Students Donate $300 to City

Students at Frostburg State College recently donated $300 to the City of Frostburg to be used to purchase 10 trees. The trees, which have already been planted, are located in the community park area near the swimming pool.

The trees were donated as part of the City's "Tree-for-All" program. This program is designed to beautify the City through a public sector-private sector cooperative effort. The City is presently in the process of planting trees throughout the business district, and the Mayor and Council are requesting that service and fraternal organizations join in the effort to build community pride through the beautification effort.

Don Fry, President of the Frostburg State College Student Association, said that, "The students of Frostburg State College are pleased that they can participate in this meaningful program to beautify the community in which we live." Finance Commissioner John Bambacus noted that the Frostburg State College students were the first to respond, and that they certainly set a positive tone to the community promotion program now underway.

Frostburg Mayor David Linn added that, "this is another example of our close and continuing relationship with the college community." He went on to say that in the past, "students of the College have always assisted the City through several public service projects, and their latest donation of trees to the recreation area will be a very much appreciated addition to beautifying our City."

Individuals or clubs wishing to donate money to purchase a tree or shrub are requested to call City Hall at 689-6000, or Commissioner Bambacus at 689-3757.

Program Approved Counseling Psychology

Frostburg State College has received approval from the Maryland State Board of Higher Education to offer a new graduate program in Counseling Psychology.

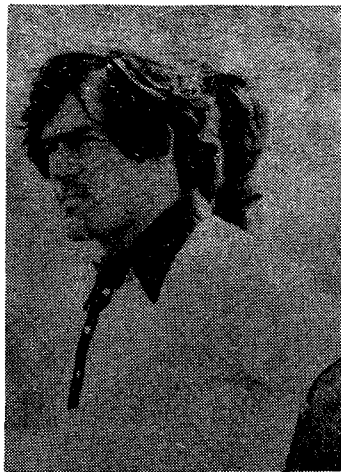

The new Master of Science degree program will be implemented in January, according to Dr. Nelson P. Guild, President of the College.

This is a 36-semester-hour graduate program designed for those persons interested in developing professional skills associated with counseling or helping settings such as mental health clinics, counseling centers, and human services agencies of various types. Admission is open to students who hold a baccalaureate degree which includes at least 12 semester hours, some of them in categorical areas, within the field of Psychology.

According to President Guild, the program represents another increment in the College's development as a broadly-based regional institution. Dr. Guild also said that the objective of the College's Graduate Program is to "meet State, regional, and community needs for graduate education."

Dr. Guild added that the College's remote location places upon it the responsibility to respond to the educational needs of an area not conveniently served by any other four-year and graduate institutions. For industries, business, public and private agencies seeking to enhance the employment of persons in the several human services fields, the availability of a graduate program in Counseling Psychology at Frostburg can only be a supportive move. The program would also lengthen the educational continuum in this field for students pursuing their undergraduate program at Frostburg thereby attracting some of them to both employment and post-baccalaureate study in Western Maryland.

Davis Served with Summons

A summons has been served on Mike Davis, head football coach at Frostburg State, by Deputy Sheriff P. J. Fiorita of the Allegany County Sheriff's Department as a result of an incident following Saturday's football game with Westminster College.

Davis is being charged with bodily assault and assault and battery. The summons was served on behalf of David L. Bentley of 607 Frederick Hall. According to a Sheriff's Department official, the case is to be tried in District Court, the date to be determined later by the court.

