Dr. Kang Addresses Assembly

Small but explosive Dr. Young-hill Kang in an assembly on October 4, stated that he believed that Nehru was in favor of the U. N. but thought that they had made a temporary mistake.

He seemed to feel that ancestor worship, which is dictated by their religion, and the caste system of Korea are the basic causes of the Korean crisis. This is only the revolutionary period of Asia. They want freedom, independence, and unity which they consider to be theirs and which have been so long denied them. They don't ask for special privileges but the right to live as human beings.

Dr. Kang, now a professor at New York University, told how futile it is for the American people to send money and clothes to the Koreans and Chinese Nationalists as long as such men as Syngman Rhee and Chiang Kai-shek are there to pocket our contributions: "It is a good idea," said the Doctor, "to help the world, but, our first true service is in helping ourselves by making them our friends. Right now intellect is more important than strength. Men like MacArthur and Eisenhower," stated Dr. Kang, "are good military men but we need public relations men more."

Through misunderstanding we have defeated our own purpose. We have given the key positions to those hypocritical politicians who came to this country to be educated and adopted the Christian faith.

Dr. Kang believes that America has fine ideas but fails to convey her policies to the Asiatic peoples. The Asiatics are searching for a government similar to our own and will be the friends of any group who offers them a chance to be free. The Russians are taking advantage of this search for freedom. Syngman Rhee, said Dr. Kang, hides behind the skirts of the fight against communism, while other politicians admittedly do nothing because, they say, the Oriental idea of utility and beauty is brevity, or a minimum of concrete forms. This idea was expressed in the following Japanese poem:

Mizu ni nagu
Kawazu no kol
Kikeba
Mukashi no koto
Omowaru ru

Or:

When I hear in the water
The guttral songs of frogs,
The bygone past
I then remember.

FAMOUS ACTRESS VISITS S.T.C.

On Friday, October 5, Salisbury was privileged to hear Cornelia Otis Skinner, distinguished actress-author whom one critic called the greatest single attraction of the American theater.

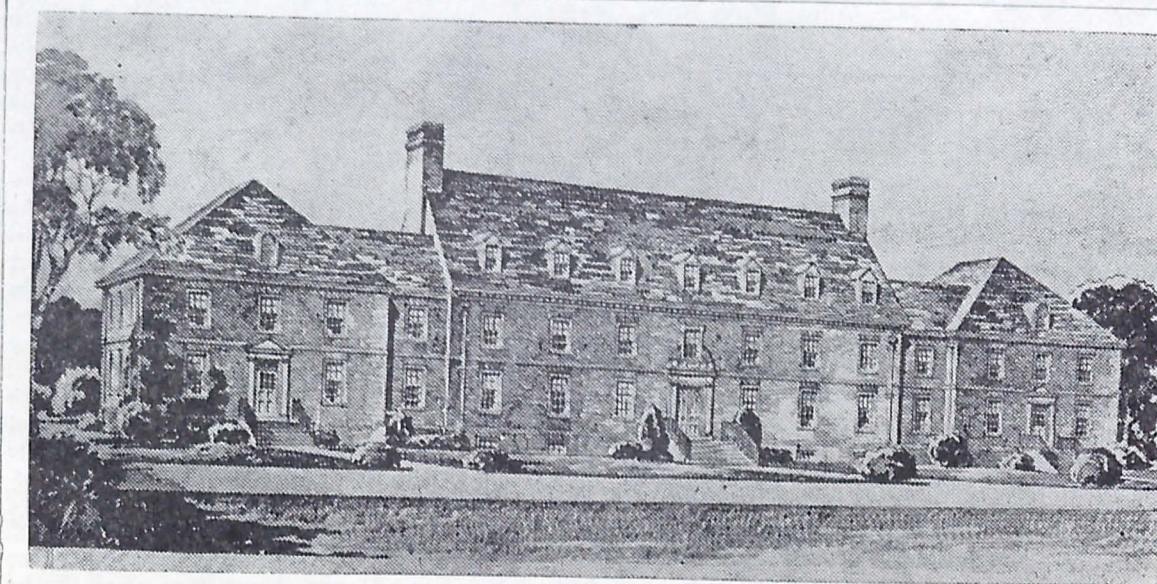

For about two hours Miss Skinner's character sketches held her audience in the palm of her hand. Backstage she commented that it was a most appreciative audience. Miss Skinner's first skit entitled, "A Box of Powder", a hilarious take-off on a woman trying to make a small purchase in a swank New York cosmetic establishment.

