Provides System For Lending Money on Farm Lands at Reasonable Interest For Relatively Long Periods — Amortization Plan For Easy Repayment Prescribed

The act provides for the creation of local national farm loan associations, through which it is contemplated that the federal land banks shall make their loans. In the event that a local loan association is not found in any locality within a year, the federal farm loan board may authorize a federal land bank to make loans on farm land through approved agents. Ten or more persons who own and cultivate farm land qualified as security for a mortgage loan under the act or who are about to own and cultivate such land may form such an association, provided the aggregate of the loans desired by the membership is not less than $20,000. Each member must take stock in his association to an amount equivalent to five per cent of the amount he wishes to borrow. To take stock the association must first set security for the member's individual loan. The association in turn, when applying for money from the bank, must subscribe for stock in the bank to an amount equivalent to five per cent of the sum it wants to obtain for its members. This stock is held in

Amortization Plan of Repaying Loans.
It has been said that all loans are to be repaid on the amortization plan. This plan calls for a number of fixed monthly or semiannual payments, which include not only all interest and charges due the bank, but the principal as well. These payments are so calculated as to extinguish the debt in

BURNED LIME vs. LIME CARBONATE
The greatest authority on lime in the United States, Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins, of the University of Illinois, under date of December 1, 1915, says:
"No trustworthy investigations support the use of burned lime in preference to natural lime carbonate, such as ground pulverized shells, limestone or marl. On many soils a moderate use of burned lime, in connection with the liberal use of farm manures, yields profitable returns, which, no doubt, would be still more profitable if the burned lime were replaced with carbonate in equivalent amount and of proper fineness."

AN INFARE DINNER.

It Used to Be an Important Function
For the Newly Wedded.

Were you ever invited to an infare dinner? You are familiar with the "house warming" that is as likely to take place in midsummer as any other season, and if you are a business man you cannot have escaped the demand for a floral tribute when some new firm has embarked in your particular line of trade or profession.

But the chances are that if you know anything definite about an infare dinner you are either too old to care about discussing it or you are of Scotch or North of England origin; unless, of course, you happen to have spent most of your life in Indiana. In the latter event you learned all about a charming custom from your mother or grandmother.

In rural Indiana the old ceremonial has even yet not gone the way of most of the ceremonial practices of our ancestors, for it is still observed in a modified form. However, there is no sinister meaning attached to its omission, as was the case two generations ago.

In the days of our grandparents if the groom's mother failed to invite the bride to the infare dinner the day following the wedding it meant one thing and one thing only—that she was not to be regarded as a member of her husband's family. The dinner was usually a more elaborate affair than the wedding supper at the bride's father's house the previous evening. It was served at high noon and included the entire bridal party, although in Scotland the bride was supposed to leave all her own kindred behind when she went to eat the dinner cooked by her mother-in-law. —St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Forget Your Aches

Stiff knees, aching limbs, lame back make life a burden. If you suffer from rheumatism, gout, lumbago, neuralgia, get a bottle of Sloan's Liniment, the universal remedy for pain. Easy to apply, it penetrates without rubbing and soothes the tender flesh. Cleaner and more effective than many ointments or poultices. For strains or sprains, sore muscles or wrenched ligaments resulting from strenuous exercise, Sloan's Liniment gives quick relief. Keep it on hand for emergencies. At your drugist, 25c.

HOW PARSON BROWN HELPED FARMERS

Studied Up His History of Hessian Fly and Found Preventive Measures Advocated
By U. S. Department of Agriculture

"Mary, I've simply got to find out what the Hessian Fly is and what it does and why all the farmers are continually talking about it without seeming to do anything else," said Parson Brown to his wife, the other evening as he returned from a trip through the country-side. "I'm going to write to the Department of Agriculture and the state experiment station and see if I cannot find out about the pest."

The letters were sent and a few days later several bulletins were received by the Parson, who took them into his study and read them thoroughly several times. He learned the habits of the Fly, that the eggs hatch in the late fall, and that the young must have tender young wheat plants upon which to feed and deposit themselves, else they die. Finally in Farmers' Bulletin 646, of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, he read the following statement:

"All practical measures to combat the fly must necessarily be in the nature of preventatives, looking (1) to the elimination of the pest in the young plants in the fall, and (2) to the increasing of the vigor of the young plants in order to enable them to counteract the insect's efforts when present. Under the first come late sowing, rotation of crops, burning of the old stubble, and the destruction of volunteer wheat. Under the second should be classed the enrichment of the soil, its thorough preparation, and selecting and properly sowing the best seed."

In the same bulletin, he found a discussion of the value of some quick acting fertilizer as a preventive measure. The second statement was the following:

"The application broadcast of some quick acting fertilizer containing a large percentage of phosphorus (phosphorus) made as soon as general infestation is apparent will cause the plants to tiller more freely and give them sufficient vigor to withstand the winter and thus increase the number of healthy stems the following spring. While it may seem far fetched to bring forward as a preventive measure the enrichment of the soil, a fertile soil will produce plants that will withstand with little injury attacks that will prove disastrous to plants growing on an impoverished or thin soil. It is also on the thin or impoverished soils that the difficulty of sowing late enough to evade the fall attack and at the same time secure a growth sufficient to withstand the winter is encountered, and whatever can be done to obviate this difficulty will constitute a preventive measure."

"Mary, I've not only found out about the Hessian Fly, but I've found out how the Government advises that the pest be combated, and I'm going to get a supply of these bulletins and put the proposition up to the farmers in this community," said Parson Brown. So during the next week, he spent much of his time talking Hessian Fly to the farmers, and the indications are that his work is going to mean more and better wheat per acre in that county.

BEAT YOUR WHEAT YIELDS!

FARMERS RAISING OVER 50 BUSHEL PER ACRE PROFIT FROM THEIR SEASON'S WORK.

The indicated average yield of wheat for 1915 is reported by the United States Department of Agriculture to be only 14.1 bushels per acre compared with 16.9 bushels per acre last year. Nine million less acres are in wheat and a decrease in total yield of three hundred million bushels less than last year is predicted. Wheat is a high priced crop and every bushel counts.

Weather conditions during the remainder of the current season will have an effect upon the yields. The early handling of the crop, including the plowing, preparation of the seed bed, the kind of seed used, the attention given to the fertility of the soil, and to the supplying of plant food to give the crop a good start and carry it along to maturity, are among the factors that determine whether next year's wheat field will make a profit over and above expenses.

VITAL WHEAT NEEDS WILL BRING SUCCESS

Leaving Undone Any One of Four Necessary Steps Means Partial Failure.

If there are four essential and necessary steps in growing a crop, and we follow three and neglect one, often we might just as well have omitted the three since a poor crop is certain to follow. Whoever uses good seed, prepares a fine, firm seed bed, uses lime, but neglects to supply wheat with available plant food in sufficient quantities will not harvest the largest number of bushels of best quality wheat.

You cannot grow strong, sturdy wheat plants from a sluggish start. The tiny plants need assistance from germination to maturity. The roots take up in solution ammonia, phosphoric acid and potash. These plant food elements are found in the soil, being gradually available to the crop; the deficiency of plant food is supplied through fertilizers. They are carried to the growing leaves, and under the action of sunlight, are manufactured into plant cell material that makes plant growth. Ammonia is the food that helps baby plants by giving them a dark green color and producing stalk growth. Plenty of available ammonia in the fertilizer gives the young plants a running start.

Harris in Cornell University Bulletin 352 states:
"The number of kernels of wheat per pot increased with the fertilizer."

Filling the Kernels.

Wheat is grown primarily for the grain. Phosphoric acid is the plant food that is most intimately concerned with forming and filling the kernels. Late in June or early in July, the tiny wheat flowers open and become fertile and the new wheat berries begin to develop. The time between the flowers becoming fertile and the complete filling of the kernels is very short—not over ten days or two weeks in most cases. As the kernel contains 75 per cent of the phosphoric acid of the plant, this plant food ingredient plays a very important part in filling the kernel and making the crop.

Thatcher holds that the relative protein content of grain is determined chiefly, if not wholly, by the rapidity of ripening of the kernel. Thus it is easily seen that the amount of phosphoric acid available for plant food at this time may determine the quality and yield of the crop.

Strengthening Straw.

The third essential plant food, potash, gives strength to the straw, assists in the transportation and laying down of the starch in the kernel and along with phosphoric acid plumps the grain. If the kernels are shriveled or small, the straw weak and inclined to lodge, more potash should be applied in the fertilizer. Available ammonia, phosphoric acid and potash are the three plant foods applied in fertilizers. They cause plant or stalk growth, form heavy, plump kernels, hasten maturity and make strong straw, insure good clover catches and quality wheat. Fertilizers should be selected of such an analysis as will make up for the deficiencies of the available plant food in the soil and supply the special needs of the wheat under various farm conditions. Best results will be secured by using 200 to 400 pounds of fertilizer on loam or clay soils analyzing 2 to 4 per cent ammonia, 8 to 12 per cent phosphoric acid and 2 to 4 per cent potash. On sandy or poor soils more ammonia should be used. Owing to the war conditions making potash scarce and high priced, a much smaller percentage of potash is advisable until these abnormal conditions adjust themselves.

Fertilizers give crops a quick start, strengthen straw, hasten maturity, better the quality and increase yields and profits.

Feed Vegetables Several Times

For years hundreds of successful truck-growers have been making one, two or even more applications of fertilizer on crops each year with profit. The method gains favor because it is a money-maker. Sweet corn, beans, cabbage, tomatoes and a host of other crops benefit greatly by this practice. Apply with a cultivator attachment, five-hole grain drill or fertilizer bugle. If crops are slow in starting use a fertilizer containing more than 1 to 2 per cent ammonia. To hasten maturity and to improve quality, use a fertilizer containing 8 to 12 per cent phosphoric acid. If soil is muck, or if for a root crop, apply a fertilizer containing more than 2 per cent potash.

