

Sandra Tuccio and Walter Buckman rehearse a scene from AN ITALIAN STRAW HAT, to be presented for Parents' Weekend, May 1, 2, and 3.

Straw Hat coming

To climax this semester's theater season the Speech and Theater Department, under the direction of Dorothy Stone White, will present An Italian Straw Hat on May 1, 2, and 3 at 8:15 p.m. in Compton Hall Auditorium.

The play, written by the French writers Eugene Labiche and Marc-Michele, is a light comedy with occasional songs. The plot revolves around Fadinard played by Michael DeSanto who is to be married to Helene, played by Julia Pugh. The plot becomes complicated when an attractive lady and her irate lover appear and Fadinard's horse eats the lady's rare Italian straw hat. Then one complication follows another, quite in the tradition of the Palais-Royal, "a theater gay, spiritual, and parisien".

Other students in the play are Michael Mote, Barry Hickman, Larry Pfeiffer, Gary Howard, Linda Hampshire, Kathy Miller, Sarah Barbour, Walter Buckman, Sandra Tuccio, Frank Florentine, Jay Fignar, Mike Crescenzo, and Mary Jones.

Miss White commented on the history of the play. "Since 1784, such plays as An Italian Straw Hat have been produced mainly at the Parisian home of light comedy, the Theatre du Palais-Royal whose most familiar star today is Zizi Jeanmaire. The New York version of An Italian Straw Hat was staged under the title Horse Eats Hat; however, the London production in 1952 chose as its name An Italian Straw Hat which featured Orson Welles and Sarah Churchill in leading roles."

Parents' Weekend being planned

F.S.C.'s annual Parents' Weekend will be held this year, May 2-4. Phil Cleer, chairman of the committee is planning various plays, movies, concerts, and athletic events for the weekend.

On Friday, May 2, Dramatis Personae will be presenting An Italian Straw Hat in Compton Auditorium at 8:15. There are also plans for a band dance.

Registration for parents will take place on Saturday morning, May 3, along with a performance by the Theta Jug Band. At 11:00 a.m. there will be the Maryland Inter-Collegiate Tennis Tournament sponsored by the college.

Saturday's activities will also include a double-header baseball game at 1:00 p.m. between the Bobcats and the D. C. teachers.

Faculty passes new curriculum

The April meeting of the faculty was held Wednesday and Thursday, April 16 and 17. All students who were present were admitted to this meeting, and provision was made to admit six students, chosen by the new student government, to any remaining meetings this semester.

A motion was made to adopt the proposal of the Curriculum Committee concerning a new General Studies Program. This program would replace the 52 hour General Education Requirement now in effect, with a 16 course requirement. These courses would be chosen by the student, with the aid of an academic advisor, from four groups, taking at least three courses in each group.

The motion was amended to a 14 course requirement, taking Freshman English out of the General Studies Program, and making demonstration of English proficiency or English 101, 102 a part of the graduation requirements. The motion was passed, voted 50, yes and 29 no.

The Curriculum Committee also presented various course changes, additions, and deletions, all of which were passed and will appear in next year's catalog.

The Calendar Committee reported on the results of the student-faculty poll taken on its first proposal. The results were overwhelmingly against this proposal. A motion was made to ballot the faculty as soon as possible on next year's calendar, giving them three proposals to choose among, and providing that they accept a winning plurality. The motion was passed. The ballots will go out Wednesday, April 23, and be returned within a week.

The Faculty Organization Committee moved to hold special meetings on April 23 and 24 to consider its proposal. The proposal will reorganize the faculty as a governing body, define its power, and decide upon the student role. The proposal will be voted on as a whole, and if defeated as such, will be voted on section by section. These results will be taken back to the committee which will use them to formulate a new faculty constitution.

The President's Report noted the new faculty pay scale, and stated that the proposed faculty contract would be sent to the new statewide Faculty Senate for their recommendations.

It was suggested that the faculty discuss the promotion procedures at its May meeting and this meeting was adjourned.

Allen Hall sponsors marathon

At one o'clock p.m. on April 18, 1969, the first annual F.S.C. Sneed Hearn Memorial Marathon Endurance Run began. The event was sponsored by Allen Hall, and the major planners were "Mouse" Malinowski, Mike Crescenzo, Rich Frush, and "Bubba" Gaffney. It was a relay-type event, and the object was to run around the quadrangle on the sidewalk as many times as possible in 24 hours.