Possibly the most warmly received was the study entitled "Homework." In it Miss Skinner portrayed a Philadelphia mother helping her son with an arithmetic problem. Incidentally, Miss Skinner writes most of her sketches while on the road enroute to fill her engagements. Other skits in her performance were a "Middle Aged Couple in a Gondola in Venice," "Americans in Paris", a number of character sketches which included a girl from Brooklyn, a debutante, a couple touring Europe on a budget, and a very Bohemian artist. With this act Miss Skinner used a piece of red velvet which she could make into a variety of hats, each suited to the character she was imitating. Also included in her repertoire was an act depicting modern people unduly proud of their forefathers and the illustrious ancestors who were a far cry from the dreams of their descendants. To say Miss Skinner is superb would be an understatement.

She acts with grace and poise. Her body movements and gestures are always perfect and her marvelous versatility is a joy to hear.

Miss Skinner was born in Chicago in 1901. Her parents were stage notables. She attended the Baldwin School and Bryn Mawr College where she was elected president of the college theatrical club. Later she went to Paris, studied at the Sorbonne, and had dramatic coaching from masters. On her return from abroad she appeared in several stage productions. It was not until after her marriage in 1928 that she began her solo acting which has won her such wide acclaim.

Miss Skinner is also famous as an author. She writes for the New Yorker, Harper's Bazaar, Reader's Digest, Good Housekeeping, and Ladies Home Journal. Books she has written include, "Tiny Garments," "Excuse It, Please," "Soap Behind the Ears," and "Our Hearts Were Young and Gay." The latter deals with a trip to Paris with Emily Kimbrough when they were both 19. Some of the late books are "Family Circle" and "Nuts in May."

Miss Skinner's life is quite busy with little leisure. She does concede however, that "When I am not working professionally, I live in a simple country house in Long Island where I enjoy myself with my family, raising dogs, swimming, and going around in blue jeans. This gives a very misleading picture of me, because I despise healthy outdoor people, and I am incapable of any sport."

NEW FACULTY MEMBERS

Miss M. Ruth Smith, supervisor of the residence hall for women, assumed her duties at S. T. C. on September 10th.

A graduate of the Womens College of the University of North Carolina, Miss Smith took graduate work at New York University.

She was formerly secondary-registrar of the School of Business Administration at the University of Richmond. She has taught high school at Towson and Clarksville, Md.

From Yorktown, Va., Miss Martha Holloway, the new instructor in Physical Education, is a graduate of Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia. Miss Holloway received her Master of Arts degree from Texas State College.

She taught Physical Education at the University of Maryland for two years.

Hard Times

As of now the veterans who have been charging books against their G. I. Bill training money will have to pay cash for all articles purchased at the book store. "There is no other way," say the book store operators. The money which the veterans spend will be refunded as soon as the government money comes through.

Opening Of New Dorm Delayed

The official opening of the new men's dormitory has been postponed from October 13 to November 17 due to a delay in materials for construction. Dr. J. D. Blackwell has announced the formal opening will coincide with the annual Homecoming Day sponsored by the alumni. Various state notables, including Governor Theodore R. McKeldin and Dr. T. J. Pullen, Jr., will be present to address the gathering on the conclusion of the first phase of the building program for this college.

Cooperation between President Blackwell and Mrs. Margaret Engles, president of the Alumni Association, has resulted in a very extensive program of events. The day's activities will commence with the traditional soccer game between the present varsity and the alumni team. This event will begin at 1:30. At 2:30 registration of the alumni will be followed by music by the Wicomico High School Band, under the direction of Mr. Andrew Jupina. At 3:00 the formal opening will begin with Dr. Blackwell presiding. Following the invocation by Rev. Arthur J. Jackson, D.D., the building will be presented by Mr. Nathan L. Smith, Director of the State Department of Public Improvements. The building will be accepted by the State Superintendent of Schools, Dr. T. J. Pullen, Jr.

Following the acceptance of the building the major addresses will be given by His Excellency Theodore R. McKeldin, the Governor of Maryland. Platform guests will be introduced by Dean Harold E. Bosley.