Applying Fertilizers On Wheat

1. Apply all the fertilizer through the fertilizer attachment of the grain drill at seeding time.
2. If you have no drill with fertilizer attachment apply all through broadcast lime and fertilizer distributor.

Be sure to work the fertilizer into the soil thoroughly before sowing wheat.

How They Saved the Gunner

By F. A. MITCHEL

The ships had met in deadly contest. For hours they had pounded each other, rammed each other, torpedoed each other. Some had gone down with crews ranging from 500 to 1,000 men. Some had limped away from the shot and shell, but the bulk were afloat and still firing. At last one side gave in under the longer range of the other and steamed away.

When the fight was over the captain of the Terror was going about among the wounded, speaking a word of praise to one, encouragement to another and sympathy to the dying. While speaking hopefully to a tar who had lost an arm he heard a voice behind him:

"Cheer up, Tom; we're going to sail for home. Think how proud father will be of you when I tell him how you served that gun, how when every other man of the gun squad had been disabled you hung on and fired the final shot that sank that submarine and saved the ship from being blown sky high. I think I see mother and the girls and little Jim coming down the walk to meet us, mother putting her arm about you, weeping for joy at getting you home and a pride at your bravery."

"Steady, old man! You're going to pull through. The blood has stopped flowing. All you want is something of the grit you showed in sticking to your gun and saving us all by the cool pointing you did at that submarine. Brace up, my boy, and all will be well."

"Keep your mind fixed on Sallie. Think how she is waiting and watching for you to come back to her. You bet we'll have a rattlin' wedding. I think I see myself as best man prop'ly you up, and I see Sallie tryin' to keep back some o' the smiles that crowd on to those pretty red lips of hers, her eyes dancin' with happiness and pride in the gunner that sank an enemy ship and saved his own from a sub."

The captain while listening to these words turned and saw two men, the one lying on the deck, pale and languid, the other kneeling beside him holding his hand. He had known that one of his guns had finished an enemy ship and that a gun had saved the Terror from an enemy submarine. Who fired the shot he had not known. Now he knew that one man had fired both shots and that he had stood by his gun when every other man at the piece had been stretched on the deck or blown to pieces.

"Tom," he said.
The hero's eyes were closed, and he did not open them. The man kneeling beside him was about to rise, salute and stand at attention when the officer placed his hand on his shoulder and prevented him.

"Brothers?" asked the captain.

"Yes, sir."

"Is there anything that you think will help to brace him?"

"He might be tired over, sir, if he heard a gun or a volley or if the marines would rattle a drum. He kept up till the fight ended, but when the firing ceased he fell away."

At this point an order was signaled from the admiral to give chase to one of the enemy's ships that was lagging behind the rest of the retreating fleet. The captain of the Terror transmitted the order to the proper officer and to man the forward guns. As soon as the Terror came within range of the vessel she pursued there was a loud boom.

Tom opened his eyes.
"We're at it again, Tom," said his brother. "Wouldn't you like to be at that gun? You can't do that, my boy—not just now, though you will in time. No doubt you'll fire many a shot after you've got your strength back."

There came from the forecable the roll of a drum. The captain had ordered it. He had ordered the firing, too, not that he expected to damage the retreating vessel, but that he hoped the brave man who had saved his ship might be aided over the shoals of death and saved for his reward.

Another gun.

Tom made an effort to sit up. His brother gently held him down.

"Not yet, old man, not yet. You'll be in it again soon enough."

"What's goin' on?" asked Tom in a feeble voice. "I thought we'd whipped 'em."

"So we did. We knocked the smithereens out of 'em. One of 'em is trying to get away, and our men are trying to sink her."

"Are they doing it?"

"You bet! A few more shots will do the business. You're lookin' better, old fellow. There's the light of life in your eye. You're going to get well, and—"

"You're going to be an admiral some day," supplied the captain, who had returned from directing the operations against the enemy's ship to direct the saving of the hero of the fight. "You're to be mentioned in orders and promoted and sent home on leave, and at the next fight you'll probably command a fleet."

With this the captain went off to attend to other matters.

"Billy," said Tom, "get me some grog. I reckon I'm going to pull through."

Tom did pull through, and every thing his brother had pictured came to pass. Some of the things the captain had promised were fulfilled too. Tom has not yet become an admiral, but he is an officer and in line of promotion.

When a man profits by his mistakes there's a great temptation to keep on making more.

Miss Lisette Lano left for an extended trip to the West last Friday. She expects to be gone several months.

Mrs. Louise Trudeau and son Homer, of Toledo, Ohio, were guests of Mr. Frank Lano and family several days last week.

Mr. Swenson Earle, Chief Engineer of the Conservation Commission, spent Wednesday at the Washington Hotel, where he conferred with the Virginia engineer, representing the State of Virginia, over the establishment of boundaries on the Maryland-Virginia line.

New Crab Bait Found

The Conservation Commission of Maryland has just been advised by the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, that the latter named board has experimented successfully with salted grey fish for crab bait, which they feel will afford crabs a cheaper bait than they are using at present. They are desirous of having crabs try this bait before the close of the present season in order to make preparations for an ample supply next season if it proves satisfactory. The bait is put up in barrels of about 250 pounds and will be furnished to crabs who will remit the price, $5, to the Commissioner of Fisheries, Washington, D. C.

Start Preparedness Tour of State

Preaching the doctrine of preparedness to the rural population of this State, C. Delano Ames and Henry S. Booth, joint secretaries of the Maryland League for National Defense, started out Monday of last week on a series of automobile trips which will take them eventually into every county in Maryland.

Meetings to put forward the aims and ambitions of the league will be held in each county seat, and county organizations to act as feeders to the main organization in Baltimore will be established.

With the promised co-operation of the various women's clubs and the country newspapers, it is expected that the tour will result in a visible quickening of local interest in the league's doctrine.

Are You Looking Old?

Old age comes quick enough without inviting it. Some look old at forty. That is because they neglect the liver and bowels. Keep your bowels regular and your liver healthy and you will not only feel younger but look younger. When troubled with constipation or biliousness take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are attended especially for these ailments and are excellent. Easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Obtainable everywhere.

DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF PRINCESS ANNE AND SOMERSET COUNTY

PRINCESS ANNE, MARYLAND, SEPTEMBER 12, 1916

Vol. XIX No. 7

CHAUTAQUA OCTOBER 12th TO 14th

The time for the opening of the Chautauqua season of 1916 for Princess Anne is October 12th to the 14th and the committee having the work in charge are making a strenuous effort to have this incomparable educational event excel all its previous records.

No attraction that visits our town is more worthy of the public support and encouragement than this Chautauqua. As an educational agency it has no peer, and as a social feature it is more effective than any other public amusement.

The following is the outline program for the three days:

First Day—Afternoon—Series Lecture by Superintendent. Concert—The Berkeley Sextette. Evening—Concert—The Berkeley Sextette.

Second Day—Series Lecture. Concert—Anderson-Bentley-Garland Company. Evening—Concert—Anderson-Bentley-Garland Company. Lecture—Frank Dixon.

Third Day—Afternoon—Series Lecture. Concert—The Yodlers. Evening—Concert—The Yodlers. Entertainment—Roman, Prince of Jugglers.

Stores Now Open After 2 P. M.

A petition was circulated last week among the merchants in town to continue the plan of closing the stores at 7 o'clock in the evening for the coming year, as has been done during the summer. The scheme worked very satisfactorily in the summer and caused no inconvenience whatever to the public. The argument was advanced upon the part of the merchants that if the plan worked well in the summer when the farmers were busiest in the day time, it should cause even less inconvenience in the winter.

Every merchant on Main street, to whom the petition was presented, with one exception, signed the paper readily. The plan is an excellent one and it is to be regretted that any one merchant should cause the abandonment of a proposition which was so strongly supported and urged by his fellow traders. The stores of Princess Anne will now be open after 2 P. M.

L. Clayton Pusey Dies

Mr. L. Clayton Pusey, aged 27 years, died last Tuesday night at the home of his father-in-law, Mr. John W. Morris, of typhoid fever, which he developed in Baltimore some weeks ago.

Mr. Pusey was married April 5th last to Miss Annie V. Morris while he was patient at the Peninsula General Hospital, Salisbury, suffering from injuries received when his carriage was struck by a train in Princess Anne.

Besides his widow, Mr. Pusey is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William S. Pusey, a brother, Mr. Lawrence M. Pusey, and a sister, Miss Emily Pusey, all of East Princess Anne district.

Funeral services were held last Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Friendship Methodist Protestant Church, conducted by Rev. D. J. Givan, pastor of Antioch M. E. Church, Princess Anne, and interment was in the cemetery adjoining Friendship Church.

Dance in Honor of Her Guest

Miss Mary Miles Dashiell gave a dance Tuesday evening at her home on Main street in honor of her house guest, Miss Shirley Dashiell, of Cambridge. Those present were Misses Ellen D. McMaster, Mary Adams, Amanda Lankford, Olga Young, Marion Stanford, Olive Dashiell, Martha Stanford, Gladys Winters, Irene Taylor, Majorie Peddicord, Harriet Murphy, Bernice Thompson and Mildred Beauchamp. Messrs. Samuel H. Sudler, E. Herman Cohn, Gordon Tull, Walter Long, Walter Young, Douglas Wallop, James Taylor, Robert Waller, Frank Dashiell, Robert Burgess, Vernon White, Robert Maddox, Lawrence Stanford, Earle Polk, James Blaine, Russell Blades and Hugh Phillips, and Mr. and Mrs. Omar J. Crosswell, Mr. and Mrs. L. Creston Beauchamp and Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Dashiell.