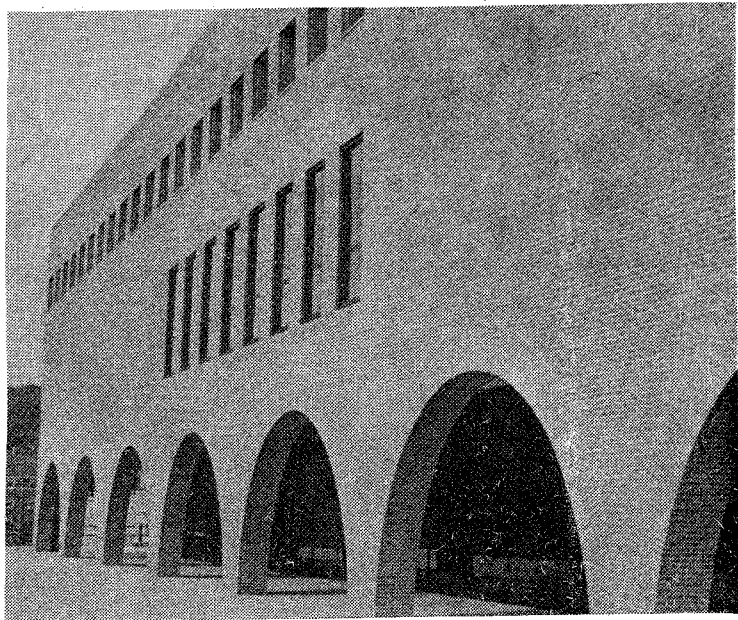

The alleged incident occurred Saturday evening following the Bobcats' 55-7 loss to Westminster, their 13th consecutive defeat. Davis was reportedly subjected to verbal abuse by Bentley and other fans for the team's losing streak, and subsequently became involved in the fracas with Bentley.

As of the time of this writing, no official statement has been released by the College with regard to the incident.

FSC Awarded Federal Grants

Frostburg State College has been awarded $96,562 in federal grants for the current fiscal year to implement and maintain two service programs for students from low-income families. Funds for the operation of Upward Bound and Student Special Services are granted through the TRIO programs of the Office of Education, H.E.W.

Upward Bound, a new program to this area, is designed to encourage low-income high school students to go on to post-secondary education. The program will serve approximately 60 public school students in grades ten and eleven at eight Allegany County schools. Students are offered tutoring, mini-courses, information, counseling, and assistance in many areas. Field trips, recreational, and social activities will be included for the personal development of participants. In addition, students will be granted a stipend of $20.00 per month for participation. Eligibility for Upward Bound participation is based on family income.

Upward Bound will utilize the facilities of area high schools and Frostburg State College. A six-week, summer residential component at FSC will be proposed in order to orient students to college as one choice of post-secondary education.

Personnel in the high schools who have been selected: Allegany, Gary Durr; Beall, Mrs. Mary Jones; Bruce, Forest Boggs; Flintstone, Kim Henson; Fort Hill, Samuel Layman; Mount Savage, Tom Miller; Oldtown, Richard Miller; and Valley, Charles Miller Jr.

Interested students and their parents should contact the representative in their school for more information and to apply for participation in Upward Bound.

Student Special Services, now in its fourth year at Frostburg State College, is designed to help students complete their college education successfully. SSS has a component for the physically handicapped in addition to low-income students. The program serves over 150 students in the areas of academic and personal development with activities similar to those of Upward Bound. Through the efforts of the tutoring program and other academic support activities, the academic retention rate of SSS students has averaged 95% over a three-year period.

The program has been cited by federal observers as outstanding in management and staff expertise.

The staff of the SSS-UB program is combined and is expanding to accommodate the growth of the projects. Dr. Joseph Malak, Coordinator of Special Instructional Programs, is the Director of Student Special Services. Mrs. Sarah L. Dohohue is Director of Upward Bound, and the Director for Academic Programs for both components is Mr. Morris Willey.

Jay Hegeman is the Evaluation Specialist, and Ralph Marketto is Liaison Specialist.

Plans Future Innovations

months, a period of adjustment and change, the library staff has already begun planning for future expansion and innovation.

Library Director John Zimmerman, who was responsible for the bulk of the planning of the new building, kept in mind the basic idea to create a convenient, comfortable place which would be conducive to study. The plush new building presently houses almost 300,000 items which include 1,200 current periodical subscriptions, 46,000 government documents and 24,000 maps located on close to 10 miles of shelving. Additionally, the multi-media center is highly sophisticated, especially for a college the size of Frostburg State. The equipment in the center is electronic and includes audio equipment in sound-proof rooms, two photocopying machines and a microform copying machine, all on the second floor.

The last shipment of essential furniture and equipment has arrived and additional items of both have been ordered. Display cases and directory boards are also on order.

On the second floor, there are staff members available for aid and information concerning use of periodicals, the multi-media center and curriculum material. Times are: periodicals-1:00-4:30 p.m. multi-media- all hours the library is open except for the last half hour needed for machine shutdown; curriculum materials - 9:00 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

EDITORIAL

As the 1976 football season draws to a close, the team takes to the road and leaves its fans a great deal to remember. But it seems reasonable to conclude that what they'll remember most is the depressing fact that the best record that can come out of this campaign is 3-7, and that seems unlikely since the days ahead include confrontations with powerhouses West Virginia Tech and Madison College. For Mike Davis and his staff, the honeymoon, if there ever was one, is over; his tenure as head coach has produced a 1-16 record.