Inspection of the dormitory itself and the reception of the guests to a tea will be handled by the Men's Dormitory Association. The remainder of the afternoon will be spent by the alumni in the business meeting and the presentation to the school of a portrait of Dr. IdaBelle Wilson Thomas. After dinner at 6:00 p.m. the annual Harvest or Thanksgiving Dance will be held under the auspices of the Sophomore class. This is the first time this dance has been held as a climax to the alumni gathering. All-in-all, it should be a big day in the history and tradition of S.T.C., and should be patronized throughout by interested students. It marks the milestone of advancement at this school — advancement that all of us will someday be very proud of.

SUBMIT SSCQT APPLICATIONS NOW

Applications for the December 13, 1951 and the April 24, 1952 administrations of the College Qualification Test are now available at Selective Service System local boards throughout the country.

Eligible students who intend to offer this test on either date should apply at once to the nearest Selective Service local board for an application and a bulletin of information.

Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided. Applications for the December 12 test must be postmarked no later than midnight, November 5, 1951.

According to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the College Qualification Test for the Selective Service System, it will be greatly to the student's advantage to file his application at once, regardless of the testing date he selects. The results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student.

AS THE EDITORS SEE IT

When autumn elbows summer into the background — discoloring the leaves and scattering them with its chilly breath — a rumble is heard as colleges come out of the summer's slumber and flex their muscles to limber up for the trek through winter and spring — another school term.

These things — colleges — actually do live. They impress, inspire, and finally engulf the people who are in search of things that build society. During the years of your undergraduate work you will pass through, and be a part of, the different stages of the college life at S. T. C.

At the outset you will be the radical, turbulent, fun-seeking freshman. The new blood whose ideas, opinions, and questions will ever prove to add strength and vitality to it. The "rat" who learns in no uncertain terms that there will be times when he has to knuckle under. The explorer who, having just climbed to the top of a hill, finds that there are hills beyond that he knew nothing about. The child who just opened the door to the attic, knowing that there are vast and interesting treasures up there if he can climb the stairs.

Then you are reshaped into the cynical, disbelieving, atheistic sophomore. Here you form what seems to be permanent ideas which prove to be very temporary. The knowledge you have acquired seems great indeed and the task ahead seems insurmountable. These are your darkest college days. Gradually you progress, shouldering your load unsteadily. Finally you are a junior and faintly, very faintly, you can see a little light ahead and you find new courage to attack the job before you. Then, just as a ball rolling down a hill you are a senior and at the end of your college life. You begin to take stock of yourself and think of how many things you could have learned and didn't. You look back fondly at the friends you made, the parties you had, the teachers who inspired you and this thing — this college — which is a mixture of all these things. Then very clearly you can feel that this thing does live. It lives in your heart and your memories and you feel that you are a better person because of it.

Note !!
Potential Draftees

All draft-eligible students, pursuing a full time college program, who have not previously taken the Selective Service College Qualification Test, may do so on either December 13, 1951 or April 24, 1952, at this college. The test, three hours in duration, presupposes no schooling beyond the ordinary high school preparation for college. Results of the test are considered but one factor in determining deferment. Nevertheless, it is an important factor since obtaining a score of 70 or better qualifies a person for deferment as a student. Class standing or rank is another method of qualifying for a scholastic deferment. To be eligible in this manner, Freshmen must place in the upper-half of their class; Sophomores, the upper two-thirds; and Juniors, the upper three-quarters. Each student should verify the requirements applicable to him by consulting the Draft Board or college official. Since these examinations fall while college is in session, students taking them will be excused from classes.

The Department of Defense has issued statements to the effect that all students on the Selective Service registers should take the S.S.C.Q.T. The reason which they put forward for doing such was the possibility of raising the qualifying mark and using this measure solely. This would be necessary only for all-out war or some critical national emergency.

Application for the December examination must be made no later than November 5, 1951. Pamphlets and applications are available at the local Draft Board, Wimbrow Building, East Main Street. The Registrar will be glad to discuss any details with interested students.

S. G. A. ELECTION — — — The election of S. G. A. officers for the forthcoming year was held on September 27. Offices were open for vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

Walter Johnson, a Junior from Solomon's Island, Md., and the former president of the Sophomore class, was elected vice-president.