Miles Called to National Headquarters

In response to a summons from the Democratic National Headquarters, Hon. Joshua W. Miles, United States Collector of Internal Revenue, left his home in Princess Anne last Wednesday evening on the midnight train for New York to confer with the managers of the Wilson campaign over the political situation in Maryland.

Mr. Miles was the first Maryland delegate to break from Clark and vote for Wilson for the nomination in the Baltimore convention in 1912. He returned home last Friday night.

Miss Sara Taylor returned to Baltimore Tuesday morning to resume her duties at the Internal Revenue office.

BAPTISTS WILL HOLD TENT MEETING

Members of The First Baptist Church Will Build New Edifice

On the first Sunday in June last Rev. W. E. West arrived in Princess Anne and began work under the auspices of the State Mission Board of the Maryland Baptists. In a few weeks he had gathered together a small group of people holding the Baptist faith, organized a Sunday School and arranged for regular preaching services. There being no suitable place available for holding these services the members of the Presbyterian Church very generously offered to Mr. West and his people their commodious chapel, on Prince William street, without charge, until some permanent place might be provided. Here Mr. West has been conducting a Sunday School and preaching services every Sunday afternoon.

Announcement is made that on Sunday, September 24th, at 3 p. m. a Baptist Church will be constituted in Princess Anne as a result of Mr. West's efforts. Rev. A. J. Eristos, D. D., of Baltimore, and Rev. W. H. Baylor, Superintendent of Missions, will be present to assist in the services.

Dr. Eristos is the State Evangelist of the Maryland Baptists and will conduct a tent meeting on the lot adjacent to Newton's store, beginning September 17th. He is an experienced evangelist and free from claptrap and sensationalism so characteristic of many modern evangelists.

Dr. Eristos has been with Mr. West at Vinton for the past two weeks, and at times the tent could not hold the people who wanted to hear him. He has held meetings in nearly every Baptist Church in Maryland and has made thousands of friends.

This Baptist tent meeting is a money-making scheme and will be conducted throughout in a dignified manner. Steps will be taken at an early date to build a suitable house of worship for the new church organization.

Stamp Tax Law Repealed

When the new general revenue bill became effective last Saturday, business men throughout the country were relieved of the stamp taxes which they have been paying since December 1st, 1914, and which were to have continued until December 31st of this year. The general revenue bill repealed the emergency revenue bill stamp taxes and the Internal Revenue Bureau stated that revenue stamps were not required after Saturday.

The first event on the program was a 150 blue flyer test, starting at 10:30 o'clock Friday morning. The shooters were divided into four classes and four merchandise prizes were awarded in each class. Another 150-target event was held on Saturday with fine prizes to be given to the best shots. To the highest amateur shooter on both days a gold watch was given.

The Princess Anne Gun Club sent eight members to attend the shoot on Friday, and of the eight, seven brought back prizes. The only one who failed to land a prize had to leave in the middle of the shoot and of course was not eligible.

Those who attended were F. D. Layfield, who carried the boys over in his car; B. H. Dougherty, J. O. Reading, H. A. Holland, Dr. T. J. Smith, C. C. Waller, J. B. Reese and E. B. Polk. Mr. Dougherty led the Princess Anne shooters with a score of 137 out of 160, and Mr. Reading was second with 130. Only two shooters in the whole number were ahead of Mr. Dougherty and they each broke 143. The boys report an enjoyable trip, including a splendid swim in the ocean at 6:30 p. m. A thunderstorm at 8:00 o'clock kept them at Ocean City until 10 o'clock.

The next tournament on the Eastern Shore will be held at Princess Anne on October 4th, by the Princess Anne Gun Club, and the shooting will be at Mr. Frank Collins' brickyard.

Mrs. Minnie Handy Dead

The remains of Mrs. Minnie Handy, wife of Mr. Charles Handy, who died at her home in Elizabeth City, North Carolina, were brought to Princess Anne last Sunday night and funeral services were held in Manokin Presbyterian Church yesterday (Monday) morning at 11 o'clock, conducted by Rev. W. L. Freund and the interment was in the cemetery adjoining. Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters.

Who is Duer?

Who is this Duer who is running for Congress on the Republican ticket? What has he ever done? By the silent campaign he is waging he must have contracted "pusyfootitis" from his leader, the Honorable Charles E. Hughes. The Republicans are silent, so are the dead. Is there much difference between the two?—Easton Ledger.

CONGRESS ADJOURNED LAST FRIDAY

Congress adjourned last Friday morning at 10 o'clock. After nine months devoted to legislation, both houses held protracted sessions Thursday to wind up their affairs by approving the conference agreement on the emergency revenue bill to raise approximately $200,000,000 desired by the administration to meet the extraordinary appropriations for national defense and the Mexican emergency.

The last appropriation measure, the general deficiency bill, was adopted by both houses while waiting for the conference report on the revenue bill, and ratified the Danish treaty to provide for purchase of the Danish West Indies for $25,000,000. The corrupt practice bill to limit campaign expenditures and the immigration bill, which President Wilson had announced he would veto if passed, were put aside and will be taken up and pressed to a vote early in the December session.

The revenue bill as it went to President Wilson for approval Friday contains drastic provisions empowering the President to retaliate against foreign interference with American commerce, increases the duties on dyestuffs to encourage their manufacture in the United States, provides means to prevent dumping of cheap, foreign-made goods into American markets after the war and provides for income, inheritance, munitions, corporation stock, liquor and miscellaneous internal revenue taxes.

Stamp Tax Law Repealed

When the new general revenue bill became effective last Saturday, business men throughout the country were relieved of the stamp taxes which they have been paying since December 1st, 1914, and which were to have continued until December 31st of this year. The general revenue bill repealed the emergency revenue bill stamp taxes and the Internal Revenue Bureau stated that revenue stamps were not required after Saturday.

Prohibition Party Convention

The First Congressional District Prohibition Party Convention held in Easton last Tuesday, nominated James T. Anthony, of Queen Anne's county, for Congress. Representatives were present from Wicomico, Somerset, Worcester, Dorchester and Talbot counties, and it was the largest and most representative Prohibition Congressional convention held on the Eastern Shore in a score of years, as well as the largest subscription for campaign expenses. A campaign committee for the First District was named for the campaign. The committee on resolutions adopted the National platform except the referendum plank.

A District Campaign Committee consisting of one member from each county was appointed with J. H. Dulany, of Wicomico county, as chairman. The following were named as said committee: Talbot, J. W. Wheatley; Wicomico, W. S. Davis, Somerset, W. R. Gibbons; Kent, M. A. Tolson; Caroline, Rev. C. M. Elderidge; Dorchester, G. T. Bell; Worcester, V. H. Pruitt.

The delegates from Somerset county were: Messrs. William R. Porter, W. A. Long, W. R. Gibbons and Harry B. Miles.

New Church at Sharptown

Rev. Dr. J. M. Sheridan, pastor of Broadway Methodist Protestant Church, Baltimore, spent Sunday, September 3d, at Sharptown, Md., where he officiated at the cornerstone laying of a new church of that denomination. Dr. Sheridan preached a special sermon and had charge of the exercises. The new structure will cost about $7,000, more than $5,000 of which was subscribed at the afternoon service. Rev. Avery Donovan is pastor of the church.

The church was originally built in 1846, was rebuilt in 1885 and is now being rebuilt for the third time and will be greatly enlarged. The ladies' aid society of the church subscribed $1,500 toward the expense, $1,200 of which was in cash. The Church Extension Society of the Methodist Protestant Church also gave $500 toward the rebuilding.

New Automobile Law

The new State automobile law passed by the last Legislature has been effective since July 1st. The rules of the road are of the most importance to the general public. The principal ones are: In moving past to the left when signaled, the vehicle passed going as far to the right as possible. In turning reduce speed to twelve miles; at intersecting roads vehicles approaching from the right must give way and those approaching from right have preference. For violating these rules a fine of $25 for first offense may be imposed and if not paid twenty-five days imprisonment, there is a similar penalty for open coats or making other unnecessary noise in towns and villages, all of which could be impartially enforced, as should be the speed laws.

BEST PRESIDENT IN YEARS

Will Vote and Work For His Election On Record Made

Woodrow Wilson, inventor, lifelong Republican, and a strong supporter of Theodore Roosevelt's candidacy for the Presidency, has announced his intention to vote and work for Woodrow Wilson. He dictated the following statement:

"Since 1860 has any campaign manager made a direct call on Simon pure Americanism. The times are too serious to think in terms of Republicanism or Democracy. Real Americanism is to drop parties and get down to the fundamental principles.

"No man any other President in my country, Wilson has been faced by a situation of tremendous problems, any of which decided the wrong way would have had disastrous consequences. Wilson's decisions so far have not led into any serious trouble, nor are they likely to.

"I have given us peace with honor. This about the United States being neutral is nonsense. Neutrality is a meaningless policy, but back of it are the rights of the future of civilization. I have referred to Mexico I think the United States has acted wisely, justly and humanely. It was right that the United States should not have recognized a murderous personality as President. I do not believe that we should have intervened now. Mexico is a neighbor just now, but we are not going to make a mistake. Both against England and against human slavery the United States worked out its salvation and it is not long before the final break-up occurs. All of this was entirely preventable.