Davis' philosophy is, "If you beat a nobody, you're still a nobody." It's an admirable piece of rhetoric, but, while no one expects him to produce a team of Rose Bowl caliber out of his admittedly limited resources at FSC, a lot of us have begun to ask why, since the close of a 5-5 season under Coach James Crawley, the only team the Bobcats have been able to beat is Geneva, immediately after which Geneva was dropped from the schedule. Additionally, a lot of us are waiting for a return on the huge investment the student body pumps into the football program besides new uniforms.

Maybe it's time for Davis to think about scheduling lesser competition or to get his team to the point where it can perform respectably against the schedule the 'Cats are playing now. At any rate, if Davis can't start bringing home some victories in the very near future, maybe he should step down and turn the job over to someone who can.

It is unfortunate that so many Frostburg students do not know anything about what is happening in the town of Frostburg. Right here in the midst of student apathy, we, the students at Frostburg, have the opportunity to support a well thought out proposal currently before the council and citizens of Frostburg.

This proposal is the highly controversial Rental Housing Ordinance which is desperately needed to keep rental housing in Frostburg up to minimum health and safety standards.

It is easy to see why landlords are against the proposal, because they would be required to improve their rental properties up to standard levels before licenses could be issued. This would involve varying amounts of money depending on the conditions in each rental property now.

The requirements necessary for licensing a property include such things as: minimum living space per person, standard kitchen and bathroom equipment, minimum lighting and ventilation for each room and stairways, smoke detectors on each floor with sleeping quarters, fire extinguishers and emergency exits, security locks, and off street parking. Certainly some of these improvements require money, but isn't human life and safety more important than money? The landlord will just pass this expense on to the renters anyway.

One hearing on this proposal has already been held, on September 27, where the Mayor and Council were there to hear the citizens' opinions on this ordinance. The landlords were the only people who bothered to make their opinions known to the City Council, and these hearings are all the Council goes on when they make the final decision to either accept or reject this proposal which is desperately needed in Frostburg.

There is one more hearing planned, and if the renters do not make their approval of this ordinance plain to the Council, there is no hope of getting the Rental Housing Ordinance passed into law. I urge all interested students and especially off campus renters to go to this hearing and make your opinions known! If no one cares enough to voice their approval, we will continue to have substandard housing, and tragedies will continue to happen, such as the fire this summer where a graduate lost his life. Perhaps his life would have been saved had the landlord been required to install smoke detectors and fire extinguishers. The landlord would have benefited from this also, since his rental property would not have been completely burned out.

Unfortunately, the date for the next hearing has not yet been set, but there will be signs posted in many campus buildings when the date is known. For anyone who desires more information, I would be happy to try to answer any questions. Ask for Nancy at 689-5637. This is a personal statement and request to other Frostburg students to become involved in a situation that directly involves YOU!

Open Letter to Students

What is this heinous thing called the Black Student Alliance Organization? Are the misconceptions true? Is it a propagator of disco, an organization of cloak and dagger revolutionaries?

Well, sorry to disappoint you folks, but the Black Student Alliance Organization is none of that. Here is the reality of the Organization. Our prime purpose is to preserve, promote, and transmit the culture of the people of color to the general campus and community. We are just people.

Presently, the organization is being welded into new and more positive directions. We are not totally ignoring partying (good times are to be had by all), but we are saying that there is more to life than simply partying. The organization has gone through a head change.

Every Monday, the organization delivers hotdogs to every dorm on campus. Be on the look-out for your dealer this Monday night. Also, a 50-50 Raffle is under way. Tickets, selling for 25¢ each or 5 for one dollar, are being sold daily during dinner at Chesapeake Hall. The winning Raffle ticket shall be drawn at the Funny Flicks, Tuesday, Oct. 26, 7 p.m. and 9 p.m., in the Lane Center Multi-Use Room. You gotta play to win--so gather your pennies and play the number.

Oh yea--let's not forget those Funny Flicks!! The show shall feature such greats as: W. C. Fields "The Fatal Glass of Beer", The Little Rascals "Fast Freight" (silent), Charlie Chaplin "The Champion", Marx Brothers "Pigskin Capers", Three Stooges "Merry Mavericks", Charlie Chaplin "Face on the Bar Room Floor", Roadrunner "Zip and Snort".

So my friend, as you can see, the Black Student Alliance is about a lot of things, despite the blatant misconceptions. We are people, the same as you, in solidarity to attain agreed upon goals. Come. Let your mind be free. Check us out, and check out your own mentality. You'll see things are in a different light. This is the New Umbrella.

