plant food in it will become available. We may safely estimate then that 20 or 30 tons of very fine manure will have to be applied to obtain the same results as one ton of the above mixture, including the nitrate of soda application.

Now I am not arguing against the use of stable manure. I use all I can get. But it should be put on the crop preceding the strawberries; preferably corn thus filling the land with humus and putting it in the ideal mechanical condition for berries, and where commercial fertilizers will act quickly.

This is what we want for berries. The crop is made in so short a time that we need lots of plant food available, all at once.

REAL ESTATE SALES.

Estate of the Late Dr. Benton H. Whaley Sold at Public Auction Saturday.

The real estate of the late Dr. Benton H. Whaley, situated in Wicomico county, was sold at public auction, Saturday, in front of the Court House door, Salisbury, by John W. Staton, trustee. This land was divided into eight parcels, all of which were sold but one.

No. 2, containing 29 acres of pine, cypress and gum timber, and 64 acres of cleared land, was bought by Horace A. Twille, at $715.00. This tract is located in Pittsburg district.

No. 3, located in same district, containing 27 acres of gum, maple and pine timber and 804 acres of cleared land, was bought by Joshua Baker, for $400.

No. 4, in same district, known as the "Big Woods," was purchased by Ebenezer G. Davis. His bid was $1,300. This tract contains 431 acres, mostly in pine timber.

No. 5, in same district, brought $1,200. The purchaser was Elsieha Parker. This tract contains 125 acres of pine, gum and cypress timber, and 208 acres of cleared land.

No. 6, in same district, containing 84 acres of gum timber, was struck off to Petey Manufacturing Co., of Whaleyville, at $104.

No. 7, in same district, was bought by King V. White and E. S. Adkins, their bid being $770. This tract contains 55 acres of pine, gum and cypress timber and 14 acres of cleared land.

No. 8, known as the "River Swamp Land" located in both Wicomico and Worcester counties, was the last tract sold. Only one fourth interest of the land in Wicomico was sold, containing about 75 acres. This interest was purchased by Edward T. Whaley at $286. The aggregate sales amounted to $4,875.00.

SUPERINTENDENT OF COLONIES.

The Rev. Mr. Joldersma An Educated And Refined Gentleman.

The Rev. R. H. Joldersma, of Chicago, who moved to this town some days ago is an appointee of the State Bureau of Immigration. His title is that of Superintendent of Colonies. Salisbury will be his head quarters. His mission on the Eastern Shore is to locate Holland Colonies in this section. The following sketch of Rev. Joldersma and his work here has been furnished the State press by the State Bureau of Immigration:

The Rev. R. M. Joldersma, till he accepted present appointment, was pastor of First Reformed Church of Chicago, Ill., enters upon his new duties as Supervisor of Colonies for the State of Maryland.

The Rev. gentleman was born in the Netherlands where he received his early education, and came to this country with his parents in early youth.

He took a full Academic and College course at Holland, Michigan, graduated from the Presb. Mc. Cormick Theological Seminary in 1884, and in the same year was ordained as a Minister in the Reformed (Dutch) Church in America. Upon graduation he was offered calls from four different churches, three of which were Presbyterian and one Reformed, the last was accepted. He served with marked success Reformed Churches at Spring Lake, Mich., and at Grand Rapids, Mich., in the latter city nearly two hundred families were gathered into the church during his ministrations of less than three years.

In 1889 his denomination honored him by calling him to the important and responsible office of Superintendent of Western Missions, in which office he served the church at large with telling results and this period has properly been designated as the most prosperous in Home Missionary activities and church extension in the Western portion of the Reformed Church.

His supervision extended over all the Reformed interests in the West and North West touching thirty States, while at the same time he was in constant touch with the Eastern portion of the church. He was frequently heard in behalf of Home Missions at the various assemblies of the denomination, and was a valued contributor to the different church periodicals. During this period several calls to important churches were declined.

At the close of 1894 he was simultaneously called by the Fourth Reformed Church of Grand Rapids, Mich., and by the First Church of Chicago one of the strongest and most influential churches in the West, the latter call was accepted. At the unanimous request of the Board of Domestic Missions, he continued, in conjunction with his pastoral to act as the Board's representative on the Western field, maintaining a general supervision and making occasional visits to strategic points. He was subsequently elected by the General Synod, as a member of named board in which capacity he serves at the present time.

While in Chicago several calls were declined, his pastorate was a brilliant success, and the church very reluctantly consented in his departure. He was honored in various ways by his church at large.

In 1893 he represented his Denomination at the National Synod of the Reformed churches in the Netherlands, then convened in historic Dort; in 1896 he was appointed delegate to the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian church, and in 1897 he acted in same official capacity in representing his church at the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church South, then convened in Charlotte, N. C. He is widely and favorably known as a scholarly, forceful and popular preacher and pastor, both in this country and in the Netherlands, and is able to minister in both the Holland and English languages.

In 1897 upon invitation of the State Bureau of Immigration he came to our State with his family to spend his vacation, and to seek restoration of his wife's impaired health, in which he succeeded. The Bureau availed itself of this opportunity to show his Reverend the advantages of our State for Holland settlers.

He made several extended trips and was favorably impressed with several sections of the State. In August 1898 he returned with his family to spend another vacation month, and at this time the subject of securing Holland settlers was considered at length, and his suggestions as to the requirements for successful Holland colonization were kindly received and cheerfully heeded. At this suggestion and under his direction, a committee of expert and practical Holland farmers examined certain lands and reported favorably.

The Bureau saw in him a born organizer and leader, and endeavored to secure him for his present position, the appointment was then made and declined, but was renewed last fall and accepted.

Rev. Joldersma comes to our State and to his present important position after a thorough investigation of our lands, as to their adaptability to his countrymen. His extended acquaintance among his people in this country and in the Netherlands, his high standing in his denomination, and his wide and diversified experience make him emphatically "the right man in the right place."

He is in the prime of life, enjoys the implicit confidence of the Holland people and has clear and definite ideas as to the requisites for Holland colonization. While his position is general he will be the special guide and counselor of the Hollanders, will frequently preach for them on Sunday, will see to it that their religious needs are supplied, and that their material interests are respected, and promoted.

Mr. Joldersma was for many years a close friend of Mr. C. W. Van der Hoogt, Secretary of the Bureau of Immigration, and it was through the influence of last named that he was induced to visit our State. He is also well acquainted with Dr. A. Kuyper, of Amsterdam, Holland, the distinguished Statesman and Divine, who honored our State with a visit in the fall of 1898, and who in a recent communication to Secretary Van der Hoogt said that he was happy to learn that Mr. Joldersma had accepted the appointment.

A Dead Man's Vote.

An election contest is threatened in Talbot county, in which the vote of a dead man may figure conspicuously. Carrington, Democrat, has 2 majority over Mulliken, Republican, for State's attorney, and the latter, in his contest, will allege that one of Carrington's votes is illegal because the ballot was cast by a dead man. J. B. Bennett, a registered voter, marked his ballot and handed it to the election officers, when he was fatally stricken and fell dead. The ballot, however, was put into the box. It would seem, if these facts are sustained in the contest, that the ballot is legal, as the man had done all of his part before he was stricken with death, and the placing of the ballot in the box was the duty of the election officer, not of the voter.

Meeting of County Commissioners.

At a meeting of the County Commissioners last Tuesday all the Board were present.

The only transaction of importance was the valuation for taxable property of the stock of the B. C. & A. Railway. Railroad Magnates on the Road.

The most elegantly appointed train that ever passed through this section was the special last Monday of President A. J. Cassatt, consisting of Mr. Cassatt's private car, a dining car, a business car and an observation car.

The train bore a party of railroad magnates who were combining business with pleasure. The business consisted in the examination of the Company's newly acquired property. The party came to Easton Monday and went to Ocean City. From Ocean City they came back to Salisbury and then started south, extending the trip to Cape Charles, Norfolk, Richmond, Fredericksburg, Washington, Baltimore and Philadelphia.

In the party were Mr. A. J. Cassatt, S. M. Prevost, S. B. Hutcheson, W. A. Paton, Willard Thompson, Geo. V. Massey, G. C. Brooks, R. L. Holliday, W. H. Joyce, C. A. Chipley, Amos R. Little.

Western Maryland College.

So far as the first team is concerned, foot ball is a thing of the past for this season. The second team, however, may play another game.

Rev. F. T. Tagg, D. D. editor of the Methodist Protestant visited Westminster as special agent for twentieth century thank offering which the Maryland conference has promised to raise by the close of the present century.

He preached to the college students in Baker Chapel Sunday evening from John 15: 14—"Ye are my friends, if ye do whatsoever I command you." It was a splendid sermon and was characterized by great spiritual power. Dr. Lewis called attention of the students to the week of prayer at the close of the service. If any of our sister colleges would like an interesting game of basket-ball, our captain is open for a challenge, and we doubt not that our team can teach them the arts of the game. REPORTER.

Unclaimed Letters.

The following is a list of the letters remaining in the Salisbury, (Md.) Post Office, Saturday, November 18, 1899:

Mrs. Maurice Morose, Mrs. Harry Morris, Mrs. Edward V. Parker, Miss Amelia P. Parsons, Miss Presella Brattad, Miss T. H. Phillips. Mr. Julius Steiner.

Persons calling for these letters will please say they are advertised.

Offer for Lake Drummond Canal.

An offer has been made by New York interests for the Lake Drummond Canal and Water Company's property. The company is controlled by Baltimoreans. It was financed by Alexander Brown & Sons. The canal was recently opened and extends from Deep Creek, Va., to Elizabeth City, North Carolina.

An Important Difference.

To make it apparent to thousands, who think themselves ill, that they are not afflicted with any disease, but that the system simply needs cleaning, is to bring comfort home to their hearts, as a coactive condition is easily cured by using Syrup of Figs. Manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all druggists.

THAT BOY OF YOURS

like the illustrious Patrick Henry—would as soon be dead as to be robbed of his liberty.

He must have liberty no matter how high it comes—to you.

And in the exercise of that liberty he is bound to wear out a pair of shoes every—well, let's say, every once in a while. No matter how good the shoes, they will wear out—often, too.

There is only one thing to do. Buy the best shoes you can get, pay a fair price for them, thus making sure of the quality, and then—let the boy do the rest.

We believe we have a better stock of boys' shoes than any other store in town. We believe we own them as cheaply as anyone can, and we are willing to part with them at a small profit.

Bring on the boys.

Some Points On The Pear Blight.

This disease takes in all of the apple family, viz; Pear, quince, apple, Junberry, haw and all allied kinds, and the disease sometimes strikes some of the forest trees, especially some of the oak, as the writer has noticed the pin oak, post oak and bur oak that, apparently, every twig on the tree was dead, operating with the oak about the same as with the apple. We find twig blight is the most prevalent in wet, hot seasons. This fact shows plainly that twig blight and foot rot is caused largely by an over supply of nitrogen through a rapid decomposition of the humus and by the gorge of nitrogen with an insufficient supply of available phosphoric acid and potash places the tissue in such a tender condition that proper digestion can not possibly perform the required function of the food. Thus there exists a clear case of indigestion or dyspepsia. In the primitive times when desperate questions had to be answered by rigid means, the horrors of an endless torment were held up before the world to illustrate and prove the glories, beauties and reality of Heaven. The last few years have brought forward the jeremiade, bacteria theory, presented in a holy horror to the people leaving the impression that the term bacteria, or animalcule, animalized the insect creation that meant death to, not only the higher order of the animal kingdom, but would lay waste to the vegetable creation. Microbes, bacteria and animalcules was and is a part of creation, and of the thousands of varieties of the microbes existing and have existed from the time there was life, there are only very few that are injurious to life or health, but without microbes life would soon be extinct, bacteria, (bacterium) is supposed to be an animal organism of the lowest grade. The germ theory hereends and reason can not go any further on this line with the twig blight. Here the therapeutic science of horticulture has to start from nothing to find a remedy for the dread disease. Twig blight is not the first cause no more than fever is the disease. There fore to reach a remedy the cause must first be removed. The cause of twig, limb and stalk blight and foot rot is largely due to an improporioned food ration. Horticultural chemistry is the scientific system by which to supply proper ration in plant food. This can be done by proper fertilizers applied to the soil, but is difficult to control in the food taken from the air. We find, however, that the mineral food is taken up from the ground in a liquid form by the fiber roots, carried to the woody roots, which is the stomach or storehouse of the plant food, and by them distributed as the growth of the tree demands. The proper ratio of plant fertilizer for the apple is nitrogen, 2 per cent; available phosphoric acid 8 per cent; potash 12 per cent. About the same ratio is required for the standard pear, but as the pear sends its roots deeper into the subsoil it is necessary to give a heavier dressing to the soil for pear than is required for the apple, and give the following material to be used as the equivalent for the above: "Nitrate of soda, 50 to 100 pounds, of sulphate of ammonia 50 to 80 pounds, or dried blood 80 to 160 pounds, or dissolved bone 200 to 400 pounds, or acid phosphate 250 to 500 pounds, or muriate potash 100 to 200 pounds, or sulphate of potash 100 to 200 pounds or kainit potash 400 to 800 pounds per acre. Under most conditions cut down rather than add the nitrogen either for the apple or pear, as a surplus of nitrogen produces wood growth at the expense of fruit. For the best results this fertilizer must be supplied each year to bearing orchards. Avoid humus in bearing pear orchards, especially is this true with stable manure. A clay soil mixed with gravel is the best for pear. The fact of isolated pear trees, here and there, over the country, standing without any special attention, giving fair to good crops of fruit almost every year, hale and hearty into old age, is not proof conclusive that the progeny of these trees would succeed anywhere and every place under various conditions and surrounding. It is in reason, and possible, to make pear culture profitable, and in many localities successful by a careful observation and appliance of soil chemistry taken from a scientific standpoint. —S. H. Linton, in Southern Fruit and Truck Grower.

A HOT DAY EPISODE.