Other things being equal it is the man who leads the well-balanced life who lasts the longest, whose work to the end is uniformly the best, he who neither over-works nor over-plays, neither over-eats, over-drinks, nor over-sleeps, mental work with physical recreation, who is as honest with his own body as he is with his own business. When success comes to such an one his physical and mental condition is such that he can enjoy in peace of mind and contentment of body the fruits of his labors.

Handy Predicts Democratic Victory

Former Congressman L. Irving Handy last Thursday paid high tribute to the personnel of the ticket nominated at the Democratic State Convention in Dover on Tuesday. He pledged his loyal support and thought it should appeal to all Democratic and independent voters. Mr. Handy was one of the candidates for the Senatorial nomination and he received a large number of votes, but Attorney-General Josiah O. Wolcott was the winner. Mr. Handy has congratulated Mr. Wolcott on his success.

"I shall be glad to say something to the public about the results of the convention," Mr. Handy said. "I competed in that convention with a field of strong and popular candidates for the Senatorial nomination. I am profoundly grateful for the loyal and unselfish support which came to me in the fight. Friends secured for me the Kent county caucus nomination and made a splendid showing on the floor of the convention. Naturally I can never forget their efforts in my behalf.

"But I accept my defeat in good spirit. I have written to Mr. Wolcott sincere congratulations on his nomination. He is an able, high-minded gentleman, and is well fitted to make a Senator of the United States of whom Delaware will justly be proud. It will be a pleasure to me to work for his election, and I predict that he will win in November.

"The convention named a ticket which looks good throughout. Mr. Hughes, for governor, is a clean and able man. Considering both ability and character he is a first-class man and it was quite proper for the convention to name him by acclamation.

"I shall be glad for the public to know that I shall support the whole ticket with perfect loyalty. It seems to me that all Democrats and independent voters generally should unite to give this ticket a safe majority in Delaware."

Ohio Democrats Enthusiastic

Adoption of a platform was the principal work of the Democratic State Convention which met in adjourned session at Columbus, Ohio, last Thursday. Senator Atlee Pomerene, as chairman of the convention, predicted "victory in Ohio and in the nation," at the November election and declared that "the people will not change the realities of Wilson for the prophecies of Hughes."

Ritchie Names Staff

Attorney-General Ritchie last Thursday announced that he had appointed Ogilvie Marbury, John M. Reardon and William Pinkney White, Jr., to be his assistants in the new State Legal Department, which the last Legislature created and which will take charge of the State's legal work on October 1st. The department will displace the special counsel to the Tax Commission, the Roads Commission, the Industrial Accident Commission, the Department of Health, the Police Board, the Liquor License Board, the Supervisors of Elections of Baltimore City, the Insurance Commissioner and various other offices and departments.

ESSENTIAL POINTS OF GOOD HEALTH

What profiteth a man that he gain the whole world yet lose his health?

Naturalists say that long ago the prehistoric waters were infested with a species of enormous shark which finally became extinct by reason of the workings of its voracious appetite. Thus Nature eliminates the over-fed.

The desire for ease of life and plentiful diet is universal and is the great stimulus of man and animals alike. When man becomes greedy and takes more ease and food and drink than is his share, Nature discards him.

In the race for power and place, for ease of circumstance and relief from the stimulus of hunger, the modern man is apt to forget that unless he is careful of his body he will soon be made to suffer for the infraction of Nature's inexorable physical law. With the loss in body tone comes an equal loss in mental acuity and the brain which for a time was able to operate despite the complaints of an over-fed, under-exercised, self-poisoned body, stops working.

Statisticians have discovered that the mortality rate of persons in the United States over 45 years of age is increasing. The strenuous life of today is not alone responsible for this. Lack of health-giving exercise, superfluity of diet, lack of restoring sleep, over-stimulation, the high pressure of the race for power, wealth and position, plus physical neglect, these bring early decay. The goal is reached, wealth is amassed, honor, position and power are just being grasped when the apple of accomplishment turns to the ashes of dissolution. The brilliant mind becomes clouded, the steady hand is no longer accurate, the eye which once gazed fearlessly on the whole world is dimmed and it is not long before the final break-up occurs. All of this was entirely preventable.

Other things being equal it is the man who leads the well-balanced life who lasts the longest, whose work to the end is uniformly the best, he who neither over-works nor over-plays, neither over-eats, over-drinks, nor over-sleeps, mental work with physical recreation, who is as honest with his own body as he is with his own business. When success comes to such an one his physical and mental condition is such that he can enjoy in peace of mind and contentment of body the fruits of his labors.

THE COMPULSORY SCHOOL LAW

Provisions Of The Law Affect Children Between 7 And 16 Years

The public schools of Somerset county reopened yesterday (Monday) after the summer vacation. The attention of parents is called to the requirements of the school laws now in force regarding the attendance of children. Any child who is six years of age may attend the public schools. In order to avoid the formation of new classes after the regular work is well under way, children who will be six years of age on or before November 1st, must be enrolled at the beginning of the year, unless they prefer to wait until the second half year of school, which begins about the middle of January.

The Compulsory School Attendance Law affects children between the ages of seven (7) and sixteen (16). Following are the provisions of the law in full:

"Every child residing in any county of the State being seven years of age, and under thirteen years of age, shall attend some public school during the entire period of each year that the public schools of the county are in session; unless it can be shown to the county superintendent of schools that such a child is elsewhere receiving regular and thorough instruction during such periods in the studies usually taught in the public schools of the county to children of the same age; provided, that the superintendent or principal of any school, or persons duly authorized by such superintendent, may excuse cases of necessary and legal absence among such enrolled pupils, and provided, further, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to children whose mental or physical condition is such as to render the instruction above described inexpedient or impracticable. Every person having under his control a child seven years of age and under thirteen years of age, shall cause such child to attend school or receive instruction as required by this section.

"Every child, residing in any county of the State, being thirteen years of age or fourteen years of age, shall attend some public school not less than one hundred days, as nearly consecutive as possible, beginning not later than November 1st, during the period of each year that the public schools of the county are in session, and such child shall attend some public school the entire period of each year that the public schools of the county are in session, if it can be shown to the county superintendent of schools that such a child is elsewhere receiving regular and thorough instruction for such period in the studies usually taught in the public schools of the county to children of these ages; provided, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to children whose mental and physical condition is such as to render the instruction above described inexpedient or impracticable. Every person having under his control a child thirteen years of age or fourteen years of age, shall cause such child to attend school or receive instruction as required by this section.

"Every child residing in any county of the State, being fifteen years of age or sixteen years of age, who has not completed the work of the public elementary school, shall attend some public school not less than one hundred days as nearly consecutive as possible, beginning not later than November 1st, during the period of each year the public schools of the county are in session; and such child shall attend some public school the entire period of each year the public schools of the county are in session, if not regularly and lawfully employed to labor at home or elsewhere, unless it can be shown to the county superintendent of schools that such child is elsewhere receiving regular and thorough instruction for said period in the studies usually taught in the public schools of the county to children of these ages; provided, that the provisions of this section shall not apply to children whose mental and physical condition is such as to render the instruction above described inexpedient or impracticable. Every person having under his control a child fifteen years of age, or sixteen years of age, shall cause such child to attend school or receive instruction as required by this section.

"Any person who has a child under his control and who fails to comply with any of the provisions of this section, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be fined not exceeding five dollars for each offense."

The Head of the House

By ELENOR HOLMES

"Martha," said Mrs. Bumbleton, "how long are you going to let your husband tyrannize over you?"

"Tyrannize over me? Why, mother, what do you mean?"

"I mean just what I say. William is a tyrant. Didn't I hear him refuse to give you the money you needed for your fall hat?"

Martha thought a moment, then smiled. "You heard me ask him for $5 for a hat. He said he would not give me $5, for I couldn't get much of a hat for that. He gave me $10."

"Oh, he did, did he? He probably did that to make you feel easy at having to go without a new cloak. Ten dollars for a hat saves $40 for a cloak."

"But I don't need a cloak. I spent $100 for one last November."

"What! That old thing with a sheepskin collar! It isn't fit for a servant girl to wear."

"Why, mother, dear, that collar is mint, and the cloak is as good as new."

"That's not saying much for it. You are the shabbiest dressed woman I know of. When I was your age I made your father pay up for what I wore. I told him it would be time enough for me to dress shabby when I'd got old."

I didn't intend to look like a bundle of rags when I was young and handsome. As soon as we were married I let him understand that I wasn't to be his slave. And that's what every wife needs to do right off. The longer she puts off the harder it's going to be to get the upper hand."

"But, mother, I don't want the upper hand. Will and I manage our affairs jointly."

"If your father would have listened to me we would have been rich today. Of course I couldn't go into his store and run it; I had too much to do at home. The consequence is he was always buying goods he couldn't sell and trusting persons who wouldn't pay, and that's the reason I've had to be contented to be a poor man's wife. But when I had him at home I tell you I made him toe the mark."

The young wife smiled. She knew her mother's idiosyncrasies, and she knew, too, that actors are not usually talkers. She considered her mother harmless, and instead of being influenced by her she humored her.

"You must remember, mother," she said, "that all women don't have the firmness that you have."

"All right, if you want to take a back seat and let a man ride roughshod over you. For my part, I don't intend to let any man bow me."

She and walked upstairs. Her wife's hearing was not of the best, and she was not aware of his approach. On reaching the door of the room where mother and daughter were talking he paused and looked in. His wife's back was to him, while his daughter faced him. When his wife spoke her last sentence he smiled at Martha, then, assuming a severe expression, walked into the room.

"Amelia," he said to his wife sternly, "I thought I told you to have the lock on the front door fixed. I've been fumbling with it for a long time. I come home tired with business, thinking I have a wife at home to attend to these little necessities, and, behold, nothing is done. Why didn't you do as I told you?"