Mike Crescenzo stated that Mr. Cordts was notified and was completely behind it. Mike said, "We told Dean Manicur and she didn't believe we'd really do it." Planning began Thursday night at 11:30, and most of the ideas were put together by 3:30 a.m. Friday morning.

Most of the participants were from Allen Hall, but all of the dorms were represented in the run. Mr. McClintock was the first non-student to participate. He ran two laps around the quadrangle. Mike Crescenzo said, "Special thanks to Sandy Berry for being the first girl to run."

"Mouse" Malinowski was asked why they were having the endurance run. He said it was "to break up student apathy on campus and to promote physical fitness—also 'cause we're crazy!" (It was rumored that another reason for having the event was Dean Manicur's request that students walk only on the sidewalks.)

Progress reports were called in to WCUM Radio throughout the 24 hours, and the D. J.'s announced the bulletins over the air. At 5:50 a.m., Dave Gorman (midnight-to-six on WCUM) announced

The baton is passed during Allen Hall's recent Sneed Hearn Memorial Marathon Endurance Run.

As of this time, those who are entering the tournament from Frostburg include Bob Sobus, Pentathlon, Peggy Coddington, and Anna Wuertenberg.

Approximately 20 colleges and universities are expected to participate in the tournament. Such schools as University of Maryland, Swarthmore, Dickinson, University of Pennsylvania, Miami University (Ohio), West Virginia University, Lehigh University, and California State (of Pennsylvania) are entered in the tournament.

Those who are interested in being guides or timekeepers for the tournament are asked to contact Miss Williams or Anna Wuertenberg at Ext. 268.

An Apology

The men of Tau Kappa Epsilon, realizing that civility is not a sign of weakness, extend their apology to anyone who may have been offended by this year's production. We would have everyone know that anything concerning "Chattanooga Choo Choo" that was interpreted as being offensive was not meant to be so. Looking to the future, it is the intention of the fraternity to be increasingly aware of sensitive issues and act accordingly.

Frighteningly Familiar

"The streets of our country are in turmoil. The universities are filled with students rebelling and rioting. Communists are seeking to destroy our country. Russia is threatening us with her might. Dear Editor,

At the last meeting of the Psychology Club, it was brought out that there is a rumor that psychology majors in teachers education would not be certified to teach in Maryland after they have graduated. The psychology department has checked into this and found it is not true. The current program meets the state's requirements for certification.

It is recommended that those who plan to teach psychology find out exactly what the requirements are so they can easily work them into the schedules.

Analysis of "News Analysis"

Dear Mr. Natale,

When criticizing the political beliefs or tactics of another, it is extremely important that we check our own tactics of criticism if we wish to maintain an air of credibility and have our own points accepted. In your recent attacks on Tom Stone and the Student Participation Committee, you neglected to keep this in mind. Therefore, I am writing this, not to defend Tom Stone or the S.P.C., but simply to show what your "News Analysis" is worth . . . namely nothing.

Your central criticism has been that the S.P.C. has resorted to "primitive and masochistic," "Madison Avenue" — like tactics through its contrasting of F.S.C. with various other schools presently or recently experiencing upheavels centered around what we tend to call "student power." Whether your statements are true or not is now unimportant (even though I personally felt that your arguments were weak and used mainly for sensationalism). It is unimportant because you have negated your allegations by resorting to much the same tactics as you are accusing others of using.

You have done the unforgivable by coining an "ism" with which to rally people around you and a few of your own ideas which you profess to represent the entire student body (the entire student body?). By ranting about "Frostburgism" and "Frostburgistic" you have not sought to clear the air but to confuse the issues even more greatly. You have also shown your dependence upon an over-simplified and structured approach to complex problems which shows your inability to form "intelligent opinions on all student affairs" which you claim to be a gift of all F.S.C. students.

Your further right-wing assertion, that to do things your way is to be somehow more American, is certainly an unscrupulous tactic and borders somewhere between obscurity and inaccuracy. The next step after rallying around "isms", especially such allegedly patriotic ones, is to call those who will not rally, such terms as Communistic, unpatriotic, or (as you've already done) Columbianistic. Labeling the good guys and the bad guys in this way, with your divinely-inspired terms, is an excellent way of turning a united effort at democratic elections into a hate-filled, meaningless battle of "isms."

You are correct in declaring that it isn't degrading to be Frostburgistic. To the contrary, grouping behind a word is one of the easiest actions known to man. However, to say "it might even be original" couldn't be further from the truth. It is just as unoriginal as using the media of print for the misrepresentation of the ideas of others and as a soapbox for political condemnations.