The Young Man Wanted a Book That Would Freeze His Blood.

"Have you anything horrible in stock?" asked the young man with the limp collar and the suffused brow as he walked into the lair of the bookseller.

"By any particular author?"

"I couldn't specify. To tell you the truth, I ain't literary. But a friend of mind was describing something he read, and I have been thinking that maybe books have more sense in 'em than I gave 'em credit for. I forgot the name of it, but anything in that line'll do."

"There are some ghost stories over on that shelf."

"May I read a little in 'em just to sample the goods?"

"Certainly."

In less than a quarter of an hour he came back to the bookseller.

"It'll take too long to find out that way," he said. "I haven't seen anything yet that fills the bill."

"I'm afraid we haven't what you want in stock."

"I'll get my friend to give me the title and then come back. He said it would be something that would freeze the blood in your veins and make your hair stand on end. If I could find something to do that, I'd be the most liberal customer you ever sold to. I'm dead tired of having the blood go through my veins like hot water through the pipes of a Turkish bath, and if I could get something that would make my hair stand on end awhile so the breeze could get through it I'd give you the biggest bill in my salary envelope and never say a word except 'keep the change.'"—Washington Star.

It will not be a surprise to any who are at all familiar with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, to know that people everywhere take pleasure in relating their experience in the use of that splendid medicine and in telling of the benefit they have received from it, of bad colds it has cured, of threatened attacks of pneumonia it has averted and of the children it has saved from attacks of croup and whooping cough. It is a grand, good medicine. For sale by R. K. Truitt & Son's.

The Anne Arundel grand jury found 76 presentments, including two murder cases, Wyatt and Armstrong, alias Gross, colored, for the killing of Capt. Gaulk and Ferdinand A. Robinson, respectively.

A childless home is a cheerless home. The maternal instinct exists in every woman, and when it is ungratified she is deprived of much of the happiness of life. It often happens that childlessness is due to some cause, which can be removed, and often is removed by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The vigor and vitality which this remedy imparts to the delicate womanly organs, puts them in a condition of normal health, the lack of which is often the sole obstruction to maternity. Every woman should read Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages and 700 illustrations. It is sent entirely free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one cent stamps for the paper bound volume, or 31 one cent stamps for cloth covered. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, 668 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

To be bound hand and foot for years by the chains of disease is the worst form of slavery. George D. Williams, of Manchester, Mich., tells how such a slave was made free. He says: "My wife has been so helpless for five years that she could not turn over in bed alone. After using two bottles of Electric Bitters, she is wonderfully improved and able to do her own work." This supreme remedy for female diseases quickly cures nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, headache, backache, fainting and dizzy spells. This miracle working medicine is a godsend to weak, sickly, rundown people. Every bottle guaranteed. Only 25 cents. Sold by L. D. Collier, Druggist.

"The Blackness of Sin" was the appropriate text of a sermon preached in Hagerstown jail Sunday by Rev. E. E. Fisher, and directed principally to Sam Johnson, colored, the condemned assailant of little Annie Kerfoot. Of course Johnson was asked if he was preparing for the hereafter. He answered: "All I can in my weakness." and then burst into tears. He invited the 125 persons who attended the services back to see him often, as his time is getting short.

Does It Pay to Buy Cheap?

A cheap remedy for coughs and cold, is all right, but you want something that will relieve and cure the more severe and dangerous results of throat and lung troubles. What shall you do? Go to a warmer and more regular climate? Yes, if possible; if not possible for you, then in either case take the only remedy that has been introduced in all civilized countries with success in severe throat and lung troubles, 'Boesche's German Syrup.' It not only heals and stimulates the tissues to destroy the germ disease, but allays inflammation, causes easy expectoration, gives a good night's rest and cures the patient. Try one bottle. Recommended many years by all druggists in the world. Sample bottles at White & Leonard and L. D. Collier, Salisbury, Md., also Delmar Union Store, Delmar, D. C.

"Our party must carry out its pledges," said Col. Victor Baughman, while addressing the Democratic victory jubilee at Frederick, adding: "I have no favors to ask, and I want to tell the people that the 'old boss' doesn't want anything."

Remarkable Rescue.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes a statement, that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs, she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. Her druggist suggested Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption; she bought a bottle and to her delight found herself benefited from first dose. She continued its use and after taking six bottles, found herself sound and well; now does her own housework, and is as well as she ever was. Free trial bottle of this Great Discovery at L. D. Collier's Drug Store. Only 50 cents and $1.00, every bottle guaranteed.

In all stages of Nasal Catarrh there should be cleanliness. An experience proves Ely's Cream Balm is a cleanser, soothes and healer of the diseased membrane. It is not drying or irritating, and does not produce sneezing. Price 50 cents at druggist or it will be mailed by Ely's Brothers, 56 Warren St., New York. Upon being placed into the nostrils it spreads over the membrane and relief is immediate. It is an agreeable cure.

Oderton, Anne Arundel county, is greatly alarmed over a threatened epidemic of diphtheria, and the public school has been closed. Four children of Shelby Clark, living near Oderton, have died with the disease within the past 10 days.

Used by British Soldiers in Africa.

Capt. C. G. Dennison is well known all over Africa as commander of the forces that captured the famous rebel Gallahe. Under date of November 4, 1897, from Vryburg, Bechuanaland, he writes: "Before starting on the last campaign I bought a quantity of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used myself when troubled with bowel complaint, and had given to my men, and in every case it proved most beneficial." For sale by R. K. Truitt & Son's.

R. S. Dillon, a Hancock hooper, has made 15,000 apple barrels so far this season, and still the demand exceeds the supply.

The 41st annual meeting of the Local Preachers' and Exhorters' association, of the Wilmington M. E. conference, was held at Newport, Cecil county, Saturday and Sunday.

Beauty is Blood Deep. Clean blood means a clean skin. No beauty without it. Cascarets, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all impurities from the body. Post Office at Salisbury, Md.,

I hereby certify the SALISBURY ADVERTISER, a newspaper published at this place, has been determined by the Third Assistant Postmaster-General to be a publication entitled to admission in the mails at the pound rate of postage, and entry of it as such is accordingly made upon the books of this office. Valid while the character of the publication remains unchanged.

E. H. ADKINS, Postmaster.

The election is past, and the democratic party remains in control of the county's affairs. The public officials chosen by the will of the people at the recent election will very soon be inducted into office and upon them will rest an important responsibility. They will be responsible to the people, their party and to themselves for the kind of government we shall have.

The people will look to them for peace and good order,

For a judicious expenditure of the public funds.

Upon the Board of Commissioners—the disbursing body of the county—rests an especial obligation to the public. They are the guardians of the public finances, and upon them depends whether or not the people shall always get an equivalent for each expenditure. It is such an easy matter to innocently disburse large sums of money upon that class of public improvements which prove of very transitory duration. This is instanced in the old policy of maintaining the roads. Perhaps more public money has been squandered in the State of Maryland (this county no exception) upon the dirt roads and the make belief bridges than would have been necessary to pay the interest and a large annual installment upon a bonded debt contracted for the construction and maintenance of a system of macadamized highways.

The prevailing system, or lack of system, is time-honored, and nobody in particular is to blame, but recent boards of commissioners in this county are to be credited with a partially successful attempt to break away from the old wasteful method, and with expending money for a class of materials and work the good results of which is lasting. The shell roads leading into Salisbury from all directions bear testimony to their wisdom and progressive forethought.

The new commissioners, when they come into office, could not make a better initiative than to push along the good work. The Tony Tank road, the road leading out toward Quantico, passed Mr. Jackson's farm, the Spring Hill and the Middle Neck roads, all should receive the attention of the new commissioners and the shells extended each year until these main arteries of travel shall be graded and shelled from one end to the other.

MR. HAYES MAYOR.

The Hon. Thomas Gordon Hayes was inaugurated as Mayor of the city of Baltimore last Wednesday. He took the office at 12 41 o'clock in the chamber of the First Branch of the City Council in the presence of a distinguished gathering.

The Council chamber was crowded during the ceremony. Outside in the corridors and ante-rooms were more people who had been unable to get into the room where the inauguration ceremonies took place. On the lower floors of the building hundreds of Democrats were gathered awaiting the signal for the beginning of the public reception, when they were all admitted to the Mayor's reception-room.

Mr. Hayes promises the city reduction of taxes, increase of revenues, police reorganization, the merit system and no politics.

The skies have been earnestly scanned by Salisbury people each night this week to catch a sight of the "falling stars" which the astronomers promised should reward the vigilant. The result has been disappointing. It must be confessed that our people accepted the promise of the "wise men" with misgivings, but when the Baltimore Sun came out and said unqualifiedly that it should be so, Salisbury people, in common with all well-regulated Marylanders, accepted the dictum without reservation. We suspect that the old man who manages this branch of the celestial pyrotechnics, withheld the display so as to shake our faith in the Sun's infallibility. If that's his game he may be—"meteored."

Political Gossip.

Cecil county Democrats have already held a conference and made out a list of local appointments to be recommended to the Governor. There is some talk of contesting the election of F. Ambrose Price as Sheriff on the ground that he has not been a resident of Cecil county five years.

Mr. L. Wesley Beauchamp, who was the Democratic candidate for County Commissioner in Somerset county, has filed a petition in the Circuit Court contesting the election of his Republican opponent, Mr. Joseph Muir, who was returned elected by a plurality of 33. Mr. Beauchamp asks for a recount of the ballots, charging a number of irregularities in the vote.

By the official count of the vote in Talbot county Mr. Charles Mullikin, Republican candidate for State's Attorney has a majority of 10 over his Democratic opponent, Mr. Charles S. Carrington. The entire Democratic ticket was elected with the exception of Carrington. Farmer William Willis, who was the silver Democratic candidate for Congress against Governor-Elect Smith last year, was elected to the House of Delegates on the Democratic ticket in Talbot county this year.

Catarrh Can Be Cured.

By eradicating from the blood the scrofula taints which cause it. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh, promptly and permanently, because it strikes at the root of the trouble.

The rich, pure blood which it makes, circulating through the delicate passages of the mucous membrane, soothes and rebuilds the tissues, giving them a tendency to health instead of disease, and ultimately curing the affection.

At the same time Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens, invigorates and energizes the whole system and makes the debilitated victim of catarrh feel that new life has been imparted.

Do not dally with snuffs, inhalants or other local applications, but take Hood's Sarsaparilla and cure catarrh absolutely and surely by removing the causes which produce it.

The voice of Oliver Schereiner rings true and clear for liberty for our country and her sex. Of all the champions of the Boers in their present difficulty with England none is more logical and more fervent than the famous author of 'The Story of a South African Farm' and 'Dreams.' Mrs. Schereiner brings into the fight for her countrymen the same brilliant logic, high intelligence and remarkable talent that she has displayed in the November "Cosmopolitan Magazine" in her article on The Woman Question. She has made this subject a special study for ten years, and pleads the cause of her sex with a loftiness of purpose and a strength of argument that will command instant and world-wide attention. The article is the most notable pronouncement on this eternal question that has been printed in the last ten years. It will be concluded in the December number.

Inspecting The B. C. and A.

Easton, Md., Nov. 18.—A party of Pennsylvania Railroad officials, including President Cassatt, assistants to the president William A. Patton and Samuel Rea, General Manager S. M. Prevost and nearly all of the directors of the company started this morning on a three days' tour of inspection over the newly acquired Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railroad. They will also inspect the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Branch, spending much of their time in and around Norfolk and Richmond.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well. —ADOLPH L. MILLETT, Manchester, N. H. For sale by R. K. Truitt & Son's.

The November Cosmopolitan will bring pleasant recollections to the millions who saw the recent Dewey celebration in New York, and will give other millions the first adequate idea of those remarkable days. It contains a very fine collection of pictures of scenes in the metropolis when the Admiral was welcomed home.

The fine residence of Ernest Adams, near Highland, Howard county, was totally destroyed by fire Saturday. A defective flue is supposed to have been the cause. Part of the contents were saved. Insured for $3,400.

WHITE AGATE WARE.

While in New York last week we purchased several cases of the new rage in Agate Ware. This ware has never been introduced here before, and we are sure that an inspection of it will induce every inspector to become a purchaser. For durability and Cleanliness, there is no ware on the market today that can equal it. For the farmer, the laborer, and the esthetic house-wife it will fill a long felt want. We have the ware in

PITCHERS, VEGETABLE DISHES, DINNER PLATES, OF VARIOUS SIZES, WASH BOWLS, ETC., ETC.

We bought enough of the ware to get it at prices which will enable us to sell it to the public at

VERY LOW FIGURES.

Call and take a look at it. It is on exhibition in our show windows and on two large tables at our store.

Don't forget that we are headquarters for those wonderful Air-Tight Stoves. We have a very large stock of these and other stoves.

Local Department.

—The Quantico Social Circle will give a "tie" party in Turpin's hall, Quantico, on Saturday evening November 18th. The public are cordially invited.—Committee.

—Revival services will commence at Asbury M. E. Church next Sunday. Rev. Mr. Prettyman will be assisted next week by Rev. W. W. Sharp of Delmar. All are cordially invited.

—The Mite Society of Asbury M. E. Church will hold a supper in the Little Opera House, Saturday evening, November 18th. There will be served oysters in every style, chicken salad, and ice cream. Come and bring your friends.

—The remains of Charles Birkhead, son of William Birkhead of this city were interred in Parsons cemetery Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Birkhead was twenty-five years old and unmarried. He resided in Philadelphia at the time of his death.

—Dr. George W. Truitt, of Roland Park, Baltimore county was elected to the legislature by a handsome majority. Dr. Truitt served in the legislature from Wicomico county in 1888, Messrs. I. N. Hearn and J. K. Covington being his associates.

An alarm of fire was sounded at noon Wednesday, and it met a prompt response by the fire department. The Misses Fish's ash barrel had caught in a blaze but some heroic ladies whose houses are near by, had put the fire out before the firemen could arrive.

