OCEAN CITY ROAD SCENE OF SMASHUPS

Four Persons Injured In Two Automobile Accidents On Sunday Last

TWO OF THE DRIVERS WERE SALISBURIANS

In Other Case Two Out-Of-State Drivers, After Paying Fine, File Counter Suits For Damages Sustained—Hearing Set For August 6 At Berlin.

In attempting to pass a car driven by W. T. Parker, of this city, near St. Martins on the Ocean City Road about 2.30 P. M. Sunday, Larry B. Morris, also of Salisbury, sideswiped with his car the other machine causing both to take up in a ditch and considerably damaging the Morris car as well as injuring the driver to the extent of several cuts about the body.

The smashup occurred, it is said, when Morris attempted to get between the Parker machine and a third car which he was meeting. Morris was tried before Magistrate T. Rodney Jones on Monday morning and fined $5 and costs on charges of reckless driving. The arrest was made by Corporal Emil Busch.

About 9 o'clock the same evening on the same highway about two miles from Ocean City another accident occurred in which the cars were driven by Virginia and New York people. For some reason both drivers, it is said, were trying to keep in the center of the road while meeting. The New York car was driven by W. E. Wisner, Buffalo and the Virginia one by Harvey Plax, Exmore.

Mrs. Annie Plax, sustained bruises about the body while Miss Florence West, Dagsboro, Del., and Clarence Thoroughgood, passengers in the Wisconsin car, were badly shocked and shaken up. All were treated by Dr. Charles Law, Berlin. Both drivers were taken before Justice Peters at Berlin and charged with failure to keep to right of center of highway and each fined $5 and costs. Both parties entered suit for damages and the warrants were served by Corporal Emil Busch, who made the arrests following the accident. The hearing of these cases was set for August 6, 3 P. M. Over $100 damages, it is reported, were done to the two cars.

QUANTICO STOREHOUSE BURNS TO THE GROUND

Practically All Of Contents Also Consumed When Exploding Oil Lamp Sets Fire To Property

Fire at Quantico about 4.45 o'clock Monday afternoon completely destroyed the general merchandise store of Clarence O. Bailey and most of its contents and for awhile threatened destruction to the village.

The blaze was caused by the exploding of an oil lamp and spread quickly. When several adjacent buildings caught fire, an appeal was sent here for the department. The person taking the message at the City Hall understood the call to be "Economy Store, Main Street," instead of "Nanticoke store on Main Street," and plunged in the 4-4 alarm which denotes a fire in Salisbury's commercial district.

Excitement was at a high pitch as the engines rushed down in front of the hotel, police roped off the street and a crowd of several hundred intensely interested persons lined out of second and third story windows or congregated on the street.

Failing to find the semblance of a fire, the men returned to the engine house and after being straightened out went post haste to Quantico. When they arrived the fire was under control but the destruction of the complete extinguishing of the blaze.

SIX TOWN MERCHANTS AGREE TO CLOSE EARLY

Custom Established By Best Stores Of The Cities Adopted Here—Effective During Month Of August

Six of the Salisbury merchants have agreed to close their stores a half hour earlier every day during the month of August. This will mean that the store doors will be shut at 5.00 P. M. instead of 5.30 P. M., and at 9.30 P. M. on Saturday night instead of 10.00 P. M. The custom of shortening the working day during the summer month is becoming more and more prevalent in the larger cities among the higher class stores, some of which do not open at all on Saturday during July and August, and others open for only a half day.

WHITE CLOUDS NOW SETTING A DIZZY PACE

Run Up A String Of Seven Straight Victories Before Being Headed

LAUREL AND CAMBRIDGE. BEATEN TWICE IN WEEK

Dover Finally Takes Measure Of Manager Shipley's "Dark Horse" Pennant Contenders In Best Game Of Year In Delaware Capital Monday—Rain Postpones Tuesday Game.

Flashing the best brand of baseball displayed by the home club since Salisbury's entry into the realm of organized sport, the White Clouds during the last ten days have delighted their followers and at the same time struck terror into the hearts of their adversaries.

The chief factor which carried Manager Shipley's aggregation from an apparent hopeless second division club to a "dark horse" pennant contender, according to doers, is the releasing of Manager Shipley as a bench manager and his being signed up as a playing pilot. Under the former arrangement he was handicapped in that he was not permitted to coach from the base lines. A number of games were lost previous to his appearance as a coacher through faulty judgment on the paths and to this new arrangement may be laid in a large measure the credit for the unprecedented winning streak.

Seven straight victories were run up before the White Clouds were halted finally by the Dover "Dobblers" in the Delaware capital on Monday in one of the prettiest games of ball ever played before or since the days of Caesar Rodney.

The winning rampage was started on Saturday, July 21st when Crisfield was taken into camp at Gordy Park 4-3. Last week not a single game was lost, the following being the results: Salisbury 12, Laurel 5; Salisbury 7, Laurel 9; Salisbury 9, Cambridge 7; Salisbury 6, Cambridge 3; Salisbury 10, Pocomoke 5; Salisbury 14, Pocomoke 11. All four of the games were taken in the glory, Hearn leading with three wins. The twirling staff is showing up much better than early in the season with Bussey and Hearn turning in consistent victories.

Another "ten strike" was the signing of Ransel and Leid, two outfielders. The former is slugging away at the bat.

CATLIN HOMESTEAD IS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Bolt Plays Queer Antics By Demolishing 25 Window Panes—Mexick Family Barely Escapes

A bolt of lightning played some peculiar pranks at the home of Allan W. Mexick, who resides on the old William J. Catlin Homestead near Tyskin, during the electrical storm the night of Tuesday, July 24th. The house, which is located in a grove of trees, was struck during the storm and the only damage which Mr. Mexick could locate was the breaking of 25 window panes in various parts of the dwelling and is probably attributed to concussion.

The family escaped without injury although it had a very close call, glass flying all around them.

Hotel Plans Approved Thursday Night And Sealed Proposals Have Been Asked

Contractors Requested To Submit Bids On Four Story Building And Also Five Story Structure—Figures Must Be Sent To Hotel Company And To Architects By August 28th—Full Description Of Proposed Building, Prepared By Architects, Is Given Below.

At a meeting of the officers and building committee of the Wicomico Hotel Company in the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Thursday evening, A. E. Hjerstedt, representing the B. K. Gibson Company, Chicago, Architects, was present and laid before them drawings for the new $250,000 hotel which it is proposed to build here.

After a careful examination of the plans and specifications and the making of a few slight alterations, they were approved and Mr. Hjerstedt instructed to invite bids from contractors according to drawings and specifications. On Friday, a number of letters were gotten off to various contracting firms.

Proposals, it is stipulated in the letter, must be in the hands of owners and architects before August 28, 1923. The contractor must furnish bond for the faithful performance of his contract and shall pay the premium on said bond.

Two separate proposals are requested. The first for a structure four stories and a basement high. The second for a structure with an additional story added. Should the owners accept a proposal for the structure with an additional story, the architect will furnish revised drawings which will contain certain other changes.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Hjerstedt, the following description of the new hotel was prepared for The Wicomico News.

The exterior of the building will be of Adam period design executed in light colored terracotta and pressed brick. The lower portion will be all terracotta and the upper part will be finished in terracotta cornice. It will be strictly fire proof and constructed of steel and concrete. The building will have a frontage of 64 feet 10 inches on Main street and 106 feet 2 inches on Division street. It will contain 73 guest rooms located on the 2nd, 3rd and 4th floors. It will also contain a Barber Shop, Billiard room, Cafeteria, Lobby, three stores, Dining and Banquet room, private dining room, kitchen, sample rooms, tailor shop etc., in addition to the necessary hotel service features. It will have all features found in the best hotels in the country. It will be modern and up-to-date in every respect.

The hotel entrance will be located on Division street, opening into a vestibule opening upon the entrance lobby, which in turn opens upon main lobby and lobby. This main lobby is a beautiful room 26 feet 7 inches wide and 43 feet 6 inches long, 14 feet 10 inches high. Off this lobby will be located the hotel clerk counter, cigar stand, check room, telephone booth, manager's office, ladies retiring room and toilet, and entrance to the stores. In connection with the office is also a vault.

The dining room will have a capacity for the seating of about 100 at tables. The dining room which is about 39 feet square and 12 feet high is arranged for sub-dividing by folding doors to provide accommodations for banquets and club meals. The dining room as well as the lobby will have terrace floor and base, paneled wood wainscot and ornamental plaster walls and ceiling. The lobby and dining room will be treated in a very beautiful Adam period design. There will be one store on the first floor at the corner of Main and Division streets, fronting 22 feet on Main street and 41 feet on Division. There will also be two other stores 20 feet wide by 40 feet deep on Main street. Stores to have entrance both from the sidewalk and from the hotel lobby. On the first floor is also located the kitchen, measuring about 24 feet x 34 feet providing space for a very efficient layout of kitchen equipment. The kitchen will be furnished with plenty of natural light and ventilation and is located accessible to dining room and cafeteria.

To the south of the building will be an open drive way affording access for receiving supplies and trunks, etc. Under this driveway is located a coal space through which the coal can be dumped directly from the truck and ashua directly removed from the ash bunker. In the basement which is reached by a stairway directly from the lobby and the elevator, is located the cafeteria, a well equipped room 26 feet wide by 43 feet long, measuring about 24 feet x 34 feet providing space for a very efficient layout of kitchen equipment. BUILDING OF NEW HIGHWAY IS POSTPONED

Concrete Stretch Toward Nanticoke May Not Be Built This Year

ONE-PROPERTY OWNER STILL HOLDING OUT

Right To Cross Farm Of John Taylor Is Refused State By Owner Who Demands $500 For Right Of Way—Court Proceedings May Be Resorted To.

With the new survey completed and the contractors already to go to work on the building of the Nanticoke Road, the proposition has been temporarily held up and indications point to the fact that it may be indefinitely suspended because of the failure of a single property owner affected by the proposed highway to grant to the state the right of way across his land.

When the original survey was made John Taylor who resides at the end of the present concrete stretch running from Salisbury toward Nanticoke objected to it on the grounds that it split up his land rendering it less valuable to him as a farm. At that time, it is said, he made the statement that he would be willing to give the state permission to cross his land provided they would swing the road above the forks of the creek. This was done because of the disapproving of the original survey by the United States Government and a new survey made.

Last week, according to P. A. Morrison, District Engineer of the State Roads Commission, a letter was received from Mr. Taylor stating that he wanted $500 for the right of way and to cover the damage done his crops. This the Commission it is understood, will refuse to pay as it is not their custom to pay for the privilege of going thru a person's land, holding that the benefits accrued him more than offset, in most cases, his surrendering of the strip of land. If condemnation proceedings are necessary to secure this land for the state it is impossible to tell when the road will be built. It is practically certain that should such drastic steps be resorted to, the people of Nanticoke should not expect the building of this stretch during the present year.

CANTALOUPE SHIPPING IN FULL SWING

Interesting Spectacle Presented At Auction Block As Teams Await Turn

PACKING PLANT HERE CREATING INTEREST

Located in Old Miller Banding Mill Tilghman Company Property Is Sending Fruit To Market With Special Care As To Picking, Grading And Packing—Crop Outlook Good.

Following in the wake of the cukes which yielded the farmer of Wicomico County such fancy prices comes the delicious cantaloupe for which this section is famous. Starting the latter part of last week, the cantaloupes brought as high as $3.05 at the North Division Street auction block, this sum being paid C. D. Rector, who lives on the River Road near Salisbury for a load.

On Monday for blocks in every direction, teams and automobiles laden with cartons of melons were to be seen in the vicinity of the B. C. & A. North Division street station. The high prices of Saturday again prevailed on Monday and the average for the best fruit was around $2.00 with a general average of $2.75. In all 29 cars moved from this point on Monday.

Although naturally this point is the center of attraction at present, yet there is another place upon which the eyes of those interested in any manner in the shipping of melons are focused and that is the central packing house of the C. L. C. Lope company in the old Miller Banding Mill in South Salisbury just across from the Medick Ice plant.

Here is being tried out this year an innovation in the shipping of the melons. This scheme designed to standardize the pack and as a salvation to the cantaloupe growers of this section was last winter decided upon by the officers of the W. E. Tilghman Fruit and Packing Company and is being financed and operated by that firm.

Oliver Cordery, a vice-president of the Tilghman firm is father of the plan and is general manager of the packing house. Operations started the latter part of last week and on Monday one refrigerator car was shipped out. From now on the company is figuring on handling about 3 or 4 cars per day.

COMPLETE SURVEY OF FOREST PRODUCTS ON

J. A. Cope, Asst. State Forester, In Wicomico This Week—County Ranks First In Timber Activity

J. A. Cope, Assistant State Forester, is in Wicomico County and during the next week or ten days will conduct an intensive survey and study of all products of the county in order to clearly show how greatly the annual cut exceeds the annual growth and in order to stimulate interest in getting foresters to get these natural resources working to their fullest capacity.

Any forest owner in the county who has any problems which he wishes straightened out may get in touch with the official thru the medium of County Agent Cobb's office, Court House.

More forest industry is centered in this county, says Mr. Cope, than in any other in Maryland. Salisbury, next to Baltimore, is the largest shipping center in the state.

The thirty-fourth annual Camp Meeting at Hebron will open on Saturday evening, August 4th. This camp which started in a very small way with only a few tents, is now the leading camp on the Eastern Shore. It has spacious, well-kept and shaded grounds, covered with cottages and a boarding tent which is famous for its fried chicken and all other tempting delicacies.

The first director of this camp was Rev. Mr. Cooper, who in 1890 had not the facilities to work with that are now used. Automobiles were not then in use. Now they carry thousands of happy folks to Hebron Camp Meeting Grounds, where they find comfort, rest, pleasure and spiritual refreshment awaiting them.

The camp of 1923 promises to be the best ever held in Hebron. It will be under the direction of Rev. Wm. Lyndon Hess, M. A., pastor of Nelson Memorial M. E. Church. A big feature of this camp will be the music as well as the able preaching. Prof. Samuel H. Orme, tenor soloist of Brooklyn, N. Y., will again direct the music and he will be assisted by a large chorus choir. The organ will also be a professional in the person of Mrs. Wm. E. Cortelyou, of New Brunswick, N. SHARPTOWN SCOUTS AT CAMBRIDGE FAIR

Assist State Police In Directing Traffic At Dorchester Metropolis—No Scouts In That County.

When the Cambridge Fair opened Tuesday there appeared on the Fair Grounds two patrols of Boy Scouts, one from Caroline County the other from Wicomico County. They were to assist Captain Williams and the State Police in directing traffic and parking cars the herring-bone method.

Last year fifty Baltimore Boy Scouts went to Timonium Fair and offered their services to the State Police. The Police accepted and taught them the proper way in which to park cars and direct traffic. The boys were quick to learn and at the end of a week the Maryland State Police were loud in the praise of the Boy Scouts for their splendid assistance.

This year in the opening of the Cambridge Fair, the first Fair to be held on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, Captain Williams expressed a desire for the Boy Scout aid. Dorchester County being without a Boy Scout Troop it was necessary to secure Scouts from the nearby Counties thus calling upon Troop No. 1, Sharptown of which D. C. Bennett is Scoutmaster and upon Troop No. 1, Preston of which J. O. Wright is Scoutmaster. The Boy Scouts are under the direction of the Scout Executive of the Eastern Shore Council Boy Scouts of America.

TO SAFEGUARD INTERESTS OF STOCKHOLDERS

Meeting Here Wednesday Was For Purpose Of Aiding DOLLING'S Peninsula Investors.

BANKS ARE BACKING PROTECTIVE MOVE

Another Meeting Will Be Held Here In About A Week To Which One DOLLING AND ONE SHAREHOLDER IN COMPANY, NOW IN RECEIVERSHIP, ARE TO BE INVITED.

Bankers and representative business men from the surrounding counties of Maryland and Delaware met here last Wednesday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms and discussed plans relative to forming a Citizens' Protective Association to represent the great number of shareholders of the R. B. DOLLING COMPANY, now that the firm has gone into the hands of receivers.

The assembly decided to invite one banker and one prominent shareholder in the DOLLING COMPANY from each county of the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Delaware to meet at another hearing to be held in about two weeks. This group, it is planned will then take up the question of presenting the claims of the many shareholders in this section to the proper officials. The members present will constitute the Citizens' Protective Association which will have the backing of the banks in local territory. It is understood that a sum in the neighborhood of a million dollars has been invested with the DOLLING COMPANY by individuals on the Eastern Shore, and no little uneasiness has been stirred up by the announcement of the receivership action recently District Manager C. Victor Matthews with headquarters in Easton, has written a letter to all of the shareholders in this territory assuring them that he and his co-receivers will do everything in their power to protect the investors in this district.

Cantaloupes Shipping In Full Swing

Briefly the plan is this. The Tighman firm furnished Wicomico County farmers who signed up for their proportion their seed and crates and also do all the cleaning, grading, packing and shipping. The farmer is guaranteed 1 1/2 cents for each melon and after expenses are deducted, the remainder is divided 50-50. The packing plant management finds the best market for the product. The farmers are paid off on Friday of each week.

"Hearts of Gold" found by the management to be the most prolific and delicious melon is the only variety grown on the 125 acres which the company has contracted for this year. Green fruit, which has crept into the market this year from this section and is bound to reflect itself in low prices later on, is turned down flat at the central packing house.

In speaking of the advantages of this plan, Manager Cordrey stated that he did not expect the advance shipments of this fruit to command higher prices than other products but that the reputation, once established, would insure maximum prices throughout the season.

The cantaloupes are brought into the plant in field baskets. Here they are sent through a machine which cleans them and grades according to size. They are then packed into carriers by expert packers, imported from the South for the work, nailed up and stored in cars.

The plant makes its own carriers and will give employment, when in full operation to about 40 people as crate makers, stencillers, packers, nailers and loaders. The plant is wired and it is thought that night work will be necessary in a few days. The growers are expecting a wonderful crop. One farmer when asked about the "Heart of Gold" variety stated that he would not recommend it unless a doctor was somewhere around as a person never knew when to stop eating them. He also said they were very productive.

was taken on Monday and the popularity of "Cy" who graduated at Carnegie Tech this year, was attested to by the fact that he received nearly all the votes. Out of a possible 140 points, tent No. 5, William Bouda, tent leader, carried off the honors in this respect with 27 points. Each team having won three baseball games, the deciding game between the "Crabs" captained by Lee Hurley and the "Hardheads" piloted by William Price, Monday was a corker, honors going to the "Crabs" 2-0 after a hard struggle.

On Monday night a show "The Bloody Revenge", written by George Booth one of the campers, was put on to the delight and amusement of the camp and was highly enjoyed.

During the running of the camp, Mr. Boggs and the boys accumulated a veritable zoo, their captives including several snakes, a fish hawk, fox, a number of turtles and other wild species.

Hare and hound chases, boating, basketball and dodge ball games, trips to Tolchester and other features helped make the camp a success.

room, trunk room and a kitchen supply room, as well as bunks for coal and ashes.

The second floor will contain 23 rooms for guests. A number of these rooms are exceptionally large, fitted with wall beds to be used as sample rooms or private dining rooms. The third and fourth floors which are similar will contain 25 guest rooms each. In all there will be 73 guest rooms, 48 of which will have baths and 80 of which will have laboratories with access to public bath on each floor. The guest rooms will vary in size from 9 ft. wide to 13 ft. long, to 13 ft. wide by 16 ft. long. Each room will be provided with an individual telephone. The floors will all be carpeted and radiators placed on sanitary bases.

The elevator and stairway are located centrally and open into an elevator hall, which has an outside window on each floor. This hall communicated with a public corridor, which is 6 ft. 2 in. wide and will be heavily carpeted. It terminates in one end in a fire escape door leading to a fire escape in the drive way, and at the other end a window for ventilating the corridor. At the intersection of these two corridors is located a linen supply room and a public bath.

All bath rooms will have tile floors and tile base in tubs, white enamel fixtures, patented closet flush valves, etc. All bath rooms will be ventilated discharging the air from the bath rooms up through ducts through ventilators above the roof. The waste coat will be white enameled hard plaster, and the walls and ceiling will be white enameled plaster.

All guest rooms are large enough to permit good furniture arrangements and will be heavily carpeted and beautifully furnished. Trimming throughout the building will be of red gum and birch stained with brown mahogany finish. Lighting fixtures and furniture will harmonize in every way with the design of the rooms. Partitions and floors will be fireproof and sound proof.

Pipes will be concealed in shafts, that will be easily accessible for replacing or replacing of pipes. Rooms having baths will also have coat closets. Rooms without baths will be supplied with wardrobes.

The heating system will be a low pressure of steam vacuum system.

The hotel will be just as complete as modern equipment, architectural and engineering practice can conceive. It will rank with the best hotels in the country and will be one that Salisbury and the State of Maryland will be proud of.

the terrific clip of 447 according to official averages Wednesday noon and the latter is hitting for the fine average of 389. Other players who have been soaking the ball hard during the past week are "Toby" Tolson who raised his average from 301 to 333 and who has probably set a league record by slugging out a quintet of circuit clouds in as many days; Joe Kunesh who has raised his average from 300 to 316; Munda, who has jumped from 237 to the 265 mark and "Meatball" Owens, former Orioles who seems to have found his eye and is getting back into his old time form. Afield "Spark Plug" Soremba has been grabbing them out of the air and digging them out of the soil. The diminutive shortstop has accepted 34 out of 35 chances, some of which were scintillating plays.

Although Ticker, who has been away for several days, is missed, Owens is catching good ball and ably supporting his moundmen in their endeavors.

On Tuesday a drizzling rain caused a postponement of the Dover-Salisbury series and local fandom had to be content with the coming of the Parkley "Spuds" who, although occupying a lowly place in the league standing, have always seemed to prove an enigma to the Salisbury line.

WHY WILL YE DIE?—As I live,

Turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways:

SAFETY ON THE OCEAN CITY ROAD

Under the direction of State Roads Engineer P. A. Morrison, forces of that highway department are this week marking out safety zones on the Ocean City road at points where intersection is made with railroad tracks. Heavily painted white lines are being laid out that will guide the motorist to his side of the road upon approaching the crossing and there is also being placed across the road twenty-five feet from the railroad bed a wide red line. This marks the beginning of the danger zone and no vehicle is supposed to go beyond, in event that a train is approaching.

Engineer Morrison is to be commended for these steps which he is taking to make the Ocean City Road more safe for motorists, especially at the railroad crossings. The deaths that are resulting from automobile accidents at railroad crossings are numerous. Last Sunday there was reported from all parts of the country a toll of 26 lives that were snuffed out when automobiles bearing their precious cargo of human kind were crashed into and broken to bits by the fast-moving steam engines.

In practically every case, the accident could be attributed to the desire of the driver of these ill-fated cars to beat the locomotives across, a feat which if accomplished, is nothing short of a fool's act. What do a few seconds saved at a railroad crossing mean when compared to the frightful cost of criminal negligence when the attempt is unsuccessful.

During these summer months when the Ocean City highway is thronged with passing vehicles of all descriptions, the opportunities for accidents of all classes are exceedingly great and therefore it is an absolute necessity that every precaution be taken to minimize the dangers resulting therefrom. There has not passed a Sunday since the opening of the popular seashore resort that has not witnessed the smashing up of two or more machines.

The need for a widening of this piece of roadway has long been recognized but for some reason or other the work has been accorded apathetic treatment by the State Roads Commission of the State. And inasmuch as the conditions still remain dangerous, any move on the part of the state roads representatives in this district to eliminate certain bad features is to be welcomed.

But, in a great measure, each and every motorist who traverses the concrete thoroughfare is responsible for the number of accidents occurring. It is the operators of the cars themselves that can make the highway either dangerous or safe to travel on. And therefore it should be the duty of each individual to exercise the greatest degree of caution and care in the handling of his car. Terrific speed should be guarded against and any violator reported to the state police forces.

And this brings us to a consideration of the intoxicated driver who recklessly drives his automobile over the road, jeopardizing the lives of hundreds of others who innocently find themselves in his path. The man who sits at the wheel of a motor car, his mind and body numbed from the effects of demon rum, is an arch criminal in every sense of the word, his place is in jail and not on a joy-riding leather seat. In the city of Baltimore, the Judge of the Traffic Court, is meting out 30 day jail sentences to every driver found guilty of operating a car under the influence of liquor. Justice should move with the same firmness and severity here in the county. Instead of imposing a fine of $100 and costs on intoxicated drivers in this section, local magistrates should follow the example of the city courts. We would then have less rum-riding and less accidents.

BEING WELL READ THEN AND NOW

It is distinctly refreshing after reading a daily paper giving the details of some jazz party to turn to a book of ancient vintage and through its steady, sober influence gain a new hold on faith in the present generation, for there are times when that faith needs stimulation and strengthening. And considering the literature of seventy-five years ago, we wonder if the present flood of highly colored fiction isn't as effective in its influence for bad as were the classics for good in days gone by.

A list of books published and recommended by D. Appleton & Company in 1850 would alone show the trend of mind at that time. Such a catalogue contains the title of three books on agriculture, of five on manufacturing, the same number on science and history, forty-one listed as "Juvenile" and sixty-three under the classification "Religious." Compare this list with one of the elaborate catalogues issued today by any big publishing house and you will find that the "religious" volumes have dwindled almost into insignificance while volumes coming within the classification of "fiction" are overwhelmingly dominant.

There is a reason for this. Appleton in 1850 would not have carried a preponderance of religious works unless the reading public had demanded them to the exclusion of all else. Second in appeal to the more serious volumes were those intended for juveniles, but the majority of these were also of a religious nature or taught Christian principles. Among this list are "Christian Morals," "Youth's Book of Nature," and "Looking-Glass for the Mind."

Other books for children taught lessons of thrift, perseverance, duty and honor. The titles speak for themselves: "Strive and Thrive," "Hope on, Hope Ever," "Little Coin, Much Care," and "Think before you Act." How different from the modern volumes so widely advertised: "The Way of the Wild," "Sowing his Wild Oats," "The Young Outlaw," and others! Some of these might be termed "juvenile," but adults read them too and are influenced by them, just as young boys and girls read such books as "The Sheikh," "The Story of a Lover" and the trash dumped on the market by a score of worthless writers, books that are not worthy of the name, that stultify the person who reads them.

The trend of mind of the reading public has changed remarkably, even in the last decade. Few people, except students, read anything serious, anything worth while, yet are considered "well read" if they have at the tip of their tongue the salient features, the lurid pictures of the latest modern novel. Even the volume that graphically teaches a lesson fails of its purpose with most readers: the graphic facts remain long after the lesson is assigned, deliberately or unconsciously to oblivion.

An average man or woman wants to be considered well read and naturally, therefore, reads the latest novels. The publishers believe they are giving the people what the people want, and in a sense they are. But after all, if greater judgment were exercised in granting copyrights, if manuscripts were made to conform to a certain high standard with regard to both English and morals, wouldn't the future generation be inconceivably better off? If fathers and mothers would give more careful supervision to the books their children read, the plays they go to see, wouldn't those children become much better citizens?

If press and pulpit would combine for an aggressive campaign against the trash that appears constantly on the market and in favor of fewer books, better books, cleaner books, wouldn't the return to a normal mode of living be hastened? Wouldn't we be happier, better informed, and better qualified to enjoy greater happiness? To these questions there can be but one answer. And it is almost needless to point out that with better books and better read citizens, the problem of "cleaning up" the theatres and movies would be solved. Why not start a campaign now?

Advice to Milk Consumers

Buy only Best Milk Obtainable—
It's the Cheapest in the Long Run

Consult your physician before selecting your milk dealer.

Pasteurized Milk keeps sweet longer than raw milk. Bacteria increase rapidly in milk that is not pasteurized. Remember that clean milk properly handled and pasteurized is the only safe milk to use, as all the disease germs are destroyed by the pasteurizing process.

Use Holly Brand Pasteurized Milk and take no chance. Our milk truck passes your door every morning. Leave your order with the

Whenever you find a sudden or unusual increase in your bill, think—

Does some one in your family carelessly leave lights burning when not in use?

Have you had company recently, used extra guest rooms, entertained late in the evening?

Has there been sickness in the house?

Are the servants wasteful of current?

Have you added any new electric appliances to your home equipment?

Have you been reading several nights a week until early morning?

Have the days been dark and rainy?

Does the bill cover the same number of days as previous bills, with which you're making comparison?

READ YOUR METER REGULARLY—once a week if desired. Then you can check up during the month and see just when the maximum amount of current is consumed.

BANKING IN ITS MANY PHASES

By J. H. PEULACHER

President American Bankers Association.

TALK NO. 7A.

"Our Relations And the Bank's Relations With the Rest Of The World."

The word "Bank" wherever used, refers alike to trust companies, state banks and national banks—in short, to all banking institutions having a commercial department.

The subject of my Talk today is Our Relations and the Bank's Relations With the Rest of the World. I purpose to use only a few simple and familiar illustrations, so that we can all readily understand what is meant by Foreign Trade and Foreign Exchange.

Foreign Trade

Foreign trade is the international exchange of goods, in our case, the selling of American products to the people of other countries, and the buying by Americans of the products of other lands. In this country we use a great many more things that come from other countries than most of us realize. Their use has become so common that we accept them without thinking of our part in foreign trade. The most familiar illustrations of this are tea and coffee and some of the sugar with which we sweeten. The bulk of our tea comes from the Far East—from China and Japan. Santa, Brazil, ships more than ten million bags of coffee every year, eight millions of which come to the United States. A full bag weighs 127 pounds, which gives you an idea of how much coffee we drink.

Let us take two other simple and familiar illustrations, shoes and telephones. We all wear shoes, and every one here has used a telephone. No doubt, shoes have been worn ever since human beings walked on two feet. The telephone, however, was invented by an American only a few years ago. The inventor died very recently, and was then only 75 years old.

Most shoes are made chiefly of leather, but there are other materials in them with which you are not so familiar. You probably take it for granted that the shoes you wear are made wholly of American materials. Because they are made in this country, you naturally believe them better than any other shoes in the world, which is quite right. You will be surprised to learn of the variety of materials that go into your shoes, and the number of countries that supply these materials. We know that a great many cattle and horses are raised in this country, the hides of which are finally tanned and made into leather, and that much of this leather is used in the manufacture of shoes. But not all the leather for shoes manufactured in this country is made from the hides of cattle and horses raised here. Our shoemaking industry has grown so great that our tanners and leather makers are buying hides and skins in almost every country in the world.

Every good shoe has a sole made of heavy leather, called sole leather. The best sole leather comes from the hides of steers raised in the southwestern part of the United States, particularly in Texas, and also in the Argentine Republic. Less than half of the sole leather used by our shoe manufacturers is made of American hides. The hides which are bought in Argentina come from apart of our foreign trade. The soles of your shoes may have been made from foreign-raised hides. You will thus see that foreign trade touches every man, woman and child in the United States.

A study of a high grade patent leather shoe, such as girls wear to parties, developed further interesting facts. The vamp of this shoe was made of horsehide from Russia. Some of you may be wearing Corodovan shoes. The vamp of these shoes is also usually made of horsehide, which may come from almost any part of the world—little coming from Russia now, because of the ruin of its foreign trade, and that is one of the big reasons for the terrible suffering of the Russian people.

While the Russian horsehide that made the vamp of the patent leather shoe was tanned in the United States, the substance called bichromate, which is used in the tanning process, was made in the United States.

was produced chiefly in Germany. The soft top of the shoe was made of goat-skin which was produced in India, in South America, or possibly in China. Since few goats are raised in the United States, we import many of the millions of goat-skins used by our shoe makers. Then, we noticed that the shoe had an especially fine, soft top-grain. This was made from the skin of the kangaroo, raised in Australia.

Into that patent leather shoe have gone materials from Asia, Australia, South America, Europe and the United States. Africa furnished the gums that went into the combination used in the brilliant black polish of the patent leather. That composition contained American lampblack and turpentine amber from the shores of the Baltic Sea, sandarac (resin) from Africa, div-div (a plant containing camic acid) from Borneo and tragacanth.

A man's shoe has a broad, solid heel, usually made of leather from the tough hides of water buffalo, which are the chief beasts of burden in India, the Philippines and other tropical countries of the Far East. The lifts, or layers, of such heels are fastened together with nails made from steel, in which manganese from Brazil or India is an essential part. Another nail used in shoemaking is made out of the soft, tough iron produced in Sweden, mined with machinery made in the United States.

The vamp of the patent leather shoe that we have been examining was sewed to the welt with linen thread. Before the war, the linen was made from flax grown in Russia and spun in Scotland. The welt was cemented to the sole with a composition in which rubber from either Brazil or the Malay Peninsula formed a part.

Most shoes have an inside lining. American cotton furnished the twill for the lining of the patent leather shoe. The products of half a dozen of our states were used in preparing it. One does not think of wheat as supplying an essential part of shoes, but the paste used by the shoemaker is made partly from wheat flour. The stitching silk came from China, and Chinese was used in weaving the label that carried the maker's name.

There was nothing unusual in the makeup of that shoe. Yet, it had in it materials from every continent on the globe, and from several of the countries of some of the continents, as well as something from many of our states. The girl who wore this shoe to her party, probably knew nothing of its foreign trade romance.

We spoke also of the telephone as an illustration of foreign trade. This handy little instrument which enables you to talk to any of your friends whenever you wish also contains materials from every continent on the globe.

How many of you know what connection there is between an Eskimo Pie, and the export trade in player pianos? There is a clear and close connection. It is this. Eskimo Pie, as you know, is a slab of ice cream with chocolate. Chocolate is made from cocoa. Ecuador, in South America, is the chief producer of cocoa in the world. Just before Eskimo Pie appeared in the United States, Ecuador was having a great deal of trouble, because the market for cocoa was over supplied. The price of cocoa was so low that the cocoa-raisers in Ecuador could not get enough money for their product to enable them to buy what they wanted. The Eskimo Pie supplied a new use for cocoa, and as it immediately became very popular, millions of Eskimo Pies were eaten in this country. As this increased the demand for cocoa, Ecuador was able to increase the sale of her chief product, and to get a better price for it. Consequently, her producers were able to resume buying the things they needed, or wanted, one of which was player pianos. The invention of Eskimo Pie in the United States actually improved the export of American-made player pianos to Ecuador. It improved other lines of export trade at the same time.

You have now seen how important is our foreign trade. Our life has become so highly developed, that we are dependent upon the products of every continent, for many of our ordinary conveniences, for the food we eat, and for the clothing we wear. But there is another side to foreign trade. Since we need and want certain things that come from other countries, there are traders among us who give their time and attention to getting these things for us. They buy and import goods, so that every year they have a large bill to pay for thousands of articles that come from all corners of the globe, from the wilderness, from the desert, from icy barren wastes, from the depths of the sea, and from centers of population and civilization.

Foreign Exchange

How do they pay these bills? In a very simple and easy way. They really settle their obligations by paying with the things produced in this country, which the people of other lands need and want. Just as we buy and use the things they produce, and do not; they buy and use things that we produce. Each country produces those things for which it has natural products, called raw materials, such as the tea and coffee I spoke of in the beginning; such as the cotton that forms so large a part of the pop-duction of our southern states; such as the rubber of Brazil and the Fur East, and a long list of other things. You will see from what I have said that our imports are paid for, in part by our exports.

When we say that people in distant lands pay with things produced in their country, we do not mean, of course, that the man in Alabama who produces the cotton which is sold in Spain, or in England, or in Japan, or in some other foreign country, actually gets his pay in the product of one of these countries. He does not have to take Japanese silk, or Spanish olive oil, or English cutlery, for his cotton. He is paid in money, American money, and is able to buy with American money, many things produced in other countries. Just so, the man, let us say in England, who buys Alabama cotton pays for it in English money, and also sells his cutlery, which is exported to the United States, for English money, that is pounds, sterling, shillings, and pence.

Here is where the bank dealing in foreign exchange serves us. All these financial transactions are conducted with the help of the foreign departments of banks, by bills of exchange or commercial letters of credit. Each producer, or trader, receives payment for his goods in the coin of his country, francs and centimes in France, marks and pennings in Germany, lire and centesimi, in Italy and so forth. Even our smaller banks which have no foreign departments can help make all necessary arrangements for foreign payments of money, through their relations with the large city banks. These large banks, some of which have branches and agencies in all parts of the civilized world, receive advice every day as to the market value of our money in terms of the money of any other country. We call this valuation the rate of exchange. For example, your bank can know any day the exact number of French francs, or Italian lire, or any other currency which you can get for a dollar. If you wish to send $5, let us say, to

Bank Stocks as Investments

Under date of June 25, 1923, the following article appeared in The Wall Street Journal:

Investors are seldom urged to buy bank stocks because there is little or no profit in such investments for the promoter. Bank stocks, as a rule, are closely held, therefore, there is not much trading in the shares. Nevertheless, banking is one of the safest and most profitable businesses known. For instance, out of 57 New York active bankstocks in New York, 23 are quoted above $300 a share. 8 are quoted above $500 a share and 3 are selling at more than $1,000 a share.

There is a trust company in Pittsburgh that has a book value of about $2,800 a share and a few years ago stock of a small bank in Virginia had a book value of approximately $7,000 a share. Last year, a bad year for most business, dividends paid by 8,147 national banks averaged 12.42%.

We are offering the stock of two Joint Stock Land Banks OPERATING UNDER UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT SUPERVISION—with probably more safeguards thrown around its operation for the protection of its stockholders than commercial or national banks, at a price to yield 6% free of County, State and City taxation and the Normal Federal Income Tax. We will be pleased to give you full information upon request without obligating yourself in any way.

RESERVE

All of us like to think of a reserve to fall back upon in the hour of trouble. In the last analysis, reserve is thrift. Thrift is the opposite of improvidence and waste.

Thrift means better homes, better food and clothes; more comfort and enjoyment; less waste and anxiety. Money is the insignia of labor. It represents an investment in brawn and brain. It is the most elastic reserve.

Money is power. It means liberty and a freedom from the curse of poverty.

Start today in building a reserve. Maybe in a saving account—maybe in a wise investment. We can help you in either.

MRS. BUTLER'S AGES AND PAINS

Vanished After Using Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

W. Philadelphia, Pa.—"When I cleaned house last April I must have overfitted, for after that I had pains and aches all the time and was so discouraged. I could hardly do my own housework, and I could not carry a basket of groceries from the store nor walk even four or five squares without getting terrible pains in my back and shoulders and lower limbs. I want to visit a friend in Mt. Holly, N. J., and she said, 'Mrs. Butler, why don't you take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' My husband said that if it did her so much good for the same trouble, I should try it. So I have taken it and it is doing me good. Whenever I feel heavy or bad, it puts me right on my feet again. I am able to do my work with pleasure and am getting strong and stout. I still take the Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and am using Lydia E. Pinkham's Balm for Rheumatism."—Mrs. CHAS. E. BUTLER, 1235 S. Hanson St., W. Phila., Pa. Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text Book upon "Aches of Women."

You Can't Blame Him

Jones says he doesn't believe in signs any more.

Well, you see he followed the advice on one of those "Keep Smiling" cards and because he kept smiling all the time, folks started a story that he was losing his mind.

KILLING PROGRESS

We have been listening to the slogan, "Build your home. America must build five million new homes."

After listening to that slogan the people began a great program of construction, and it would have continued had not materials been raised to almost prohibitive prices; and labor demanded a wage increase and a decrease of working time. It is now absolutely certain that the building boom will cease unless these two great factions against prosperity and progress can be made to see the light.

The farmers' building plans have been ground to powder. He has to give 762 eggs in order to secure a plaster for one day of eight hours' labor. He has to give 23 chickens weighing three pounds each to pay a painter for one day's work. He has to give 17½ bushels of corn, or a year's receipts from one-half acre, to pay a bricklayer for one day's work. He has to furnish 42 pounds of butter or the output of 14 cows' feed and milk for 24 hours, in order to pay the plumber $14.00 a day.

The farmer has to give a hog weighing 175 pounds and representing eight months' feeding and care in order to pay a carpenter for one day's

How can one expect progress and prosperity when the dealers in building materials on the one side and labor on the other side exploit from the would-be builder the last cent that he can beg and borrow? It is an unjust, unequal and infamous condition that exists in this country at the present time.

We need five million homes, and there ought to be in the cities of this land millions of dollars worth of office and other kinds of buildings erected, but they cannot be built while there are those who are taking the last pound of flesh from the would-be builders.

Case of Appendicitis

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.—Advt.

Keeps FORD Plugs Clean

Here's an ignition system that keeps plugs clean—

In big, intense sparks burn off oil deposits and, by firing the gas charges completely, prevent carbon forming on the plugs and cylinder walls. It gives lots more power, too, for its sparks are perfectly timed by the famous Bosch Timer. Every explosion occurs at the proper instant, developing maximum power and keeping the engine flexible and smooth.

Type 600 is a complete, waterproof ignition system, with automatic spark control. It makes old Ford engines run like new, and new ones develop a flexibility, power and smoothness that few think possible.

Money back in 30 days if you're not satisfied.

When you buy a Goodyear Tire from us authorized Goodyear Dealers, you know we'll help you get all the mileage out of it. That's real economy. "Bargains" sometimes aren't.

A Bath a Day

For six hundred years the Romans used no medicine but the bath. Is that strange? It shouldn't be. The secret is very simple. You see the Romans bathed daily. And people who take a bath a day rarely, if ever, need medicine.

A bath a day keeps the pores of the skin open. This makes it easy for the skin to breathe. Skin breathing sanitates the body. Then, too, a bath a day stimulates—exercises—lubricates, you might say—all your internal organs. This stimulation keeps them working as they should.

When the organs are working properly, they are healthy. Healthy organs make a healthy body. And a body that is healthy does not need medicine.

But that isn't all. A healthy body is a builder of beauty, energy, efficiency and happiness. If you would know the joy of health and beauty start the bath a day habit. And there is no better time to start than in this month of June.

All you need to make the start is a little will power and a good bathroom. You supply the one and we will supply the other. Start a bath a day today, keep it up, and the money you have been paying for medicine will pay for a bathroom several times over.

100° in the Shade or 10° below Zero!

One hundred degrees in the shade or ten below zero, meat deliveries to your retailer go steadily on, so that you may be assured of just the kind and quality of meat that you desire.

No city is so far removed from live stock production that it cannot receive its regular supply of fresh meats.

Compare this with the meat supply of thirty or forty years ago. Summer weather then meant salt or pickled meats in the country, and a limited variety of fresh meats in most cities.

Refrigeration, developed by scientists, has made it possible for Swift & Company, and other packers, to prepare fresh meats and ship them long distances in refrigerator cars, so that today, without regard to heat or cold, meat reaches your dealer fresh, clean, and wholesome.

In addition to the fresh meats thus available, Swift & Company prepares a variety of tempting meats for hot weather:

Swift's Premium Cooked Ham, mild and sweet, smoked over hard wood fires, is always delicious.

Swift's Premium Frankfurts, from our modern sanitary kitchens, offer a choice blending of meats and spices.

Swift's Sausage Specialties and Swift's Dry Sausage, ready to serve, help lighten the housewife's summer task.

In addition to these, a score of other Summer Specialties are made available by Swift & Company's research and development work.

Our profit from all sources averages only a fraction of a cent a pound.

ANOTHER SALISBURY CASE

It Proves That There's a Way Out for Many Suffering Salisbury Folks.

Just another report of a case in Salisbury. Another typical case. Kidney ailments relieved in Salisbury with Doan's Kidney Pills.

I W. Ennis, 123 Fooks Street, says: "I have used Doan's Kidney Pills off and on for many years and consider them a household remedy. At times I had attacks of kidney trouble and I suffered severely from backaches. There was a dull, constant ache in the small of my back especially mornings. I was lame and tired and at times I could hardly straighten. Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at White & Leonard's Drug Store never failed to help me when I was troubled in this way. They soon relieved the backaches and put my kidneys in good shape. I have great faith in Doan's Kidney Pills."

EASTERN SHORE IS NOW AT HEYDAY ENTERTAINING HUNDREDS VISITORS

Motor Journey Indelibly Impresses Upon Visitor the Truth About This "Garden Spot of the World"—Camps and Fairs Are Attracting Large Crowds.

By A News Representative.

The far-famed Eastern Shore of Maryland, or the "Land of the Evergreens," as it is often referred to, is right at present at the heyday of its splendor and glory. This fact is indelibly established upon the mind of the visitor once he sets foot upon her shores and traverses the country in any direction whatsoever.

Visitors there are down here by the hundreds included among whom are relatives and friends from the Monumental City; the tourist with his car bearing the mark of an alien State; the native born returning to the shrine of former days; the resort-goer who is seeking the recuperative heat of the stuffy city; the millionaire who maintains his summer home down here in some secluded spot where he may spend a few weeks in rest and recreation far from the hubbub of the city's traffic and business; the camper who lands with his tent and a few old clothes to live in the open air; the back in the sun to return to his job and proudly exhibit a healthy coat of tan and "fifty-seven" varieties of others too numerous to mention.

A splendid insight into the character of the citizens and the layout and resources of the land itself may well be gleaned by taking such a trip as was taken by a reporter of this paper last week. Starting at Rock Hall, Eastern Shore terminus of the Baltimore—Rock Hall Ferry, by auto the journey down the Peninsula to Ocean City, Maryland, Maryland's only seaside resort, carries one through four county seats: Chestertown, Kent; Centerville, of Queen Anne's; Easton of Talbot; and Salisbury of Wicomico.

First of these touched is Chestertown, renowned far and wide as the home of Washington College, the Shore's only institution of higher learning, and old seat of knowledge named for and by the permission of George Washington, first president of the United States. Proceeding thru the principal streets of the town and across the old wooden bridge which spans the broad and beautiful Chester River, some of the finest and most productive farms to be found in the East are next beheld. Fields of corn, many of the stocks of which have run up to twelve feet or more, have been blessed by gentle showers as have many other vegetables.

Crossing the boundary line into Queen Anne's County, one finds live stock of various species lazily grazing on the slopes parallel to the State roads. This county is perhaps the most unexcelled of the generally smooth country and contains thousands of the finest acres of pasture land imaginable. On every hand may be seen milk cans filled and awaiting transportation to the creameries or shippers in the city. Dairying is one of the county's most lucrative industries and affords a living for many of its inhabitants. Centerville, the county seat, although a quiet town, is a bustling little business place ever alert to the securing of enterprises. Sports, too, are not overlooked, the town being at present a member of the Talbot County Baseball League, a wheel organized this season and playing fast ball. Frank Baker, former home run king of Athletic and Yankee fame is playing on the Trappe team and his presence in the lineup is adding great prestige to the circuit.

Talbot County, like its neighbor, abounds with acres upon acres of fine pasture and farmlands, and Easton is a thriving town. The upper counties of the shore are alluring spots for the camper and here, there and everywhere in cozy nooks and corners may be found these tent colonies nestling among the trees on the banks of some placid stream. Below Easton is Camp Davenport, named in honor of the Bishop of the Diocese of Eastern, where a number of girls and boys from various sections of the Eastern Shore have enjoyed an outing. On Monday of this week Camp Fairlee on the Chesapeake near Tolchester, broke up after a month's camping. This camp was conducted, as it has been the two years previous, by "Chief" Director, William L. Borge, of the Salisbury Y.M.C.A., under whose auspices it was run. 25 Salisbury girls spent the first part of July there and double that number of boys from Salisbury, Baltimore and elsewhere, the remainder of the month.

The tents were left pitched and a large camping party from Baltimore are now enjoying an outing there. Crossing the line into Caroline County, the first town of any consequence reached is Preston. The town and county are looking forward to the camping season which is the principal industry in those parts.

Dorchester, likewise, is a canning county, and Hurluck enjoys quite a portion of this activity. Just a few miles beyond Hurluck at the intersection of the road to Cambridge is old Shiloh Camp Ground, a hallowed spot to all Dorchester Countians, where services terminated Sunday after a ten day session. The preachers for the camp meeting were: The Rev. G. I. Humphreys, D. D., president of the Maryland Conference, Baltimore; Rev. M. W. White, pastor of Trinity M. P. Church, Baltimore; Rev. P. M. Carson, Washington, D. C.; and others. Back with Camp, in the same county, ran concurrently with Shiloh.

Crossing the Nanticoke at Sharptown, the traveler is now on Wicomico County soil and ere long finds himself approaching Salisbury, the Shore Metropolis. Here the car becomes entangled in a mass of traffic, wending its way in and out of wagons, automobiles and other conveyances loaded down with carriers of cantaloupes bound for the auction block in the rail road yards here. For five blocks these vehicles have been known to line up awaiting their turn this year so voluminous has been the production of this fruit which rivals in the city markets the famous "loupes" of Colorado. As competitors in the volume of business done on the Shore, Salisbury has none. Busy as are her citizens, time is found for recreation and the young city boasts of a baseball team, a member of the Eastern Shore League of Professional Baseball Clubs. Although the team is now somewhat down the line, sportsmen here feel that before the curtain is rung down Labor Day she will be much closer to the top. Great preparations are being made for the Great Salisbury Fair which commences on August 21st and which attracts to this city thousands of visitors from the entire Delmarvia Peninsula.

A 31 mile stretch now lies between the tourist and his ultimate destination, the principal attraction along which are the orchards of Harrison Nurseries in the proximity of Berlin, Worcester County, of which Senator Harrison, is president. Those are said to be the largest commercial orchards in the world and the trees right at present are bountifully loaded with ripe, luscious fruit.

Arriving at last at the Atlantic Seaboard, a traveler sinks down into an easy chair and reflecting upon his trip must surely feel repaid for the long and tiresome journey by the knowledge that he has seen for himself that which a native Eastern Shoreman sums up in six words "The Garden Spot of the World."

Same Old Story But a Good One

Mrs. Mahala Burns, Savanna, Mo., relates an experience, the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles."—Adv't.

Farm Notes by County Agent

George R. Cobb

Once more we "take our pen in hand" to jot down some of the interesting and instructive things that come to our attention. Our vacation from writing these notes was due to laziness, perhaps, but due much more to our dislike for writing of any kind where we have to do the composing.

Why are so many farmers so modest or is it confined to the farmers in Wicomico County? The prettiest tomato patch in the county that we have seen thus far is that belonging to Goldsboro Harrington and when asked how he secured such fine plants Mr. Harrington said that they were on a fine piece of land. Not a word of his care in selecting seed, picking out fine vigorous plants for setting in the field, setting all of the plants by hand so that he might spread out the roots and give the plants fair chance to do well, carefully cultivating so that all grass and weeds were kept down giving the plants a chance to get all the plant food and moisture that was available and going over the field almost daily looking for any sign of disease or insects or other damage. No other kind of care and attention would produce 600 to 700 baskets per acre and so we are not going to let Mr. Harrington get away by laying all the credit to the soil.

If the Third Party really wants a suitable candidate and one who would be sure of quite a few votes some of us, at least, would suggest Lefty Hearn. For the second member on this ticket we might propose friend Tagg and who will deny that this combination would not be as good as any suggested.

Years ago farmers were looking forward to the day when wheat would bring a dollar per bushel. That day came and now there is as much concern over the fact that wheat has dropped below the dollar mark. And yet there are people who say that the "world do move but, oh, so slowly".

Wheat is low and as a result our bakers have been able to secure flour at a much lower price than for many moons. Will the price of bread drop right soon or will the loaves be much larger for the same money? There is about as much sense to this question as to "how old in Ann" but yet there is some hope for the bread makers claim that it will be at least six days before we can expect to see the lower price of flour reflected in the price of bread. By that time wheat may rise and all we will see will be the reflection.

Monsieur Poincaré speaks out in meeting and we cannot help but applaud very heartily. Our fund of knowledge pertaining to international politics is nil but we have often wondered how England always seemed to get the better of every deal. It must be that other countries are run by men with single track minds or the fog of London penetrates the brains of the opponents. Come again Premier and this time follow your straight left with a right uppercut.

Lice or aphids, on cantaloupes and cucumbers, can be absolutely controlled and with much less effort than here tofore. A nicotine dust has been used in our demonstration work this season and in every case it has performed its duty. Frank Joyner, Lewis Jones, Harry Van Horn, John Smith, and other growers have seen the results and we have no hesitation in claiming that this nicotine dust will kill the aphids. No more need to bury the plants or use a liquid spray that is hard to apply and most often fails to get all the lice so that they soon spread. We have used a 2% dust but we rather believe that 1 1/2% will be effective.

We want to repeat that soybeans will grow and make a good growth on any fertilized soil without inoculation. BUT inoculation with resultant nodules on the roots means practically 30 pounds of nitrogen gathered from the air at no expense to the farmer. Without these nodules, which house nitrogen gathering bacteria, this crop loses its leguminous qualities and becomes just a hay crop. A very clear example of this happened at John Smith's this past week where we found many nodules on the roots of the inoculated plants and not any on the un-inoculated plants.

Tomato juice as valuable as orange juice for youngsters and oldsters. So say the experts and we surely hope that they are correct for orange the size of tennis balls at 50 cents per dozen are somewhat expensive. Tomatoes have all the vitamins, accent on second syllable, that are contained in oranges and therefore can be used as a substitute for the golden apples. Cooking and canning does not seem to decrease or lower the vitality of the vitamins. About time for our tomato men to copy the yeast and orange advertisers.

Boss Hearn tells of a cow he once owned that was all milk and butter except the horns and they were elaborated. This county could use many such animals so if Boss knows where these animals are to be obtained he should come across with the information. Boss also has a strong liking for the "long eared tractor" and we agree with him although we are still trying to learn when to say "biddy won" and when to say "gee ay" along with the rest of the lingo.

some one in Paris, all you have to do is go to the bank, and buy a draft. A foreign draft is a bank's order on its foreign correspondent "to pay". The banker will draw the draft upon a correspondent bank in Paris, perhaps the Credit Lyonnais. He will loop up the number of francs and centimes you can receive for $5 that day, and fill out the draft which asks the Credit Lyonnais to pay that number of francs and centimes to the person or company to whom you wish the money sent. Many people who have relatives in foreign countries, send them money in this way. This is the way practically all money is sent abroad or is received from abroad. Imports to this country are paid for by foreign drafts drawn on banks in the countries from which we buy goods, just as exports are paid for by drafts drawn on banks in the countries from which we export goods. Just as exports are paid for by foreign drafts drawn on banks in the countries from which we buy goods, just as exports are paid for by drafts drawn on banks in this country.

Depreciation of Some Foreign Currency

During the war this system of sending money abroad was broken down on directly between certain nations. Enemy nations do not recognize the obligations of each other. Therefore, there remained no basis of mutual confidence. Even today there are certain nations whose currency values vary so widely from week to week and even from day to day, that it is impossible to deal with them. The paper money of some European countries no longer rests on a satisfactory gold basis, and is worth less than the paper upon which it is printed. Russian rubles, that in 1914 were worth about fifty cents each, now have a value of several million to the dollar. The German mark and the Australian krona are also very unsuitable. It is possible to get great quantities of them in exchange for American dollars, because the value of one dollar is based on a strong reserve of gold.

Traveler's Checks and Letters of Credit

The present system of foreign exchange enables people who wish to travel to purchase and take with them into any country foreign drafts, traveler's checks, or traveler's letters of credit and exchange these into the money of that country. All banks supply them to their customers. As people are traveling more and more, our banks are constantly being brought into direct contact with the rest of the world.

The Lesson of the War
The late war brought home to us the lesson that no country in these modern times "liveth unto itself". In view of the billions of dollars of American wealth now invested in the bonds of European, Asiatic and South American countries, and the large amount of trade it is necessary for us to conduct with these countries, you will see that we must have an intimate concern in Flow!

GOOD motor oil must go without urging right to the spot where it's needed—spread quickly and evenly over the surface—get there and stay there without fail, no matter how cold the day or how hot the bearing. Polarine stands the cold test—flows instantly to protect the coldest cylinder wall—covers equally well the sizzling surface of an overloaded piston.

But that's not all! After it gets there it holds up to its work and outwears inferior oils by many extra miles, costing little more per quart and much less per mile. That's because flow, work, wear and low mileage cost are studiously and uniformly combined in Polarine to give you perfect satisfaction.

The Polarine Chart recommends a certain consistency of Polarine for your motor. Consult it at your dealer's.

PRESIDENT HARDING SUCCUMBS TO STROKE OF APOPLEXY

DEATH OF NATION'S EXECUTIVE COMES VERY SUDDENLY LAST NIGHT AFTER SEVERE RELAPSE AT 7.30 O'CLOCK ON WEST COAST

Apoplexy Brings End As Wife Reads Friend's Note.

Mrs. Harding Gives First Warning Of Sudden Relapse And Is Bravest Of All At Bedside

DEATH CAME BEFORE MEMBERS OF OFFICIAL PARTY COULD BE CALLED

President Had Just Passed A Very Restful Day And Physicians Were Hopeful Of Quick Recovery. Vice-President Coolidge Notified Immediately Stands Ready To Take Over Reins Of Government.

"President Harding is dead." These words, flashed over the wires from San Francisco at 7.30 o'clock last night dropped like a bomb-shell over the forty-eight States last night and enshrouded the people of the land in a pall of gloom and sorrow.

