

24th ANNUAL MAY FESTIVAL

Attention All Students

The price increases in text books, plus the apparent paper shortage and the delivery delays encountered at the beginning of each semester, promise to make next semester's load doubly hard.

In anticipation of the aforementioned obstacle, the College Book Store proposes to alleviate some of the difficulties by acting as an agency for the sale of used books. Here are the proposals:

1. The bookstore will accept on consignment, any used text book which will be utilized in the first semester 1951-52.
2. The re-sale price will be determined by the book store staff, based on edition, condition, etc.

3. A service charge will be assessed each sale, not to exceed the normal profit offered the bookstore by book companies.

4. Any books not sold after a reasonable time will be returned to the owner.

5. Books will be accepted by the Bookstore as soon as an approved list of texts is forthcoming from the faculty.

6. No texts will be accepted after May 26, 1951.

(Up to, but not including the last week of school.)

DR. HOWARD E. BOSLEY

Dr. Howard E. Bosley, dean of instruction here at the college, has been asked by the State Department to go to Germany next month as a specialist in educational administration. Before making a decision, Dr. Bosley has requested more detailed information about the assignment.

Dr. Bosley said he does not know exactly what his work in Germany would be. He said he thought it would be in connection with America's part in an educational rehabilitation program now going on in Germany. He would return to the United States early in September.

Before accepting his present position as dean of instruction here at the college, Dr. Bosley was professor of education as Southern Illinois University in his home town of Carbondale, Ill. He received his Bachelor of Arts degree from Southern Illinois in 1930; his Master's degree in 1935 and his Doctor's degree in 1946 from Teachers College at Columbia University.

A LETTER A DAY

Well, gang, it seems as though we are left with a skeleton crew to carry on the work of the college. Everytime you turn around there is one less of the male gender at college, and it appears as though we will lose many of our buddies this summer. It's almost cruel to have to give up the friendship of people whom you have learned to respect; but then, it's an adjustment that is easy enough for us to make when we compare the adjustment our departed friends must undergo. Believe me, it's not easy. The majority of them are now doing something they do not like, but probably feel the necessity of doing so for our country's strength. There will be many times when they will feel dejected, ruing the day they had to enter the service. So where do we come in? You guessed it fellow students, a few lines from an old friend . . . a letter, a clipping, anything at all as long as he knows it came from a person who had time to think of him. They are making the sacrifice, while we are free to spend our time as we wish. Certainly you have ten minutes. Look the list over.

A letter a day may keep the blues away.

May Queen Honored Tuesday, May 1

The twenty-fourth annual May Day festival here at State Teachers College will be held on the front campus of the college on Tuesday, May 1st, at 4 p.m. The procession will be led by Jeanette Messick, Queen of the May, attended by the following ladies of her court: Nancy Strohsacker, Maid of Honor; Joan Blomquist, Miss S. T. C.; Barbara Pugh Bloodworth, Best Woman Athlete; Maybelle Murphy, Most Scholarly Woman; and the representatives of the various classes, who are: Peggy Phillips, senior; Ann Peters, junior class; Nancy Ellison, sophomore class; and Bertha McKenny, freshman class.

The Queen will be escorted by David Pearl, and the maid of honor will be escorted by Roy Esiason and also attended by the following gentlemen of the court: Leon Conner, Mr. S. T. C.; Bobby Fithian, Best Man Athlete; Sam Ellis, Most Scholarly Man; and the male representatives of the individual classes, who are: Gene Lilley, senior class; Dicky Holden, junior class; Bill Truitt, sophomore class; Donald Pirie, freshman class.

Festivities will begin with a May Day greeting by a dance group, followed by the crowning of the Queen by Mr. S. T. C., and presentation of flowers to Miss S. T. C., by Kathryn Hales, President of the Women's Dormitory Association.