—A very pretty wedding took place Wednesday evening, November 15, at the home of Mr. Frank Moore, when his daughter, Miss Mollie, was married to Mr. Wm. H. Brittingham in the presence of a large company of friends. Rev. C. W. Prettyman performed the ceremony.

—Mr. Frank Mitchell has sold his residence on Bush street to Mrs. Thos. J. Turpin of Quantico. Mr. and Mrs. Turpin will occupy the property in the near future. Mr. Mitchell has also sold a house in California. He expects to build in the near future but has not yet selected a site.

—A writer for the Peninsula Methodist requests that every secular paper on the peninsula advise its readers to read Paul's letter to the Ephesians chapter 5. The ADVERTISER recommends any part of the bible as suitable reading matter for its constituency.

—Mr. George Whartman of the Peninsula hotel has a Dewey plant of which he is very proud. He received it as a gift from a friend in Philadelphia. The species is a native of Manila and before the battle of Manila it was called the acalypho sanderiana but ever since then, it has been called after Dewey.

—Mrs. O. J. Schneck received a letter Friday from Miss Annie Naylor, who, with her mother, went to Colorado several weeks ago to be with Dr. Naylor, who had been stricken with a fatal malady while visiting his son, Dr. Robt. Naylor, Jr. The letter stated that Dr. Naylor was sinking rapidly, and could not long survive.

Mr. Samuel H. Carey of the firm of Birkhead & Carey of this city, purchased the estate of the late Josiah McGrath, sold by Messrs. Jay Williams and Robert P. Graham trustees, at the court house door last Saturday. The price paid was $3,075. The estate consisted of improved farm land aggregating 331 acres. Mr. Carey has since sold all but the home tract to Mr. John W. McGrath.

—A freight train collided with a construction train on the P. W. & B. railroad between Laurel and Seaford Saturday resulting in a bad wreck. No lives were lost. The down mail due here just before noon was delayed, as it was necessary for that train to take the Cambridge track at Seaford and reach Salisbury via Hurlock over the newly acquired B. C. & A. division. The loop was made without the necessity of using the line of any other company, as the Pennsylvania now owns both the Cambridge and B. C. & A. roads.

—Mr. W. B. Wilson of Hebron was married last Wednesday evening to Miss Minnie Phillips, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Phillips, of Tyaskin. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Gwynn in the church at Hebron at 8.30 o'clock. The wedding march was played by Miss Addie Pollitt of Rockawalking. The bride wore white organ and lace. After the ceremony the bridal party drove to the residence of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Phillips, of Hebron, where a reception was held. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will reside at Hebron.

—Mr. H. N. Messick has sold a two thirds interest in his mill at Mardela Springs to Messrs. Tawes & Douglass of Crisfield. It is reported that the machinery will be removed to Crisfield next spring.

—Mrs. Mary E. Smith is occupying the new house just completed for her on Broad street. A tenant house on the same lot facing East Church street is nearing completion. These dwellings have taken the place of two old and unsightly buildings, and the improvement is very marked.

—One of the longest daily through car services in the world was inaugurated by the Santa Fe road last Sunday. This line is now operating a daily first class sleeper between Kansas City, Mo., and the City of Mexico. The distance between the two points is 2,396 miles. During the entire run there will be no change whatever.

—Ratliffe Manor, in Talbot county, the estate of Mrs. Charles H. Gibson, advertised to be sold at mortgagee's has been sold at private sale to Mrs. Gibson's son and daughter—Lieut. Richard Charmichael Holliday, civil engineer, United States Navy, Mare Island, Cal., and Mrs. William Percy Semple, of Louisville, Ky.

—Mr. R. McKenney Price began the erection this week of a two story dwelling on the lot recently purchased of Mr. J. C. White on Walnut Street. The house will be modeled on the plan of the houses occupied by Mrs. Louisa Graham and Mr. Walter B. Miller, across the street. Mr. Price has sold a tenement house in California to Mrs. Annie V. Ellis of Snow Hill who will shortly move here and occupy it.

—The New Pipe organ in Delmar M. E. Church will be opened and dedicated on Sunday 19th. All day service. Love feast 9 a. m. Preaching 10 a. m., 3 p. m., and 9.30 p. m. Rev. C. W. Prettyman D. D., will be with us. Special music Anthems, Solos etc. Mrs. Walter of Delmar will sing a solo and also Miss Marce of Philadelphia. The public cordially invited.—Rev. W. W. Sharp.

—A family reunion was held at the residence of Mr. Irving Kennerly in Quantico last Sunday. Mr. Kennerly has been in feeble health for some time past but was well enough to preside at the excellent dinner served to the guests. There were present Mr. and Mrs. I. H. White and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Sewall T. Evans and two children, Mrs. Elmer T. Beauchamp, Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Acworth and three children, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Kennerly and child, Mr. and Mrs. Saml. Phillips and family.

AT THOROUGHGOOD'S BIRTHDAY - PARTY

Which occurs tomorrow, Saturday, November 18, 1899, on his thirteenth anniversary among you, there will be no music except the music of rattling change which he will save every buyer of a Suit or Hat. There will be no decorations except the decorations on some of the handsomest garments for men which Thoroughgood has been able to find. There will be no pictures thrown in, unless you count the pictures of several distinguished ex-Americans whose portraits adorn bank notes which Thoroughgood expects to give you back in change that you didn't expect to get. There will be no bargain tables where old clothing will be marked up and down according to the weather report. There will be twenty thousand dollars worth of new fall ready made Clothing, such as Men's Suits and Men's Overcoats, Boys' Suits and Boys' Overcoats, Men's Hats and Boy's Hats, to greet you. The invitation which Thoroughgood extends you is a cordial one, to come and see Thoroughgood's store and Thoroughgood's prices on fine goods, everybody is invited. The ministers, the doctors, the lawyers, the farmers, the mechanics, the ice man, and the milk man, and all their acquaintances.

GOD'S ETERNAL PLAN.

WORLD NOT GOVERNED AT HAPHAZARD, SAYS DR. TALMAGE.

[Copyright, Louis Klopsch, 1890.]
WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—The idea that things in this world are at loose ends and going at haphazard is in this discourse combated by Dr. Talmage. The text is, Psalms cxix, 89, "Forever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven."

This world has been in process of change ever since it was created—mountains born, mountains dying, and they have both cradled and grave. Once this planet was all fluid, and no being such as you or I have ever seen could have lived on it a minute. Our hemisphere turns its face to the sun and then turns its back. The axis of the earth's revolution has shifted. The earth's center of gravity is changed. Once flowers grew in the arctic, and there was snow in the tropic. There has been a redistribution of land and sea, the land crumbling into the sea, the sea swallowing the land. Ice and fire have fought for the possession of this planet. The chemical composition of it is different now from what it once was. Volcanoes once terribly alive are dead, not one throb of fiery pulse, not one breath of vapor—the ocean changing its amount of saline qualities. The internal fires of the earth are gradually eating their way to the surfaces—upheaval and subsidence of vast realms of continent.

Moravians in Greenland have removed their boat poles because the advancing sea submerged them. Linnaeus records that in 87 years a great stone was 100 feet nearer the water than when he wrote. Forests have been buried by the sea, and land that was cultured by farmer's hoe can be touched only by sailor's anchor. Loch Nevis of Scotland and Dingle Bay of Ireland and the floods of Norway, where pleasure boats now float, were once valleys and glens. Many of the islands of the sea are the tops of sunken mountains. Six thousand miles of the Pacific ocean are sinking. The diameter of the earth, according to scientific announcement, is 180 miles less than it was. The entire configuration of the earth is altered. Hills are denuded of their forests. The frosts and the waters and the air bombard the earth till it surrenders to the assault. The so-called "everlasting hills" do not last. Many railroad companies cease to build iron bridges because the iron has a life of its own, not a vegetable life or an animal life, but a metallic life, and when that life dies the bridge goes down. Oxidation of minerals is only another term for describing their death. Mosses and seaweeds help destroy the rocks they decorate.

Earth's Changes.
The changes of the inanimate earth only symbolize the moral changes. Society ever becomes different for better or worse. Boundary lines between nations are settled until the next war unsettles them. Uncertainty strikes through laws and customs and legislation. The characteristic of this world is that nothing in it is settled. At a time when we hoped that the arbitration planned last summer at The Hague, Holland, would forever sheathe the sword and spike the gun and dismantle the fortress the world has on hand two wars which are digging graves for the flower of English and American soldiery. From the presence of such geological and social and national and international unrest we turn with thanksgiving and exultation to my text and find that there are things forever settled, but in higher latitudes than we have ever trod. "Forever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven."

High up in the palace of the sun at least five things are settled—that nations which go continuously and persistently wrong perish; that happiness is the result of spiritual condition and not of earthly environment; that this world is a schoolhouse for splendid or disgraceful graduation; that with or without us the world is to be made over into a scene of arborecence and purity; that all who are adjoined to the unparalleled One of Bethlehem and Nazareth and Golgotha will be the subjects of a supernal felicity without any taking off.

Do you doubt my first proposition—that nations which go wrong perish. We have in this American nation all the elements of permanence and destruction. We need not borrow from others any trowels for upbuilding or torches for demolition. Elements of ruin—nihilism, infidelity, agnosticism, Sabbath desecration, lechery, sensuality, extravagance, fraud; they are all here. Elements of safety—God worshiping men and women by the scores of millions, honesty, benevolence, truthfulness, self sacrifice, industry, sobriety and more religion than has characterized any nation that has ever existed; they are all here. The only question is as to which of the forces will gain dominance—the one class ascendant, and this United States government, I think, will continue as long as the world exists; the other class ascendant, and the United States goes into such small pieces that other governments would hardly think them worth picking up.

Cemetery of Nations.
Have you ever noticed the size of the cemetery of dead nations, the vast Greenwood and Pere le Chaise, where mighty kingdoms were buried? Open the gate and walk through this cemetery and read the epitaphs. Here lies Carthage, born 100 years before Rome, great commercial metropolis on the bay of Tunis, a part of an empire that gave the alphabet to the Greeks and their great language to the Hebrews; her arms the terror of nations, commanding a one-time 15,000 miles of coast; her Hamlet leading forth 30 myriads, or 300,000 troops; her Hannibal carrying out in manhood the oath he had taken in boyhood to preserve eternal enmity to Rome, leaving costly and imposing monuments at Agrigentum a ghastly heap of ruins; Carthage, her colonies on every coast, her ships plowing every sea; Carthage—where are her splendors now? All extinguished. Where are her swordsmen? The last one broken. Where are her towers and long ranges of magnificent architecture? Buried under the sands of the Bagradas. As ballast of foreign ships much of her radiant marble has been carried away to build the walls of transmediterranean cathedrals, while other blocks have been blasted in modern times by the makers of the Tunis railway. And all of that great and mighty city and kingdom that the tourist finds today is here and there a broken arch of what was once a 50 mile aqueduct. Our talented and genial friend, Henry M. Field, in one of his matchless books of travel, labors hard to prove that the slight ruins of that city are really worth visiting. Carthage buried in the cemetery of dead nations. Not one altar to the true God did she rear; not one of the Ten Commandments but she conspicuously violated. Her doom was settled in heaven when it was decided far back in the eternities that the nation and kingdom that will not serve God shall perish.

Brethren of Discord.
Walk on in the cemetery of nations and see the long lines of tombs—Thebes and Tyre and Egypt and Babylon and Medo-Persian and Macedonian and Roman and Saxon heptarchy, great nations, small nations, nations that lived a year and nations that lived 500 years.

Our own nation will be judged by the same moral laws by which all other nations have been judged. The judgment day for individuals will probably come far on in the future. Judgment day for nations is every day, every day weighed, every day approved or every day condemned. Never before in the history of this country has the American nation been more surely in the balances than it is this minute. Do right, and we go up. Do wrong, and we go down. I am not so anxious to know what this statesman or that warrior thinks we had better do with Cuba and Porto Rico and the Philippines as I am anxious to know what God thinks we had better do. The destiny of this nation will not be decided on yonder capitoline hill or at Manila or at the presidential ballot box, for it will be settled in heaven.

Another thing decided in the same high place is that happiness is the result of spiritual condition and not of earthly environment. If we who may sometimes have a thousand dollars to invest find it such a perplexity to know what to do with it and soon after find that we invested it where principal and interest have gone down through roguery or panic, what must be the worryment of those having millions to invest and whose losses correspond in magnitude with their resources! People who have their three or four dollars a day wages are just as happy as those who have an income of $500,000 a year. Sometimes happiness is seated on a footstool and sometimes misery on the throne. All the gold of earth in one chunk cannot purchase five minutes of complete satisfaction. Worldly success is an atmosphere that breeds the maggots of envy and jealousy and hate. There are those who will never forgive you if you have more emoluments or honor or ease than they have. To take you down is the dominant wish of most of those who are not as high as you are. They will spend hours and days and years to entrap you. They will hover around newspaper offices to get one mean line printed depreciating you. Your heaven is their hell.

A dying president of the United States said many years ago in regard to his lifetime of experience, "It doesn't pay." The leading statesmen of America in letters of advice warn young men to keep out of politics. Many of the most successful have tried in vain to drown their trouble in strong drink. On the other hand, there are millions of people who on departing this life will have nothing to leave but a good name and a life insurance whose illumined faces are indices of illumined souls. They wish everybody well. When the fire bell rings, they do not go to the windows at midnight to see if it is their store that is on fire, for they never owned a store, and when the September equinox is abroad they do not worry lest their ships founder in a gale, for they never owned a ship, and when the nominations are made for high political office they are not fearful that their name will be overlooked, for they never applied for office. There is so much heartiness and freedom from care in their laughter that when you hear it you are compelled to laugh in sympathy, although you know not what they are laughing about.

When the children of that family assemble in the sitting room of the old homestead to hear the father's will read, they are not fearful of being cut off with a million and a half dollars, for the old man never owned anything more than the farm of 75 acres, which yielded only enough plainly to support the household. They have more happiness in one month than many have in a whole lifetime. Would to God I had the capacity to explain to you on how little a man can be happy and on how much he may be wretched! Get your heart right, and all is right. Keep your heart wrong, and all is wrong. That is a principle settled in heaven.