End came instantaneously and without warning to the Chief Executive as he was conversing with members of his family. It was just after the dinner hour and the President was in his chamber with Mrs. Harding and two nurses. He seemed to be in fairly good spirits and was apparently suffering no discomfort.

Suddenly his face grew ghastly white as he appeared to be overcome by a stroke of apoplexy. In a few minutes General Sawyer, the President's personal physician pronounced his patient dead. The end came so suddenly that members of the official party could not be called.

In his evening bulletin General Sawyer had announced that the day was the most satisfactory the President had spent since he was first stricken exactly one week ago. During the day he was reported to have been free from discomfort of any kind and his condition in every way justified those near him anticipating possible recovery.

According to official statements issued after his death, the Chief Executive's death was apparently due to some sort of brain involvement.

Vice-President Coolidge was notified immediately of the President's death. He received the news at his home in Washington and will be prepared to take over the reins of government when called upon.

HEART SHUDDERS FIRST WARNING

Heart shudders the first warning of the President's collapse that came to those in the room at the time. Mrs. Harding was startled by the apparent relapse of her husband as she was reading a letter which had come in from a friend on the evening mail. Great concern swept over the face of the first lady of the land as she hastily glanced at the stricken figure of her husband and only a second elapsed before she rushed out into the hall and made a hurried call for the doctors.

Two nurses were the only occupants of the room besides Mrs. Harding when the President suffered his stroke of apoplexy. The fatality followed a slight touch of pneumonia contracted while the President was in Alaska.

Immediately upon learning of the President's death, Attorney-General wired Vice-President Calvin C. Coolidge to prepare for the taking of oath as successor. The past record of Vice-President Coolidge shows him to be well equipped for presidential duties.

QUANTICO STOREHOUSE BURNS TO THE GROUND

Practically All Of Contents Also Consumed When Exploding Oil Lamp Sets Fire To Property

Fire at Quantico about 4.45 o'clock Monday afternoon completely destroyed the general merchandise store of Clarence O. Bailey and most of its contents and for awhile threatened destruction to the village.

The blaze was caused by the exploding of an oil lamp and spread quickly. When several adjacent buildings caught fire, an appeal was sent here for the department. The person taking the message at the City Hall understood the call to be "Quantico Store, Main Street" instead of "Quantico store on Main Street", and plugged in the 4-4 alarm which denotes a fire in Salisbury's commercial district.

Excitement was at a high pitch as the engines rushed down in front of the hotel, police roped off the street and a crowd of several hundred intensely interested persons hung out of second and third story windows or congregated on the street.

Failing to find the semblance of a fire, the men returned to the engine house and after being straightened out went post haste to Quantico. When they arrived the fire was under control but they assisted in the complete extinguishing of the blaze.

CATLIN HOMESTEAD IS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Bolt Plays Queer Antics By Demolishing 25 Window Panes—Mexick Family Barely Escapes

A bolt of lightning played some peculiar pranks at the home of Allan W. Mexick, who resides on the old William J. Catlin Homestead near Tyaskin, during the electrical storm the night of Tuesday, July 24th.

The house, which is located in a grove of trees, was struck during the storm and the only damage which Mr. Mexick could locate was the breaking of 25 window panes in various parts of the dwelling and is probably attributed to concussion.

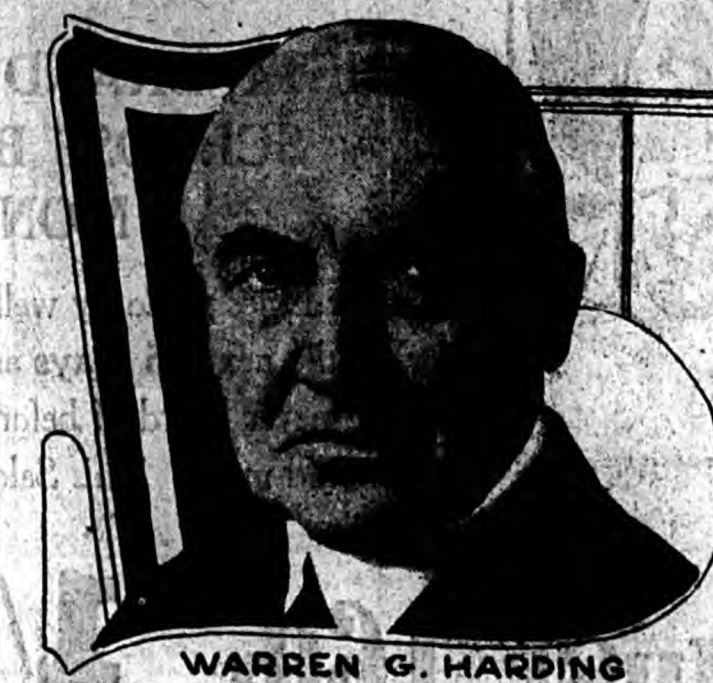

The family escaped without injury although it had a very close call, glass flying all around them.

WARREN G. HARDING

The United States' twenty-eighth President was born at Corsica, Morrow County, Ohio, November 2, 1865. His father, George T. Harding, was a practicing physician. The son worked on the farm and attended the public schools until 1880, when he entered Ohio Central College at Iberia, where he edited the College paper. In 1883 he began work in a printing office and the following year acquired control of the Marion Star at Marion, Ohio, where he resided permanently and married Florence Kling in 1891; the union remained childless.

He was State Senator two terms, being elected in 1899 and 1903, and the following year became Lieutenant-Governor. In 1912 he was a candidate for Governor, but was defeated by his Democratic opponent, Governor Harmon. In 1920 he was elected President by the largest popular vote ever polled in the country, defeating his Democratic opponent, Governor James M. Cox. He surrounded himself with an able cabinet and adopted a progressive policy tempered with conservatism. Death came August 2, 1923.

J. A. Cope, Assistant State Forester, is in Wicomico County and during the next week or ten days will conduct an intensive survey and study of all products of the county in order to clearly show how greatly the annual cut exceeds the annual growth and in order to stimulate interest in getting foresters to get these natural resources working to their fullest capacity.

Any forest owner in the county who has any problems which he wishes lightened out may meet in touch with the official thru the medium of County Agent Cobb's office, Court House.

More forest industry is centered in this county, says Mr. Cope, than in any other in Maryland, Salisbury.

Hotel Plans Approved Thursday Night And Sealed Proposals Have Been Asked

Contractors Requested To Submit Bids On Four Story Building And Also Five Story Structures—Figures Must Be Sent To Hotel Company And To Architects By August 28th—Full Description Of Proposed Building, Prepared By Architects, Is Given Below.

At a meeting of the officers and building committee of the Wicomico Hotel Company in the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Thursday evening, August 2nd, representatives of the B. Gibson Company, Chicago, Architects, was present and laid before them drawings for the new $250,000 hotel which it is proposed to build here.

After a careful examination of the plans and specifications and the making of a few slight alterations, they were approved and Mr. Hjerstedt instructed to invite bids from contractors according to drawings and specifications. On Friday a number of letters were gotten off to various contracting firms.

Proposals, it is stipulated in the letter, must be in the hands of owners and architects before August 28, 1923. The contractor must furnish bond for the faithful performance of his contract and shall pay the premium on said bond.

Two separate proposals are requested. The first for a structure with four stories and a basement high. The second for a structure with an additional story added. Should the owners accept a proposal for the structure with an additional story, the architect will furnish revised drawings which will contain certain other changes.

Through the courtesy of Mr. Hjerstedt, the following description of the new hotel was prepared for The Wicomico News.

The exterior of the building will be of Adam period design executed in light colored terracotta and pressed brick. The lower portion will be all terracotta and the upper part will terminate in terracotta cornice. It will be strictly fire proof and constructed of steel and concrete.

The building will have a frontage of 64 feet 10 inches on Main street and 106 feet 2 inches on Division street. It will contain 73 guest rooms located on the 2nd, 3rd and 4th floors. It will also contain a Barber Shop, Billiard room, Cafeteria, Lobby, three stores, Dining and Banquet room, private dining rooms, kitchen, sample room, tailor shop etc., in addition to the necessary hotel service features. This main lobby is a beautiful room 25 feet 7 inches wide and 43 feet 6 inches long, 14 feet 10 inches high. Off this lobby will be located the main clerk, porter, cigar stand, check room, telephone booth, manager's office, ladies waiting room and toilet, and entrances to the stores. In connection with the office is also a vault.

The dining room will have a capacity for the seating of about 100 at tables. The dining room which is about 39 feet square and 12 feet high is arranged for sub-dividing by folding doors to provide accommodations for banquets and club affairs. The dining room as well as the lobby will have terrazzo floors and base, paneled wood wall and ceiling. The lobby and dining room will be treated in a very beautiful Adam period design.

There will be one store on the first floor at the corner of Main and Division streets, fronting 22 feet on Main street and 41 feet on Division. There will also be two other stores 20 feet wide by 40 feet deep on Main street. Stores to have entrance both from the sidewalk and from the hotel lobby. On the first floor is also located the kitchen, measuring about 24 feet x 34 feet providing space for a very efficient layout of kitchen equipment. The kitchen will be furnished with plenty of natural light and ventilation and is located accessible to dining room and cafeteria.

To the south of the building will be an open drive way affording access for receiving supplies and trunks, etc. Under this driveway is located a coal space through which the coal can be dumped directly from the trucks and ashes directly removed from the ash bunker. In the basement which is reached by a stairway directly from the street, another stairway from the lobby and the elevator, is located the cafeteria, a well equipped room 26 feet wide by 43 feet 6 inches long, tastefully decorated, which will accommodate the seating of 70 diners. In the basement is also located the barber shop, a room 20 feet by 30 feet, well lighted and ventilated. Also a billiard room 20 feet by 45 feet, accommodating four tables. In the basement is also located the public toilet, a tailor shop, store room for the stores, machinery room, boiler room, laundry, locker room and toilet for bath, linen store.

President Was Taken Sick On Thursday

Peculiar Illness Developed After Contracting Pneumonia In Alaska

President Harding left Washington on June 21st and after a trans-continental trip which included addresses in all the principal cities along the route to the western coast, the Chief Executive made a special tour into Alaska where he gained a great impression of the vast resources of that cold region.

It was Thursday, July 26th, that the President was taken sick and his illness was first attributed to a form of indigestion and intestinal poisoning after eating certain foods.

However, the President became more and more indisposed until finally his condition reached such a stage that his physicians ordered a rest and he was confined to a suite of rooms in the Palace Hotel. Headquarters were established here hurriedly last Sunday.

Beginning Wednesday, official bulletins issued by the attending physicians stated that the President was slowly but surely winning his way back to health and they told of steady progress.

The President awoke early Thursday morning after a refreshing sleep without any traces of fever whatever. His temperature at 8 o'clock was 98.5, his respiration 32 and his pulse 110, all reflecting improvement over the preceding day.

Mr. Walter Tilghman, Mr. Howard Ward, Mr. Marion V. Brewington, Mr. William M. Cooper and Mr. W. Denwood Mitchell, of this city, and Mr. Joseph Kolback, of Chambersburg, Pa., attended a dance in Denton on Wednesday evening given by Miss Elizabeth Cooper in honor of her house party.

HEBRON CAMP OPENS GATES ON SATURDAY

Daily Services Continue Until Sunday, August 12th—Program For Fall Term Is Announced—Music In Charge Of Professionals—Framing Only At Certain Periods.

The thirty-fourth annual Camp Meeting at Hebron will open on Saturday evening, August 4th. This camp which started in a very small way with only a few tents, is now the leading camp on the Eastern Shore. It has spacious, well-kept and shaded grounds, over thirty cozy cottages and a boarding tent which is famous for its fried chicken and all other tempting delicacies.

The first director of this camp was Rev. Mr. Cooper, who in 1890 had not the facilities to work with that are now used. Automobiles were not then in use. Now they carry thousands of happy folks to Hebron Camp Meeting Grounds, where they find comfort, rest, pleasure and spiritual refreshment awaiting them.

The camp of 1923 promises to be the best ever held in Hebron. It will be under the direction of Rev. Wm. Lyndon Hess, M. A., pastor of Nelson Memorial M. E. Church. A big feature of this camp will be the music as well as the able preaching. Prof. Samuel H. Orme, tenor soloist, of Brooklyn, N. Y., will again direct the music and he will be assisted by a large chorus choir. The organist will also be a professional in the person of Mrs. Wm. E. Cortelyou, of New Brunswick, N. J., who part of the time will be assisted by her husband, violinist. Sacred concerts will be given on each of the three Sunday nights.

The services of the camp will be held as follows:
Sunday, August 5th—10 A. M., Sunday School under the direction of D. I. Webster, Supt. 11 A. M., 2.45 P. M., Song Service. 3.00 P. M., Preaching by Rev. E. H. Marshall. 8.00 P. M., Sacred Concert.

This year in the opening of the Cambridge Fair, the first Fair to be held on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, Captain Williams expressed a desire for the Boy Scout aid. Dorchester County being without a Boy Scout Troop it was necessary to secure Scouts from the nearby Counties thus calling upon Troop No. 1, Sharptown of which D. C. Bennett is Scout Master and upon Troop No. 1, Preston of which J. O. Wright is Scout Master. The Boy Scouts are under the direction of the Scout Executive of the Eastern Shore Council Boy Scouts of America.

Four Persons Injured In Two Automobile Accidents On Sunday Last

TWO OF THE DRIVERS WERE SALISBURIANS

In Other Case Two Out-Of-State Drivers, After Paying Fine, File Counter Suits For Damages Sustained—Hearing Set For August 6 At Berlin.

In attempting to pass a car driven by W. T. Parker, of this city, near St. Martins on the Ocean City Road about 2.30 P. M. Sunday, Larry B. Morris, also of Salisbury, sideswiped with his car the other machine causing both to take up in a ditch and considerably damaging the Morris car as well as injuring the driver to the extent of several cuts about the body.

The smashup occurred, it is said, when Morris attempted to get between the Parker machine and a third car which he was meeting. Morris was tried before Magistrate T. Rodney Jones on Monday morning and fined $5 and costs on charges of reckless driving. The arrest was made by Corporal Emil Busch.

About 9 o'clock the same evening on the same highway about two miles from Ocean City another accident occurred in which the cars were driven by Virginia and New York people. For some reason both drivers, it is said, were trying to keep in the center of the road while meeting. The New York car was driven by W. E. Winger, Buffalo and the Virginia one by Harvey Flax, Exmore.

Mrs. Annie Flax, sustained bruises about the body while Miss Florence West, Dagsboro, Del., and Clarence Thoroughgood, passengers in the Winger car, were badly shocked and shaken up. All were treated by Dr. Charles Law, Berlin. Both drivers were taken before Justice Peters at Berlin and charged with failure to keep to right of center of highway and each fined $5 and costs. Both parties entered suit for damages and the warrants were served by Corporal Emil Busch, who made the arrests following the accident. The hearing of these cases was set for August 6, 3 P. M. Over $100 damages, it is reported, were done to the two cars.

SHARPTOWN SCOUTS AT CAMBRIDGE FAIR

Assist State Police In Directing Traffic At Dorchester Metropolis—No Scouts In That County.

When the Cambridge Fair opened Tuesday there appeared on the Fair Grounds two patrols of Boy Scouts, one from Caroline County the other from Wicomico County. They were assisted Captain Williams and the State Police in directing traffic and parking cars the herring-bone method.

Last year fifty Baltimore Boy Scouts went to Timonium Fair and offered their services to the State Police. The Police accepted and taught them the proper way in which to park cars and direct traffic. The boys were quick to learn and at the end of a week the Maryland State Police were loud in the praise of the Boy Scouts for their splendid assistance.

This year in the opening of the Cambridge Fair, the first Fair to be held on the Eastern Shore of Maryland, Captain Williams expressed a desire for the Boy Scout aid. Dorchester County being without a Boy Scout Troop it was necessary to secure Scouts from the nearby Counties thus calling upon Troop No. 1, Sharptown of which D. C. Bennett is Scout Master and upon Troop No. 1, Preston of which J. O. Wright is Scout Master. The Boy Scouts are under the direction of the Scout Executive of the Eastern Shore Council Boy Scouts of America.

Meeting Here Wednesday Was For Purpose Of Aiding Dollings' Peninsula Investors.

BANKS ARE BACKING PROTECTIVE MOVE

Another Meeting Will Be Held Here In About A Week To Which One Banker And One Shareholder In Company, Now In Receivership, Are To Be Invited.

Bankers and representative business men from the surrounding counties of Maryland and Delaware met here last Wednesday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce rooms and discussed plans relative to forming a Citizens' Protective Association to represent the great number of shareholders of the E. L. Dollings Company, now that the firm has gone into the hands of receivers.

The assembly decided to invite one banker and one prominent shareholder in the Dollings Company from each county on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Delaware to meet at another hearing to be held in about two weeks. This group, it is planned will then take up the question of presenting the claims of the many shareholders in this section to the proper officials. The members present will constitute the Citizens' Protective Association which will have the backing of the banks in local territory.

It is understood that a sum in the neighborhood of a million dollars has been invested with the Dollings Company by individuals on the Eastern Shore, and no little uneasiness has been stirred up by the announcement of the receivership action recently. District Manager C. Victor Mathews with headquarters in Easton, has written a letter to all of the shareholders in this territory assuring them that he and his corps of salesmen will do everything in their power to protect the investors in this district.

WHY WILL YE DIE?—As I live, saith the Lord God, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked. Turn ye, turn ye from your evil ways for why will ye die, O house of Israel?—Ezekiel 33:11.

PRESIDENT HARDING

This country receives with great sorrow and shock the death of President Harding. A scholar and a thorough gentleman he attained the coveted heights of President of the United States of America, only by painstaking diligence to the tasks before him and unfailing perseverance to the precepts taught him by his father. These admirable qualities were inculcated into his character even in the early days of his youth when he stood before the printer's table in a little shop in his own home town. His capacity was great and he soon began to climb upward in the eyes of the public that recognized sterling qualities in the man. He possessed in an eminent degree that human quality that wins the affection of the great masses of the common people of a country. A lovable man, a kindly soul, his passing causes sorrow to reign over nations as well as men. The Chief Executive of this great Nation knew how to lean on the wisdom of others, a quality tantamount to the possessing of great wisdom by himself. Chosen to lead his people in a period of stress and storm following the great World War, he dedicated himself to the task with that same degree of humbleness and constancy that won for him the respect of the voters in Ohio when he aspired to the State Senate. Unmindful of the attacks of enemies when he first assumed the control of government affairs, he fondled progressive moves carefully always keeping before him the image of the people whose destiny rested in his hands. Cool and resourceful he made his decisions firmly on all the outstanding problems of the day and never did he swerve from the narrow path of his convictions. He stood for law and order, peace and good will among men. He strove always to give the best that was in him. And he died on the cross of human service. "Greater love hath no man than this."

CITRUS ADVERTISING A SUCCESS.

The Florida Citrus Exchange is making an appeal to the growers of grape fruit to co-operate instead of compete in the marketing of their product, and states that the keynote of its success up to date has been found in newspaper advertising. Ten years ago, the exchange says, it started to educate the American housewives to the food and health value of grape fruit. To-day, as a result of newspaper advertising, one-fourth of the American people eat grape fruit. There remain, however, three-fourths of the people yet to be reached.

The potential market for the canned grape fruit alone is staggering to contemplate. The canning of grape fruit now has been perfected.

All that remains is to have the people told about it. The citrus exchange is to be complimented on its vision in seeing that only newspaper advertising can accomplish such mutually beneficial education. The housewives of every small town in the country will learn through advertising in their local newspapers all about grape fruit. Then everybody will profit.

UN KIAN POME—
Old Dobbin stood on a grassy knoll—in the shade of a friendly oak; with a look of disdain at the dusty lane, he sniffed at the gas and smoke—and, I couldn't swear that he shed a tear—but these are the words he spoke:

"Time was, when I went whizzin' by—with the sulky abast my heels. I raised a dust like a whirlwind, as I spun its resilient wheels. For, I was a steed that indulged in speed—the same as my daily meals.

"Then, my master proud, would jeer at the crowd, and flash his roll in their face... and he'd frequently state, that there weren't a skate in the county—or any place—that could pound the dirt in a two-mile spur, like me—in the trotting race!

"Now... my former boss has a benzine hoss—it's me for the curio lot! My tail shall grow for the fiddle bow—my hoofs for the vile glue-pot. And my glossy pelt—for a fat man's belt—It's embarrassing, is it not?"

BE BUSY.

You cannot test your muscle sitting still. You cannot find out what your brain can do by going to sleep. Repose is not a prodder to progress. Its proper place is after work, not before work. Work is for the living; rest for the dead. Be a live one.

It has often been said "Thou shalt work" should be one of the commandments of every religion.

Work is the noble yardstick by which we determine the worth of all things. It is the climax of God's gifts to man. It is a blessing, not a curse. Deprive a man of the right to work and you have imposed the superlative punishment, because man knows no joy or repose that is not found along the pathway of work.

The man who never does anything never knows anything. The man who never works never gets anything. He may be given things, but he can only again give. He knows no building game.

The traveled rail and the driving piston rod are polished by use. The idle piece of steel is red with rust. Better to wear out than to rust out.

History is the story of work, the record of achievements. In its index you cannot find the names of idlers. Contribute something to the history of something.

To know work as a friend is the hallmark of wisdom. It is by journeying through the shadows of life that we learn the solace of daily tasks. The tenderness that denies effort is cruelty. It makes characterless that which was endowed with strength.

Work is expression. If you can't express yourself one way, try another—but try. If you can't build a cathedral, dig a ditch. But do something.

Only workers win the world's respect. God does not hold us responsible for results; only for faithfulness.

Work was made for man, not man for work. He who fails at his task permits work to be his master. Success comes to him who is master of his work.

Work is so respectable that there is no one no matter how rich or lazy who does not at least pretend to work at something and who does not want to be known as a worker.

Work is the greatest educator. Tackle a job that is a little above you; grow to it and you engage in work. Tackle a job that is below you and you engage in drudgery. Put your heart into work and your labor becomes the light of life.

Work is the highway to human welfare.

Whenever you find a sudden or unusual increase in your bill, think—

Does some one in your family carelessly leave lights burning when not in use?

Have you had company recently, used extra guest rooms, entertained late in the evening?

Has there been sickness in the house?

Are the servants wasteful of current?

Have you added any new electric appliances to your home equipment?

Have you been reading several nights a week until early morning?

Have the days been dark and rainy?

Does the bill cover the same number of days as previous bills, with which you're making comparison?

READ YOUR METER REGULARLY—once a week if desired. Then you can check up during the month and see just when the maximum amount of current is consumed.

VALUES BOTTLE AT THOUSAND DOLLARS

Kentucky Man Enthusiastic Over Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup

Interest in Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is intense here and statements from all parts of the country prove that the preparation is indeed a blessing to mankind.

Among those who testified to its powers in the relief of indigestion, stomach troubles, constipation and rheumatism is L. J. Holland, of Candor, Pa., Somerset, Ky.

"I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for the good Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup did me. It's simply amazing," said Mr. Holland. "Why, before I took this prescription I was about as miserable a person as you ever saw. My stomach was all out of order and my food would sour and bloat me up with gas until I could hardly stand it."

"I had no appetite, and didn't relish what little I did eat, and I fell off in weight considerably. Sometimes my head would ache and I would have spells of dizziness that were so bad I could hardly stand up. But my worst trouble was rheumatism in my legs, and they would ache and hurt so at times that I just couldn't walk a step. I was badly constipated and I would get so nervous at times that any little thing would irritate me and get me all wrought up till I hardly knew what I was doing."

"Finally I was persuaded to try Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup and I never heard of anything fixing anybody up like this medicine did. It put me in mighty fine shape, I tell you, and all my troubles just seemed to disappear."

Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is sold with the distinct understanding that if it doesn't bring relief the purchase price will be returned. Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is sold in Salisbury by the L. D. Collier Drug Co.—Adv't.

NO DIVORCES IN WICOMICO DURING 1922

State Department Of Health Figures Accord This County Clean Slate.

DIVORCE RATIO IS 1/16
FOR THE ENTIRE STATE

Marked Increase In Separations Is Revealed For Period Of Last Six Years With Baltimore City Far In Lead—Cecil County Furnished Greatest Number Of Marriages.

Wicomico county should be proud of one record. According to figures compiled by the State Department of Health, this county along with Cecil Dorchester and Caroline showed no divorces for the year 1922. However, there were enough disturbances on the matrimonial seas within other counties in the State to bring the ratio of divorces to marriages up to a mark of 1/16.

Statistics just released show that during last year there were 22,928 marriages performed and 1,431 divorces granted. The city of Baltimore furnished 1,072 divorces or three times as much as the rest of the State combined. Hence comes the moral, live in the country if you want to preserve a happy union.

Allegheny leads the counties in divorces with 74, Frederick and Washington being next in order, with 62 and 50 respectively. There has been a marked increase in separations throughout the State since 1916 for that year witnessed but one divorce to every 21 marriages. In the six-year period the divorces have increased about 50 per cent., with a total increase of 2,531.

According to estimated figures the population of Maryland has increased only 8.29 per cent. between 1916 and 1922. One interesting feature of the report is the fact that Cecil county overtops the other Maryland counties by far in the number of marriages, the total for 1922 being 4,268. This is due probably to couples from other states regarding Elkton, its county seat as a Green Green.

ARMY PLANE FORCED DOWN NEAR BIVALVE

Safe Landing Effected In Blackberry Patch After Crank-shaft Snaps Over River.

PILOT BARELY MISSES HOUSES IN DESCENDING

But With Mechanic Escapes Injury And Plane Is Undamaged—Had Been 40 Minutes On Way From Aberdeen To Langley Field—Goes On To Get New Motor.

When the crankshaft on his motor broke in midair, flying over the Nanticoke River near Bivalve at an altitude of 2,600 feet, Lieut. B. M. Myers, attached to the 49th Aero Squadron at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, was forced to bring into play in order to land safely, every maneuver known to an aviator who wants to make a safe landing after his engine has gone dead a thousand feet or more in the air.

Lieutenant Myers found the downward glide hazardous, his plane barely missing two farm houses and finally dropping its nose into the soft earth of a blackberry patch on the farm of Mr.
George W. F. Insley near Bivalve.
The plane, luckily, was not wrecked and both pilot and mechanic escaped serious injuries.

The army flyer had left his hangar at the Aberdeen Proving Grounds at 12:40 mid-day Saturday on his way to Langley Field, Va., and 40 minutes later he found himself over the Nanticoke River and confronted with engine trouble. A few seconds later, the defective crankshaft snapped in to and a quick descent was in order.

Leaving his plane on Mr. Insley's farm in charge of the mechanic, Lieut.
Myers proceeded to Princess Anne and caught a train for Cape Charles where he took the ferry across to Norfolk. He expects to fly back in a few days in another plane bringing a new motor to replace the one in the fallen craft.

WICOMICO NEWS FIRST ON PRESIDENT'S DEATH

The first news of President Harding's sudden death on the West Coast last Thursday night was given out to people in this section by a special extra edition of THE WICOMICO NEWS which appeared on the streets of Salisbury before breakfast Friday morning. The News was the only paper on the Peninsula that rendered this service and its detailed account of the death of the Nation's Chief Executive "beat" by several hours the daily Baltimore and Philadelphia papers that reached the city. Copies of the EXTRA were rushed by automobile to Ocean City where hundreds were distributed to anxious readers at the seashore. To inhabitants along the way and in neighboring towns, The News carried the sad message.

LOCAL AUTO DEALER CONFUSED IN PLANS

Mr. Reese Gordy Goes To Philadelphia
For New Car—Instead Brings Back Bride.

"When is an automobile not an automobile?" "When it is a bride!" is the way one of Salisbury's hustling young distributors answered the question last week. Here is the way it all happened.

Mr. Reese Gordy, of the Gordy
Paige Co., left his garage and display rooms last week on a trip to Philadelphia to complete a motor car sale and to bring back to this city one of the latest models his firm is agent for in local territory.

But he and his traveling companion found another city along the route that proved far more inviting than the one of Brotherly Love and accordingly a brief and exciting stopover was made at Elkton, the city of matrimonial bliss.

The next day in the marriage license columns of the Elkton newspapers appeared the names of Mr.
Reese E. Gordy and Miss Ethel R.
Hearn. The happy couple returned home with intentions of keeping the union secret but the news "leaked out" and today they are receiving the congratulations of friends in this county.

The bride is the daughter of Mr.
Benjamin J. Hearn, of Willards.
While the courtship of the young auto Don Quixote has been constant for some time, no one dreamed of such a quick consummation of the ceremony. It is reported that Mr. Gordy will now have to make another trip to Philadelphia in order to carry out his original plan of bringing back a car, and it is expected this time that Elkton will not be included in the itinerary.

PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, God in His divine judgment has seen proper to remove from our midst, Warren G. Harding, President of the United States and

Whereas, we believe that the Nation should pay a last respect to our deceased President, and

Whereas, Calvin B. Coolidge, who is now our President has set apart Friday, August 10, for all people throughout the United States (who can possibly do so) to take notice and rejoice, from their regular routine of business.

Therefore, I, W. Arthur Kennerly, Mayor of the city of Salisbury, call upon all loyal citizens to show their respect as directed by our President either through prayer or some means devised to show their sorrow.

W. ARTHUR KENNERLY.

DIRECTORS OF "Y" SEEK NEW TYPE OFFICIAL

Resignations Of Secretary Ham-merslaugh And W. L. Boggs Leave Vacancy.

SUCCESSOR MUST TAKE UP TWO-FOLD DUTIES

Must Combine Physical Work With Tasks Of Executive—Ill-Health Forced Secretary Hammerslaugh To Leave Institution Which He And Assistant Boggs Developed.

Having accepted the resignation of H. W. Hammerslaugh, as General Secretary of the local Y. M. C. A., the Board of Directors have turned their attention to the securing of a successor. To this end, President Everett Williams at a recent meeting appointed as committee the following:
Ralph H. Grier, chairman, Walter S.
Sheppard and George P. Chandler.

Following close upon Secretary Hammerslaugh's resignation because of ill health came that of William L.
Boggs, physical instructor at the "Y," and capable assistant to Mr.
Hammerslaugh. Mr. Boggs is now on his vacation and is making a motor trip to South Carolina where his parents are.

It is the intention of the Board of Directors to supplant the officials who have resigned with an all-around Y. M. C. A. worker who would act in both the capacity of executive and director of the physical classes.

Within the next few days, the Committee appointed by President Williams will take up the matter of finding such an official.

The resignation of the "Y" secretary was received with a feeling of great regret by the members of the Board and a committee was appointed to draw up resolutions of appreciation for the services rendered by Mr. Hammerslaugh while assuming the duties of that organization in this city.

Coming to Salisbury when the organization of the Young Men's Christian Association was nothing more than a desire of a number of leading public spirited citizens, Mr. Ham-merslaugh succeeded in establishing since March 1, 1921, the present "Y" which ranks second in Maryland only to that of Baltimore city.

Through the co-operation of physical director Wm. L. Boggs, various gymnastic classes have been organized from the boys of eight or ten to the business men of 60 years and

MEMORIAL SERVICES TO BE HELD FRIDAY

In solemn reverence the people of Salisbury and vicinity will gather on Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock and in the form of an open-air memorial service will pay their last tribute to Warren G. Harding. The service will take place in front of the Farmers and Merchants' bank on Main St. and stores and business houses will close a few minutes before 4 o'clock in order to allow their employees to attend the occasion. There will be music and the throng present will sing a few hymns and probably "America." Dr. Leonard Wallis will lead in prayer, and Senator L. Atwood Bennett will deliver a short address. This ceremony was decided upon at a meeting of the merchants and business men in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Wednesday morning. E. S. Adkins & Co. will suspend work promptly at 4 o'clock and the members of that organization will gather for a brief service at the plant.
Other large manufacturers in the city are expected to follow in this example. Mayor Arthur Kennerly has issued a proclamation in which he requests the citizens of this community to halt business at 4 o'clock Friday and join in the service of mourning for the late President.

TYPHOID EPIDEMIC ON INCREASE IN COUNTIES

Local Health Authorities Urge Populace To Take Steps In Curtailing Fever's Activities

The typhoid fever menace in Wi-comico, Worcester and Dorchester counties is actually more far reaching in its prey upon humanity than the dreaded small pox plague of thirty years ago.

A majority of Salisbury citizens remember the terrible days when the boom of vaccination blotted the pest house out of existence. The scourge of small pox sweeping a community filled this isolated house of suffering to its capacity and the people sat helpless and unable to cope with the situation. The wonderful result of enforced vaccination has brought entire relief from this horror. Today a case of small pox is almost an impossibility. The pest houses have been sold, torn down or moved away. There will never be a necessity for them again.

But there is another plague draining our city and county of vitality and even life itself. Typhoid fever, more deadly in its scope than small pox, is on the increase in this locality.

In small pox the victim was practically normal again after two weeks and with the exception of a few scars he suffered no ill effect from the disease. In typhoid the illness lasts anywhere from five weeks to five months and the patient convalesces slowly, remaining for a long time in a weakened condition which often induces complications.

During this month the danger of typhoid fever infection is at its height in this county. Due to poor sanitary conditions, driven wells, the quality of much of the milk and the carelessness of people who will eat and drink food, water and milk away from home without first assuring themselves of its proper preparation the number of cases, up to the present time, have become alarming.

Effort is being made by the local physicians to induce all the people of the three counties to be vaccinated.
The State has provided free vaccine, which may be had by calling at the office of the Deputy Health Officer.

COMPANY I WILL PUT ON MINSTREL SHOW IN FALL

Col. A. W. W. Woodcock Makes Inspection Of Quarters At Saunders Range Encampment—High Scores Fired On Target Range This Year
By Members Of Militia.

The two weeks encampment at Saunders Range is drawing to a close. Governors Day, on August 11, with an athletic program, will about complete the activities enjoyed by the First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, of which Company "I" is a unit.

On July 29, réveille at 5:30 A. M. officially opened the regular program. At 9 A. M. the first inspection of quarters was made by the presential commander, Col. A. W. W.
Woodcock. The Church camp sounded at 10:30 A. M.

Much interest has been taken in the work done on the target range.
The record for the first week showed the best scores in the history of the regiment. Many distinguished men have visited the range among them Major-General Geo. B. Richardson, chief of the Militia Bureau at Washington. Baseball games between the different units have brought many victors, also.

Governors Day will be observed with an extensive program, at which time Governor Ritchie will be present and the Mayors of about 15 cities in Maryland. Major Carey Jarman of Baltimore will have charge of the athletics. Boxing and wrestling will be a feature of the day. With a regular review, demonstration and concert by the Evergreen overseas men.

Upon their return to Salisbury the Athletic Club of Company "I," under the direction of Dr. S. Norris Pil-chard will begin immediate preparations for a minstrel show to be produced early in the fall.

LOCAL DOCTORS URGE CARE AGAINST TYPHOID

In an official statement given to the press, the physicians of Wicomi-co county request their patients and the people of the community to become immunized against typhoid fever by early inoculations with the proper serum. Several cases of typhoid have been reported in the county and are daily increasing in number. Local doctors urge a most careful investigation of the milk and water supply. The notice to the public is signed by S. Norris Pilchard, who is secretary of the Wicomico County Medical Association.

BEST TOMATO PACKING SEASON IN FIVE YEARS CONFRONTS WICOMICO CANNERIES

Majority Of Packing Houses In County Will Soon Commence Operations With Large Acreage Practically All Contracted For—Labor Problem With Women Peelers Scarce.

Indications are that the best tomato packing season known in Wicomico for the past five years is now right at hand. From the best information obtainable it appears that about 20 of the 23 canneries in the county will operate for the approaching season and that operations will commence next week in earnest.

As the right now are in a good healthy condition, the acreage is the largest since possibly the year 1919 and insofar as the production is concerned there seems to be no fly in the ointment now. The only thing, it is predicted, which will retard the yield is a possible torrential rain or driving winds during the month of August which are not infrequent.

Pretty well all the acreage in Wi-comico County has been contracted for by the canners and the prevailing average price is 25c per 8-5 basket, factory delivered.

All crops of the Salisbury canneries will operate this year, it is said.
These belong to W. K. Leatherbury,
D. J. Elliott & Son, Halsey Brothers and the Hastings interests. The last named factory, located in South Salisbury, has been lying idle for the past several years but will be operated this season by J. E. Dulany & Son, Fruitland.

BAREFOOT BOYS ARE LOCKED UP IN AUTO THEFT

Charged With Williams' Garage Robbery And Other Jobs During Week.

WHILE LOOTING PLACE
BOYS WAIT ON PATRON

Politely Store Car For Salesman Who Knocks On Doors After Midnight Saturday Tell Him Proprietor Had Just Left—Accident On Ocean City Road Causes Arrest.

Prying open the back window of William Williams' garage on W.
Church street late Saturday night or early Sunday morning, two youths said to be Louis Collins, age 7 years and Laurence Jacobs, age 14, entered the garage. Then forcing their way into the office, the cash drawer was rifled of about $18.00.

Here they also secured a key to a Ford Coupe which they evidently had been working on to get started. The machine belonged to Mr. Carl Hilgon, of Baltimore. While in the midst of their plundering the boys were suddenly startled by the knocking of someone at the main entrance to the garage.

At this point, they showed their extreme nerve and daring by opening up the doors to the visitor who proved to be a traveling salesman for the Standard Oil Company who wanted his car stored for the night. Telling him that Mr. Williams had just left the garage for the night, the pair accepted the car for storage and bid goodnight to the customer.

Having succeeded in starting the Ford with the key secured from the front office the boys then proceeded to Ocean City and Millboro, De.
Mr. Williams had just left the theft early Sunday morning and reported it at about 9 o'clock to the local authorities and state police. About 11:30 one of the latter patrolmen, while on duty on the Ocean City road came across a Ford Coupe that had rammed another machine and was investigation found it to be the stolen car. He immediately arrested the two youths in it.

Later Mr. Williams identified them as being the two boys whom he had seen loitering about his place about 11 o'clock the night before. Upon further questioning the police connected the pair of youthful robbers with a series of other thefts that had been perpetrated that week. Among the places entered was Pete's Fruit Store on Division street and a freight car on the Church street siding.

Elimination Dance Won By Salisbury

Mr. Dave Ward And Miss Margaret Skinner Are Lucky Couple At Popular Beach Event

Surviving a list of more than 125 dancing couples, Mr. Dave Ward of this city won the Elimination Dance at the Pimlico Hotel, Ocean City, last Saturday night. Mr. Ward's partner was Miss Margaret Skinner, of Cambridge, and as first prize was presented the lucky couple a great cheer went up from the throng of spectators.

The nightly dances at the Pimlico are proving very popular with Salisbury's younger set, many of whom are frequent visitors to the popular Casino. The Danzants afterwards in the Grill are also big drawing cards. Glynn Morris, quintet of syncopating melodists are said to be better this season than last and the Baltimore musician and his "gang" are bigger favorites than ever.

THIRTY-FOURTH CAMP MEETING AT HEBRON HAS AUSPICIOUS OPENING

Camp Committee Provides A Splendid Setting For Event
Saturday Night.

LARGE CONGREGATION AT SUNDAY SERVICES

Attractive Musical Programs Together With Forceful Sermons By Well-Known Ministers Please Worshipers Who Assemble In Spite Of Threatening Weather.

Saturday evening, August 4, marked the opening of the thirty-fourth Camp Meeting of the Hebron Church under the auspices of the Nelson M. E.
Church, of Hebron, of which the Rev.
W. L. Hess is pastor. The Camp Committee has again proven their ability to get things done by the numerous improvements evidenced, especially the rearing of the grounds and the consequent splendid illumination at night.

Samuel H. Orme, of New York, is again the Music Director and already by the superior knowledge of his vocation and the jolly way he has of dealing with the public, has organized a choir of singers that are truly the "Singers in Zion."

The tents present a sight pleasing to look upon, their decorations and arrangements for comfort were never better, showing the increasing interest of the tenters.

The Candy Tent in charge of the general Sunday School Superintendent, David Webster, has in store ample to supply the tastes of the most select while the boarding tent is again in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Sheward Culver who know how to tempt and satiate the inner man of those who may think they are the most dyspeptic.

The Pastor has evidenced his good judgment in selecting the ministerial force for this season, a full list of which with the dates of their service will be found in the program booklets wherein is found not only the program of the Camp but also the ads of the leading business enterprises of Salisbury and Hebron. In spite of the im-mlement weather for the opening scheduled for Saturday night there was a goodly assemblage of folks.

Sunday morning marked the real opening of the Camp. The attendance was much above the average and was distinguished by the presentation to the infant class of a birthday collection box by Mrs. Carl Messick and daughter, Rosalind. By the time for the morning sermon a good congregation had gathered to hear an exposition of the word by a former pastor, the Rev. E. H. Marshall, of Mt. Pleasant, Del. At 2:45 P. M., a Song Service was held by Prof. Orme under whose leadership the congregation was well prepared to listen to the sermon delivered by Rev. Walter G. Barlow, of Smith's Island, Md.

The evening program arranged by Prof. Orme was the climax of the opening days services and though in the early evening a thunder shower threatened to hinder the Grand Sacred Concert there was assembled approximately 2500 people by eight o'clock.

The committee is especially fortunate this year in obtaining the services of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. E. Cortelyou, of New Brunswick, N. J., musicians. Mr. Cortelyou is an accomplished violinist whilst his wife will officiate at the organ thru the entire camp. Mrs. Cortelyou has that rare ability of efficiently play any selection placed before her and to accompany any singer or instrument played in such manner as will give the best expression to the radiation. The following is a sketch of the first Sunday evening Grand Sacred Concert.

Organ Prelude, Mrs. Wm. E. Cortelyou; Opening Hymn, Congregation;

FRANK M. TRAVERS

The death of Captain Frank M. Travers, which occurred at his home in Nanticoke, Friday, July 27, shocked the community removing from its midst one of Nanticoke's most prominent citizens.

Captain Travers had been an invalid for more than a year and death came as a welcome relief from his suffering. He was 68 years of age and was a son and eldest child of Mrs. Margaret and the late Edward Travers, well known friends throughout the county, for by the charm of his personality, he made friends of all who came in contact with him. Visitors to his home were always found a welcome handshake and smile of welcome and his family life was an ideal one.

Capt. Travers will be greatly missed, not only in the home, but in the M. E. Church, of which he was a member and a large contributor, and also will be missed in the community, for "Capt. Frank," as he was famously called, was always ready to give his time and money for anything that was for the interest of his home town or county. In politics he was a Republican, and while he never held any office, he was active in the interests of his party.

About 35 years ago, Capt. Travers married Miss Sarah E. Taylor of Salisbury, who survives him, with three children. One son, Mr. Robert E. Travers, and two daughters, Mrs.
Levin Walter of Baltimore and Miss Rose Travers. He is also survived by his mother who is 91 years of age and the following brothers and sisters: Messrs. William S., Geo. H. and James R. Travers, and Mrs. W. E.
Elliot, Mrs. Harry Douglas and Mrs.
J. Ware Willing.

RUTH ISABEL HORSMAN

Sadness entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elrick Horsman, when their little daughter, Ruth Isabel, age 20 months was called to the great beyond. Only Monday little Isabel spent the day happily playing with her little brothers, and Friday was claimed by death, after suffering the dreaded disease cholera infantum.

Little Isabel was greatly loved by all who knew her and will be sadly missed, for she was a child of unusual softness and gentleness. Just a little sunbeam in the home, always cheerful and happy.

Funeral services were held at the home by Rev. Van Blunk, and the little remains were laid to rest in Parsons Cemetery, Salisbury. The pall bearers were four little cousins, Virgil and Augusta Horsman and Iris Inley and Margaret Anderson.

OLIVIA ELLIS HASTINGS

Mrs. Olivia Ellis Hastings, of Delmar, died Friday evening, August 5, after an illness of several days, although she had been in poor health several months. Mrs. Hastings, who was 75 years old, was born in Delmar and was the wife of Levin Hastings of that city.

The funeral services were held from her late home Monday afternoon at 9:00 o'clock and conducted by Elder Claude Kerr.

Mrs. Hastings is survived by her husband, Levin Hastings, two sons, Theodore and Chauncey Hastings, and three sisters, Mrs. Frazier Hillott, Mrs. Joseph Beach, of Delmar and Mrs. R. Horsey of Laurel.

JENNIE ANN COOPER

Mrs. Jennie Ann Cooper, wife of William W. Cooper, near Laurel, died after a lingering illness of several weeks at the age of 69 years, on Thursday night of last week. She had been in failing health for some months and death was not unexpected. She leaves besides her husband, two sons, Holland Cooper, of Laurel, and L. Wesley Cooper, of Baltimore, three daughters, Mrs.
Samuel G. Ralph and Miss Addie
Cooper, of Laurel, and Mrs. Edna Parker, of Philadelphia. She also leaves three sisters: Mrs. Isaac E.
Bennett, Mrs. George E. Bennett, and Mrs. Nannie E. Adams of Sharp-town. Severn H. Cooper, of Mardela Springs, is a half brother. She was the daughter of Levin and Julia A.
Cooper. She was a very good woman, kind and loving in the home, a faithful wife, a true, devoted mother.
She leaves a large number of friends and relatives to mourn the death of one they loved. She was a devoted member of Mt. Herman Methodist Protestant church at Columbia, Del., and the pastor, Rev. W. C. Mumford preached the funeral at the late home on Saturday afternoon where hundreds of people gathered to pay the last tribute to a friend, a neighbor and a relative to many. After the remains were reviewed and sermon over, the remains were taken to the Laurel Hill Cemetery for interment.

In addition to all the other attrac-talls that will cavort around the half mile oval this year are said to be thoroughbreds who have stepped the roste in fast time, and some exciting finishes are looked for, with competitions close in the different events.

The prospects for entrants in these events, which take place, daily, are better than for the past several years. The entry list for horses closes next Tuesday. Motorcycle races will be a feature on the last three days of the fair, the management having booked some crack cyclists for these events.

The entry list for the fair exhibits will close next Thursday, August 16.
Many local business concerns have contracted for booth space on the grounds, and their exhibits this year will be very interesting.

Advice to Milk Consumers

Buy only Best Milk Obtainable—
It's the Cheapest in the Long Run

Consult your physician before selecting your milk dealer.

Pasteurized Milk keeps sweet longer than raw milk.
Bacteria increase rapidly in milk that is not pasteurized.
Remember that clean milk properly handled and pasturized is the only safe milk to use, as all the disease germs are destroyed by the pasteurizing process.

Use Holly Brand Pasteurized Milk and take no chance.

Something Money Cannot Buy

There is one thing in every line of endeavor that money cannot buy and that is Good-will. However, anyone can obtain this precious element in business who will but adhere to the practice of honest merchandising.

You Too, Will Agree that the Good-will enjoyed by the Delaware Army and Navy Stores Co. is well deserved. For from our very beginning we have always striven to sell quality products at the lowest prices consistent with good quality, together with unfailing courtesy and prompt service.

Work!

NO matter how hot the day, how heavy the bearing pressure or how tight the clearances between moving parts, put the right consistency of Polarine into your motor and it absolutely does the work—holds its body and maintains a firm, elastic oil cushion that keeps the metal surfaces safely apart. Three consistencies of Polarine, all of the same outstanding quality, take care of differences in motor design. Pick the right one from the Polarine chart and you can depend on its high-class work.

Polarine flows quickly—low temperatures or high—spreads evenly over wearing surfaces—outwears inferior oils, yet is reasonably priced by the gallon and costs much less by the mile. Years of experience the world over have taught us to combine easy flow, positive work, long wear and low mileage cost and give you Polarine for absolute lubricating satisfaction.

JESUS THE HEALER:—Now when the sun was setting, all they that had any sick with divers diseases brought them unto him; and he laid his hands on every one of them, and healed them.—Luke 4:40.

HONOR THE DEAD.

Solemn thoughts dwell upon the minds of every citizen in Salisbury and Wicomico county as this section joins with other parts of this great land of ours in deep mourning for Warren G. Harding who gave his life in serving the American people as their President. He died on the field of duty as he conceived it, and he has earned the honor that belongs to the soldier who falls on the field of duty.

Starting to the people living here was the message that came from San Francisco on the black wings of last Thursday night. The unexpected summons of our President to the dark chambers of death imparted a sensation of mental shock that soon widened to nervous wonder at the uncertainty of life and then aroused sympathy for the official who had answered the Master's call.

Every man and woman was sharply reminded once more of the ancient but painful platitudes that death is no respecter of persons, of youth or age, of human convenience or human plans; that as Horace phrased it, he approaches with impartial foot the castle as well as the cottage, and raps upon the doorway of each with the same relentless hand. This sudden blow today causes us to ponder for a moment, at least, the old problem and mystery of life and death.

Warren G. Harding was a good man. His intentions were always good. His very vacillations disclosed the doubt of a conscientious mind working its way through a maze of diversant interests and opinions. The Chief Executive of this great Nation knew how to lean on the wisdom of others, a quality tantamount to the possessing of great wisdom by himself. He took his great magistracy with unusual seriousness. The great power and eminence of the office and its overwhelming responsibilities developed in him almost a religious sense of responsibility and fear of error.

He was the sort of man the American people love to raise from the farm and the workshop to the highest office in their gift. The story of his life offers inspiration to those American boys, who like him, are the products of the farm. As tillers of the soil, they are also sowers of great fortunes and in their daily tasks they walk hand in hand with Opportunity. It is their privilege to make use of this wonderful power. Imbued with the highest of ideals, aroused by the mightiest of ambitions, the boy on the farm finds as door closed to him, not even the portals of the White House.

Warren G. Harding's life of service will be eulogized by historians. For by perseverance and faithful dedication to the tasks ahead of him, he mounted steadily the steps of the ladders of Success. His rise was not brilliant but magnificent, not spectacular but noteworthy. People acclaim him "Great" because he was inspired by the truest motives and he stood firm by his convictions. He possessed in an eminent degree that human quality that wins the affection of the great masses of the common people of a country. He strove to give the best that was in him for their sake. "Greater love hath no man than this."

WARREN G. HARDING.

(Editorial in the Baltimore American.)

No man ever achieved the Presidency so free of enemies, political or otherwise. It is not too much to say that on the day of his inauguration President Warren Harding possessed in a higher degree perhaps than any President elected in generations the good will and wishes of everybody.

Nothing that he ever did aroused envy or malice or hatred, or the slightest doubt of his good intentions. He had no taste for conflict, no enjoyment of a fight for fighting's sake; he desired to do right and he hoped to satisfy everybody by his performance.

His innate modesty and good will disarmed criticism; his incorruptible integrity inspired confidence and love; his indefatigable industry won respect; his gratefulness and loyalty to all who rendered any service to him or worked with him elicited affection.

He had the admirable trait of standing by friends through thick and thin, even at the risk of sacrificing himself. He loved people and animals. He was utterly devoid of egotism or self-will and in competition for public honors or preferment he attacked no adversary with bitterness. He flinched from no man's honors and lessened no man's opportunities.

A deep vein of natural piety, a sort of Christian humility, underlay Warren Harding's character. This note of reverence was sincerely shown when, on the night of his election, as his friends and neighbors came crowding into his house to express their joy and pride in him, he said, soberly, that instead of offering their congratulations he hoped they would "pray to God to make me capable of the great task and worthy of the trust confided to me."

The experience of this nation has happily repeatedly proved that the office of President purifies and ennobles the man raised to that shining eminence. We can think of no President who could be justly charged with willful want of patriotism or of the vulgar forms of dishonesty. However turbulent their political lives may have been before their rise to our chief magistracy, yet in that purifying altitude no one ever charged their errors to anything worse than mistake or lack of courage.

President Harding will go down in history as a good man who tried to do his duty as he saw it. He was not a flaming torch in ability or genius. His brief administration of two years and five months will leave few, if any, permanent monuments of reform or progress. He was careful, conservative, ever willing to compromise when doubt prevailed, and he preferred the well-beaten, approved path to any other.

BUYING POWER IN SMALL TOWNS.

Politicians who doubt where the strength of America lies should examine the report made from a survey of thirteen north-central states in relation to farm and town trade.

It is found that in towns of 2,000 or less population, the farm trade represents about 76 per cent of the total. In dry goods it represents 80 per cent; in hardware 85 per cent; in building material 80 per cent; in furniture 70 per cent, and in clothing 68 per cent.

Automobiles are sold in these small towns to the extent of 80 per cent of total consumption. These figures are startling and they run only slightly lower in towns of from 2,000 to 25,000. The small town consumption is more than fifty per cent in every line.

This survey shows where the market lies for American manufactured goods. It emphasizes again the importance of national legislators looking after the interest of the farmer. The farmer is awakening to a sense of his strength politically and economically. Unless he receives more serious consideration he is likely to prove a troublesome factor.

The writing is on the wall. Politicians both in the states and in the nation should keep their ears to the ground. The voice of the home town is well worth listening to.

GOOD ROADS AND COMPETITION.

Community building is beset with more puzzling problems than one might suppose. Perhaps one of the most difficult of solution being the problem created by the "extension" of good roads.

The world admits good roads spell the development of America, the spread of education and a better understanding among neighbors. There has been much difference of opinion, however, as to whether villages are first built by stores attracting residents or by increasing residents attracting stores. Whichever theory may be correct the fact remains that the growth of any community depends very largely on the prosperity of its trading section.

Some villages are so situated geographically that good roads simply open up an easy avenue for trade to go out of town. Then there is an element of danger in such thoroughfares which must be balanced of course by the advantages derived by the farmer.

The lesson of course is obvious. The extension of good roads never can be halted, nor is it wise that they should be. But their building means that local merchants must come to know more of merchandising, that they must take the home-town folks more into their confidence and show them conclusively they can trade at home advantageously.

The competition in the small town is not between storekeeper and storekeeper, but between town and village, between city and town. The little fellow has his place, but he must be awake to his responsibility.

Calvin Coolidge And His Views

It is popular in Washington, among politicians, to speak of Mr. Coolidge as "that midget statesman." There is complaint that he does not know how to "mix," that he is reticent and silent, that none can carry on a conversation with him, that he is irritable and impatient, that he is narrow in vision and that he did not stand fast, of his own accord, in the Boston police strike, but that a few strong friends had virtually to force him to hold the Police Commissioner. "Why, nobody knows where he stands on anything. What are his views on coal? Has he ever heard of a railroad crisis? He will need strong men about him to show him what to do."

Fortunately, we are able to present an accurate view of the new President, and it will be very reassuring to those who value stability, law and order, sureness in national policy and ability in administration. Mr. Coolidge is a silent man only in throngs and among strangers. When with his intimates and men of trusts, there is no freer talker. He detests mere words. As a celebration in Massachusetts, a learned Senator spoke for two hours. Governor Coolidge spoke for nine minutes and said more. His friends call him "the man of destiny." His pithiness is remarkable. In his published book there are forty-three speeches in 272 pages, large type. His campaign address at Faneuil Hall, November 4, 1918, contained less than 500 words. "I am responsible for what I have said and what I have done. I am responsible for what my opponents say I have said or say I have done." He uses Anglo-Saxon words, the shortest that he can find, and rarely does he meet a problem which he cannot visualize in a few short sentences.

An idea of Mr. Coolidge's views on a few important issues may be given in his own words: "Big Business." As the little red schoolhouse is built in the college, it may be that the fostering and protection of large aggregations of wealth are the only foundation on which to build the prosperity of the whole people. Large profits mean large pay rolls. But profits must be the result of service performed. In no land are there so many and such large aggregations of wealth as here; in no land do they perform larger service; in no land will the work of a day bring so large a reward in material and spiritual welfare.

Prosperity. The people cannot look to legislation generally for success. Industry, thrift, character, are not conferred by act or resolve. Government cannot relieve from toil. It can provide no substitute for the rewards of service. Self-government means self-support. There can be no remedy for lack of industry and thrift. No scheme of Government aid is likely to make us all prosperous.

Service. No person was ever honored for what he received. Honor has been the reward for what he gave.

Strikes. There is no right to strike against the public safety by anybody, anywhere, any time.

Outlook. The outlook is that President Coolidge will be a severe disappointment to those who are confident of his weakness. A careful study of his character and tendencies indicates a probable course of events somewhat as follows:

(a) Mr. Coolidge detests disloyalty. He will not be patient with "blacks" and the party ranks. He will make Administration programs tests of party affiliation.

(b) Mr. Coolidge is a pronounced advocate of military and naval preparedness.