Miss Elizabeth Calcott, Miss Pauline Liedlich, and Miss Patti Radcliffe will dance in honor of the Queen. A tumbling exhibition will then be staged by Nancy Harman, Nancy and Elba Christensen, Kaye Wolfe, Cickie Auston, all pupils in the campus elementary school. The pageant will be climaxed by the May Pole dance by the freshman women.

Miss Helen Jamart is head of the program, assisted by women majors in the physical education field.

Thurman Dennis, the Court Jester, will fulfill the promise to keep the Queen and her court amused.

The Campus Elementary School will complete the court with David Cauffman, acting as crown bearer; Heidi Gray and Hugh Hanson as heralds, Teresa Fleming and Judith Ennis as flower girls, and Bonnie Brinsfield as train bearer.

The Queen will be honored by a reception in the Social Room. All attending the festivities are invited.

St. Marys

On Friday, April 6, 1951, the annual meeting of the Junior College Association was held at St. Mary's Seminary. The Junior College at STC sent Dorothy Mead, Gene Culver, Jean Beaven, Douglas Feeney, Barbara Jones, Paul Davenport, Mollie Cantrell and Jayne Thompson as student representatives. Mr. Glenn, Mr. Fleming, Mr. Gebhardsbauer, Dr. and Mrs. Fleming, Dr. and Mrs. Blackwell and Dr. Frances accompanied the group as faculty advisers.

The general meeting took place on Saturday from 10:30 until 3:00 p. m. A business meeting was held first at 11:30 on Saturday morning. Dr. Horn, who is from Baltimore Junior College, was the guest speaker. He stressed the importance of furthering community-supported Junior Colleges, and he also stated that a better range of subjects should be offered in the curriculum of the Junior Colleges. In this meeting an election of officers was held, but since the J. C. at STC does not have a set of by-laws, there could be no nominees from here. Luncheon was served from 1:00 to 2:00 and then the committee meetings were held. Two representatives from STC were sent to each of the following committees: Athletics, Social Activities, Student Government and Extra-curricular activities. The major point that was stressed was "there should be a closer relationship between the Junior Colleges, and with the help of the faculties of the respective colleges they would like to start a series of games in competitive sports." This is to be brought up in the respective Athletic Associations.

Each of the students who went to the conference felt that from the meetings and discussion groups they obtained a great deal of valuable knowledge concerning Junior Colleges.

TOM WILLIAMS SPEAKS

Our college recently gained some well deserved recognition because of the oratorical prowess of several S.T.C. students, who have spoken to several ladies' clubs throughout Salisbury. Among the most recent of talks, Tom Williams presented his views to the University Women's Organization on the much controversial subject of United States' aid to Yugoslavia.

Before presenting his personal opinions on the issue, Tom gave a brief history of the country up to the present day. By doing this it was quiet evident that the Yugoslavs were closely allied to the Russians racially, as well as politically and geographically. Would it be a wise policy to aid such a country considering the close bonds the two Communist countries have? Tom thinks so, but only on one condition—"We should give aid to Yugoslavia provided there are no deals. We should not be required to meet any agreements for aid that we could not cancel at leisure." He then went on to say—"If by aiding Yugoslavia we can stop the avalanche of aggression, I'm all for it."

In conclusion, Tom emphasized the importance of public opinion having voice in the government thru letters and phone calls direct to the congressman from the public. If this medium of representation is not used freely by the public, there is the possibility of congressmen acting under their own views, and these views may not necessarily endorse the majority of the people whom he is representing. In many respects the people of the United States ignore the privileges of democracy.

Eastern Shore Music Festival

The Second Annual Eastern Shore Music Festival was held on Saturday, April 21, at the Maryland Teachers College at Salisbury.

Glee clubs and choruses from sixteen junior and senior high schools in seven counties participated in the day's activities. The schedule of events for the day included selections by each school group, solos by outstanding vocalists and instrumentalists, and two selections by all the group combined to form a "massed" chorus. The "massed" chorus sang a novel version of the well known American folk song, Pop Goes The Weasel and the Fred Waring arrangement of This Is My County. The singers were led in these two numbers by Mrs. essie Fleming, Director of Music at the college.