School of Life.
Another thing decided in that high place is that this world is a schoolhouse or college for splendid or disgraceful graduation. We begin in the freshman class of good or evil and then pass into the sophomore and then into the junior and then into the senior, and from that we graduate angels or devils. In many colleges there is an "elective course," where the student selects what he will study—mathematics or the languages or chemistry or philosophy—and it is an elective course we all take in the schoolhouse or university of this world.

We may study sin until we are saturated with it or righteousness until we are exemplifications of it. Graduate we all must, but we decide for ourselves the style of graduation. It is an elective course. We can study generosity until our every word and every act and every contribution of money or time will make the world better, or we may study meanness until our soul shall shrink up to a smallness unimaginable. We may, under God, educate ourselves into a self control that nothing can anger or into an intransigibility that will ever and anon keep our face flushed with wrath and every nerve a quiver. Great old schoolhouse of a world in which we are all being educated for glory or perdition!

Some have wondered why graduation day in college is called "commencement day" when it is the last day of college exercises, but graduation days are properly called commencement day. To all the graduated it is the commencement of active life, and our graduation day from earth will be to us commencement of our chief life, our larger life, our more tremendous life, our eternal life. But what a day commencement day on earth is! The student never sees any day like it. At any rate, I never did. Old Niblo's theater in New York comes back to me, the gowned and tassel haired professors behind us, and our kindred and friends before us and above us, and the air redolent with garlands to be thrown to us. What a commencement day it was for all of us about to graduate! But mightier day will it be when we graduate from this world. Will it be hisses of condemnation or handclapping of approval? Will there be flogs to us nettles or wreaths? Will it be a resounding "Come!" or a reverberating "Depart?"

In the real college, before graduation and commencement, comes examination day, and before our graduation and commencement will come examination. It will be asked what we have been doing, what we have learned under the tutelage of years of joy and sorrow, and under the teaching of the Holy Ghost as we were educated for heaven. Have we done our best with the curriculum of study put before every mortal and immortal? Oh, this world is not the terminus of a journey! It is not a theater on whose stage we are enacting the tragic or comic. It is a

How Mrs. Pinkham HELPED MRS. GOODEN.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 12,733]

"I am very grateful to you for your kindness and the interest you have taken in me, and truly believe your medicines and advice are worth more to a woman than all the doctors in the world. For years I had female troubles and did nothing for them. Of course I became no better and finally broke down entirely. My troubles began with inflammation and hemorrhages from the kidneys, then inflammation, congestion and falling of the womb and inflammation of ovaries.

"I underwent local treatment every day for some time; then after nearly two months the doctor gave me permission to go back to work. I went back, but in less than a week was compelled to give up and go to bed. On breaking down the second time, I decided to let doctors and their medicine alone and try your remedies. Before the first bottle was gone I felt the effects of it. Three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and a package of her Sanative Wash did me more good than all the doctors' treatments and medicine.

schoolhouse for splendid or disgraceful graduation, and death is commencement. All that is settled in heaven.

God's Cause.

Another thing decided in the high places of the universe is that this world, with or without us, will be made over into a scene of arborecence and purity. Do not think that such a consummation depends upon our personal fidelity. It will be done anyhow. God's cause does not go a-begging. If all the soldiers of Jesus Christ now living should become deserters and go over to the enemy, that would not defeat the cause. A large part of the Bible is taken up with telling us what the world will be. There is a large army, human and angelic, now in the field, but God's reserve forces are more numerous and more mighty than those now at the front, and if he could in Gideon's time rout the Midianites with a crash of crockery, and if he could in Samson's time overcome a host with an ox goad, and if in Samson's time he could defeat an army with a bleached jawbone, and if the walls of Jericho went down under a blast of perforated ram's horn, and if in Christ's day blind eyes were cured by ointment of spittle, then God can do anything he says he will do. As yet he has taken only one sword out of a whole armory of weapons. Do not get nervous, as if the Lord were going to be defeated. The redemption of these hemispheres was settled in heaven, and Isaiah and Ezekiel and Habakkuk and Malachi and St. John only reported what the Lord God Almighty had decided upon. My only fear is that our regiment will not get into the fight to do something worthy of the Christ who redeemed us and we be left in lazy encampment at Tampa when we ought to have been at Santiago.

Oh, that coming day of the world's perfection! The earth will be so changed that the sermonology will be changed. There will be no more calls to repentance, for all will have repented; no more gathering of alms for the poor, for the poor will have been enriched; no hospital Sunday, for disjunct bones will have been set and the wounds all healed, and the incurable diseases of other times will have been overcome by materia medica and a pharmacy and a dentistry and a therapeutics that have conquered everything that afflicted nerve or lung or tooth or eye or limb—healthology complete and universal. The poultice and the ointment and the panacea and the catholicon and the surgeon's knife and the dentist's forceps and the scientist's X ray will have fulfilled their mission.

Gospel Influences.

The social life of the world will be perfected. In that millennial age I imagine ourselves standing in front of a house lighted for levee. We enter among groups filled with gladness and talking good sense and rallying each other in pleasant and in every possible way forwarding good neighborhood; no looking askance, no whispered backbiting, no strut of pretension, no oblivion of some one's presence because you do not want to know him; each one happy, determined on making some one else happy; words of honest appreciation instead of hollow flattery; suavities and genialities instead of inflations and pomposities; equipage and upholstery and sculpture and painting paid for; two hours of mental and moral improvement; all the guests able to walk as steadily down the steps of that mansion as when they ascended them; no awaking next morning with aching head and bloodshot eye and incompetent for the day's duties; the social life as perfect as refinement and common sense and culture and prosperity and religion can make it; the earth made better than it was at the start, and all through gospelizing influences, directly or indirectly.

I suppose the greatest tidal wave that ever rolled the seas was that which in 1868 was started by the Peruvian earthquake. At Arica, Peru, the wave was 50 feet high and swung warships a mile forward on the land. At San Pedro, Cal., the wave was 60 feet high. It moved on to the Sandwich Islands and submerged some of them and beat against the shores of New Zealand and rolled up the beach of Japan and stopped not until it had encircled the entire globe. Oh, what a wave! But the earthquake that shook the mountain where our Lord died started a higher and swifter and mightier tidal wave that will roll round and round the earth until all its rebellions and abominations have gone under.

That was an exciting scene after the battle of Bosworth, which was fought between Richard III and the earl of Richmond, the king falling and the earl triumphing, when Lord Stanley brought the crown and handed it to the earl, seated on horseback, while the dying and the dead of the battle were lying all around. But it is a more thrilling spectacle as we look forward through the centuries and see the last armed and imperial iniquity of the world slain and the crown of universal victory put upon the conqueror on the white horse of the Apocalypse and all nations "hall the power of Jesus' name." That the whole earth will be redeemed is one of the things long ago settled in heaven.

God's Plan of Salvation.

Another thing decided in that high place is that all who are adjoined to the unparalleled One of Bethlehem and Nazareth and Golgotha will be the subjects of a supernal felicity without any taking off. The old adage says that "beggars must not be choosers," and the human race in its depleted state had better not be critical of the mode by which God would emplace all of us. I could easily think of a plan more complimentary to our fallen humanity than that which is called the "plan of salvation." If God had allowed us to do part of the work of recovery and he do the rest; if we could do three-quarters of it and he do the last quarter, if we could accomplish most of it and he just put on the finishing touches, many could look with more complacency upon the projected reinstatement of the human family. No, no! We must have our pride subjugated, our stubborn will made flexible and a supernatural power demonstrated in us at every step. A pretty plan of salvation that would be of human drafting and manufacturing! It would be a doxology sung to ourselves. God must have all the glory, not one step of our heavenly throne made by earthly carpentry; not one string could we twist of the harp of our eternal rejoicing. Accept all as an unmerited donation from the skies, or we will never have it at all.

"Now," says some one, "if Christ is the only way, what about the heathen, who have never heard of him?" But you are not heathen, and why divert us from the question of our personal salvation? Satan is always introducing something irrelevant. He wants to take it out of a personality into an abstraction. Get our own salvation settled, and then we will discuss the salvation of other people. "But," says some one, "what percentage of the human race will be saved? What will be the comparative number saved and lost?" There satan thrusts in the mathematics of redemption. He suggests that you find out the mathematical proportion of the redeemed. But he not deceived. I am now discussing the eternal welfare of only two persons, yourself and myself. Get ourselves right before we bother ourselves about getting others right. O Christ, come hither and master our case! Here are our sins—pardon them; our wounds—heal them; our burdens—lift them; our sorrows—comfort them. We want the Christ of Bartimeus to open our blind eyes, the Christ of Martha to help us in our domestic cares, the Christ of Olivet to help us preach our sermons, the Christ of Lake Galilee to still our tempests, the Christ of Lazarus to raise our dead. Not too tired is he to come, though he has on his whipped shoulders so long carried the world's woe and on his lacerated feet walked this way to accept our salvation.

The Royal Banquet.

By the bloody throes of the mountain on which Jesus died, and by the sepulcher where his mutilated body was inclosed in darkened crypt, and by the Olivet from which he arose while astonished disciples clutched for his robes to detain him in their companionship, and by the radiant and omnipotent throne on which he sits waiting for the coming of all those whose redemption was settled in heaven, I implore you bow your head in immediate and final submission. Once exercise sorrow for what you have done and exercise trust in him for what he is willing to do, and all is well for both worlds. Then you can swing out defiance to all opposition, human and diabolic. In conquering his foes he conquered yours. And have you noticed, that passage in Colossians that represents him "having despoiled principalities and powers, he made a show of them, openly triumphing," so bringing before us that overwhelming spectacle of a Roman triumph?

When Pompey landed at Brindisi, Italy, returned from his victories, he disbanded the brave men who had fought under him and sent them rejoicing to their homes, and, entering Rome, his emblazoned chariot was followed by princes in chains from kingdoms he had conquered, and flowers such as only grew under those Italian skies strewn the way, and he came under arches inscribed with the names of battlefields on which he had triumphed and rode by columns which told of the 1,500 cities he had destroyed and the 12,000,000 people he had conquered or slain. Then the banquet was spread, and out of the chalices filled to the brim, they drank to the health of the conqueror. Belshazzar, the great soldier, returned from his military achievements and was robed in purple, and in the procession were brought golden thrones and pillars of precious stones and the furniture of royal feasts, and amid the splendors of kingdoms overcome he was hailed to the hippodrome by shouts such as had seldom rung through the capital. Then also came the convivialities.

In the year 274 Aurelian made his entrance to Rome in triumphal car. In which he stood while a winged figure of Victory held a wreath above his head. Zenobia, captive queen of Palmyra, walked behind his chariot, her person encircled with fetters of gold, under the weight of which she nearly faints, but still a captive. And there were in the procession 200 lions and tigers and beasts of many lands and 1,600 gladiators excused from the cruel amphitheater that they might decorate the day, and Persian and Arabian and Ethiopian ambassadors were in the procession and the long line of captives, Egyptians, Syrians, Gauls, Goths and Vandals.

It was to such scenes that the New Testament refers when it speaks of Christ "having despoiled principalities and powers, he made a show of them, openly triumphing." But, oh, the difference in those triumphs! The Roman triumph represented arrogance, cruelty, oppression and wrong, but Christ's triumph meant emancipation and holiness and joy. The former was a procession of groans, accompanied by a clank of chains, the other a procession of hosannas by millions set forever free. The only shackled ones of Christ's triumph will be satan and his cohorts tied to our Lord's chariot wheel, with all the abominations of all the earth bound for an eternal captivity. Then will come a feast in which the chalices will be filled "with the new wine of the kingdom." Under arches commemorative of all the battles in which the bannered armies of the church militant through thousands of years of struggle have at last won the day Jesus will ride, Conqueror of earth and hell and heaven. Those armies, disbanded, will take palaces and thrones. "And they shall come from the east and the west and the north and the south and sit down in the kingdom of God." And may you and I, through the pardoning and sanctifying grace of Christ, be guests at that royal banquet!

AN EXCITED GENERAL.

A Joke Which the Kaiser Enjoyed to the Utmost.

A very funny incident took place on the occasion of the Kaiser's recent visit to Cassel. The general in command of the division, anxious to give a loyal welcome to his majesty, had instructed his officers and men that the moment they saw him wave his saber or even his hands above his head, they were to start cheering while the massed bands were to intone the national anthem. The general is very shortsighted.

Suddenly the gates of the palace opened, and an officer appeared on horseback. The general, convinced that it was his majesty, waved his hand in the air. At once all the bands started the national anthem, while the 20,000 or more troops present began to cheer. Only when the amazed officer got near the general did the latter realize that it was not the emperor, but one of his orderlies, who had come for the purpose of announcing that the monarch would be upon the scene about ten minutes later.

The commanding general at once set to work to stop both the music and the cheering. But the more he gesticulated with his hands and the more he shouted, the more convinced were his officers and men that he was encouraging them to increased loyalty. The din was perfectly appalling, and when at length the emperor arrived, he found the general streaming with perspiration, purple in the face and on the verge of apoplexy, while neither the soldiers nor the musicians had a breath left in their bodies.

The Kaiser, who has a very keen sense of the ridiculous, is said to have literally shaken his sides with laughter. —Berlin Letter.

Putting food into a pocket is like putting money into a pocket with holes.

The pocket can be mended. The stomach can be cured. That sterling medicine for the stomach and blood, Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, acts with peculiar promptness and power on the organs of digestion and nutrition.

It is a positive cure for almost all disorders of these organs, and cures also such diseases of the heart, blood, liver and other organs, as have their cause in a weak or diseased condition of the stomach.

There is no alcohol or other intoxicant contained in "Golden Medical Discovery." Substitutions are imitations. Imitation money is worthless. So are imitations of Dr. Pierce's "Discovery." Get the genuine.