NOTES FOR CONVERSATION

by Kevin Fitzgerald

Once again our beloved State College is in the mist of a controversy. This time the controversy revolves around that hated and seemingly useless thing called a student evaluation. How many times have we had to fill out those questionnaires concerning our beloved teachers. After all, they're not important anyway, right? Well, as hard as it is to believe, they are.

Prior to last year when there was just not enough money, the evaluations helped regulate teacher's pay raises. It is my understanding that a teacher had the option to count the evaluations as much as he or she wanted. That way, a teacher who was constantly getting good evaluations could count them more than would a teacher who was receiving bad evaluations.

This brings to mind the question why are teachers getting bad evaluations. I suppose we can rationalize as these teachers do that the students are simply not intelligent enough to comprehend what is being taught.

It is this same attitude that bogged down the innovative appeals process last year. For those of you who forgot that controversy allow me to refresh your memory. The present appeals process states "in no case will grades be changed by department heads or the Dean of the College unless, after consultation, the instructor agrees to the change." The proposed plan would have had the student, after discussing the grade with the instructor and the head of the department and still not being satisfied, would then submit his or her grievance to the Dean. The Dean, following consultation with the instructor, the department head, the student, and after seeking the advice of some closer faculty advisors, shall determine whether the student's grievance has shown evidence sufficient to indicate that the grade in question was discriminately, arbitrarily, or capriciously conferred. He may then decide to vacate and replace the grade in question.

The debate which revolved around the proposed plan was between the faculty members who supported the principle of the plan and those who felt no change in the procedure was necessary. The plan was rejected and put into limbo by faculty members who felt that students would abuse the privilege.

I find it odd that this same argument is being used against students concerning student evaluations. I for one am tired of being told I cannot have something or will have something taken away simply because a teacher feels I will abuse the power. For those teachers that always expect the worst from the students, I can only point to the insecurity in a system which they have created.

On September 29, the Faculty Assembly voted 50-38 to abolish evaluations. On October 7, the Student Association voted unanimously in favor of maintaining the student evaluation. Now it is the decision of the third branch of the tripartite government, the administration, to decide. If a student's voice counts for anything on this campus, I urge President Guild to overturn the Faculty Assembly's decision and give us back those "awful" student evaluations.

"Convicted " Rapist Pleads for Assistance in Appeal Effort

by Sindia Patterson

Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority is assisting the Southern Poverty Law Center in petitioning for an appeal of the unfair trial of Johnny Ross.

He wrote to the Center from the Louisiana Penitentiary: "PLEASE I beg you to help me, and talk with me. I'm truly afraid to die, Louisiana Penitentiary is a very dangerous place for a 16 year old to spend the rest of his life."

Johnny was convicted of the July 1974 rape of a white woman. The two men who abducted her dropped her off near Johnny's home.

In describing the rapists, an eye-witness said one was 19 or 20, 5'7" tall, and 145 pounds. The other was 20 or 21, 5'9", and 160 pounds. Johnny was 5'4", 130 pounds, and 15 years old. The police attempted to charge his younger (13 year old) brother but then decided on him.

He refused to sign the confession which he could neither read nor understand; relenting only when he was severely beaten by the police.