(c) Mr. Coolidge has been in public life since he left college. He is a shrewd politician. He has not forgotten how some Massachusetts politicians, still prominent in public life, sought "to betray him" at Chicago. The idea that he will not be a candidate to succeed himself is far-fetched. On the contrary, every appearance is that he will force issues before Congress and by action make a platform that will leave no doubt as to where he stands, and on which the Republican party will have to stand or fall. Progressive circles are quite sure of this and their thought is that they will have to nominate a third ticket. The really formidable opponent to Coolidge will not be Hiram Johnson. The two men who loom large are Pinchot of Pennsylvania, and Kenyon of Iowa. Mr. Coolidge, by next summer, will everywhere be recognized as the exponent of the Conservative viewpoint in America, and he will put more virility behind Conservatism than it has experienced in a long time. What is termed the lack of loquacity in Mr. Coolidge is compensated for by the charm of Mrs. Coolidge, who has a wonderful faculty for making friends. Nobody will "control" Mr. Coolidge, though politicians insist he is to have a "Coolidge House" in the person of Mr. F. F. Stearns, of Boston.

Par Clearance: The Executive Committee of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System on Wednesday unanimously recommended to the Federal Reserve Board the prompt rejection of the Claiborne check collection plan. The Reserve Board declined to accept this recommendation, but by resolution decided to refer both the plan and the Governors' recommendation to the Federal Advisory Council, at its next meeting. As reported to Mr. Adams, the Governor entered four major objections, that the plan would (a) create a fictitious reserve; (b) would mean an abandonment of par clearance and cost business 100 millions a year; (c) would increase the float 300 millions and encourage even the most honorable bankers to engage in it; (d) cause a reduction in the reserve ratio and in the actual reserves. Proponents of the plan explain that these objections could readily have been answered had the opportunity been given. The Governors recommended indefinite postponement of the recalled Regulation J and advised that collection of checks from banks not clearing at par by indirect agents be abandoned. The interests represented by Mr. Claiborne and Mr. Adams will probably have a member bank promptly

Scenic Beauty
of the Poconos

DELAWARE WATER GAP—POCONO MOUNTAINS

You may have reveled in the pleasures of a vacation at the seashore—perhaps traversed the Allegheny Mountains of Western Pennsylvania and marveled at their impressive grandeur but if you have never visited the Delaware Water Gap or roamed amid the scenic beauties of the upper Delaware River or enjoyed a restful vacation at some one of the famed resorts of the Pocono Mountain Region you have a rare treat in store for you.

Every mile of the journey is a vision of scenic delight. From Trenton, N. J., the Pennsylvania Railroad follows the winding course of the Delaware River, whose bosom is dotted with verdant isles and shores fringed with majestic mountains, lofty cliffs and densely wooded slopes.

The Delaware Water Gap is a colossal gorge hollowed out of the rock by the waters of the Delaware River, with Mount Tammany and Minnie, towering as portals 1600 feet on either side. Here hotels and boarding houses provide abundant facilities for comfortable vacations for all classes.

Beyond with Stroudsburg as the gateway lie the Pocono Mountains, some 300 square miles of slopes and plateaus rising to altitudes of nearly 2000 feet with splendid hotels, pure water, dry pine, invigorating air and with such delightful spots as Mt. Pocono, Buck Hill, Tobyhanna, Cresco, Dingman's Ferry, Bushkill, Buck Hill Falls, Pocono Summit and a myriad of others of equal merit, to conjure up pleasant memories and contribute to an indescribable atmosphere of relaxation and pleasure.

A vacation in the mountains of the Pocono Region or at the Delaware Water Gap for the late summer or early autumn, amidst forest, stream or lake, will prove restful, invigorating, delightful.

Wealey T. Selby and Miss Carrie McAbee of Sharptown were married at noon in that town in the Methodist Protestant church at noon by Rev. W. C. Mumford in the presence of a large number of friends and guests. On the arrival of the wedding party Charles Windsor sang to the delight of all present the solo "O, Promise Me." Miss Florence Covington played the wedding march. Mr. Irving Covington was best man. Prof. W. Gorman Mann and Doctor Howard S. Bennett were ushers. Misses Erma Smith of Salisbury and Myrtle McAbee of Baltimore were the bridesmaids. The ring ceremony was used and was performed beneath a beautiful flower arch. After the ceremony a full course dinner was served at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Martha McAbee, to a large number of guests. After the meal was served the happy couple motored to Salisbury and took the train for Atlantic City. They left beneath showers of rice and the merry boys were in evidence. Mr. and Mrs. Selby returned home Saturday and are occupying their home on Water street. Mr. Selby is manager of the Pure Food Store and the bride is an accomplished violinist and for some time has been a very popular instructor and has had large classes for instruction in music at home and the nearby towns and villages.

THE AUGUST FURNITURE SALE

The hospitality of one's home is expressed in the living room. If the room is inviting it is a success. One can easily picture the stiff black haircloth chairs of the past generation that one did not sit in very long before they were tired of sitting. Then we can easily picture the comfortable Davenports and Rockers of the previous period—the ones that grandmother used to sit in and knit the socks for the family. Grandmother's chairs were slightly clumsy but comfortable—the chairs and settles of the later day were neat and dainty, but oh! how uncomfortable.

Today we have the comfortable living-room Suites that were so popular during the period of comfortable living with the neatness of the later period. Good substantial overstuffed suits that one can sink into and relax, some have reversible loose cushions which are stuffed with soft down, some have spring arms that are as broad as a chair seat itself. All have spring backs.

The August Sale of Furniture offers complete satisfaction in the problems that beset one in making an inviting living room—and at a lower scale of prices. For instance:

$250.00 Three-piece overstuffed Suits in Taupe Velour	$210.00
Spring Arm and backs. Chair, Rocker and Davenport. Reversible loose cushions.
$175.00 Three-piece Cane Back Mahogany Suite	$145.00
Chair, rocker and davenport, in walnut colored velour.
$200.00 Three-piece cane back suite in blue velour	$165.00
This suite contains the same pieces as the above. Has four large pillows to match.
$175.00 Three-piece suite in fine tapestry	$125.00
This Suite has an exceptionally large davenport—80 inches long. Fireside Chair and Rocker.

AN EXCEPTIONAL WICKER SUITE.

$285.00 Gold-Black Suite of 5 pieces, covered in tapestry	$235.00
Large davenport, chair, rocker, table and lamp.
A High Grade Suite.

Be A Good Neighbor

Well-painted houses and well-kept homes make a more desirable neighborhood in which to live.

Good paint is an economy as well as a sign of thrift. It stops depreciation and increases the value of the whole property. Lewis Dutch Boy White Lead and pure linseed oil have stood the test of time and wear.

August for many reasons is the best month for painting.

Build Now---Lumber Prices Are Right

FROM the viewpoint of service to the community, we have found it necessary to acquaint the public with the facts concerning the price of lumber. Sensational stories have been circulated playing up the reported postponement of large building projects, because of cost of material and labor. On account of these exaggerated stories the average uninformed citizen gives credence to the statement that lumber prices are as high as they have been at any time. Naturally he figures, if lumber prices are at their peak, the logical course is for him to wait until they come down.

The fact is lumber prices are not at their high point, but at the most conservative estimate are twenty-five to thirty-five per cent below the peak price of 1920. This is not theory but fact.

We are doing our share to Stabilize the Construction Program and keep the costs down

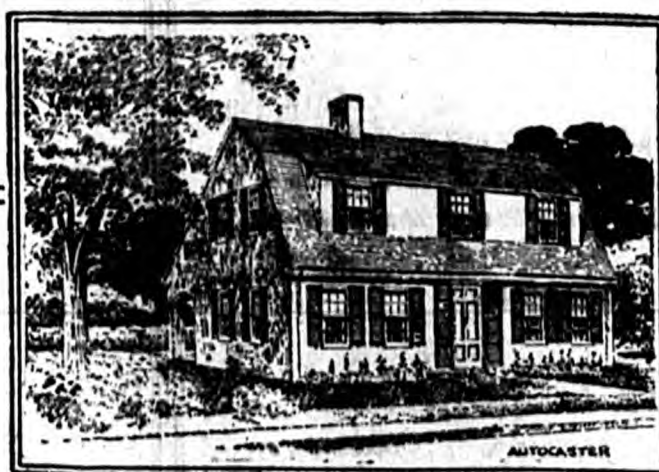

A completed house is composed of many commodities. The lumber content of a frame dwelling, although by far the largest as regards volume, is as a matter of fact, in money expenditure less than forty per cent of the total cost at the present time.

The Home of your dreams is pictured in one of our books showing plans for 350 "Better Built Homes." Tell us the type of house you want. We have the plan for your approval.

Political Announcements

Announcement

Some time ago I announced publicly to the democracy of Wicomico County my candidacy to succeed myself as State's Attorney. For the reasons then stated, my announcement had purposely been delayed until such time that I felt I could no longer ignore what I believed was a popular demand for a continuance of my services. For some time before making my decision, I was repeatedly urged to become a candidate by my friends and law-abiding citizens in general from all sections of the county. I accepted their request only when I became convinced that it was upon the grounds of public welfare and not upon any personal consideration for myself. My past record is before you and while in the past few years the criminal work of the county has greatly increased in volume, there has never been a time when I did not devote myself to the duties of this important office wholeheartedly. This explains why during my incumbency, grand juries have never been kept in attendance longer than 4 days during a term of court and have often been discharged in three days. This has effected an enormous saving to the taxpayers of our county. In addition, I might add that all expenses in connection with the prosecution of all the duties of my office have been paid by me personally, and at no time have our County Commissioners been billed for any of the same, whether it was gasoline, traveling expenses within the state, telegrams, telephone or postage. It is a matter of considerable gratification to me to feel, as I do, that my announcement has been received so favorably throughout the county by our leading and law-abiding citizens who have so generously tendered me their support, without any solicitation whatever, and I can only add that in the event of my re-nomination and election, I shall take pride, as in the past, in giving our people the best that is within me. Respectfully yours, CURTIS W. LONG.

COUNTY CLUB GIRLS RETURN FROM CAMPING

Worcester And Wicomico Members Back From Week's Camp At Connard's Landing.

DEMONSTRATION AGENTS STAGE GOOD PROGRAM

Visitors Days Draw Big Crowd—Exhibits Of Girls Are Admired—Representative From University Of Maryland Extension Service Assists In Work Of Instruction.

During the week of July 23rd there were forty-four H Club girls from Worcester and Wicomico counties camping at Connard's Landing with their "Home Demonstration Agents, Miss Lucy Walter and Miss Florence Mason.

The camp trip comes as an award to club members who have been doing good work through the year in canning, sewing, baking, or poultry. Each days program was a busy one and all worked together with will to make "the best better" as the National Club motto expresses it. The program was as follows: 6:30 Breakfast; 9-12 class work; 12:30 dinner; 1:30-2:30 rest hour; 3-4:30 bathing; 4-5 games; 5:30 supper; 6:30 vespers; 7:30 story hour; 9:00, bed; 9:30, lights out.

The meals were planned and prepared entirely by the girls and all were eager for their turn to come and to help in the kitchen. The menu for one meal prepared was roast chicken, baked potatoes, stewed tomatoes, pickled beets, and chocolate blanc mange.

The suppers were picnic lunches out on the hillside cooked over an open fire in true Indian style.

Every evening the camp fire was lighted in solemn silence and a simple vesper service held, bringing new inspiration and vision for greater service.

The girls were very happy to have Laura Amos from the Maryland University with them. Miss Amos is employed by the Extension Service to assist with club camps in the State. Having been in club work about eight years, she has a heart full of love and enthusiasm for the work. They were no less fortunate in having Miss Dorothy Emerson, State Girls' Club Agent with them.

Visitors Day was held on Friday and early on the morning all the girls were busy making things ready for their guests with true Eastern Shore Hospitality. There were about 100 people gathered together representing the three counties, Worcester, Wicomico, Somerset. Everyone was interested to see the camp headquarters, the kitchen group at work preparing meals, and 40 neatly made straw beds and the fine exhibit of sewing wax ornaments and tied dyed handkerchiefs made by the girls.

Two club members gave a little poultry play giving a brief lesson on the culling of chickens. Mr. W. H. Rice, specialist in poultry from the Maryland University spoke more at length on the subject.

The nearest entitled the Spirit of Club Work was given by all the club members. The story pictures a little girl who has never been a club member learning from the Spirit of Club what all it can mean to the boys and girls of today. After a picnic lunch on the shore all gathered together under the trees for evening vespers led by Fred Bull, county club leader for Worcester.

At the close of this inspirational service Mr. E. G. Jenkins, State Boys' Club Agent was called upon by club members to take charge of the program. Mr. Jenkins together with four of the older club members held a very impressive candle ceremony, giving to each Home Demonstration Agent a bundle of tiny candles that each club girl and boy present might have the light of club service in their hearts throughout the coming year. The club folks, old and young are looking forward to a more successful club year with a happy reunion in 1924 at Worcester-Wicomico Camp.

EASTERN SHORE LEAGUE FLASHES

By "DIAMOND."

"Steamer" Stanley pitched one of his best games in Shore baseball last Tuesday at Crisfield when he let the Crabbers down with only a brace of safeties.

Lefty Hearn in the same game proved to his admirers that he still carries a few Ruthian swats in his trusty willow. Sent in to take Phil's place in the right garden, Lefty in his first trip to the pan caught one of Smokey Joe Klingeborger's low fast ones and sent it sailing over the right field fence.

Pushing McDonald hard for Babe Ruth honors on the Shore diamonds is Toby Tolson, the husky first-sacker with the Salisbury club. His recent string of five circuit clouts in as many days showed the hard-hitting White Cloud within one blow of the leader who has garnered 15.

Old Jupiter Pluvius made his initial serious interference of games in the league and as a result double-headers will soon appear on the sport-cards for the fans in the various towns. Salisbury rooters have not had a "two for the price of one" attraction this season and President Ruark can count on a monster crowd vending its way to Gordy Park, the very first afternoon a bargain bill is announced.

There is no use denying the fact that the dropping out of the league of the Milford Club is cutting deep into the club treasures. Two open dates every two weeks for each of the other teams is a decided hardship and although exhibition games are booked for these days, yet the lack of interest is apparent and the financial coffers of the respective clubs are suffering. The directors of the baby minor are determined to fight the problem however and deserve a word of praise if they succeed. It looks as if they will.

Several big league clubs are said to be looking over carefully the playing records of one of the White Cloud moundsmen. While the name of the twirler has not been divulged by Manager Shipley, rumors have it that Lefty Hearn is the star who is attracting the attention of the major leaguers. Lefty hurled a sensational brand of ball last season and this Summer finds him still keeping opposing batsmen "guessing."

With each club in the league fortified with new faces in its lineup for the final pennant dash, the 1923 race looks up exceedingly interesting. With Dover boasting of a strong aggregation at the Delaware Capitol, and Cambridge hitting up a steady stride forward, the Laurel Blue Chicks are going to find the traveling rough on the rest of the journey to Pennantland. Although Poke Whalen's charges have been welded into a smooth-working machine that has produced consistent ball during the entire season, it is not expected to withstand the fresh onslaughts of rival nines. To all appearances, the Blue Hens have "shot their bolt" and from now on it looks as if they are going to endure a mighty uphill struggle. Two defeats at the hands of the Dorchester Cannons the first of the week is evidence.

Herb Armstrong added offensive power to his team when he induced "Heavy" Kolseth to leave semi-professional ball-lots in Baltimore and cast his lot with the Cannons in their final sprint for the coveted gonfalon. Kolseth is a big fellow and wields an effective war-club. He was placed in the clean-up position the very first day he put on a Cannon's uniform so his ability in the hitting line is generally recognized. As a first baseman, the former Blue Ridge Leaguer will not uncover many brilliant plays because he is getting along in years and carries an extra amount of flesh. Nevertheless he can be counted upon to field his position in fairly good style and his presence in the infield will add a steady force. However, Kolseth is a hard man to handle, his records at Waynesboro and Hanover show this, and Manager Armstrong is lucky to be near the end of the season with the big left-hander on his hands.

With the releasing of leftfielder Munda, Manager Shipley has brought the White Clouds down to one notch below the maximum player limit of 14 and the expenses of the Club are there fore considerably lowered. Only two class players appear on the local roster. They are: Owens and Philfer. The White Cloud pilot appears to have gotten together now a number of play ers who besides being individual stars have it in them to play with a certain degree of team-work and it will not be at all surprising if Salisbury stages another sensational spurt such as that of week before last when a string of seven successive victories brought the locals out of the dismal cellar position into a startling candidacy for first place honors. By winning the coming series with Laurel, Dover and Cambridge, the Clouds would be within striking distance of the 1923 pennant. The fans are behind the team now and their support is counting heavily in the struggle.

How the World's Greatest Tea Merchant Developed the World's Finest Coffee

As is well known, Sir Thomas J. Lipton never does things by halves. When he established his own plantations for the growing of Tea in the Island of Ceylon, his instructions were: "Quality, first, last and always. Nothing else counts." Because of this, he has become known everywhere as the greatest tea merchant in the world.

Lipton Coffee Plantations were established years ago. But the growing of coffee is one thing; the problem of securing exactly the right blend is quite another. So also is the problem of a package which will insure that the last spoonful shall be good.

Time mattered little and Sir Thomas J. Lipton was willing to spend the time. His reputation as a tea merchant was too great and too precious to allow any deviation from the highest possible standards. Quality was everything. "Spare no expense," were the instructions to the American Manager of Lipton's, "so long as you get the best. Nothing else will do." Try a package of LIPTON'S COFFEE at your grocers. Test it yourself—by your own standards—for flavor, aroma, and invigorating qualities. Note how it retains its fragrance and strength to the last spoonful in the can. You will then agree that the time and money were well spent, and that Lipton's is indeed the last word in Coffee. Accept no substitutes for "The World's Best." Look for the signature of Sir Thomas J. Lipton on every package of Coffee you buy.

PENNSYLVANIA WOMAN GIVES REMARKABLE FACTS ABOUT THACHER'S PRESCRIPTION

Declares Liver and Blood Syrup Overcame Rheumatism of Five Years' Standing After Everything Else Failed.

Following numerous most astonishing reports regarding the unusual value of Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup in restoring health and strength to the weak and ailing, comes a remarkable statement from Miss Emily Baldwin, of 1534 Broad St., South Greensburg, Pa.

Miss Baldwin declares that this celebrated tonic ended an agonizing case of rheumatism that had resisted all other treatments for five long years and adds that, in her opinion, there is nothing to compare with this medicine.

With such statements as these, from people who have no interest in making them other than to benefit fellow sufferers, it is easy to understand why Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is rapidly becoming a sensation.

"I just can't express my gratitude for the wonderful relief Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup has brought me," declares Miss Baldwin. "After taking only two bottles all my awful rheumatic pains are gone and I am feeling so well and happy, it seems too good to be true.

The fact is, I was in the clutches of this wretched rheumatism for five long years and although I tried treatment after treatment, I just seemed always to be getting worse instead of better, until I began taking Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup.

"Even change in the weather would put me in the bed suffering something awful, and at night I felt so miserable and was in such pain that it was impossible for me to sleep much of the time. Then in the morning I was so tired and exhausted that I just dreaded another day. I tell you I know what it is to suffer.

"This went on, as I said, for five years and then I saw that Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup was recommended for rheumatism and so I decided to try it, not believing, however, that it would help me much. Imagine my delight when, after taking two bottles, I was able to be up and about.

"I didn't stop taking this grand tonic then, though, but kept it up, and now I am doing all my own housework and feeling simply fine. I would certainly advise everybody who is suffering like I was to get some of this wonderful Liver and Blood Syrup."

The fame of Dr. Thacher's prescription is spreading like wildfire and people suffering from the many troubles caused by improper working of the liver, stomach and bowels and those who are simply in need of a general tonic to build them up are flocking to the Thacher agents to get a supply.

L. D. Collier Drug Co., is agent for Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup in Salisbury and in every town the medicine is being distributed through leading druggists. In any case where the purchaser fails to get relief from the first bottle the money will be returned by the druggist who made the sale.—Advt.

INFORMED ON ROADS BY THE DEPARTMENT

Highway Division Of Various States
Try to Inspire More Confidence
Among Citizens—State Of Missouri
Forges Ahead In Educational Work Along This Line.

"As an antidote for the criticism and dissatisfaction with the expenditure of State road funds, most generally by a public which does not understand State Highway departments have hit upon the remedy of full and complete information as to what the department is doing and expects to do," said V. D. L. Robinson, director of roads of the American Automobile Association.

Inquiry of the State highway departments of such States as Pennsylvania, North Carolina, Maryland, Missouri and others where the plan of taking the public into the confidence of the department has been in effect for a sufficient length of time, gives positive proof of the effectiveness of the remedy," he continued.

"The information bureaus of many of the State highway departments are being organized with as much care as is given to the engineering or administrative divisions of highway construction and maintenance. Frequent bulletins, maps, news and feature articles are only a few of the methods employed in carrying out their new slogan of 'The Public Be Informed.' Many of the departments have specially trained speakers to attend various county and neighborhood gatherings to explain what this State highway department is endeavoring to do for them.

The State of Missouri has probably gone further in their educational work than any other State. In addition to the use of the other means of informing the people of Missouri, Chairman Theodore Gary of the State Commission has erected 100 billboards, 10 by 20 feet, with plans for the erection of 100 more. These billboards are located alongside new projects and in addition to carrying a general statement about the work of the State highway department, give full information about the particular project suggested, its number, name of county, length of project, its cost, material used, name of engineer in charge with the name of the division engineer.

MINISTERS ENJOYING RESPIRE FROM DUTIES

Various Recreational Spots Have Have Been Chosen By Local Clergymen As Vacation Points

Ministerial vacations as selected by five of the Salisbury clergy present a varied and alluring selection. Leaving the city for the month of August they are seeking different directions and destinations. It is hoped they will find, wherever they are, a most enjoyable, profitable and restful holiday.

Dr. Richard L. Shipley, of the Bethesda M. P. Church, left with his family, on July 29th for Westminister. While there he will be a speaker at the summer conference of the Young Peoples' Institute. At the close of this session he will go to New York City for a week. The remainder of his vacation in indefinite. The church will be closed until August 10.

Rev. and Mrs. Robert A. Boyce, of the Wicomico Presbyterian Church, left on July 31st for Block Island. This is a small island, seven miles long and three miles out in the Atlantic Ocean off the coast of Rhode Island. From there they will go to Seaside, Mass., where they will stay for the rest of August. There will be no church service during the month.

Rev. and Mrs. J. Brandon Peters of Trinity M. E. Church accompanied by Mrs. Rettew, left July 31st for a motor trip thru the New England states to Vermont, returning by the Hudson river route. This will occupy about three weeks time, following which Mr. Peters will go to Richmond where he will assist his father the Rev. J. Sidney Peters in revival work at the Fairmount Ave. church. The pulpit will be filled August 6th A. M. by the Rev. J. J. Bradford.

Presiding Elder of the Norfolk district and on the succeeding Sunday mornings by ministers to be named later. There will be no evening service during his absence.

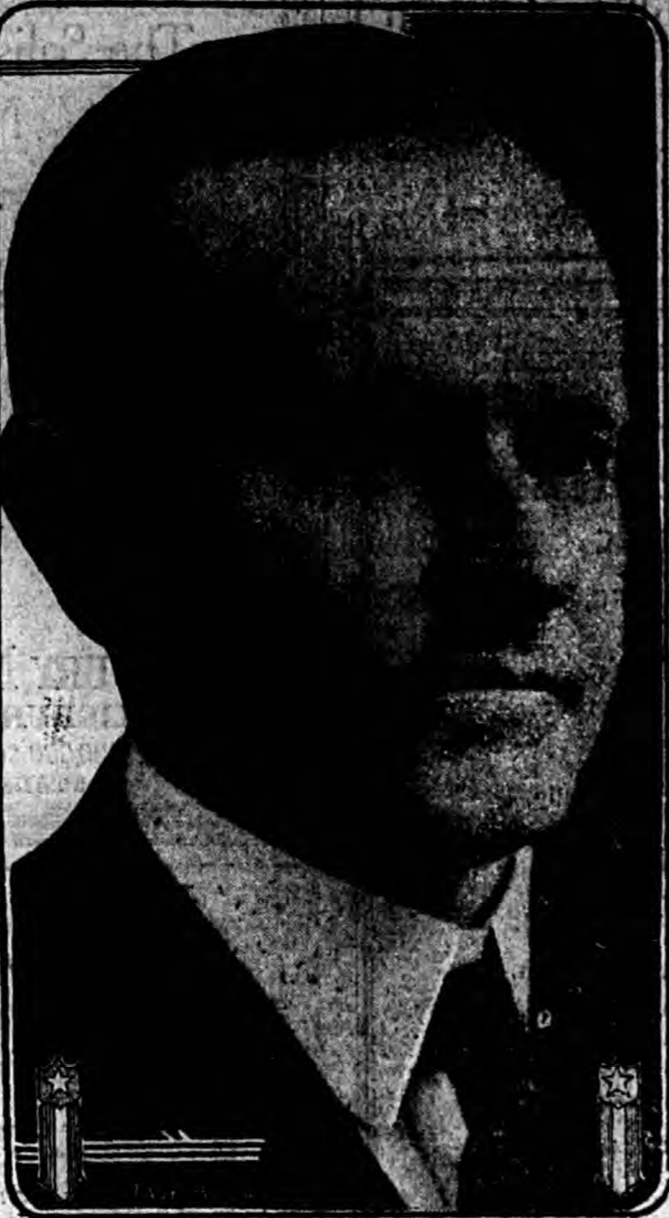

Dr. H. F. Kloman of St. Peter's Episcopal Church, accompanied by Mrs. Kloman and Miss Ann Hunter Kloman, left on August 1st for the coast near Portland, Maine. There they will be the guests of Miss Josephine Simonton for the month of August. This parish was filled for eleven years, by Dr. Kloman and vacated by him to accept the call to North Dakota from which state he came to Salisbury. Mr. Felix Kloman, the son of Dr. Kloman, will conduct the morning service at St. Peter's during his father's absence.

Dr. Hamilton P. Fox, of Asbury M. E. Church, with Mrs. Fox and their four children, left July 30th for Claiborne where they have a cottage. The latter part of the week Dr. Fox and family will take a motor trip thru Pennsylvania returning to Claiborne for the rest of the month.

Same Old Story But a Good One

Mrs. Mahala Burns, Savanna, Mo., relates an experience, the like of which has happened in almost every neighborhood in this country, and has been told and related by thousands of others, as follows: "I used a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy about nine years ago and it cured me of flux (dysentery). I had another attack of the same complaint three or four years ago and a few doses of this remedy cured me. I have recommended it to dozens of people since I first used it and shall continue to do so for I know it is a quick and positive cure for bowel troubles."

Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts is our first Yankee Doodle President, being born on the Fourth of July, fifty-one years ago—1872 at Plymouth, Vt. The third was Levi P. Morton, vice-president to President Harrison.

SHARPTOWN MAN FINDS CATCHING AND MARKETING OF TURTLE VERY LUCRATIVE

Edward Lowe, With New Method Of Alluring Them Combined With His Knowledge Of Their Habits, Is Able To Make Large Shipments To Cities.

Before the advent of the white man on the Eastern Shore the Indians were catching and eating the mud turtle, especially feasting on its blood, believing that the blood gave them strength and great powers of endurance. The turtle crawled upon the banks of rivers and creeks during the spring and could easily be picked up, providing it was bridled to prevent it biting. This little animal is very vicious.

For many years the "snapper" as it is frequently called, has been caught by means of an iron spear, first located in the mud and then hauled to the surface and bugged. For several years an occasional large turtle would be shipped to the cities, but within the last few years quite a number of them have been caught and shipped to the cities, but the method employed to catch this animal was rather slow and the catch in the various streams has been very small.

Edward Lowe, of Sharptown, one of the most successful fishermen on the Nanticoke river has proven that turtling is a profitable industry. He has a new method of catching the turtle and with this method he uses his knowledge of the nature and habits of the turtle. He catches the turtle by means of a turtle pot made of heavy twine and spread over three scoops forming an enclosure large enough to hold several turtles. These scoops are about the size of a barrel hoop and set about ten inches apart. The twine is knitted after the method of the ordinary fishing seine, but of heavy twine, with meshes about one inch. The pot is provided with a funnel made of the twine and it is thru this funnel that the turtle enters the pot and Mr. Lowe has caught as many as eight in one pot at one setting. When once in the pot it cannot get out.

The twine to knit a pot costs about 12c and Mr. Lowe claims to make eight in one day. The cost of the hoops is very small. At present he has twenty-five pots about as many as he can handle. He sets the pots in low tide and takes them up on high tide following. The pots are held in position by means of three long sticks and are easily released and the pots taken up and put in an ordinary fish large, about the same pattern in use in the Nanticoke river for more than a century. He ships his catch as soon as possible after being taken out of the water, though they will live a long time if properly fed. The turtle in its rough state will bring from five to eight cents per pound. The meat when properly prepared is fine food and the soup is considered in many places a favorite dish.

For several weeks Mr. Lowe has been shipping large quantities to the cities, there being no local demand for them, shipping hundreds of pounds every week. The time of turtling is governed by the tides and weather conditions; with these favorable he is sure of a good catch. Mr. Lowe has his own secrets as to finding the trails of the turtle and finding its feeding places. In this art he seems to have a monopoly.

Mr. Lowe confines his operations to the Nanticoke river and the creeks that flow into the river. He has for

By J. H. FEULCHER,
President American Bankers Association.

TALK NO. 7B.

"The Relationship Between Farmer and Banker."

The word "Bank" wherever used, refers to the business of banking, state and national banks—in short, all banking institutions having a commercial department.

This series of Talks on the work of the bank would not be complete unless it included the relationship of farmer and banker. Yet we are one of the few states that all banks and all farmers are actively linked together. City banks, though lacking personal contact with the farmer, are giving much thought and attention to the work of developing our farm resources. Farmers are realizing more and more this genuine interest in their welfare. One of the most important commissions of the American Bankers Association is the Agricultural Commission. Much good must come from the cooperation of bankers who take a real interest in rural welfare movements of farmers who likewise are interested in all projects for the betterment of farm life.

Avoiding Our Opportunities
Only within the last few decades has the truth been brought home to bankers, to farmers, and to people in general that the nation's greatest single business opportunity is the improvement of our farm methods and resources. Agricultural schools have done much to show how larger returns are to be had from soil cultivation—facts, which once demonstrated and understood, are bringing greater profit to the farmer. So many fine results have followed the use of new methods on the farm, that no one longer doubts their value. We realize that even our best farming sections can be made to yield greater profits through more scientific knowledge and handling. Bankers everywhere are striving to do what they can to help farmers in their localities. They are trying to loan farmers the money they require, and what is even more important, they are studying the farmers' problems, and are taking an active part in all movements for the benefit of the farming community.

The Bank and the County Farm Agent

Out of the greater interest that has been developed in rural life in nearly all farming sections, there have been established county farm bureaus. Bankers have been glad to help, and a great many of them contribute to the support of the county farm agent. Bankers are working hand in hand with him for the good of the entire community, and are helping to direct the farmer and his family, from the home or less narrow habits of former days, into the broader, more scientific, and more satisfactory methods prevailing at the present time. The banker may justly claim that he has with great effectiveness favored and supported the work of the county agent.

The good results from the cooperation of the county agent and the banker can scarcely be estimated. If the farmers of a certain section desire pure-bred stock, cash capital is needed to buy in carload lots. If the project has the sanction of the county agent, the banker usually relies on his recommendation, and stands ready to handle the financial end. In this manner also, the banker helps to provide boys' and girls' pig clubs, calf clubs and other similar associations, with pure-bred livestock. Membership in the boys' and girls' clubs in 1924 was 23,000, while in 1923 the total membership was 600,000. The increased farm production credited to these clubs is almost incredible. For instance, the average yield per acre in the United States is 31 bushels of corn and 115 bushels of potatoes. The boys' and girls' clubs forced a yield in 1921 to 60 bushels of corn, and 175 bushels of potatoes per acre. These figures mean almost double the production of corn, and seventy-five per cent greater yield of potatoes. This increased yield made by the clubs comes at a time when the United States faces the problem of an increased yield of food crops.

Another purpose of these clubs is to improve the quality of farm animals until "scrubs" shall disappear from American farms, and in their stead shall appear farm animals in which the owner can find satisfaction and profit.

This same banking support is back of much of the work of the county agent. Often a farmer feels that he should be using improved methods in raising his crops and in operating his farm, but realizes that he must have money in order to develop his plans. The bank is always ready to consider granting him a loan, especially if the county agent approves the plans. In hundreds of cases this contract of the banker, the farmer and the county agent has reacted to the advantage of each of them, and to the community as well. The willingness of the bank to help in financing every sound business enterprise of the community is here demonstrated in the aid extended the farmer.

Rural banks are deeply interested in exhibits of farm products. Displays of this sort, generally conducted with the help of the county agent, tend to arouse keen rivalry among farmers who, of course, are proud of good results obtained. Many banks receive credit and recognition for throughout the country hold such exhibits in their own banking rooms. Thus people living on the farm become familiar with the bank's interest in what the farmer is doing. It has been said that with the bankers as other business men, containing their support of the county agent, another ten years will witness great advancement in all that relates to rural life.

What Bankers' Associations Are Doing

In nearly all meetings of bankers, we find a prominent place given to each program to the discussion of questions of better agricultural methods and more favorable conditions of rural life. For years the American Bankers Association through its Agricultural Commission has been expending time, effort and money in carrying forward this great movement. Since 1913 it has been publishing a magazine called the Banker-Farmer, the purpose of which is to suggest to the farmer the banker can aid the farmer. Banks receive this magazine each month, and so are kept in touch with what others are doing. The heaven is working. Each year a greater number of bankers become interested in studying the banker-farmer relationship, and new banker-farmer projects are developed. Likewise, state bankers' associations have their agricultural committees which cooperate very effectively with state departments of agriculture, and with agricultural colleges in promoting state-wide agricultural projects. Particularly in the case of the American Bankers Association we have national laws affording farmers improved facilities for making farm loans, and for marketing their products. The bankers' influence has also helped in securing improved roads, better rural education and so forth. Underlying all this activity is the economic truth that upon the welfare of the farmer rests national prosperity.

Personal Contact

In farming sections the banker and the farmer are in close contact. They believe in each other and are perfectly frank about their desire to work together. It pays the farmer to talk over his business affairs with his banker, and it pays the banker to be in the confidence of his customer. One difficulty is that many farmers do not like to borrow money. They shrink from the idea of contracting a debt of any kind. There are times, however, when greater profits are made possible through the use of borrowed money. These who are putting business into their farms are turning to their banker for help in determining the solution of money questions. The plan of "borrowing for profits" prevails in all commercial lines, and many farmers mark the beginning of their larger success from the time they were first willing to incur a debt. It pays the banker to help make the farmer more prosperous, and both can work to greater advantage under relations of perfect frankness and mutual friendliness. The usual way to start such a relationship is by means of a savings or checking account. Every banker wants to know his depositors personally in order to respond to their business needs more efficiently. Personal contact always counts.

Banking Along Broader Lines

There is a time-honored idea that the typical banker is a man dealing in dollars who has no human interests although he may, now and then, be persuaded to grant a small loan. In the olden days there were, it is true, some bankers who felt that the only satisfactory way to conduct the banking business was to have all borrowers make their approach with fear-trembling. Perhaps such a banker could be discovered somewhere today, if a long enough search were made. The modern bank is everywhere operated on the principle that it helps itself only when it helps others. The bank customer worthy of the name need never contend with any coldness, or holding at arm's length, on the part of the banker. The bank that renders the same financial service to each patron gets the business.

In hundreds of rural sections, banks have started in business where conditions at first held out very little promise of prosperity. The men at the head of such banks have been leaders in their communities in bringing, crop rotation, and comfortable home surroundings. In the state of Pennsylvania, before the days of farm bureaus, one entire county was made prosperous by a splendid dairy enterprise, developed under the direction of a progressive banker. The message that needs to find its way into the home of every farmer in America is that the banks of America are learning how to cooperate with the farmer. There still remains much to be accomplished, but through cooperation we are making headway towards greater achievements in farming, achievements which will eventually reveal the "Acres of Diamonds" which surround us on every hand.

Caution in the Purchase of Investments
I would not feel justified in closing this Talk without uttering a word of caution regarding the purchase by the farmer of stocks and bonds. Do not purchase stocks or bonds with which you are not entirely familiar, or without consulting your banker. In other words, BEFORE YOU INVEST, INVESTIGATE.

Bank Stocks as Investments

Under date of June 26, 1923, the following article appeared in The Wall Street Journal:

Investors are seldom urged to buy bank stocks because there is little or no profit in such investments for the promoter. Bank stocks, as a rule, are closely held, therefore, there is not much trading in the shares. Nevertheless, banking is one of the safest and most profitable businesses known. For instance, out of 67 New York active bankstocks in New York, 23 are quoted above $300 a share, 8 are quoted above $500 a share and 3 are selling at more than $1,000 a share.

There is a trust company in Pittsburgh that has a book value of about $2,800 a share and a few years ago stock of a small bank in Virginia had a book value of approximately $7,000 a share. Last year, a bad year for most business, dividends paid by 8,147 national banks averaged 12.42%.

We are offering the stock of two Joint Stock Land Banks OPERATING UNDER UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT SUPERVISION—with probably more safeguards thrown around its operation for the protection of its stockholders than commercial or national banks, at a price to yield 6% free of County, State and City taxation and the Normal Federal Income Tax. We will be pleased to give you full information upon request without obligating yourself in any way.

RESERVE

All of us like to think of a reserve to fall back upon in the hour of trouble. In the last analysis, reserve is thrift. Thrift is the opposite of improvidence and waste.

Thrift means better homes, better food and clothes; more comfort and enjoyment; less waste and anxiety. Money is the insignia of labor. It represents an investment in brawn and brain. It is the most elastic reserve.

Money is power. It means liberty and a freedom from the curse of poverty.

DELMAR

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown are receiving congratulations upon the arrival of a daughter.

Marching forth as prodigal sons, and wondering why they could not have the same rights.

Whether these subjects are discussed seriously or frivolously, all will be compelled to arrive at the conclusion that the highest, broadest, deepest and grandest place on earth is woman's indestructible throne—Home, sweet Home.

You cannot send women to the fields without neglecting the front door of God's mansion—Home, sweet Home. You cannot put women in the position of masculine competition without turning the children over to the juvenile court and the cold charity of the state. You cannot put women in competition with men and continue to populate the earth. You cannot find a substitute for Mother.

The position which rears its head above the sweep of winds and the flight of birds is woman's God-created throne—Home, sweet Home. When she takes her seat as a Christian wife and a Christian mother, the angels bow in respect to her imperial position and to the indestructibility of her scepter.

America needs Christian wives, Christian homes, and the indestructible thrones of Christian mothers.

Cause of Appendicitis

When the bowels are constipated, the lower bowels or large intestines become packed with refuse matter, that is made up largely of germs. These germs enter the vermiform appendix and set up inflammation, which is commonly known as appendicitis. Take Chamberlain's Tablets when needed and keep your bowels regular and you have little to fear from appendicitis.—Advt.

Keeps FORD Plugs Clean

Here's an ignition system that keeps plugs clean—

Its big, intense sparks burn off oil deposits and, by firing the gas charges completely, prevent carbon forming on the plugs and cylinder walls.

It gives lots more power, too, for its sparks are perfectly timed by the famous Bosch Timing. Every explosion occurs at the proper instant, developing maximum power and keeping the engine flexible and smooth.

Type 600 is a complete, waterproof ignition system, with automatic spark control. It makes old Ford engines run like new, and new ones develop a flexibility, power and smoothness that few think possible.

WHO'S WHO IN WICOMICO COUNTY

THE SALISBURY ICE CO. Salisbury, Md.

President, J. H. TOMLINSON. Vice-Pres., S. F. WOODCOCK.
Wm. H. COOPER, Secretary. JESSE D. PRICE, Treas. and Gen. Mgr.

The success of a business depends in a great measure upon the ability and knowledge of the men connected with it and the underlying principles of foundation upon which the business was built. It is evident that when men of ability guide the business, it will inevitably be governed and grow in accordance with that ability. It is evident that when the principles of foundation are sound and correct, the business has the nucleus to which may be added much greater volume of business. It is because the Salisbury Ice Company had this nucleus and had men of ability and foresight to govern its affairs that it has grown to its present huge proportions.

Mr. Price, the Treasurer and Manager of the concern, was the organizer of it back in 1900 as the Crystal Ice Company and with a capacity of 15 tons. However, the business outgrew itself and in 1907 was reorganized as The Salisbury Ice Co. Its capacity is now 100 tons, a really remarkable growth. Mr. Price who is in active charge is well known throughout the State, having served three terms in Congress and two terms in the State Senate. He was President of that body twice. He also served as County Treasurer and is now State Tax Commissioner. It may be readily seen that men who are capable of holding such positions of public trust are surely well able to make a success of most any business. But Mr. Price's efforts alone are not responsible for this firm's success. He has had invaluable help and advice from his business associates, all men prominent in Wicomico County's business circles and men who have given unstintingly of their time and ability to make The Salisbury Ice Co. what it is today.

THE SALISBURY COAL CO.

F. L. Inley, Mgr.

Associated with Mr. Inley in the ownership of this enterprise is Mr. W. H. Inley and Mr. B. W. Cooper, well known men of Wicomico county; men with the ability and aggressive spirit necessary to the successful management of a concern of this caliber. They are engaged in the business of selling such materials as Coal, Lime, Wood, Stone, Gravel and Cement, and are local distributors for the internationally famous Johns Manville Products. Though the firm has been in business only since January of this year it is already on a solid foundation and on the road to a rosy future.

E. C. DAVIS, Willards, Md.

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

Among the substantial and growing concerns of Wicomico county may well be mentioned that of E. C. Davis, who began in 1922. From the time the business was started it has been conducted along lines that have assured its success. The trade supplied by this concern is by no means confined to local limits, but extends over a wide area.

Mr. Davis has always pursued the unflinching policy of giving the best merchandise the market affords. He is a young hustling, aggressive business man, with a very promising future before him.

E. J. CULVER, Hebron, Md.

Patent Medicines and Confectionery

The best to be had at the lowest possible price is the one outstanding feature that has contributed materially to the present enviable position attained by E. J. Culver, one of the most widely known and highly esteemed business men of Hebron.

In a clean, well managed store he conducts his business, keeping well abreast of the times in his methods. He has just recently installed a new and modern soda fountain.

C. R. DISHARON COMPANY, Salisbury, Md.

Manufacturers of Wooden Packages

A name that is immediately recognized upon the minds of users of wooden packages is that of C. R. Disharoon Co. It is distinctive when thinking of boxes, crates, etc. to think of this concern, which has established and held connections in this line with some of the largest users of these products in the country.

Mr. C. R. Disharoon has always been active in political affairs here, having been Mayor of Salisbury, and a member of the State Legislature. He is now serving a term as State Senator. He began life as a school teacher and store-keeper.

W. C. GODFREY, Salisbury.

Meats, Groceries and Live Poultry

Though figures often times are monotonous, I thought it most interesting to know that Mr. Godfrey had shipped over 15,000 live chickens to Philadelphia in the past year; poultry, I'm referring to. It is indicative of the volume of business done here. Though the firm is located in the outskirts of town, it is nevertheless one of the most flourishing stores of its kind here. People here appreciate good stores and fair dealing.

I. B. HITCHENS, Salisbury.

General Store

One of the cleanest little stores it has ever been my privilege to write of is that of Mr. Hitchens. One is immediately and favorably impressed with the neat and tidy arrangement of things there and Mr. Hitchens surely is entitled to compliments upon it. The merchandise sold there is in keeping with the high standard of cleanliness maintained, always as it should be,—right.

GEORGE D. INSLY, Fruitland, Md.

Garage and General Merchandise

Mr. Inslay serves the people of Fruitland and vicinity in the dual capacity of garage and general merchandise store. It is evident from the amount of business transacted that both places have given the people satisfaction. Mr. Inslay is a firm believer in the future of Fruitland, and with the other merchants there, is anxiously waiting for the stone road to be completed and open up the town. He is a member of the Red Men and the Moose and an ardent worker in Fruitland's interests.

THE YELLOW TAXI CO., Inc.

Salisbury, Md.

Salisbury has long felt the need of taxi service such as is given by the Yellow Taxi Co. here, who have modeled their cabs and system to conform with the most approved methods prevailing in the largest cities. There are five cabs at your service at very low rates and the Yellow Taxi Co. assures you that increased patronage will provide more and better service. Every cab employed is conspicuously clean; the drivers are considerate, courteous and above all careful. Brakes are tested every day, for this firm realizes the precious value of their cabs and employs every possible precaution to carry it safely.

We're pulling for more riders and more cabs.

THE MORRIS BROS. CO., Salisbury, Md.

Building Material

From a Side Show to a Three Ring Circus

The present large quarters of the Morris Bros. Co. were not always so large. Back in 1908 when they started, it only required a 16 foot room to house their business and they had lots of room in that room too. Life was no bed of roses for these boys in those days. They frankly admit this too. But they did know their work and were hustlers along with it, and as is usually the case, good work and ability were finally recognized, resulting in the present plant, employing over thirty-five people and turning out building material of such good quality that it is sold throughout Maryland, Delaware and Virginia.

The three brothers, V. W. L. M. and R. E. Morris are all actively engaged in the business and devote all their time to making it a success.

C. E. CAULK, Sharptown, Md.

Garage

In Sharptown the automobile interests are well taken care of by C. E. Caulk's hustling garage, established here over 20 years ago as a jewelry store. With the change in times and the advent of the automobile, the business changed its nature and became a garage. It is the agency of such nationally known products as U. S. and Fisk Tires and Havoline Oil. Mr. Caulk also conducts a gasoline station in Delaware on the road to Columbia.

G. C. RAYNE & CO., Pittsville.

Ford Sales and Service Station

Though the town is rather small, the G. C. Rayne Garage gets enough business here to employ seven people and keep them busy. People come from quite a distance for auto repairs and it is needless to say that the work and service rendered here draw people here from such distant places. The garage is exceptionally well equipped and a large stock of tires and accessories are carried in addition to the supply of Ford parts.

BAILEY, ENGLISH & CO., Mardeia Springs, Md.

M. E. Hansen, Prop.

In February of 1920, Mr. Hansen succeeded Boudin & Co. in the ownership of this thriving store. When I asked Mr. Hansen "To what do you attribute your business success?" he replied, "To honesty in my dealings with every one; to high grade merchandise, consistent in its quality; fair prices and a desire to be polite and accommodating." These are the secrets of success in any business and are a story in themselves.

BENNETT'S PHARMACY, Sharptown, Md.

Mr. Bennett, the proprietor of Sharptown's Drug Store is a graduate of the Medical College of Virginia and one who is exceptionally well qualified to successfully conduct this intricate profession of Pharmacy. You may have the utmost confidence in his ability to properly fill your prescriptions. An up to date soda fountain is part of the store, selling ice cream made by Mr. Bennett himself. Ice cream that is absolutely pure and wholesome.

N. S. PRUITT, Fruitland, Md.

Garage

Though quite a young man, Mr. Pruitt is rapidly carving a niche for himself in the business annals of Wicomico county. His present business of auto repairing and the buying and selling of second hand cars is the culmination of a small bicycle shop that he conducted several years ago. During his spare hours in the evening, The satisfaction given those patrons is no doubt the reason for the large volume of business now being done.

SHIRT AND UNDERWEAR INDUSTRY OF WICOMICO COUNTY

The public is extended a most cordial invitation to come here and see the way our work is made; see the pains and care that is taken to make it pure, see how clean and sanitary the plant is. Over forty people, eight trucks and four wagons are required to serve the trade, which extends over most of the county including the rural routes that were established. One must stop to realize the important role ice plays in our daily lives; how necessary it is to our health and welfare, to understand what such firms mean to the growth of Wicomico County.

It would indeed be a serious blunder to under-estimate the importance of this industry to the welfare of Wicomico County. During my visit to the various factories here I have carefully observed the cheerful, happy way in which the employees go about their work; the well lighted and ventilated places they work in; and the fine way they are treated by their employers. Combined these factories employ hundreds of people and make thousands of dozens of garments each week, that are shipped to different distributing points throughout the country. Without exception the men engaged in this industry are men of recognized ability who are doing their utmost for the industrial welfare of Wicomico County.

Their factories are well managed, humming little bee-hives and a visit to any of them by you would be welcomed by the proprietors.

FARMERS BANK OF MARDELA SPRINGS.

W. H. Robertson, Cashier

The newer conception of good banking service is vastly different from the old. These days it is not at all unusual for a depositor or even one who is not a depositor, a bit of personal advice. The attitude of business men today toward the officials of their bank,—friends who do not limit usefulness to circumscribed business rules. We're at your service in everything within our power.

SHARPTOWN GARAGE.

E. A. Brodey, Prop.

The Sharptown Garage, agents for Moon, Haynes and Chandler cars, has the rather unique distinction of being the first garage between Cambridge and Salisbury, having been established there in 1916. Its owner, Mr. Brodey is a man of extensive travel acquired in theatrical tours all over the continent, a man well versed on many subjects and possessed of a very keen understanding of human nature.

His wife, a very sweet and charming little lady, conducts a prosperous and growing millinery shop in the same building.

Funeral Directors and Contractors

For thirty years or more the people of this section have entrusted the funeral of their loved ones to the tender care of the firm of W. D. Gravenor & Bro., funeral directors of Sharptown, which always has prepared the funeral of their loved ones to the full satisfaction of their patrons. Being wide awake and ever alert to make improvements, this firm is now adding a beautiful show room to their already good equipment. A large line of caskets will be carried in stock.

This concern is also engaged in the contracting and building business and is prepared to submit estimates on practically any size job.

Purnell T. White, Cashier

There are none of the communities in Maryland better entrenched in the matter of banking facilities than Sharptown and this is due to that splendid institution of banking we are so justly proud of, the Eastern Shore Trust Co. at Sharptown, which under the capable management of Mr. White the cashier and with the co-operation of its Board of Directors and Officers has blazed a grand trail of financial success in Wicomico County.

W. F. MESSICK ICE CO. Salisbury, Md.

Strange as it may seem, artificial ice as manufactured by this concern is far superior to natural ice, which has many impurities that are eliminated by the thoroughly modern and scientific methods used by the Messick Ice Company. A visit to this plant would indeed be a source of much pleasure to you and I know you'd be welcomed. The plant is equipped to manufacture about 35 tons of ice a day and has a storage capacity of over 3000 tons. The territory covered extends over a radius of 15 miles and necessitates the employment of twenty people and several large trucks.

Mr. Messick, the proprietor, has just been made manager of the Horn Ice Cream Company at Salisbury. The ever-growing demand for that good ice cream has become so great that it now requires over 400 gallons a day to meet the demands of the public.

Mr. Messick himself is a man of genial personality and affable disposition with a kindly thought for the welfare of his employees and patrons; a man with a deep felt interest in the welfare of Wicomico County and one whose hand is always extended to advance and promote the interests of his town. More men of his ability and character would be a most welcome addition to any community.

BOOKER, SCOTT & MOORE, Salisbury and Wilmington.

Wholesale Confectioners.

W. S. Springer, Prop.

A business of extensive magnitude, embracing territory in three states, is carried on by this large wholesale house of Salisbury. It is a large building, just chock full of good confections that are sold at wholesale to various retailers in these states. It will pay you, who do not already deal with this firm to call 580 and get in touch with them. Prompt deliveries of the best the market affords is assured you.

Mr. Springer, the proprietor, is one of these modern day hustlers devoted to his business and with a keen interest in every move for the betterment of the community in which he transacts his business.

THE PALACE GARAGE, Salisbury, Md.

Milton L. Pope & A. H. Parker, Prop.

Despite the fact that this garage is still in its infancy it has already given every indication of a growth that may some day make it one of the largest on the Shore. The fundamental principles of the organization are of the highest order and if the people of Salisbury continue to patronize it, the future as they have in the past it is bound to grow and prosper.

In addition to repairs and storage, the Palace Garage is local distributor for the Studebaker Car, one of the lowest priced sizes in the auto field, yet one which maintains an exceptionally high quality standard. The famous International line of farm implements, trucks, tractors and F. S. Royster's Fertilizers are here.

BROWN'S VULCANIZING & BATTERY SHOP, Salisbury, Md.

Be careful before throwing your old tires away. At a very slight cost it may be possible for you to get thousands of extra miles. If you bring them here Mr. Brown will give you his honest opinion as to their actual worth and that opinion will be based upon thirteen years experience gained in working in rubber factories throughout the country. The shop boasts the largest solid tire press on the Eastern Shore and is especially well equipped in every other way. It is the agency for the Westinghouse Battery and Oxford Tires.

What can be accomplished by diligent and persistent efforts applied to business is well exemplified in the success attained by this firm under the management of E. R. Ennis and Brother. One would be surprised at the large volume of business done there, but when you look around and see the real values given, it is not so much of a surprise after all.

Both men have always been actively associated with any movement for the uplift of their community.

GENERAL MERCHANDISE

The year of 1913 saw the inception of this firm as Chatham and Hitchens. In 1915 Mr. Chatham took over the reins of ownership alone. The firm enjoys a large share of the patronage of this section and justly so, for it is one of the many progressive business houses of Salisbury that have done much to make it the best town on the Shore.

Mr. Chatham is an ex-U. S. Army man, having served Uncle Sam for ten years, and is also a member of the O. U. A. M.

THE GREAT SALISBURY FAIR

AUGUST 21-22-23-24

Four Big Days

All Committees especially the attraction committee, have worked over time this year to make this our biggest and best Fair. Some of the leading attractions are listed below.

MOTOR CYCLES.

A large entry of Motor Cycle Racers guarantees that the visitors at the fair this year will see the best of these thrilling contests of speed.

DARE DEVIL D'ONRA.

EXHIBITS.

Every department reports increased entries for exhibit. The line of exhibits will undoubtedly be the largest ever displayed. These will prove worth seeing and be a liberal education in themselves.

A Big Midway of Fun

THE DIVING HORSE AND LADY RIDER.

Dr. Carver, once the partner of Barnum, is to be with us, and his daughter Miss Jackie Carver, will ride his best horse. This horse will dive from a scaffold SIXTY FEET IN THE AIR. The association gave this attraction last year and are using it this year in order to meet the wishes of thousands who failed to see it as well as those who did see it and wish to do so again. This will be the last chance to see the DIVING HORSE with its LADY RIDER in Salisbury.

RACING.

On the track each day will be seen spirited trotting and pacing races. The entries this year promise the best field of horses ever seen at our Fair.

LEACH, LAQUINLAN TROUPE.

THESE ARE aerial performers, on a slack wire, stretched very high in the air. Two Ladies and One Man.

ALI BEN HASSEN'S ARABS.

Seven in number. The greatest troupe of TUMBLERS in America today. This attraction is alone worth the price of admission.

You Are Expected

Don't Miss It

PARKING

The Association has purchased other lands adjoining the FAIR GROUNDS for the PARKING OF AUTOMOBILES. The Maryland State Police will assist in parking and protecting of cars and property.

NEW POLICY

The Fair this year will be managed by the Salisbury Fair Association, which is a non-dividend paying corporation—no War Tax on Admissions. Whatever is made by the Fair will be applied each year in making it bigger and better.

Don't be Fooled by a Varnish Shine

The poorer the varnish, generally the more it shines, and the less it wears. The better the varnish, the richer is its deep satin like glossiness, and the longer it wears. Don't buy a varnish by its shine. Buy it by its power to stand wear and still keep glossy. For everything from floors up, use Neptunite Varnishes. You get wear out of them because wear is put into them. Won't turn white. Dry hard and stay hard.

A Bath a Day

For six hundred years the Romans used no medicine but the bath. Is that strange? It shouldn't be. The secret is very simple. You see the Romans bathed daily. And people who take a bath a day rarely, if ever, need medicine.

A bath a day keeps the pores of the skin open. This makes it easy for the skin to breathe. Skin breathing sanitizes the body.

Then, too, a bath a day stimulates—exercises—lubricates, you might say—all your internal organs. This stimulation keeps them working as they should.

When the organs are working properly, they are healthy. Healthy organs make a healthy body. And a body that is healthy does not need medicine.

But that isn't all. A healthy body is a builder of beauty, energy, efficiency and happiness.

If you would know the joy of health and beauty start the bath a day habit. And there is no better time to start than in this month of June.

All you need to make the start is a little will power and a good bathroom. You supply the one and we will supply the other. Start a bath a day today, keep it up, and the money you have been paying for medicine will pay for a bathroom several times over.

100° in the Shade or 10° below Zero!

One hundred degrees in the shade or ten below zero, meat deliveries to your retailer go steadily on, so that you may be assured of just the kind and quality of meat that you desire.

No city is so far removed from live stock production that it cannot receive its regular supply of fresh meats.

Compare this with the meat supply of thirty or forty years ago. Summer weather then meant salt or pickled meats in the country, and a limited variety of fresh meats in most cities.

Refrigeration, developed by scientists, has made it possible for Swift & Company, and other packers, to prepare fresh meats and ship them long distances in refrigerator cars, so that today, without regard to heat or cold, meat reaches your dealer fresh, clean, and wholesome.

In addition to the fresh meats thus available, Swift & Company prepares a variety of tempting meats for hot weather:

Swift's Premium Cooked Ham, mild and sweet, smoked over hard wood fires, is always delicious.