"Why, Henry, I forgot it."

"Forgot it! Do you consider that any excuse for neglecting your duties?"

"Now, Henry, I'm awfully sorry!"

"Sorry! Does being sorry prevent my struggling to get into my own house half the afternoon? Hereafter I'd have you to understand that when I tell you to do anything I want you to do it."

"I'll telephone for the locksmith at once." And she started for the booth.

"Come back here. Don't you know you can't get a workman after 5 o'clock? What's the matter with you, anyway?"

During this storming the father cast occasional glances at his daughter, who frowned her orders for him to desist. At this point she broke in:

"Papa, you are very unkind. Mother didn't feel well this morning and I told her she had better lie down and take a rest while I made her a cup of tea. She didn't eat much breakfast, you know. There now; that's a good papa! Don't scold any more."

With this she went to her father and put her hand over his mouth.

"Very well; for your sake, my dear, I'll overlook your mother's negligence this time, but if it occurs again!"

He got no further, for his words were stopped by a kiss from Martha.

At that moment Martha's husband came in.

"What's up?" he asked.

"Oh, nothing much," replied his father-in-law. "I just found it necessary to exercise my authority as head of the house. I would recommend you to begin your wife's training early."

"That'll do, papa," said Martha. "You needn't trouble yourself to instruct my husband as to how he shall treat me. I'll attend to that."

"Just so." Then to his wife, "Is dinner ready, dear?"

"I'll go and see."

The poor woman hustled out and in a few moments called for the others to come to dinner. Mr. Bumbleton opened a bottle of wine and called to the others to join him in drinking the health of the best woman in the world, whom he confessed that at times she was a little forgetful.

HUGHES SAYS: WORDS VS. DEEDS WILSON DOES:

A Chronological Contrast Compiled From Newspaper Reports

CHICAGO: "If anything in this campaign is real it is the question whether we want words or action. As I was 100 per cent Judge I became 100 per cent candidate."

St. Paul: "Reasonable, adequate preparedness is a primary national duty, and if I am elected I propose to see that that duty is discharged to the credit of the American people."

Fargo, N. D.: "If elected I should devote my ability to serving the United States."

BISMARCK, N. D.: "I am keenly aware of the importance of our agricultural prosperity, and I desire to do all that can be done to promote that prosperity."

Helena, Mont.: "The present administration is to a very great extent a sectional administration."

Spokane: Mr. Hughes rests from his arduous work of criticizing the deeds of President Wilson's administration.

SPOKANE: "I am desirous that this matter of the tariff should be attended to without abuse."

Seattle: "If we ever fall so low that we will not protect our citizens we might as well haul down the flag. I am not too proud to fight."

Portland, Ore.: "It would be a breach of trust for the United States to abandon the Philippines at this time."

Newburg, Ore.: "We must be sure that we do not leave unheeded the national power which will give us national prosperity."

San Francisco:

Oakland: "Wherever we have the government represented in regulation and supervision it must be a regulation and supervision that is really expert and square with the facts of business life."

San Diego: "I believe in preventing children from being drawn too early into the hardships of industrial life." (See Wilson's deeds of August 8 and 18.)

SOMEWHERE IN CALIFORNIA: "Mexico — Huerta — policy — recognition — intervention — shame — weak — conduct — American citizens — bullets — border — wrong — trouble — Administration — Huerta."

Memo, Nev.: "We can have peace without trouble in this country."

Ogden, Utah: "Let us brace ourselves for the new era. Let us maintain the honor of the American name. Let us get the driving force of patriotic sentiment."

Cheyenne, Wyo.: "I believe we ought to have compensation acts wisely and fairly provided—in order that those who work may be assured of proper protection."

DENVER: "I do not think there has been in many years a campaign in which business men, solicited for the future of the country, should feel or have as deep an interest."

Estes Park, Colo.: Mr. Hughes goes into seclusion to rest from the arduous labors of his campaign of criticism.

Estes Park, Colo.: —Still resting—a game of golf—posing for the moving picture men—a musicale in the evening—resting.

Estes Park, Colo.: Mr. Hughes takes an automobile ride to Long's Peak Inn, 10,000 feet above the level of the sea, where he might obtain a bird's eye view of the "inactivities" of President Wilson's administration.

Estes Park, Colo.: Mr. Hughes, refreshed by his four days' rest and silence, prepares to resume his task of being a 100 per cent candidate.

AUGUST 2. WASHINGTON: President Wilson wins his fight for a bigger navy at a White House conference with heads of Senate and House committees. Senate passes Child Labor Bill.

AUGUST 9. Washington: The Democratic House of Representatives adopts the conference report on the Army Appropriation Bill, the first of the President's defense measures.

AUGUST 10. Washington: The White House announces that the President will not take any of the government's time to answer Mr. Hughes' attacks.

AUGUST 11. WASHINGTON: President Wilson signs the bill making appropriations for the Department of Agriculture and containing three measures designed to improve market practices and the storage and financing of crops.

AUGUST 12. Washington: Secretary of Commerce Redfield makes public figures showing that half his staff is composed of Taft appointees.

AUGUST 13. Washington: President Wilson, to avoid a nation-wide railroad strike, calls representatives of the unions and employers to the White House.

AUGUST 14. WASHINGTON: The Senate approves the administration's revenue bill providing for the creation of a bipartisan tariff commission.

AUGUST 18. WASHINGTON: The House passes the Administration Shipping Bill designed to create a naval auxiliary and naval reserve and build up an American merchant marine to meet the requirements of the nation's commerce.

AUGUST 19. Washington: The House passes the Administration Shipping Bill designed to create a naval auxiliary and naval reserve and build up an American merchant marine to meet the requirements of the nation's commerce.

AUGUST 21. Washington: President Wilson receives hundreds of letters commending him for his successful fight against child labor.

AUGUST 22. WASHINGTON: President Wilson names Secretary of the Interior Lane, Ex-Judge George Gray and Dr. John R. Mott as members of the joint American-Mexican commission to settle peacefully the differences between the countries.

AUGUST 23. Washington: The United States Senate repasses the Army Appropriation Bill amended to meet the President's wishes.

AUGUST 24. Washington: At President Wilson's urging the Democrats in the House resolve to push the fight for a non-partisan tariff board in order to be prepared to meet new trade conditions arising after the war.

AUGUST 25. Washington: The House concurs in the Senate amendments to the bill providing for compensation of workmen injured while in government service.

AUGUST 26. WASHINGTON: The Federal Reserve Board's weekly statement shows an increase of more than $2,400,000 in the total earning assets of the member banks.

AUGUST 27. Washington: President Wilson confers with Democratic leaders about plans to save the country from a railroad strike.

AUGUST 28. Washington: President Wilson still laboring to avert a railroad strike, decides to go before Congress and ask for arbitration and neighborly laws.

AUGUST 29. WASHINGTON: President Wilson appears at a joint session of Congress and asks for immediate legislation to avert a railroad strike and prevent such a crisis arising in the future. The President completes the Administration's preparedness legislative program by signing the Army and Navy Appropriation Bill. He also signs the Philippine Bill and the new bill of Lading measures.

AUGUST 30. WASHINGTON: Woodrow Wilson still "on the job" in Washington—a 100 per cent President.

THE PRESIDENT'S MAIL BAG.

Such Letters as This Are Coming Daily to White House.

July 29, 1916.

My Dear Mr. President:

It is not necessary that I should bother you with a communication, and it does not need a reply. I am not seeking political favors or preferment, but desire to say for your information that some Progressives absolutely refuse to have their acts guided or controlled.

I am a native of Illinois. I established the A. M. Webster company of Peoria, Ill., and it is now owned and controlled by my son, who is engaged in handling farm properties. For twenty-five years I have advocated just such a rural credit bill as you have signed. I am highly pleased and not only pleased with this act, but many more acts since you have been our president.

I was born in a Republican home and reared in a Republican cradle. I did not vote for you; but, being disgusted with many Republican rulers of our state and nation, I joined the Progressive party and still hold to Progressive principles. Owing to the fact, however, that the men who stood loyally by Theodore Roosevelt and the Progressive party were finally dumped into the scrap basket and as we have since been grossly insulted by having Progressive leaders tell us that we must go back to the G. O. P. in order to save the nation from Democratic misrule and disaster, I balk.

Mr. President, your administration has satisfied me. I could give innumerable reasons why this is so, but to the point. I have appointed myself as a committee of one to vote for you and the Democratic ticket in November and do what little I can toward bringing Democratic success.

May God bless you in your every effort and guide your every act. Yours sincerely,

A. M. WEBSTER.

Why He Was on Time.

Benanger was one day complimented by a lady on the punctuality with which he kept his engagements. "It is a pleasure," said she, "to invite you to dinner, for you never make us wait."

"I am no longer young, madam," replied the poet, "and experience has taught me one thing—it is dangerous not to arrive at the precise hour, for the guests who are waiting for you will pass the time in discussing your faults."

A Rising Concern.

"So you've invested your money in a new airship company?"

"Yes. If our airship goes up the stock will go up."

"But suppose it doesn't?"

"Then the company will go up."—Boston Transcript.

WHAT WE DO WITH OUR MONEY

Since the beginning of the war we have bought American securities from European holders to an estimated amount of one and a half billions. This is exclusive of the American securities Great Britain is now putting up as collateral for more loans. The European holders had to sell because they needed the money. We had the money, and we invested it in our own railways and industries, which had previously been owned to a large degree abroad.

We have also loaned to foreign countries more than a billion dollars. Here is approximately $125,000,000 of interest or dividends which we shall receive from abroad, or which we shall not have to send abroad as we had been doing. This will make a large and permanent difference in our annual trade balance.