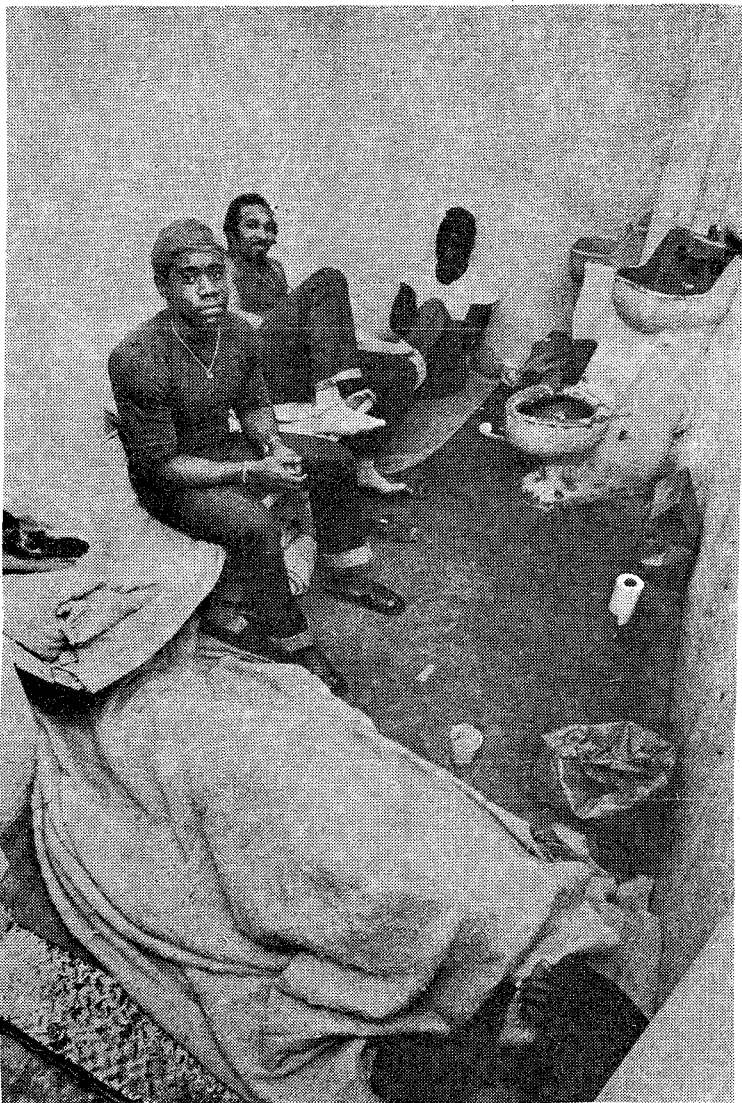

The trial was filled with conflicts in testimony. The raped woman testified that Johnny could not have been a participant. The jury deliberated 90 minutes and returned a verdict of guilty. The judge sentenced him to death. He is now serving a sentence of life imprisonment; Louisiana's death penalty is currently suspended due to Supreme Court rulings.

Several questions were raised by Johnny's case. Why was one man convicted for a crime two men committed? Shouldn't society be responsible for the safety of the inmates of its prisons?

Johnny has been raped in prison and is in fear of his life. He is one of the youngest people of the country facing life imprisonment.

Johnny is innocent; a petition is being circulated in his behalf and donations are solicited to pay the legal fees of his case. To receive more information, contact Carmen Bryant (4121), Sharon Wise (7107) OR Valarie Phillips (689-9792).

The Southern Poverty Law Center helped save Joan Little from the gas chamber when the Center came to her defense against the charge of murdering the jailer who tried to rape her. The Center has taken cases including: illegal sterilization of minors, racial discrimination by a law school, state-wide prison reform in Alabama, and a sex-discrimination case against the federal government.

Teenager Johnny Ross (left front) awaits the appeal of his sentence in this punishment cell with three adult convicts. The cell has one bed and no light.

Registrar To Send Confirmation Schedules

During the week of October 25, the Registrar's Office will be sending a confirmation schedule to each student registered for fall semester classes. The purpose of this schedule is to make sure each student is correctly registered for his or her fall classes. This confirmation schedule will alert students to those drops/adds and section changes they though they made earlier. The schedules will be sent to the student's local address. It is very important that we have the local address for each student. If you are in doubt as to whether you have a correct local address on file, please contact the Registrar's Office as soon as possible.

Homeward Bound Service Returns

"Homeward Bound" will again be in operation this year. This service is offered for (1) students who want a ride home or to other destinations and (2) students who can provide others with a ride. Homeward Bound has proven to be a success. During the Spring Semester of last year 415 students called in wanting rides and 185 students called in offering rides. Many of those offering rides often gave transportation to two or more people. In order for Homeward Bound to be a continued success, we need your help! If you need a ride or can give a ride call a Homeward Bound worker at 7782 from 6:30-9:30 Tuesday through Thursday. This program is sponsored by Inter-Hall Council through the Residence Life Office.

Bloodmobile to Visit Campus

Theta Delta Pi and Alpha Delta Chi are sponsoring the American Red Cross Bloodmobile on Thursday, October 21st from 12:00 noon to 5:45 p.m. in the Cumberland Hall basement.

Last year the one hundred and forty pint quota was exceeded, and hopefully this year will be just as successful. All persons who participate will be treated to cookies and punch.

The College Center Board of Frostburg State College will be presenting various video tape programs for your viewing pleasure. These programs will be shown in the lounge of the Lane College Center on dates listed below. Questions regarding the C.C.B Video Tape Series should be directed to Ms. Nita Slagle, Chairperson, C.C.B. Video Tape Committee. C.C.B. hopes you enjoy the programs!