The position of secretary was filled by Joyce Late, a Senior from Thurmont, Md. Joyce transferred to S. T. C. from Towson State Teacher's College.

SPOTLIGHTING STUDENTS

This month the staff is happy to place its spotlight on Curtis McDowell, president of the S. G. A. Thus we think it necessary to include all the essentials about Curt. He began his illustrious career on January 23, 1929 in the scenic little town of Northeast, Maryland.

Curt claims to have been a timid and girl-shy country boy, the fourth child of a family of five. During high school days, Curt wasn't considered scholastically inclined; however, he was unusually active in sports; including baseball, soccer, and basketball. Because of his active part in high school activities, Curt won a medal for being the best all-around boy. His leadership qualities had already been recognized then.

After completing high school, Curt used his primary interests in mechanics and mathematics by working in these fields at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds in the artillery division.

Curt claims this work was all very lovely, but he was fixed with the common urge of all progressive people to acquire more education. S. T. C. was his answer! During his freshman year here, Curt spent most of his time studying English Composition, allowing some time for soccer practice for the Junior Varsity. The following summer Curt again filled a position at the Aberdeen Proving Ground. Monetary advantages, however, had no appeal to Curt, for he returned to S. T. C. as an active sophomore and member of Varsity soccer.

After a laborious summer working for Pa. Railroad, Curt stepped into important activities at the college. He was treasurer of the S. G. A., vice-president of the Junior class and an advantageous player for Varsity Soccer.

This past summer Curt worked again at the Aberdeen Proving Ground. This year Curt is filling the office of the most important member of the S. G. A. — it's president.

The future for Curt is similar to that of most male S. T. C. graduates, that is life in the Service. Curt prefers the Air Corps, although if this is pertinent, he will undoubtedly teach mathematics and science in Baltimore County. Some time in the future Curt wants to travel in Canada and indulge in hunting and fishing, two of his favorite sports.

Today we know Curt for his optimistic attitude, constant kidding and beautiful ties, which he detests wearing. Undoubtedly, Curt McDowell is one of the outstanding personalities of S. T. C.

ORCHIDS TO — — —

To the freshman class for their excellent display of sportsmanship during "Rat Week".

Lloyd Fry, a Junior from Buckeystown, Md., was elected treasurer. Lloyd is also the student assembly chairman.

A Freshman's View Of "Rat Week"

Upperclassmen take shame! You have failed ever so miserably. There is still a Freshman class, alive and kicking. Kicking about you!

Ask one of the more fortunate freshmen, upon removal of a cast from his jaw, "Who were the 'Rats' in Rat Week?"

That is an exceptionally good question! Any freshman, providing he could talk, would not hesitate to answer.

One freshman had a scientific discussion with a few Sophomores as to the probability of a length of string being capable of supporting a brick if it were thrown out of a window. Silly Sophomores, to think a brick could pull a person through a window. Still, there was a scream!

Then there was the joke session. A laugh meant certain doom. One faint giggle escaped the mouth of a doomed soul. Jumping upon the floor and rolling in laughter, he exclaimed, "If I gotta go, I'm gonna get my monies worth!" His laughter was heard till it ended in an abrupt scream in some remote torture chamber. It was to no avail, try as they may, the sophomores could not make a lip twitch.

At midnight this became very dull. The freshmen were very grateful for the screen tests that followed. After some esteemed make-up artist had practiced his skill (?) upon them, they trudged to scene one.

Scene One was below a window of the girls' dormitory. There, amidst ukelele disc-hounds, songs such as, "How Dry I Am," and "Singing In the Rain" were sung. Evidently the girls hadn't taken music appreciation, on second deed grateful!

thought perhaps they had. Regardless, no one passed the test. They thought the soloists were all wet.

Scene Two was the fish pond. Johnny Weismuller was ill and a "Tarzan" production was being held up. Yep, screen tests in stagnant water, complete with African slime and water lilies. Even a few ugly crocodiles that stood around with paddles in their hands.

The next night, freshmen encountered an elephant that needed washing but were saved (?) when the upperclassmen escorted them to a race in the locker room. Really swell guys, took us in full. Everybody yells, "It's all over."