The new capital invested in railways and industries in eight months is shown by The New York Journal of Commerce to be $1,617,000,000. That is a little more than $200,000,000 a month, or about two and a half billions a year. We did not have this money to do as much as that last year, but we put a good bit over a billion a year into new railway and industrial projects, even when business is not very flourishing. We don't average much less than two billions in investments of this sort.

The building projects take from half a billion to three-fourths of a billion dollars a year, varying a good deal with the state of trade. When we have plenty of money in our pockets, or money is offered on easy terms, we build. When conditions are less favorable we get along with the old house, or the old store, or the factory as it is at present.

How much the nation earns and how much it saves is little better than intelligent guessing. It is impossible to make anything like a real calculation. But a generation ago Edward Atkinson estimated that production was about $200 a year for every man, woman and child in the country. There are some indications that 10 per cent. of this is saved. That would be two billions a year. Probably we are producing more per capita than we did in Mr. Atkinson's day, and we may be saving a high percentage. Of course the two and a half billions invested since the war began in our own and foreign bonds is not all current savings; some of it is previous accumulation. On the other hand, there are enormous savings that do not come into these computations. The building operations are only those of about 150 of the larger towns and cities. Deposits in savings banks aggregate about five billions, but the annual increment is very small. In 1914 the amount paid to the life insurance companies was close to a billion dollars, and the amount of insurance carried in the ordinary and industrial companies was about twenty-one and a half billions. The per capita wealth of the country, as computed by the Census Bureau, passed $1000 in 1890. In 1904 it was $1381.11. In 1912 it was $1965. If these figures are relatively correct we are increasing our wealth a good deal faster than we did 20 years ago. —Philadelphia Record.

Railroad Strike Averted

The hasty legislation enacted by Congress, which resulted in the passage of an eight-hour law for railroad employment, has averted the strike of the railroad trainmen, which had been ordered to go into effect Monday morning of last week. The public is at least spared the trouble and cost that a strike would have imposed upon them.

But that this hasty and poorly considered legislation, which gives the force and effect of law to the hours of employment of all engaged in the railroad service, will be of benefit to the general public is a question for serious consideration. That it will mean higher charges for railroad service, which the people will have to bear, is an assured fact. What remains to be proved is that the results, while they may be of great value to railroad employees, will be of equal value to the public.

With regard to the establishment of an eight-hour labor day for employees of railroads, the Congress cannot justly be held up for general condemnation. Years ago the eight-hour day for labor was established by the law of the land, and to this extent Congress, in its hasty scurried legislation in its closing days, was merely consistent with the record of the past.

But, come what may, the step has been taken. The strike, which would have imposed a tremendous cost upon the people, has been averted for the present. Whether what has been done will prove of real, lasting benefit, only time will determine. —From Wilmington Every Evening.

TRUSTEE'S SALE

OF VALUABLE

REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Somerset County, in Equity, passed in a cause in which the Bank of Somerset is plaintiff and the heirs of Charles A. Miller and others are defendants, the undersigned trustee therein named, will sell public auction at the Court House door, in Princess Anne, Maryland, on beginning at or about the hour of 1:30 o'clock p. m. the following described tracts of land in Somerset County, Maryland, of which the late Charles A. Miller died seized, namely:

Tuesday, October 3, 1916

No. 1—All that farm in Westover District, on the east side of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad, and on the north side of the state road leading from Princess Anne through the village of Westover to Crisfield, near said village, containing more or less, adjoining the land of Lewis Layfield, and wherein Theodore F. Pussey now resides, being all that part of the first parcel of land mentioned in a deed to said Miller from Columbus Adams and wife, dated the 7th day of July, 1903, recorded among the land records of said county in Liber O. T. B. No. 37, folio 38c, etc., which lies on the north side of said state road, and including a small strip of land which was conveyed to said Miller by Michael Brown and wife, improved with a dwelling house, barn and other outbuildings, and also by a carrying house with machinery and equipment and warehouses.

This farm will be first offered in two parcels, one containing 4-5 of an acre with Canning House and its Appurtenances and right of way to the creek and road, and the other containing the balance of the farm with dwelling house, barn and outbuildings, and will then be offered as a whole, the trustee reserving the right to accept the most advantageous bid or bids or to reject all bids. A plat of the canning house property can be seen at the office of the trustee.

No. 2—All that farm on the north side of the county road leading from Westover to Green Hill, and on the northwest side of the county road leading from Green Hill to Arden Crossing, known as the "Allen Farm," adjoining the land of James M. Long, and containing more or less, and being all the land which was conveyed to said Miller by William S. McMaster, assignee, by deed dated the 2nd day of March, 1900, recorded in Liber O. T. B. No. 30, folio 45, etc., except so much thereof as was conveyed by said Miller to Levin A. Corbin.

No. 3—All that tract of land in Dublin district, on the southeast side of the county road leading from Green Hill to Arden Crossing, and opposite No. 2, which was conveyed to said Miller by Levin A. Corbin and Henry J. Waters, trustees, by deed dated the 8th day of July, 1898, recorded in Liber O. T. B. No. 35, folio 467, etc., containing more or less, improved by a Large Stone House and large barn.

19 5-8 ACRES,

No. 4—All that lot of land in Fairmont district, containing more or less, including "Henderson's Island," which was conveyed to said Miller by H. Fillmore Lankford, trustee, by deed dated the 30th day of April, 1910, recorded in Liber W. J. S. No. 70, folio 15, etc., and conveyed by said Miller to the late Benjamin F. Lankford carried on the over business.

4 1-2 ACRES,

Possession of No. 4 will be given on compliance with the terms of sale, and possession of the other properties will be given on the 1st day of January, 1917.

Terms of Sale:—One-third cash on the day of sale, and the balance in two equal installments of six and twelve months from the day of sale, to be secured by the bonds of the purchaser or purchasers with security satisfactory to the trustee, bearing interest from the day of sale, or all cash at the option of the purchaser or purchasers. Title papers at the expense of the purchaser or purchasers.

H. FILLMORE LANKFORD,

Trustee.

NOTICE—The creditors of the said Charles A. Miller, deceased, are hereby notified to file their claims with the "vouchers thereof" in the office of the Clerk of the Circuit Court for Somerset County within two months from the day of sale, to-wit: Tuesday, October 3, 1916.

The Campaign Seems Vain to Many

Now that the railroad strike seems to be settled for a time, the Democrats should start an aggressive campaign for the re-election of President Wilson and the Democratic Congressional candidates. We have never seen so little life exhibited in a campaign where such vital issues were at stake as the present one. Within a few weeks the registration will be in full blast, but as yet we have seen no evidences of life from the Democratic headquarters in Baltimore, or in any of the counties of the State. Maryland has before her the task of helping to re-elect President Wilson, the election of a Democratic United States Senator and six Democratic Congressmen. The press of Maryland seem to have forgotten this great and important work, and in many cases the county newspapers have not even holstered the Democratic ticket at the head of their editorial columns. In Wicomico county there is a vast amount of work to be done by the State Central Committee to get the campaign properly started and to insure the success of the Democratic ticket. There are hundreds of our Democratic voters who are away from home working in other States and who will have to be brought here to defend their registration against the onslaught of the Republican management; especially so when these voters have left the State without filing their proper affidavits. The same lethargy seems to pervade every county in the State, and unless there is more action and life exhibited by the Democrats in the next few weeks, there is great danger that the party vote will be extremely light in November. —Wicomico News.

PUBLIC SALE

VALUABLE FARM

Having decided to leave Maryland, I will offer at Public Sale, in front of the Court House, in Princess Anne, on Tuesday, October 3rd, 1916,

at or about the hour of 2 o'clock p. m. all that farm or tract of land known as "TUSCULUM," containing Two Hundred and Eighty-five (285) Acres, more or less, situated on Big Monie Creek, and about six miles from Princess Anne, in West Princess Anne Election District in Somerset County, Maryland. This farm is improved by a large and commodious two and one-half story frame dwelling in good repair, and a large barn and necessary outbuildings. The house is located on the banks of the creek, surrounded by a large lawn of beautiful shade trees.

About one hundred and forty-five (145) acres of this tract of land is tillable, most of which is well set in timothy, clover and alfalfa, and is especially adapted to the growing of corn, wheat, oats and hay. The balance of the land is set in timber. About one-half of the farm has been recently fenced with first-class woven wire fencing, and on the whole is in excellent shape and well equipped for stock raising.

There is a young peach orchard of six (6) acres growing, and a large apple orchard in bearing on said farm.

TERMS OF SALE:—One-third in cash on the day of sale, and the balance to be paid by mortgage on said property, payable in one and two years from the day of sale, with interest annually.

ARBOR DAY IN SPAIN.

A Custom That Was Copied From Our Tree-Planting Festival.

You are prone to think, since America is the youngest of all the nations, that all our customs are derived from some older people, in whose national life a part of our population had its source. Did you ever hear of an old European country adopting a custom that originated in the United States? When you read of the Fiesta del Arbol in Madrid you are more than likely to assume that it was the tree planting day that gave a suggestion for our annual Arbor day.

Would you be astonished to learn that the Arbol fiesta was patterned directly after our American festival or holiday, when trees are planted by the children of the public schools? That it was copied after our custom is not difficult to establish, for the first festival of this kind was held in Madrid in 1894, having been inaugurated by the young king and his mother. At that time we had been celebrating Arbor day in the United States for more than twelve years.