Mr. John L. Coughenour, of Glensavage, Somerset Co., Pa., writes: "I had been doctoring for about a year and a half, being unable to work most of the time. The doctor said I had heart disease and indigestion. My appetite was unusually poor, I was weak and nervous, and my heart kept throbbing continually, and I was short of breath. Finally I wrote to you for advice. I did not think your diagnosis was right, but I ordered six bottles of 'Golden Medical Discovery' and began its use. After using three bottles I began to improve slowly and soon went to work, and I have been working ever since."

Free. Doctor Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, 1008 pages, 700 illustrations, is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper-bound edition, or 31 stamps for the cloth. Address Dr. R. W. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

DO YOU GET UP WITH A LAME BACK?

Kidney Trouble Makes You Miserable.

Almost everybody who reads the newspapers is sure to know of the wonderful cures made by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder remedy.

It is the great medical triumph of the nineteenth century; discovered after years of scientific research by Dr. Kilmer, the eminent kidney and bladder specialist, and is wonderfully successful in promptly curing lame back, kidney, bladder, uric acid troubles and Bright's Disease, which is the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is not recommended for everything but if you have kidney, liver or bladder trouble it will be found just the remedy you need. It has been tested in so many ways, in hospital work, in private practice, among the helpless too poor to purchase relief and has proved so successful in every case that a special arrangement has been made by which all readers of this paper who have not already tried it, may have a sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling more about Swamp-Root and how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper and send your address to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Birmingham, N. Y. The regular fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes are sold by all good druggists.

STYLE VS. COST.

More people wear ready-made clothing now than ever before, and the reason is simply this: that the art of making ready-to-wear clothing has reached so high a form of perfection that such clothing of "Oehm" suits and overcoats can hardly be distinguished from the best merchant-tailored garment. This reduces the cost of being stylishly dressed to a fraction of what it used to cost.

The latest fall styles are ready for you—the newest and best in men's suits and overcoats, hats, shoes, shirts, neckwear, underwear and other furnishings await your inspection and approval. Everything a boy wears is here too, both best and cheapest.

Your postal card will bring catalogue, samples, and self-measurement blank. A personal visit will save you the expense of your trip, and the many conveniences of our establishment are at your disposal.

"SMITH OF SNOW HILL."

A New York Sun Writer's Ideas of Maryland's Governor-Elect.

The Baltimore Herald of Tuesday says:

A Washington correspondent of the New York Sun, whose chief distinction is evidently a lack of information concerning the politics and public men of Maryland, has sent a communication to his paper on "Smith of Snow Hill." This article purports to be a review of the late election in the State of Maryland, and particularly as to how the Hon. John Walter Smith came to be chosen to the Governorship.

We are told that Governor-elect Smith is a "farmer and banker;" that he is a resident of the "village" of Snow Hill, in a remote part of the Commonwealth, and that he is an "elderly gray-haired, sedate-looking and eminently respectable old time resident." We are informed that Colonel Smith was nominated "through stress of politics," and elected to Congress by the accident of a general falling off of the Republican vote; that he was nominated for the Governorship "because of his negative character and absence of political views," and that he was elected "not as a result of a hearty and vigorous canvass by both political parties, but through wholesale abstention from the polls of many Maryland Republicans."

But what the correspondent in question chiefly aimed at was the suggestion that, in view of Colonel Smith's accidental success, and in consideration of the paucity of Democratic Presidential timber, there is a prospect that his name will be brought forward in the next Democratic National Convention—circumstance which the correspondent manifestly looks upon as something too funny to contemplate.

The first emotion which the intelligent Marylander will experience in reading this Washington letter will be a feeling of wonder that any well-conducted newspaper should turn loose such a wild ass of journalism to thus impose upon the confidence of the outside public. No doubt there are unsuspecting people in other States who will put implicit faith in the gibberish which the Sun correspondent has written about Maryland and her Governor-elect. As to what the correspondent has recorded about Colonel Smith furnishes an unusually fine illustration of the old saw that "all the fools are not dead yet." Indeed he has unwittingly given us the strongest proof that one of the biggest of them is very much alive.

As a matter of fact, Governor-elect Smith is not a man of "negative character," with an "absence of political views." On the contrary, he is a man of a decidedly positive character, with strong and well-defined political views. Perhaps there is not in Maryland a citizen with a more marked individuality. Instead of being a quiet, easy-going pastoral resident of the backwoods of Maryland, he is the leading citizen of one of the most enterprising towns in the State, an unusually energetic business man of large wealth, with varied interests in the State and City of Baltimore. The tens of thousands of Marylanders who are familiar with the strong, vigorous face and the quick, agile and aggressive movements of Colonel Smith will smile at his being pictured as "an elderly, gray-haired, sedate looking and eminently respectable old time resident."

As to the possibility of Colonel Smith's name being brought up in the Democratic Convention, we are reminded that "tall oaks from little acorns grow." Even after Zachary Taylor was nominated for the Presidency, Daniel Webster, a Whig himself, contemptuously referred to him as "one of those d-d illiterate frontier colonels." When William Henry Harrison was first mentioned for the Whig nomination he was scornfully referred to as "a little County Clerk wearing a number six hat."

"Smith of Snow Hill," may or may not have in him the elements of Presidential timber. History has shown that such a condition is largely a matter of evolution. We feel sure, however, that our Governor-elect would only regard an idea of this sort from the standpoint of amusement. The wild ass of the Sun may rest assured, however, that if "Smith of Snow Hill," ever does get to the White House he will not be, as clay is the potter's hand.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Ordinance to Prevent Pollution of Lake Humphreys.

A threatened indictment by the grand jury last September term of the court, caused the City Council to instruct its attorney to prepare an ordinance prohibiting the pollution of Lake Humphreys or Humphreys mill pond. The ordinance was submitted last Wednesday night at a meeting of the Council and was passed.

Dr. Truitt, the city health officer, appeared before the grand jury in September and made complaint that the sewage and waste matter which found their way into the lake were polluting its water and threatening the health of the city. The grand jury desisted from indicting the Council or the individual at that time because there was no ordinance in force prohibiting the emptying of sewage into the lake.

To guard against an indictment by future grand juries the Council passed the following ordinance.

ORDINANCE NO.

An ordinance to prevent and abate the drainage of filth and matter injurious to health in the waters of Humphreys' Mill Pond in the city of Salisbury.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Mayor and Council of Salisbury; That it shall be unlawful for any one to let filth of any kind or matter injurious to health to drain into the waters of Humphreys' Mill Pond within the limits of the city of Salisbury from sewers covered or uncovered from their premises.

SECTION 2. And be it enacted—That it shall be the duty of the Bailiff of Salisbury to examine all sewers emptying into said Pond and all premises where filth of any kind is permitted to drain or flow from into said Pond and where he shall find any violation of this ordinance, he shall first give ten days written notice to the owner or owners thereof to abate the same.

SECTION 3. And be it enacted—That should the owner or owners of such premises fail to abate the nuisance of aforesaid after due notice, the owner or owners thereof shall on conviction before the Police Justice of the said city be subject to a fine of not less than $10.00 nor more than $50.00 and be committed to the jail of Wicomico County until said fine and costs are paid.

SECTION 4. And be it enacted—That the Bailiff be and he is hereby authorized to enter upon and examine the premises and sewers where complaints have been made, or he believes there is a violation of this ordinance and on failure of the owner or owners to abate said nuisance after due notice as aforesaid he shall abate the same and the owner or owners of the premises shall be liable for the expense incurred in abating same and the costs be recovered by suit before a Justice of the Peace as small debts are collected.

SECTION 5. And be it enacted—That this ordinance shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Mr. Gorman's Barn Burned.

Laurel, Md., Nov. 20.—By the recklessness of an employe of ex-Senator Gorman smoking in the hayloft of the fine combination barn near the Senator's residence, "Fairfield" in Howard county, near here, a heavy loss was entailed. The fire broke out about 6 o'clock Saturday afternoon and could not be stopped. Three horses out of seven in the stalls, were burned to death and one of the four rescued was very badly. In the conflagration, which burned the building to the ground, 9 vehicles, 2 sleighs, 2 selfbinders, 200 bushels of wheat, 60 bushels of corn, 200 bushels oats 20 sets of harness and 10 tons of hay were totally destroyed. The loss, which is estimated at $15,000 is nearly covered by insurance.

Mr. Gorman moved to Washington for the winter some weeks ago with his family. The dwelling on the farm was consumed by fire about 10 years ago, when the owner lost valuable personal belongings, as well as all the household furniture, and a splendid library.

The fire Saturday night was seen for miles around. Mr. James L. Hobbs, the manager, with the assistance of his neighbors, was enabled to rescue some of the horses from the burning barn, but the flames prevented any approach to those that were lost.

NO SNUFF ON TANGIER.

An Island where the Inhabitants are Remarkable for Religion and Chastity.

Tangier Island in the Chesapeake Bay is one of the most unique settlements in the country. It has an area of a few miles and about twelve hundred inhabitants who procure a livelihood from the bounty of the surrounding waters. They have in the past few years become devout Christians, due to the Methodist Episcopal church evangelists, who have worked patiently and long with them.

The island is not more than five miles long, north and south, and not exceeding three-fourths of a mile wide at any place. About one-third of its surface is upland and the remainder is marsh. Of the twelve hundred inhabitants two are colored men, one being a native of Kentucky who escaped as a slave, the other is a native of North Carolina who came to the island on an oyster boat and taking the island made it his home.

The only civil officer on the island is a magistrate, the inhabitants having such a veneration for peace and order that not even the presence of a constable is required. Not a liquor saloon exists, and an oath is never heard.

The celebrated Joshua Thomas once ministered to the spiritual needs of the people of Tangier as he did to those of the inhabitants of the other islands of the bay.

In May 1897 the people of the island voted for a new Methodist Episcopal Church to cost $5000. The building was begun but when dedicated in February 1899 the total cost of the property footed $10,000 which the people cheerfully paid.

The church belongs to the Wilmington conference and is in Presiding Elder Martindale's (Salisbury) district, and he frequently visits the island.

Among their institutions is a certain law strictly enforced. It is positively asserted that not a pinch of snuff is used on the island. A traveling salesman for a tobacco concern in New York recently visited the island to sell his wares, and made this remarkable discovery. He reported the interesting circumstance to his house, and received an acknowledgment in which the firm declared that they had never before heard of a similar case.

A SNAKE STORY.

Old Nutters the Bazaar Democratic District. To the Front Again.

An unusual spectacle was exhibited in Salisbury last Wednesday by Mr. Robert F. Matthews of Nutters district. It consisted of a hawk and a snake each of which had made itself responsible for the death of the other.

Mr. Matthews came across the two on the Schaumloeffel farm in Nutters. They were in mortal combat, and it was the hawk a struggle that attracted Mr. Matthews attention.

On approaching the hawk he soon understood why it did not fly away, for wrapped about its body, pinioning one wing, was a five foot "racer" which was fast choking the life out of the hawk. It is supposed that the hawk saw the snake sunning himself and swooped down on it for the purpose of making a nice meal of the reptile. The hawk's aim must have been bad, enabling the snake to turn the tables on the hawk, for the snake had succeeded in getting two turns of his slender whip like body around that of the hawk, and he was making effective use of his constricting powers to squeeze the hawk to death.

Mr. Matthews crushed the head of each and brought them to town just as they were when he took a hand in the battle.

The hawk was of the small "privateer" or chicken hawk variety.

The Mormon Congressman-Elect Abandoned by His Party.

Salt Lake, Utah, Nov. 20.—The Democratic State committee held a meeting yesterday, chiefly to consider the Roberts case.

James H. Moyle, chairman and a Mormon, urged that counter petitions be gotten up, asking that Roberts be seated. One after another of the Gentile members arose and opposed this, saying that they had voted for Roberts as a Democrat on the expectation that he would be able to clear up the charges that were made against him by the opposition, as he had agreed to do. Roberts was arraigned for what was called his bad faith in failing to do this, and it was declared that he had made a football of the Democratic party. The Gentile Democratic committeemen were unanimous in opposition to the proposition to get up petitions for Roberts. Thereupon, the Mormon members dropped the matter, the chief purpose of the meeting having failed.

A large number of prominent Democrats throughout the State were present, Mormon and Gentile, and, as far as reported, but one was in favor of the proposed Roberts petitions.

FIRE AT SNOW HILL.

The Residence Of Prof. Charles S. Richardson Destroyed.

Snow Hill, Md., Nov. 21.—The residence of Prof. Charles S. Richardson in this town was destroyed by fire today shortly after noon. The fire was caused by a defective flue and was well under way when discovered, and, being near the outskirts of the town, it was completely gutted before the fire department could get to the scene. The house of Mr. Richardson was on a hill, and the pressure from the stand-pipe did not furnish a sufficient stream to fight the fire until the pumps at the engine house commenced to force water directly through the mains. All this took time, and as the gentleman who usually turns off the water at the stand-pipe was out of town, there were delays all around, and consequently the loss of the building. It was insured for $1,200 and the furniture for $200.

Horticultural Society Meeting.

The next meeting of the Peninsula Horticultural Society will be held in Salisbury the second week in January next. These meetings are very interesting to farmers, in fact to all persons, ladies and gentlemen. The ablest horticulturists of the state attend these meetings and participate in the proceedings. Those desiring to know something of the manner in which the meetings are conducted and the nature of the discussions can obtain the information by writing Wesley Webb, Dover, Del., for a copy of the last minutes of proceedings. The ADVERTISER will before the meeting publish the program carried out here. It is to be hoped that our people will take an interest in the matter and attend the meeting. The meeting here was secured through the efforts of Thos. Perry one of the vice-presidents of the association who attended the meeting at Smyrna last January. It has been suggested that the annual institute of farmers be held here at the same time.

THAT BOY OF YOURS

like the illustrious Patrick Henry—would as soon be dead as to be robbed of his liberty.