Swift's Premium Frankfurts, from our modern sanitary kitchens, offer a choice blending of meats and spices.

Swift's Sausage Specialties and Swift's Dry Sausage, ready to serve, help lighten the housewife's summer task.

In addition to these, a score of other Summer Specialties are made available by Swift & Company's research and development work.

Our profit from all sources averages only a fraction of a cent a pound.

Women Tell Each Other How They Have Been Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Perryburg, Ohio.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with my sides all the time. I can't remember just how long I suffered, but it was for some time. One day I was talking with a lady I met on a car, and I told her how I was feeling and she said she had been just like I was with pains and nervous troubles, and she took the Vegetable Compound, and it cured her. So then I went and got some, and I certainly recommend it for it is good. Whenever I see any woman who is sick I try to get her to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. ADA FRICK, Route 3, Perryburg, Ohio.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

Farm Notes by County Agent

George R. Cobb

Dorothy Dix says that women don't like patronizing men, or self-conceited men, or quarrelsome men, or dull and stupid men who bore them. Why not make it unanimous and include the two she left out of her list: Darling Dave and Rube McK.

Some of the oil refiners suggest closing down during the month of August so as to stop further overproduction and keep up the price of oil and gasoline. But let the farmers suggest closing down for a while and my what a howl these same men would kick up. And yet the solution seems to be curtailed production or in some sections more varied crops.

Along the above line of thought we read that Governor Davis of Kansas, states that low prices are due mainly to over-production of wheat. This will not happen again, he continues, for farmers will diversify.

"Old Si Silver was a peculiar duck. Farmed with his bean and had darn good luck. The folks 'round about worked hard and tried. But here's Si's secret—he diversified." The Farm Journal.

Little Mary tells us that an educated man thinks somebody else thinks while an intelligent man thinks his own things.

Her brother John says that an uneducated man when he makes mistakes tries to hide them while the educated man tries to correct his mistakes and do better. Something in these two definitions for each of us.

Standard lopes brought $1 when in a mixed load with Jumbos BUT they were worth $1.80 when in a load by themselves. Nuff said.

Perhaps corn will not do well after soybeans but you cannot make Frank Adkins believe such a story. On one field where soyas were grown last year he has a mighty fine looking piece of corn. It is vigorous, dark green in color and with plenty of ears showing. Mr. Adkins believes that inoculation makes the difference between a good and had corn crop after the soyas. This field of corn followed soyas that were inoculated.

The livestock producers are feeling a little more genial for several of the large stock yards have decreased the amount of their commissions. It is said that this will amount to a saving of about $750,000 annually to the livestock producers.

Again we find that chicken manure makes a better showing than horse or round manure. Arthur Perdue has some lopes grown with each and the vines on the chicken manure piece are much more vigorous with a darker green color. A compost of the two has given almost as good results while the pound manure must take third place. We are waiting now to get a record of the yields and quality before we draw any further comparisons.

More reports coming into the office showing that the nicotine dust has performed its function in killing the aphid or lice on cantaloupes. We were very much pleased with the report that we got from John Smith as we feel that this was a real good test for the dust. Several of our growers apparently did not use the right material for lice and as a result they either damaged the vines beyond repair or they used a dust or spray that was not intended for this purpose. Money lost in both cases which might have been saved if these growers had asked someone who knew something of what they needed.

It is perhaps somewhat early to talk about next winter's work but we want to mention this last we forget. Poultry raisers must realize that their chickens need green food in winter if they are to produce at a maximum. Harvey Morris claims that he cannot get production without green feed which is a good indication that green feed is needed. There is a variety of green feed to choose from such as sprouted oats, cut up alfalfa, kale, lettuce, clover, etc.

Rhododendrons thrive in an acid soil and many failures are due to trying to grow these plants in a sweet or alkaline soil. Experiments have shown that this acidity can be obtained by adding aluminum sulphate to ordinary garden soil. This material is used in chemical industries and is not expensive as it can be bought for $5.00 per hundred pounds. This may solve the problem for those who have had poor success with these plants.

We were rather inclined to consider Walter Disharoon a friend of ours but who ever heard of a friend asking another to enter the pitchers box against such a team of sluggers as Meat Ball Oswalt, Strawberry Townsend and the rest. We have learned our lesson and will stick close to the hot corner next time.

1924 Models Are the Finest Big-Sixes Studebaker Ever Built

The enthusiasm with which the new 1924 model Studebaker cars have been received locally is an indication of the high quality they have enjoyed throughout the country.

No wonder. They are emphatically the most compelling values Studebaker ever offered and the public knows that Studebaker has been a consistent leader, year after year, in the amount of intrinsic value per dollar invested.

The Big-Six Sedan and the Coupe are the finest cars that have ever borne the name Studebaker. They provide all the performance, all the comfort, and all the accumulation of ability that any car will give—at a price that smaller producers cannot approach.

Everything for which one can wish in motor convenience, comfort and utility has been provided—even the extra disc wheel with tire, tube and valve (two in Sedan); handsome nickel-plated bumper; front and rear large, roomy trunk; automatic gasoline signal, and many other features. There is nothing more to buy.

The prices of the Sedan and Coupe are moderate because of Studebaker's large production, vast physical and financial resources, the manufacture of all vital parts in Studebaker plants, and the accumulation of experience and prestige gained through 71 years of building quality vehicles.

COOPERATION OF FARMERS ON INCREASE

Annual Business Of Enterprises Estimated At Billion And A Half—More Than 14,000 Bodies Organized—These It Is Said Market 10 to 15% Total Produce.

During the last two years there has been a steady and, in some States, a spectacular increase in the number of farmers' co-operative enterprises, to a point where they are doing an annual business of probably $1,500,000,000, according to results of a survey being made by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Reports to the department indicate there are considerably more than 14,000 farmers' co-operative organizations in the country, located in all States, which market from 10 to 15 per cent of the total produce sold by farmers.

It is conservative to estimate, say Government officials, the total annual business of co-operatives at $1,500,000,000. The $1,000,000,000 mark was passed in 1919, and since then there has been a consistent growth in the co-operative movement.

A survey taken now to show the value of produce sold co-operatively would include many large organizations not existing in 1919, such as the large cotton and tobacco co-operatives of the Southern States, whose membership totals exceed all previous records. It would have to include many new organizations dealing in fruits, peanuts, rice, eggs, poultry and dairy products.

The first State-wide cotton co-operative organization was organized in Oklahoma in 1921. In two years it has grown to be one of the largest business organizations in the State, the department estimates. State-wide associations since have been formed in Mississippi, Texas, Arizona, North Carolina, Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama. These, with the exception of Mississippi, combined in a national organization known as the American Cotton Growers' Exchange with headquarters at Dallas, Texas. They have an aggregate membership of more than 175,000 cotton farmers and in normal years will control a production of more than 2,500,000 bales.

Another big co-operative organization which has sprung up during the last two years is the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association. This was formed in the fall of 1921 on a non-stock, non-profit basis under the co-operative law of Kentucky. It has more than 70,000 members and controls about 85 per cent of the burley tobacco grown in Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, Tennessee and West Virginia.

From January 1 to May 1, 1922, it received about 120,000,000 pounds of tobacco and sold about 70,000,000 pounds. Market conditions were favorable during this period and the association was able to secure prices nearly double those received by the growers in 1921. Other similar organizations also have been formed according to the Government's survey.

Government officials say it is noteworthy that the recent co-operative movement in the South has given rise to a number of associations whose membership exceeds the record held formerly by the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. This organization has a membership of around 10,500, compared with 70,000 in the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association and more than 60,000 each in the two other tobacco associations. The State cotton associations have memberships running well into five figures.

Information received by the Agricultural Department indicates that co-operation functions best when based on one commodity or on a group of related commodities. It requires competent management, sufficient capital, sufficient business and an informed membership.

In considering the objects which make for success in co-operative marketing, the department has found that certain agricultural products are handled to advantage over others. Livestock shipping appears to lend itself most readily to the co-operative method. Another form which is well understood is the co-operative creamery, and in this form the farmers of the North Central States have had great success.

Operation of co-operative elevators is more difficult, the department

states, owing to the complexity of the grain business, and, perhaps, also to the fact that grain marketing already is developed highly. Fruit marketing, owing to the perishable nature of the commodity, requires a high degree of selling organization and skill.

The Agricultural Department is making detailed studies of some of the older and more successful co-operative associations in this country, and also reaching into foreign countries where the movement originated. It is analyzing their principles and methods, and at the same time is making studies of some of the failures in co-operation.

These investigations it is believed will enable the department to set up danger signals where danger exists, and to mark where the road is clear. In this work it is giving special attention to the problem of standardization, because experience has shown there scarcely is one important marketing function that cannot be performed more effectively when the commodity is graded to recognized and definite specifications.—Balt. AUTO POLO FEATURE DELAWARE STATE FAIR

Sewing, Crocheting And Knitting Done By Women Over 70 Years Of Age, Another Innovation

Auto polo, the most sensational and thrilling of America's outdoor attractions will be one of the big features each day at the Delaware State Fair. In addition to the sensations, auto polo is the costliest attraction ever brought to Delaware. The State Fair management determined to make the 1922 Fair the greatest exhibit ever witnessed in Delaware, and has left no stone unturned to provide the highest class features obtainable and arrangements have been completed with A. C. Wilson, nationally known producer of auto polo to bring his celebrated aggregation here. The auto polo games will be played on the race track in front of the grandstand every afternoon of the Fair. Automobiles stripped for action and carrying two persons, one the driver and the other, the mallet man will play the game of polo mounted in cars instead of on horses.

This big sensational act provides amusing features with every thrilling expectancy and roars of laughter from the spectators follow chills and thrills in rapid succession, as the stripped cars career around the track in tail spins and head-on collisions, turning completely over and hurling drivers and mallet men through the air, side-swiping each other with a crash of broken wheels, accompanied by the roar of open exhausts and the bang of exploding tires. Auto polo is declared by those who have witnessed it, to provide more thrills in one minute than the ordinary act produces in an hour, and it is believed that it will prove the greatest drawing card ever introduced there.

Among the many interesting features of the woman's department at the Fair will be sewing, crocheting and knitting done by women over 70 years of age. The judging for the award of prizes will be under the scoring system in which workmanship will count for 50 points, design 25, cleanliness 10, and colors 15. There are 9 classes in the competition comprising display of old-fashioned sewing to include: felled seam, overseam, hem, tucks, and gathers done on stripes; plain hand-made garment (any kind); bedroom slippers knitted; specimen of cotton embroidery; plain hemming on any article; hand-made pillow case; pair of plain hand-made pillow cases; any design; rag rug, plaited; centre-piece crocheted in cotton.

Cut Offs

If there is a "Cut Off" when a conversation is taking place over the telephone, THE PERSON WHO WAS CALLED SHOULD IMMEDIATELY HANG UP THE RECEIVER. The one who made the call should ask the operator to re-establish the connection, saying: "I was talking to and was cut off."

If the person who was called does not hang up his receiver, his line may test "Busy" and be so reported to the party who is asking to have the connection re-established.

The "Cut Off" may be due to a number of things: an error of the operator; a temporary disarrangement of the signal apparatus; the replacing of the receiver on the hook by mistake by one of the persons talking, or for some other cause.

Realizing the annoyance "Cut Offs" cause our patrons, every possible precaution is taken to prevent them. It will help us to give you better service if, when a "Cut Off" does occur, you will follow the suggestion made above.

FANCY PEACHES FROM W. F. ALLEN ORCHARDS IN DEMAND AT MARKETS

77 Cars Have Been Shipped To Date Into Wide Eastern Area.

LARGE FORCE GATHERING BIG YIELD LOCAL FRUIT

Season's Shipments From This City Will Probably Total Around 40,000 Bushels—Maryland Peaches More Than Holding Own Against Other Competitors In Receiving Centers.

"Fancy Peaches" from the "W. F. Allen Co., Salisbury, Md." Hundreds and hundreds of bushel baskets of the luscious fruit bearing these labels are being received daily in all of the large markets in the East. And repeat orders are coming back over the wires to the Allen orchards here for additional carloads. All of which goes to show that local peaches are coming into open competition with those from the Georgia orchards and other noted fruit centers of the country and the Maryland peach is more than holding its own.

77 huge refrigerator cars filled with the firm and near-ripe fruit have been shipped out from the Allen private siding this year and the total shipments will probably run well over a hundred cars. Counting 360 full bushel baskets to the car, this means in the neighborhood of 40,000 bushels of peaches. The average mind, unless trained in comparative figures can scarcely grasp the significance of the above estimate.

But one visit to the orchards of the W. F. Allen Co. on the south side of the city would serve to fully convey a clear idea of the immensity of this fruit industry that began in infant form years back and which today stands as one of the leading orchards in the whole country. They say that over 40,000 trees are included in the acres and acres under cultivation.

This week finds the Allen forces in the midst of a concentrated drive on the heavily-laden fruit trucks. Seven to ten cars are being loaded and shipped to markets scattered over the entire Eastern States. For instance on Tuesday, principal receiving points were: Lexington, Kentucky; Dayton, Ohio; Charleston, W. Va.; and New Haven, Conn. Fair prices are being obtained with the American Fruit Growers Inc. handling the sales for the Nurseries.

The crop this year will be the largest ever picked by the Allen Company but this may in a measure be attributed to the large acreage of fruit-bearing trees. The majority of the crop is now driven with a four year old the yield was just as heavy as this season. Forces are working day and night at the sorting station while in the day time a large corps of pickers are busy gathering the fruit. Over 250 employees are now carrying the pay-roll of the W. F. Allen & Co.

The celebration is being largely attended by people from Somerset and other counties as well as from Wicomico who take this opportunity of renewing old acquaintances.

WHEELS OF INDUSTRY HUMMING THESE DAYS AT SHIPYARD WITH MANY KEELS BEING LAID

Government Cutters, Pleasure Cruisers, Houseboat And Big Barge Are Keeping Forces Busy—Winter Repair Work On Fishing Schooners Netted Local Industries $50,000.

One of Salisbury's concerns where the wheels of industry are humming merrily these days and where work aplenty for several months to come is on hand with good prospects for additional jobs, is the Smith & Williams Shipyard.

A big job just completed by this firm is the conversion of the 100 foot tugboat "John W. Bowdoin", owned by Captain Oscar Crosswell, into a power boat. This craft is now driven with a 100 H. P. Fairbanks-Morse engine, the original after quarters have been torn out and the deck house built with pilot house connecting.

The owner is said to be particularly impressed with his living quarters which are said to be superior to the majority of crafts of this character. The time honored sailing craft, dependent upon nature for its motive power, is slowly going into the discard watermen say, and being supplanted by motor driven vessels.

Jobs which the concern are now working on are: two 65 foot cutters for the United States Coast Guard Department, one of which will be delivered about October 1st and the other, December 1st; a 68 foot cruiser for a northern party expected to be turned out in a few days; a 20 foot

RAILROAD COMMISSION ASKS FOR LOCAL VIEW

Opinion Of Traffic Manager Gardner Is Sought On Proposed Changes In Shore Routes.

Asked for his views on the proposed changes in the B. & A. and M. & D. V. railroads contemplated by the Pennsylvania System, Mr. W. T. Gardner, of the local Chamber of Commerce Traffic Department, will send in his written opinion to the investigating commission the latter part of this week.

Mr. Gardner's recommendations on the question will represent those of the business interests in this city and section and will chiefly concern themselves with the proposed changes on the B. & A. route. The traffic expert says that it is very likely that the final outcome of the matter will be a quick ferry service from Baltimore to Love Point, connecting with train at that terminal. Then the route across the Shore counties would be via Hillsboro, Easton, Salisbury, and Ocean City.

One hour in time will be saved under this plan, Mr. Gardner points out. This city is not greatly affected one way or the other in the matter he goes on to say, but the Chamber of Commerce is working for the best interests not only of Salisbury but of the whole Shore and therefore his recommendations would embody what some provisions be made for those towns between Easton and Claiborne which would be cut off from train service under the proposed plans.

The report embodying the data and recommendations of the traffic expert who recently made the survey of the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia railway was yesterday in the hands of S. Davies Warfield, chairman of the Eastern Shore Railroad Commission, appointed by Governor Ritchie.

Aided by this report, the committee of which Mr. Warfield is chairman, will make recommendations to Governor Ritchie which are expected to solve the problem of Eastern Shore transportation.

FAMOUS DIVING HORSE AGAIN BOOKED BY FAIR

Act That Thrilled Crowds Last Year Will Be At Great Salisbury Fair Beginning Tuesday.

Everything stands in readiness for the opening of the Great Salisbury Fair next Tuesday. Officials of the Fair announce that the exhibits this year will be bigger and better than ever before and high-class attractions have been secured for the entertainment of the many thousands of visitors who will come to the Wicomico grounds.

The famous act of the Diving Horse and Lady will again be the feature of the four days. This act last year proved to be the greatest attraction provided by the management and the officials made special arrangements for its repetition this season. Along with this wonderful exhibition there will be staged other acts of a high-class variety.

Motor-cycle races, in which the most daring riders compete, are expected to arouse the interest of the throngs who daily pass through the gates. The horse-races this year promise to be a great drawing card. The Fair managers wish to request through the press that all persons attending the Fair have the exact change ready at the ticket-selling stands. Four-day tickets can be purchased at all of the local drug-stores. These tickets, however, because of their low price, will not admit holder to the grounds at night.

ADDRESS MADE BEFORE ROTARY CLUB THURSDAY

Rev. Charles T. Hewitt Eulogizes Warren G. Harding At Solemn Meeting.

MEMORIAL SERVICES IN FRONT OF COURT HOUSE

City Preps On Friday In Order To Honor Memory Of The Late President—Quartet Sings Favorite Hymns Of Executive And Atwood Eulogizes Deceased.

Members of the local Rotary Club gathered with all business at their meeting last Thursday night out of respect for Warren G. Harding. The Club listened to an address by the Rev. Charles T. Hewitt, of St. Albans, W. Va.

On Friday, special Memorial Services were held on the Courthouse Plaza, after the business life of the city had come to a stop at 4 P. M. Prayers were offered, the favorite hymns of the late President were sung by a quartet and after a forceful address by Senator L. Atwood Bennett, the assembly was led by Mayor Kennedy in the singing of "America."

Herewith is given in full the message spoken to the Rotarians by the Rev. Hewitt.

When we think of Washington instinctively, "Father of his country," comes to mind. We think of Jefferson the Statesman, Grant the Silent, McKinley, the Gentle, Roosevelt, the Strenuous and Wilson, the Indomitable.

But whether we agreed with him or opposed him, Warren G. Harding by his attitude towards all men and things in general compelled us to think of him as the very personification of geniality. History may not record the things that Warren Harding reckoned the real accomplishments of his administration, but future generations will with throbs of the heart read of the kindness and humaneness of Harding, the Genial.

We have seen the rise and fall of supermen and it is a mooted question as to how large their names will loom in history. But as long as kindness and friendship for man hold sway over the esteem and heart of humanity, Warren Gamaliel Harding shall be remembered.

We shall remember Woodrow Wilson, the War President with a feelingless admiration that intellectual supremacy compels. We shall remember Theodore Roosevelt with the enthusiasm of an advocate or an antagonist. (Continued on Page Three)

SKIPPER FINDS BODY FLOATING NEAR WHARVES

When Recovered From River Man Is Identified As Quentin Driscoll.

Monday's Victim Last Seen On Saturday Night By Store Clerk—Thought To Have Been Drinking And Stumbled Overboard Near Main Street Bridge.

Another river tragedy was added to this year's total, when the body of Quentin Driscoll was pulled out of the murky Wicomico waters by local police on Monday morning. The body was discovered floating near one of the wharves in the north prong of the river above the Main Street bridge by the captain of an incoming sail vessel.

After the docking of his craft, the skipper immediately notified the local authorities of his finding and in a short time a big crowd had gathered on the bridge to watch the grapppling. When brought on shore, the stiff form of the drowned man showed no evidence of foul play and the theory advanced by the police was that he had stumbled overboard and was unable to save himself from the watery grave.

Mr. Driscoll was 55 years old and lived near this city. He was employed at the Claiborne box factory and investigation disclosed the fact that he was last seen alive by a clerk in a merchandise store on Dock street from whom he made purchases on Saturday night. Whatever prompted him to go down to the river front is a mystery and the authorities were unable to account for his actions after he left the store.

On Tuesday morning members of the jury empaneled for the inquest returned a verdict of accidental drowning as being responsible for Driscoll's death. No traces of foul play were discovered and the dead man still had his watch and a few dollars in his pockets when found. Samuel M. Quillen was foreman at the coroner's jury.

THREE MONTHS IN JAIL FOR DRY LAW VIOLATOR

James Taylor, Of Shavers, Also Fined $100 For Having Liquor In His Automobile.

James Taylor, of Shavers in the east side of the county, was sentenced to three months in jail and fined $100 and costs by Justice T. Rodney Jones in the local police court Tuesday morning. Taylor's sentence was pronounced after he had pleaded guilty to the charge of having liquor illegally in his possession.

He was arrested last week by Sheriff Farlow together with a deputy and a state policeman. He had been discovered transporting several quarts of liquor in his automobile. Since then he has been out under bond. The heavy fine imposed is an indication of the determination of the local courts to stamp out the wave of rebellion against Volsteadism which has been prevalent in this county for some time.

OPENS UP REPAIR SHOP.

Opening up last week an automobile repair shop on Circle avenue in the building formerly occupied by the Wood Richardson Auction House, Oscar Grier has added another auto shop to Salisbury's list of garages, where expert mechanical work can be had on a disabled motor car.

Mr. William Hopkins who has been visiting his mother in Baltimore for some time, has returned to this city.

TWO INJURED IN SMASH-UP LAST SUNDAY

Ocean City Road Adds Another Auto Mishap To Summer's Long List.

Mr. Frank R. Wilkens, Of Pittsville, Is Fined $10 And Costs In Local Police Court On Monday For Failing To Give Right Of Way.

Another Sunday crash was added this week to the already long list of accidents on the Ocean City highway. This time two cars came together in practically a head-on collision that sent one machine hurtling into a ditch, with serious injuries to its occupants. The other one was only slightly damaged and the passengers escaped with merely a bad shaking up.

In the wrecked car were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Harr, Miss Helen Harr and Mr. Henry Freese, all of Baltimore. The latter named was driving. The party had been vacationing at the beach and on Sunday afternoon the members were on their way back to Baltimore. They had left Ocean City about 1:30 o'clock planning to make the evening ferry at Claiborne.

They had just passed the Worcester-Wicomico county line when a machine driven by Mr. Frank R. Wilkens, of Pittsville, and coming from the direction of Salisbury, attempted to turn into the county road. In front of the approaching Baltimore car. The two machines crashed and the one bound for Claiborne was hurled into a ditch along side the roadway. Mrs. Harr suffered a badly wounded back and her husband was cut severely. Miss Harr and Mr. Freese were shaken-up considerably.

The two injured persons were taken to Salisbury in the machine of Mr. Henry Ennis, of this city, and their injuries were treated by Dr. Dick at the local hospital. They then proceeded to Baltimore by train. Obtaining a new front wheel Mr. Freese, accompanied by Miss Harr drove the badly battered car on to its destination.

On Monday afternoon, Mr. Wilkens was fined $10.00 and costs by Magistrate Rodney Jones on a charge of failing to give right of way. The law firm of Williams and Williams represented the Baltimoreans at the hearing, while Mr. Leonard Wallis was the attorney for Mr. Wilkens.

It has been learned that lines to co-operate a large bus system thru-out the Eastern Shore are soon to go into operation. Taking in all important towns on the Peninsula.

The past five months have been spent in a test-out of the passenger carrying business of the line between Salisbury and Claiborne, which has been declared a success.

It was decided to thoroughly try it out first on a main route, before installing a number of buses for other routes. A test-out during the summer months has shown the market for the bus business. The present can be made more going for the summer months and new equipment will be ordered.

FOREST SURVEY HAS BEEN FINISHED HERE

Reveals Number Of Wood-Using Plants Dependent On Home-Grown Pine For Their Raw Product.

The survey conducted in this county by representatives of the State Forestry Department has been completed. The survey was made with the purpose of ascertaining the demands for home-grown wood.

The outstanding fact brought out by this survey was the considerable number of wood using plants, not only in Salisbury but in the outlying sections of the county as well, with considerable investment in buildings and up-to-date equipment that are now dependent on home grown pine for their raw product.

With this supply cut off other sources would have to be sought, which means an increased freight bill, or else the plants would have to close down. It is the object of forestry to produce a continuous supply of the raw product wood.

It must be brought home to the woodland owners of Wicomico county that loblolly pine is just as much of a crop as the coupes or cumberbats, a crop as common sense agricultural methods that bring handsome returns from the cleared lands when applied to the timberlands cause pine to follow pine indefinitely to the advantage of their pocket books and the permanency of these wood using industries.

County Agent Cobb is planning a Farm Woodland week for the first week in October when the Forestry Department will co-operate with him and put on demonstration in which these demonstrations will consist of thinning, reseedling, etc. Any farmer desiring any assistance in his woodland problems is asked to get in touch with his County Agent before now and October 1st, so that all the work may be lined up before the intensive fall.

Very few farmers or owners of woodland timber realize just how much valuable aid and assistance can be secured from the State Department of Forestry. Of course some owners have taken advantage of this help and have been happily surprised at the result. Let every man or woman in Wicomico county who has woodland to timber get in touch with County Agent Cobb and let the Forestry Department see what it can do to be of assistance.

SALISBURY'S NEW ICE CREAM PLANT LAYS STRESS ON PASTEURIZED MILK PRODUCTS

Concern Is Handling Large Quantities Of Milk From Local Dairies—Summer Months Creating Big Demand For Ice Cream With Record Of Over 600 Gallons Sold In One Day.

The Peninsula Ice Cream Company, Salisbury's newest industry, is experiencing a busy season right at present and, according to a company official the business has exceeded expectations of even the most sanguine of its incorporators. The concern has sold as high as 600 gallons of ice cream in one day this summer and this is looked upon as a remarkable achievement especially in view of the keen business competition against which it has had to back.

Looking at the matter from another angle, however, it is not as strange as it might first seem. First the company is truly a home industry, all its capital stock being held by local people. Every ingredient used in the making of ice cream which it is possible to buy in Salisbury or thru Salisbury jobbers is acquired here. Fresh peaches, strawberries or other fruit, in season, are used in the ice cream. The chocolate is bought through local wholesalers and the plant is proving an outlet for the county's milk supply.

The milk is tested for butter fat and the product paid for according to the quantity of cream. Some dairymen are receiving 15 per cent. for their milk. The plant is owned by the Peninsula Ice Cream Company, which has a capital of $10,000. The plant is located on the shore of the ice cream manufacturing line. Although the plant has been in operation but a few months it is in a position to take care of the surplus milk in this section, thus insuring a steady revenue to farmers and most improved type, and the plant is superior to anything on the shore in the ice cream manufacturing line. The machinery is brand new and of the best quality which can be bought. In fact everything used in the plant is of the latest and most improved type, and the plant is superior to anything on the shore in the ice cream manufacturing line. The machinery is brand new and of the best quality which can be bought. Definite Steps Taken At Friday's Meeting Here To Recover Losses.

EXECUTIVE BODY WILL REPRESENT 11 COUNTIES

George W. Woolford, Of Cambridge, Chosen Chairman Of Active Committee—J. E. Adkins Selected Wicomico Delegate—Total Investment On Shore Estimated At $4,000,000.

Laying the foundation for a definite protective organization of R. L. Dollings Co. shareholders on the Delmarvia Peninsula, stockholders in the defunct firm of this section met in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Friday morning and after a long session, estimated by banking interests at upwards of 5,000 individuals in the 10 Shore counties have a total investment of over $4,000,000 in the Dollings securities.

The assembly was marked by a distinct air of placidity which might have been attributed either to the reverent attitude of the people on a day of nation-wide mourning, or to the shattered spirits of these Shoremen who had invested their savings in what they thought was a sound proposition only to be startled by the grim reality of a receivership.

There were present at the meeting delegates from Wicomico, Worcester and Dorchester counties as well as interested bankers and shareholders from the surrounding territory. Mr. C. Victor Mathews, general manager of the R. L. Dollings Co. in this district with headquarters at Eastern Md., was the first speaker of the afternoon and he stoutly defended himself and his corps of salesmen in the sale of stock to clients on the Eastern Shore.

Mr. Mathews declared that the R. L. Dollings company had inspired the confidence of all its agents by confidential letters sent out to the district managers and that whenever an official meeting was called the dealers had always been "above board." All had been imbued with apparent sincerity over the activities of the company.

The representative told his hearers that full details of the transactions of the company's business had been placed in the hands of United States District Attorney Amos W. Woodcock. He added that he himself was a heavy investor and that he wanted to co-operate with other shareholders to the fullest extent in recovering their losses. A letter was read from a Protective Committee just formed at Harrisburg, Pa., with purposes similar to the local organization, in which there was outlined a plan for all preferred stockholders to get together in taking over the control of the stock in all the Dollings subsidiaries and to continue the business of these companies.

However, those present this afternoon were loathe to take this measure and upon motion it was decided to name from the general protective committee, comprising 22 members, an executive board of five to look after the interests of all investors on the Peninsula. Mr. George W. Woolford, of Cambridge, President of the Eastern Shore Trust Company, was elected chairman. Mr. Woolford is not a shareholder but is deeply interested in the salvaging of the many investments. Two associates were named. They were: Mr. A. C. Hancock, of Stockton, Md., and Mr. J. E. Adkins, of Salisbury. These men represent Worcester and Wicomico counties respectively. The other two members of the executive council will be selected at a meeting to be called next week in this city at which will be invited delegates from the two.

COOPERATION OF FARMERS ON INCREASE

Annual Business Of Enterprises Estimated At Billion And A Half—More Than 14,000 Bodies Organized—These It Is Said Market 10 to 15% Total Produce.

During the last two years there has been a steady and, in some States, a spectacular increase in the number of farmers' co-operative enterprises, to a point where they are doing an annual business of probably $1,500,000,000, according to results of a survey being made by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Reports to the department indicate there are considerably more than 14,000 farmers' co-operative organizations in the country, located in all States, which market from 10 to 15 per cent of the total produce sold by farmers.

It is conservative to estimate, say Government officials, the total annual business of co-operatives at $1,500,000,000. The $1,000,000,000 mark was passed in 1919, and since then there has been a consistent growth in the co-operative movement.

A survey taken now to show the value of produce sold co-operatively would include many large organizations not existing in 1919, such as the large cotton and tobacco co-operatives of the Southern States, whose membership totals exceed all previous records. It would have to include many new organizations dealing in fruits, peanuts, rice, eggs, poultry and dairy products.

The first State-wide cotton co-operative organization was organized in Oklahoma in 1921. In two years it has grown to be one of the largest business organizations in the State, the department estimates. State-wide associations since have been formed in Mississippi, Texas, Arizona, North Carolina, Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama. These, with the exception of Mississippi, combined in a national organization known as the American Cotton Growers' Exchange with headquarters at Dallas, Texas. They have an aggregate membership of more than 175,000 cotton farmers and in normal years will control a production of more than 2,500,000 bales.

Another big co-operative organization which has sprung up during the last two years is the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association. This was formed in the fall of 1921 on a non-stock, non-profit basis under the co-operative law of Kentucky. It has more than 70,000 members and controls about 85 per cent of the burley tobacco grown in Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, Tennessee and West Virginia.

From January 1 to May 1, 1922, it received about 120,000,000 pounds of tobacco and sold about 70,000,000 pounds. Market conditions were favorable during this period and the association was able to secure prices nearly double those received by the growers in 1921. Other similar organizations also have been formed according to the Government's survey.

Government officials say it is noteworthy that the recent co-operative movement in the South has given rise to a number of associations whose membership exceeds the record held formerly by the California Fruit Growers' Exchange. This organization has a membership of around 10,500, compared with 70,000 in the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association and more than 60,000 each in the two other tobacco associations. The State cotton associations have memberships running well into five figures.

Information received by the Agricultural Department indicates that co-operation functions best when based on one commodity or on a group of related commodities. It requires competent management, sufficient capital, sufficient business and an informed membership.

In considering the objects which make for success in co-operative marketing, the department has found that certain agricultural products are handled to advantage over others. Livestock shipping appears to lend itself most readily to the co-operative method. Another form which is well understood is the co-operative creamery, and in this form the farmers of the North Central States have had great success.

Operation of co-operative elevators is more difficult, the department

states, owing to the complexity of the grain business, and, perhaps, also to the fact that grain marketing already is developed highly. Fruit marketing, owing to the perishable nature of the commodity, requires a high degree of selling organization and skill.

The Agricultural Department is making detailed studies of some of the older and more successful co-operative associations in this country, and also reaching into foreign countries where the movement originated. It is analyzing their principles and methods, and at the same time is making studies of some of the failures in co-operation.

These investigations it is believed will enable the department to set up danger signals where danger exists, and to mark where the road is clear. In this work it is giving special attention to the problem of standardization, because experience has shown there scarcely is one important marketing function that cannot be performed more effectively when the commodity is graded to recognized and definite specifications.—Balt. AUTO POLO FEATURE DELAWARE STATE FAIR

Auto polo, the most sensational and thrilling of America's outdoor attractions, will be one of the big features each day at the Delaware State Fair. In addition to the sensations, auto polo is the costliest attraction ever brought to Delaware. The State Fair management determined to make the 1923 Fair the greatest exhibit ever witnessed in Delaware, and has left no stone unturned to provide the highest class features obtainable and arrangements have been completed with A. C. Wilson, nationally known producer of auto polo to bring his celebrated aggregation here. The auto polo games will be played on the race track in front of the grandstand every afternoon of the Fair. Automobiles stripped for action and carrying two persons, one the driver and the other, the mallet man will play the game of polo mounted in cars instead of on horses.

This big sensational act provides amusing features with every thrilling expectancy and roars of laughter from the spectators follow chills and thrills in rapid succession, as the stripped cars career around the track in tail spins and head-on collisions, turning completely over and hurling drivers and mallet men through the air, side-swiping each other with a crash of broken wheels, accompanied by the roar of open exhausts and the bang of exploding tires. Auto polo is declared by those who have witnessed it, to provide more thrills in one minute than the ordinary act produces in an hour, and it is believed that it will prove the greatest drawing card ever introduced there.

Among the many interesting features of the woman's department at the Fair will be sewing, crocheting and knitting done by women over 70 years of age. The judging for the award of prizes will be under the scoring system in which workmanship will count for 50 points, design 25, cleanliness 10, and colors 15. There are 9 classes in the competition comprising display of old-fashioned sewing to include: felled seam, overseam, hem, tucks, and gathers done on stripes; plain hand-made garment (any kind); bedroom slippers knitted; specimen of cotton embroidery; plain hemming on any article; hand-made pillow case; apron, any design; rag rug; plaited; centre-piece crocheted in cotton.

Cut Offs

If there is a "Cut Off" when a conversation is taking place over the telephone, THE PERSON WHO WAS CALLED SHOULD IMMEDIATELY HANG UP THE RECEIVER. The one who made the call should ask the operator to re-establish the connection, saying: "I was talking to — and was cut off."

If the person who was called does not hang up his receiver, his line may test "Busy" and be so reported to the party who is asking to have the connection re-established.

The "Cut Off" may be due to a number of things: an error of the operator; a temporary disarrangement of the signal apparatus; the replacing of the receiver on the hook by mistake by one of the persons talking, or for some other cause.

Realizing the annoyance "Cut Offs" cause our patrons, every possible precaution is taken to prevent them. It will help us to give you better service if, when a "Cut Off" does occur, you will follow the suggestion made above.

FANCY PEACHES FROM W. F. ALLEN ORCHARDS IN DEMAND AT MARKETS

77 Cars Have Been Shipped To Date Into Wide Eastern Area.

LARGE FORCE GATHERING BIG YIELD LOCAL FRUIT

Season's Shipments From This City
Will Probably Total Around 40,000 Bushels—Maryland Peaches More Than Holding Own Against Other Competitors In Receiving Centers.

"Fancy Peaches" from the "W. F. Allen Co., Salisbury, Md." Hundreds and hundreds of bushel baskets of the luscious fruit bearing these labels are being received daily in all of the large markets in the East. And repeat orders are coming back over the wires to the Allen orchards here for additional carloads. All of which goes to show that local peaches are coming into open competition with those from the Georgia orchards and other noted fruit centers of the country and the Maryland peach is more than holding its own.

77 huge refrigerator cars filled with the firm and near-ripe fruit have been shipped out from the Allen private siding this year and the total shipments will probably run well over a hundred cars. Counting 360 full bushel baskets to the car, this means in the neighborhood of 40,000 bushels of peaches. The average mind, unless trained in comparative figures can scarcely grasp the significance of the above estimate.

But one visit to the orchards of the W. F. Allen Co. on the south side of the city would serve to fully convey a clear idea of the immensity of this fruit industry that began in infant form years back and which today stands as one of the leading orchards in the whole country. They say that over 40,000 trees are included in the acres and acres under cultivation.

This week finds the Allen forces in the midst of a concentrated drive on the heavily-laden fruit trees. Seven to ten cars a day are being loaded and shipped to markets scattered over the entire Eastern States. For instance on Tuesday, principal receiving points were: Lexington, Kentucky; Dayton, Ohio; Charleston, W. Va.; and New Haven, Conn. Fair prices are being obtained with the American Fruit Growers Inc. handling the sales for the Nurseries.

The crop this year will be the largest ever picked by the Allen Company but this may in a measure be attributed to the large acreage of fruit-bearing trees. The senior member of the company said yesterday that four years ago the yield was just as heavy as this season. Forces are working day and night at the sorting station while in the day time a large corps of pickers are busy gathering the fruit. Over 250 employees are now carrying the pay-roll of the W. F. Allen & Co.

WHEELS OF INDUSTRY HUMMING THESE DAYS AT SHIPYARD WITH MANY KEELS BEING LAID

Government Cutters, Pleasure Cruisers, Houseboat And Big Barge Are Keeping Forces Busy—Winter Repair Work On Fishing Schooners Netted Local Industries $50,000.

One of Salisbury's concerns where the wheels of industry are humming merrily these days and where work aplenty for several months to come is on hand with good prospects for additional jobs, is the Smith & Williams Shipyard.

A big job just completed by this firm is the conversion of the 100 foot barge "John W. Bowdoin", owned by Captain Oscar Crosswell, into a power boat. This is now driven with a 100 H. P. Fairbanks-Morse engine, the original after quarters have been torn out and the deck house built with pilot house connecting.

The owner is said to be particularly impressed with his living quarters which are said to be superior to the majority of crafts of this character. The time honored sailing craft, dependent upon nature for its motive power, is slowly going into the discard watermen say, and being supplanted by motor driven vessels.

Jobs which the concern are now working on are: two 65 foot cutters for the United States Coast Guard Department, one of which will be delivered about October 1st and the other, December 1st; a 68 foot cutter for a northern party expected to be turned out in a few days; a 70 foot

Opinion Of Traffic Manager Gardner Is Sought On Proposed Changes In Shore Routes.

Asked for his views on the proposed changes in the B. C. & A. and M. D. & V. railroads contemplated by the Pennsylvania System, Mr. W. T. Gardner, of the local Chamber of Commerce Traffic Department, will send in his written opinion to the investigating commission the latter part of this week.

Mr. Gardner's recommendations on the question will represent those of the business interests in this city and section and will chiefly concern themselves with the proposed changes on the B. C. & A. route. The traffic expert says that it is very likely that the recommendations would embody a quick ferry service from Baltimore to Love Point, connecting with train at that terminal. Then the route across the Shore counties would be via Hillsboro, Easton, Salisbury, and Ocean City.

One hour in time will be saved under this plan, Mr. Gardner points out. This city is not greatly affected one way or the other in the matter he goes on to say, but the Chamber of Commerce is working for the best interests not only of Salisbury but of the whole Shore and therefore the recommendations would embody what some provisions be made for those towns between Easton and Claiborne which would be cut off from train service under the proposed plans.

The report embodying the data and recommendations of the traffic expert will be made a part of the survey of the Maryland, Delaware and Virginia railways was yesterday in the hands of S. Davies Warfield, chairman of the Eastern Shore Railroad Commission, appointed by Governor Ritchie.

Aided by this report, the committee of which Mr. Warfield is chairman, will make recommendations to Governor Ritchie which are expected to solve the problem of Eastern Shore transportation.

FAMOUS DIVING HORSE AGAIN BOOKED BY FAIR

Act That Thrilled Crowds Last Year Will Be At Great Salisbury Fair
Beginning Tuesday.

Everything stands in readiness for the opening of the Great Salisbury Fair next Tuesday. Officials of the fair announce that the exhibits this year will be bigger and better than ever before and high-class attractions have been secured for the entertainment of the many thousands of visitors who will come to the Wicomico grounds.

The famous act of the Diving Horse and Lady will again be the feature of the fair. This act, last year proved to be the greatest attraction provided by the management and the officials made special arrangements for its repetition this season. Along with this wonderful exhibition there will be staged other acts of a high-class variety.

Motor-cycle races, in which the most daring riders compete, are expected to arouse the interest of the throngs who daily pass through the gates. The horse-races this year promise to be a great drawing card. The fair management will make the most of the fact that all persons attending the fair have the exact change ready at the ticket-selling stands. Four-day tickets can be purchased at all of the local drug-stores. These tickets, however, because of their low price, will not admit holder to the grounds at night.

ADDRESS MADE BEFORE ROTARY CLUB THURSDAY

Rev. Charles T. Hewitt Eulogizes Warren G. Harding At Solemn Meeting.

MEMORIAL SERVICES IN FRONT OF COURT HOUSE

City Passes On Friday In Order To Honor Memory Of The Late President—Quartet Sings Favorite Hymns Of Executive And Atwood Bannett Dancers Address.

Members of the local Rotary Club gathered last Thursday night out of respect for Warren G. Harding. The club listened to a splendid address by the Rev. Charles T. Hewitt, of St. Albans, W. Va.

On Friday, special Memorial Services were held on the Courthouse Plaza, after the business life of the city had come to a stop at 4 P. M. Prayers were offered by the favorite hymns of the late President were sung by a quartet and after a forceful address by Senator L. Atwood Bennett, the assembly was led by Mayor Kennedy in the singing of "America."

Hereafter is given in full the message spoken to the Rotarians by Rev. Hewitt.

"When we think of Washington instinctively, 'Father of his country', comes to mind. We think of Jefferson the Statesman, Grant the Silent, McKinley, the Gentle, Roosevelt, the Strenuous and Wilson, the Indomitable."

But whether we agreed with him or opposed him, Warren G. Harding by his attitude towards all men and things in general compelled us to think of him as the very personification of geniality. History may not record the things that Warren Harding reckoned the real accomplishments of his administration, but future generations will with throbs of the heart read of the kindness and humaneness of Harding, the Genial.

We have seen the rise and fall of supermen and it is a mooted question as to how large their names will loom in history. But as long as kindness and friendship for man hold sway over the stern and heart of humanity, Warren Gamaliel Harding shall be remembered.

We shall remember Woodrow Wilson, the War President with a feeling of admiration that intellectual supremacy compels. We shall remember Theodore Roosevelt with the enthusiasm of an advocate or an antagonist.

SKIPPER FINDS BODY FLOATING NEAR WHARVES

When Recovered From River Man Is Identified As Quentin Driscoll.

Monday's Victim Last Seen On Saturday Night By Store Clerk—Thought To Have Been Drinking And Stumbled Overboard Near Main Street Bridge.

Another river tragedy was added to this year's total when the body of Quentin Driscoll was pulled out of the murky Wicomico waters by local police on Monday morning. The body was discovered floating near one of the wharves in the north prong of the river above the Main Street bridge by the captain of an incoming sail vessel.

After the docking of his craft, the skipper immediately notified the local authorities of his finding and in a short time a big crowd had gathered on the bridge to watch the grapppling. When brought on shore the stiff form of the drowned man showed no evidence of foul play and the theory advanced by the police was that he had stumbled overboard and was unable to save himself from the watery grave.

Mr. Driscoll was 55 years old and lived near this city. He was employed at the Dikaroon box factory and investigation disclosed the fact that he was last seen alive by a clerk in a merchandise store on Dock street from whom he made purchases on Saturday night. Whatsoever prompted him to go down to the river front is a mystery and the authorities were unable to account for his actions after he left the store.

On Tuesday morning members of the jury empaneled for the inquest returned a verdict of accidental drowning as being responsible for Driscoll's death. No traces of foul play were discovered and the dead man still had his watch and a few dollars in his pockets when found. Samuel M. Quillen was foreman of the coroner's jury.

THREE MONTHS IN JAIL FOR DRY LAW VIOLATOR

James Taylor, Of Shavox, Also Fined $100 For Having Liquor In His Automobile.

James Taylor, of Shavox in the east side of the county, was sentenced to three months in jail and fined $100 and costs by Justice T. Rodney Jones in the local police court Tuesday morning. Taylor's sentence was pronounced after he had pleaded guilty to the charge of having liquor illegally in his possession.

He was arrested last week by Sheriff Farlow together with a deputy and a state policeman. He had been discovered transporting several quarts of liquor in his automobile. Since then he has been out under bond. The heavy fine imposed is an indication of the determination of the local courts to stamp out the wave of rebellion against Volsteadism which has been prevalent in this county for some time.

OPENS UP REPAIR SHOP.

Opening up last week an automobile repair shop on Circle avenue in the building formerly occupied by the Wood Richardson Auction House, Oscar Grier has added another auto shop to Salisbury's list of garages, where expert mechanical work can be had on a disabled motor car.

Mr. William Hopkins who has been visiting his mother in Baltimore for some time, has returned to this city.

TWO INJURED IN SMASH-UP LAST SUNDAY

Ocean City Road Adds Another Auto Mishap To Summer's Long List.

Mr. Frank R. Wilkens, Of Pittsville, Is Fined $10 And Costs In Local Police Court On Monday For Failing To Give Right Of Way. Injured Car Finished Its Journey.

Another Sunday crash was added this week to the already long list of accidents on the Ocean City highway. This time two cars came together in practically a head-on collision that sent one machine hurtling into a ditch with serious injuries to its occupants. The other one was only slightly damaged and the passengers escaped with merely a bad shaking up.

In the wrecked car were Mr. and Mrs. George W. Harr, Miss Helen Harr and Mr. Henry Freese, all of Baltimore. The latter named was driving. The party had been vacationing at the beach and on Sunday afternoon the members were on their way back to Baltimore. They had left Ocean City about 1:30 o'clock planning to make the evening ferry at Claiborne.

They had just passed the Worcester-Wicomico county line when a machine driven by Mr. Frank R. Wilkens, of Pittsville, and coming from the direction of Salisbury, attempted to turn into the county road in front of the approaching Baltimore car. The two machines crashed and the one bound for Claiborne was hurled into a ditch along side the roadway. Mrs. Harr suffered a badly wrenched back and her husband was cut severely. Miss Harr and Mr. Freese were shaken up considerably.

The two injured persons were taken to Salisbury in the machine of Mr. Henry Ennis, of this city, and their injuries were treated by Dr. Dick at the local hospital. They then proceeded to Baltimore by train. Obtaining front wheel, Mr. Freese, accompanied by Miss Harr drove the badly battered car on to its destination.

On Monday afternoon, Mr. Wilkens was fined $10.00 and costs by Magistrate Rodney Jones on a charge of failing to give right of way. The law firm of Williams and Williams represented the Baltimoreans at the hearing, while Mr. Leonard Wallis was the attorney for Mr. Wilkens.

SHORE TRANSIT LINE PLANNING NEW ROUTES

Declaring Claiborne-Salisbury Line
Huge Success Officials Are About To Add New Equipment.

It has been learned that lines to co-operate a large bus system through the Eastern Shore are soon to go into operation, taking in all important towns on the Peninsula.

The past five months have been spent in a test-out of the passenger carrying business of the line between Salisbury and Claiborne, which has been declared a success.

It was decided to thoroughly try it out first on main routes, before installing a number of buses for other routes. A test-out during the summer months has shown the management that the bus business is a profitable one and that the equipment now being purchased will be of great value.

FOREST SURVEY HAS BEEN FINISHED HERE

Reynolds Number Of Wood-Using Plants Dependent On Home-Grown Pine For Their Raw Product.

The survey conducted in this county by representatives of the State Forestry Department has been completed. The survey was made with the purpose of ascertaining the demands for home-grown wood.

The outstanding fact brought out by this survey was the considerable number of wood using plants, not only in Salisbury but in the outlying sections of the county as well, with considerable investment in buildings and up-to-date equipment that are now dependent on home grown pine for their raw product.

With this supply cut off, other sources would have to be sought, which means an increased freight bill, or else the plants would have to close down. It is the object of forestry to produce a continuous supply of the raw product wood.

It must be brought home to the woodland owners of Wicomico county that lobolly pine is just as much of a crop as any other crop or cucumber. The same common sense agricultural methods that bring handsome returns from the cleared lands when applied to the timberlands cause pine to follow pine indefinitely to the advantage of their pocket books and the permanency of these wood using industries.

County Agent Cobb is planning a Farm Woodland week for the first week in October when the Forestry Department will co-operate with him and put on demonstration in the county. These demonstrations will consist of thinning, reseedling, etc. Any farmer desiring any assistance in his woodland problems is asked to get in touch with his County Agent between now and October 1st, so that all the work may be lined up before the intensive drive.

Very few farmers or owners of woodland or timber realize just how much valuable aid and assistance can be secured from the State Department of Forestry. Of course some owners have taken advantage of this help and have been happily surprised at the result. At every man or woman in Wicomico county who have woodland to timber get in touch with County Agent Cobb and let the Forestry Department see what it can do to be of assistance.

SALISBURY'S NEW ICE CREAM PLANT LAYS STRESS ON PASTEURIZED MILK PRODUCTS

Concern Is Handling Large Quantities Of Milk From Local Dairies—Summer Months Creating Big Demand For Ice Cream
With Record Of Over 600 Gallons Sold In One Day.

The Peninsula Ice Cream Company, Salisbury's newest industry, is experiencing a busy season right at present and, according to a company official the business has exceeded expectations of even the most sanguine of its incorporators. The concern has sold as high as 600 gallons of ice cream in one day this summer and this is looked upon as a remarkable achievement especially in view of the keen business competition against which it has had to buck.

Looking at the matter from another angle, however, it is not as strange as it might first seem. First the company is truly a home industry, all its capital stock being held by local people. Every ingredient used in the making of ice cream which it is possible to buy in Salisbury comes thru Salisbury jobbers is acquired here. Fresh peaches, strawberries or other fruit, in season, are used in the ice cream. The chocolate is bought through local wholesalers and the plant is proving an outlet for the county's milk supply.

The milk is tested for butter fat and the product paid for according to the quantity it contains. Some dairymen are receiving 12 per cent. for their milk and others 10 per cent. for their cream.

EXECUTIVE BODY WILL REPRESENT 11 COUNTIES

George W. Woolford, Of Cambridge, Chosen Chairman Of Active Committee—J. E. Adkins Selected Wi-comico Delegate—Total Investment
On Shore Estimated At $4,000,000.

Laying the foundation for a definite protective organization of R. L. Dollings Co. shareholders on the Delmarva Peninsula, stockholders in the defunct firm and representative business men of this section met in the Chamber of Commerce rooms Friday morning and afternoon and estimated by banking interests the upwards of 5,000 individuals in the 10 Shore counties have a total investment of over $4,000,000 in the Dollings securities.

The assembly was marked by a distinct air of placidity which might have been attributed either to the reverent attitude of the people on a day of nation-wide mourning, or to the shattered spirits of these Shoremen who had invested their savings in what they thought was a sound speculation only to be startled by the grim reality of a receivership.

There were present at the meeting delegates from Wicomico, Worcester and Dorchester counties as well as interested bankers and shareholders from the surrounding territory. Mr. C. Victor Mathews, general manager of the R. L. Dollings Co. in their district with headquarters at Eastern Md., was the first speaker of the afternoon and he stoutly defended himself and his corps of salaried men in the sale of stock to clients on the Eastern Shore.

Mr. Mathews declared that the R. L. Dollings company had inspired the confidence of all its agents by confidential letters sent out to the district managers and that whenever an official meeting was called the dealers had always been "above board." All had been imbued with apparent sincerity over the activities of the company.

The representative told his hearers that full details of the transactions of the company's business had been placed in the hands of United States District Attorney Amos W. Woodcock. He added that he had been a heavy investor and that he wanted to co-operate with other shareholders to the fullest extent in recovering their losses. A letter was read from a Protective Committee just formed in Harrisburg, Pa., with purposes similar to the local one, in which there was outlined a plan for all preferred stockholders to get together in taking over the control of the stock in all the Dollings subsidiaries and to continue the business of these companies.

However, those present this afternoon were loathe to take this action and upon motion it was decided to name from the general protective committee, comprising 22 members, an executive board of five to look after the interests of all investors on the Peninsula. Mr. George W. Woolford, of Cambridge, Md., and Mr. J. E. Adkins, of Salisbury, these two represent Worcester and Wicomico counties respectively. The other two members of the executive council will be selected at a meeting to be called next week in this city at which will be invited delegates from the two

ANIMALS HAVE PROGRESSED WITH HUMANS

Scientist Says They Have Kept Pace With Man's Development Since Have Won Signal Victory Over Enemies By Using Brain Power.

"Modern domestic animals in proportion to their brain power, have progressed as much as modern man," declared a scientist at the American Museum of Natural History, who has just completed an exhaustive survey of animal life in the antipodes.

"Animal life developed in Australia, unmodified for centuries," he said. "Australia was not discovered by the white man until 1631, and domestic animals were not brought over from England until nearly 200 years later. Yet the imported domestic animals—sheep, horses, cows, swine—wiped away hordes of hideous tiger cats, grotesque porcupines and even larger and more powerful animals by sheer brain power."

"Australia is the mecca of zoologists. Through endless ages animals have followed their evolutionary course in Australia—many of the species strange, aloof, grotesque."

"Animal life on the island continent even today is unusual," Dr. Raven said. "We were startled by it. We saw patches of red and green shoot through the forest and found them to be strange animals seen nowhere else. We discovered animals whose glands were thick with poison; bird-like porcupines which are carnivorous; tiger cats with ominous eyes."

"Our own American ideas of man is just what you see before us."

"But if hundreds of modern white men were shipped to an island where they would adapt themselves, reproduce and continue for countless millions of years, what a curious race of man would develop! Modern man of millions of years hence would look upon the island as a sort of strange and comical play."

"So it was with the advent of the British into the savage kingdom of Australia. Doves of domestic animals flocked with the British into the wild, barren territory of Australia. The savages outnumbered them a hundred to one. The savages, too, were possessed of all the tools that they had learned to wield in their fight for life. The civilized animals had only their alertness of brain which conquered. It was the alertness and brain capacity, as the scientist pointed out, that won the war for the civilized animals and the physical strength and that the result of a developed brain.

Lower forms of animals respond to environment with the same rapidity of man, said Dr. Raven. When shut off from civilization they break away from the structural plan and develop into curious and often unrecognizable types.—Salt News.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

DO YOU APPRECIATE YOUR CHILDREN?
By Helen Greig Green

I happened to be chatting at my neighbor's across the way, when her little daughter, Hilda, and her niece, a year older, came home from school. "Look at my report, Aunt May-belle," said Marie, thrusting her report at her aunt.

"And where is yours, daughter?" Hilda's mother demanded.

"Oh, darling, don't call me 'daughter,'" teased Hilda.

Then coaxing the child's report card from her, the mother began to scrutinize it.

"I suppose you've disappointed me again," she exclaimed, while Hilda stood pulling nervously at her little handkerchief.

"Why is it?" the mother asked, "that one member of the family has all the brains? Oh Hilda, this is too disheartening!" she added.

"But look, Mrs. Field," begged Hilda, holding me the report. "Don't you think my art grade good?"

It was excellent; and so was her music grade, both of which the mother seemed to have ignored.

A few days later I met Hilda's teacher.

"How is my little neighbor, Hilda, getting along in school?" I inquired.

"Well," the teacher hesitated. "I don't know. There's something wrong. Someone is killing that child's spirit. I can't fathom it. She has a beautiful voice, quite the loveliest in the room, but the other day I noticed she was not leading the children in the singing as usual. That afternoon I called her to me, as she was washing the board. I asked, 'Why it is, dear, that my little girl hasn't been singing lately?' And to my surprise, she began crying. 'I can't sing. All I do is to wish I could get grades like Marie.'"

I said, "Oh, I thought so!"

And Miss Reid, seeing I was interested, continued.

"Poor little child! She has tried so hard, and she does good work in school. As for her cousin, Marie, she is a brilliant child, but she is not a lovable one. I had several unfortunate experiences with her, while Hilda's brown eyes danced, 'Is the pride of my heart. She has, oh, so much personality.'"

And then I told her the little incident of the report.

"Ah at last we have the answer. Well, I don't need to go down town, anyway. I'm going to see Hilda's mother," she declared.