In that country the event has come to be of real significance, since it is national, whereas in our country it is under the direction of the individual states. Every year the school children are not only commanded to plant young trees, but they are taken to inspect the planting of previous years and are impressed by their teachers with the importance of conserving the forests of their native land. In his first Fiesta del Arbol address King Alfonso announced that the idea was borrowed from the United States, and it was regarded as of so much value that not even the rumor of the Spanish-American war sufficed to interfere with its observance.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

LUCKY GREENSTONE.

It is Found Only in a Wonderful Mine in South Africa.

Situated in the beautiful Kaap valley, in the Jamestown district of Barberton, Transvaal, there is a mine known by the name of Verdite. The name was given to it on account of the peculiar green stone found in the mine, which is unknown in any other part of the globe. Articles of jewelry and ornaments are made of verdite, and it has been called the lucky greenstone of South Africa.

The greenstone is a silicate of magnesia, or talc, colored green by nature in the course of its formation. Other silicates of magnesia may be mentioned here, peridot, serpentine, meerschaum and steatite. The mine, or rather hill, consists of three varieties of talc—green, white and black.

But a peculiar fact is that in the black talc there is present pure gold. Some of the finest specimens of gold bearing rock have been found at this mine. Every one knows that gold is found in quartz, pyrites, or even sea water, but scarcely ever has it been mentioned in books that gold exists in talc.

When the verdite rock has gone through the ordinary process of crushing and the gold has been extracted the waste (or what is called the slimes of a gold mine) is used in the manufacture of soap, grease, paint, paper, toilet powders, gas jets, electric insulators, crayons and many other articles of everyday use.

In fact, one might say that everything got from this mine can be used for some commercial purpose.—Chamberlain's Journal.

Surprising the Bullock.

In times of crisis and worry a kind word has been known to have surprisingly good results. The unexpectedness of such a word is perhaps the secret of its force. A book, "On the Wool Track," backs the moral with an anecdote.

A team was working on the Broken Hill road, and a bullock—the Beetle-bab of the team—had gone obstinate, and the coach was passing. The whip was swinging, and some apt remarks were just forming on the back of the driver's tongue when he caught sight of a clerical hat on the front seat and just in time thought better of it. He coughed politely.

"Ahem—Strawberry," he said, "proceed!"

To his obvious astonishment Strawberry proceeded.

The Period of Adjustment.

"Why do they say that the first year of married life is almost the most difficult?"

"Because that's the time she has to get used to the fact that he isn't making all the money in the world and he has to adjust himself to the discovery that his little angel has a temper and mess it at times."—Detroit Free Press.

Two Packages.

"Ah! A package of old love letters, tied around with a faded pink ribbon. I could shed tears at the sight of them."

"Filled for true passion nothing surpassing a package of canceled checks."—Stratford Age-Herald.

Phalistic Cake.

"Do you call this sponge cake?" asked the lady of the house. "Why, it's as hard as a rock."

"Yes, madam," replied the cook. "That's the way a sponge is before it is baked. Look it in your tea."—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The Sex Was Good.

Wife—Wanna that a good box of cigars I gave you on your birthday? Husband—Yes; I never saw a better box, my dear.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system. To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength.

Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

Plantation of Ulster.

The "plantation of Ulster" does not refer to a plantation (farm) in the common sense of that word. It is the name that was given to the planting (settling) of Scotch and English immigrants upon the Ulster lands that had been cleared of its former Irish inhabitants by the English King James; hence the name "Scotch-Irish," the descendants of the Scotch and English settlers in the north of Ireland.—New York American.

Takes Expertness.

"It must injure a sleight of hand artist to explain his tricks."

"Not at all. Now, take the latest exposure in high finance."

"What of it?"

"You see exactly how the trick was done, and yet you can't do it."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Why, of Course.

"What are the twins called?" asked one neighbor of the other.

"Henrietta," was the reply.

"But not both of them, surely?" said the first in surprise.

"Certainly not," was the tranquil answer. "One is Henry, and the other is Rita."—Ladies' Home Journal.

WILSON A PROGRESSIVE BEFORE PARTY WAS BORN

Eighteen months before the birth of the Progressive party Woodrow Wilson, then governor of New Jersey, gave this definition of a progressive and so classified himself in an address before the Kansas Society of New York Jan. 20, 1911:

"By 'radical' I understand one who goes too far by 'conservative' one who does not go far enough; by 'reactionary' one who won't go at all. I suppose I must be a progressive, which I take to be one who insists on recognizing new facts, adjusting policies to facts and circumstances as they arise."

Under Democratic influence during the six years period since standstillism was overthrown in 1910, 90 per cent of the program of reform advocated by the Progressive party has been enacted into law. "Invisible government," which is now making desperate efforts to "come back," has been driven from power under President Wilson's administration and will have no place in Washington so long as he is in the White House.

DEFOE IN THE PILLORY.

When the Famous Writer Was Both Punished and Applauded.

The whipping post had as its companion 100 years or more ago, and in this country, but in England, the pillory. This punishment was ended by an act of the British parliament dated June 30, 1837.

Perhaps the most famous sufferer at the pillory was a man who has delighted millions of English speaking boys and girls and many older persons by his book, "Robinson Crusoe," which was the precursor of juvenile books as we now know them. This sufferer was Daniel Defoe, who was not only a writer of entrancing fiction and famous as a keen political pamphleteer.

In 1703, in the reign of Queen Anne, there came from his hand a pamphlet, "The Shortest Way With the Dissenters." A reward of £50 was offered by the government for the author, and rather than that his printer and publisher should suffer in his stead Defoe gave himself up and was sentenced to be pilloried three times.

On July 29 of that year the daring satirist stood unabashed on the pillory in Cheapside. The punishment was repeated two days afterward in the Temple, where a sympathizing crowd sang garlands instead of gibes at the stout hearted pamphleteer, and his health with loud acclaim sang his "Hymn to the Pillory." In this hymn occur these lines:

Tell them the men that place you here Are scoundrels to the times; Are at a loss to find his guilt And can't commit his crimes.

Curious Old Clock.

In the tower of the town house of Heidelberg was an old clock constructed that when the hour struck the figure of an old man pulled out his hat, a cock crowed and clapped its wings and soldiers fought with one another. But this curious piece of workmanship, with the candle and town, was burned by the French in 1688.

Nervous Apprehension.

"They are not going to cut me up if I go to the hospital, are they?"

"Of course not. When you're going just for a rest. What makes you think they are?"

"Because when I called up the hospital a voice said, 'Operator.'"—Baltimore American.

The Type Used in One Year To Publish Endorsements of Doan's Kidney Pills

Of the many kidney remedies on the market today, none other is recommended like Doan's Kidney Pills. Forty thousand benefited people testify in the newspapers of their own towns. Forty-five hundred American newspapers publish this home proof of Doan's merit. The type used in one year to tell this wonderful story would make a solid column of metal twice as high as the world's highest mountain. Placed end to end the lines of type would reach from New York to Chicago. These miles of good words told by 45,000 tongues sound glad tidings to any Princess Anne sufferer who wants relief from kidney and bladder ills. Here's a Princess Anne case. Don't experiment. Use the remedy endorsed by people you know.

Chas. R. Porter, grocer, Antioch avenue extended, (Route One) Princess Anne, says: "Whenever I caught cold, it settled in my back and I suffered from severe backache. I was forced to get up several times at night to pass the kidney secretions. It was three years ago when I had the last attack, but haven't had any trouble since. Doan's Kidney Pills were responsible for making this cure. I got them at T. J. Smith & Co.'s drug store, and recommend them very highly to anyone."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Porter had. Porter, Milburn Co., Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

PROCLAMATION

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF MARYLAND CREATING A BUDGET SYSTEM.

WHEREAS, at the January Session of the General Assembly of Maryland, held to the year 1918, an Act was passed, to-wit: Chapter 135 of said Act, being an Act to propose an amendment to Section 32 of Article III, title, "Legislative Department," of the Constitution of this State; and which said Act is in words and figures following:

CHAPTER 159.

AN ACT to propose an amendment to Section 32 of Article III, title, "Legislative Department," of the Constitution of this State, regulating the making of appropriations by the General Assembly of Maryland in regular session, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section 32 of Article III, title, "Legislative Department," of the Constitution of this State, to be submitted to the qualified voters of this State at the next general election.

Sec. 2. The General Assembly shall not appropriate any money out of the Treasury except in accordance with the following provisions:

Sub-Section A:

Every appropriation bill shall be either a Budget Bill, or a Supplementary Appropriation Bill, as hereinafter mentioned.

Sub-Section B:

First. Within twenty days after the convening of the General Assembly (except in the case of a newly elected Governor, and then within thirty days after his inauguration), unless such time shall be extended by the General Assembly for the session at which the Budget is to be submitted, the Governor shall submit to the General Assembly two budgets, one for each of the ensuing fiscal years. Each budget shall contain a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues for the particular fiscal year to which it relates, and shall show the estimated surplus or deficit of revenues at the end of such year. Accompanying each budget shall be a statement showing: (1) the revenues and expenditures for each of the two preceding years; (2) the current year's revenues and expenditures; (3) the estimated surplus or deficit of revenues at the end of such year; (4) an estimate of the State's financial condition at the beginning and end of each of the two years covered by the two budgets above provided; (5) any explanation the Governor may desire to make as to the important features of any budget and any suggestion as to methods for the reduction or increase of the State's revenue.

Second. Each budget shall be divided into two parts, and the first part shall be designated "Governmental Appropriations," and shall embrace an itemized estimate of the appropriations: (1) for the General Assembly as certified to the Governor in the manner hereinafter provided; (2) for the Executive Department; (3) for the Judiciary Department, as provided by law, certified to the Governor by the Comptroller; (4) to pay and discharge the principal and interest of the State's debt; (5) for the maintenance and improvement of the State's public schools in conformity with Article VIII of the Constitution and the laws of the State; (6) for such other purposes as are set forth in the Constitution of this State.