He must have liberty no matter how high it comes to you.

And in the exercise of that liberty he is bound to wear out a pair of shoes every—well, let's say, every once in a while. No matter how good the shoes, they will wear out—often, too.

There is only one thing to do. Buy the best shoes you can get, pay a fair price for them, thus making sure of the quality, and then—let the boy do the rest.

We believe we have a better stock of boys' shoes than any other store in town. We believe we own them as chiefly as anyone can, and we are willing to part with them at a small profit.

It will not be a surprise to any who are at all familiar with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, to know that people everywhere take pleasure in relating their experience in the use of that splendid medicine and in telling of the benefit they have received from it, of bad colds it has cured, of threatened attacks of pneumonia it has averted and of the children it has saved from attacks of croup and whooping cough. It is a grand, good medicine. For sale by R. K. Truitt & Son's.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your Mother's and grandmothers' never thought of using anything else for Indigestion or Biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. Sample bottles free at drug stores of White & Leonard and L. D. Collier, Salisbury Md., also Delmar Union Store, Delmar, Del.

Dispute is likely to occur in Talbot county over the legality of counting the vote of the late Judge J. B. Bennett who died in the election booth just after marking his ballot. The ballot that he had prepared was afterwards carried to the box and deposited, though it was protested at the time by the Republican election officials. Mr. Carrington the Democratic candidate for state's attorney, has an official majority of one over Mr. Mullikin, the Republican candidate, and it is claimed that this one is the ballot cast for Judge Bennett.

A puny child is always an anxiety to the parents. There seems generally no reason why the little one should be weak when it is so well fed. But the fact is that it does not matter how much food the child takes if the stomach cannot extract the nourishment from it. No benefit can be derived from just eating. That is the condition of many a sickly child. The stomach and organs of digestion and nutrition are not doing their work, and the body is really starving. It is little use to give fish foods, like cod liver oil or emulsions, in such a case, because these also have to be digested; they may lighten the stomach's labor but they don't strengthen it. Strength is what the stomach needs. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery strengthens the stomach, nourishes the nerves and increases the action of the blood making glands. It is superior to every other preparation for children's use, on account of its body building qualities, and also because it is pleasant to the taste and contains no alcohol, whiskey or other intoxicant. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a valuable aid when the bowels are irregular. They are small. Children take them readily.

There is a muddle in Cecil county. Sheriff-elect Price had a plurality of 550 Democratic votes. But the law says a sheriff must have been a resident of the county for five years prior to his election. Price went west in '84 and only returned to Cecil three years ago. He says he was west on a visit and Cecil was always his home. Republicans say their man should have the office. Others say the governor should appoint.

A Narrow Escape.

Thankful words written by Mrs. Ada E. Hart of Groton, S. D. "Was taken with a bad cold which settled on my lungs; cough set in and finally terminated in Consumption. Four Doctors gave me up, saying I could live but a short time. I gave myself up to my Savior, determined if I could not stay with my friends on earth, I would meet my absent ones above. My husband was advised to get Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. I gave it a trial, took in all eight bottles. It has cured me, and thank God I am saved and now a well and healthy woman. Trial bottles free at L. D. Collier's Drug Store. Regular size 50 cts., and $1.00. Guaranteed or price refunded."

Used by British Soldiers in Africa.

Capt. C. G. Dennison is well known all over Africa as commander of the forces that captured the famous rebel Gallahe. Under date of November 4, 1897, from Vryburg, Bechuanaland, he writes: "Before starting on the last campaign I bought a quantity of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used myself when troubled with bowel complaint, and had given to my men, and in every case it proved most beneficial." For sale by R. K. Truitt & Son's.

DEATH OF VICE PRESIDENT HOBART.

Vice-President Hobart died at his home in Paterson N. J. last Tuesday morning after a long illness.

His death brought sorrow to his friends and neighbors, and regret to the hearts of his countrymen, who recognized in him an able and honorable public servant worthy of their esteem and confidence. His life affords a fine example of American manhood. Beginning in very humble circumstances he rapidly rose from a poor young lawyer to wealth and position and when he died he was more than a millionaire. Honesty and fair dealing supported by intellect and industry were the levers which lifted him to high position.

Under the Constitution of the United States the vice president will have no successor till the next general election to be held in November 1900. The vice-president's chief function is to preside over the Senate of the United States. That body will when it meets in December select a president pro tem to preside over his body. Senator Fry of Maine will probably be elected.

The vice president had the entire confidence of that body as presiding officer and will go down in history as an able presiding officer.

The death of Mr. Hobart is another illustration of the fact that man's endurance for work is limited. He died from over work at the age of 55 years in the very prime of life. It is said that in addition to the time he gave to politics he participated more or less in the management of sixty corporations some of these he headed and others counseled.

ADMIRAL DEWEY AND HIS HOUSE.

Admiral Dewey seems to be furnishing the country food for much discussion as to the propriety of his act in transferring his home, presented to him by the American people, to his wife and subsequently by her and him to his son.

The ADVERTISER has never had much sympathy for this craze to purchase and donate to the Admiral a house and lot. It seems a very low estimate to put upon his services at Manila. In fact it was not a proper thing to do.

If the people wished to manifest their esteem for the Admiral it should have been done in the form of a sword or a loving cup. Such things are appropriate, but the gift of a house is like making a bride a present of a pair of shoes. Admiral Dewey is able to pay for a house and should have had the good taste to decline the gift, but if he did accept it he should have had respect enough for the givers' good intentions to have allowed the title to remain in him. He should have kept the "bridal" shoes whether he could have worn them or not.

The incident will prove a valuable lesson to hero worshippers.

—Mr. Harold N. Fitch the Main Street Jeweler has just received a full line of diamonds and all other kinds of jewelry.

Lloyd Wilkinson for Speaker.

The Baltimore Evening News of Tuesday says: "A good authority it is a nounced that Mr. Lloyd Wilkinson will be the Speaker of the next House of Delegates. It is also said that the matter was undetermined until yesterday, and that is rested almost entirely in the hands of Col. John Walter Smith, the Governor-elect. Mr. Wilkinson, it is said, was unwilling to announce his candidacy unless it should be entirely satisfactory to Colonel Smith. There was never any question about Mr. Wilkinson being personally satisfactory in every way to the Governor-elect.

The only question was whether it would be good policy to have the Governor and speaker of the House from one county. This has been set aside, however, by the almost unanimous appeal which has come from the Democratic county members to have Mr. Wilkinson as their speaker. This has proven that Mr. Wilkinson made many friends during his terms in the House of Delegates of 1897, 1898 and 1899.

The main thing for which he is remembered in the first two terms is the energetic fight he had made for the passage of a re-assessment law when all of the corporate and lobby influences fought it desperately and successfully. In the last session he was clearly the leader of the Democrats, and his forceful leadership harassed the Republicans at many points. He was the Democratic caucus choice for the Speakership last session and received the unanimous vote of his party until it was decided to transfer it to Mr. Schaefer, who was elected by it.

Gen. F. C. Latrobe of Baltimore was the only very serious opponent Mr. Wilkinson had for the Speakership. Mr. A. Leo Knott was also mentioned, but the fact that he had been associated with the free-silver ideas of 1896 caused some of the leaders to be shy of his candidacy. As it looked as if neither General Latrobe nor Mr. Knott could carry the city delegation as a unit it seemed that neither one would be able to put a very strong fight against Mr. Wilkinson.

I. T. Matthews

Snow Hill, Md., Nov. 22.—Mr. I. T. Matthews, cashier of the First National bank of Snow Hill, died this morning of heart trouble, in the 71st year of his age. He had been in poor health for a year or more, and a week ago he took to his bed and expired early this morning.

Mr. Matthews was born in Snow Hill and was educated in Union Academy, this town, at which he afterward became a teacher. At the time the late United States Senator E. K. Wilson was principal of the school. Before he was 30 years of age he was deputy clerk of the Circuit Court and afterward succeeded George H. Richardson as clerk. He filled the position of clerk for 18 years. He was an ardent Democrat and for many years was a leader of his party.

Mr. Matthews was one of the oldest Odd Fellows in the State.

He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and was a delegate to the General Conference of his church at Cincinnati in 1890. He contributed largely of his means to the maintenance of his home church and to all the church boards.

Mr. Matthews married Miss Sarah H. Had-on in 1849. They had two children, Lelia and Julia, the former of whom married George S. Payne, and died several years ago. Miss Julia married John L. Robins. Mr. Matthews was the grandfather of the late Mrs. Clarence Hodson, of Baltimore.

Catarrah Can Be Cured.

By eradicating from the blood the scrofula taint which causes it. Hood's Sarsaparilla cures catarrh, promptly and permanently, because it strikes at the root of the trouble.

The rich, pure blood which it makes, circulating through the delicate passages of the mucous membrane, soothes and rebuilds the tissues, giving them a tendency to health instead of disease, and ultimately curing the affection.

At the same time Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens, invigorates and energizes the whole system and makes the debilitated victim of catarrh feel that new life has been imparted.

Do not dally with snuffs, inhalants or other local applications, but take Hood's Sarsaparilla and cure catarrh absolutely and surely by removing the causes which produce it.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You?

My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well. —ADOLPH L. —John Majors a well known colored citizen of Jersey died suddenly last Monday while driving home from Main Street. He was sitting in the front of his horse cart and had driven along Mill Street until he had reached West Chestnut Street, when he was observed to fall back into the body of his cart. Several people hurried to him and found him expiring. Dr. L. W. Morris was summoned. He stated that death had resulted probably from apoplexy. The dead man was taken to his late home where the body was prepared for burial.

TAIN'T LIKE IT USED TO BE

Not by a long shot, said old SANTA CLAUS. Here it is only about a month to Christmas. And I bet there hain't half the women got a present done or bought for anybody. Thirty years ago they'd be pretty much through with making things, and as for buying things, why they'd go down town and buy some sticky old peppermint candy and a few Noah's Arks, and some tin soldiers and a sled just a day or two before Christmas and it would be done with. Then on Christmas Eve they'd all go to church and put things on a big tree and the young preacher would read off the names. Some young fellow was always sure to get a nigger baby and it was a standing joke for a month. Now it's all changed. A woman can buy anything she wants, if she's got the price. She don't need to make anything. She can buy him gloves, neckties, silk suspenders, Fancy Hosiery, Fancy Shirts, Fancy Silk Vests, dainty Handkerchiefs, Smoking Jackets, Bath Robes, and she don't have to hustle around and get things made. She'll wait till the last moment, and then get mad because Thoroughgood sold out the very necktie she saw a month ago and he might have known she'd take it. Things are changing. The old chestnut about my coming with reindeer is all played out, and I have to go dressed like other folks now and go in at the front door. That reminds me I've got to get me a new suit and a new overcoat. Where will I get 'em? Thoroughgood's of course. It's about all you hear of now-a-days. It's Thoroughgood's clothes, Thoroughgood's hats, Thoroughgood's shirts, Thoroughgood's overcoats. My! It's got to such a point now that you've almost got to trade at Lacy Thoroughgood's, or folks think you get trusted somewhere else. It seems as if the whole town was trading at

GOSPEL OF CHRIST

DR. TALMAGE'S VIEWS ON THE COMING SERMON.

How He Thinks Religious Truths Should Be Presented—Ministers Should Preach the Living Christ, Not Didactic Technicalities.

[Copyright, Louis Klopsch, 1899.]
WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—In this discourse Dr. Talmage addresses all Christian workers and describes what he thinks will be the modes of preaching the gospel in the future; text, Romans xii, 7, "Or ministry, let us wait on our ministering."

While I was seated on the piazza of a hotel at Lexington, Ky., one summer evening, a gentleman asked me, "What do you think of the coming sermon?" I supposed he was asking me in regard to some new discourse of Dr. Cumming of London, who sometimes preached startling sermons, and I replied, "I have not seen it." But I found out afterward that he meant to ask what I thought would be the characteristics of the coming sermon of the world, the sermons of the future, the word "Cumming" as a noun pronounced the same as the word "coming" as an adjective. But my mistake suggested to me a very important and practical theme, "The Coming Sermon."

Before the world is converted the style of religious discourse will have to be converted. You might as well go into the modern Sedan or Gettysburg with bows and arrows, instead of rifles and bombshells and parks of artillery, as to expect to conquer this world for God by the old styles of exhortation and sermonology. Jonathan Edwards preached the sermons most adapted to the age in which he lived, but if those sermons were preached now they would divide an audience into two classes—those sound asleep and those wanting to go home.

But there is a discourse of the future. Who will preach it I have no idea. In what part of the earth it will be born I have no idea. In which denomination of Christians it will be delivered I cannot guess. That discourse of exhortation may be born in the country meeting house on the banks of the St. Lawrence or the Oregon or the Ohio or the Tombigbee or the Alabama. The person who shall deliver it may this moment be in a cradle under the shadow of the Sierra Nevada or in a New England farmhouse or amid the ricefields of southern savannas, or this moment there may be some young man in one of our theological seminaries, in the junior or middle or senior class, shaping that weapon of power, or there may be coming some new baptism of the Holy Ghost on the churches, so that some of us who now stand in the watchtowers of Zion, waking to a realization of our present inefficiency, may preach it ourselves. That coming discourse may not be 50 years off. And let us pray God that its arrival may be hastened while I announce to you what I think will be the chief characteristics of that discourse or exhortation when it does arrive, and I want to make my remarks appropriate and suggestive to all classes of Christian workers.

The Living Christ.

First of all, I remark that that future religious discourse will be full of a living Christ in contradistinction to didactic technicalities. A discourse may be full of Christ though hardly mentioning his name, and a sermon may be empty of Christ while every sentence is repetitions of his titles. The world wants a living Christ, not a Christ standing at the head of a formal system of theology, but a Christ who means pardon and sympathy and condolence and brotherhood and life and heaven, a poor man's Christ, a rich man's Christ, an overworked man's Christ, an invalid's Christ, a farmer's Christ, a merchant's Christ, an artisan's Christ, an every man's Christ.