The next day my neighbor across the way came to see me.

"Oh, what a foolish mother. I've been," she said, "breaking the spirit of my little girl. I am so grateful to her teacher for opening my eyes. I have learned there are other assets besides high grades. I guess—I didn't appreciate my little girl."

And I thought, "I wonder how many of us do appreciate our children."

MOTHER'S CLOTHES

By Lydia Lion Roberts

"Why mother," cried the little boy, his eyes shining, "you look just like a schoolgirl in that white waist and blue tie. I like that, wear it again."

Children do not notice mother's clothes and are quite as conscious of them as the reasons for their approval or disapproval of various dresses, and a wise mother will talk over her clothes with the children. If she explains the reason she chose a certain color, how she matched her hat to her gloves, why this color is stronger than something else, and the little effects that combine to make a good taste, the children will not only be pleased at her confidence in their understanding, but will absorb much useful knowledge about clothes.

Sometimes a mother does not realize the pride and interest the children take in her clothes.

If a mother gets careless or discouraged and lets her clothes lose their charm, the children resent it even if they do not voice it. It is only fair to the children for mother to spend as much effort and thought on her own clothes as she does on their fascinating apparel, and then in later years they will not demand everything, but will want mother to have pretty things too.

It pays to understand and weigh a child's remarks about clothes as they are one way of learning how the little brain is working. A mother came into the room where two boys were playing and showed them her new silvery gray straw hat.

"You look just like a hearse," announced the younger boy delightedly.

The remark was rather startling, but the mother smiled and said, "Do you like this hat?"

"Oh yes, it's so shiny and pretty," replied the boy, "and I like the silver look."

"Did you see anything to-day about that same color?" asked the mother, still searching for the reason back of that first remark.

"Yes, I saw a carriage all silver and shiny like your hat," nodded the child.

"And brother said it was a hearse," said the older boy.

The connection was explained, for, childlike, he had connected the first gray hearse he had seen with the silvery gray hat. His mind was grasping the fact of a new color effect.

If the mother had been irritated at his impulsive remark, or had laughed it away, she would have hurt the child and driven his new thoughts and confidences back into himself.

To dress tastefully, to bring the children into companionship with mother by sensibly discussing clothes and the art of dressing, to make it a jolly, festive occasion when mother has something new, is to realize that in the development of the child life an important part is played even by mother's clothes.

Address Made Before Rotary Club Thursday

gonist of the things for which he stood.

We remember Washington and Lincoln largely because of the times in which they lived. Their setting in history has enriched them with a glamor that makes them part of the scene. The memory of Lincoln will ever be the heart and soul of the age.

The ways of Providence are marvelous and not easy to understand. After the Armistice when a period of Reconstruction loomed ahead with the awful years of 66-68, the disgraceful background of a never to be forgotten precedent, the country called for a savior. Lincoln, Cleveland and Wilson dwindled into the status of Pignoles compared with the national deity.

Then it was that Roosevelt, the Strenuous, once again came to the lips of all. Those who had hated him in days gone by, loving him none the more, pleaded for the sway of his scepter again.

The morning after Roosevelt's death a man of wonderfully cool judgment said: "We have always trusted Providence hitherto, but Roosevelt's death at this time baffles me and makes me halt in my faith."

But when the din of political strife was over and the smoke of the battlefield had lifted, this same Providence that crippled a Wilson and removed a Roosevelt, gave us Harding. And who is there that questions the wisdom of Providence today?

A gentle hand was needed. The milk of human kindness was the antidote for the ills of the time and we knew it not.

May we not see Providence still at work amid the shadows as in the full play of sunshine on the open sea? Perhaps Harding the Gentle, has finished his task. Perhaps the discordant elements of our national life have been drawn together sufficiently to concentrate on some procedure for national progress that needs the call of a harsher voice and the touch of a stronger hand.

Boy of the homely chore, son of the soil, take courage. Amid all the pomp and ostentation that a devoted nation can heap upon a dead chief, Warren Gamaliel Harding the Farmer boy has been laid to rest.

The old saying "You may be President some day, is no longer a platitude. What else Warren G. Harding may have meant to his country, the sunlight of opportunity seems to be all the brighter since his advent.

lower Delaware counties and the six other Maryland counties.

The committee, known as the "Shareholders Protective Committee," proposes to request all investors in the Dollings securities to deposit the certificates with the county bank with which the usual business is transacted, together with full power of attorney, the latter to be transferred to the protective committee. An amount representing from one-half to 1 per cent of the par value of the certificates will also be deposited for use by the committee in legal proceedings if such is deemed necessary.

It was pointed out that $4,000,000 or more, represented on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Delaware is sufficient to give the stockholder here some voice in any procedure taken by the committee. Given the power of attorney of all the stockholders of the district, the executive committee will at once proceed to operate through the proper channels to protect the interests of the 11 counties as a whole. If necessary, a corporation attorney will be employed.

INVEST AT HOME.

Startling and productive of sounder financial reasoning on the part of every citizen in the community should be the reports regarding the severe losses in investments sustained by people in this section on account of the recent falling of the R. L. Dollings Company. That upwards of 5,000 investors on this Peninsula stand chances of losing in the neighborhood of $4,000,000 is a fact that today is causing alarm in financial circles on the Shore. Hundreds of Wicomico shareholders are included in the number of unfortunate individuals who sought to accrue fabulous incomes by speculative placing of their savings in outside holdings.

The tragic crash that accompanied the receivership proceedings of the Dollings Company in Ohio is poignantly felt in this community. Although there still remains hope on the part of many of the shareholders to recover a portion of their apparent losses, it is doubtful if anywhere near the amount invested can be salvaged. Steps are being taken in the formation of a "Shareholders' Protective Committee" to look after the interests of those who subscribed to stock in the many subsidiaries of the R. L. Dollings organization and with friendly bankers lending a helping hand it is possible that a favorable reckoning can be attained.

There remains, however, a powerful lesson in financial management to be drawn from the whole affair. Experience is a cruel teacher and there is an old adage that says something about a burnt child never playing with fire a second time. But unless those persons involved in this great financial calamity see the folly of their doings and recognize wherein they have erred, there is apt to be a repetition. Perhaps they themselves will never again make such a costly mistake of judgment but their fellow-men might.

And so it is incumbent upon every citizen, be it man or woman, to profit by the example set before him or her at this time. The value and wisdom of investing at home, should now loom up large in the mind of every would-be investor. He has around him acres and acres of land, rich in resources, that have been proven by time to be worthy of consideration. There are countless home enterprises that are paying substantial dividends to their backers. Real estate is commanding the attention of the money-interests because of rising values. And then there are the home-town banks that offer fair interest returns on deposits in addition to stock shares in the institutions themselves.

How long are people going to be foolish and forsake such stable and sound ventures to listen to the siren songs of quick wealth. Disaster invariably crawls hand in hand with the follower of the "Bag of Gold." Rather than hunt fortune overnight away from home, the thrifty investor seeks counsel by day at his bank. Let him ever keep in mind the slogan, "Invest at home."

SANITATION AND INOCULATION.

Realizing the imminent danger of a typhoid epidemic inflicting itself upon Wicomico county, last week the local medical association through the medium of an announcement by its secretary warned individuals in the community against a serious typhoid outbreak and urged them to take preventive measures against its occurrence.

This warning by the medical body is worthy of the most grave consideration by every man, woman and child in the community. Typhoid fever is a disease dreaded by all who have ever come into contact with it. Those who are forced to undergo its throes of illness can consider themselves indeed fortunate if they emerge safely from the terrors of the sick-bed and even then they are burdened with far-reaching effects from the fever that leaves their constitutions weak and susceptible to other diseases.

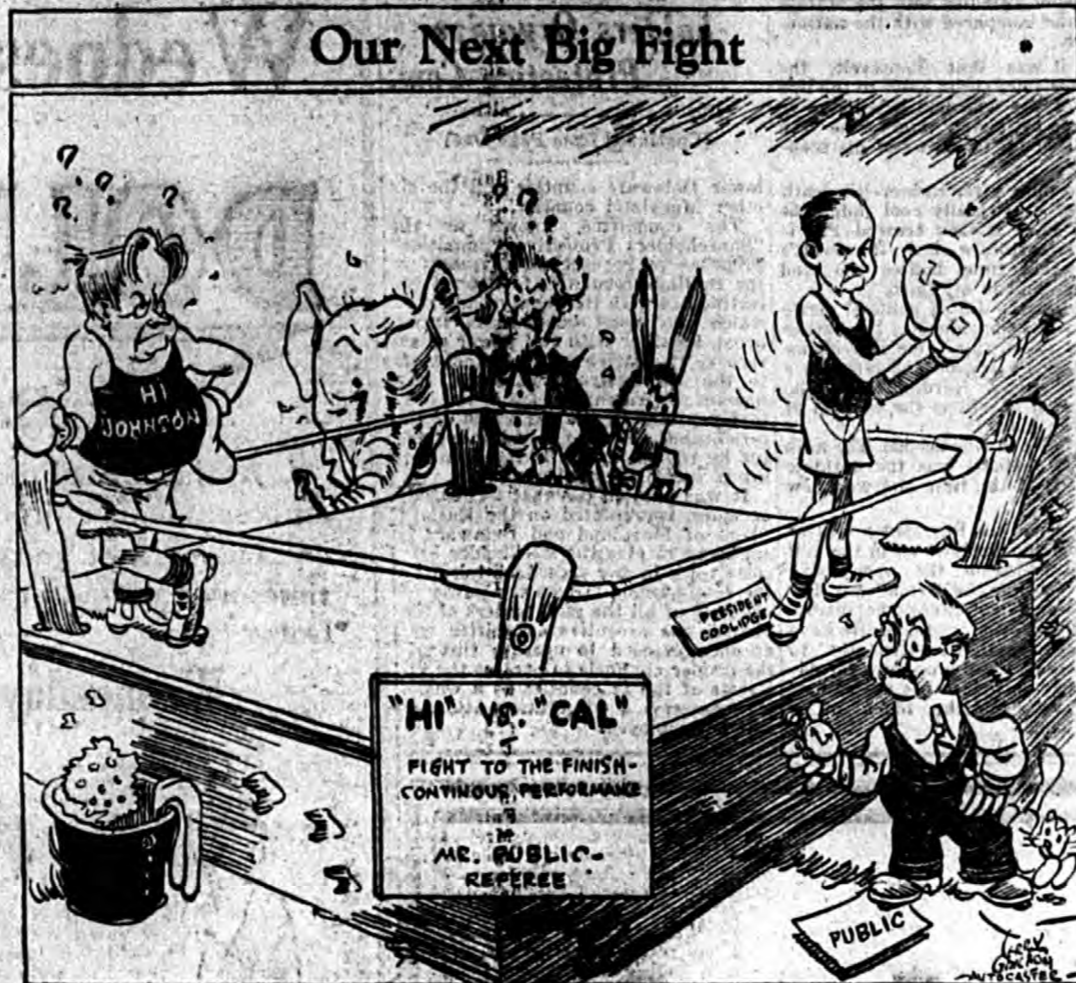

Sanitation and inoculation are two correctives to withstand the onslaught of the typhoid germ. Doctors call the attention of the people to the wisdom in making a thorough investigation of their water and milk supplies. During the summer months, it is expedient to use only boiled water unless the consumer is absolutely certain that the water obtained is free from bacteria of harmful nature. The milk supply is also a big factor in the health program and the individual should assure himself that he is getting milk from dairies where only the most sanitary conditions prevail and where the cattle have passed an exacting tuberculin test.

Inasmuch as typhoid fever is known today as the "filth disease", one can readily see why absolute sanitation is regarded as its most formidable enemy. The city health authorities should take drastic measures to provide complete sanitary conditions for the populace. In those parts of the city and county where sewerage systems have not been established, fly-tight, earth-pit toilets should be built, provided they are located 75 to 100 feet away from wells and springs and on lower ground. Surface wash or waste water should never be allowed to flow down into a well. Chloride of lime is recognized as a most useful disinfectant of out-door toilets.

Having taken every precaution possible against the existence of breeding places for typhoid bacteria, and having thoroughly investigated the water and milk supplies to eliminate any chance of taking into the system, the germ in this manner, there remains yet one active preventive measure. That is inoculation.

In this county, the state deputy health officer has announced that free serum can be obtained at his office. Every citizen who can take advantage of this offer and be inoculated should do so at once. To procrastinate may mean regrets later on. The process is very simple, but very effective. Inoculation proved its worth in the days of the great World War. Of the 4,000,000 service men inoculated in the American Army, only 1,500 contracted the disease, and but 150 deaths resulted. Contrasted with the results of typhoid fever in the days of the Spanish-American War, the value of serum injection stands out prominently. Of 100,000 men under arms in this war, 30,000 contracted typhoid and 2,000 of these died.

With a number of cases of typhoid already reported in this pears as if the time is ripe for action. The health authorities have their work laid out for them in providing most sanitary conditions for the people to live in, while the latter need to co-operate by sponsoring general inoculation.

PROFITS LOST.

Wicomico farmers have about passed through another cantaloupe season which certainly can not be regarded as a highly profitable one. While it is true that the growers failed to realize neat sums from their crops because of a bad slump in the city market prices that, however, is not the underlying reason. Those individuals who are in a position to know tell us that it is just the same old story again repeating itself, of premature picking of the melons off the vines and poor grading in preparation for shipment.

It does seem that it is about time that growers in this section would wake up to the fact that unless they change their methods of picking and grading their fruit they never will realize from their soil investments the full value. By strictly adhering to the policy of picking only the "just right" melons it has been pointed out by experts that the farmers in this region could almost double their profits on the "loupe" crop.

Representatives of the United States Department of Agriculture have made statements in the past to the effect that this section of the Peninsula could be developed into one of the greatest cantaloupe producing centers in the whole country. The opportunity for the growing of the melons on a large scale and of a super-fine quality has been found excellent here and it only remains for the growers to co-operate with the shippers in order to make the Wicomico "loupe" a favorite in all the big markets.

A Government expert has stated that here we have an excellent soil, a wonderful climate, splendid shipping facilities and close proximity to the choice Eastern markets, advantages that most of the other well-known cantaloupe sections, such as California, do not possess, at least in the same degree as Wicomico. Therefore, enjoying all of these natural advantages it certainly behooves us to follow them up with intelligent and standardized methods of picking and grading.

In other words, to make this county forge ahead in the successful exporting of huge quantities of the delicious cantaloupe, it is necessary for the growers not to pick their melons "too green," and when packing them into carriers to make careful assortments so that when they reach the markets, the quality having already been established, fancy prices will be paid. Then will the reputation of the Wicomico cantaloupe be known far and wide and real profit accrue to the grower. Let this be the goal in 1924.

RESPECTING YOUR OPINIONS.

Evidently the heads of our great railroad systems are coming to sense the fact that the opinion of the people in rural America is worthy of consideration. The new vice-president of the Long Island Railway Company announced the other day that the company proposed to talk to the people through the columns of the home town newspapers in paid advertising. He said he regarded the home town weekly newspaper as the most valuable of all advertising media because the readers have confidence in the sincerity of purpose of their home town editors.

There is nothing so beneficial for corporations as signed advertising that explains to the people their seeming shortcomings and recites their accomplishments. The people know the officials dare not advertise anything but the truth because they will be checked up. Consequently an honest story often turns bitterness of feeling into a desire for cooperation.

Naturally, the railroads are anxious not to fall again into government hands. They want to retain their business identity and make money, which is a laudable and legitimate desire. The railroads owe a debt to the public but by the same token the people owe to the railroads an obligation, namely to understand before they criticize. Nothing is more destructive than condemnation without knowledge of the facts. We hold no brief for the public corporation. Each must stand on its merits and be judged by its acts, but let us be just.

Bradstreet's Weekly Dist. Trade Report

Industry is perhaps more active than either jobbing or retail trade, although business generally continues quite satisfactorily. In most lines buying is active on a conservative basis with stocks especially in the hands of retailers not large. Property values are high, real estate is active but dwelling construction although still of considerable volume is slightly less than it was. The paper trade in of new water-borne wheat in this market so far this season amount to 176,764 bushels compared with 278,753 bushels arrived up to the same time last year. A considerable increase in receipts of new wheat is noted and the quality of the new crop is said to be excellent. The market in corn is unsettled with export demand quiet. Oats and rye meet with ready sale with receipts ample for trade needs. Butter and eggs are firm. Green fruits are quite plentiful but summer vegetables are somewhat scarce and high. Live stock continues quiet. Remittances in general are fair.

CROPS—The weather has remained excessively dry with rain fall sufficient only on the Eastern Shore. Pastures are fair only and rain is badly needed for all crops except in a few sections. In spite of the dry weather corn is reported to be in good condition and is beginning to mature generally. Wheat and rye are ready to harvest in the mountain districts with threshing continuing elsewhere. Oats have been mostly cut on the Eastern Shore and in southern Maryland with harvesting in progress elsewhere except in the mountain regions. Early potatoes are being dug and as a rule are a poor crop owing to the dry season. Tomatoes continue good and either fruiting or ripening. Picking and shipping of early varieties is in progress.

Mr. John F. Taylor Declares That There Are Two Sides To Every Question And That He Is Only Asking For Fair Reimbursement For Running Quantico Road Through His Property.

Editor of Wicomico News:

Dear Sir:
Would like to reply to your article of the last issue in regards to the State road. There is always two sides to most any thing. I believe you accused me of holding up the Quantico road, I am not. They have made three surveys across my field, I did object to two of them, the first and third and did not or never have objected to the second, only asked for my crops the State pay me for them. They will not accept my offer and run the third survey and want to cut my field still further out and run through a piece of timber and it will take from a third to half of it the way it runs. I can't see why I am holding up building the road. The $500.00 you spoke of, was for the timber and difference in the third survey. I think some of the public will agree with me.

ELMER C. WILLIAMS Files For State Senate

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF WICOMICO COUNTY.

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I hereby announce that I have filed the necessary papers to become a candidate for the State Senate, subject to the will of the voters at the Primary Election to be held on September 10th, 1923. As I do not belong to any political faction or organization I make my appeal for support direct to the people at large. Thus you may be assured that, if nominated and elected, I will always be found fighting in the future, as in the past, on the side of the taxpayers and the masses of the people of my native county, in all such matters as the bonding of this county, etc.

I heartily favor the extension of our wonderful State Roads System into several sections of our County now without them, and the widening of the Ocean City State Road from Salisbury to Ocean City; and I deplore the delay in the construction of the Nanticoke Road.

Thanking you for any word you may speak in my behalf and for any other aid you may render me, all of which I will endeavor to merit.

I beg to remain,

Yours very respectfully,

ELMER C. WILLIAMS.

COMEDY HAS ENJOYED LONG RECORD RUN OF THREE HUNDRED YEARS

One good way to judge a play is by the number of times it has been played. If audiences enjoy it, they recommend it to their friends and as it plays night after night making new friends all the time. Consequently, when we see a play advertised as having played 300 times in New York or 500 times in Chicago, we know that it is pretty likely to be an entertaining play.

What shall we say, then, of a play that has run not for 300 performances only, but for 300 years! Surely that indicates, absolutely, that it is an entertaining play!

"The Taming of the Shrew" made its audience roar with laughter when it was first produced, at the Globe Theatre, in London, more than 300 years ago, by William Shakespeare, the most popular playwright of his day. Since then it has been translated into nearly all languages, has been enjoyed by literally millions of people in every quarter of the globe, and today is just as entertaining and just as funny as it was the day it was written.

Its author has been pronounced, not only the "most popular playwright of his day," but the greatest poet and dramatist of all times. We know what would make his audience weep, as his great tragedies will testify; but he knew equally well what would make his audience laugh, and no play bears stronger witness of this than the hilarious story of "The Taming of the Shrew."

There is also a rollicking, romantic element to the story in the plight of Bianca, the pretty younger sister, whose father will not let her marry until her elder sister, the ill-tempered Katharine, has found a husband. The efforts of Bianca's suitors to find some man brave enough to marry Katharine; their meeting with the swagging, adventure-loving Petruchio, and his boast that he will marry Katharine and make a model wife of her; the way he carries out his boast; and the fight among Bianca's lovers as to which one shall marry her after her sister is safely out of the way, make up a play that is comedy and romance from beginning to end.

When the play is given here as a part of the Chautauque program, the role of Petruchio will be played by Mr. Moroni Olsen, one of the promising young actors of the American Theatre. Mr. Olsen has not only headed his own company on tour, but has appeared as leading man on Broadway in several metropolitan productions. The role of Katharine will be in the capable hands of Miss Janet Young, who has been associated with Mr. Olsen as leading woman for several seasons. Miss Young is a charming young actress and a gifted comedian. The remainder of the cast will be made up of equally proficient actors.

MARYLAND STANDS HIGH IN WEALTH

Total Resources in State Banks Cases Rank Of 15th To Be Given Although Maryland Ranks Only 28th In Population—Figures 299 Institutions The Banks.

Although Maryland ranks only twenty-eighth in population among the States of the United States, it stands fifteenth in total resources of State banking institutions. Total resources of the State banks, trust companies and mutual savings institutions of Maryland are $457,733,539.21.

These facts are shown in the annual report of R. N. Sims, secretary-treasurer of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks, copies of which have just been received by State Bank Commissioner George W. Page. The figures of 200 Maryland institutions are included in Mr. Sims' report. These institutions include all State banks, trust companies and mutual savings institutions that come under supervision of State Bank Commissioner Page, who furnished the Maryland figures to Mr. Sims.

With total capital, surplus and undivided profits of $60,365,986.91, Maryland stands thirteenth upon the list of States, while with capital of $20,010,548.78 it stands twenty-third, with surplus of $33,697,465.86 it stands tenth and with undivided profits of $6,657,917.60 it stands thirteenth.

Deposits of the Maryland State banking institutions aggregate $389,592,382.59, and the State stands fifteenth upon this list. In loans and discounts Maryland stands nineteenth, with a total of $169,095,768.15, while with a total of $193,992,646.03 bonds, stocks and other securities held by the banks Maryland stands tenth.

In every instance Maryland ranks well above its position of twenty-eighth in the tables showing the population of the States. In presenting his report to the convention of the National Association of Supervisors of State Banks, Mr. Sims said: "The capital, the deposits and the total resources of our banks are larger than ever before."

"On April 3, 1923, there was a total of $3,313 banks, of which 2,084 were State and 1,229 National banks, and in round numbers a total capital, surplus and undivided profits of $6,514,000,000, total deposits of $44,049,000,000 and total resources of $53,694,000,000. Total deposits of all banks were $2,943,000,000 above the previous high record of June 30, 1920, and total resources $2,806,000,000 above resources of that date."

"On April 3, 1923, in round numbers the capital, surplus and undivided profits of State banks was $3,641,000,000 and of National banks $2,872,000,000, showing the capital resources of the State banks to be 26 per cent. in excess of the National banks. The deposits of the State banks were $27,000,000,000 and of the National banks $17,036,000,000, showing the deposits of the State banks 58 per cent. in excess of the National banks. The total resources of the State banks were $32,081,000,000 and of the National banks $21,612,000,000, showing the resources of the State banks 48 per cent. in excess of the National banks."

"Between March 10, 1922, and April 3, 1923, deposits of the State banks increased $3,062,000,000 and deposits of the National banks increased $1,645,000,000. During the same period total resources of the State banks increased $3,272,000,000 and resources of the National banks increased $1,797,000,000."

THE NEW HANDKERCHIEF DRESS

Summer tub dresses are being made of large handkerchief squares of white linen bordered with light blue, rose, green or navy or of cotton handkerchiefs printed in Indo-Chinese or Persian patterns. The cotton handkerchiefs are brilliant in color—black printed in red, orange or yellow, cream with chocolate brown and rose red, clear blue with Persian designs in salmon, or ochre color patterns with green. The design of the handkerchiefs finishes the neck and short sleeves and makes a border for the straight skirt. The handkerchiefs can be bought by the yard and make extremely smart little dresses with practically no work because of their self-finished edges.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

The Democratic Voters of Wicomico County

After having given the matter due consideration and being urged thereto by the solicitation of many friends in all parts of the County, I hereby announce my candidacy for County Treasurer of Wicomico County, subject to the Democratic Primaries to be held in September.

If nominated and elected, I pledge myself to give the office my undivided attention and to conduct the same in an efficient and businesslike manner. 35-1016 WILLIAM GILLIS.

Announcement

Some time ago I announced publicly to the democracy of Wicomico County my candidacy to succeed myself as State's Attorney. For reasons then stated, my announcement had purposely been delayed until such time that I felt I could no longer ignore what I believed was a popular demand for a continuance of my services. For some time before making my decision, I was repeatedly urged to become a candidate by my friends and law-abiding citizens in general from all sections of the county. I accepted to their request only when I became convinced that it was upon the grounds of public welfare and not upon any personal consideration for myself. My past record in before and while in the past few years the criminal work of the county has greatly increased in volume, there has never been a time when I did not devote myself to the duties of this important office wholeheartedly. This explains why many have never been kept in attendance longer than 4 days during a term of court and have often been discharged in three days. This has effected an enormous saving to the taxpayers of our county. In addition, I might mention all expenses in connection with the prosecution of all the duties of my office have been paid by me personally, and at no time have our County Commissioners been billed for any of the same, whether it was gasoline, traveling expenses within the state, telephone, telegraph, or any other expense. It is a matter of considerable gratification to me to feel, as I do, that my announcement has been received so favorably throughout the county by our leading and law-abiding citizens who have so generously tendered me their support, without any solicitation whatever, and I can only add that in the event of my re-nomination and election, I shall take pride, as in the past, in giving our people the best that is within me.

Respectfully yours, CURTIS W. LONG.

WINTER SPORT FOR SALISBURY IS OVERLOOKED

Baltimore Sports Writer Neglects This City in Basketball Program.

LOCALS ELIGIBLE FOR STATE INDOOR LEAGUE

With Court Game Fast Gaining in Popularity Basketball Organization is Being Planned to Include Baltimore, Hagerstown and Frederick. Shore Representative Would Draw.

With summer nearly over and baseball preparing soon to make its debut upon the field of sport for the 1923 season, there is being discussed in Baltimore plans for the opening of the basketball game in the Fall to continue during the winter months. The indoor court sport is fast gaining in popularity and the season promises to see it hailed with much enthusiasm by followers of sport not only in the Monumental City but in other parts of the State as well.

In commenting upon the basketball prospects for this year, one of the sports writers on a Baltimore paper last week predicted that the indoor game would flourish when the season opened and that already extensive plans were being actively talked over in inter-collegiate circles and amateur ranks as well. The announcement that John Hopkins would this year enter a team into competition with rival Maryland five paves the way for a league among the colleges. The article then goes on to say that indications point to another basketball organization composed of several Baltimore clubs and teams from Hagerstown and Frederick. It was pointed out by the writer that a Maryland Basketball League would certainly meet with the approval of basketball fans throughout the State.

But the Eastern Shore is overlooked in the discussion. Perhaps this is due to the fact that basketball on this side of the Chesapeake has not gained the prominence among winter sports as it has on the Western Shore. But last year witnessed several towns in this section sponsoring the game and some very fast contests were staged with former college stars in the various line-ups. Here at Salisbury the season's best game was put on between the champion Washington College quint and an aggregation of Collegiate All-Stars. It is possible that a five could be selected to represent this town in the Maryland Basketball League. The Army is an ideal place for such games which no doubt would prove a big drawing card on the Peninsula.

Memorial Services At Sharptown On Friday

Large Manufacturing Plant Closes For Day—Lodge Invites Speakers In Afternoon.

On Friday last, the large berry crate and basket factory of the Marvill Package Company, Fred. E. Bounds, local manager closed down for the day and gave the employees an opportunity to observe the day. It was a very quiet day in the old town. At four o'clock in the afternoon the church bells were tolled and this added a solemn feature to the day. One loyal man absolutely refused to do any work during the day stating that he put in a whole day to help defeat President Harding, but he said he lost and Harding won and had made a good President, had kept the laborers busy and times good and no man could hire him to work.

At four o'clock the members of Roelma Lodge, A. F. and A. M. met in their lodge room and held memorial services. Rev. W. C. Mumford, Dr. H. S. Bennett, W. H. Knowles and J. P. Cooper made addresses and paid high tribute to the deceased president. Flugs with mourning emblems attached were displayed from many homes and business places. The Sharptown Bank of the Eastern Shore Trust Company was closed during the day.

DAIRY IMPROVEMENT IS SOUGHT BY STATE

State Dairy Inspector Visits County—Urges Standard Milk Supply—Faulty Labels Prevalent

The Maryland State Board of Health is conducting a campaign to educate the dairymen of the counties and thereby establish a milk supply of standard quality and safety. The adoption of which will greatly lessen the prevailing rate of disease and death.

Milk forms perhaps the chief food factor of today. It is almost the entire substance of the diet of the baby and the invalid, and is used in one way or another by all of us at every meal. What is more important than the assurance that this milk reaches the consumer prepared by the proper sterile methods to guarantee the least possible amount of bacteria?

The State Dairy Inspector is making a personal tour of the peninsula towns. He will visit every dairy, herd of cows supplying milk to a community, checking up in his report the milking process at each place from the preparation of the utensils used to the final delivery of the milk. He observes the sanitary conditions of the premises and rates his report on the basis of 60 per cent for handling and 40 per cent for equipment. A sample of the milk is taken to the State Laboratory at Hurler where a forty eight hour test is made to determine the amount of bacteria it contains. Following the completion of the report the inspector makes a special return visit to the farm to suggest and instruct those in charge of the dairy in whatever line is necessary. Anything to improve the quality of the milk will no doubt be readily appreciated by the public who will gladly pay one or two cents more a quart for a certified or pasteurized product.

A distressing situation found generally existent in the counties is the use of job lot milk labels on the bottles of the small dealers. These labels are often of a cheap, flimsy material, and are often of a design that is not only unsightly but also misleading. The inspector has been seen to test herds, etc., some even naming the day of pasteurization. These false statements are a direct violation of the state law, and subject, as such, to heavy fines.

People who buy this milk, believing it to be of certain grade, when it is really only a raw product, are unjustly deceived. It is also unfair to the plants who pasteurize their milk at additional cost of machinery and labor, and sell it as such. The small dealer who does not care to go to the expense of having his labels marked should use the blank label. He is then within the law and infringing on the rights of no other dealer.

Milk may contain seven hundred harmless bacteria but it is the bacteria from filthy premises, unclean stables, careless milkers and dirty milk containers that breed disease. The city dairies of Cleveland are allowed three hundred thousand bacteria to the cubic centimetre or to fifteen drops of milk. In this locality the Inspector has found the rate of bacteria as high as twenty-four million, and this was in one of the better equipped dairies, too. Every house wife can help the situation by placing her milk bottles on the ice as soon as they are delivered. Bacteria will not increase in cold milk, but even the best milk allowed to stand on the door step one or two hours will become thoroughly infested.

CHILD HYGIENE BUREAU CHIEF TO BE AT FAIR

Dr. Mason Knox Will Present For First Time in County Child Welfare System.

Presenting to the county, for the first time, the thorough system of child welfare stations as existing in the larger cities, Dr. J. H. Mason Knox, Jr., Chief of the Bureau of Child Hygiene, an assistant doctor, and three trained nurses, will be at the Wicomico County Fair next week.

Dr. Knox is planning to have two features which will be of great interest to the mothers. In the first place, he will conduct a day nursery on the grounds where mothers attending the Fair may leave their babies under a nurse's supervision, in a suitably appointed room. The children will be fed and cared for until the mothers call for them. In connection with this nursery, there will be instructive cards and posters on the feeding, bathing and general care of children. In the second place an ambulance, which is really the doctor's little examination room on wheels, will be attached to the nursery. There the doctors will weigh and measure and examine the babies and young children whose parents desire it. The record of these examinations will be given the parents with advice concerning the consultation of doctor, or proper hospital in the effort to have the defects relieved.

It is the object of the Bureau of Child Hygiene to bring before the eyes of the public the importance of bringing up children under good medical advice. During the draft examination one third of all the young men and boys who presented themselves for military service, were declared unfit because of physical defects. It is known that most of these defects could have been removed, had these same boys in their early childhood come under proper medical supervision.

ORGANIZED BALL ON PENINSULA TO STAY

So Vice-President Miller Declares At Banquet—Shore League Is Proving Worthy Investment

Speaking before 200 baseball enthusiasts assembled at the huge "Landis Day" banquet held in Salisbury, Thursday evening, Vice-President Walter E. Miller, of the Eastern Shore League declared that the officials of his circuit and the people of the various towns held no hostile feeling against Milford for dropping out of the league but regarded the whole affair as a most regrettable occurrence. But he firmly stated that the league was going to fight hard for the permanency of organized ball on the Shore.

Mr. Miller added that he believed had the case been reviewed more carefully by the Milford directors, they would not have pursued the course they did. Praising the inception of organized ball on the Delmarva peninsula, the first president of the baby minor, declared that the people on the Peninsula were reaping the dividends from their investments in the various clubs.

He brought out the fact that the business men on the Shore were getting the benefits of well-organized baseball as compared to the costly and fluctuating brand of independent ball as existed on the peninsula prior to 1922. Another point scored by organized ball, said Mr. Miller, was in the friendly spirit of competition aroused in the towns competing in the league and when the season was over the winning club would be the representative club of the Shore League against the Blue Ridge League's champions and the whole Peninsula would stand back of its defender in the post-season series.

SNAKE IN HEN'S NEST

Mrs. George H. Owens, near Sharptown was startled a few evenings ago to find a snake coiled in a hen's nest in her henyard. She hastily called her son Randall who shot the snake and on examination found that it had eaten thirty eggs and killed a sitting hen. The snake measured six feet and seven inches in length and seven inches in circumference, largest place. The snake was black and unusually large to see in that section.

Why the Good Old Remington Pump Gun Still Outsell all Others

There's a new 20-gauge model, too—the best of the light-gauge guns. See it at your dealer's

ASK any of your friends who shoot a Remington 12-gauge Pump Gun—there are lots of them—what it is that has made this the favorite 12-gauge ever since Remington brought it out in 1900—the first solid-breech hammerless repeating shotgun ever produced.

Or better yet—if he'll let you—borrow his Model 10 and take it out in the fields or down by the water for an afternoon and try it for yourself.

Fire arms experts always comment on the precision and finish of the Model 10—the result of 245 separate inspections in the Remington plant.

And they remark that the receiver is machined out of solid steel—instead of made of stamped steel metal or a cored casting as is done with many shotguns.

But the man who goes out for a day's sport or to get a few ducks or rabbits for supper isn't so apt to say anything about these technical features.

He'll tell you that the Remington Model 10 shoots harder and straighter than any other 12-gauge he ever had in his hands, has an action that never balks or clogs—and seems to get better the longer he uses it.

If you're in line for something specially good in a 20-gauge—

Get your dealer to show you the new Remington Model 17. This is a hammerless, solid-breech pump action, too. Chambered for 2 1/4 inch shells which gives it the power and range of a 16-gauge. It is comparatively new—but already many old-timers swear by it as a "real man's gun."

The first time you get a chance go to the gun rack at the store and look at these Remingtons. Your dealer will be glad to tell you anything you want to know about them.

SALISBURY BOYS AND GIRLS BACK IN 1856 HAD NO PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Fortunate Children Attended Private Schools—Others Were Taught At Home While Many Grew Up Illiterate—Boys Had Salisbury Academy $400 State Appropriation.

It is hard to realize in this day and time that civilization ever existed without public schools, compulsory education and attendance officers. People are so prone to accept advancement casually, to take the improvements that cast life blood without a backward glance. A westerly, steep road, thru the swamps of illiteracy, leads up to the present splendid school system of our state. It is not the purpose of this article to deal with that, but to take a glimpse, as it were, into the past and catch a fleeting picture of the little schools of the long ago.

In 1850 the children of Salisbury might have been divided into three groups, those who attended private schools; those who were taught at home; and those who grew up illiterate. Counting the colored people, probably seventy-five per cent. belonged to the latter class. There were several small private schools, composed of fifteen to twenty pupils each, scattered throughout the town. Some of them were held in the residences of the teachers, others in one room shanties adjoining the teachers' homes. Mrs. Symington conducted a fashionable establishment of the latter kind on her property, which is now that of the Episcopal rectory. Here for a modest sum little boys and girls were taught their A. B. C.'s and larger boys and girls were graduated in geometry and plunged into involved higher education. Mrs. Sarah Jane Collier, also, had a school of similar description and there were others, as well as a church school in the vestry room of the Episcopal church under the direction of Miss Duck. This constituted the extent of female matriculation in the town. Beyond this the girls could not go, unless they went away to school.

The boys, however, were more fortunate. To them was given the privilege of enrollment in the Salisbury Academy then considered an imposing edifice of profound learning. The building was a two story affair on the back of the former I. D. Collier property across from the Asbury M. E. Church. Toward the maintenance of this, the State liberally contributed, by an Act of the Legislature, the munificent sum of four hundred dollars yearly. The school was incorporated, with trustees and was managed in this manner until 1872 when the Legislature authorized the trustees to deed the lot and schoolhouse to the Public School Commissioners of Wicomico county, then just organized. Although the Academy was generally conceded a public school, it was also a regular tuition fee, and the combined forces of state and individual gave but a bare living to the schoolmaster who served as the entire faculty as well.

The lower floor of the building was used as a sort of public meeting hall and general assembly. The school proper being the school proper—where the classes were held. The room was long and narrow with slate colored walls and small diamond panel windows. The desks were home-made and of pine, crudely constructed and accommodating four pupils on each bench. Two rows of these desks ran the length of the room, with an aisle in the center. At the front the teacher sat at his table on a slightly raised platform and the classes came up to him to recite. It was necessary, of course, in a room where boys of such varying ages worked to have the most perfect order and rigid silence. The school master found it required more than the sound of his voice to enforce this. So switches of black gum figured prominently in with the lessons. Sometimes the boys were sent down to the branch to cut the rod of chastisement. Those who dared enjoyed a joke at the expense of the teacher, even though the ultimate reckoning was on them. One of the common pranks played was to notch the new switch in several places so that when it was applied to the culprit instead of leaving whine on his skin it fell into several places on a floor and postponed the flogging until more reliable messengers could be dispensed to bring back another.

At this time the store used in the schoolroom was about two and a half feet long with a height of eighteen inches to hold the fuel on top of this from bars were placed with a cover over them to throw out the heat. This cover, white quite hot when the stove was in use, did not contain heat to actually blister or burn. In cases where the most severe punishment was needed, the offender was made to stand on top of this cover. The sensation was anything but pleasant and the boy was forced to dance on first one foot and then the other as his shoes absorbed the heat.

How the World's Greatest Tea Merchant Developed the World's Finest Coffee

As is well known, Sir Thomas J. Lipton never does things by halves. When he established his own plantations for the growing of Tea in the Island of Ceylon, his instructions were: "Quality, first, last and always. Nothing else counts." Because of this, he has become known everywhere as the greatest tea merchant in the world.

Lipton Coffee Plantations were established years ago. But the growing of coffee is one thing; the problem of securing exactly the right blend is quite another. So also is the problem of a package which will insure that the last spoonful shall be good.

Time mattered little and Sir Thomas J. Lipton was willing to spend the time. His reputation as a tea merchant was too great and too precious to allow any deviation from the highest possible standards. Quality was everything. "Spare no expense," were the instructions to the American Manager of Lipton's, "so long as you get the best. Nothing else will do." Try a package of LIPTON'S COFFEE at your grocers. Test it yourself—by your own standards—for flavor, aroma, and invigorating qualities. Note how it retains its fragrance and strength to the last spoonful in this can. You will then agree that the time and money were well spent, and that Lipton's is indeed the last word in Coffee. Accept no substitutes for "the World's Best." Look for the signature of Sir Thomas J. Lipton on every package of Coffee you buy.

BANKING IN ITS MANY PHASES

By J. H. PEULICHER,
President American Bankers Association.

TALK NO. 8.

"The Federal Reserve System."

The word "Bank" wherever used, refers alike to trust companies, state banks and national banks—in short, to all banking institutions having a commercial department.

The talks already given have treated principally of the relation of each bank to the local bank or banks in the community. We have learned that the bank receives our money on deposit and loans out part of it to those in need of funds to conduct their business. When we make a deposit on a check, a loan from the bank, the transaction is evidenced either by credit on the books of the local bank, or by the issuance of a "credit instrument" such as a note, a mortgage, or a trade acceptance. The business of the bank is, therefore, a matter of credits. We have seen also that the local bank is always required to keep a reserve on hand in proportion to its credits or deposits, so as to be ready to meet the demands of those who desire to draw out money.

Banking, a System

Today, however, our subject treats of the relation of each local bank to the present banking system. Just as a local telephone station is valuable to you and to me, because it belongs to a telephone system—whose wires reach to all parts of the nation, so the local bank is valuable because of its connections with other banks in the United States. We cannot thoroughly understand the work of the bank by merely watching its local operation, any more than we can understand the telephone by so doing. Like the telephone, the local bank finds its strength and its usefulness only because it is part of a system. It is true that we had a banking system before the Federal Reserve System came into being. Even now not all banks or trust companies are members. Every one, however, realizes that the Federal Reserve System is today the chief cornerstone in the banking business of America.

Importance of Reserves

A vital element in banking is the question of the bank's reserve. Money on deposit must always be ready for depositors when they desire it. In like manner, the bank must be ready to do its part towards loaning money whenever needed, to its customers. Otherwise, the business of the community is hampered. In other words, all prosperity depends largely on the bank RESERVES. The problem of handling our reserves has been difficult to solve. Let us now consider briefly the results attained under the Federal Reserve System.

Development of Banking in the United States

First, in order to understand the difference between banking and other business, let us go down town to shop, or to visit the ice cream parlor or the post office. You notice several dignified offices with bronze signs reading, "First National Bank, Peoples State Bank, Citizens Trust Company, or something of the kind. Since you have been having talks on the subject of banking, you know that these are banks and you know something of what they do. You also know that each of these banks is managed by its own officers and directors, elected by its own stockholders, and that these men are practically all of them residents of our town, and have grown up with it. They are interested in helping the town to grow, and in making it prosperous because it is their home town.

The banks in our town are just like those in thousands of other cities in the United States. I wonder if you realize that there are in our country over 30,000 banks all operated independently like those here at home. Many other lines of business have, during the past twenty-five years, organized on nation-wide lines, as for example, the telephone companies, of which we have spoken earlier in the talk, the great steel companies, and the great oil companies, with their nationwide pipelines, such as the one from the coast states, chain grocery stores, chain cigar stores, and the like. You know when you see one of these stores, that it is part of a great organization owning similar stores in many towns. When you take a trip, however, and see First National Bank signs in different towns, you must not think that they are branches of the same bank. They are separate and independent banks.

Comparison with Foreign Banking Systems

Ours is the only important country in the world which has such a system of independent banks. Fundamentally a system of this sort suits our ideal democratic organization. However, our banking system differs in this respect from the systems of other countries, you will understand when I tell you that Canada has only 17 banks, but these 17 banks have 3,500 branches, and that Great Britain has only 28 joint stock banks, with 9,600 branches.

You cannot steer by a starlight

Experience too often only shows us the mistake of the past. After you have experienced financial loss by fire, accident or theft, experience tells you to insure.

Do not steer by a starlight—experience.

Insure today—before loss.

We can give you all forms of Property Protection Policies.

SALISBURY, MD.

These branch systems are strong and develop bankers of great skill. Our distinctly American system, on the other hand, has certain advantages which has led our people to prefer it to a branch banking system like those of other countries.

Defects in Former System

For many years, however, it has been recognized that we lacked certain advantages which are obtainable through branch banking. A plan was sought whereby these could be obtained by having our thousands of separate and independent banks get together and co-operate for the improvement of our banking system, and for mutual protection in emergencies, for themselves and for the customers they serve. Business men and bankers recognized that we had periodical money panics, disturbing to business, and chargeable, in large part, to defects in our banking and currency system. There was no central bank from which the individual banks could get assistance in time of trouble, no flexible means of adjusting the amount of money in the country to the varying needs of business. Consequently, panic conditions caused weak banks to fail, and even strong and sound institutions to be endangered by the general lack of confidence. When the people of a community lose confidence in their bank, it is a serious matter for every one. In 1907, an especially severe panic occurred, and led bankers, business men, and leaders in Congress to make a careful study of banking practice in other countries. The result was that seven years later Congress passed a law providing for the establishment of twelve great Federal Reserve Banks, each designated to serve as a sort of central bank for such banks in its allotted territory as might become members of the Federal Reserve System.

Development of Federal Reserve System

Now let us examine the general outlines of this new system. It began to operate at an opportune time—the fall of 1914, shortly after war broke out in Europe. There was retained, as before, our American system of independent banks doing business under the management of the same local directors and officers. About 10,000 banks have become members of the Federal Reserve System, and thus acquired the services of the Federal Reserve bank. The member banks own the entire stock of the Federal Reserve banks, and elect two-thirds or six out of the nine members of the board of directors by which each Federal Reserve bank is operated. The other three directors are appointed by the Federal Reserve Board at Washington, which is the Government body having supervision over the Federal Reserve banks, but it does not operate them. The members of the Federal Reserve Board are appointed by the President of the United States.

Functions of Federal Reserve Banks

Now you will want to know what the Federal Reserve Banks do. That we will take up now under five headings. 1. They hold member banks' reserves. They hold member banks' reserves amounting to about $1,800,000,000. Before we had a Federal Reserve System, each bank carried in its own vault the amount of cash required by law to be held as a legal reserve, that is, ready to pay depositors on demand. The really huge gold supply of the country was thus scattered among the thousands of independent banks, each holding a relatively small amount to which it was obliged as a matter of self-preservation to cling tightly. This method of banking may be likened to the old-time method of obtaining a water supply in a town or village. Each house had to depend on its individual well, or tank, or cistern. Picture to yourself such a town afflicted by a great conflagration. Imagine the inadequacy of such a water supply under such a catastrophe. Also picture that same town grown into a big city. When the water became low in one well, from drought, or excessive use, water would have to be borrowed from the neighboring well. It is probable that the water in that well also was at a low level. Thus the city of all was at hand. Our country has grown rapidly in population and even more rapidly in industrial activity. The banking facilities which were sufficient for earlier days and simpler organizations have needed something to adjust them to the growing business of the nation. Under the Federal Reserve System, we have a series of modern reservoirs, located in various parts of the country, each serving the needs of the banks in its own district. In each of these reservoirs credit is stored up to be supplied to the various banks, as the need arises. Each reservoir is in turn connected with all the others so that when the supply in one becomes low, the others may be temporarily drawn upon. By gathering the gold reserves of the member banks into the twelve Federal Reserve banks, a result has been obtained like that yielded by the construction of a great water supply, or a power plant, or an irrigation system, or a city. The Federal Reserve banks now hold over three billion dollars of gold, the greatest reserve fund ever accumulated, and are strong enough to meet and conceivable demands for gold, for foreign exports, for domestic withdrawals, or for loan expansion.

2. The loan to member banks. The Federal Reserve banks make loans to the member banks. Each member bank formerly had to depend almost entirely upon its own resources in making loans to its customers. When it had loaned all of its money, it could do no more, even though the merchant, manufacturer, or farmer customer had great need of more credit, and was seeking it for highly important and necessary purposes. Hence arose what was called a "tight money" situation. Now the member bank can, and frequently does take the notes of its customers to the Federal Reserve bank, and borrows there in much the same way as the customer borrows from the member bank. The Federal Reserve banks have loaned to their member banks and to the Government as high as $3,400,000,000, and they are now loaning about $1,000,000,000 (August, 1922). The member banks borrow at the Federal Reserve bank when they need money to assist in moving crops, or for similar purposes, and in emergencies, and pay up when the demand has passed.

3. They issue currency.

The Federal Reserve banks issue currency. A large part of the bills which are in people's purses are Federal Reserve notes. They are secured by pledge to the Government of the borrower's notes on which the member banks have borrowed from the Reserve banks. The bank notes go into the hands of the public when activities of business and agriculture create a need for more money in circulation, and go back automatically when the need has passed. The largest amount outstanding was about $3,400,000,000 in December, 1920, and the amount out at the present time (August, 1922) is about $2,100,000,000. From these figures it is plain that we now have a flexible system of currency issue. The privilege of note issue is regarded as of great value. The Government, accordingly, collects from the Reserve banks all of their earnings over a certain amount, as a franchise tax, that is, a tax designed to compensate the Government for granting the note issue and other powers. The Reserve banks have to date (1922) paid to the Government in this way $124,500,000.

4. They collect checks.

The Federal Reserve banks act as check collection agencies for their member banks. We in the United States are the greatest users of bank checks in the world. To assist member banks in the collection of checks, the Federal Reserve banks have established a country-wide system of check collection, and collect checks on (over 28,000 banks. This collection system has reduced by at least one-half the average time required for collection of checks. You may gain some idea of the importance of its operations when you know that the Federal Reserve banks handle each month about fifty million checks amounting to about twelve billion dollars, with tremendous saving in time and expense.

5. They act as agents for the Government.

During the war, the Government appointed the Federal Reserve banks its fiscal agents, and, as you remember, they were the agencies which handled the sale and distribution of twenty-one thirty-six billion dollars of short term certificates of indebtedness. The Reserve banks still act for the Government in matters of this kind, and have also taken over the duties of the former subsidiaries in supplying currency and coin, cashing Government checks and similar operations. Their usefulness to the Government along these lines has been and is very great for without such an agency, the handling of the great financial transactions during and since the war would have been extremely difficult, if not impossible.

Bank Stocks as Investments

Under date of June 25, 1923, the following article appeared in The Wall Street Journal:

Investors are seldom urged to buy bank stocks because there is little or no profit in such investments for the promoter. Bank stocks, as a rule, are closely held, therefore, there is not much trading in the shares. Nevertheless, banking is one of the safest and most profitable businesses known. For instance, out of 57 New York active bank stocks in New York, 28 are quoted above $300 a share, 8 are quoted above $500 a share and 3 are selling at more than $1,000 a share.

There is a trust company in Pittsburgh that has a book value of about $2,500 a share and a few years ago stock of a small bank in Virginia had a book value of approximately $7,000 a share.

Last year, a bad year for most business, dividends paid by 8,147 national banks averaged 12.42%.

We are offering the stock of two Joint Stock Land Banks OPERATING UNDER UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT SUPERVISION—with probably more safeguards thrown around its operation for the protection of its stockholders than commercial or national banks, at a price to yield 6% free of County, State and City taxation, and the Normal Federal Income Tax.

We will be pleased to give you full information upon request without obligating yourself in any way.

MAGNUS AND FAMILY TALK IT ALL OVER

And Decide Mother Goes To Washington With Dad, Who Is Minnesota's New Senator.

VISIT TO THE JOHNSON FARM INTERESTING

Family Of Eight Work Hard, Read Good Books And Are Happy On 140-Acre Place.

Mrs. Magnus Johnson is human. The mother of six and farmer-wife of Minnesota's new U. S. Senator-elect has changed her mind. She is not going to stay on the farm and milk cows while her husband goes to Washington. She is going with him.

The family has talked it over. Six unselfish children, wanted mother to enjoy some of the fruits of victory after 30 years of hard work on the farm and they finally won. Mother decided to go—and with her will go at least two of her children—her babies, Agnes, ten, and Florence, nine. They will attend school in Washington this winter—quite unexpected change from the district school not far from the Johnson farm there in Meeker County.

Mrs. Johnson and the six children did a good job of running the farm while Mr. Johnson was campaigning during the early summer weeks. It was as a result of this that the report became current that Mrs. Johnson was not going to Washington if her husband was elected.

Senator Magnus Johnson is happy that his wife is going with him. He quite frankly admits that she is his boss. Whether he remains in public life after serving this short term depends altogether, he says, upon what she decides.

The 140-acre Johnson farm is a typical Minnesota home, equipped with modern machinery; forty head of cattle, twenty-four of which are milk cows; forty Duroc and Chester White hogs; 800 chickens and eight horses. Every member of the family is kept busy running the place. Mrs. Johnson milks seven cows at least once a day.

Magnus Johnson was born in Sweden and came to America an immigrant in 1891. Mrs. Johnson, however, is a typical gray-haired, pleasant-faced and ideal American mother, who traces her decent back to General Israel Putnam on her mother's side.

"Magnus Has Own Ideas"—Mrs. Johnson

Mrs. Johnson is very positive that the nation is going to be surprised if it thinks that Senator Brookhart and LaFollette are going to lead her fighting husband around in their legislative ranks. "He has a mind and ideas of his own," she says.

The Johnson home loves books. Every member of the family is a great reader.

Lillian, the oldest girl of the family, will keep the house going when her mother and father go to Washington. Victor, 21, Francis, 19, and Magnus, Jr., 14, will run the farm.

"No doubt, I will have a very pleasant time in Washington," said Mrs. Johnson, "that is, as pleasant a time as any mother could be expected to have when her family is divided, as ours will be, for the first time. Yes, I am in favor of women in politics, but I have never had time for it. Six children and a busy life on the farm, was all I was able to handle in the last thirty years."

Mrs. Johnson Votes Yes On Hubby's Platform.

These are the things Magnus Johnson says he will favor and oppose at Washington:

Favor fixed prices of grain, making possible fixed profit to growers.

Favor diversified farming.

Favor government ownership of public utilities.

Favor soldiers' bonus; favor recognition of Russia; favor wage increase of all railroad men; favor woman suffrage; favor retention of political parties; favor national budget; favor brotherly love amongst nations, classes and individuals; favor and educational measure which give good books to citizens; favor unanimous decision in the United States Supreme Court.

Oppose the League of Nations, World Court, military training in schools and war.

Mrs. Johnson smiles and says she votes YES with her husband on every issue.

Maryland had 3,128 manufacturing establishments in 1921, in each of which the value of the products was above $5,000, according to figures made public by the Census Bureau. These establishments employed a total of 107,876 wage earners and the total value of their products for the year was $637,573,713.

In 1919, Maryland had 4,237 manufacturing establishments in each of which the total value of the products was above $500 and these establishments employed an average of 140,342 wage earners and produced products reaching a total value of $873,944,774.

"The census statistics for 1921," the report explains, "relate only to establishments having products valued at $5,000 or more, whereas in prior censuses the corresponding limit is $500."

"However, according to data obtained concerning value of products and number of wage earners employed in the establishments with products valued at $500 or more but less than $5,000 in 1921, this class, while constituting about 21 per cent. of the total number of establishments, employed only six tenths of one per cent. of the total number of wage earners and had an output of only three-tenths of one per cent. of the total value of the products."

For the country as a whole, the reports made to the Census Bureau show that the value of manufactured products aggregated $43,653,223,000 in 1921, as compared with $62,041,795,000 in 1919, or a decrease of 30 per cent. The statement adds, however, that compared with the value of products reported for 1914, there was an increase of 80 per cent., but that this was due largely to the rise in prices.

"A better index of conditions," it continues, "will be found in the figures relating to persons engaged in manufacturing. The average number of wage earners employed in 1921 was 6,946,564 or 28 per cent. less than the number reported for 1919, while there was very little difference shown between the figures of 1914 and 1921."

POCOMOKE CITY SCOUTS REPORT FOR FAIR DUTY

Pocomoke City Scouts, fifty strong reported for duty Monday morning to the officials of the Pocomoke Fair and the State Police. These young men are anxious to prove their value to the community in the same way as the Boy Scouts of Wicomico county did in the Cambridge Fair. The Scouts are to serve as messengers, guards and assist in directing traffic. Mr. J. Hurst Beauchamp is the Scoutmaster of the troop.

LOCAL BOYS AND GIRLS NOT AT STATE MEETING

Wicomico Representatives Miss Gathring Of Agricultural Clubs At College Park Because Of Lopes

Two hundred and fifty boys and girls representing almost every county in Maryland will attend the annual meeting of the State boys and girls agricultural clubs at College Park this week.

According to County Agent Geo. R. Cobb, Wicomico will send no boys or girls this year. Although a fund has been established by the Farmers and Planters Co. and the Wm. B. Tilghman Co. to defray the expenses of any members from this county there will be none to take advantage of the offer. The reason for this being that the boys and girls are needed in the field to help with the canelopes and cannot be spared at this time. Mr. Cobb hopes to have representatives from Wicomico present at the convention next year.

Governor Ritchie and Judge Frank I. Duncan, of Towson, chairman of the Agricultural Committee of the State Bankers' Association are expected to speak on Wednesday. Other speakers during the week will be Dr. A. F. Woods, president of the U. of Maryland; Dr. T. B. Symons, director of extension work in the university; Miss V. M. Keller, State Home Demonstration Agent; E. C. Jenkins, State Boys' Club agent; Miss Dorothy Emerson, State Girls' Club Agent; G. Farley, agent of the State Club in Massachusetts; and W. H. Hendrick, assistant director of the State club in Virginia.

You Should Only Consider Material of Merit

It is the only kind to consider when you plan the building of the proposed home

Permanency

Any structure worthy of erection should be built along lines that will insure it being of lasting value. To this permanency, only materials of real worth should be contributed. If it's lumber you are going to use, be absolutely positive that the best is obtained—we guarantee ours to be as sold.