I hope that future statements during this election (by any side) can refrain from antagonism and semantical stereotyping and lean instead towards that tired but essential ideal of

During Easter vacation I went to Carnegie Hall to see a folk singer named Phil Ochs. That was my first aim. My second aim was to get an interview with him. Thanks to his brother Michael, both were achieved.

Phil is a man who feels deeply about the absurdities in this society and wants to change them. I discovered Mr. Ochs to be a friendly yet, intense man as you will see in the following interview.

D.M. What turned you on to Folk Music?

Perspectives: the third world

The third world concept is a rather grotesque categorization of countries because of their economic and technological status. This is for all purpose part of a materialistic grouping of countries in which the most technologically and economically advanced states are at the top of the echelon.

I find reasons to reject this world stratification. Should countries simply because of their economic or physiological standing be considered inferior, as the name third world implies, when their conditions are the repercussions of exploitation by the so-called advanced countries. Might it be that those third world countries could develop in the short run if only their exploitation would stop? If we could categorize countries according to a moral or non-material standard, might it not turn the other way around where the countries of the third world would be in the first world and vice-versa? It could be so.

It is striking to see that the third world countries are practically all semi-colonies or former colonies. These countries have been systematically exploited and still are to the point where some of their ruling cliques take this condition as a "fait accompli." Some of the rulers have shown an almost sycophantic subservience to the big powers. However, the people have not usually resigned themselves to such a situation, hence the unpopularity, the resentment of the exploiter, the dynamism of nationalism and the inevitability of revolution.

For years, legitimate discontent has been building up in those countries; but every time, it was scorned as communistic and unpopular. It is time for the big powers to reckon with the fact that those countries do not want self determination as a mere theoretical cliché but as a reality. It is also time that they recognize that political stability and peace which they cherish so much or at least pretend to, is not consonant with exploitation, be it economic or political.

This latter point brings me to deal with the concept of political exploitation. Political exploitation is the deliberate act of taking advantage of people's political innocence in order to serve further needs. These ends, I must say, more often than not are concurrent with those of economie exploitation. Through political exploitation, the Great powers have led these "underdeveloped countries" to adopt their political or ideological persuasions. Having done this, they have proceeded to hide their economic exploitation the cloak of political enlightenment of these "primitives." The Big Powers have also used the tactic of military blackmail. Having established a considerable reputation for power over the years, they usually coerce, either subtly or openly, the lesser powers into accepting their political programs. Under this well orchestrated arrangement any third world country that wants to assert its independence and complete sovereignty is subject to various forms of aggression such as economic and military aggressions.

Obviously this is not the kind of world that we should want to live in. Is not every country entitled to its complete self-determination? Should not any country stand up for what is its due? If not, there is no hope for this world.

By the way, I find that here is a striking similarity between the world situation as I've described it and that of the United States. Let the Big Powers that I have mentioned be the power structure and let the third world countries be the deprived minorities of this country. There is a striking resemblance. Don't you think so! Of course I've written it with this similarity in mind.

D.C. Nine: their explanation

Today, March 22, 1969, in the Washington office of the Dow Chemical Company, we spill human blood and destroy files and office equipment. By this action, we condemn you, the Dow Chemical Company, and all similar American corporations.

We are outraged by the death-dealing exploitation of people of the third world, and of all the poor and powerless who are victimized by your profit-seeking ventures. Considering it our responsibility to respond, we deny the right of your faceless and inhuman corporation to exist:

you, corporations, who under the cover of stockholder and executive anonymity, deprive, dehumanize and kill in search of profit; you corporations, who contain (or control) Americans and exploit their exaggerated need for security that you have helped to create; you, corporations, who numb our sensitivity to person, and capitalize on our concern for things.

Specifically, we warn you, the Dow Chemical Company, that we will no longer tolerate your at the time. I liked the sound and as I got deeper into it I started listening to Pete Seger. Bob Dylan was around.

D.M. What do you expect out of your music?

P.O. I want to comment on various things, entertain people and make music.

D.M. What would you have done if you had failed at Music?

P.O. Write Pros . . . write something.

D.M. "Changes" is a personal song to you or so you have said. I sense a nostalgic for the past and disillusionment with the present. Am I correct?

P.O. Yes . . . I can't put it into words.

D.M. Do you think of your songs as poetry?

P.O. I attempt to bring poetry and music together. I want to raise the level of poetry.

D.M. Who do you think speaks musically for this generation?

P.O. On a mass level the Beatles, Dylan and the Stones.