A symmetrical and fine worded system of theology is well enough for theological classes, but it has no more business in a pulpit than have the technical phrases of an anatomist or a psychologist or a physician in the sickroom of a patient. The world wants help, immediate and world uplifting, and it will come through a discourse in which Christ shall walk right down into the immortal soul and take everlasting possession of it, filling it as full of light as is this noonday firmament.

That sermon or exhortation of the future will not deal with men in the threadbare illustrations of Jesus Christ. In that coming address there will be instances of vicarious suffering taken right out of everyday life, for there is not a day when somebody is not dying for others—as the physician saving his diphtheritic patient by sacrificing his own life; as the ship captain going down with his vessel while he is getting his passengers into the lifeboat; as the fireman consuming in the burning building while he is taking a child out of a fourth story window; as in summer the strong swimmer at East Hampton or Long Branch or Cape May or Lake George himself perishing trying to rescue the drowning; as the newspaper boy one summer, supporting his mother for some years, his invalid mother, when offered by a gentleman 50 cents to get some special paper, and he got it, and rushed up in his anxiety to deliver it and was crushed under the wheels of the train and lay on the grass with only strength enough to say, "Oh, what will become of my poor, sick mother now?" Vicarious suffering—the world is full of it. An engineer said to me on a locomotive in Dakota: "We men seem to be coming to better appreciation than we used to. Did you see that account the other day of an engineer who to save his passengers stuck to his place, and when he was found dead in the locomotive, which was upside down, he was found still smiling, his hand on the air-brake?" And as the engineer said it to me he put his hand on the air-brake to illustrate his meaning, and I looked at him and thought, "You would be just as much a hero in the same crisis." Oh, in that religious discourse of the future there will be living illustrations taken out from everyday life of vicarious suffering—illustrations that will bring to mind the ghostlier sacrifice of him who in the high places of the field, on the cross, fought our battles and endured our struggle and died our death.

The Loving Christ.

A German sculptor made an image of Christ, and he asked his little child, 2 years old, who it was, and she said, "That must be some very great man." The sculptor was displeased with the criticism, so he got another block of marble and chiseled away on it two or three years, and then he brought in his little child, 4 or 5 years of age, and said to her, "Who do you think that is?" She said, "That must be the one who took little children in his arms and blessed them." Then the sculptor was satisfied. Oh, my friends, what the world wants is not a cold Christ, not an intellectual Christ, not a severely magisterial Christ, but a loving Christ, spreading out his arms of sympathy to press the whole world to his loving heart!

But I remark again that the religious discourse of the future will have to be short. Condensation is demanded by the age in which we live. No more need of long introductions and long applications and so many divisions to a discourse that it may be said to be hydra headed. In other days men got all their information from the pulpit. There were few books, and there were no newspapers, and there was little travel from place to place, and people would sit and listen two and a half hours to a religious discourse, and "seventeenthly" would find them fresh and chipper. In those days there was enough time for a man to take an hour to warm himself up to the subject and an hour to cool off. But what was a necessity then is a superfluity now. Congregations are full of knowledge from books, from newspapers, from rapid and continuous intercommunication and long disquisitions of what they know already will not be abided. If a religious teacher cannot compress what he wishes to say to the people in the space of 45 minutes, better adjourn it to some other day.

The trouble is we preach audiences into a Christian frame, and then we preach them out of it. We forget that every auditor has so much capacity of attention, and when that is exhausted he is restless. That accident on the Long Island railroad years ago came from the fact that the brakes were out of order, and when they wanted to stop the train they could not stop, and hence the casualty was terrific. In all religious discourse we want locomotive power and propulsion. We want at the same time stout brakes to let down at the right instant. It is a dismal thing, after a hearer has comprehended the whole subject, to hear a man say, "Now to recapitulate," and "A few words by way of application," and "Once more," and "Finally," and "Now to conclude."

Paul preached until midnight, and Eutychus got sound asleep and fell out of a window and broke his neck. Some would say, "Good for him." I would rather be sympathetic, like Paul, and resuscitate him. That accident is often quoted now in religious circles as a warning against somnolence in church. It is just as much a warning to ministers against prolixity. Eutychus was wrong in his somnolence, but Paul made a mistake when he kept on until midnight. He ought to have stopped at 11 o'clock, and there would have been no accident. If Paul might have gone on to too great length, let all those of us who are now preaching the gospel remember that there is a limit to religious discourse, or ought to be, and that in our time we have no apostolic power of miracles. Napoleon in an address of seven minutes thrilled his army and thrilled Europe. Christ's sermon on the mount, the model sermon, was less than 18 minutes long at ordinary mode of delivery. It is not electricity scattered all over the sky that strikes, but electricity gathered into a thunderbolt and hurled, and it is not religious truth scattered over and spread out over a vast reach of time, but religious truth projected in compact form that flashes light upon the soul and gives it indifference.

The Popular Sermon.

When the religious discourse of the future arrives in this land and in the Christian church, the discourse which is to arouse the world and startle the nations and usher in the kingdom, it will be a brief discourse. Hear it, all theological students, all ye entering upon religious work, all ye men and women who in Sabbath schools and other departments are toiling for Christ and the salvation of immortals—brevity, brevity.

But I remark also that the religious discourse of the future of which I speak will be a popular discourse. There are those in these times who speak of a popular sermon as though there must be something wrong about it. As these critics are dull themselves, the world gets the impression that a sermon is good in proportion as it is stupid. Christ was the most popular preacher the world ever saw and, considering the small number of the world's population, had the largest audience ever gathered. He never preached anywhere without making a great sensation. People rushed out in the wilderness to hear him reckless of their physical necessities. So great was their anxiety to hear Christ that, taking no food with them, they would have fainted and starved had not Christ performed a miracle and fed them. Why did so many people take the truth at Christ's hands? Because they all understood it. He illustrated his subject by a hen and her chickens, by a bushel measure, by a handful of salt, by a bird's flight and by a lily's aroma. All the people knew what he meant, and they flocked to him. And when the religious discourse of the future appears it will not be Princetonian, not Rochesterian, not Andoverian, not Middletonian, but Olivet—plain, practical, unique, earnest, comprehensive of all the woes, wants, sins and sorrows of an auditory.

But when that exhortation or discourse does come there will be a thousand gleaming scimiters to charge on it. There are in so many theological seminaries professors telling young men how to preach, themselves not knowing how, and I am told that if a young man in some of our theological seminaries says anything quaint or thrilling or unique faculty and students fly at him and set him right and straighten him out and smooth him down and chop him off until he says everything just as everybody else says it. Oh, when the future religious discourse of the Christian church arrives all the churches of Christ in our great cities will be thronged! The world wants spiritual help. All who have buried their dead want comfort. All know themselves to be mortal and to be immortal, and they want to hear about the great future. I tell you, my friends, if the people of our great cities who have had trouble only thought they could get practical and sympathetic help in the Christian church, there would not be a street in Washington or New York or any other city which would be passable on the Sabbath day if there were a church on it, for all the people would press to that asylum of mercy, that great house of comfort and consolation.

The World's Sorrows.

A mother with a dead babe in her arms came to the god Siva and asked to have her child restored to life. The god Siva said to her, "You go and get a handful of mustard seed from a house in which there has been no sorrow and in which there has been no death, and I will restore your child to life." So the mother went out, and she went from house to house and from home to home looking for a place where there had been no sorrow and where there had been no death, but she found none. She went back to the god Siva and said: "My mission is a failure. You see, I haven't brought the mustard seed. I can't find a place where there has been no sorrow and no death." "Oh!" says the god Siva. "Understand, your sorrows are no worse than the sorrows of others. We all have our griefs, and all have our heartbreaks."

Laugh, and the world laughs with you;
Weep, and you weep alone;
For the sad old earth must borrow its mirth,
But has trouble enough of its own.

We hear a great deal of discussion now all over the land about why people do not go to church. Some say it is because Christianity is dying out and because people do not believe in the truth of God's word, and all that. They are false reasons. The reason is because our sermons and exhortations are not interesting and practical and helpful. Some one might as well tell the whole truth on this subject, and so I will tell it. The religious discourse of the future, the gospel sermon to come forth and shake the nations and lift people out of darkness, will be a popular sermon, just for the simple reason that it will meet the woes and the wants and the anxieties of the people.

There are in all our denominations ecclesiastical mummies sitting around to frown upon the fresh young pulpits of America to try to awe them down, to cry out: "Tut, tut, tut! Sensational!" They stand today preaching in churches that hold a thousand people, and there are a hundred persons present, and if they cannot have the world saved in their way it seems as if they do not want it saved at all.

I do not know but the old way of making ministers of the gospel is better—a collegiate education and an apprenticeship under the care and home attention of some earnest, aged Christian minister, the young man getting the patriarch's spirit and assisting him in his religious service. Young lawyers study with old lawyers, young physicians with old physicians, and I believe it would be a great help if every young man studying for the gospel ministry could put himself in the home and heart and sympathy and under the benediction and perpetual presence of a Christian minister.

But, I remark again, the religious discourse of the future will be an awakening sermon. From altar rail to the front door step, under that sermon, an audience will get up and start for heaven. There will be in it many a staccato passage. It will not be a lullaby. It will be a battle charge. Men will drop their sins, for they will feel the hot breath of pursuing retribution on the back of their necks. It will be sympathetic with all the physical distresses as well as the spiritual distresses of the world. Christ not only preached, but he healed paralysis, and he healed epilepsy, and he healed the dumb and the blind and the lepers.

Everyday Preaching.

That religious discourse of the future will be an everyday sermon, going right down into every man's life, and it will

Mrs. Pinkham's Medicine Made a New Woman of Mrs. Kuhn.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 64,492.]

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM—I think it is my duty to write to you expressing my sincere gratitude for the wonderful relief I have experienced by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I tried different doctors, also different kinds of medicine. I would feel better at times, then would be as bad as ever.

"For eight years I was a great sufferer. I had falling of the womb and was in such misery at my monthly periods I could not work but a little before I would have to lie down. Your medicine has made a new woman of me. I can now work all day and not get tired. I thank you for what you have done for me. I shall always praise your medicine to all suffering women."

—MRS. E. E. KUHN, GERMANO, OHIO.

"I have taken eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and used two packages of your Sanative Wash, also some of the Liver Pills, and I can say that your remedies will do all that you claim for them. Before taking your remedies I was very bad with womb trouble, was nervous, had no ambition, could not sleep, and my food seemed to do me no good. Now I am well, and your medicine has cured me. I will gladly recommend your medicine to every one wherever I go."

teach him how to vote, how to bargain, how to plow, how to do any work he is called to do, how to wield trowel and pen and pencil and yardstick and plane. And it will teach women how to preside over their households and how to educate their children and how to imitate Miriam and Esther and Vashti and Eunice, the mother of Timothy, and Mary, the mother of Christ, and those women who on northern and southern battlefields were mistaken by the wounded for angels of mercy, fresh from the throne of God.

Yes, I have to tell you, the religious discourse of the future will be a reported sermon. If you have any idea that printing was invented simply to print secular books, and stenography and phonography were contrived merely to set forth secular ideas, you are mistaken. The printing press is to be the great agency of gospel proclamation. It is high time that good men, instead of denouncing the press, employ it to scatter forth the gospel of Jesus Christ. The vast majority of people in our cities do not come to church, and nothing but the printed sermon can reach them and call them to pardon and life and peace and heaven.

So I cannot understand the nervousness of some of my brethren of the ministry. When they see a newspaper man coming in, they say, "Alas, there is a reporter!" Every added reporter is 10,000, 50,000, 100,000 immortal souls added to the auditory. The time will come when all the village, town and city newspapers will reproduce the gospel of Jesus Christ, and sermons preached on the Sabbath will reverberate all around the world, and, some by type and some by voice, all nations will be evangelized.

The practical bearing of this is upon those who are engaged in Christian work, not only upon theological students and young ministers, but upon all who preach the gospel and all who exhort in meetings and all of you if you are doing your duty. Do you exhort in prayer meeting? Be short and spirited. Do you teach in Bible class? Though you have to study every night, be interesting. Do you accost people on the subject of religion in their homes or in public places? Study adroitness and use common sense. The most graceful and most beautiful thing on earth is the religion of Jesus Christ, and if you awkwardly present it it is defamatory. We must do our work rapidly, and we must do it effectively. Soon our time for work will be gone.

The End of Time.

A dying Christian took out his watch and gave it to a friend and said: "Take that watch. I have no more use for it. Time is at an end for me, and eternity begins." Oh, my friends, when our watch has ticked away for us the last moment, and our clock has struck for us the last hour, may it be found we did our work well, that we did it in the very best way, and whether we preached the gospel in pulpits, or taught Sabbath classes, or administered to the sick as physicians, or bargained as merchants, or pleaded the law as attorneys, or were busy as artisans or husbandmen or as mechanics, or were, like Martha, called to give a meal to a hungry Christ, or like Hannah, to make a coat for a prophet, or like Deborah, to rouse the courage of some timid Barak in the Lord's conflict, we did our work in such a way that it will stand the test of the judgment! And in the long procession of the redeemed that march around the throne may it be found that there are many there brought to God through our instrumentality and in whose rescue we exult. But let none of us who are still unsaved, wait for that religious discourse of the future. It may come after our obsequies. It may come after the stonemason has chiseled our name on the slab 50 years before. Do not wait for a great steamer of the Cunard or White Star line to take you off the wreck, but hail the first craft, with however low a mast and however small a hull and however poor a rudder and however weak a captain. Better a disabled schooner that comes up in time than a full rigged brig that comes up after you have sunk.

Instead of waiting for that religious discourse of the future (it may be 40, 50 years off), take this plain invitation of a man who has given you spiritual eyesight would be glad to be called the spittle of a blind man and who would consider the highest compliment of this service if, at the close, 500 men should start from these doors saying: "Whether he be a sinner or no, I know not. This one thing I know—whereas I was blind, now I see."