The counties whose choral groups participated were aCroline, Dorchester, Kent, Queen Anne's, Somerset, Wicomico, and Worcester. Members of the Planning Committee for the Festival were music teachers representing each of these counties and the State Teachers College. The committee included: Mrs. Jessie Fleming, Director of Music, Chairman; Mrs. Wanda L. Ewing of Federalsburg High School, Caroline County; Miss Lillian Foote of Cambridge Junior High School,

AS THE EDITORS SEE IT

Why isn't our SGA more active? Why don't we have more student parties and dances? Why can't we have more athletics and better athletic equipment? These are several questions which are heard daily in the halls of STC. Fortunately, through understanding of SGA problems, they are diminishing.

One big problem with which the SGA must cope is insufficient funds. This is a simple mathematical problem. Last year there were about 330 students who paid their $10 activities fee, giving the SGA a working fund of approximately $3,300. This year with only 202 students paying the fee, the SGA had only $2,020 in its working fund. The student body, by voting to increase the activities fee to $15 next year, has indicated that they understand this problem, and hope to help alleviate it next year.

A second problem which is just as serious, if not more serious, is the carefree attitude of students toward their responsibility to the SGA. The Student Government Association is just what its name says—a student government. It is just as strong and effective as its weakest student member. Everytime a student fails to attend a class meeting or club meeting; everytime he fails to vote; everytime he fails to accept responsibility for, or support of SGA activities, he is weakening the SGA. Another thing, which few students seem to realize, is that the Executive Board of the SGA consists of four officers elected from the student body at large, plus the presidents of all recognized student organizations. As election time nears, why not make sure that your organization elects the best president possible to represent you on the Executive Board next year.

If every student discharges his responsibility, the Student Government Association will undergo the most successful year since its founding.

SPOTLIGHTING STUDENTS

JACK PAYNE

When you ask a young college senior of today what his plans are for the future, he probably will reply—"the United States Army stands foremost in my immediate future." Such is the case of John Wm. Payne, known to all the students as Jack, and as the man behind the sports news of The Holly Leaf.

Jack was born in Pocomoke, Md., on September 15, 1930, the eldest child in the Payne family. He spent his childhood in Pocomoke, and it was there that he acquired the love of sports that has led him to be one of the chief competitors for STC's soccer and baseball teams. In any sport, Jack has displayed a fighting spirit that has been overcome by others only through his small size. During his high school years, he had considered becoming a dentist, an architect, and a professional baseball player. Jack performed very well in high school, both academically and in sports, and upon graduation was awarded the American Legion award for the best all-around boy.

Upon graduation, Jack decided he wanted to continue his education, so he entered STC in 1947. During his four years here, he has participated ardently in sports, especially track and soccer. Among other extra-curricular activities Jack has served as sports reporter for The Holly Leaf and as Vice-President and Secretary of the Men's Dormitory Association.

Jack likes the present trend of beauty in American women, namely naturalness. He thinks peroxide looks better in the bottle when it comes to hair-dying.

In the educational field, Jack plans to teach Social Studies or Math. But, before this opportunity presents itself, Jack plans to enlist in the Navy, as he prefers this to the Army. Of course, there is always the optimistic viewpoint, that although he has studied four years and is at last ready to embark upon his career, his time spent in military training will give him an opportunity to mature a little more before undertaking his chosen profession.

ORCHIDS TO - - -

To all those who helped make May Day a success.

Through
The Keyhole

Ah! Spring has sprung and "Snoopy" (that's me) is still endeavoring to keep you all informed.

What a surprise it has been to see Roger Mc. and Janet E. studying (?) so frequently. What are they doing? Reviewing their course in Botany, maybe? Roger also seems to be carried away by his studies to the point of argumentation. (Temper. Temper.)

Mollie Cantrell is having difficulties. She is torn between two loves. Whose is it going to be, Bill A. or Earl B.?