Live and in color, this intimate, beautiful program featuring Jim Croce and his lead guitarist Maury Muehlisen was produced only months before their tragic accident in Natchitoches, Louisiana.

SKILL, BRAINS, AND GUTS

The program features rare footage of Ali--from the time when the press attacked him as "The Louisville Lip," through hundreds of flamboyant interviews and publicity stunts, to his eventual success when, against all odds, he regained his title as Heavyweight Champion. Ali seems headed to many more great things. The program traces his beginnings and his first great successes.

LOGGINS AND MESSINA/NEIL YOUNG

A double tape program, Loggins & Messina perform their music in a small arena theatre before a live college audience. Neil Young is presented in the tape, "Journey Through the Past," a dramatic and musical odyssey through the life and hard times of a great contemporary rock star. Starring Neil Young; Crosby, Stills and Nash; Buffalo Springfield; and Carrie Snodgress.

November 15 - 19, 1976 10:30 a.m. - 3:30 p.m.

THE PRODUCERS

Mel Brooks' wackiest comedy...starring Zero Mostel and Gene Wilder as down-and-out theatrical producers with a "foolproof" plan to make a fortune by producing a Broadway flop. The play, "Springtime for Hitler," starring Dick Shawn, is, of course, a hit. A wild slapstick ensues as the producers try to "save" their project.

Attention Overeaters

Do you eat when you're not hungry? Do you eat to escape from worries or trouble? Are you always going on a diet? Do you have feelings of guilt and remorse after overeating? Is your overweight affecting the way you live your life?

If you've answered YES to one or more of these questions you may be a compulsive overeater. And no ordinary diet, by itself can rid your life of the REAL problems that have driven you to overeat. That kind of help calls for a deeper program.

To find out what's eating you that makes you overeat, call Overeaters Anonymous. It may be the kind of organization you've been looking for.

There are no dues-no fees- no weigh-ins for the OA membership. The only requirement is a desire to stop eating compulsively.

Take that first step. Attend an OA meeting in your area. It is held in the Simpson Hall Game Room every Monday Evening at 7 p.m. or telephone your local Overeaters Anonymous group at 7537.

Start being happy "just for today"!!

New Course Offered

During the Spring semester the Philosophy Department will offer a course on Mythical Thought and Art: The Civilization of the Ancient Maya. The course will give an introduction to the civilization of the Mayas in Guatemala and Southern Mexico, as well as a philosophical analysis of the mode of thought that found expression in the art and literature of that area. The material will be made available partly through slide presentations or film showings, and partly through assigned readings. The course will be open to philosophy majors as well as non-majors; majors, however are expected to do some work over and above the regular reading assignments.

Funds Allocated

On October 6, 1976, the members of CCB voted to allocate funds to the applying organizations of Black Student Alliance for the showing of a movie and a band for a dance, and to the Ferris Wheelers for the hiring of a caller for a future square dance. The amounts were $386.00 and $50.00 respectively. Others applying organizations were denied requests for failure to comply with specifications as set forth in the September 22, 1976 issue of State-To-Date.

The College Center Board will make these funds for entertainment events available again in the early portion of Spring semester of 1977. At that time they encourage registered organizations to apply for these funds to be used during the Spring semester.

Berger to Perform "Mime On Campus"

Keith Berger, an accomplished mime, will present "Mime on Campus" on Friday, October 29th at 8:00 p.m. in Compton Auditorium. The performance will be free and is co-sponsored by Student Artist and Lecture Series and the College Center Board.

Keith Berger was born in 1952 and comes from Los Angeles. "In my early years, my imaginative life became an obsession. In the first grade I lied quite credibly, and became proficient elaborating things I knew little about. I learned a little algebra to impress everyone, and received the 'top scholar' award that year at school. From there (unlike my two younger brothers - one an actor and the other studying physics at Princeton - and my parents, both psychologists), my academic prowess went steadily downhill. I turned more to daydreaming and became increasingly quiet and moody. Inside me, I enacted fantastic illusions, deceptions, and characterizations - not the comic book type, yet still possessing incredible powers to overcome struggles.

"When I was exposed to theatre, I began to explore the possibility of acting out these things. I discovered that I could use my body to do it and, at the same time, show my feelings without using words - especially after I saw a professional 'living mannequin' in a store window. I was fascinated, but when I asked him how he did it, he told me to get lost. I discovered that people shared my fascination for performers such as Rudolf Nureyev and the late Bruce Lee who executed 'physically incredible' movements in an emotionally identifiable and inspiring theatrical context.