Swifter than shadows over the plain, quicker than birds in their autumnal flight, hastier than eagles to their prey, hie you to a sympathetic Christ. The orchestras of heaven have strung their instruments to celebrate your rescue: And many were the voices around the throne. Rejoice, for the Lord brings back his own.

Troubles of Sovereigns.

The sovereigns of the world are not having a good time at present. Queen Victoria, sorely against her will, was forced to consent to the war with the Boers and so give up her hope of ending her record breaking reign in peace. The Kaiser is angry with his people and chides them for not having proper confidence in him. "Germany is in bitter need of a strong fleet. If re-enforcements had not been refused me during the first eight years of my reign, in spite of my urgent requests and admonitions, while scorn and mockery even were not spared me, how differently we should be able to push our thriving trade and interests over sea! Yet the feeling for these things is only gaining ground in the fatherland, which, unfortunately, has spent strength in too much fruitless strife of factions."

The amiable little queen of Holland is anxious about the Dutch in South Africa, but Europe refuses to pay attention. The czar of all the Russias is a broken and disappointed man.

The king of Italy would like a bankruptcy law for monarchs.

A STUDY IN EX-PRESIDENTS.

Four Were Living at Three Different Times in History.

Two ex-presidents of the United States are living, Cleveland and Harrison.

Before the expiration of John Adams' term, 1801, there was no ex-president living. Washington having died in December, 1799.

During Jefferson's administration Adams was the ex-president. Both died on the same day, July 4, 1826. Both were ex-presidents during the administrations of Madison and Monroe and a part of the administration of J. Q. Adams.

When Monroe was president, the three ex-presidents were Adams, Jefferson and Madison.

J. Q. Adams became president in 1825. At that time Adams, Jefferson, Madison and Monroe were living. But before the expiration of J. Q. Adams' term, 1829, only Madison and Monroe were living.

During Jackson's first administration, Madison, Monroe and J. Q. Adams were the living ex-presidents. Before the expiration of Jackson's second administration only J. Q. Adams remained as former president.

When Van Buren was president, J. Q. Adams and Jackson were the living ex-presidents.

During William Henry Harrison's term of one month J. Q. Adams, Jackson and Van Buren were the living ex-presidents.

John Tyler as vice president succeeded Harrison and was in office from 1841 to 1845. The ex-presidents living during his term were J. Q. Adams, Jackson and Van Buren.

While Polk was president the living ex-presidents were J. Q. Adams, Jackson, Van Buren and Tyler. But before the expiration of Polk's term Van Buren and Tyler only remained.

Taylor's term lasted less than five months. In that time Van Buren, Tyler and Polk were living, although Polk died 25 days before Taylor, thereby leaving Van Buren and Tyler living ex-presidents.

When Fillmore was president, Van Buren and Tyler were still living. With Pierce as president, there were three living ex-presidents—Van Buren, Tyler and Fillmore.

When Buchanan was president, Van Buren, Tyler, Fillmore and Pierce were living. During Lincoln's term of office Fillmore, Pierce and Buchanan were living.

In the administration of Johnson, Buchanan died, leaving Fillmore and Pierce.

During Grant's first term Fillmore and Johnson were living. Before the expiration of his second term there was no living ex-president.

Grant was the only living ex-president while Hayes was at the White House.

During Garfield's short term Grant and Hayes were living.

In the administration of Arthur, Grant and Hayes were still living. At the time of Arthur's death Hayes was living.

During Cleveland's first term Grant, Hayes and Arthur were living. Before the expiration of that term only Hayes remained.

With Benjamin Harrison as president, Hayes and Cleveland were living, but before the expiration of Harrison's term only Cleveland remained as a living ex-president.

In Cleveland's second term there was but one ex-president living, Harrison.

During McKinley's term the two living ex-presidents are Cleveland and Harrison.

Three times in the history of the country have four ex-presidents been living at the same time, frequently three. Once there was one ex-president living during the incumbency of his predecessor, twice none.—New York Sun.

The Republican House.

Miss Perline, the present owner of the house in Ripon, Wis., in which it is said the name "Republican" was first used as applied to the present party by a small company assembled there, has offered to sell the structure to the Wisconsin State Historical society. The society, however, is without sufficient funds to accept the offer. The building was originally a school-house and was altered into a dwelling house. It was at one time owned by ex-Governor Peck of Wisconsin.

Hetty Green, a Dewey.

Hetty Green, the richest woman in America, now calls herself Dewey. She says Dewey's grandmother was a Storey, and lots of her folks were Storeys, and the Storeys married the Deweys, and there you are. "You see," she says, "when we Deweys know we are right a locomotive and a train of cars going down hill can't stop us. That is the way with us Deweys, especially with me and my cousin, the admiral."—Boston Globe.

Scarcity of Equestrian Statues.

We do not know how many equestrian statues there are, but the number is much less than one would imagine. There are only 15 or 16 in the United States. Paris has seven, more than any other city.—New York Sun.

THE HADLEY TRAIN.

A Witty and Ingenious Conceit of Yale Undergraduates.

The most striking feature of the students' torchlight parade in honor of the inauguration of President Arthur T. Hadley was the Hadley train. Yale's new president made his reputation largely by his authoritative work on railroads, and one of his most valuable courses is his "Railroad Transportation." No more appropriate transparency, therefore, could have been devised.

The train was purely of Yale manufacture. The cars, 14 feet long by 7 feet high, were propelled by college "sweepers," who stood in them completely hidden from view. The engine, mounted on wheels, was run by students. To give it an added realistic touch, cotton waste was burned in the furnace, thus producing a considerable volume of smoke. Each car was marked with a class numeral, the seniors having the engine. The train was escorted by a band of 20 seniors, dressed in overalls and carrying red lanterns, and the train was stopped and started in genuine railroad fashion. At the last moment portraits of well known graduates and prominent members of the faculty were painted on the windows. Standing in the baggage car, engaged in lifting a trunk marked "A. T. H. Yale," was the smiling figure of one of Yale's most prominent railroad men, Chauncey M. Depew, of the class of '56. The cars and engine were lighted by lanterns hung inside, thus forming an immense transparency. Close beside the train were carried two transparencies bearing respectively the appropriate mottoes, "A New Train of Thought" and "Yale Is on the Right Track."—New York Tribune.

Paving Stones and Revolutions.

The reason why another reign of terror was not recently inaugurated in France is thus stated by the Chicago Times-Herald: "One hundred-fifty-twenty-five years ago these things would have set the mobs going. They would be throwing paving stones at one another! Paving stones? Ah, there is the secret of the whole matter. The mobs have been robbed of their ammunition. The people stand ready to hoist the red flag and run riot, but what are bare hands against unces and muskets?"

"The rioter stoops to pick up a paving stone, and his fingers scratch vainly along the smooth surface of the asphalt with which most of the streets of Paris are now paved. Ciel! He is helpless! He straightens up and stares vaguely about him for a moment, and then some commissary of police runs him in. Men and women follow, shouting and shaking their fists, but there are no paving stones for them to hurl."

"So the republic continues to stand. It is wonderful! A little bit of asphalt prevents the killing of people by the score, and history is robbed of whole chapters of bloody details. Vive le tar barrel!"

A Point in Etiquette.

As to the form of introduction, the simpler it is the better. The double introduction has entirely gone out of fashion. Do not say, "Let me make you acquainted with," but say merely, "Miss Brown, let me present Mr. Gray to you." If two persons who are introduced are interested in some one art or science, it is well to mention this fact, but in making introductions it is inadvisable to label people. Do not introduce a woman as "our most distinguished poetess," or a man as "the greatest hero of our recent political battles." Both statements may be true, but it is embarrassing to both parties to an introduction to hear these personal eulogiums.—Leah Lancelord in November Woman's Home Companion.

We apprehend that black cats, take them rough and running, have brought more fleas than good luck.—Detroit Journal.

Childless people often drift apart. The wife seeks to satisfy her heart craving, by society, "Always roaming with a hungry heart." The husband finds the home dull and goes to the club. The happiest homes are those which echo to the love and laughter of childish voices.

The conditions which preclude motherhood are often remediable. They grow out of a diseased or enfeebled condition of the delicate female organs. When these conditions are removed, and vitality and elasticity given to the organs of motherhood, it frequently follows that the home is gladdened by the coming of a healthy, happy infant.

There is no other medicine that will do as much for women as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It dries up disagreeable drains, allays inflammation, heals ulceration, cures female weakness, and establishes the delicate womanly organs in a state of perfect health and vigor.

There is no alcohol, opium or other narcotic in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., by letter, free. Every letter is held as strictly private and sacredly confidential.

"I had been a sufferer from uterine trouble for about three years, having two miscarriages in that time, and the doctors that I consulted said I would have to go through an operation before I could give birth to living children," writes Mrs. Blanche E. Evans, of Parsons, Lusher Co., Pa. "When about to give up in despair I saw the advertisement of Dr. Pierce's medicine and thought I would give it a trial as a last resort. I bought a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and after taking it felt better than I had for years. After taking four and a half bottles I gave birth to a bright baby girl who is now four months old and has not had a day of sickness. I cannot say too much in praise of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

Dr. Pierce's Pellets are a boon to women of constipated habit.

Western Maryland College.

The week of prayer which has been in progress here for the past several days closed Monday evening. Though the results were not so large as we had hoped to see, we feel that there is no ground for discouragement. Two of the unsaved boys took a stand for Christ, during the meeting, while several of the Christian boys renewed their vows for a deeper consecration. The meeting was a spiritual feast for the active members of the association, and we feel that seed were sown that will bring forth fruit in after years.

The Young Women's Association, also, held meetings as outlined by the International Committee but we cannot speak intelligently of results.

Prof. T. C. Galbreath formerly of the preparatory department here but now Secretary of Public Schools for Harford county, was here on business this week.

Mr. Wade Insley of Tyaskin was a welcome visitor here Tuesday. It looks natural to see him moving among the boys, and we hope very much that he can arrange his business so as to be with us next term.

Mr. Walton Melvin, class of '99 spent Sunday with friends here. He is teaching this year in this county.

REPORTER.

Should have Holiday Earlier.

Bishop Coleman thinks Thanksgiving Day should be placed about the beginning of November. In the November issue of the Delaware Churchman he says:

"Thanksgiving Day is near. I wish it were already past. Not that I do not most heartily approve of such an observance, but that it ought to be much nearer the actual time of harvest."

"When will we have a President with courage enough and with enough of carefulness in the matter to break through the senseless prejudices of some and appoint the day in the beginning of November, instead of its ending? Let us, however, in the meantime be glad of any such appointment, and fulfill its purposes devoutly. I most earnestly ask for liberal contributions on that day in money, provisions, etc., to the very needy and very worthy work of our Day Nursery and Hospital."

Dorchester county Democrats will contest the election of James C. Leonard, Republican, to the office of county commissioners, by 35 votes.

Ex-Senator Gorman and his brother, Wm. H. Gorman have purchased 20 acres of coal land near Carbon Allegany county. They will develop it.

Frederick's flower show was an artistic success, but a financial failure, and the annual exhibitions of the flower sort are therefore at an end.

Hagerstown firemen will hold a meeting to protest against the reappointment of a state fire marshal at $5,500 per year. They say the office should be abolished.

Almost in ruins, the old Washington monument on South Mountain, above Boonsboro, will be rebuilt. Several years ago Vandals exploded dynamite under it.

Lonaconing is having a gas light war between old and new company and old company has reduced its rates as it had intended to do a year before the new company was talked about.

Talbot county, during past year, spent $27,834.50 for salaries of white school teachers, and $5,516.25 for colored teachers salaries.

Elkton shirt factory, formerly conducted by George Birkhead, has been purchased from him by his son, Arthur G. Birkhead, and will be operated by him.

Antioch M. E. church Ladies' Aid society, Princess Anne, are busiers. They replaced the old church carpet with a new one, so pretty that the people don't like to walk on it.

The Mountain Lake Park auditorium, which is being built for Chataqua purposes, is nearing completion. It will comfortably seat 3,200 people and the accommodations can be stretched to seat 4,700.

"You must stamp the bottles" said a Frederick deputy internal revenue collector to an old Indian, calling himself Chief Utawau, who was selling medicine on the streets. The old red man refused to stamp the bottles saying he was a ward of the United States, and could not be compelled to obey the revenue law. The matter has been referred to Collector Parlett, Baltimore.

A Golden Wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. White of Whitesville celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage with a "Golden Wedding," last Wednesday Nov. 23. Fifty or more of their relatives and friends were present for the occasion and spent a very pleasant day. Dinner was served at 8 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. White received many tokens of love from their friends, quite a number of which were gold pieces. They have nine children living, Mr. Wm. J. White of this place being a son.

The Eminent Kidney and Bladder Specialist.

The Discoverer of Swamp-Root at Work in His Laboratory.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poisoned blood will attack the vital organs, and the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell. Then the richness of the blood—the albumen—leaks out and the sufferer has Bright's Disease, the worst form of kidney trouble.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root the new discovery is the true specific for kidney, bladder and urinary troubles. It has cured thousands of apparently hopeless cases, after all other efforts have failed. At druggists in fifty-cent and dollar sizes. A sample bottle sent free by mail, also a book telling about Swamp-Root and its wonderful cures. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and mention this paper.

STYLE VS. COST.

More people wear ready-made clothing now than ever before, and the reason is simply this: that the art of making ready to wear clothing has reached so high a form of perfection that such clothing of "Oehm" suits and overcoats can hardly be distinguished from the best merchant tailored garment. This reduces the cost of being stylishly dressed to a fraction of what it used to cost.

The latest fall styles are ready for you—the newest and best in men's suits and overcoats, hats, shoes, shirts, neckwear, underwear and other furnishings await your inspection and approval. Everything a boy wears is here too, both best and cheapest.

Your postal card will bring catalogue, samples, and self-measurement blank. A personal visit will save you the expense of your trip, and the many conveniences of our establishment are at your disposal.