The latter is a surprise to us all. No wonder! He's spending a whole dollar a week.

A poor lovesick Sophomore boy, Stew H., not mentioning any names, is unfortunately having his dates interrupted by phone calls. Is it another fellow or could it be her mother?

Tell me why it is that the "House of Blue Lights" is the favorite song of Billie D., Schotts C., and Polly L.?

And whose "beneath the window-lover" was doused from a second floor window?

Why is it Ray Stoops is wearing his yellow shirt so frequently? Is it becoming, or does it bring back memories?

Shirley Longfellow seems to have a need for a private secretary to keep her long distance phone calls in order.

We hear that Harry Foskey is finding life more enjoyable. (Around the dorm or is it dorms?)

Poor Tom Williams! I know everyone is sorry to see him missing so many classes because of sinus (?).

Congratulations to Robert Webster and Lois Hall on their engagement. (Snoopy wishes to apologize for overlooking them in the past.)

We're glad to see that the Easter Bunny left such hardshelled eggs—as diamonds. Everyone knows diamonds are a girl's best friend and this is readily agreed upon by Betty Calcott and Mollie Maxwell. More power to you girls, the ratio of boys per girl is constantly diminishing. (Especially at S.T.C.)

Jean Maxwell has agreed demonstratively with her sister that love is so wonderful by "hooking" another "Jim".

For the life of me I can't explain: Why Creston Long's favorite song is "Here Pretty Kitty", or why Mable Lynch east "Cheese" and crackers all the time.

Don't you all think Margaret and Ted J. would make a cute couple? Let's not have any interference from the side lines.

Not only is love budding among the students, but spring fever has also spread to the faculty, now that the wife of the English professor is "just a school girl again". She has a horrible crush on her teacher.

Was it only financial difficulties that kept Leon away from New York? What's this we hear about him? A home town boy again. Better keep that right eye from twitching too much around school then.

We do hope Patti-Lou's dog gets well soon so that her mother won't have to make so many calls late

SPOTLIGHTING STUDENTS

Among the more robust students around the campus is the President of the Future Teachers of America—Betty Ann White.

If you begin talking to her in a serious mood, you find yourself not able to maintain your seriousness long, so full of joviality is she. This pleasing quality of Betty Ann's has been conducive rather than detrimental to her accomplishments around STC.

Betty Anne was born in the Peninsula General Hospital here in Salisbury just about twenty-one years ago. She attended Princess Anne Elementary School and Washington High School, and is doing her practice teaching there. As to her comments on teaching in her hometown—"I love it."

Betty Anne has been interested in the 4-H Club since she was ten years old. And in 1946 she attended the National 4-H Congress in Chicago. She won this trip for outstanding county leadership.

Upon being graduated from high school she decided to enter into the folds of STC. This was the beginning of the realization of a dream—for Betty Ann has cherished the thought of becoming a teacher since she was in the second grade.

As to her hobbies, she enjoys collecting miniature dogs, but the main source of enjoyment for her is the fact that she loves to travel. She does this during her summer vacations, plus helping her father on their farm in Princess Anne, and just being a "lady of leisure" in general.

Betty Ann's favorite interests here at the college have been art and psychology, along with an active interest in the F.T.A. for three years. She has lived in the dormitory for three years and has "loved every minute of it."

When Betty Ann is graduated in June, she hopes to acquire a position in Anne Arundel County teaching the fifth or sixth grade. With her honest friendliness, she can not help but succeed!

And, why should Polly's face turn red when she goes to the bank with Lou. Does Lou think you're checking on how much he's been saving?

Who is this we have seen Janice Lankford and Anna Lee Funk stepping out with? And the friend of the friends of these girls has been seen frequently with the stick of dynamite from the third floor of the girls dorm, Faye Webster.

Many seem to think that Bertha is having too much social life. (Especially with one influential person.) I understand some of the girls in the dorm feel slighted. Why? Could it be because their windows escaped the nails? Flash! I have just been told to ask June Sherwood for information.