"I studied and performed as an actor, clown, and dancer. As a teenager, I saw Jean-Louis Barrault in Les Enfants du Paradis and decided that I would become a performer of mime. I taught myself the basic elements of classical French pantomime and other movement and acting disciplines - some of which I observed from the Orientals, such as kung-fu. My most profound influence came from Paul Curtis, Director of the American Mime Theatre - a fascinating and exacting discipline totally different from that of the French schools."

In New York City, Keith Berger became famous as a street mime, performing at the Plaza Fountain, in front of Fifth Avenue's St. Thomas Church, and in Washington Square. He began out of necessity, in order to get money for food, and has been ticketed by the police, carried for two blocks over the shoulder of a fat lady, and repeatedly given money by kind New Yorkers. Keith still appears on the streets, no longer out of necessity, but to relate to the city and its people. He can be seen on New York City streets pulling cars with imaginary ropes, directing traffic, building walls and then opening the door for cars to come through, bullfighting cars, and occasionally hanging himself in front of them (especially squad cars).

"One Sunday at the Plaza Fountain I caught a heavy after-church crowd. Among them I noticed a young boy, in a wheel chair, who seemed so fascinated that I was compelled to approach him as a 'mechanical man'. I held out my hand to be shaken. Customarily, this action 'cranks' me down. To my horror, and everyone else's, I realized that the boy had cerebral palsy, and it looked as though he wouldn't be able to make the grab. The crowd of about 400 took a deep breath, but the boy was determined, and I knew he would make it. The crowd went bananas when he finally did. Everyone was extremely turned on-especially the kid and me."

Throughout the United States and Canada, Keith Berger has presented "Mime on Campus," which entails a formal stage presentation as well as appearances in cafeterias, student unions, and classes-wherever students congregate. For two consecutive years, he showcased before the NEC (National Entertainment Conference, world's largest organization for booking performing artists on college campuses). In addition to receiving four standing ovations in one twenty-minute performance, Keith's popularity caused the NEC to recognize an additional performing category in the Fine Arts: music, dance, theatre, and now, mime.

In New York City, Keith Berger has appeared at the Mercer Arts Center, Bernard Baruch College, Queens College, and the Cathedral of Saint John the Divine. Of his Lincoln Center show ("Mime over Matter"), performed three times in Alice Tully Hall, reviewers said: "The perfection of every little move . . . ingeniously packs the empty state." (New York Post) "He is handsome, brilliant . . . a polished virtuoso and insightful commentator on the human condition." (Newhouse Newspapers)

As actor, director, and writer, Keith has directed his own mime play, Interruptions, and starred in several films: Angels, produced by Jape Productions; and Keith, one of three films he has made for Billy Budd Productions. He has also written a full-length mime screenplay, and appeared on both Canadian and American network television.

Bobcats Crushed by Dan Beaver

When it rains it pours and there were no exceptions granted to Coach Davis last Saturday as the Bobcats dropped their seventh game of the season. Number 23, Bill Rose, returned a 90 yard kick-off for the Bobcats' only score against Westminster. Westminster duplicated last year's scoring with 55 points which amounted to 48 more than the Bobcats could handle. Rose's 90 yard kick-off return made the score 14-7, Westminster, midway through the first quarter. It appeared, at this point, that the Bobcats' chances for capturing their first win of the year and pulling off an unbelievable upset, were in their favor. However, we know better than that. Westminster pulled ahead in the second quarter and the teams went into the lockerrooms at the half with the score Westminster 41, Frostburg 7.

In the second half the Bobcats' defense held Westminster to only two touchdowns. Leading the defense throughout the game, middle guard Don Micheletti, played an outstanding second half. Micheletti met often with Westminster offensive halfbacks before they could even return the ball to the line of scrimmage. Defensive safety John Philbin, also assisted in neutralizing Westminster's treacherous offensive attack by intercepting a pass in the end zone, late in the third quarter.

The Bobcats travel to Harrisonburg, Va. next Saturday where they will play the Madison Dukes on an artificial surface. Good luck Bobcats.