D.M. Why did you go to California?

P.O. It was a change of scenery and I was attracted to it. Things happen first out there . . . student unrest at Berkeley. T.V. seems more natural out there. California is the city of the future. Reagan is more interesting than Rockefeller.

D.M. What do you think of the educational system in America?

P.O. "There should be total political freedom for students. The country is in a Fascist state and the University should point this out. University should dissolve itself from all Military. The role of the University is to teach students to be involved politically."

D.M. How do you see the Peace movement now that Nixon is in office? How do you see yourself in the movement?

refusal to accept responsibility for your programmed destruction of human life.

You, stockholders and Company executives alike, are willing to seek profit in the production of napalm, defoliants, and nerve gas, as in the same spirit you cooperated with the I. G. Farben Company, a chemical manufacturer in Nazi Germany, during the Second World War.

You, stockholders and Company for other nations or for their rights of self-determination maintain 100% control over subsidiaries in more than 20 nations.

You, in the interest of profit, seek to make it the military interest of the United States to suppress the legitimate national desires of other peoples. Your product is death, your market is war.

Your offices have lost their right to exist. It is a blow for justice that we strike today. In your mad pursuit of profit, you and others like you are causing the psychological destruction of mankind. We urge all to join us as we say "no" to this madness.

Lewis steals team to 13-9-1

The Bobcat Varsity Baseball team has compiled a respectable 13-9-1 record in the past few weeks of play. The Cats recorded victories over schools such as Bridgewater, Waynesburg, Castleton State, St. Andrews, Hampden-Sydney, Duquesne, George Mason College and Point Park. The Cats came out on the short end against Waynesburg, Coast Guard, Cortland State, Duquesne, Shepherd, George Mason, and Point Park.

An example of the high caliber ball played by the Bobcat nine can be seen in their game against Cortland State. In the fifth inning of this game they completed a triple play, unusual for big league ball, let alone college baseball. The triple play was set up when the first two batters of the inning were walked by Bobcat pitcher, John Helmick. The next batter lined to shortstop Gerry Martin, who flipped the ball to second baseman Don Wilson for the second out, who relayed to first baseman Ken Snoots to get the third out.

Through 17 games George Moraz leads the Bobcat regulars in batting with a .439 average, as he collected 18 hits in 41 at bats. Oscar Lewis holds down second honors with a .417 average. The team batting average as a whole is an impressive .309 with 151 hits in 489 at bats.

Oscar Lewis leads the team with 34 stolen bases in 17 games. He has stolen second 23 times, third 9 times, and home twice. Coach Wells stated, "He is probably one of the leading college base stealers in the country."

Hank Hanburger, John Herbert, George Moraz and John

Helmick are the back bone of Coach Wells pitching staff. Herbert leads the staff with a 4-0 won-loss record and a 2.25 ERA, while Hanburger leads in the ERA department with a 2.08 average.

The Cats next home game is against the Alumni on Saturday at 1:00 p.m.

"Oops, missed again!"

Girls' Lacrosse Anyone?

Since women's lacrosse is a game of skill and endurance, many hours of practice must be put into learning such skills as throwing, catching, pivoting, craddlings, dodging, and checking. The skill of body and crosse checking is not just throwing a stick at someone to get the ball. There is a specific procedure which allows checking the crosse only.

All the above skills are required to play an efficient game of lacrosse, for each player must be able to evade and tackle her opponent.

Endurance must be built up in a team since substituting is allowed only at half time. Unlike the men, the women have no boundaries nor do any of the players use padding, with the exception of the goalie.

Lacrosse club winless

By Rob Gainer

The Frostburg State Lacrosse Club closed out its season by losing to Western Maryland 9-3. The Cat stickmen played most of the game on defense as the Green Terrors from Western Maryland controlled the ball for most of the game. Goalie Bob Bennett's great defensive play stopped an unusually high number of shots as Western Maryland took approximately 50 shots. Frostburg's inability to clear the ball gave Western Maryland control of the game.

The game was hard fought and both teams played aggressive ball. The Cat's aggressiveness during the game cost them eight and one-half minutes of penalties. The Western Maryland Terrors, almost equally aggressive, collected a total of seven penalty minutes.

Frostburg's three goals were scored by Dave Hooker, Rick Lan and George Miller.

This has been the story in both of the other games of the season, against Gettysburg and Mount St. Marys. The Bobcat Lacrosse Club finished its second season with an 0-3 record.