Attractiveness

This is another feature that plays an important part in the pride of ownership. Quality always is self expressive. If the material you use is of a high standard, it will, more than any other one thing, add to the pleasing appearance of your home—ours is of this type.

Expenditure

One of the most serious problems of the home builder is of course the cost. This may be divided into two kinds, the first cost and the after expense. The one is as important as the other. If shoddy material is used the after expense is, frequently prohibitive. To eliminate this, be sure of what you buy—communicate with us.

The first Cost

This represents the actual initial outlay necessary to build. To be economical you must secure material that will last, that will eliminate all chance of having to repair within four or five years. Good judgment demands this of you, especially as we can furnish you with best at ultra-reasonable prices.

After Expense

Unless you have exercised the proper care and caution in your selection of material, this is going to be heavy. Poor, ill-made, shoddy lumber will no more hold up, than a garment as carelessly made. Quality is economy, you cannot side-step it. Remember this when you build, and let us help.

Satisfaction

This is the goal of all home lovers. Satisfaction in their home, every detail one that suits, and being sure that it is a life time structure. Inside and out having that appearance of dignity that comes only from material that has a quality which will not be hidden. Consider well these items, they represent the resultant judgment that came only with years of experience in home building.

Something worth Saving for---A Home

SELECT LUMBER

Whether you build your new home of brick or chiefly of wood, lumber is going to be one of the most important items in its construction. And, expecting it to give you years of service, you want only the highest grade that money can buy. Yet there is no need of paying extraordinary prices for it. Our years of dealing have proven that we handle lumber of merit at prices which meet all competition.

If you are contemplating the building of a home, let our representative call to see you and explain just how much money can be saved by permitting us to furnish your lumber.

THOUSANDS AT CHINCOTEAGUE ON THURSDAY

Many From Salisbury Present At In-teresting Annual Pony Penning Event—“Survivors” Branded And Sent Into Marshes Until Next Year When They Will Be Again Corralled

A number of Salisburyans attended the annual pony penning at Chincoteague, Va., on Thursday, July 26. Included in the number were many members of the Tall Cedars of Lebanon accompanied by its band.

The day was good and thousands of visitors from all sections of Maryland, Delaware and Virginia were present.

There will be no pony penning on Assateague Island this year. The Assateague ponies were carried to Chincoteague and sold.

From one summer to another the ponies are allowed to roam over the island in a wild state. They obtain their food in the lowlands.

The young ponies are raised in the forests of the island, and the owners never know how many they have until bands of horseback riders corral them in large pounds built expressly for the purpose. After impounding them they are branded by the owner and many of the mare turned loose and roam about until the next summer when they, with their young, are again rounded up.

Owners are able to ascertain the young ponies belonging to them because they will follow the mother, who has been branded by the owners.

There are hundreds of the ponies wandering the woodland of the island in a wild state, just as they do on the Shetland Islands or on Texas ranges.

No one can tell how long the ponies have been roaming the island in a wild state. Some are of the opinion that at one time Chincoteague Island was a part of the mainland, and that they existed on the island even at that remote date. The belief is expressed that gradually the waters of the Atlantic ate their way into the land until the island was formed and the ponies were cut off by the bay, which is about seven miles wide. Some advance the opinion that possibly a century ago, when the bay was rather shallow, they swam across to the island.

Jennings Cooper Wise in his “Early History of the Eastern Shore of Virginia” rejects the popular notion that the ponies were found upon the island by the earliest settlers, though horses may have reached Chincoteague before 1670; for the author himself notes that the first horse was brought to the Eastern Shore in 1642, and that horses turned loose to breed upon the salt meadows became such a nuisance that the settlers by agreement fenced them upon the “necks” so that they should not destroy crops. As the ponies are excellent swimmers, some may have escaped to Chincoteague from the outlying necks of land or settlers of the mainland may have placed horses on the island for breeding purposes.

Many like this in Salisbury. Similar Cases Being Published in Each Issue

The following case is but one of many occurring daily in Salisbury. It is an easy matter to verify it. You cannot ask for better proof.

James Dennis, 110 Fooks St., Salisbury, says: “Whenever I have noticed my kidneys were weak and disordered I have found Doan’s Kidney Pills a dependable remedy to correct the ailment. My kidneys have been weak and disordered at times and the urinations passed frequently and were highly colored. My back ached and ached especially when I stooped. Doan’s Kidney Pills which I got at White & Leonard’s Drug Store have corrected the disorder and always rid me of the backache in quick order.”

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don’t simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan’s Kidney Pills—the same that Dr. Dennis had. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv’t.

It’s always a good time to buy Good-year Tires, for, as this chart shows, Goodyears are priced extremely low, year in and year out. But now is the best time, because Goodyears are selling today 30% below 1914 prices, and their quality now is better than ever before.

At Goodyear Service Station dealers we sell and recommend the new Goodyear Cords with the bonded All-Weather Tread and let them up with standard Goodyear Service.

30 DAY YEAR

NO ALIMONY, NO DIVORCE

No one questions the alarming increase of divorces. It has been frequently said that the reform should be not in the divorce court but in the marriage license. Every applicant for marriage license should be required to present from an unimpeachable, orthodox physician a certificate of perfect health, perfect sanity, and as far as it is possible for the physician to go, a certificate of good moral character.

Every young married couple should have a home of their own, be it ever so humble. Married life should never be begun in a flat, hotel or an apartment house. If they can't have but a small one-room home they should begin housekeeping in that, over whose door they would twine their own morning glories. These conditions would prevent many divorces.

Another very significant fact must be taken into consideration—namely, the alimony is often an incentive, driving people to the divorce court. If you will eliminate the alimony you will reduce the number of divorces by fifty per cent at least.

Alimony should never be paid except to the innocent mother who has children to rear. The guilty husband should be made to educate, clothe, support and furnish sufficient funds for the rearing of his children. Their mother should be given a competency while she is performing that task.

If there are no children, and if the woman is well and strong, she should not be granted alimony.

No attorney fee should be allowed, no court cost should be paid, no inducement should be offered to make divorce litigation easy and desirable.

Another thing that might eliminate many divorces would be to restore the whipping post. And whenever a man mistreats his wife and children subject him to physical punishment, put him on bread and water, and require him to work incessantly for their comfort and happiness.

Let the slogan be, “No Alimony.”

UNITY M. E. CHURCHES NOW SEEMS ASSURED

Fusion of North and South Divisions Recommended At Joint Session—Matter May Be Decided Next Year

Reunion of the Methodist Episcopal Church, North and South, now rests with the two general conferences and the annual conferences, domestic and foreign, into which local churches of the denomination are grouped.

Delegates to these conferences, at their next meetings, will have before them a plan approved by the joint commission on unification, after the plan had been adopted by commissions from each branch. As adopted, the plan contains few changes from its original form as reported by a joint committee of 16 members of the commission.

The plan requires only an amendment to the constitutions of the two divisions, which would permit their merger. These changes must be ratified by the general conference and then by the annual conferences. That it would be approved is a certainty, in the opinion of members of the unification commissions.

The question first will come up before the general conference of the Northern church. This body meets at Springfield, Mass., in May, 1924. No general conference of the Southern branch is scheduled until 1925, but at its last meeting the bishops were empowered to call a special conference.

Keeps FORD Plugs Clean

Here's an ignition system that keeps plugs clean—
In big, intense sparks burn off oil deposits and by firing the gas changes completely, prevent carbon forming on the plugs and cylinder walls. It gives lots more power, too, for its sparks are perfectly timed by the famous Bosch Timing. Every explosion occurs at the proper instant, developing maximum power and keeping the engine flexible and smooth.

Type 600 is a complete, waterproof ignition system, with automatic spark control. It makes old Ford engines run like new, and new ones develop a flexibility, power and smoothness that few think possible. Money back in 30 days if you're not satisfied.

Your car and motor are balanced—the fuel should be, too

PRACTICALLY all the development and improvement in cars and in motors have been in the direction of finer and still finer balancing of parts, weights and stresses—to obtain greater and still greater flexibility. It is only natural that some car makers have succeeded better than others.

Most gasolines today give you more flexible and versatile power than they did a few years ago. Here, too, it is natural that some refiners have succeeded better than others in their effort to produce a really balanced motor fuel.

There's a long story of refining experience and study behind “Standard”, the balanced gasoline. It is the logical fuel for any finely balanced motor. It gives you everything you need in a motor fuel. Stick to “Standard”—the all-round, balanced gasoline.

THE GREAT SALISBURY FAIR

AUGUST 21-22-23-24

Four Big Days

All Committees especially the attraction committee, have worked over time this year to make this our biggest and best Fair. Some of the leading attractions are listed below.

MOTOR CYCLES.

A large entry of Motor Cycle Racers guarantees that the visitors at the fair this year will see the best of these thrilling contests of speed.

DARE DEVIL D'OLONRA.

EXHIBITS.

Every department reports increased entries for exhibit. The line of exhibits will undoubtedly be the largest ever displayed. These will prove worth seeing and be a liberal education in themselves.

A Big Midway of Fun

THE DIVING HORSE AND LADYRIDER.

Dr. Carver, once the partner of Barnum's to be with us, and his daughter Miss Jackie Carver, will ride a best horse. This horse will dive from a scaffold SIXTY FEET IN THE AIR. The association gave this attraction last year and are using it this year in order to meet the wishes of thousands who failed to see it as well as those who did see it and wish to do so again. This will be the last chance to see the DIVING HORSE with its LADY RIDER in Salisbury.

RACING.

On the track each day will be seen spirited trotting and pacing races. The entries this year promise the best field of horses ever seen at our Fair.

RAILROADS EARN AT RATE 5.69 PER CENT

Recent Month Returns For Class One Systems Show Income Of 5.33 Per Cent—Due To Freight Traffic Largest Increase In Eastern Territory.

Improvement in the financial condition of the country's transportation system has continued steadily since the beginning of the current year, according to figures made available recently by the bureau of railway economics of the Association of Railway Executives.

Net operating income of Class 1 railroads during the first five months of the year, these figures show, amounted to $256,946,900, equivalent to an annual rate of return of 5.69 per cent, or 1.24 per cent more than for the similar figure for the same period last year. Operating revenues totaled $2,552,856,600, or an increase of 19.4 per cent over the same period in 1922, while operating expenses totaled $2,295,909,700, or an increase of 18.2 per cent.

Reports on the operating conditions and returns on Class 1 roads for May are summarized by the bureau of railway economics as follows:

The net railway operating income of the Class 1 railroads of the United States in May amounted to $89,946,600 which represented a return on an annual basis of 5.33 per cent, on their tentative valuation. The net operating income for the carriers in the Eastern district was at the annual rate of return of 7.72 per cent. The Southern district 6.72 per cent and the Western district 4.43 per cent.

The same carriers in May last year had a net operating income of $62,069,000 or 4.46 per cent. In April, this year, it was $83,197,800 or 6 1/2 per cent.

Operating revenues of the carriers in May totaled $574,282,500, an increase of 21.8 per cent over the same month last year, while their operating expenses amounted to $420,555,000, or an increase of 18.4 per cent over May last year.

The increase in earnings over May last year was largely due to a stimulation in freight traffic which, according to incomplete reports, was the greatest measured in net tons for any May in the history of the railroads, amounting approximately to 39,600,000,000 net ton miles.

This was not only an increase of more than 42 per cent over May last year, but was an increase of more than 3 per cent over May 1917, which had marked the previous record for that month. Freight traffic in May this year not only exceeded the preceding month, but was the heaviest for any month so far this year.

Class 1 carriers in the Eastern district, according to complete reports, except from the Atlantic and St. Lawrence Railroad, had a net operating income in May of $54,345,000, which would be at the annual rate of return of 7.72 per cent on their tentative valuation. Freight traffic in the Eastern district, according to incomplete reports, was approximately 54 per cent greater in May than during the same month last year.

In May one year ago their net operating income was $31,800,300, which would be at the annual rate of return of 4.62 per cent. Operating revenues of the Eastern carriers totaled $289,151,600, an increase of 31.8 per cent over the same month one year ago, while operating expenses totaled $257,349,300, which was an increase of 24.6 per cent over May last year.

Complete reports showed that the carriers in that district had a net operating income totaling $11,341,500, which would be at the annual rate of return of 6.72 per cent. Freight traffic on the Southern roads showed an increase of approximately 24 per cent in May over the same month last year.

The net operating income for the Southern carriers in May, 1922, was $11,411,700, or 6.90 per cent. Operating revenues totaled $69,382,000, an increase of 12.3 per cent over those of one year ago, while operating expenses totaled $57,970,300, an increase of 15.8 per cent over the same month last year.

Complete reports for the carriers in the Western district, except for the Louisiana Railway and Navigation Company, of Texas, showed that the

COOPER FAMILY HOLDS THIRD ANNUAL REUNION

Approximately 500 Guests Gathered For Friendly Occasion At Old Cooper Homestead In Delaware

The third annual reunion of the Cooper family, that is, the descendants of William and Margaret Cooper, who spent their lives in lower Sussex county, Delaware, was held last week at the home of John S. Cooper, in the old Cooper homestead at Columbia, Delaware. About two hundred guests assembled early at the Cooper cemetery on the farm where five generations of the Cooper family are buried and flowers were placed on all the graves, after which Rev. Irving S. Owens, of Powellville delivered the oration.

Then followed the luncheon, after which greetings of the occasion were offered and entertainment furnished. The Tall Cedar Band, of Delmar, provided the music. John S. Cooper, in a few well chosen words, extended a most cordial welcome to all present. Earl T. Cooper, secretary and treasurer of the Cooper Union Association made his annual report, which was very gratifying. Rev. W. C. Mumford was the orator of the afternoon and was followed by Wesley Cooper and John T. Lowe, of Baltimore. The record showed that four hundred and fifty had registered and it was estimated that fifty or more did not register, making at least five hundred persons present. The six children, lineal descendants of the Cooper family were baptised by Rev. Owens and Mumford. Branch H. Phillips of Salisbury had charge of the services.

Cut Offs

If there is a "Cut Off" when a conversation is taking place over the telephone, THE PERSON WHO WAS CALLED SHOULD IMMEDIATELY HANG UP THE RECEIVER. The one who made the call should ask the operator to re-establish the connection, saying: "I was talking to — and was cut off."

If the person who was called does not hang up his receiver, his line may test "Busy" and be so reported to the party who is asking to have the connection re-established.

The "Cut Off" may be due to a number of things: an error of the operator; a temporary disarrangement of the signal apparatus; the replacing of the receiver on the hook by mistake by one of the persons talking, or for some other cause.

Realizing the annoyance "Cut Offs" cause our patrons, every possible precaution is taken to prevent them. It will help us to give you better service if, when a "Cut Off" does occur, you will follow the suggestion made above.

TRAP-SHOOTERS FROM RAILROAD TEAMS TO MEET

Maryland, Delaware Road, And Cape Charles Divisions Of Pennsy To Compete.

AUGUST 25 TO BE BIG DAY AT CAPE CHARLES

Crack Shots From Local Territory Will Contest For Honors—Winners Go To Tyrone Championships—Athletic Games Also To Feature—Delmar Will Be Represented.

Sixty shooters will compete for high trap shooting honors of the Southern Division of the Pennsylvania R. R. Association's semi-annual meeting to be held at Cape Charles on August 25. For the five high men will come the privilege of entering the finals to be held at Tyrone, Pa. on September 8.

Along with the trapshooting events the program of the day at Cape Charles will include features of athletic activities. In both sections of sport the keenest rivalry exists. That records will be broken is the expectation of those who have observed the various shooters and athletes in practice during the past few weeks.

Great interest is centered in the four divisions meet as it will bring together for final elimination the crack shooters of the Maryland Division, Delaware Road Division, Cape Charles and Norfolk Divisions combined.

The highest five men of any ten men of one division will be selected to represent the Southern Division in the final trapshooting championship event to be held on September 8 at Tyrone, Pa. The scores of nearly all the contestants during the past practice season have been remarkably close and spirited shooting is anticipated. The rivalry is keen, for the honor of representing the Southern Division at the final event with a possibility of bringing the championship back home.

Each division will bring its own band, and medals for first and second winners in all events are to be given. While the interest seems to center in the trapshooting events, there are other contests that will provide a thrill for the spectators.

In the athletic division the program will consist of a baseball game between two divisions, Maryland and Norfolk, running, jumping, hammer-throwing, pole vaulting, and hurdle races.

For the boys up to 14 years of age, there will be a foot race, and for the girls a 50 and 100 yard dash. To round out the day's activities there will be swimming races and distance plunges.

The winners of the athletic events at this semi-annual event will go to Tyrone on September 8, to compete for the final championship honors.

Trapshooting arrangements have just been completed with the installation of two new machines, and these handled by experts will give the shooters an exceptionally fine opportunity to test their skill at the flying targets.

The Committee in charge of arrangements expect a very large attendance. Every one is welcome. The date, August 25. The time, 10 A. M. The place, Cape Charles.

CRISFIELD FANS TIRE OF PROFESSIONAL BALL

Editorial In The Crisfield Times Discloses Fact That Financial Strain Is Proving Too Great.

That Crisfield baseball fans are beginning to tire of the financial strain involved in the maintaining of a professional club under the supervision of Organized Ball is evidenced in the editorial printed below which appeared last week in The Crisfield Times.

"As the close of the Eastern Shore's second year in organized baseball approaches, it is becoming more evident that while a League is much to be desired as an organization for the promotion of this wholesome, manly sport on the Delmarvia peninsula, the proposition as conducted at present is too expensive to continue another season.

Like most other cities in the peninsula circuit, Crisfield has been pressed to meet the financial obligations which the baseball association has had to incur in maintaining a highly paid club of players and in various other necessary expenses; and like most of the other members of the League, it is extremely doubtful if Crisfield will be able to discharge her obligations and start in at the beginning of the season next year.

"It is all very well to place a high salary on professional or semi-professional players in the field, if the income will measure up to the situation. But no town in the Eastern Shore League can afford the expense which baseball is costing at the present time, and it is only a matter of time when the 'Shore circuit will cease to be, unless radical changes in keeping with the financial status of affairs are brought about. It may hurt the pride of a town to admit that it cannot stand the strain which the baseball situation has imposed, but better that the truth be realized and admitted, than that false pride finally result in the destruction of the League.

A club of home players, at least than half the present salary limits, could be placed in the field by every town in the circuit; and that fact that the players were home boys, would stimulate interest in the game and make for better attendance and a finer spirit of rivalry than can be expected from a team of strangers.

Salisbury Baseball Fans Will Long Remember the Historic Fracas Between The Lions and The Rotarians

his town is represented by strangers who have no interest whatever, except financial, in the supremacy of his club.

"The Times" believes the home-player idea will be found the logical solution for the Eastern Shore League's financial troubles, and recommends it to the thoughtful consideration of the League officials.

EASTERN SHORE LEAGUE FLASHES

By "DIAMOND"

Latest batting averages show Drury, of Cambridge hitting .442, at the top of the Shore sluggers and McDonald occupying the runner-up position with a mark of .387 hung up at Dover.

Only 27 of President Thawley's players are in the select 300 class. Of this number, the White Clouds contribute 7, Laurel 3, Dover, Cambridge and Crisfield 3 each and Parkley 2.

It is interesting to note in passing that the only two playing managers in the circuit are each banging the pill at a 300 rate. They are Mattie and Sharpe. The Parkley and Pocomoke pilots are tied for honors with a .338 average.

"Toby" Tolson garnered his 17th circuit clout of the season on Monday when he sent one of Shertzer's fast ones across the center-field fence. The big first-sacker wielded a wicked club and opposing moundsmen view him uneasily when he steps up to the plate.

Speed artists in the Shore League, who are aspiring to the hall of fame as shining examples of Eddie Collins and Eddie Roush, have their hopes dimmed whenever Tickey, of Salisbury, assumes the role of opposing backstop. The former St. Johns gridiron star has a deadly wing and it is seldom that a base-runner tries to pilfer on the husky backstop.

Each club in the loop appears to be fighting to the last ditch in an effort to improve its standing in the pennant race. Although Pocomoke, Parkley and Crisfield are all hopelessly out of the running still these teams are rewarding their followers with a satisfactory brand of ball and they are causing the league leaders to go the limit to win whenever hooked up in battle.

This spirit, more than anything else, will insure the permanency of Organized Ball on the Peninsula. For it is very rare at this stage of the season that any league can boast of a close race involving all of the clubs. And usually those at the bottom of the ladder, having lost sight of the goal, allow themselves to listlessly complete their schedule. However, this year finds all seven teams displaying lots of stuff on the various diamonds.

Salisbury is still perched on top of the fence with the winds of "Destiny" controlling the direction of fall. There is just a remote possibility of the White Clouds staging a final spurt that will land them the coveted gonfalon. But it is indeed a remote chance. Two defeats on Saturday and Monday at the hands of the Cambridge Cannons knocked the hopes of the local team, who are now pulling for their pets to finish somewhere in the first division. This week will tell the tale.

Parkley, the Virginia town that supported the championship outfit in 1922 in the Shore League, is today finding itself backing an aggregation that looms up large as cellar champions. Last season, under the guiding hand of Poke Whalen the Spuds jumped into the lead at the very outset of the race and were never headed. But history didn't repeat itself for the Virginians and Managed Mattie has been forced to give ground all along to the other teams in the league. His charges lack a strong offensive and the pitching staff appears woefully weak.

There is one weak cog in Burt Shipley's infield machine and that is third base. And it has been weak since the first start of the season. If there is any criticism coming to Manager Shipley in handling the reins, it should be for his failure to strengthen this all-important corner on the diamond. The last lap in the pennant race finds the White Clouds coming down the home stretch without a regular third baseman. Owens is doing his best to fill the gap but the big fellow is not cut out for that duty. The former Oriole, as versatile as he is on the diamond, can not handle the hot ones that are shot down past the hot corner.

Lefty Hearne was in excellent form on Monday against the Cannons. He would have caught the eye of any big league scout until the fatal seventh frame. Then Lefty was guilty of another one of his errors of omission. Knocking down a hard line drive from Kolseth's bat, the strike-out king took his own good time to retrieve the horseshoe while Kolseth legged it to first. Then a wild throw to the sack completed the fiasco. That was the beginning of Lefty's finish. Unless the popular little southpaw "peps" up a bit in his style of fielding, he is going to find the traveling in faster company tough.

In every field of sport, the athlete that comes in for the lion's share of praise is the one whose efforts reflect his whole heart and soul set on his accomplishments. In baseball it is that player who injects into his work on the diamond every ounce of his energy, with his mind alert and his muscles tense to make good every chance that comes his way. It is the fellow who sacrifices personal glory for teamwork that wins the plaudits of the crowd. Salisbury fans believe they have several of these deserving players in their midst. Conspicuous in the lot is "Spark-plug" Seremba whose activities in the short-field merit attention. The diminutive shortstop plays the game hard, win or lose, and were all his team-mates imbued with the same never-say-die spirit, it is safe to say more games would have been chalked up on the right side of the ledger for the locals. Tickey and Busey are two more gloved artists patterned along the same line and Joe Kunoosh is a third.

The fans in this section are divided as to their choice for the pennant winner. Some are rooting for Poke Whalen and his Laurel Chicks, while others would like to see Herb Armstrong capture the bunting with his Dorchester clan. Dover appears to be the outside selection although Cambridge lost many friends when one of its scribes sent into the Baltimore Sun this week a story to the effect that in the event of that club winning the flag, Salisbury would lose all chances of witnessing one of the championship games with the Blue Ridge representatives, inasmuch as Cambridge would want all games played there. The article went on to say that the Cannons' ball park was better fitted than Gordy Park to stage such a show and could seat nearly 8,000 people. The ungracious opinion of other fans throughout the circuit refutes this story, for Salisbury is certainly the hub of the loop and has proved to be the big town in the league as far as equipment of ball-park and gate receipts are concerned. To pass it by in the Five-State series would indeed be a grave mistake.

And at this juncture, there is just one other situation that smacks a bad favor. And it is of such a nature as demands investigation, the honor of the league being at stake. For several weeks now there have been broad-casted reports that Dover has five class players under contract. In looking over the roster of the Delaware aggregation, the names of five men are found thereon, who certainly have records of playing in leagues of higher standing than the Eastern Shore. They are: McNiffe, Bope, Brophy, Stewart and Humphreys. If these players have played in better than Class D ball and to all appearances they have, then President Thawley had better act on the case. On August 1st, the roster of the Dover Club was forwarded to Secretary Rank and the five players in question were included on it. The league ruling on the subject is that no club shall carry more than three class players. For a violation of this very rule, the Milford Club was heavily penalized and eventually withdrew from the league. What is sauce for the goose must also be for the gander and if the Dover Club is guilty of the same infraction of rules as Milford, then judgment is to be expected from the Chief Executive. Firm and just decisions on these questions will tend to strengthen the league for coming years. Close supervision over games played under its jurisdiction is one of Organized Ball's strongest assets.

Which Paint Stick
Are You Using?

1 You can use the yard stick, and buy a paint because it covers so many square yards.

2 You can use the job stick, that tells you what the job will cost, but nothing about how long the paint will last.

3 Or you can use the paint-year-stick that measures a paint's wearing qualities and tells you how many years your building will be properly protected.

As for us, we use the paint-year-stick, because we have found out that length of service is the real measure of paint value.

Drop in and let's do a little measuring with this stick of ours and do a little figuring with that pencil of yours. Have a notion there's a surprise ahead for you.

ILL SEVEN YEARS

Saved from an Operation by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Siddell, Ill.—"I was a nervous wreck. I was suffering from a pain in my left side, which was almost unbearable, and I could not even let the bed clothing rest on my body at night. I had been sick for seven years, but not so bad until the last eighteen months, and had become so run-down that I cared for nobody, and would rather have died than live. I couldn't do my work without help, and the doctors told me that an operation was all there was left. I would not consent to that, so my husband brought me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and begged me to take it. I have taken fourteen bottles of it, and I feel ten years younger. Life is full of hope. I do all my housework and had a large garden this year. I never will be without the Vegetable Compound in the house, and when my two little girls reach womanhood I intend to teach them to take it. I am sure too late to tell some suffering women of Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine."

A Bath a Day

For six hundred years the Romans used no medicine but the bath. Is that strange? It shouldn't be. The secret is very simple. You see the Romans bathed daily. And people who take a bath a day rarely, if ever, need medicine.

A bath a day keeps the pores of the skin open. This makes it easy for the skin to breathe. Skin breathing sanitizes the body.

Then, too, a bath a day stimulates—exercises—lubricates, you might say—all your internal organs. This stimulation keeps them working as they should.

When the organs are working properly, they are healthy. Healthy organs make a healthy body. And a body that is healthy does not need medicine.

But that isn't all. A healthy body is a builder of beauty, energy, efficiency and happiness.

If you would know the joy of health and beauty start the bath a day habit. And there is no better time to start than in this month of June.

All you need to make the start is a little will power and a good bathroom. You supply the one and we will supply the other. Start a bath a day today, keep it up, and the money you have been paying for medicine will pay for a bathroom several times over.

Farm Notes by County Agent

George R. Cobb

No blame can be attached to the miners for objecting to the "check off" nor should there be any censure for the farmers who are objecting, not merely to one check off but to check off all along the line. The grower gets 80 cents for a crate of 36 loaves and the same day the housewife in Springfield, Mass., has to pay 25 cents for one loaf. The general tendency is for the farmer to blame the local buyer or the man to whom he ships his produce. But the fact remains that if our local buyers could get the difference between what the grower gets and the consumer pays we would soon have no buyers as they all could afford to retire and spend their time clipping coupons. That there is a hitch somewhere we all admit but just where this hitch is and the remedy is what everyone is trying to learn.

It is claimed that a college graduate can add $48,800 to his income during his life that he could not expect if he were not a graduate. In other words the college graduate is supposed to get about $68,800 for his life income. Some of us are hoping that these figures are correct. On the next page we read that brick layers are getting $1.25 per hour or $12 per 8 hour day with a bonus and the draughtsman with a college degree who draws the designs for the bricklayer receives $6.80 per day. The only explanation seems to be that the world has not as yet gotten back to normalcy.

The reason for low prices on farm products is laid at the door of an "inconvenient surplus." We forget who coined that phrase but it has a nice sound and the city man has it down so that he can rattle it off without taking breath.

Speaking politically it is claimed that "almost every man is personally acquainted with the Speaker of the House."

The day of the small farm and diversified crops seems to be approaching very rapidly. It is said that large estates in Europe are being cut up into small farms which has lessened the demand for other farm products.

We hope that a large number of Wicomico farmers will attend the Dairy Rally at Easton on Thursday, August 23. Every man interested in dairy cows ought to be present and what is more each man is urged to bring the whole family. A fine program in the afternoon and evening with a tour of the dairy farms in the morning. More details on posters and display cards.

Reports show that as is usually the case there is a wide divergence in the cantaloupe yield. Some of the reports would read as follows: 655 carriers from 3 acres, 249 carriers from 1 acre, 65 carriers from 7 acres and so on. Some of our growers figure that 200 carriers per acre is a good average, while others estimate their crop by figuring 5 specimens to the hill. We doubt very much that many growers average any such number as 5 specimens to the hill although we know of growers who do grow more than 200 carriers to the acre.

Each year the evidence piles up in favor of lime on cantaloupes. The story goes that some grower or growers scattered lime on the "lope plant" to repel bugs and found that where this was done the vines made a better growth and produced more fruits. Whether this story be true or not the fact remains that lime is beneficial to the cantaloupe crop if the soil is deficient in this respect. Demonstrations conducted by the County Agent with the co-operation of the growers have shown an increase of as high as 80 carriers per acre with an expenditure of $4.65 for lime and labor.

What would the modern young man do if he were to follow the advice of Confucius given many, many years ago, to wit: "In driving with a woman one must drive with one hand and keep the other behind his back." If we should follow this advice all of our income would be gathered in by the magistrate who states that two hands are needed on the wheel.

The same wise man suggests that you "do not pull up your stockings in a melon field or arrange your hat under a peach tree lest people think you are stealing." If our hat blows off or becomes tipsy in Bill Allen's peach orchard we shall know what to do. Although usually we prefer not to wear a hat in such a place as the branches are too apt to knock said hat from our hat tree and we have to stop eating peaches too often in order to retrieve said hat piece.

We are very much pleased with the results up to date of several demonstrations with wilt resistant tomato seed. So far the plants in these fields have shown no signs of wilt and have made vigorous growth. When the crop is harvested we believe that these test or demonstration plots will prove what we have long contended that it pays to use wilt resistant seed. BUT not all wilt resistant seed is giving such good results, which only illustrates the fact that the grower should be careful in buying seed to see that he gets the best the market affords.

Sid Smith likes oats for a green manure crop and has planted some of these year year for the last five years with good results. He says that they make a fine crop to sow after August 1st on land that is to be used in the spring. They make considerable growth before spring and then when turned under for an early truck crop add a large amount of humus to the soil.

In answer to a question, asked very often, we have gathered together much data from our growers in reference to feeding cucumbers to cows. Some of our growers feed as much as half a bushel each day while a few even feed a full bushel. Other farmers tie their cows right in the cucumber patch for a while each day and have seen no bad results. It is true that there is not much feeding value in cucumbers, yet they are a succulent feed and surely help in providing a variety of feedstuffs to the animal.

Reports from many sections of the country bear out the fact that the Golden Self-Blanching variety of celery is subject to heartrot and that the variety known as Easy Self-Blanching is rapidly taking the place of the former variety. Favorable reports are also coming in regarding the variety King of Denmark as a summer spinach.

We were very much interested not long ago in listening to Captain C. V. Hughes relate some of his experiences on the water. Especially were we interested in his tales of transporting Carolina Rock and the effects of its deadly fumes. Sleeping out on deck in heavy snow storms is not our idea of comfort and yet like the Captain we would rather do that than have our friends "say it with flowers."

William Adkins, Powellville, surely has reason to be proud of the corn growing on his place. Large, vigorous and dark green with all indications pointing to a large yield. Like the rest of our farmers when asked how it happened to be so fine Mr. Adkins said that it was because it had received the right kind of fertilizer. By further questioning we brought out the fact that he had worked it often enough to keep it growing and that he had performed the other necessary labors to make good corn. Again we are led to state that something else is needed to grow good crops in addition to the soil and fertilizer and although we admire modesty we just can't let our good growers give all the credit to the land and fertilizer.

There are some optimists still alive. One of these rare specimens told us the other day that any man who had 1000 pounds of pork in his smoke house and plenty of corn need not starve. He also contended that every farmer should see to it that he did have these two, at least, with as much more as possible.

VALUABLE DIRECTIONS FOR CANNING

One cause for failure in canning is the desire to get as much food as possible into a jar. If a can is packed tight with food, there is little room for water and the result is a thick, dense compact product, through which heat travels slowly and with difficulty. In such a case, the chances are that in the entire cooking process the food in the center of the can is never heated even to the boiling point. The little organisms which happen to have this advantageous position come through the cooking process unscathed. It won't take them long to spoil such a jar of food.

What would the modern young man do if he were to follow the advice of Confucius given many, many years ago, to wit: "In driving with a woman one must drive with one hand and keep the other behind his back." If we should follow this advice all of our income would be gathered in by the magistrate who states that two hands are needed on the wheel.

BUILDING OF DAIRY BUSINESS THE AIM

Every Farmer Is Urged To Attend National Dairy Exposition In Syracuse In October

All gold mined in the United States in the last 17 years amounts to only a little more than the value of dairy products in the country in just one year, or $2,410,000,000.

This graphic method of illustrating the tremendous importance of the dairy industry is chosen by W. E. Skinner, manager of the National Dairy Exposition, in showing how much the prosperity of the industry means to every inhabitant of the country.

But there is another fact of still greater meaning, Mr. Skinner pointed out. Dairy statistics show the annual average production of a dairy cow in this country is only 3,716 pounds of milk. It has been shown a good cow can produce 20,000 pounds of milk a year. Consumption of milk products in the country is now and should be doubled.

Build up dairy herds that produce double the average and increase consumption of dairy products, both easily possible and millions of dollars of increased profit to dairymen would result. Furthermore, that money would be spent for products made or sold in cities and would increase the prosperity of banks, business, commerce, transportation and industry.

Aid to practical dairy farmers in building up their herds in this way, so that a greater net return is secured with the least effort and expense, is the sole aim of the National Dairy Exposition, which will be held at the state fair grounds, Syracuse, N. Y., October 5-13 this year. Farm leaders throughout the East join with the management of the Exposition in urging every dairy farmer to visit the show. They promise the Exposition will demonstrate downright practical methods of building up every farmer's dairy business.

OUR NURSES

There are few occupations so exacting, during the years of preparation or in the years of active service, as nursing. To it have been attracted some of the noblest women of our time. During the recent war, twenty thousand of the thirty-five thousand nurses who belong to the American Nurses' Association volunteered for army or Red Cross work and saw active service.

During the "flu" epidemic this year and two years ago, there was a shortage of nurses and many of those who were able to work at all did night duty and day duty, stopping for one hour's sleep and frequently going twenty-four and even forty-eight hours without any rest at all.

In public health work, in emergency hospitals, in large sanitariums and in the home, death would take a far higher toll were it not for the skill and the self-sacrificing spirit of professional nurses.

when you use too much Choke-

FOR more than two generations our development and manufacturing men have been in hourly quest of the finest lubricants for every purpose. For twenty years the great field of motor car lubrication has multiplied their experience by an astounding variety of new problems promptly and successfully met.

Your dash choke, for example. So long as you leave it out you pour raw gasoline down your cylinder walls, washing off the oil, leaving surfaces unprotected, diluting the oil in your crank case. Our experience is that it's better to replace the choke promptly, let the motor rest an instant while the "gas" vaporizes, then use the starter again. Don't keep on grinding with the choker out!

Polarine is a prime-quality motor oil developed by long, practical experience to resist dilution. With reasonable care on your part you can trust it for perfect lubrication.

The Closed Car You Buy Now You'll Use Next Winter

Any owner who has felt winter's winds whistling through the ill-fitting doors and flimsy panels of a makeshift closed car knows there is no substitute for quality.

The 1924 Model Studebaker Light-Six Sedan you buy now will not only serve you admirably this summer and next winter, but will endure for years.

It is sturdily built for long, hard service, to ride comfortably, to look well and to operate at a moderate expense.

And when you are ready to trade it in on a new car the depreciation will be reasonable. Studebaker used car values are high because of Studebaker's inherent merit. And there is always a market for used Studebakers.

The substantial hard wood and steel body with its broad windows and four wide doors, its rich moiré velvet plush upholstery, and many refinements, is a model of Studebaker craftsmanship.

Construction of the chassis is an achievement in the use of precision methods in large scale manufacture. Proof of this lies in the machining of all surfaces of the crankshaft and connecting rods, to which is largely due its virtual freedom from vibration. This is an exclusive Studebaker practice on cars at this price.

The smooth-running Light-Six motor has made friends everywhere for its durability, power and flexibility just as it has for its economy and reliability.

The Light-Six Sedan is low priced because it is built complete by Studebaker in large volume, but there isn't a cheap thing about it. It is above par in every particular.

Studebaker's reputation for producing high class transportation for 71 years is worth considering when you buy a car.

OPENING DAY AT GREAT SALISBURY FAIR ONE OF THE LARGEST EVER

Ideal Weather Tuesday Attracted People From All Sections Of The Peninsula.

15,000 EXPECTED TO BE ON GROUNDS TODAY

Fair Is Adjudged By Those Attending Best In Association's 15 Years Of Functioning—Work Of Awarding Premiums For Best Exhibits Nearly Completed—Racing Excites Interest

With the sunshine of a real August day to glorify it the Salisbury Fair opened its gates on Tuesday to one of the largest first day attendances in the fifteen years of its history.

The management has spared no trouble or expense in making the Fair of 1923 the largest and best one yet, and if the promise of the first ticket returns continue as they have started, this year will be a record breaking one.

The exhibits in the main building are attractively displayed and present a variety of articles. The departments are listed under the headings: Needlework, Household, Agricultural and Floral. Each is judged by three judges and a first and second premium awarded to the two best entries. The following persons acted as judges in these departments.

Needlework: Mrs. Ralph H. Grier, Mrs. Marvin Evans, Miss Willie Banks.

Household: Mrs. Thomas Taylor, Mrs. Elmer Bailey, Mrs. Dale Adkins, Floral: Mrs. J. A. Graham, Mrs. William Tilghman, Mrs. W. S. Phillips.

Agricultural: George R. Cobb, W. S. Wheatley and E. M. Tilghman.

A number of booths here are filled by automobiles, musical instruments, furniture and food products as shown by stores and agencies.

The Educational Building contains the work done by the public school children and is particularly commendable and representative of talent and ability. The judges for this department were: Mrs. M. M. Mitchell, Mrs. E. D. Merritt and Miss Dorothy Mitchell.

The poultry display is unusually good this year and every available coop is filled. Here one may view the domestic feathered kingdom of turkey, chicken, duck and goose. Mr. H. W. Ricketts, local poultry man, judged these entries on Wednesday morning.

The cattle, horse, and swine department, judged on Wednesday morning by County Agent G. R. Cobb and Mr. Harry Van Horn, has a splendid lot of hogs, chiefly Jersey Red, Berkshire and Poland, many of which are offered for sale and may be purchased immediately and possession obtained at the close of the Fair.

The racing has drawn large crowds to the grandstand and to the fence rails to watch it. Trotting and pacing races with every heat counted as a race and the winner paid accordingly is being tried here for the first time. A Tuesday race attracting much interest was the special Wicomico race with only local boys entered. Mack A., owned by Homer Kelly, took the race. Bagolden, (Continued on Page Two)

BOY SCOUTS ATTRACT ATTENTION AT FAIR

Two Crack Troops Are Acting As State Police Aids In Directing Heavy Traffic On Grounds

Two crack patrol troops, one from Preston and the other from Pocomoke City arrived at the Salisbury Fair on Tuesday morning and reported duty. The Scouts were here at the invitation of Mr. D. J. Ward, Secretary of the Salisbury Fair Association, and Captain Roger Williams of the Maryland State Police.

The Boy Scouts arrived at 10 A.M. and immediately pitched camp along the side of the Maryland State Police Headquarters. The Scouts are known as the State Police Aids and they are assisting in the parking of the grounds daily during the Fair.

They act as messengers for the Fair Officials, render first aid, and return lost children to the arms of their parents.

The troops on duty at the Salisbury Fair are considered to be among the best in the State. Each Troop has a scoutmaster, a troop leader, and a scoutmaster's assistant.

The Scout Executive at Salisbury, Mr. J. R. Beaudry, has been without Scouting for over two years. But it is gratifying to learn that the Scout Executive has arranged for the forming of two Troops in Salisbury which will take place during the month of September.

Scoutmaster J. O. Wright is the scoutmaster of Troop No. 1 of Preston and Scoutmaster J. R. Beaudry is the scoutmaster of Troop No. 2 of Pocomoke.

TWO DRUNKEN DRIVERS FEEL HAND OF LAW

Laurel Man Gets 30 Days In Jail As Well As Receiving Heavy Fine.

WAS DRIVING A CAR WITHOUT PERMISSION

Guilty Party Only One Hurt In Crash On Delmar Road Sunday Afternoon—Whaleville Man Assessed $398.35 On Three Charges At Berlin Wednesday.

While on duty in the sub-station here on Sunday afternoon about 1 o'clock, Officer Bernard Keller, of the Maryland State Police, observed a car bearing a Delaware marker being driven out South Division Street in a manner which would indicate that the operator was under the influence of strong drink. Securing as quickly as possible his motor, the policeman gave chase but due to his start the Delawarean was able to give him the slip.

As soon as he returned to the station, however, a report came in to the effect that an accident had happened on the Delmar Road about a mile from Salisbury. Keller went at once to the scene and discovered that one of the cars in the mixup was the same as had passed the Armory a short while earlier. The driver, he ascertained, had been carried badly cut up to the hospital.

After having his injuries attended to at the institution, the man, Wesley Collins, Laurel, Del., was placed under arrest and lodged in jail. On Monday morning four charges were preferred against him by the officer: operating a car while under the influence of liquor, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle, operating without a license and operating with no registration card in possession. He was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to jail for 30 days, on the second $25 and costs, third $10 and costs and last $1 and costs, in all aggregating $141.80.

The car with which Collins collided was driven by Thomas W. Scott, of Pocomoke City who escaped injury. The Collins car, which was owned by L. T. Thompson, Laurel, who testified at the trial that he had not given Collins permission to carry it out, turned over twice, it is said, and the driver's injury consisted of a lacerated right arm and severe cuts on the right arm. Both cars were "Fords." Collins is said to have served time in the Delaware Workhouse.

On Wednesday afternoon, Officer Keller went to Berlin and laid charges against Harry Bunting, of Whaleville, who was arrested in that town on Sunday night by Chief Britton. Bunting was fined $300 and costs for operating a car while under the influence of liquor, $1 and costs for operating without license in possession, and $1 and costs for driving without registration certificate in possession. The fines and costs amounted to $308.35. The trial was held before Justice Peters.

Willards Camp Draws 4000 People Sunday

This Season's Event Proved Most Successful Of Any Held At Grove Since Camp's Starting

Willards Camp closed its gates on Sunday last upon the most successful meeting it has experienced since it was opened several years ago. Wicomico's youngest camping grounds is each year proving more popular as a rendezvous for the people of the eastern section of the county, Worcester county and lower Delaware.

On the last day nearly 4,000 people passed through the gates, notwithstanding the enormous crowds present during the camp, splendid order marked this year's session.

ENGINEER FOUND DEAD ABOARD VESSEL HERE

Body Of B. S. Payne, Norfolk, Discovered Lying On Deck By Skipper Of Adkins Company Craft

Lying dead on the deck of a freight schooner, Benjamin S. Payne, engineer, of Norfolk, Va., was found by Captain Oscar Crowell of the John S. Bowdoin, at five o'clock Tuesday morning.

The schooner, which belongs to the E. S. Adkins Co., had docked at Salisbury with a load of lumber from North Carolina. On Monday evening Captain Crowell, accompanied by Mr. Payne and a number of the crew had supper at a Salisbury restaurant following which they went back to the boat. Mr. Payne retired at 9:15 P. M., and nothing more was heard from him until Captain Crowell discovered him dead on the deck in the morning. It is thought that Mr. Payne died of acute indigestion, and that he probably went up on deck during the night hoping to obtain some relief. Since there were no marks on the body, a coroner's inquest was not deemed necessary. Mr. Payne is highly spoken of by his ship mates who state that he was a man of good habits. He was 47 years old and had been employed by Captain Crowell about six weeks. He is survived by a wife and one daughter who were immediately notified of his death. The body was shipped to Norfolk for burial.

STATE POLICE TESTS HELD HERE SATURDAY

But Five Candidates Out Of 27 Reported For Motorcycle Riding Exhibitions—Salisburyman Among Eligibles

Only five candidates out of 27 reported at State Police headquarters on Saturday morning to take the motorcycle riding tests preparatory to entering the force. State Employment Commissioner Short was on hand to pass upon the fitness of the applicants for the work and he was very much disappointed at the failure of the majority of the men to report for the examinations.

Thirty-five patrolmen are needed for the State Police Camp which opens on September 10th. After the applicants have passed the motorcycle riding tests, they will be given the general quiz. There will be no further tests on the Eastern Shore but another opportunity will be offered prospects at a later date in Baltimore City. The five men who took the motorcycle riding test Saturday were: Arthur J. Ford, Pocomoke; Barred Lloyd, Centerville; L. Moore, Cambridge; William E. Robertson, Clara, and William E. Townsend, Salisbury.

WICOMICO NATIVE IS BEREAVED BY ACCIDENT

Wife Of D. S. White, Born At Fruitland, Killed When Auto Plunges Over Embankment In Alps

Mrs. Denwood S. White, a daughter-in-law of Mrs. Mary White, 507 Camden Avenue, was one of the six Americans killed when a motor bus employed in regular service in the Alps fell into the River Var, 300 feet below, on Monday of this week. The accident happened about 40 miles from Nice, France.

The American touring party was headed by Professor Russell B. Miller, University of Chicago, and the driver after taking a sharp bend in the mountain road, which runs above the river, was unable to straighten out his vehicle and it plunged over the precipice. Five persons, in addition to Mrs. White, were killed and 15 injured. One lady escaped without a scratch.

Mr. White, bereaved husband, is a native of Fruitland, this county, but something like two decades ago moved to Washington, D. C. One of the proprietors of the National Capitol City Press. A few weeks ago he paid his mother a visit in this city. Mr. White informed his mother of the sad occurrence by telegram on Tuesday morning.

LIONS CLUB LOOKING FORWARD TO OUTING

Looking forward to an all day fishing trip at Chincoteague island on August 30th the Lions Club of this city is making arrangements to transport the entire club there for a real excursion. Leaving by automobile early on the morning of the 30th the Lions will go to Chincoteague and there take an ocean going dory for the fishing pond; where they will remain all day taking a heavy toll from the sea. It is expected that extra cars will have to be furnished to bring back the catch.

Due to the fair and the planned excursion there will be no regular meeting of the club for two weeks.

TOLSON HITS TRIO OF HOMERS IN SINGLE GAME

Toby Tolson, elongated first sacker of the White Clowns, assumed the role of being the real "Babe" Ruth of President Thawley's circuit on Tuesday afternoon when, in the game between Salisbury and Crisfield at the latter place, he thrice lifted the sphere out of the ball yard. Tolson's record now stands at 35. His feat ties the record for homers in a single game held by Traynor of Crisfield and Slaughter of Laurel.

TURNED OVER TO WORCESTER AUTHORITIES

Two Stock Salesmen, Arrested Here, On Charge False Pretenses

POSED AS CHAMPIONS OF THE UNFORTUNATE

After Persuading Dullings Stockholder To Turn Over Certificates In Order To Realize Upon Them, Money Is Alleged To Have Been Spent For Auto.

After having operated in this section of the shore for the past several weeks posing as champions of the unfortunate people who had lost money in financial transactions recently and devoting their untiring efforts especially to the women known to be holders of certain securities, two men who apparently succeeded in making some people believe they were as much as they had represented themselves to be, at least to the extent of intrusting to their care many hundreds of dollars worth of securities for disposition are now in jail at Snow Hill.

Harry Pullen, Preston and C. L. Henning, who resides in North Salisbury, stock salesmen, were arrested here on Monday afternoon, the former by Sheriff John H. Farlow and Captain Roger Williams of the State Police and the latter by Officer Cahall, of the Salisbury force and lodged in jail. On the same evening Sheriff Shockey of Worcester county came over and carried the men to the Snow Hill jail in which county they were wanted on warrants issued recently and charging them with obtaining money under false pretenses.

Several weeks ago the men went to Miss Elizabeth Tilghman, of Berlin, who holds stock in the Phoenix Portland Cement Company, a subsidiary of the R. J. Dullings Company which recently went into the hands of the receivers and the status of whose stock at the present time is undetermined. The men are said to have represented the securities as practically worthless and that they had been able to sell them for a large sum of money. A meeting was to be held at Salisbury on that particular evening to organize a protective association to safeguard the interests of shareholders. This meeting, called by Salisbury men of prominence whom they referred to in very familiar terms, was to be attended by (Continued on Page Two)

Is Entertained At Dinner By Comptroller Gordy At Blue Bird Tea Room.

CANDIDATES SPEND SUNDAY AT SEASHORE

Day Is Largest Of Season At Ocean City, People Coming From All Sections Of Shore To Participate In Political Post-War-Ritche At Fair Today.

Governor Albert C. Ritchie and party twice passed through Salisbury during the past week and upon each occasion made a brief stop in this city. In the party with his Excellency were: Thomas H. Robinson, candidate for Attorney-General; Thomas S. Young, candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals; John M. Requist and Wilson M. Carey.

The party stopped here on Saturday en route by motor for Ocean City from Clarksburg where it had attended the boat races and was entertained together with several local people, by Comptroller W. S. Gordy, Jr., at dinner in the Blue Bird Tea Room. They were accompanied to the seashore by Mr. Gordy.

Sunday was spent at the resort and was the largest day of the season in Ocean City. Party leaders from every shore county had conferences with the candidates during the day and they were greeted by hundreds of friends.

The party stopped here again for a few minutes on its way home from Ocean City. Governor Ritchie will be at the Salisbury Fair today (Thursday) and he will probably be accompanied by Mr. Robinson, candidate for Attorney-General. While in Salisbury, the Governor will be the guest of Comptroller Gordy at his beautiful home on Lemon Hill.

HOG CHOLERA CASES FOUND IN WICOMICO

Government Official Gives Out Information Pertinent To Eradication Of Disease

Hog Cholera was found in several places in the county last week. Two cases were found at Delmar and two at Fruitland, caused by feeding table scraps.

At Biville where hogs were given the "double treatment" the hogs "broke" with hog cholera at four places and two hogs died. Farmers who think that the "double treatment" is the only sure way of preventing hog cholera should bear this in mind. If more attention was paid to simultaneous sanitation and less to simultaneous vaccination we would make more progress in eradicating hog cholera.

At some premises hog raisers failed to report sick hogs either to County Agent Cobb or Dr. E. J. McLaughlin, Veterinary Inspector, despite the fact that they have repeatedly been urged to do so.

Primary or new cases of hog cholera are mostly caused by purchasing new hogs or by feeding table scraps, the latter causing last year about 85 per cent of the cases. If care is used in purchasing hogs and the practice of feeding table scraps eliminated we can practically eradicate hog cholera in this county and it is to the interest of every hog raiser to help to do this.

WHITE SCHOOLS OPEN ON SEPTEMBER 3RD

Teachers Will Congregate At Wicomico High On Saturday Preceding To Receive Final Instructions

In order to strengthen the standing of the first group high schools in Wicomico County, the Board of Education in session on Monday morning passed a ruling that in order to graduate from the county's leading high schools, a pupil must make 18 units in addition to manual training, home economics or music instead of 15 as has been the case previously.

This is another move designed to raise the rating of Wicomico schools and to receive further recognition at the hands of educators and educational institutions. The white schools of the county will open for the 1923-1924 school year on September 3rd. The colored schools will open on September 10th. Preceding the opening of the schools on Saturday, September 1st, the white teachers of the county will gather in the Wicomico High School building to receive final instructions incidental to the conducting of the work during the fall term.

POCOMOKE DRAWS OUT FROM THE SHO' LOOP

Step Deemed Imperative Due To Clubs Being In Financial Straits—Six Teams Remain In Wheel

In a telegram from M. H. Thawley, president of the Eastern Shore League, Tuesday afternoon, President H. W. Ruark, of the Salisbury Club was officially notified that the Pocomoke team had withdrawn from the league due to lack of adequate financial support.

For some weeks things have not been breaking well with the "Salamanca" and about a month ago their three star players were put up on the market and bought by other clubs. Since that time the attendance has been very poor and last week the team drew out from the wheel. After laying idle for a couple of days, new backing was secured and it was decided to stick the present flag race out.

Matters for the last few days have been going from bad to worse and the decision therefore was not entirely unexpected. This leaves six clubs to finish out the season.

"BILLY" HEATON LEAVES THE ARCADE THEATRE

William Heaton, popular musician at the Arcade Theatre for the past several years has tendered his resignation to the management here and has accepted a position with a chain of theatres operating in Fayetteville, N. C., for which city he will leave the latter part of this week, making the trip by motor.

Mr. Fitch has the exclusive agency for the famous Ansco line of cameras and supplies and has already added a very large stock of every requisite for the picture taker.

CHAUTAUQUA STARTS HERE SEPTEMBER 1

11th Annual Affair Will Find Attendance More Than Doubled Since Start.

TICKETS ON SALE WITHIN FEW DAYS

An Especially Attractive Program Has Been Arranged With Lectures By Some Of The Country's Foremost Orators—Shakespearean Drama "Taming Of The Shrew" Listed.

Coming to Salisbury for the eleventh consecutive time, the Swarthmore Chautauqua will begin a varied and entertaining program in this city on September 1st, continuing until September 7th.

The Chautauqua for 1923 will produce two plays, the Shakespearean drama "Taming of the Shrew" and the prize winning comedy-drama "Crossed Wires," which is a feature of the program.

The program will be presented by the Evans Bates Co., the Royal Gale Light Opera House, the Stallions Tour Co., and others. Also lectures by such well known persons as the Hon. Henry T. Rainey, Illinois Congressman; Henry A. Adrian, an associate of Luther Burbank; Frank Tannenbaum, student of prison methods; A. C. Packard, humorist and cartoonist. The Junior Chautauqua and the Junior Pageant are notable occasions and enlist the interest and services of the little people. Altogether the program is well balanced and decidedly worth while. No matter how different the tastes of the assembled public every one will find in each session of the Chautauqua something to particularly enjoy.

The town people have evidently appreciated Chautauqua for the attendance has practically doubled since its first year in 1912. At that time the Swarthmore Chautauqua launched its first season, and Salisbury upheld it with 425 season tickets. In 1922 there were 817 season tickets placed, showing a wholesome increase of community support.

The tickets, which will be on sale by the guarantors during the next few days, are slightly different from those of the preceding years as a new youth's season ticket for those from 15 to 18 years inclusive is added to the regular children and adult ticket of the previous years.

The guarantors are: Chairman, Walter S. Sheppard; John W. Downing, Ralph H. Grier, Charles E. Williams, Harry C. Adkins, C. H. Cordrey, William A. Sheppard, Oscar L. Morris, Fred P. Adkins, Carl S. Goslee, G. Vincent Adkins, F. Kent, George F. Leonard, Walter, John L. Morris, W. F. Allen, Louis W. Gunby, Henry W. Ruark, H. S. Todd, W. Lee Allen, Samuel A. Graham, David Dallas, Lew Morgan, Wm. Eastern Sho' Freight Ferry Line Proposed

Lays Point-Baltimore Service Plan Submitted By Commissioner—Gardner Approved Of Proposition

Establishment of an cross-the-bay freight-carrying ferry service between Lowe Point and Baltimore, with the resulting creation of a new gateway thru Baltimore to the north and west, is recommended as the solution of the Eastern Shore railway transportation problem in a report submitted Tuesday to Governor Ritchie.

The report is based on data compiled by Seaboard Air Line officials whose services were given free of charge. The plan was unanimously approved by the members of the Eastern Shore railroad commission of which W. T. Gardner, of this city, first manager of the Chamber of Commerce was a member.

Lists Closed On Monday At Midnight With Last Minute Rush.

ONE REPUBLICAN ONLY FILES HIS INTENTIONS

Edmund Humphreys Thus Becomes Party Nominee Of G.O.P. For Treasurer and Fight Avoided When No One Opposes—Lively Scrap Looked For In Democratic Ranks.

The political pot began to boil furiously in Wicomico County on Monday of this week and all day long and far into the night, small groups of prospective candidates and political leaders from every nook and cranny of the county were in evidence on the Court House lawn and the street corners in territory contiguous to the temple of justice.