Famous last words. Three carloads of freshmen headed for destination unknown. They were sure it meant a long hike back. What a relief when "Franks" hove into view! After a glass of milk and a hot cross bun, wheels carried us back to S. T. C. By then all were convinced that the initials stood for "State Torture Chamber."

Freshmen girls expressed deep regret at the lack of peanut butter sandwiches on Friday night at the dance. Likewise, the boys seemed to agree that chopped olive sandwiches would have added no end.

We bow our grateful, yet unworthy heads. They might have still been bowed had it not been for the prompt efficiency which is typical of the Sophomore class, with which they arranged for the delivery of S. T. C. beanies.

Sophomores, not to mention Seniors and Juniors, we are in-music appreciation, on second deed grateful!

Gulls Win Opener Sunny Side Up

By Jimmie Wilson

Salisbury's S. T. C. Gulls are already in their third week of soccer practice. Coach Ben Maggs lost most of his players last year, but he has succeeded in molding a promising team from the newcomers. Back from last year's service in the backfield we have Captain Curt McDowell, Roy Esiason and Stu Harrison. New-comers to the backfield are Jim Holden, Ralph Dryden, Tom Cimino, "Chuck" Navaratil, and Bob Sawyer. The only veteran on the line is our right wing, Don Reed. The new-comers are Nick Vitarelli, Bob Shields, Jack Spory, Lloyd Fry, Bill Adkins, Alvin Younger, Stu Young, Malcolm Dickie, Bill Jones, and Howard Cheek.

In their practice game with Hebron on Monday, October 1st, S.T.C. got off to a slow start, but when the final whistle blew the score stood eight-nothing in our favor. On Wednesday, October 3, S.T.C. met Wi-Hi in a practice game. The S. T. C. Gulls flew high with a final score of two to one. Alvin Younger made both tallies for the Gulls.

Coach Ben Maggs and manager Tom Williams have done an excellent job with the team and we wish the best of luck to them this season. Their tentative schedule for this season is:

Oct. 5	Kings College	Home
Oct. 10	Frostburg	Towson
Oct. 23	Wesley	Away
Oct. 27	Towson	Home
Nov. 2	Wesley	Home
Nov. 8	Baltimore	Away
Nov. 14	Kings College	Away
Nov. 17	Alumni	Home

The Golden Gulls trounced Kings College on October 5. The hot weather and bright sun didn't seem to bother either team. The game started promptly at three o'clock and there was no scoring in the first quarter. As the second quarter started, the Gulls began to roll and swamped Kings to the tune of nine to one.

Alvin Younger sparked the offense with four tallies. Nick Vitarelli, Bob Shields, Lloyd Fry, Don Reed, and Malcolm Dickie each tallied once. Curt McDowell and "Chuck" Navaratil sparked the defense with Stu Young doing an excellent job as goal-tender. Nice work, boys.

MUSKRAT MIKE

Well, fellows and girls, another school year has started at S. T. C. Let's hope we're all back and ready and willing to go to work. We also would like to take this opportunity to greet all the new Freshmen. Hope they like it here.

This year has started out with a bang. "Rat Week", according to the Sophomores, was a huge success. The "Rats" have recuperated by this time, we hope. Everyone is getting down to work—even though every other sentence you hear is, "When do we have our first vacation?" What a change! We were anxious to get back; now we're anxious to get home.

The biggest change is in the girls' dorm. We all have a group of master musicians with their ukuleles! By the way, have you heard the new version of "Brown Eyes"? It really is tricky in spots!

We sure do miss all the old faces, but we know they're happy in their jobs. A lot of them have two jobs, for wedding bells rang this summer for Nancy and Vic, Pat Johnson and Clarence Fox, Ruth and Rickie, Jeanette and Orlando, Peggy and Bobby, Betty and Dick, and Ellen and Ed. Seems funny not to see them around school! Course, by the end of the semester a few more will probably head for the altar.

As far as social activities go, the year has been full. At the end of "Rat Week" there was a dance sponsored by the "Sops". They gave the traditional prizes for the best boy and girl sports. Shirley Young and George Parks were the two lucky winners! Congratulations, kids! Speaking of Freshmen, they really do seem to be a lively bunch. The juke box never stops playing in the Snack Bar. Let's hope they all take the dancing lessons that are being offered. It sure is a wonderful opportunity to be a second Fred Astaire. Benjamins have had their annual Fall Fashion Show, and it was well attended by the kids from S. T. C. I bet a lot of parents are sorry. Look what happened to the family bank account. Next on the list is the famed Cornelia Otis Skinner. We hope you all had a chance to see her. She is certainly a great dramatist.