No more time for me to give you the gossip, remember I am the nosey type and I always want to know the little things that happen, so off I go to find J. S. Snoopy

No Baseball this Season

For the first time in several years, S.T.C. will not field a baseball team. This news was received by the student body with a considerable amount of unfavorable comment. It seems that due to present conditions nothing can be done about the matter, and the student body will have to accept the facts, favorable or not. When consulted on the matter, Coach Maggs stated that due to the small student body, there has been a lack of sufficient funds in the Athletic Association's treasury and now there is not enough to meet the cost of financing a baseball team. It is hoped that this matter will not act too much as a demerit to the college, despite the fact, that this area is "baseball country" and many people, both in college and outside it, expect a team here. It might be added that pre-season predictors had figured that the school might be able to field a winning combination on the diamond to go with the successes of the soccer and basketball teams. However, that's definitely wishful thinking now.

In order to make up, in a small way, for the loss of a baseball team, Coach Maggs has made plans for the promotion of softball, tennis, golf, and possibly track. Softball has already begun with four teams having been organized and a schedule worked out so that a number of games can be played.

BUNTS AND BINGLES: Congratulations from this column to Bob Fithian and Barbara Bloodsworth for winning the annual Best S.T.C. Athlete awards . . . Orchids to the boys and girls who performed in the gym show . . . Fithian, Bloodsworth, Travers, Parker, Smith, Brown and Lankford are getting to play baseball anyway by performing for several Central Shore League teams . . . The opening of the major league baseball season not only supplies another interest for local baseball fans, but also provides constant fuel for the many argumentative fans in school. (Out on a limb Dept.) This column gives the Indians and Phillies the nod as the next pennant winners although the consensus of opinion seems to favor the Red Sox and Dodgers with the Yanks and Giants drawing quite a bit of support. Oh well! Everyone to his own opinion and if we knew the winners now they wouldn't have to play 154 games.

STC CAMPUS LEADERS

JEANETTE MESSICK
May Queen

DAVE PEARL
Queen's Escort

Jeanette, whose home is in Quantico, Md., has attended STC for four years. Since she entered STC in 1947, she has been an active participant in school activities. In her junior year she was vice-president of the Glee Club and secretary of the Sophanes Players. This year she is Program Chairman of the F.T.A. Jeanette is a great sports enthusiast, although she has never gone out for any of the school teams. Her other hobbies include reading and music. After graduation, Jeanette plans to teach elementary school in Wicomico County, and she hopes to be married this summer.

Although Dave has lived in Berlin, Md. for a number of years, he is not a native Eastern Shoreman. During his high school days, Dave was a member of the basketball team of Buckingham High and followed this by playing on the J. V. team of the college in his sophomore year. Now a senior at the college, Dave is preparing for elementary teaching. His student work is being done at Prince Street school here in Salisbury. A personal note from his roommate, Howard Cheek, reveals that Dave gripes when the alarm clock goes off in the morning.

JOAN BLOMQUIST
Miss STC

Joan, a very likable girl, and one who has done a great deal of work for the school, has been active in student activities since her entrance to STC. Especially active in publications work, Joan has been Copy Editor of The Holly Leaf, and this year has served as Editor of the Evergreen. Among other activities, she was elected Secretary of her class in both her Junior and Sophomore years, plus being last year's "Most Scholarly Woman." For her scholastic ability, she has been awarded two achievement keys. This year Joan was voted to "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities." For her hobbies, Joan prefers listening to music and enjoying art work.

SAM ELLIS
Most Scholarly Man

Sam Ellis is one of the most interesting figures on the campus. During his three years here, Sam has maintained a scholastic average of B or better even though he had not attended school for several years before his entrance to STC. Sam is a resident of Delaware, Del. and was graduated from high school there. He was in the Army for four years during the last war, and when he returned held several jobs.