The reason for the unusual stirring up was the fact that Monday was the last day according to law, on which persons seeking to come forward for a place on the election ballot might file their declaration with the county Board of Election Supervisors. The office of the election officials was kept open until the clock in the court house tower struck the hour of midnight when Messrs. C. Lee Gillis and Wade H. Insley, election officials who had stuck to their post throughout the evening closed shop for the day.

In all 41 candidates for various county posts filed papers and deposited the required sum to make their names eligible to go on the primary ballot to be voted upon, Monday, September 10th, where there are contests. A bomb was hurled into the camp of the Republican leaders by the filing for County Treasurer of the name of Edmund Humphreys, of Salisbury District. The G. O. P. in Wicomico usually meet after the Democratic primary fight and in convention agree upon their candidates to oppose the successful slate. As no one filed to oppose Mr. Humphreys his name will go upon the ticket in the election this fall as the regular nominee of the Republican forces. He was the only Republican to file papers.

A party political scramble looms up within the Democratic ranks with more than one candidate aspiring to the nomination in the primaries for each of the offices to be filled with the exception of County Surveyor, State Central Committee and Delegates to the State Convention. Up until a late hour Monday, only one candidate for the House of Delegates had filed his intentions, Dr. J. A. Wright, Shattbourn, and it looked as if the other members of the party in Wicomico is entrenched in the lower branch of the state government, were to go begging as far as democratic nominees were concerned. The party leaders quickly jumped into action and a number of men considered capable of representing the party as standard bearers were waited upon. Reluctance to allow their names to be used was met with in almost every instance, it is said, but a preponderance of persuasion and appeal to party obligations finally prevailed and resulted in four additional candidates filing before the "eleventh hour."

Poor remuneration and the perplexing and embarrassing situations which they are subjected to in regard to certain questions both prior to and after election are said to be factors which precluded the filing of papers for this office. Those who filed papers are as follows: (Continued on Page Two)

RECRUITING PARTY HERE ON SATURDAY

Will Be At Postoffice To Put Before Prospective Navy Men Advantages Of That Branch Service

Stationed at the Salisbury Post office building on Saturday morning, August 26, a Navy Recruiting Party will remain in the city for a short time to render their convincing enlistment in the Navy to present themselves for qualification.

The United States Navy is now 3,000 men short of its allowed complement in addition to which 30,000 vacancies will occur during the next twelve months due to honorable discharges. Those men will go back to civilian life with a trade, at their command taught during the period of service, with money saved and the advantages of travel. The new Scout cruisers are the fastest ships afloat. They make trips of three and five months which cover practically every part of the world. Enlistment in the Navy offers a wonderful opportunity for the man who grasps it. The cruiser visits some ports which no regular steam ship line reaches. The trip around Africa takes in the famed fortress of Gibraltar, Algeria, Tunis and Port Said, Madagascar, with its mysterious native life, Cape Town, St. Helena. Another cruise around Scotland to Spain and thence to South America is arranged for. Still another cruiser sails from Seattle for the beautiful Hawaiian islands, Australia and New Zealand, every in the fall three other cruises will sail for a world tour.

As only a certain number of new recruits can be assigned to these cruises, the assignments will be made by the Navy Department in the order in which they are made.

them. They implored Miss Tighman to let them have her certificates with the promise, it is said, that they would not be sold unless she ratified the sale and gave her a receipt to that effect. She endorsed the stock in blank.

Nothing was heard of the men during the next three weeks and the lady, becoming suspicious got in touch with her nephew, Oscar L. Morris, president of the Salisbury-Wicomico Chamber of Commerce, who immediately took the matter up with State Attorney Curtis W. Long.

An investigation was started and resulted in finding that the $1,000 in Portland-Cement stock secured from Miss Tighman had been given to Lloyd Richardson, of this city, as security for payment of an automobile purchased from the Richardson firm.

The Worcester writs followed the finding of this happening. The same men are said to have visited several Doolings shareholders in Wicomico county and either secured or attempted to obtain possession of their stock certificates either by giving receipts for same or trading them for stock which they were peddling. The same men are said to have gotten $1400 in Dooling securities and $400 in cash from Dr. J. H. O'Day, of Josterville upon certain representations.

owned by Sewell H. Richardson came in second, with Lady Cluster, owned by Dory Hudson making a third.

There are many other exhibits scattered throughout the grounds. A display of machinery by manufacturers and agents draws considerable attention as well as other smaller manufacturers who are making a showing of their goods.

Along the Midway are the many amusement features, the largest number of side shows and novelty attractions ever brought here at one time. There are the Ferris Wheel, the Whip, the Merry-go-round, the Caterpillar and the Sea-plane to entice the adventurous spirit and the dozens of freak tents and circus performances to draw the curious throng.

The Fair Association is giving the public five free high class acts, including the Diving Horse with Dr. Carver, the acrobats who work from tumbling stunts on the grounds, slack wire balancing to a breath-taking performance on a slender steel pole 75 feet high. Other free acts will be performed on the stage, all of them unusual and entertaining.

With good weather it is estimated that fully 15,000 people will attend the Fair on Thursday. A corps of eight state police, under Captain Williams, are here from headquarters to control the traffic and regulate any disturbance that might arise. Four mounted police patrol the roads and one is stationed at the gate to direct the arrival of automobiles. Police are on the grounds during the day and sleep there as protection at night.

THE CALLING OF COOLIDGE.

By John H. Perry.

Harding has gone. Coolidge has come. Harding's humanity to man has made countless thousands mourn his passing. No kinder man ever occupied the White House. No gentler soul ever left his mate.

The eyes of the Nation now turn to Coolidge. The people wish him well. They pray his stewardship may make for peace, happiness and prosperity. They will judge him by his acts.

What sort of a man is he? Will he be nominated by his party next spring?

Coolidge is cool, calm, calculating. He is honest. He is stern. He is intensely ambitious. A college graduate of fair ability, through a period of law with a small amount of practice and small fees. He turned to politics and public office. He has held office most of his years since maturity.

Born a poor boy on a farm, he is a typical Yankee. How will America accept him?

He is an admirable listener. His greatest gift is silence.

What a part it has played in the history of American politics. Charles Hughes would have been elected President had he not made a speaking tour and "talked himself out" of the election.

Woodrow Wilson, during a period of profound silence, was adjudged by millions of all nations as a superman—and then he began to talk—and an "idol of the Universe" was shattered.

Warren Harding, politically wise, knew that if he stayed close by his own "front porch," and spoke little, that he would defeat Cox overwhelmingly, and he did.

Calvin Coolidge since his election to the Vice Presidency has only strayed far from his confines one time. Out to a vast agricultural fair in Minnesota. After reading about ten minutes of his speech the crowd decided they didn't want to hear speeches, and rudely voiced their demands "to trot out the ponies."

Doubtless Coolidge profited politically by that experience.

The only thing that will outweigh silence for President Coolidge will be the actual "delivery of the goods," as required by a more and more exacting public. And here's a few of the things about which they will want "to be satisfied."

What are you going to do to stop the threatened coal strike and another winter of freezing families?

What are you going to do to help the farmer who has to pay profiteering prices for what he buys, and sells his products for less than the cost of production?

Are you going to advocate America's entry into a League of Nations or a World Court?

Upon his action on these and dozens of other public questions will depend the Republican nomination of Calvin Coolidge next spring, or at least, his election or defeat in the fall of 1924.

The sixteen millions of good American readers who see and scan this article in this and several thousand sister papers blanketing every state in the Union will watch and wait and judge and vote according to the dictates of their conscience—and mayhap—the wishes of their wives.

CLIMATE REGULATION FOR IMMIGRATION.

Farmers in particular will be interested to learn of the study given to immigration and to know that research shows that climate remains a dominating factor in determining the sections of the country that are to be the future abiding places of those who come to our shores. Previous occupation plus climate seems to settle the question.

The movements of our new arrivals demonstrate this fact in no uncertain way. A large percentage of the Scandinavian arrivals have already departed for the farms of the Dakotas, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Illinois.

This climatic influence has its advantages, but also it has its disadvantages. Large numbers of foreigners settling in block formation presents an increasingly difficult problem. It means that the absorption of Americanism is rendered much slower, which is not unimportant, as our immigrant population is entrusted with the vote.

In New York we find, for example, the Italian quarter, where the residents take years to become even approximately American. They speak their own language almost exclusively. They read Italian newspapers. Their homes, their food, their every activity, remain Italian for years. Were it scattered they would be Americanized in one-twentieth the time.

In regulating immigration from each country it might be wise for the Congress to take climate plus the needs of American industry into consideration.

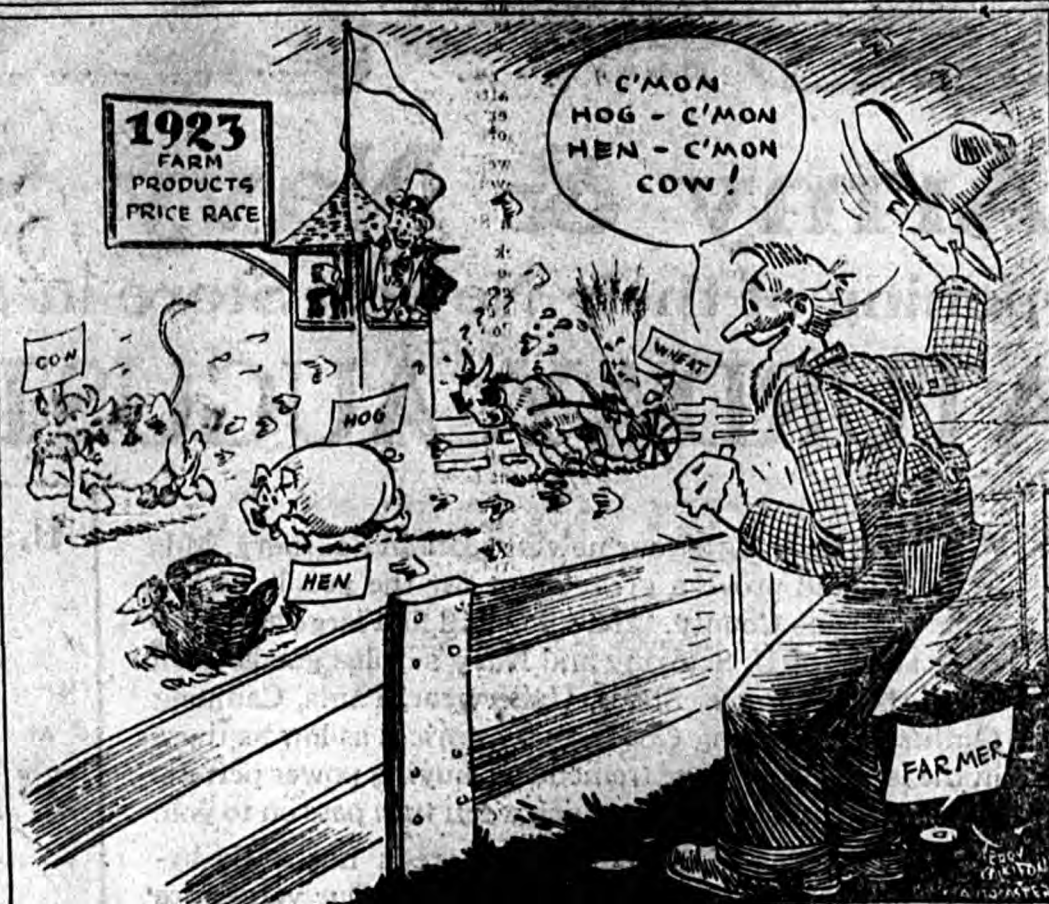

IS IT HOURS OR MORE MONEY WANTED?

The country generally will uphold Judge Gary, head of the United States Steel Corporation, in the decision to make the eight hour day a straight eight hour day and not a basic eight hour day. This change will put the acid test to the contention of labor that a work day of more than eight hours is harmful to the workers.

No one begrudges labor its right to a front line on the pay roll. It has been found, however, that after employers in some industries have conceded the eight hour day the workers have continued to work just the same hours they worked before, their battle for the shorter day obviously being to get extra pay under the questionably justifiable overtime schedule. In brief, most of the fights for the eight hour day have not been fights for the eight hour day at all, but camouflaged efforts to obtain excessive advances in wages.

This is unfortunate, because the reaction will be clearly injurious to those who toil, but by those who, like the lilies of the field, toil not, neither do they spin. There would be little complaint about high wages or short hours if men would give an honest work.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

Having had in mind the office of Judge of the Orphans Court for some time, I hereby announce myself as a candidate for this office, subject to the Democratic voters of the County in the coming primaries.

Announcement

Some time ago I announced publicly to the democracy of Wicomico County my candidacy to succeed myself as State's Attorney. For the reasons then stated, my announcement had purposely been delayed until such time that I felt I could no longer ignore what I believed was a popular demand for a continuance of my services. For some time before making my decision, I was repeatedly urged to become a candidate by my friends and law-abiding citizens in general from all sections of the county. I acceded to their request only when I became convinced that it was upon the grounds of public welfare and not upon any personal consideration for myself. My past record is before you and while in the past few years the criminal work of the county has greatly increased in volume, there has never been a time when I did not devote myself to the duties of this important office wholeheartedly. This explains why during my incumbency, grand juries have never been kept in attendance longer than 4 days during a term of court and have often been discharged in three days. This has effected an enormous saving to the taxpayers of our county. In addition, I might add that all expenses in connection with the prosecution of all the duties of my office have been paid by me personally, and at no time have our County Commissioners been billed for any of the same, whether it was gasoline, traveling expenses within the state, telegrams, telephone or postage.
It is a matter of considerable gratification to me to feel, as I do, that my announcement has been received so favorably throughout the county by our leading and law-abiding citizens who have so generously tendered me their support, without any solicitation whatever, and I can only add that in the event of my re-nomination and election, I shall take pride, as in the past, in giving our people the best that is within me.
Respectfully yours,
CURTIS W. LONG.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of County Commissioner of Wicomico County, subject to the Democratic Primary Election to be held in September. If nominated and elected, I pledge myself to work for the best interests of the county regardless of location. Having been a worker in the ranks for many years and this being my first time to ask suffrage of my friends and supporters, I will fully appreciate any assistance they will give me at this time.

IN MEMORIAM.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of my husband, Turpin H. Bennett, who died one year ago, August 24th, 1922.

You don't know the sorrow to be left alone,
Until God sends a message to your home.
It is hard when he calls for one or the other.
But hardest for the one left alone.

Often I wander to his grave
Flowers to strew with tender care.
On the grave of my dear husband,
Who is silently sleeping there.

By his Wife and Son.

CLEANUP OF COMMERCIAL SECTION ON

City Is Acting On Startling Disclosures Made By Deputy Health Officer.

BETTER REGULATED MILK SUPPLY HERE IS URGED

Grocery Stores, Restaurants, Mercantile Establishments, Produce Dealers, Property Owners And Others Come In For Share Of Criticism In Report Of Dr. de Somoskey.

In compliance with a request of the Mayor and City Council of Salisbury, Dr. V. H. de Somoskey, Deputy State Health Officer one evening during the past week, in company with a member of the night police force, made an inspection of the commercial section of the city in order to ascertain the condition in which the merchants were keeping their premises.

On Monday night his findings were made known to the city governing body. In his report the officer disclosed some alarming and startling facts in regard to the prevailing conditions which assuredly are a decided menace to the welfare, health and safety of the populace of Salisbury.

Certain grocery stores in the lower part of the business section came in for some scathing remarks by Dr. de Somoskey who declared that decayed fruits and vegetables, dead chickens and other animal and vegetable matter was found in boxes and barrels piled along the sidewalk and had become a breeding place for species of vermin which were found in those receptacles. One restaurant in Salisbury, he stated, was absolutely disregarding the observance of sanitary rules in the disposition of scraps and that they were being hurried indiscriminately in an adjoining alleyway.

The greater percentage of grocery men in Salisbury are utilizing over 50 per cent. of the sidewalks for the display of their wares thus proving a detriment to the passage of pedestrians, said Dr. de Somoskey who urged that they be restricted to 18 inches as provided for in the city charter. The dumping of truckloads of cantaloupes and other fruits and vegetables undesirable for shipment or consumption into the waters of the Wicomico River at the harbor here also came in for severe criticism in the report.

Regulation of the city's milk supply was also impressed upon the city fathers as a necessity if the health of the citizenry is to be safeguarded. Only 4 or 5 dispensers of milk have taken out licenses this year as against some 30 in 1912. Milk is being delivered here, it was brought out, in bottles, secured from other dairies, bearing all sorts of inscriptions as to the contents and with caps upon which is printed the names of various dairies all over the country.

The fire hazard is great in the commercial section, according to his statement, due to the fact that goods boxes, bales, excelsior and other shipping materials are piled in the rear of some of the main street stores to a height of 20 feet and the careless throwing of a lighted cigarette would be all that was necessary to kindle a blaze which the firemen would find difficulty in checking. Weeds in lots on Main street, as well as in other sections of the city, have been allowed to grow to a height of ten feet or more, it was brought out.

Another unnecessary existing feature revealed was the carelessness in opening up newspapers on Main street and the allowing to blow about the streets the wrappers and string which is costing the city much money weekly to clean up.

Unsanitary outside toilets right in the center of Salisbury came in for a share of condemnation and criticism as did several other unnecessary evils which are serious health menaces.

The Mayor and Council heard with interest the report and this week have started a crusade against the type of nuisances outlined by the official. The plan is to warn the parties guilty of these irregularities and to allow certain time to clean up the premises. Failure in this respect will mean using the mailed fist by invoking the aid of the Sanitary Code of Salisbury as approved by the State Board of Health which provides for heavy penalties should persistent efforts be made to continue these detrimental practices.

HALF HUNDRED ATTEND THE WHEATLEY REUNION

Fourth Annual Affair Near Galestown Held Last Thursday—L. T. Cooper, Sharptown, Delivers Address

The fourth reunion of the Wheatley family was held on Thursday of last week at Wheatley's Church near Galestown, Dorchester County and was attended by about five hundred people, including men, women and children. The attendance during the forenoon was small but about one o'clock, the hour set for lunch the crowd was quite large and continued to increase until as late as four o'clock in the afternoon.

After lunch was served and an hour of greeting an impromptu program was arranged and Charles Wheatley, of Hurlock, acted as chairman. The address of welcome was made by Rev. B. Bryan, the Methodist Protestant pastor of the church, in a few well chosen remarks. Other addresses were made by Rev. Paul Reynolds, pastor of Galestown M. E. Church, who spoke on the value of a good character and by Rev. Melvin Wheatley, pastor of Ridgely M. E. Church. His early life was spent near that spot and he very patriotically referred to the old homestead and to the value of good lives and the influence following them in the coming years. L. T. Cooper, of Sharptown, spoke on the history of the community and of the prosperity of the Peninsula in the present rich harvest of field and garden. These addresses were interspersed with sacred and patriotic music. Miss Louise Hastings presided at the organ. Miss Edna Wheatley, of Cambridge and Miss Irene Hastings, of Galestown, recited. Mrs. Wm. F. K. Wheatley read a list of the members of the Wheatley family who had died since the last reunion a year ago and spoke very tenderly of their good lives. Ice cream, cake and lemonade were served in abundance free to all. The occasion was one of much pleasure; kind greetings and sociability were the leading features and all spoke in the highest terms of the very happy reunion of the Wheatley family 1913.

Charles Wheatley stated that the first grant of land to Charles and William Wheatley was made by the King of England in 1744 and contained five hundred acres. He also stated these were the first of the family to reach Maryland and from them had sprung the large family then gathered together in this reunion.

FIVE SALISBURIANS GIVE VIEWS ON EXISTING TRAFFIC PROBLEMS

Offer Suggestions Worthy Of Consideration In Solving One Of Most Perplexing Situations Confronting City At Present Time—Saturday Presents Congested Condition.

Among the vital problems peculiar to this decade nothing is more serious than the amazing increase in traffic. Congested areas exist in every city and have to be dealt with accordingly. In Salisbury, in, perhaps, more unfortunate than the average in having narrow short streets which form the busiest district of the town. This condition has been the subject of much discussion. What can be done to relieve the business section of its walls of motor cars?

As early as eight-thirty in the morning each side of Main street is lined closely with automobiles and after ten o'clock all persons stopping in front of a store have to embark in the middle of the street and squeeze in between a spare tire and a radiator to gain the desired port. Is it fair to the town merchants to block their store entrances in this manner? On the other hand people who have cars for the particular purpose of using them as a means of conveyance to and from business must have some place to park. What the tourist thinks as he searches the streets for a vacant space for his car can only be conjectured. He probably changes the old Yankee Doodle rhyme a bit to say "I cannot see town, there are so many motors." Something, certainly will soon have to be done to relieve the ever growing whirl of traffic; to break the double flank of parked cars which cuts in half the already too narrow streets. Something must be done, but what? How does the general public feel about it, those who drive cars, those who own stores, those who walk? Can this problem be settled to suit every body?

Five persons picked at random gave the following replies to the question. "What do you think should be done about the traffic congestion in Salisbury?"

Mr. Walter B. Miller: "This question is one being discussed in every city, today. It is not the problem for the novice or the amateur to handle. I would suggest that no expense be spared in bringing to Salisbury a man who has made a special study of this sort of thing. Let him go over the town carefully and present his solution. Then have the law enforce it."

Mrs. Flora P. Swensick: "I think, undoubtedly, that parking should be allowed on only one side of Main St. Mr. Hooper S. Miles: Saturday night brings the heaviest traffic to the town and I would suggest that at that time Main St., De K St. and Camden St., be made one way streets, with the cars going west on Main St. and east on Camden St."

Mr. John D. Williams: "Indeed, I hardly know what can be done in justice to everybody."

Mr. Walter J. Powell: "This is a very serious matter but at the present time I do not see how we can pass any rigid ordinances to limit the parking on Main St., as such a law would certainly drive trade away from the town for we have no other place to substitute as a parking site."

Let the shoemaker stick to his last, lest he lose his awl, said he, not meaning a word of it and all that sort of gag.

How the World's Greatest Tea Merchant Developed the World's Finest Coffee

As is well known, Sir Thomas J. Lipton never does things by halves. When he established his own plantations for the growing of Tea in the Island of Ceylon, his instructions were: "Quality, first, last and always. Nothing else counts." Because of this, he has become known everywhere as the greatest tea merchant in the world.

Lipton Coffee Plantations were established years ago. But the growing of coffee is one thing; the problem of securing exactly the right blend is quite another. So also is the problem of a package which will insure that the last spoonful shall be good.

Time mattered little and Sir Thomas J. Lipton was willing to spend the time. His reputation as a tea merchant was too great and too precious to allow any deviation from the highest possible standards. Quality was everything. "Spare no expense," were the instructions to the American Manager of Lipton's, "so long as you get the best. Nothing else will do." Try a package of LIPTON'S COFFEE at your grocers. Test it yourself—by your own standards—for flavor, aroma, and invigorating qualities. Note how it retains its fragrance and strength to the last spoonful in the can. You will then agree that the time and money were well spent, and that Lipton's is indeed the last word in Coffee. Accept no substitutes for "the World's Best." Look for the signature of Sir Thomas J. Lipton on every package of Coffee you buy.

Bank Stocks as Investments

Under date of June 25, 1923, the following article appeared in The Wall Street Journal:

Investors are seldom urged to buy bank stocks because there is little or no profit in such investments for the promoter. Bank stocks, as a rule, are closely held, therefore, there is not much trading in the shares. Nevertheless, banking is one of the safest and most profitable businesses known. For instance, out of 57 New York active bankstocks in New York, 28 are quoted above $300 a share, 8 are quoted above $500 a share and 3 are selling at more than $1,000 a share.

There is a trust company in Pittsburgh that has a book value of about $2,800 a share and a few years ago stock of a small bank in Virginia had a book value of approximately $7,000 a share.

Last year, a bad year for most business, dividends paid by 8,147 national banks averaged 12.42%.

We are offering the stock of two Joint Stock Land Banks OPERATING UNDER UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT SUPERVISION—with probably more safeguards than around its operation for the protection of its stockholders than commercial or national banks, at a price to yield 6%, free of County, State and City taxation and the Normal Federal Income Tax.

We will be pleased to give you full information upon request without obligating yourself in any way.

This correspondent had her attention called to an enormous grape vine found in Barren Creek District, on the farm which is known as the old Lowdy Roward farm, which is tenanted at present by Mr. Fred Hill. This grape vine is the largest one in this whole section, comparing favorably with the well-known vine found in Oxford, Talbot Co. The circumference at the ground is 62 inches, three feet from the ground it measures 38 inches. It has a spread of 51 feet by 57 feet, spreading through the tops of five trees, growing in the front yard of the farm. It will be well worth the while of those interested to view this old land mark for themselves.

DAY OF GRACE

The day of grace, or the period of grace, is that period marked by the Cross of Calvary and the morning of the resurrection. Grace began to pour out its stream of God's favor and benevolence on Calvary's brow, "when Christ died for men."

When the angel shouts, the dead in Christ shall rise first and on the morning of the resurrection, when Christ begins His reign, the day of grace will end. Between these two events the Church is operating, presenting the gospel of grace to a lost world. No one knows when Christ is coming. Therefore every one in the Church should work incessantly; work while it is day; work while the day of grace lingers; work while opportunity affords; work while life lasts. The period of time in which we can work is very short. The life of the average Christian is forty-five years. He must do his best work in the last twenty. When the Christian dies his opportunity to be useful is gone. If he has not preached and worked during that period, then he must pass into the presence of Christ with empty hands, unfinished work, and lost souls who might have been touched by him. This is a very sad picture, but how much more sad is the picture of the sinner dying before he is saved. His day of grace ended in darkness. There is no chance for him beyond the grave.

The general period of grace will end with the coming of Christ; but each sinner's day of grace ends the moment his breath leaves his body. He will never be given another chance. He has sinned against light, against God, against opportunity, against the Church, against himself. He is dead, lost, damned; his day of grace ended; he neglected to be saved; he is lost. There is no picture in the English language as sad as that.

Turn sinner, turn; why will you die; God, your maker, asks you why?

HOUSEWORK IS A BURDEN

Woman's lot is a weary one at best. But with backache and other distressing kidney ills life indeed becomes a burden. Doan's Kidney Pills have made life brighter for many Salisbury women.

Mrs. William E. Wells, 410 Martin Street, Salisbury, says: "I was feeling badly for some time before using Doan's Kidney Pills. I was in a weak condition and everything I did was a burden to me. Rheumatic pains shot through my shoulders causing me a great deal of pain. My head ached nearly all the time and I had constant dizzy spells. I tried different remedies but got no relief until I took Doan's Kidney Pills. After using one box of Doan's I was much better and they entirely relieved the trouble. I have had no return of it and gladly recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."—Advt.

Keeps FORD Plugs Clean

Here's an ignition system that keeps plugs clean—
In big, intense sparks burn off oil deposits and, by firing the gas charges completely, prevent carbon forming on the plugs and cylinder walls.
It gives lots more power, too, for its sparks are perfectly timed by the famous Bosch Times. Every explosion occurs at the proper instant, developing maximum power and keeping the engine flexible and smooth.
Type 600 is a complete, waterproof ignition system, with automatic spark control. It makes old Ford engines run like new, and new ones develop a flexibility, power and smoothness that few think possible.

Flywheels - and gasoline - twenty years ago

Remember the big flywheels on the old one and two cylinder cars? They depended a lot on the weight of the flywheel to make up for poor balance in the motor. And with the highly volatile, therefore wasteful, gasoline of those days people had all kinds of trouble taking the hills—sometimes even in getting started.

"Standard" Gasoline today, like the finest of cars, is a scientifically balanced product. Balanced to give you maximum power as well as instant starting—long, economical mileage as well as snappy pick-ups in traffic and at the crossroads—smooth, even running always, at lowest throttle or wide open. It's the all-round excellence of "Standard", the Balanced Gasoline, that makes it the most satisfactory motor fuel you can buy today. It is always easy to get, at those familiar S.O. filling pumps.

Flywheels and motors need balance to make the best use of power. "Gas" for your car must be balanced to make power itself ample, flexible and cheap.

A Bath a Day

For six hundred years the Romans used no medicine but the bath. Is that strange? It shouldn't be. The secret is very simple. You see the Romans bathed daily. And people who take a bath a day rarely, if ever, need medicine.

A bath a day keeps the pores of the skin open. This makes it easy for the skin to breathe. Skin breathing sanitizes the body.

Then, too, a bath a day stimulates—exercises—lubricates, you might say—all your internal organs. This stimulation keeps them working as they should.

When the organs are working properly, they are healthy. Healthy organs make a healthy body. And a body that is healthy does not need medicine.

But that isn't all. A healthy body is a builder of beauty, energy, efficiency and happiness.

If you would know the joy of health and beauty start the bath a day habit. And there is no better time to start than in this month of June.

All you need to make the start is a little will power and a good bathroom. You supply the one and we will supply the other. Start a bath a day today, keep it up, and the money you have been paying for medicine will pay for a bathroom several times over.

Build Now---Lumber Prices Are Right

FROM the viewpoint of service to the community, we have found it necessary to acquaint the public with the facts concerning the price of lumber. Sensational stories have been circulated playing up the reported postponement of large building projects, because of cost of material and labor. On account of these exaggerated stories the average uninformed citizen gives credence to the statement that lumber prices are as high as they have been at any time. Naturally he figures, if lumber prices are at their peak, the logical course is for him to wait until they come down.

The fact is lumber prices are not at their high point, but at the most conservative estimate are twenty-five to thirty-five per cent below the peak price of 1920. This is not theory but fact.

We are doing our share to Stabilize the Construction Program and keep the costs down

A completed house is composed of many commodities. The lumber content of a frame dwelling, although by far the largest as regards volume, is as a matter of fact, in money expenditure less than forty per cent of the total cost at the present time.

The Home of your dreams is pictured in one of our books showing plans for 350 "Better Built Homes." Tell us the type of house you want. We have the plan for your approval.

Farm Notes by County Agent

George R. Cobb

We were surely pleased to see so much interest displayed in the Boys and Girls class at the Fair. Perhaps it is only the prize money that attracts the boys and girls, but it looks as though there is a feeling of competition and pride as well.

This will only interest the boys and girls in better products and life on the farm the officials will be well repaid.

In contrast to the interest shown by the youngsters we find a lack of energy and co-operation from the adults, men especially. Just why more men do not exhibit at the Fair is a mystery. The premiums are large and enticing and if won will surely repay the exhibitor for the time spent in getting his exhibit ready. This is being written before the Fair and we are hoping to be happily surprised by the large number of agricultural exhibits.

The modern, up-to-date person pays a doctor to keep him well and he therefore goes to his physician before he is sick. M. K. Dryden believes in doing the same thing and has his crops looked after before they are diseased. It is hard to even guess at the money our farmers would save if they would follow this practice on all their crops.

It is becoming quite general for growers to sow turnips with clover. Some prefer the yellow varieties while others use the white kind. The consumer in many cases rather likes the yellow varieties, but as they seem to be somewhat sweeter than the white. One of our growers sold enough turnip greens from two acres of clover and turnip to pay for the clover seed.

Twenty-five refiners close down for a month. Too much oil this price will drop. No money in doing business that way. Funny world after all.

Some of our friends argue that although wheat is low the price for corn will more than offset this low price on wheat. Do they realize that only about 20 per cent. of the corn crop is marketed as corn. Practically 40 per cent. of the corn crop is marketed as pork and the low price of pork may offset the higher price of corn. We still persist that wheat below a dollar a bushel is not allowing the grower cost of production let alone a reasonable profit.

During the past week we have obtained yields from two demonstrations with lime and find that lime when needed more than pays. Along this line Kinsey Dryden had a good object lesson with lime and no lime on corn. One could see to a line where the lime stopped as the corn was larger and greener than where no lime was used. He also used lime on cantaloupes to get a good net as well as a better yield.

Three of our farmers have already sent in their names for the farm woodland week that is to be held the first week in October. There should be three hundred names in before that time as there is surely that many farmers in this county who could get some real advice and help from the State Department of Forestry. Send in your names. Do not wait until the week is over and the experts have left and then ask for their services. Do it now. Phones 624 and 693.

There have been a great many complimentary remarks passed to us for our brethren living on the outskirts of the town. Their buildings and neat grounds have aroused the admiration of visitors and even local people who have seen them, resolve to go home and do a little work on their own place.

Some inquiries regarding fall lettuce. The Big Boston variety is recommended for this purpose. It takes about 65 days to mature and should be planted about September First. None but good seed should be secured and plan to sow about two and one-half pounds per acre.

It is time to seed alfalfa. Spring seeding has not been successful in this section. The Grimm variety is not necessary as the American varieties have given good results. Inoculate the seed or soil and do not be afraid of using lime. A thorough preparation of the seed bed is absolutely essential to success.

From now on our farmers should be selecting their seed corn for next season. Don't wait and select it from the corn crib but start in the field. Select ears from good vigorous stalks, with ears located not too high up, ears that bend over, etc. Much poor seed corn is planted because too many farmers wait until nearly time to plant and then go into the crib and pick out the seed.

Reports from all over the peninsula point to a large yield of tomatoes. The same reports state that practically every canning house is prepared to handle the crop. Not for some years have the tomato fields in this county look so well. Of course there are exceptions but the majority of fields indicate a high yield if the weather conditions are favorable.

This story makes us wonder if we are in the same boat.

The Poet: "The editors bought my 'Ode to a Sparrow'—he was crazy to print it."

The Critic: "That's what I thought when I read it."

As one of our farmers put it—it is getting near time for hog cholera to appear. True if judged by past seasons but need not be true if the proper precautions were taken. Every farmer must be convinced that an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure or we will always have hog cholera. Report any case of sick hogs to our office or to Dr. McLaughlin.

It is a question whether or not our farmers are not missing an opportunity to raise clover seed for sale. We realize that there is not a large amount of money to be made in so doing but there are so many demands for home grown clover seed that it seems well for some of our farmers to look into the matter thoroughly.

Misery loves company thus it sounds familiar to read that "Pennsylvania cantaloupe crop is complete failure." No, we are not pleased to hear this but we mention it to show our inability to understand the low prices on crops when so many sections of the country had poor yields. This may be one time when the old man supply and demand went on a strike.

Time for an "inspection at shipping point" law. This seems to be the only solution of many of our troubles. This law should be one with teeth and one to be enforced rigidly. No grower is going to complain if such a law should be passed as they realize that this is about the only way that their produce will ever get the name and reputation that it deserves. High prices go with high quality products.

when Water gets in the Crank Case

Trust this live experience!

IN more than a half century's constant study of lubrication we have met and solved many hard problems. To take one for example, why water gets in the crank case and what to do about it.

About a pound of water is formed by the process of burning a pound of gasoline. Most goes out the exhaust—the remainder, always heavier than oil, drops to the crank case. Clean oil and water will not stay mixed. Dirty oil will emulsify and quickly lose its value. Experience therefore teaches us to manufacture Polarine absolutely clean—to urge you to drain your crank case often and always fill with fresh Polarine of the proper consistency.

Economical lubrication demands a single reasonably priced, widely distributed oil of outstanding quality that solves every problem. Polarine is that oil, the built-up result of hundreds of trying experiences. You can safely trust our long, live experience to protect your motor by quality products and sound advice.

HEADLIGHTS THESE TYPES ARE APPROVED

Auto Owners Given Below List Types Of Illumination Recognized In State Of Maryland—Bulbs, Focal Adjustment And Tilt Also Necessary To Conform With Law.

Of the thousands of automobiles in Maryland, there are hundreds using headlights that are not legal in this State.

The State Board of Motor Vehicle Headlight Inspection, comprising Col. E. A. Baughman, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles and H. M. Lucius, secretary of the Auto Club of Maryland, recently approved a number of headlights.

The list which is the only one recognized in Maryland, follows: Benzor Type "A", Bird, Flame Type "A", Conashore "B" (clear) Conashore "B" (smoke), Control-lite, Corolla Type "A" Reflector, Dillon Type "E", Dillon Type "F", Eclipse Dimmer, Flatlite Flexo, Fluted Type "B", Ford Standard Green Visor Headlamp, Full Ray Reflector, Green Moon Lamp, H-4, Holophane-old, Holophane-new, Klear-Lite, Kopye, Legalite, MII, Macbeth, Mac-Kno-Glare Bulbs, Martin Shield, McKee National, Neveblind Autolite, New Onice Controller, North Star Glare Shield, Osgood B23, Owl Screen B, Parah-O-Lite Type FW, Primolite B, Raydex Safer-lite, Saftee, Shaler, Roadlighter, Spreadlight, Spex Type, Sun-Ray, Sun-Ray Standard, Two-way Light, Distributor, Universal Violet Ray.

Mr. Lucius has issued a set of instructions for the installation and use of the approved headlights as follows:

The proper candlepower specified on the approved list is the maximum permissible, and does not mean that a bulb of that particular candlepower must be used.

Drive the car to a place where the light from the headlight will be thrown on a wall, fence or screen at least 25 feet from the car.

Remove the front lamp glass, then cover or disconnect one lamp so that only the light from one lamp at a time will show on the screen.

Principal Focus (No. 1 Adjustment)—Move the lamp bulb forward or backward in the reflector until the circle of light on the wall is as small as possible.

Rear Focus (No. 2 Adjustment)—After making No. 1 Adjustment, move bulb backward until a black spot appears in the center of light. Then move bulb slightly forward until the black spot almost disappears.

Special Focus (No. 3 Adjustment)—move the lamp bulb backward toward the rear of the reflector until a black spot appears in the center of the light. Then move bulb forward slightly until the circle of light is larger than No. 1 and smaller than No. 2.

Front Focus (No. 4 Adjustment)—Same as adjustment for rear focus except that lamp bulb is moved forward.

After the bulbs have been properly focused in the headlights, according to the table of approved devices, the headlights themselves may have to be adjusted. This second adjustment is known as "tilting or aiming" and consists of tilting or turning the headlight so that the properly adjusted beam of light will be directed at the proper place on the road.

"Tilt 3 inches in 25 feet" means that the beam of light should be moved down a distance of 3 inches at a point 25 feet from the car.

The car must be on a level road or floor in order to measure the height of the light from the road.

The car should be fully loaded when aiming the headlight, for if the headlights are aimed with the car empty the movement of the rear springs of the car caused by the addition of the load would be liable to raise the beam of light beyond the proper limit.

The installation of an approved headlight does not comply with the law unless: (1) a proper power bulb is used; (2) the proper focal adjustment is made; and (3) the proper tilt is made.

HER SKIN WAS AS YELLOW AS GOLD

Mrs. Barker Says Daughter Suffered Terribly From Yellow Jaundice.

Beauty And Health Return After Taking Dr. Thacher's Liver And Blood Syrup

"If you had seen my daughter before she began taking Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup you would hardly believe she was the same person she is now," said Mrs. Corintha Barker, a well-known resident of Crockett, Ky.

"To tell the truth," continued Mrs. Barker, "she had yellow jaundice about three years ago, caused by a torpid liver. Actually her skin was as yellow as gold and she was in a awful condition."

"And not only that but there was a sort of eruption, or breaking out, on her skin, like it might be a kind of rash and it would burn and worry her most all the time."

"We tried everything, hoping to find something that would relieve her, but without success till I got her to try Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup. Then her troubles disappeared like magic. Soon after she started taking Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup her skin cleared and had a healthy glow and she has been in perfect health ever since."

"My father-in-law suffered very bad from constipation and says Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup ended his trouble right away."

Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is a powerful remedy for all such conditions as yellow skin, blotches, eruptions, such as rash, liver, latter, fever blisters and the like, because they are the direct result of indigestion, constipation, stomach troubles and impure blood.

If the first bottle fails to benefit you the purchase price will be returned.

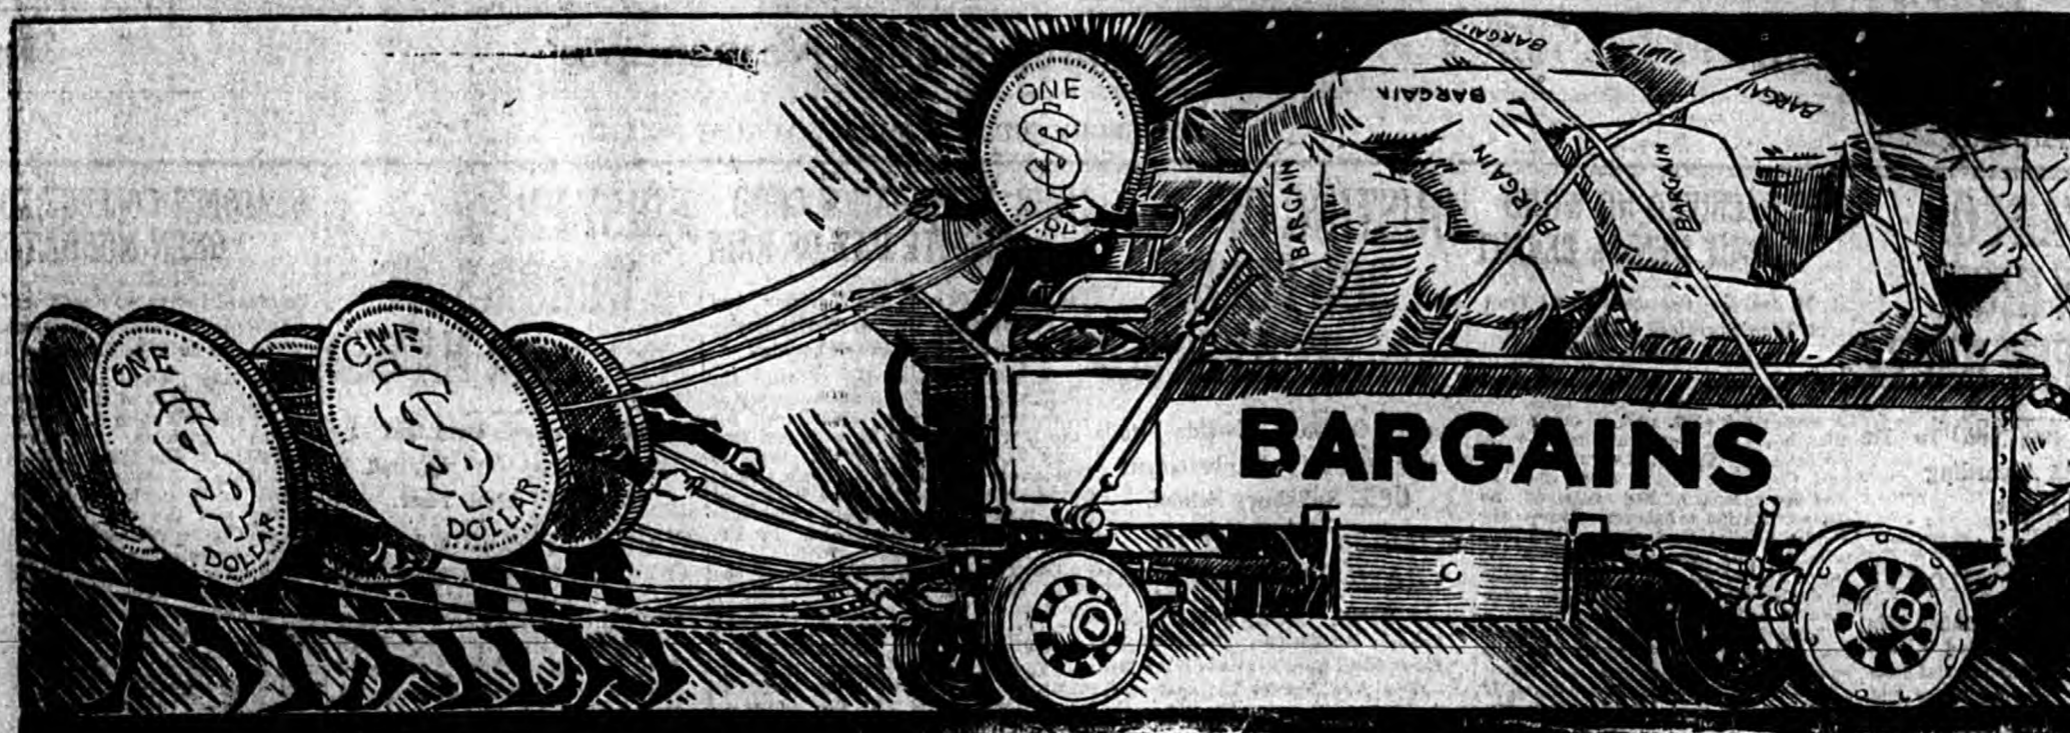

Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup is sold in Salisbury by the L. D. Collier Drug Co.—Advt.

HAVE FAITH IN GOD:—And Jesus said unto him, Go thy way; thy faith hath made thee whole. And immediately he received his sight, and followed Jesus in the way.—Mark 10:52.

HENRY WILSON RUARK.

Death overtook Henry Wilson Ruark just when he stood in the prime of life ably fulfilling all of those noble purposes with which he had become inspired since the days of zealous youth. And in witnessing this man end a life of sacrifice and service, the Grim Reaper robbed Wicomico county of a most useful and honorable citizen.

"Speak naught but good of the dead" is an old Roman saying of great virtue. Some men need it to protect their memory a great deal more than others. But ALL need it. "The sun itself has spots of darkness on its radiant front," they say.

But Henry Ruark needs the protection of this injunction very little concerning his character. He was a man endowed with those qualities that won the admiration and respect of all who came into contact with him. He was a hard worker and his willingness to do for others prompted the intrusting of many matters in his care. Unfortunately for him, perhaps, was his boundless energy and conscientious application to duties assigned greatly recognized and utilized in the business world of which he was a potent factor. For the responsibilities of many high posts and offices proved burdensome and taxing to both his mental and physical powers.

But "Harry" Ruark was a true sportsman. He played the game of life hard and never did he lose hope even when the odds seemed overwhelmingly against him. His interest in the great American pastime of baseball revealed more than anything else the "inner side" of his make-up. Imbued with the sole thought of promoting the game in its highest form in the community of which he was a part, Harry Ruark gave a valuable portion of his time to the inception and development of Organized Ball on the Eastern Shore.

His keen judgment in baseball realms was respected by all of his associates although at times it appeared too radical for application to the existing problems. Yet in the end his opinion was usually successfully employed. Whether on the diamond, in the fraternal hall, in the banking corridors, or at home, Henry Ruark signaled his daily actions by a touch of friendliness to those about him, and a sincere dedication to duties involved. He was an uncommonly "good mixer" and an unusually "hard worker." Though his loss is a big one to the community, he has risen to a life of greater service, where the reward will be eternal peace and glory.

SUPPORT CHAUTAUQUA.

Salisbury people are asked once more to support a Chautauqua program. Chautauqua consists of a series of addresses, musical treats, and other wholesome entertainments, behind which lies the purpose of teaching team-work and co-operation to the citizens of the community. The very reason for the existence of Chautauqua labels it as a deserving cause, and local citizens should be glad of an opportunity to avail themselves of the advantages of this educational project.

The Chautauqua program is diversified enough to meet the tastes of all those who seek enjoyment in the big tent. Good music, entertaining and instructive addresses, and dramatic productions of merit are so arranged that they are never tiresome and the idea behind the whole week's program is that any individual who attends every meeting will be taught a helpful lesson in addition to having been amused.

For a remarkably insignificant sum, our people will be able to enjoy some of the country's best talent in many fields of endeavor. Some of the nation's finest speakers will appear on the platform, men who never would be heard in this city unless it were for Chautauqua.

Not only are the needs and tastes of adults taken into consideration by those who plan Chautauqua programs. A series of special events are planned for the children in an endeavor to teach them some of the finest lessons of citizenship. This department of Chautauqua represents a work in itself and one that is deserving of the praise of every parent.

In order for Chautauqua to return to towns and cities year after year, these communities must continue to support the project. Salisbury citizens have always been solidly behind the movement in this city and it is believed that the Chautauqua this year will be received in the same appreciative manner.

PUTTING A NOZZLE ON THE HOSE.

The principal value of a talk on morals is that it helps a child to see goodness clearly enough to recognize it. Children need to learn how to give things their right names. They need to have some definite ideas to choose from, and help in choosing. The "atmosphere" needs a clarifying flash of words once in a while. A talk may throw this light. It may give a moral significance to acts of which they have not realized the meaning. It may expose some treacherous fallacies.

Children are not born in possession of the Ten Commandments. Few of them receive any definite ethical teaching at home. If they are going to develop moral lives they must receive some moral "exposures." When a recruit goes forth to war we arm him and instruct him how to fight. When a young traveler is about to undertake a journey we warn him of the perils by the way and give him a guidebook to his destination. While a pupil is in school we teach him the technique of commercial arithmetic, stenography and bookkeeping so that he may use them in business. It would seem to be at least equally sensible to teach him what are the moral perils he will have to meet in business, what are the pitfalls he ought to avoid, and those principles of business honor that govern the best men.

Children do not object to be talked to. They like the direct way of going at things. They want to hear life explained. They are quite willing to be told what is right, and why it is right. We are so impressed with the fact that children are emotional that we do not always remember that they are intelligent. After a few years of school they had interested over a hundred business and professional men as to the lawless acts of their boyhood, he asked them what was the best way of dealing with such infractions of right and justice. "The great majority of those who expressed an opinion believed that reasoning is most effective." This conclusion seems to have been arrived at, partly because some of them had been embittered by unreasonable dealing from adults, and partly because it was their ignorance of right reason that had led them astray. A talk that showed convincingly the practical value of honesty would be epoch-making to many a child who has never had it explained to him.

We notice that Chautauqua this Summer is advocating the teaching of this old-fashioned virtue in the schools. We endorse the endeavor.

TRY THE RULE OF REASON.

Perhaps no one is more familiar with the conflicting ideas of our home dwellers than the editor of this newspaper. Scarcely a day passes but he receives some criticism of the way in which the affairs of the community are run. It would take columns, and also it would be very unfair, to publish many of these communications.

The most important thing for our taxpayers to realize is that little to be gained by simply complaining and that everything may be gained by constructive criticism if it be accompanied by an idea of how the condition complained of may be improved.

It is not a difficult matter to organize a spotless town. All it needs is a little study of the principles of community building and a reasonable amount of money. However, there seems to be the rub. The officials cannot get money out of the air. They cannot make improvements without spending money, and the spending of money means a jump in the tax rate. No one need be reminded what happens when there is talk of increased taxes. The howl echoes even throughout the county. As a fact, slight tax increases for legitimate improvements should not be deplored. Only waste of public monies should arouse our indignation. Money spent in useful public improvements is an investment not an expense. We are all stockholders in the corporation, and we always get dividends in the shape of increased value to our properties when the town adds to something of public moment. Just a little reasoning will make a good many of us much happier, and perhaps a little more prosperous.

THE EXODUS FROM AMERICAN FARMS.

With unceasing regularity, and increasing activity the movement from the farms to the cities continues unabated. This is a situation that should be squarely faced and that should command the best of legislative thought to bring about a change.

Reports from 92 out of 154 counties in Georgia, show that 41,383 negroes have left those counties this year and that 15,760 white people also have left the farms. Including the year 1920 and to date 228,938 negroes have left the state of Georgia. Other Southern states have met like experiences.

The movement of course is in response to the call for labor in the north and to the recklessness which the competitive northerner is willing to spend his money to obtain and hold workers.

There are sporadic instances in the state of Jersey for example where builders being compelled to finish construction on time under contract have been compelled to pay as high as $30 a day for bricklayers.

Short sighted mercenaries who are thus bidding for the man on the farms seems to do so in the very teeth of economic law. Stripping the farms is bound to spell heavy increase in the cost of city living, so in the long run both employer and workman are bound to feel the evil effect of disturbing the economic equilibrium. For the workman, the answer awaits only the passing of time, when the competition for city jobs will be keener and the uncertainty of employment more marked.

The biggest tax we have to pay, ain't levied on our oats an' hay, nor saddled on our farms. The dread exactions of the law may strip us till we're feelin' raw,—but these are trivial harms. Our taxes may be bigger'n rent,—and take the widder's last red cent, an' grow with frenzied pace. The sheriff may attach our pelfs, an' drive us off to somewhere's else,—but that's a minor case.

It's nothin' less than truth, to say, the heaviest toll we have to pay—is on perverted brains. We pay a blame sight heavier tax on Caliban and Sycorax, than on our fertile plains. We hardly ever hear 'em quote the penalties of green-horn vote,—so deaf we seem to be. It costs a sight of coin for schools, hot, forty times as much fer fools, an' racial strategy!

THE AMERICAN PEACE AWARD IS ANNOUNCED

Is Created By E. W. Bok and Offers $100,000 To Author of Best Practical Plan By Which World Harmony May Be Preserved.

The award is offered in the conviction that the peace of the world is the problem of the people of the United States, and that a way can be found by which America's voice can be made to count among the nations and integrity of the United States.

The purpose of the award is to give the American people from coast to coast a direct opportunity to evolve a plan that will be acceptable to many groups of our citizens, who while now perhaps disagreeing as to the best method of international association, strongly desire to see the United States do its share in preventing war and in establishing a workable basis of cooperation among the nations of the earth.

Since the plan finally selected by the Jury may be a composite of more than one plan, there are also offered, in addition to the main award of one hundred thousand dollars ($100,000), second, third, fourth and fifth awards of five thousand dollars ($5,000) each for any plans or portion of plans used by the Jury of Award in a composite plan.

If the Jury accepts one plan in full, making no additions to it from other plans, no subsidiary awards will be made.

The contest is open to every citizen of the United States, by birth or naturalization.

Plans may be submitted either by individuals or by organizations of every kind, national, state or local.

The winning plan must provide a practicable means whereby the United States can take its place and do its share towards preserving world peace, while not making compulsory the participation of the United States in European wars, if any such are, in the future, found unpreventable.

The plan may be based upon the present covenant of the League of Nations or may be entirely apart from that instrument.

The purpose of the Award is two fold: first, to produce a plan; and secondly, to insure so far as may be, that it will be put into operation.

The award is, therefore, to be made in two payments: fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) will be paid to the author if and when the plan, in substance and intent, is approved by the United States Senate; or if and when the Jury of Award decides that an adequate degree of popular support has been demonstrated for the winning plan.

The second half of the award—of fifty thousand dollars ($50,000)—shall not be deemed to have been won unless the conditions above mentioned as to the approval of the plan shall be fulfilled on or before March 4, 1925.

The subsidiary awards are to be paid upon the same basis as the principal award; that is, twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500) will be paid to the author at the time the first fifty thousand dollars ($50,000) is paid and the remaining twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500) if and when the composite plan, in substance and intent, shall have been accepted by the Senate of the United States; or if and when the Jury of Award decides that an adequate degree of popular support has been demonstrated for the winning plan.

Plans submitted should not be in the form of bills, resolutions, or treaties suitable for presentation to the Senate.

The paper submitted may include not only the exposition of the plan, but also argument for it.

A summary of not exceeding five hundred words must accompany every plan.

The total number of words submitted, exclusive of the summary, must not exceed five thousand (5,000).

Only one plan may be submitted by any one contestant.

Manuscripts must be typewritten, and on only one side of the page.

Manuscripts must not be rolled.

They must not be accompanied by letters.

They must not bear the name of the author or contain anything by which the author might be identified. Each manuscript must have attached to it a plain sealed envelope containing the author's name and address.

As they are received, the manuscript and envelope will be marked, for identification, with the same number. The envelopes will not be opened until the Jury of Award has made its selections. Hence the receipt of manuscripts cannot be acknowledged.

No manuscripts will be returned. No postage for the return of manuscripts should therefore be included by the sender.

All manuscripts must be received at the office of the American Peace Award by twelve o'clock midnight on November 15, 1923. Manuscripts received after that time cannot be considered.

It is expected that the Jury will be able to announce the selection of a plan for the first part of the Award in time for the plan to be presented to the Senate early in 1924.

The submission of any manuscript whether or not it receives an Award, shall give to the Committee full right to publish the same in such manner and at such time as it may choose.

Working in direct co-operation with the Policy Committee of the American Peace Award are the most prominent and effective organizations, civic, religious, and economic, throughout the United States.

A cooperating council has been formed for the American Peace Award, consisting of one delegate from each of these organizations.

The personnel of the Jury of Award will be announced as soon after September first as possible.

A GOLF EXPERT

Mother (to former husband who has been out with his son trying to learn to play golf)—Well, how did you like it?

Father—Oh, just so so. Sometimes it seemed like hoeing weeds, other times just like digging for fish bait.

Witnesses Wanted

Crank—Officer, I want that man arrested. He just gave me a nasty look.

Officer—You've got the natty look all right—but if I arrest him—I'll have to prove to the judge that he gave it to you.

Richard Lloyd Jones says

DON'T TRY TO LOSE YOUR NATURAL SIMPLICITY.

Adelina Patti's test for a singer was never, as you might suppose, "Can you Trill? Can you imitate a mocking bird? No, it was "Can you sing a simple ballad in honest, straightforward fashion? Such a ballad as 'Home, Sweet Home'?" That was a fair test.