Before we go on, there is one thing we want to urge you all. That is, get behind our teams and show some school spirit. We are all proud of our athletes and we want all the support possible. Without your help, how can we expect to have a good, fighting team? This also means attendance. Your attendance, at games, dances and club meetings. Also, support your assemblies! The committee, with Lloyd Fry as chairman, has worked hard to get worth-while assemblies here. Come on and attend them.

In closing we want to ask you a few questions. Can you answer them? Why can't "Curly Locks" stay away from attached boys? What Freshman girl has to stand on the third step to kiss her boyfriend goodnight? Why do the boys have to look decent at dorm meetings now? What Junior boy is being mobbed by the Peninsula General Hospital students? Could it be S. H.? What Freshman boy is playing Casanova these days? W. B. are his initials. Why does Elnora H. have an intense disliking for hotels? Why has E. B. stopped carrying his fishing tackle — is the season over? Why did P. B. keep Lou's picture hidden during "Rat Week"? What Freshman girl is burning the candle at three ends? There's only two! And finally, why don't all these quarreling lovers make up?

Well, all for now — except a word of advice —
Roses are red,
Violets are blue,
Tune your ukuleles,
Please do!

Muskrat Mike

The Importance Of School Spirit

One of the most important factors in any school is the proper school spirit. A school isn't just a building, it is the students who make a school, and it is their spirit which makes a school either good or bad.

Having a good spirit, upholding the rules, and backing the school in all of its undertakings helps no one but the students, and they are the ones who need the help.

An ideal school spirit can be achieved only through cooperation and close unity; and it is this spirit that makes the school and makes it one to be proud of.

The alumnae of S. T. C. point with pride to their school, and it is up to the students who are here now to preserve the ideals which S. T. C. stands for, not only to keep its reputation for the alumnae but also to make it a school that they, as students, can be proud of.

Through The Keyhole

Hi Kids!—

Seems like the only familiar thing around S. T. C. these days is old reliable "Snoopy."

Starting off with the same old record: Why does Ray Stoops put all his nickles into one song, namely, "60 Minute Man"? Late again, eh Ray?

"Flip" made quite a hit with the feminine members of his class; that is until he had that curl cut off.

Betty's having geography problems these days. Is it Nicaragua or Brooklyn, gal? All right, all right, I'll tease you no more. There's a mystery brewing about the Snack Bar. The case of the missing light bulbs in the vicinity of the juke box. Come on now, let's have a little light on that subject!

A little freshman gal has her eyes on one big time operator of the Senior class. But, Betty, friendships don't start in the gym!

Donny Reed is telling everyone that he ran into a door. But, the question is, what was Jimmy Holden doing behind it??? Now they're both in stitches!!!

To be a bit more serious now: When Dicky Holden joined the Navy, Lady Luck turned her head on us. But not for long. Glad you're with us Jimmy Holden.

It seems as though while you're in school you do a lot of griping, but as soon as you leave for awhile you find that you really miss it. It was that way with several recent one-time students — Evert Fuller, who's bound for Austria; Junior Walls, whom our soccer team really misses; and Paul Liedlich, that tall one from Elkton.

It sure is great to see "Chuck" Navratil back here at S. T. C. The Marines liked you "Chuck", but we like you more.

The second floor dorm is quieting down nowadays. Can it be because of the 12 "campus queens" down there? Tough luck, gals, but we know just how you feel.

Patti Lou's head is still in the clouds. Literally, this time.

Cantrell's favorite color is still "Brown". More so than ever now.

For everyone that leaves there's a freshman to take his place. Bobby Colebourne left with his drums to Univ. of Maryland. But Cambridge sent us Jimmy Hillman and his uke; and believe the girls in the dorm, the serenaders are as great as ever!

Libby Elzey has been having toothaches lately. Could be that "long drink of water" she took, eh Libby?

It may be October, but Gene Culver is still interested in the "Beach"; how about it, Peggy?

Well, Kids, I've got to cut you off now and return to my cubby-hole. But before I do, one last warning — be good!!!