 *Pittsburgh at New York Giants 24-13
 *Minnesota at Philadelphia 21-7
 *Miami at Tampa Bay 24-7

 *San Diego at Cleveland 21-17
 Denver at *Kansas City 17-14
 *Los Angeles at New Orleans 27-10
 Chicago at *Dallas 20-13
 *Cincinnati at Houston 24-21
 Green Bay at *Oakland 20-10
 *Detroit at Seattle 24-7
 St. Louis at *Washington 24-21 OT

Frostburg at *Madison 22-10

Frostburg, a team racked with internal dissention and coaching problems just won't be able to stop a nationally ranked Madison team, especially away. I look for the defense to hold Madison to only 22 points, unfortunately the offense will only put 10 on the board.

Hockey Teams' Record is an Impressive 5-1

The women's field hockey team has improved their overall record to 5-1, while the J.V. team now stands at 2-0-2. At the top of the varsity scoring list is Renda Sellers, with 6 goals, joined by Jennifer Fauley with 3, Bev Cranford with 3, Dana Soaper with 1 and Fran Flott with 1. Those credited with assists are Renda Sellers with 2, Fran Flott with 2, and Dana Soaper, Diane DiFerdinando, Bev Cranford, and Jennifer Fauley all with one assist each. J.V. scoring leaders are Pam DeLoach with 1, Pat Minick with 1, Lisa Feese with 2, and Kathy Sixx with 2.

Despite several rained-out games, the Kittens have managed to play four games against Bridgewater, Indiana University (of Pa.) Slippy Rock and Essex.

The Bridgewater game hard-fought with both teams being well-conditioned and highly skilled, ended in a 2-1 victory for Frostburg. Goals were scored by Renda Sellers, unassisted, and Jennifer Fauley, from a Bev Cranford assist. The J.V. team also won 1-0, on a goal scored by co-captain Kathy Sixx.

In a slowly-played game on a muddy football field, Indiana University of Pa. was defeated for the first time ever by Frostburg. Goals were once again scored by Renda Sellers (unassisted) and Jennifer Fauley (assist from Dana Soaper), making the final score 2-0, Frostburg. The J.V. game ended in a 1-1 tie, with IUP's goal to tie coming in the last 10 seconds of the game. FSC's sole score came on an assist by Pam DeLoach to Lisa Feese.

Frostburg's only defeat of the season was at the hands of a well-skilled, quick, and highly aggressive Slippy Rock team, who scored three times during the first half, but were held scoreless in the second. Although both teams combined to produce a balanced and hard-fought game, Slippy Rock's goalkeeper was outstanding in keeping Frostburg scoreless until the second half. Frostburg's only goal, by Bev Cranford, brought the final score to 3-1, Slippy Rock. The junior varsity game, a very even match, was well-played by both teams, but ended in a scoreless tie, 0-0.

Essex Community College, although ahead 1-0 at halftime, let down in the first 15 minutes of the second half, allowing four very quick FSC goals. Bev Cranford and Fran Flott scored one goal each, unassisted, while Renda Sellers, scored twice, one unassisted and one from an assist by Jennifer Fauley.

The team has two remaining home games, Towson State on Oct. 29 and University of Maryland on Oct. 30.

Coach Bob McFarland has called a meeting of all men who plan to try out for the Men's Lacrosse Team next spring. The meeting will be on Monday evening, November 1st, at 7:00 p.m. in Lane Center, Room 140. All interested students should attend at this time.

Intramurals Start Successfully

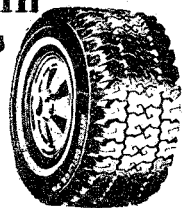

The Intramural football program is off to another good start despite the numerous cancellations due to rain. Halfway through the season, the battle for first place in all three leagues is intense. As each league is well balanced, competition will probably remain intense through the remainder of the season.

In the American League ADX I (2-1), in the National League, Narron's Barrons (3-1) trail the Aqualungs (4-1) by just half a game, in the Super League Safari's All-Stars Bengals, and Sig Tau White each 3-1 are battling it out, Steel Curtain being right behind with a 2-1 record.

Because of the balance within each league, no team is as yet eliminated from the title races. With the playoff games scheduled for Sat., Oct 23 this weeks games are important in determining which teams will be playing. The season is heading into the home stretch.

People who make fraudulent phone calls often get another call free.

Using someone else's credit card or phone number, or using electronic devices, may seem like a harmless prank.

But what it really is, is stealing. And just like any other kind of theft, it could lead to an arrest. A stiff fine. Or even a jail sentence and a criminal record. And no matter what else happened, you'd still have to pay for all the calls you made. So please don't make fraudulent phone calls.

It just isn't worth the price.