Then one day, while reading a magazine, Sam suddenly asked his wife about his going to college. She agreed, and the next day he placed a call to Dr. Blackwell. One day later he was enrolled and on his way.

He shows several personality traits—an ardent student, an enthused sports fan (especially the Yankees) and a sideline fire insurance salesman. Sam is also the proud father of a five-year-old daughter.

MRS. B. BLOODSWORTH
Best Woman Athlete

Mrs. Barbara Bloodsworth, formerly Barbara Pugh, of Easton, was chosen for the honor of "Best Woman Athlete." Besides being an outstanding athlete, Barbara has taken an active part in many of the school organizations. Barbara was Secretary of the Foreign Scholarship Fund and President of the Athletic Association during her Junior year. She states that her favorite hobby is her husband, Doug, who returned to the Navy Air Corps on April 22, 1951. After graduation, Barbara plans to teach elementary school in Salisbury.

BOB FITHIAN
Best Man Athlete

Bob Fithian is a product of Wicomico High School here in Salisbury. During his four years there he excelled in football, baseball, basketball and gym work. When he entered STC he did not stop his athletic activities but continued to play basketball and baseball with gym work as a sideline. Bob is majoring in, and plans to teach in Junior High School. As for Bob's real future though—he is not too certain, but expects to be part of Uncle Sam's Army.

The other night I took my girl to see a horror picture. She screamed twice. Once at the picture. . . . It was at a drive-in and when I hissed at the villain 15 people got out to look for flats. . . . It was called "The Case of the Missing Tooth" with Hop Along Cavity. . . . It was different from most westerns in that the cowboys were smarter than the horses.

The first scene showed a man running into a tough western saloon and yell, "Fire! Fire!" and everybody did. . . . The next scene showed two cows in a field and one was saying to the other, "Frankly, I don't know. I've never tasted it." All of a sudden off in the distance you could see some varmints chasin' a stage coach. In the coach was a bashful girl with the beautiful bend and her father's money. I don't know why the bandits wanted it. Everybody knows stage money is no good. . . . Besides, money isn't everything. At least that's what the people say who have it. . . . Finally, after two boxes of pop corn they caught the stage and made the girl get out. She would have been beautiful except for a slight blemish between her ears. . . . She had a map that only Rand McNally could love. . . . Anyway, they took her and the money off to the hills and locked her up in a shack with five rooms and a path. . . .

The next scene showed Hop Along Cavity a comin' up the trail a playing his guitar. I think it was broken. It was held together with strings. . . . He was playin' CHEROKEE HITCH-HIKER better known as INDIAN THUMBER. . . . But the way he played it, it sounded like something MULE TRAIN left behind. . . . Yes sir, thar he was a comin' up the trail, a playin' it and a singin' it; rim and his buckaroos. They were good but my favorite singing group is still Kate Smith. . . . Well, finally they came upon the cabin where the girl was. And when I call her a girl I'm doin' her a favor. . . . Thar was a big gun battle. Each one of them shot his six shooter a dozen times or more. . . . Our hero had ten bullets in his head. He was almost dead. He sneaked around in back of the house and got inside. There were three shots in the next room. He went in and drank them. . . . Then all of a sudden a girl had a gun on him. You could tell she meant business and it wasn't monkey. . . . She told him to put up his hands. It was then he realized he was only half safe. . . . Then the film broke. In the end he had saved the money and the girl. He courted her through all the halls and later she hauled him through all the courts. That picture was so bad we had to sit through it 4 times to get our money's worth.

They also had a short subject. It was about midgets. . . . One of them committed suicide by jumping off a double decker sandwich. . . . The preview showed HOW FATHER CAME HOME in three reels. The story of Mr. Al K. Hall, a man who has been under more tables than chewing gum. . . . And the week after that will be Boris Karloff and Margaret O'Brien in YOU WERE MEANT FOR ME. However, I saw that one last week and I'm very sorry about it too. While I was sitting there the girl next to me said, "Will you hold my seat for a minute?" I did. My case comes up next Tuesday. . . .