Bobcat Baseball coach, Robert Wells, is planning to coach a team of outstanding college baseball players from all over the United States in the Shenandoah Valley League. Bobcat Mel Bacon, will represent Frostburg along with Coach Wells.

The league is made up of eight teams, and is one of four leagues sponsored by the major leagues especially for college baseball players.

The main purpose of the summer league is for good college players to gain valuable experience playing in games against others of equal ability.

The league finds local summer jobs for the players so they can earn the money to pay for their room and board while playing baseball in the league.

Track

Bobcats lose in three contests

The Bobcat track team has participated in three meets in past weeks. On March 29, the Bobcat footers completed at the Fairmont Relays. The Bobcats only scored in two events with Don Gallaher's fifth in the three mile run and the 880 yard relay team's (Joe Waters, Doug Bachtell, Tom Sansom, Paul Custer) fifth place finish.

The team of 12 fared much better in their second meet with Kutztown State College and Shippensburg State College. The final score found Kutztown with 91½, Shippensburg with 56 and Frostburg with 33½. Don Gallaher set a school record in the two-mile run with a time of 10:13 breaking his own record of 10:18. Dennis Green won the 220 yard dash, while Damien Howell finished third in the mile and fourth in the two mile. Roger Dunn got a third in the 120 highs and the 440 intermediate hurdles. Bo Mundy jumped to a third in the high jump and a fourth in the triple jump. Bill Freeland took 4th in the half mile run, while Tom Sansom picked up a pair of fourths in the 100 yard dash and high jump. The Bobcats lack of scoring in the field events was attributed to the absence of Ned Era, who was involved in Senior Testing.

A lack of depth hurt the Bobcats in their first dual meet against Towson. The Cats were out pointed 98-47 by rival Towson. Ned Era led the Cats with first places in the shotput, discus, and javelin. Dennis Green won both the 100 yard and 200 yard dashes, and finished third in the long jump. Don Gallaher, won, running away, in the two-mile and finished second in the mile. Damien Howell was second in the two mile and third in the mile. Charles Griffin captured second in the half mile, while Bo Mundy leaped into second place in the triple jump and finished third by virtue of number of misses in the high jump. Paul Custer held on in the stretch to take a third in the 440 yard run.

The Cats next home meet is on Saturday against Montgomery Junior College.

P.O. Nixon is playing a clever game and he's a prisoner of the Military Industrial Complex. Nixon is an oppressor in an American political state. I'm not sure of my new role but you gotta keep dignity with militancy. Without dignity you have nothing.

D.M. How did you personally see yourself in relationship to the Chicago convention both in the streets and in the convention?

P.O. Well, I was involved in the discussions with the Yippies. I was working for McCarthy and the Mobilization in education in Militancy.

D.M. What is the one thing you cherish most?

P.O. Songwriting.

This ended my interview with Phil Ochs. I would like to thank Michael Ochs for putting up with all those calls from me.

that the runners had gone a total of 150 miles. He said, "I don't know what they're shooting for—maybe heaven."

Rich Frush ran off the 100th mile, and Mike Crescenzo ran the lap for the 200th mile. The total number of laps run in the 24 hours was 1,387, which came to a total of 213 miles. David Fryer ran the most laps-132. "Mouse" Malinowski ran the first lap alone and ran the last one with the other organizers of the event. The race ended at one o'clock Saturday afternoon.

The runners give special thanks to Nick Quartucci, Woody Blocher, Craig McGraw, and Larry Renner for providing food and refreshments for the runners.

Kittens take two, top Virginia teams

The Bobkitten Varsity lacrosse team opened the 1969 season with two away victories. The Kittens topped Madison College 9-5 and Bridgewater (Va.) College, 17-7.

In the game against Madison at Harrisonburg, Va., Sharon De Mar led the Kittens in scoring with four goals, while Dee Mullineaux added two more. Debbie Wilson had a pair of goals for the losers. Bobkitten Leslie Smith helped to hold the losers to only five goals with her outstanding defensive play.

The girls go against the University of Maryland at College Park tomorrow and Baltimore Jr. College on Saturday.

Golfers lose

Dan Williams scored Frostburg's only points in the Bobcats first golf match of the year against Waynesburg and Carnegie Mellon at Waynesburg.

Scored as two dual matches, the Cats lost 6 to ½ to both teams. Dan William's 85 in match play earned us the two half points. Terry Shelton, Henry Danver, Flen Linsinbigle, Mike Owen and George Reidler also played for the Bobcat team.

Practice makes perfect.