Simplicity shows quality naked and unadorned. And only genuine worth that dares challenge its criticism.

It takes both courage and the consciousness of value to come before the world with affectation. Our assumption of numberless little airs, poses and prejudices is but the confession and apology for weakness.

The strong are always simple. Simplicity implies strength. The weak hide their defects and their lack with tricks and fills.

The highest attainments in painting and sculpture are not the kaleidoscopic, brightly-colored canvasses of battle scene; not the complex many-turreted statue structures that misguided patriots sometimes erect in memorial of achievement. The real picture in the world is a mother and her babe. As the sense of skill grows strong and the eye keen in its perception of beauty, non-essentials, jewelry and drapery, are stripped off and the true artist finds satisfaction in the flowing line and satiny flesh texture of the simple human figure.

In the world of letters, that which lives as poetry is not the half-hearted, labored utterances of a Poet Laureate on some quasi "great" occasion. Rather it is the simple stanza that sang itself out of some more obscure poet's heart that binds a all with living bonds through community of feeling and experience. The great song is never the oratorio but the ballad.

Real worth is always unassuming and natural. High thinking seems automatically to draw unto itself the complements of plain living. Napoleon was always most at ease in the Spartan simplicity of camp on the battle field. To his mind, the grandeur and splendor of his French court were a concession to the limitations of the less great.

Great minds focused as they are on great issues have small patience with the trivialities of custom and convention.

It is only when the building is right, true in conception, strong in foundation, pure in outline, that the architect dare let it stand forth unadorned.

So with human souls. Our poor terms "homeliness" and "humanness" may stand for the truest aristocracy of human character.

CHAUTAUQUA STARTS HERE SATURDAY NEXT

Program Remarkably Good This Season, Has Lecturer Mentioned As Possible Presidential Timber

Salisbury people are urged to buy their season Chautauqua tickets early and to be ready for the opening date, Saturday, September 1.

The 1923 program promises to be one of the best ever given. Several one day entertainments are alone worth the price of the whole ticket. The same talent would cost the community three or four times as much if it were secured in any other way than through the Chautauqua circuit. The lectures are particularly interesting this year. Congressman Rainey is being suggested by Chicago papers as a suitable candidate for the Presidency. Mr. Tannebaum's articles in the Century Magazine have attracted wide attention. Mr. Redfield probably knows more about our commercial relations with other lands than any other man in America. Mr. Adrian's lecture is worth $3.00 alone. Mr. Stott's lecture has high inspirational value. The music is remarkably good. The plays give great satisfaction.

The majority of towns, where this program has been presented, have sold more than their quota.

The local fruit evoked much favorable comment by commission men due to its size and its perfect condition attributable in the main to the careful spraying and cultivating at the Allen orchards. The shipments were handled by the American Fruit Growers Inc. of which Grant Sexton, is local representative.

LEGION PAYS TRIBUTE

The American Legion has fittingly paid its tribute to the fallen chief of the nation. The veterans' organization immediately began a period of mourning upon receipt of the sad news from San Francisco of President Harding's death.

National Commander Alvin Owsley was in Price, Utah, at the time, and issued statements of condolence and sympathy on the part of the national organization of the legion. He ordered the period of mourning throughout the posts of the organization and directed that all colors were to be dipped in tribute as the funeral train carried the body to Washington.

In the national capital, legionaries from all parts of the country assembled to pay homage and tribute. Senator James E. Watson of Indiana spoke at the legion memorial services, eulogizing President Harding. Besides Senator Watson, Bishop-elect Freeman of the Episcopal Diocese of Washington, Allen J. Property, Castellan Thomas W. Miller, who represented the legion, and others joined in the tribute to President Harding.

The meeting at Keith's Theatre, Indianapolis, was public, and the large auditorium was crowded. The Marine band furnished music at the state funeral services.

Representatives of the American Legion from different parts of the nation at the funeral services were a committee headed by Thomas W. Miller, of Delaware, and composed of National Vice Commander Watson E. Miller, of D. C., National Vice Commander Robert O. Blood of New Hampshire, Past National Commander Henry D. Lindley of New York, Past National Commander Milton J. Foreman, Past National Commander Franklin D. Lilliver, A. A. Sprague of Illinois, Joseph H. Thompson of Pennsylvania, James A. Drain of Washington, D. C., and Paul A. Martin of Michigan. William F. Deegan of New York headed the legion delegation in the motorized section of the procession.

FAVORS LAND SETTLEMENT

The investigation of community land settlement for disabled men in Minnesota has disclosed that though in some instances veterans may not be making their way in the world, the project is doing much to favor the return of the former soldiers to their station in life. After an exhaustive research made of the conditions in several of such colonies in the state of Minneapolis by Veterans' Bureau officials, Director Hines has given this report to Joe Sparks, chairman of the national rehabilitation committee of the legion with the bureau's findings.

Veterans' Bureau officials have been speculative as to the possibilities of community land development by disabled men. For a time it seemed that the reports that the men were failing on the land allotted them, and that this would preclude any wide use of the scheme as a method of rehabilitation. Reports of their success, however, showed in this manner, farm products might be standardized to such an extent that the veterans would be protected that by price fluctuation, group settlement would afford a lower cost of production and the medical attention was more readily possible for the men, than if they were sent out under a placement method.

So this, the bureau investigators declared would entail a careful selection of land on account of soil fertility so that labor in production would not become too much of a hardship on the men assigned lands. Consideration of the men given the tract of land, the veterans' bureau men, has much to do with the success, their contention being that physically handicapped men should be given small tracts for special farming work. The investigation included projects at Orchard Lake, Onamia, Veteransville, Silver Star and Moose Lake, in Minnesota. Several of the colonies were made the object of special investigations by the American Legion in Minnesota, and favorable reports made on them.

WILL EXPLAIN POLICIES

Director Frank T. Hines of the Veterans' Bureau has accepted an invitation of the American Legion to appear at the fifth annual convention of the organization to be held in San Francisco in October. The Veterans' Bureau head will go to the convention city for the express purpose of explaining to the legionaries the attitude of the relief body toward the disabled men, because their organizations represent the greatest body of U. S. world war veterans, who are today carrying on for relief of those maimed by war.

In his letter of acceptance General Hines said: "I appreciate the importance to the disabled men of maintaining a close understanding between the service organizations and the government agency established to administer the acts of Congress which reflect the views of the people with regard to military service. It is particularly important that the largest of these organizations have definite understanding of the policies as it is possible to appear before certain committees of the organization to clarify views of the members as to future procedure of the Veterans' Bureau.

URGE REMOVAL OF PATIENTS

Removal of Oklahoma, Texas and Arkansas veterans who are patients in the Army and Navy Hospital at Little Rock, Ark., and in the William Beaumont Army Hospital at El Paso, Texas, has been urged by the American Rehabilitation Committee of the fourteenth district which met at Dallas recently.

The Veterans' organization has taken the stand against hospitalization of veterans' Bureau patients in Army hospitals, claiming that the patients do not receive the sympathetic treatment to which they are entitled. Investigations at the two hospitals indicated the proper segregation was not being maintained. The committee recommended the removal of tubercular patients to the Muskogee hospital for tubercular and another which has been opened at Keokuk, Texas.

TO PROTECT VETERANS

The right of civil service employees who were veterans of the world war to retain their positions has been tested by American Legion officials in District of Columbia courts recently, and may be taken to the U. S. Supreme Court if necessary to protect the veterans' rights. The veterans' organization, according to leaders, is intent in its purpose to see that those former soldiers now employed by the government under civil service, are not discharged by administration officials without just cause and hearings.

The case in point is that of William D. Robinson of Virginia, an employee of the income tax division of the internal revenue bureau. Robinson was notified late in July that his services would no longer be required because of a reduction in personnel and an account of his efficiency rating. He appealed to the courts and was granted a temporary injunction restraining the bureau officials from discharging him until a final case could be heard. It was said that this was the first instance that the government had ever been directed by the courts to keep an employee on the pay roll. Arguments of officials in the hearing are expected to develop reasons for the proposed discharge of Robinson.

If the legion is successful in the fight for the retention of Robinson, it is expected that nearly 300 other ex-service men, formerly employed under civil service will seek reinstatement. Under the law, veterans are given preference in such positions, when possible.

VETERANS DISCUSS PEACE

American Legion officials forsee in the legion's participation in the Inter-Allied Veterans' Federation conference to be held in Brussels, Belgium, early in September, a definite step toward world peace. The Legion delegation to the convention, which recently sailed for Europe on the Leviathan, headed by National Commander Alvin Owsley will be prepared with a definite program for such an agenda. The Legion men are confident that the word of the American ex-service man will play a big part in the final program offered to bring about international peace.

Commander Owsley heads the party, though he will take no part in the deliberations of the convention. He will be present as an observer. In 1922, when the organization met at New Orleans, the legion leader was one of the supporters of the program offered there. To Col. H. Nelson Jackson, vice-president of the federation, representing nearly fifteen millions of men, is entrusted guidance of the legion's delegation as chairman. Col. Jackson resides in Burlington, Vt., and is well versed in international affairs. R. E. Condon of New York City is vice chairman of the delegation. Brig. Gen. Roy Hoffman of Oklahoma City, a member of the supreme council of the International Veterans' Federation who is credited with having prepared many clauses of the original pronouncement of the organization, is another member of the delegation. Brig. Gen. L. R. Gignilliat, Culver, Ind.; Col. H. H. Polk, Des Moines, Ia.; Col. Ernest O. Thompson, Amarillo, Tex., and Jerome Stone of Wichita Falls, Tex., are other members of the party. In France, the legion party will be joined by Dr. James Brown Scott, of the Carnegie Peace Foundation, Arthur W. Kipling and H. Cabot Ward of Paris.

At the 1922 convention of the Federation, held in New Orleans simultaneously with the convention of the American Legion, a definite announcement of policy of the veterans of seven countries were given in a manifesto, which later received the unqualified endorsement of the American Legion. The most striking declaration of the former soldiers was their support of the "world court" project, to "outlaw war", and settle international disputes by arbitration. Another clause of the instrument provided that in case any nation should maintain armies for aggression, efforts should be made to stop trade relations with that nation. Another effort to better conditions of member countries is to be seen in the clause which seeks the suppression of disloyal persons who seek to overthrow governments existing by will of the people.

On the basis of the New Orleans manifesto, the legion's committee which represents the service men of America, will go prepared with the expressions of members of their own organizations, of diplomats, jurists, statesmen and close students of international affairs. The material follows definite expressions received by legion officials from the nation's leaders in response to request from National Commander Owsley.

FIGHTING FOR CHANGE

Supporting the stand of the American Legion in Alabama for abolishing

A Real Test for President Coolidge

President Calvin Coolidge's test came at the end of his first cabinet meeting when he went out on the White House lawn to face a battalion of veteran newspaper men. He proved he could smile and indulge in snappy chatter. Photo shows him with the newsmen, who stamped him "regular feller."

ment of the state's convict leasing system, many civic organizations throughout the Cotton State are working in favor of the movement. One of the most recent of these was the Lion's Club of Mobile, which after speakers from the legion had told the members what the system meant—"a relic of an ancient age"—unqualifiedly endorsed the action of the legion in fighting for a change system.

taurants, as under the city's licensing system, any who "hoost" their rates for such an occasion are subject to loss of operating rights, and fine as well. San Francisco has 250 hotels, and more than half of these will be required to house the legion visitors.

FARM LABOR SHORTAGE HAS TO BE FACED

Limiting Of Crop Acreage And Increasing Yield Per Acre Offered As Two Solutions

There is little doubt apparently that farmers the country over are facing a labor shortage, as bad if not worse, than any existing in recent years. Building and industrial operations of all kinds, vastly expanded, are using the lure of wages entirely beyond the highest possible farm scale, to attract the labor they must have if their rate of production is to be maintained. Even then the supply is short. In thousands of cases, farmers themselves have gone and are going.

But the real farmers of the country must meet the situation. How are they going to do it? The most obvious and logical thing to do is to limit the crop acreage to that which can be efficiently handled with the permanent labor. This may or may not mean reducing the acreage now in crops but it certainly permits no extension. More crops for hay and forage can be planted. Soybeans, cowpeas and similar crops which need little attention once they are started can be put in. More land can be added to permanent pasture and possibly more livestock kept. At any rate it seems safe to say that no more land should be planted than the farmer himself can care for, at least until there is a more equitable balance between the price he receives for his crops and the cost of help.

The other, almost equally obvious and logical thing to do is to make sure that every acre in crops produces the utmost. Much of the fitting, planting and fertilizing has been done. If the land has been carefully prepared and the best seed planted, that is good. Conditions call for special attention to fertilization. If heavy applications have been planned, so much the better. Well-prepared, well-planted, well-fertilized and well-protected crops will go far toward making up any losses which might otherwise follow acreage reduction or poorly handled crops on large acreage.

A Good Home Ages Gracefully

TO build the kind of house to which passing years add only mellowness and home-like charm—this is a worthy aim for homebuilders. Let your home not be a passing fad of this year or next, but a house your children, and their children, too, can look upon as all a home should be.

To live up to this ideal, your house must be a good one—not necessarily expensive, but soundly built, and in good taste in exterior development and interior finish.

This is the kind of houses we offer you in the Curtis plan service. More than two hundred house plans, of three to eight rooms, in various architectural types, are here for your consideration. All can be built of stock materials, including stock sizes and designs of Curtis doors, windows, stairs, trim and permanent furniture. Our Curtis Catalog pictures these woodwork items just as they will look in your home.

We can obtain for you without charge a portfolio of "Better Built Homes"—homes that will grow old gracefully. Call or write for it.

Sewing—If you will wind a piece of adhesive tape around your finger when sewing, it will save you having a pricked finger.

Cleaning Piano Keys—Kerosene will clean your oilcloth table and shelf covers, while alcohol rubbed on piano keys will make them bright and clean.

Woolen Clothing—Cutting, lint, hair and fuzz from woolen clothes is not an easy task. However, it can be made one if a rubber sponge is used. Moisten the sponge with water and squeeze almost dry before using.

Grease on Stove—If grease is spilled on the stove, sprinkle the place with salt. This will prevent an odor of burning grease.

Seeding Dates—Seeding dates is a very sticky job, but if one would wet their hands in cold water, there would not be the least difficulty.

Reviving Leather—To revive the luster to your leather chairs, or whatever you wish, use the white of an egg with a small sponge.

Washing Woodwork—When washing woodwork, cold water is very preferable to warm. This is because it does not soak in the wood as much and therefore dries more quickly.

Threading a Needle—When threading a needle, try cutting the thread on the slant, instead of straight, and see how much easier it is.

Keeping Silver Clean—If you wrap your silver in paraffin paper, it will look like new at the end of a summer.

Attaching Window Shades—A new method of attaching window shades, is with the use of adhesive tape. Use tape an inch wide. This is much easier and better than hammer and nails.

Washing Copper and Brass—Put some vinegar and salt in the water when washing copper and brass and see how they will shine.

Announcement

Some time ago I announced publicly to the democracy of Wicomico County my candidacy to succeed myself as State's Attorney. For the reasons then stated, my announcement had purposely been delayed until such time that I felt, I could no longer ignore what I believed was a popular demand for a continuance of my services. For some time before making my decision, I was repeatedly urged to become a candidate by my friends and law-abiding citizens in general from all sections of the county. I acceded to their request only when I became convinced that it was upon the grounds of public welfare and not upon any personal consideration for myself. My past record is before you and while in the past few years the criminal work of the county has greatly increased in volume, there has never been a time when I did not devote myself to the duties of this important office wholeheartedly. This explains why during my incumbency, grand juries have never been kept in attendance longer than 4 days during a term of court and have often been discharged in three days. This has effected an enormous saving to the taxpayers of our county. In addition, I might add that all expenses in connection with the prosecution of all the duties of my office have been paid by me personally, and at no time have the County Commissioners been billed for any of the same, whether it was gasoline, traveling expenses within the state, telegrams, telephone or postage.

It is a matter of considerable gratification to me to feel, as I do, that my announcement has been received so favorably throughout the county by our leading and law-abiding citizens who have so generously tendered me their support, without any solicitation whatever, and I can only add that in the event of my re-nomination and election, I shall take pride, the best that is within me, to be the best that is within me.

Respectfully yours,
CURTIS W. LONG.

BIG LEAGUES SEEK WHITE CLOUD STARS

Several Clubs Higher Up Said To Be After Tickey And Tolson.

PRICE ASKED FOR PAIR REPORTED NEAR $5,000

South Atlantic League Club Wires
For Terms On Home-Run King And Peppery Back-Stop—Detroit Scout
Here Looking Over Play On Shore Diamonds.

With the end of the season in sight officials of the Salisbury Baseball Club are busy dickering over the sale of several of the White Clouds to representatives from major and minor leagues. For some time the eyes of several big league scouts have been focused on the daily play recorded at Gordy Park and it is a well-known fact that the local roster contains the names of several good "prospects".

Scout Moran, of the Detroit Club, arrived in town Monday from the Blue Ridge League. He is spending the week in this section, looking over the diamond artists cavoring around on the Shore sandlots. Last season he was down for a few days and went away favorably impressed with the mound work of Lefty Hearn. It was reported then that the popular little southpaw would get a chance to go up in the big show if he curbed some of his wildness and displayed a little more ability to field his position.

Lefty worked against Laurel on Tuesday and found it extremely hard to locate the plate. The Detroit scout believes that it is up to the Brooklyn lad to develop a change of pace and to get better control. He says that Hearn has a fast one that looks good and that he puts a lot of hop on the ball.

Tolson and Tickey are probably the best bats that Manager Shipley has. The former has attracted the attention of various other clubs higher up than Class D because of his terrific clouting of the horsehide. His mark of 25 Ruthian swats for the season sends him into the spotlight and he is easily the peer of the Shore batsmen.

Tickey has all the earmarks of a first-class receiver. Those experts who have watched him perform are impressed by the pep he injects into his work behind the pan and they say that he has a good throwing arm. Standing third in the batting averages of the league also lends strength to his hitting possibilities.

It is rumored that two major league and one minor league club are hot on the trail of these two players. On Wednesday Vice-President Fulton Waller of the local club received a wire from one of the leading teams in the South Atlantic League asking for price on both Tickey and Tolson. What the local magnate wired back is not known but it is rumored that the price quoted was in the neighborhood of $5,000 for the pair of stars.

OBITUARY

WILBUR LANE DABBY

The community was shocked recently when it was learned that little Wilbur Lane Dabby, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dabby, of Mardela, had passed away. Billy had been sick less than a week from cholera infantum but up to the very last his many friends entertained hopes of recovery. Although only two years and eight months old, Billy had endeared himself to the hearts of all who knew him. Besides his parents he leaves two sisters, Agnes and Nina Dabby. Funeral services were held in the M. E. Church on Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, conducted by Rev. T. S. Dixon, assisted by Rev. J. T. Graham, of Parsonsburg. Masters James and William Seabreeze and Woodrow and Wilson Gillis acted as pall bearers, interment was made in Mardela Cemetery.

MRS. LOUISA H. ENGLISH

Mrs. Louisa H. English passed away at noon on Thursday, August 16th at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Levin Beach near Mardela. Mrs. English was the daughter of Levin and Elizabeth Wright who have been deceased a number of years. She was born 82 years ago and always resided in Barren Creek District. In 1865 she was united in marriage to Cornelius W. English who passed away in 1896. To this couple were born three children, Mary, Calvin and Osborne. Osborne passed away shortly after his father, while Calvin W. passed away July of last year. The daughter, Mary, married Levin Beach who resides on the old home place and have together with their four sons devotedly cared for their mother and grand mother ever since she received her first stroke of paralysis ten years ago. She was a charter member of Branch Hill Baptist Church and was always faithful in her attendance at the house of worship as long as her health permitted. On Sunday last she had her third stroke and never again spoke. Besides her daughter, four grandsons and two little great grand children, she is survived by two brothers, D. J. A. Wright, of Sharptown, and John A. Wright, of Sneathen. Funeral services were held from the late home of the deceased on Saturday afternoon conducted by Rev. E. E. HITHERTO UNPUBLISHED DATA ON CIVIL WAR GIVEN TO THE NEWS

Last Active Commissioned Officer Of Regiment Which Manuevered Extensively In This Territory Writes Account Of Famous "Delaware Invasion"—Col. Mullikin, A Surviving Officer

5411 Kenmore Ave., Chicago, Ill.
E. Sheldon Jones,
Asst. Editor "News".

My Dear Sir:

In last March I sent you and you published, an article on "The Invasion of Delaware" by our troops, the 1st Regiment, Eastern Shore, Maryland Volunteer Infantry, which regiment was stationed in Salisbury a long time at least that was the headquarters, though its operations covered the Peninsula from Wilmington to Cape Charles. The article was republished (news issue of March 22, 1923) quite freely in your section, including the Wilmington papers, but excited no controversy, which surprised me. In your letter acknowledging the receipt of the article in the NEWS, you enclosed a letter from E. Stanley Toudvin, in which he states that he remembered me. Sixty years of time had intervened between the occurrence of the events I wrote about and their receipt by you. The Judge has a very retentive memory and I feel highly complimented by the cheery words he sent me. But to my purpose in writing you, the past is history, but some things have not been written. I am now 83 years of age and of the 50 commissioned officers of that regiment only 8 are now living: Lt. John Mobray, Co. G, of Philadelphia, Col. James Mullikin, of Easton and myself. The two soldiers named are invalids and I am the last commissioned officer of that regiment on his feet.

In looking over some letters I sent home I find some referring to that "Invasion of Delaware" and I will quote from them:

"Salisbury, Feb. 8, 1861.

We have had to send a detachment into Delaware. At Laurel a secession flag is shaken from a 2nd story window by a woman, as we are marching past in the street. The Colonel halted the column, made her surrender the flag, wrote an apology, the alternative being confinement to her room with a musket at her door to answer her calls."

A letter is dated March 8, 1862. One dated "New Castle, March 12, '62 says: For the past week we have been moving about this state disarming secession companies. Arrived at Dover at night surrounded the town. Arrested officers of Seesh companies Got few arms. Officers refused to tell where they were. Regiment was ordered to return to Salisbury, concentrate the regiment and proceed to Drummondtown (now Accomac) Va.

Arriving at Salisbury, we were met by orders to return to Dover, Del. Left prisoners in Camp and returned to Dover, arrested more secessionists—rebels—and they concluded to come to time and gave up 58 Mince rifles with sabre bayonets and we then proceeded to Smyrna. Took 60 stand there and are now in New Castle to disarm a secret company. Have five or six more companies to disarm before we are through. We have to keep on the alert. This movement is because the forces on the Peninsula are ordered away and we are eventually to take their place and this action is to prevent a fire in our rear."

I have other letters covering items of the period. If you publish, kindly send me a few copies.

Very respectfully,
John E. Rastell,
Formerly Adjutant 1st Reg. E. S. Md. Vol.

These are absolutely true circumstances of the Civil War period in your section, have never been published and never would be but for your courtesy and co-operation.

If It's A Pullman--- It's Comfortable

The Pullman Davenport Bed is a desirable addition to any household, because of its continuous day and night service. As a living room piece it indeed beautifies the home, and when converted into a full size bed it easily solves the "extra bedroom problem."

Thousands of families have solved the housing shortage through the purchase of a Pullman. The old arguments against Convertible Davenports that they are awkward and unsightly are completely overcome by Pullman.

Yes, times have changed

MANY centuries ago the word "idiot" meant a member of the Roman citizenry. Citizens in general would recent the implication that the word conveys, today. There are still idiots, but the application of the word is entirely different from what it was of old.

There was also a time when some advertisements had to be taken with a grain of salt. A few misguided advertisers thought they could sell their goods better by misrepresenting them. Those advertisers have long since gone out of business or mended their ways. Hard experience taught that untruthful advertising didn't pay.

Other advertisers proved that the only way to advertise successfully, make regular customers, and build up good will was to tell the absolute truth about their goods.

Today you can depend on the merchant or manufacturer who advertises. The concern that tells you frankly what it is doing is a good concern with which to do business. The store that advertises is a progressive store that has something worth while to say to you. And companies that advertise their products or their services believe in them. You can safely share their confidence.

EASTERN SHORE LEAGUE FLASHES

By "DIAMOND."

Laurel's double set-back at the hands of the Dover Club on Thursday last and her further overwhelming defeat by the White Clouds on Saturday blasted the hopes of the Blue Hei fans for a possible win of the 1929 bunting.

The Shore race now resolves itself into a stiff contest between representative ball teams from Maryland and Delaware. Followers of the sport in Lord Calvert's dominion are pulling hard for Cambridge to grab the coveted ring while over in Delaware, the capital is all excited over the prospects of the Dobbins to emerge victorious.

This city has been the one franchise in the Shore League that has sponsored satisfactory attendance figures. Besides being a veritable hotbed of baseball enthusiasts itself, Salisbury draws many of its fans from nearby towns. Visiting clubs are always glad to play at Gordy Park, where their revenue from the games is usually large.

The death of our fellow-townsmen, Henry W. Ruark, league secretary and president of the Salisbury Club, will leave a gap within the ranks of the organized ball backers on the Shore that will be hard to fill. Mr. Ruark was an ardent sportsman and fought hard for the inception of the regulated style of play on local diamonds. He had strengthened the game on the Shore by his persistent efforts to keep all clubs within their salary limits.

Humphreys, star twirler signed up in the middle of the season by Jiggs Donahue at Dover, is aspiring to the role of "iron man." With his team-mates confronted with an extra heavy schedule at the close of the season, the former Atlantic Leaguer is stepping into the box for extra mound duty whenever called upon by his leader. On Thursday he covered himself with glory by sending the threatening Laurel aggregation down to defeat in a twin bill by the scores of 6-3 and 2-0. Incidentally Humphreys recently became a benedict, his marriage to Miss Helen Barrett, of South Milford, Del., having been announced last week.

"Toby" Tolson, first cacker for Burt Shipley's White Clouds, continues to show the way to the home run hitters. Carrying his 27th of the season at Gordy Park on Saturday afternoon, Tolson holds undisputed first place honors of the Eastern Shore League in this respect with a fair margin of lead which should carry him thru to Labor Day.

A very promising twirler, about whom little has been said this year, yet who is recognized throughout President Thawley's circuit as one of the leading flingers when the number of runs per game allowed his opponents is taken into consideration, is Bussey, a right-hander now with the "White Clouds" for two seasons. Although his record of wins and losses may not show up to best advantage, a careful perusal of his achievements will reveal the fact that in most every defeat charged against him, the runs scored by his team-mates have been exceedingly few.

Johnson, of the Cambridge "Cannons" retains a firm hold in stolen base honors with 23 to his credit. Hewell, diminutive shortstop from Parksley is runner-up with 20.

Salisbury now has five players hitting above the .300 mark; Dover and Crisfield four; Cambridge, three; Laurel, two; Parksley, one.

EASTERN SHO' PENNANT RACE IS UNDECIDED

Struggle Between Dover And Cambridge May Continue Until Labor Day.

"FIVE STATE" SERIES GAMES ARE ARRANGED

Fifth Contest Will Be Played At Gordy Park Here On Wednesday, September 12th Regardless Of Team Which Wins—Martinsburg Has Clinched Blue Ridge Flag.

The "Five-State" championship baseball series between Martinsburg, pennant winner in the Blue Ridge League and either the Dover or Cambridge Club of the Eastern Shore wheel will open in Martinsburg, W. Va. on Friday, September 7th. The series will continue until one of the competing clubs has won the best four out of seven games.

Earl Mack's Blue Sox have clinched the pennant in President Jamison's wheel while in the Eastern Shore circuit, Cambridge and Dover are staging a merry fight for championship laurels with only a single point separating them Tuesday at noon.

Indications now are that the winner may not be determined before Labor Day. Incidentally the two contending clubs clash twice on that day which marks the closing of the season. The "Cannons" will meet the "Dobbins" in Delaware's capital in the morning engagement while the scene of battle will shift to the shores of the Choptank for the afternoon's set. The first two games will be played in Martinsburg, the third and fourth at the home of the Eastern Shore winner, the fifth at Salisbury, the sixth at Hagerstown and should a seventh be necessary, at Oriole Park or a city to be selected later in the Blue Ridge League. A postponement will necessitate a delay of one or more days in the cities where the games are scheduled.

Workmen Uncover Bag Containing $6,000 in Ancient Bank Notes in Good Condition

While workmen employed by C. A. McCommons were razing the store and dwelling of Morton Newmyer on Washington street, Delmar, Emory Mitchell, foreman, found a bag filled with money, amounting to $6,000. The money, was discovered between the floors of the second and third stories and was in denominations ranging from $10 bills to 10 cents. Mitchell handed the money over to Newmyer. The notes, all of which are in good condition, are on National Banks throughout the country. One $5 note was of the series of 1863 and bears the name of the First National Bank of Providence, Rhode Island. Several months ago, the building was partly destroyed by fire and for this reason it was being torn down. A new and up-to-date apartment house will occupy the site. The building was occupied by the Patterson family, who sold it about 30 years ago, and it was since been occupied by the families of the late Thomas Wilson and Professor Charles T. Wright. A few years ago Newmyer bought the property.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Dunton are spending the week-end in Chester, Pa. with Mr. Dunton's parents.

By J. H. PEULICHER,
President American Bankers Association.

TALK NO. 9.

Analysis of A Simple Bank Statement.

The word "Bank" wherever used, refers alike to trust companies, state banks and national banks—in short, to all banking institutions having a commercial department.

The banker, as we already have learned, requires statements of his customer's business in order to know his standing. In the same way, the law, because of the semi-public nature of the banking business, requires all banks and trust companies to publish "Statements of Condition," as shown by their books. The Comptroller of the Currency calls for the statements of national banks, and State Commissioners of Banking for those of state institutions. Banks are required to publish their statements, which are usually called for five or six times a year, in the newspapers of the community in which they do business. In this way, the general public is kept informed as to the bank's affairs. A statement of condition, as in the case of the customer's statement, shows both the resources and liabilities of the bank. The resources, as you know, consist of the cash and all other property which the bank OWNS, the liabilities, of the amounts it OWES to depositors and stockholders. Total resources must agree with total liabilities.

A further examination of the bank is made by the Banking Department through its examiners. Bank examiners come to the bank unannounced. They may come at any time, any day of the year. Banks must keep their records in such a way that the bank examiner who has full authority to make complete examination of all records can easily verify them. His official report is sent to the State Banking Department. If it is a state bank, or to the National Banking Department, if it is a national bank. Many banks also have records audited monthly by their own auditors. Some states require examination and report of the Banking Department of the bank's affairs by a committee of the board of directors. If the bank is a city bank and belongs to a clearing house association, it will be examined further by clearing house examiners. If a member of the Federal Reserve System, the bank will be examined annually by Federal Reserve bank examiners also. These examinations are made to safeguard, in every possible way, the people's money. Banks are required to conduct their business on the highest standards. If they fail to do so, they will be criticised, and even closed by law.

Many people, who have only a scant knowledge of accounting, feel that they can not understand a bank statement, and, therefore, pay no attention to it. This is a mistake. A little explanation will help anybody to grasp the meaning of bank statements. Every person, who has money on deposit, either in a savings or checking account, should know the condition of the bank in which the account is carried, and how its condition compares with that of other banks. I am going to give you a simple statement of a fair sized national bank (member of the Federal Reserve System.) The figures are taken from the books at the close of a day's business.

Explanation of the Bank's Liabilities

To understand a bank statement, one must keep in mind that, for every dollar paid to or deposited with the bank either by stockholders or customers, a record is made under the heading of liabilities. Earnings of the bank are owed to the stockholders, and must also be carried under liabilities. Though a deposit of money or other item is recorded as a liability, because it is due to the depositor, the cash and checks making up that deposit become an asset, or a resource, of the bank. Thus, when you deposit $500, the liabilities of the bank are increased by that amount and the money itself is counted among the bank's resources.

You cannot steer
by a sternlight

Experience too often only shows us the mistakes of the past. After you have experienced financial loss by fire, accident or theft, experience tells you to insure. Do not steer by a sternlight—insure today—before loss. We can give you all forms of Property Protection Policies.

sources. When the bank invests its money, the property bought likewise becomes a resource. Let us first consider the bank's liabilities.

I. Capital Stock $200,000.

If you recall our first Talk, you will remember that the capital stock is the amount of money paid into the bank by its organizers who purchased its stock, and are, therefore, the owners of stockholders. The item is carried as a liability, because the bank is indebted to the stockholders for the money they have paid in. The capital stock cannot be withdrawn by the stockholders as a deposit can, but stays in the business as a guaranty fund for the depositor's protection. In the case of a bank's inability to pay its obligations, this fund is used. In addition, the stockholders of the bank may be called upon for a like amount for stockholders in national banks, and in many states, stockholders in state banks, are held by law under a double liability.

II. Surplus Fund, $100,000.

A bank sets aside a certain proportion of its earnings in a fund called the surplus. Should any losses occur, they are taken out of this fund first, so that the capital of the bank will not be reduced. Then, too, the surplus is an additional safeguard and protection for those who deposit their money in the bank. National banks are required to build up a surplus of at least twenty per cent of the capital. Many banks accumulate a much larger fund. The surplus belongs to the stockholders, but, like capital, it remains with the bank.

III. Undivided Profits, $48,015.91.

Undivided profits also represent earnings of the bank which have not been distributed in the form of dividends or added to the surplus fund, but which, like the capital and surplus, are due to stockholders. The best managed banks do not pay out all of their earnings in dividends. Their aim is to keep the undivided profits account growing, so that substantial amounts, when earned, may be transferred to the surplus fund. The latter is changed only at stated intervals while the amount of undivided profits is changing daily as the earnings of the bank change.

IV. Demand and Time Deposits, $1,200,654.80.

Demand and time deposits make up the amount which the bank owes to the persons, firms and corporations that are its depositors. The bulk of deposits of a commercial bank are demand deposits, which may be checked out any time, but often a considerable amount represents savings deposits, which, when left with the bank for stated periods, draw interest. Accurate records are kept of all deposits and of all withdrawals.

V. Bonds and Other Securities, $480,575.08.

Most banks invest part of their funds in high grade bonds of various classes, for the reason that such bonds always have a market value, and can, therefore, be sold promptly to meet unexpected demands made upon the bank by its customers. Interest from these investment securities is another important source of the bank's earnings.

VI. Banking House, $35,000.

This item represents the cost of the bank building, furniture and so forth used by the bank in conducting its business. Generally speaking, speaking, banks find it advisable to own their bank buildings which are carried on the books at cost, or at a low valuation.

VII. Stock in Federal Reserve Bank, $9,000.

All banks that join the Federal Reserve System must own stock in the Federal Reserve bank located in their district to the amount of six per cent of their capital and surplus. Only one-half, or three per cent, of member banks' subscriptions, has been called up to this time. It will be remembered that the capital stock of the Federal Reserve banks is owned entirely by these member banks.

The Effect of Published Statements

Bankers have learned to conduct their business upon safe and conservative lines. Since the adoption of the Federal Reserve System, the American banking system has gained greatly in strength, and has won the admiration of the world. The periodical publication of statements of condition, required of both national and state banking institutions, supplies information which, if followed methodically, will give depositors and the general public information which, if followed methodically, will give depositors and the general public a correct idea of the progress and standing of their own bank and of its competitors. Every depositor should learn to read with understanding these bank statements which appear in the daily newspapers five or six times a year. A depositor's bank is, in a measure, his own institution. His friendly comment regarding increases in its business, or improvements in its service, will encourage officers and employees.

by law. These notes circulate as money, and are known as national bank notes. The national bank first buys United States bonds of a face value equal to the amount of the Circulation it desires to issue, but this amount may not exceed its capital. The bonds are placed in the keeping of the Treasurer of the United States in order to insure redemption; that is, repayment of the circulating notes. These notes are the bank's promises to pay the sum of money indicated on each note. On this account, the amount outstanding must be shown as a liability.

Explanation of the Bank's Resources

As I have stated, the items under the heading, Resources, include the various kinds of property OWNED by the bank, and all debts due to it.

I. Cash on Hand and Due from Banks, $212,462.09.

Cash on hand and due from banks represents the actual cash held in the vaults of the bank, together with the money which the bank has on deposit with the Federal Reserve bank and with correspondent banks. It may also include checks deposited for collection which are drawn on other banks. This amount includes the required legal reserve explained in a previous Talk. In the case of the banks which are members of the Federal Reserve System the legal reserve is kept in the Federal Reserve bank of its district. Money is deposited with correspondent banks usually for the purpose of paying drafts drawn on them.

II. Loans and Discounts, $982,339.29.

Loans made to responsible persons, firms, and corporations, against promissory notes, either secured or unsecured, are entered under the heading, Loans and Discounts. All loans and discounts are passed upon by officers of the bank, whose chief concern in making a loan is to see that it is well secured, either by the personal credit of the borrower, or by adequate collateral. Interest from loans is the principal source of the bank's earnings.

III. U. S. Bonds To Secure Circulation, $25,000.

As has been explained, these bonds are held by national banks to secure circulating notes. A national bank is no longer required to buy and hold United States bonds unless it wishes to issue circulating notes. As there is a small profit arising from it, most national banks take out some circulation bonds, but, under the law, must be deposited with the Treasurer of the United States, as long as any circulating notes are outstanding.

IV. Redemption Fund, $1,250.

When national bank notes become dirty and unfit for circulation, they are sent to the United States Treasury for redemption, and the amount of the notes is charged to the redemption fund. The bank pays the Treasury, and receives in return new crisp money for the amount redeemed. The law requires each national bank to keep in the United States Treasury a redemption fund of at least five per cent of its outstanding circulation.

V. Bonds and Other Securities, $480,575.08.

Most banks invest part of their funds in high grade bonds of various classes, for the reason that such bonds always have a market value, and can, therefore, be sold promptly to meet unexpected demands made upon the bank by its customers. Interest from these investment securities is another important source of the bank's earnings.

VI. Banking House, $35,000.

This item represents the cost of the bank building, furniture and so forth used by the bank in conducting its business. Generally speaking, speaking, banks find it advisable to own their bank buildings which are carried on the books at cost, or at a low valuation.

VII. Stock in Federal Reserve Bank, $9,000.

All banks that join the Federal Reserve System must own stock in the Federal Reserve bank located in their district to the amount of six per cent of their capital and surplus. Only one-half, or three per cent, of member banks' subscriptions, has been called up to this time. It will be remembered that the capital stock of the Federal Reserve banks is owned entirely by these member banks.

The Effect of Published Statements

Bankers have learned to conduct their business upon safe and conservative lines. Since the adoption of the Federal Reserve System, the American banking system has gained greatly in strength, and has won the admiration of the world. The periodical publication of statements of condition, required of both national and state banking institutions, supplies information which, if followed methodically, will give depositors and the general public information which, if followed methodically, will give depositors and the general public a correct idea of the progress and standing of their own bank and of its competitors. Every depositor should learn to read with understanding these bank statements which appear in the daily newspapers five or six times a year. A depositor's bank is, in a measure, his own institution. His friendly comment regarding increases in its business, or improvements in its service, will encourage officers and employees.

Bank Stocks as Investments

Under date of June 25, 1923, the following article appeared in The Wall Street Journal:

Investors are seldom urged to buy bank stocks because there is little or no profit in such investments for the promoter. Bank stocks, as a rule, are closely held, therefore, there is not much trading in the shares. Nevertheless, banking is one of the safest and most profitable businesses known. For instance, out of 57 New York active bankstocks in New York, 28 are quoted above $300 a share, 8 are quoted above $500 a share and 3 are selling at more than $1,000 a share.

There is a trust company in Pittsburgh that has a book value of about $2,800 a share and a few years ago stock of a small bank in Virginia had a book value of approximately $7,000 a share. Last year, a bad year for most business, dividends paid by 8,147 national banks averaged 12.42%.

We are offering the stock of two Joint Stock Land Banks OPERATING UNDER UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT SUPERVISION—with probably more safeguards thrown around its operation for the protection of its stockholders than commercial or national banks, at a price to yield 6% free of County, State and City taxation and the Normal Federal Income Tax.

We will be pleased to give you full information upon request without obligating yourself in any way.

Busy Lines

When you call a number and the operator reports: "The line is busy," this does not necessarily mean that the person you are calling is actually talking.

It may mean that someone else is calling the same number and the operator is ringing the telephone; it may mean the receiver of the telephone you want has been left off the hook; and it may mean, if it is a party line, that one of these things has happened to ANOTHER TELEPHONE on the line or that it is in use.

Should you receive a "Busy" report and the person called afterwards tells you that he was not using the telephone at that time, PLEASE DON'T CONCLUDE THAT THE OPERATOR GAVE YOU A FALSE REPORT. It may have been due to some of the causes mentioned.

Prolonged conversations contribute greatly to "Busy" lines. It will help us to give better service if lengthy conversations are avoided, particularly if either telephone is on a party line.

It will also be helpful IF THOSE CALLING WILL WAIT A REASONABLE TIME AFTER RECEIVING A "BUSY" REPORT BEFORE CALLING AGAIN.

Over 200 miles an hour - with balance

With the finer and finer balancing that designers have achieved in airplanes, their speed has been increased until the record is now well over 200 miles an hour. A real triumph for the principle of balance.

Another similar triumph, less spectacular to be sure but just as important, is the production of a balanced motor fuel. "Standard", the balanced gasoline, is refined and re-refined—with the finest of modern equipment—to give you everything that you need in a motor fuel. Perfect starting—a nimble pick-up—the full power that only clean burning can give you—long mileage per gallon.

Because it is balanced, "Standard" meets every motor fuel requirement consistently and economically.

A Bath a Day

For a hundred years the Romans used no medicine but the bath. It was strange? It shouldn't be. The secret is very simple. You see the Romans bathed daily. And people who take a bath a day rarely, if ever, need medicine.

A bath a day keeps the pores of the skin open. This makes it easy for the skin to breathe. Skin breathing sanitates the body.

Then, too, a bath a day stimulates—exercises—lubricates, you might say—all your internal organs. This stimulation keeps them working as they should.

When the organs are working properly, they are healthy. Healthy organs make a healthy body. And a body that is healthy does not need medicine.

But that isn't all. A healthy body is a builder of beauty, energy, efficiency and happiness.

If you would know the joy of health and beauty start the bath a day habit. And there is no better time to start than in this month of June.

All you need to make the start is a little will power and a good bathroom. You supply the one and we will supply the other. Start a bath a day today, keep it up, and the money you have been paying for medicine will pay for a bathroom several times over.

Put On a Paint That Stays Put

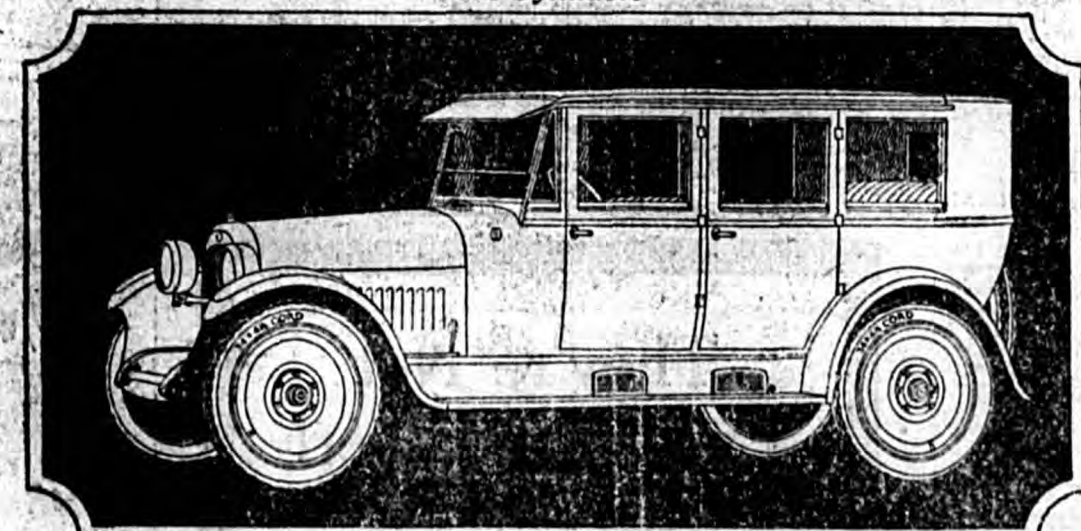

Hold on a minute, and say this to yourself before you put another cent into paint. Say that it costs just as much to put on a poor paint as a good one. Generally more. A poor paint doesn't stay put. Doesn't, because you can't get out of anything what isn't in it. We have proven to our entire satisfaction that Lowe Brothers put stay-putness in every gallon of paint they make. Stay-put is just another way of saying it stands weather's wear and tear. Drop in and we will show you a color card and tell you some paint facts, which, have a notion you have never been told.

THE STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX FIVE-PASSENGER TOURING CAR $995

130,000 Owners Know the Value of this Studebaker

Every unit in the new 1924 Studebaker Light-Six Touring Car has proved its dependability in public use.

There are refinements and improvements, of course, but the underlying principles of design and construction which have made enthusiasts of 130,000 purchasers of this model in three years' time, are not radically changed.

In our opinion, the 1924 Light-Six stands out as the greatest value and closest approach to mechanical perfection in moderate priced cars yet produced.

It is practically free from vibration. Studebaker accomplishes this largely by machining the crankshaft and connecting rods on all surfaces. This requires 61 precision operations. It is an exclusive Studebaker practice on cars at this price—and is found only on a few other cars—and they're priced above $2500.

Absence of vibration prolongs car life.

AGRICULTURAL BUREAU INSTITUTED SATURDAY

U. S. Chamber Of Commerce Announces New Department Which Will Be Headed By William H. Dean

Creation of a Bureau of Agriculture was announced recently by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. The bureau will function as a part of the Chamber's Natural Resources Production Department, one of eight departments which carry on the activities of the National Chamber. The manager of the new bureau will be William Harper Dean, of Washington, formerly with the United States Department of Agriculture.

The new bureau, according to the announcement, has been set up by the National Chamber to function upon agricultural problems as agriculture's lines of interest cross or touch those of business in general. The Chamber feels that the inauguration of this work is a step forward in the direction of new constructive service.

In keeping with the general policy of the National Chamber, the new bureau will make no effort to formulate on its own initiative any plans to offer for adoption by either agriculture or other industries, but rather to serve as an investigator of their common problems and to offer the results of these studies for such action as they may seem to warrant.

Mr. Dean brings to the bureau a wide experience gained from many years of active agricultural work. From his farm in Virginia where he grew up, Mr. Dean went to Virginia Polytechnic Institute, specializing in entomology. His post-graduate studies were taken at the University of Louisiana. For about six years he was employed as entomologist in Virginia, Georgia, Louisiana and Texas. The United States Department of Agriculture then secured him to make special entomological studies in the Southwest.

For the past few years, Mr. Dean has been devoting most of his time in writing about agricultural subjects. He has written many articles on some of the subjects that science is ready and able to give to farming.

Mr. Dean was perhaps one of the first war correspondents on record representing an agricultural publication. One of the leading agricultural journals in the country sent him to France and England to report the story of the war's reaction on farming and those who live by farming. His investigations of agricultural conditions have also carried him into nearly every state in the Union.

DODGE BROTHERS ANNOUNCE IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENTS

Dodge Brothers have not simply brought out a complete new line of motor cars. They have done something infinitely wiser and better than that.

They have brought new beauty, new riding ease and new mechanical perfection to the product on which their reputation as builders has been founded.

They have built a better and a more desirable line of motor cars—yet basically and fundamentally the identity of their product remains the same.

The same sturdy engine is under the hood; the same dependable chassis, improved in numberless details, underlies the body.

But the rear springs—now underslung—have been materially lengthened. The wheelbase, too, is longer, and the combined result is a notable improvement in riding qualities.

Bodies of all types have been designed to give improved appearance, and greater comfort. Lower, longer, with deeper seats and more leg room, the lines of these new cars are low-slung and graceful—the interiors are comfortable and roomy.

New head lamps and fenders, especially designed by Dodge Brothers to conform with the general lines of the car—a long straight hood and cowl effect—longer and wider running boards—unusually wide doors—combination stop signal and tail lamp—and instruments attractively grouped on raised panel—are a few of the numerous body innovations common to all types.

Combining these features with important mechanical improvements too numerous and technical to enumerate here, it is not extravagant to predict a reception for these cars unprecedented in automotive annals.

WEAK, RUN DOWN AND AILING

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Brought Relief When Other Medicines Failed

Winston-Salem, N. C.—"I was weak and run-down and had trouble with my stomach. I had been taking medicine for a long time and nothing seemed to do me any good. My husband went to the drug store and he said to the clerk, 'I want the best medicine you have for women's troubles.' He gave me a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I also used Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I am able to do my work and feel new life and strength from the Vegetable Compound. I am doing all I can to thank Mrs. L. E. Pinkham, 149 E. 14th St., Winston-Salem, N. C."

It has helped me. In a short time I was able to do my housework, and now I am not only able to do every bit of that and washing and ironing, but I help my husband at the store and feel good all the time. —Mrs. L. E. Pinkham, 149 E. 14th St., Winston-Salem, N. C.

Wins $2000.00 in The Fleisher Yarns Knitting Contest

Mrs. E. C. Wessman, of Salisbury, is being sought by Curtis W. Long, present incumbent and Rex A. Taylor, a former member of the House of Delegates and a local lawyer. A close race is being predicted as the outcome and supporters of each are claiming victory.

Other officers for which there are fights in the Democratic ranks are: Senator, being contested for by Charles E. Dikshorn, present incumbent and Eimer C. Williams, who ran as independent against Senator Dikshorn several years ago; for County Treasurer where the fight is between Harry Dennis, present official and Willis Gillies, a merchant of Quantico, and a former sheriff, and for Sheriff with four candidates, Messrs. E. C. Duff, Luther D. Gordy, W. W. Lardner and G. Murray Phillips, in the field.

Five men are seeking four places on the judges' ticket; Messrs. M. N. Nelson, A. Lee Pollitt, T. H. Kraft, E. Williams and Dr. Josephus A. Wright. For three vacancies on the Board of County Commissioners there are eight aspirants; W. L. English, J. W. Furman, B. R. Hearn, G. W. F. Insley, L. E. Ker, N. W. Owens, G. W. Walston and T. S. Walston. Five seek the nomination for judges of the Circuit Court; Messrs. W. L. Baker, E. T. Farlow, C. W. Kibbie, E. U. Oilphart and L. C. Powell.

There is no primary contest with the republicans, there having been no two candidates filing for a single office.

WILL WORK ON MONDAY

The Circuit Court for Wicomico County will convene on Monday morning next with an extremely large dock to occupy its attention. Judges Joseph E. Dikshorn and Robert F. Dikshorn will be on the bench at the opening sessions. The only work on Monday will be the calling over of the docket as it is primary election day in the county.

On Tuesday, the selection of grand jurors to review the criminal cases brought up for investigation by States Attorney Curtis W. Long, will be the first thing in the way of court proceedings. The Grand Jury also has the inspection of the county's property as part of its labors. Names of the men to compose the Grand and Petit Juries were drawn a couple of weeks ago by Judge Bailey.

The docket on Tuesday afternoon contained the following cases: appearance 25; civil appeals 3; criminal appeals 13; trials 117; criminal appearances 3; criminal continuances 2; recognizances 27; criminal appearances 3; one case removed from Dorchester this fall is scheduled for trial.

Two cases, in which Oscar T. Radish, a farmer, near Pittsville is defendant, will probably create quite a little interest and come up at this court. The cases grew out of quite an unusual happening last May. J. H. Angel, who lives about five miles from Pittsville, bought under a mortgage land upon which Radish was living. Radish, it is said, became incensed at this and after the new owner had started improving his acquisition with a new house, he pulled out the old one and pulled it over to the new structure, pulled its underpinning out, tore out window sashes, demolished the brick work and wrecked the building in general.

Radish since has been out on bond after a preliminary hearing.

DOLLINGS INVESTORS HEAR PLANS OUTLINED

George W. Woolford, Cambridge, Chairman of Protective Committee, Addressed Meeting Here

A meeting of about 75 investors from Wicomico county in the Dollings Company now in the hands of receivers, was held on Friday afternoon in the Chamber of Commerce room. George W. Woolford, of Cambridge, of the Protective Committee for Maryland and Delaware, told of the plan devised by that body. The plan is for all shareholders who desire the services of the committee to deposit with the bank of their choice their certificates of stock and take a receipt from the bank therefor and execute a proxy, so that their stock may be voted by the committee. They will also deposit with the bank $1 for each share of stock with a par value of $100 to create a fund to be used by the committee for necessary expenses. All unused money will be returned to the shareholder in the same proportion as it is paid in.

Certificates should be deposited not later than next Saturday, September 8th, since it is important the committee get to work at once. The following motion was made at the meeting by Mr. James S. Taylor, a stockholder, seconded and passed unanimously: "We feel that Mr. I. E. Jones, former representative of the Dollings Co., has been a victim of circumstances as well as ourselves and that we exonerate him from all blame in the matter by a rising vote."

"Taming Of Shrew," One Of Most Popular Of Repertory Plays Which Are Appearing On Platform—Company "I" And School Children Guests Of The Association

Beginning its sessions at the tent on Circle Avenue, with good weather and a good crowd the Chautauqua of 1927, started the season program Saturday afternoon. The platform superintendent, Dr. John P. Watts, is reputed to be one of the most popular of Chautauqua directors, the fact that this is his sixth year on the staff being proof that he has made good in the work. The opening concert by the Local States Company, delighted the audience, and the Junior Chautauqua at 4:45 was an entertaining to the grown ups as to the little people. On Saturday evening the Hon. Henry T. Rainey, Congressman from Illinois, and probable candidate for the Presidency, spoke on the country's return to normalcy, after the strenuous conditions of the past few years. On Sunday evening Mr. Rainey spoke to a full tent, his subject being, "Oratory and the Master Orator." On Monday night Company "I" presented the public with the delightful concert by the Smith-Huffman Company, a conspicuous success of the circuit, for the afternoon feature, and the splendidly produced Shakespearean drama, "The Taming of the Shrew," for the night program. Wednesday brought a concert of considerable merit, by the Stallings Toy Company, and a lecture by Dr. William R. Stout in the first session, with another concert in the evening and a lecture by Hon. William R. Radcliffe, former Secretary of Commerce. The Thursday session will be the last of the season.

On Thursday evening, September 14th, the popular and popular Philanthropic Hotel orchestra will stage a big dance at Richardson's Hall. These symphonies, melodists proved to be a big drawing card at the beach this year and many couples are expected to attend their 5th Annual Dance here. This orchestra plays in Pocomoke, the evening of the 15th and at Easton on the 14th.

Following the opening of the bids the directors of the Hotel Co. went into session. As the meeting the directors expressed the opinion that the lowest bid was higher than the amount they would authorize on construction work and requested the architects, The E. K. Gibson Company, to make such changes in the drawings and specifications as will produce as acceptable bid. The architects will apply themselves to this work with a view of obtaining, without delay, a satisfactory proposal, and will work in conjunction with the lowest bidder, W. E. Booth & Son, along this line.

Local people are much gratified that a Salisbury contracting firm is the lowest bidder on this project. The Booth firm is an ever-progressing one and is capable of handling the erection of this structure.

VACATION DAYS FOR 1700 SALISBURY CHILDREN ENDED ON MONDAY MORNING

Enrollment At Wicomico High Expected To Exceed That Of Any Previous Year—Schools Throughout County Start Schedules Promptly—Two Transportation Routes Established

After nearly three months' vacation, the children of Wicomico county returned to their studies on Monday morning of this week and here in Salisbury the familiar clang of the school-bell and the masses of children swarming their way toward the various school-houses were much in evidence.

At Wicomico High School between 450 and 500 pupils registered the first three days of the week and the enrollment is expected to be the largest of any year at that building. Principal C. H. Cordroy and his corps of twenty-odd assistants got busy early Monday and all available books were distributed, following which the day's schedule was run through. On Tuesday everything was in perfect running order and recitations carried on as though school had been in operation for several days.

A change in the system at Wicomico High is in vogue this year and instead of the 40 minute period as formerly, a full hour recitation period is now in effect, and consequently school is not being dismissed until 4:30 instead of 3:30. Naturally this is "getting under the collar" of the students who hitherto the satisfaction of their day's school activities in the car.

Two transportation wagons were put on Monday to bring students to Wicomico High here. The one from the west side of the county is being run by Mr. Stokes, manager of the Sharptown transit line and the one from the east by the Berlin Transit Company. These arrangements are for one month. The Board of Education is now asking for bids on these two routes for the remainder of the year, to be submitted next Tuesday.

On Wednesday, Superintendent J. M. Bennett estimated the enrollment in the white elementary schools of Salisbury as being between 1100 and 1200 students, giving the city something like 1700 children in the public schools. Due to the discontinuance by the Board of Education of each for the Guthrie "Hay Cart" route, South Division and Union streets are not having sufficient funds for an additional portable two classroom annex this year had to be put on half time. These are the only public schools.