Third. The second part shall be designated "General Appropriations," and shall include all other estimates of appropriations.

The Governor shall deliver to the presiding officer of each house the budgets and a bill for all proposed appropriations of the budgets clearly itemized and classified; and the presiding officer of each house shall promptly cause said bill to be introduced therein, and such bill shall be known as the "Budget Bill."

The Governor may, before final action thereon by the General Assembly, amend or supplement either of said budgets to correct an oversight or in case of an emergency, with the consent of the General Assembly by delivering such an amendment or supplement to the presiding officers of both houses, and such amendment or supplement shall thereby become a part of said budget bill as an addition to the items of said bill or as a modification of or a substitute for any item of said bill, and amendment or supplement may affect.

The General Assembly shall not amend the budget bill so as to affect either the obligations of the State under Section 34 of Article III of the Constitution, or the provisions made by the laws of the State for the payment of salaries, or the payment of any salaries required to be paid by the State of Maryland by the Constitution thereof, and the General Assembly may amend the bill by increasing or diminishing the items therein relating to the General Assembly, and by increasing the items therein relating to the judiciary, but except as hereinbefore specified, may not after the said bill except to strike out or reduce items therein, provided, however, that the salary or compensation of any public officer shall not be decreased during his term of office, and such bill when and as passed by both houses shall be a law conclusively without further action by the Governor.

Fourth. The Governor and such representatives of the executive departments, boards, officers and commissions of the State as he may designate, shall have the right, and when requested by either house of the Legislature, it shall be their duty to appear and be heard with respect to any budget bill during the consideration thereof, and to answer inquiries relative thereto.

Sub-Section C. Supplementary Appropriation Bills:

Whenever the Governor shall consider other appropriations until the Budget Bill has been finally acted upon by both houses, and no such other appropriation shall be made except in accordance with the provisions of this Act. Every such appropriation shall be embodied in a separate bill, and shall be known as a Supplementary Appropriation Bill. Such bill shall provide the revenue necessary to pay the appropriation, and shall be a law, direct or indirect, to be passed and entered as shall be directed by the Governor. No Supplementary Appropriation Bill shall be passed after the 1st day of July.

provision Bill shall become a law unless it be passed to each house by a vote of a majority of the whole number of the members elected; and the vote shall be recorded on its final passage; (4) Each Supplementary Appropriation Bill shall be presented to the Governor of the State as provided in Section 37 of Article II of the Constitution and thereafter all the provisions of said Section shall apply.

Nothing in this amendment shall be construed as preventing the Legislature from passing at any time in accordance with the provisions of Section 23 of Article III of the Constitution and subject to the Governor's power of approval as provided in Section 37 of Article II of the Constitution an appropriation bill to provide for the payment of any obligation of the State of Maryland within the provisions of Section 30 of Article I of the Constitution of the United States.

Sub-Section D: General Provisions:

First. If the Budget Bill shall not have been finally acted upon by the Legislature three days before the expiration of its regular session, the Governor may, and it shall be his duty to issue a proclamation extending the session for such further period as may, in his judgment, be necessary for the passage of such Bill; but no other matter than such Bill shall be considered during such extended session except a provision for the cost thereof.

Second. The Governor for the purpose of making up his budgets shall have the power, and it shall be his duty, to require from the proper State Officials, including herein all executive departments, all executive and administrative offices, bureaus, boards, commissions and agencies, or any of them, such information as may be necessary for the preparation of the budgets and appropriations, such itemized estimates and other information, in such form and at such times as he shall direct. The estimates for the Legislative Department, certified by the presiding officer of each house, of the Judiciary, as provided by law, certified by the Comptroller, and for the public schools, as provided by law, shall be transmitted to the Governor in such form and at such times as he shall direct, and shall be included in the budget without revision.

The Governor may provide for public hearings on all estimates and may require the attendance at such hearings of representatives of all agencies and of all institutions applying for State moneys. After such public hearings he may, in his discretion, revise all estimates except those for the legislative and judiciary departments, and for the public schools as provided by law.

Third. The Legislature may, from time to time, enact such laws, not inconsistent with this Section, as may be necessary and proper to carry out its provisions.

Fourth. In the event of any inconsistency between any of the provisions of this Section and any of the other provisions of the Constitution, the provisions of this Section shall prevail. But nothing herein shall in any manner affect the provisions of Section 34 of Article III of the Constitution or of any laws heretofore or hereafter passed in pursuance thereof, or be construed as preventing the Governor from calling extraordinary sessions of the Legislature, as provided by Section 18 of Article II, or as preventing the Legislature from passing any emergency appropriation or appropriations.

Section 2. And be it enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the following amendment to the Constitution shall be submitted to the qualified voters of the State at the next general election, being the Presidential and Congressional election, to be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday of November, nineteen hundred and sixteen, be submitted to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection in conformity with the provisions of Article XIV of the Constitution of this State, and at said election the vote on said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be placed the following synopsis of said amendment under the caption of:

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT PROVIDING FOR A BUDGET.

This amendment provides that the Governor shall present to the Legislature soon after it is convened a Budget Bill, containing a complete plan of proposed expenditures and estimated revenues for the two succeeding fiscal years showing clearly any surplus or deficit in State funds. In these estimates he shall make provision for the interest and sinking fund of all State debts, for all salaries as fixed by law. With regard to most other matters he may revise the estimates presented to him either by State Officers or State-aided institutions. The Legislature may not increase the estimates presented by the Governor or pass any additional appropriation act except by a majority vote and must make provision by law for such increase or additional appropriation. The Legislature may not alter in an appropriation act the provision made by law for the State debt, or for the judiciary, but may reduce all other items in the Governor's estimates; and the words "for the Constitutional Amendment" and "against the Constitutional Amendment" as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against the proposed amendment, and, further, proceedings had in accordance with Article XIV of the Constitution.

Approved March 28, 1916.

Now, therefore, I, Emerson C. Harrington, Governor of the State of Maryland, in pursuance of the direction contained in Section 1 of Article 14 of the Constitution of Maryland, do hereby order and direct a copy of this Proclamation containing a full, true and correct copy of the text of said Chapter 159 of the Acts of Maryland of 1916, be published in at least two newspapers in each of the counties of the State and in three newspapers published in the City of Baltimore, one of which said newspapers in the City of Baltimore to be printed in the German language, once a week for three months next preceding the General Election to be held in this State on November 7th, 1916, and at which election the said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be submitted, in form and manner prescribed by the General Assembly, to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection.

GIVEN UNDER MY HAND AND THE GREAT SEAL OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND.

AN EQUINE HERO.

Story of Old Baldy, One of the Most Famous Horses in History.

The head of one of the most famous horses in history hangs mounted on a shield in the headquarters of George G. Meade post in Philadelphia. It is that of Old Baldy, General Meade's mount in the operations of the armies of the Potomac and Virginia. The horse was raised in the west and was brought east by Colonel M. D. Barker of Oregon, who was killed at Ball's Bluff on Oct. 21, 1861. General Meade bought him in Washington for $150.

The horse was wounded in the nose by a piece of shell at the battle of Bull Run on July 21, 1861, but was not put out of service. He served at Dranesville, Mechanicsville, Gaines Mills and Groveton and was wounded again at the second battle of Bull Run, on Aug. 30, 1862, when he was shot through a hind leg.

Two weeks later he was ridden at the battle of South Mountain, and on Sept. 17 he was shot through the neck at the battle of Antietam and was abandoned, apparently dying. He was afterward found by General Meade's servant browsing on the battlefield. He had recovered sufficiently to serve General Meade in the October and November campaign to Falmouth. In 1863 he was at Chancellorsville during the first three days of May and at Gettysburg on July 1, 2 and 3. He was shot through the ribs on July 2.

He was in three other engagements that year, and in 1864 he was in the Wilderness campaign at Spottsylvania, North Anna Creek, Cold Harbor, Petersburg and several other places where there was hard fighting.

At the end of the war he was taken to General Meade's country place near Philadelphia, where he remained seven years. He was led in the great parade in Philadelphia on Dec. 16, 1879, in honor of General Grant's return from his tour of the world. He was later given to John J. Davis of Jenkintown, who cared for him until it became necessary to kill him because he became too feeble to stand. This was on Dec. 16, 1882. He survived his famous master about ten years.—Philadelphia Ledger.

FOOLING MARK TWAIN.

An Autograph Joke That Was Sprung Upon the Humorist.

George W. Cable had been giving readings from his wonderful Creole stories and had visited Mark Twain in Hartford. While there he had been taken down with the mumps, and it was during his convalescence that the plan for a combined reading tour had been made. This was early in the year; the tour was to begin in the autumn.

Cable, having quite recovered in the meantime, conceived a plan to repay Mark Twain's hospitality. It was to be an April fool—a great complimentary joke. A few days before the first of the month he had a "private and confidential" circular letter printed and mailed it to 150 of Mark Twain's friends and admirers in Boston, New York and elsewhere asking that they send the humorist a letter to arrive April 1 requesting his autograph.

It would seem that each one receiving this letter must have responded to it, for on the morning of April 1 an immense pile of letters was unloaded on Mark Twain's table. He did not know what to make of it, and Mrs. Clemens, who was party to the joke, slyly watched results. They were the most absurd requests for autographs ever written. He was fooled and mystified at first, then, realizing the nature and magnitude of the joke, he entered into it fully—delighted, of course, for it was really a fine compliment.

Some of the letters asked for autographs by the yard, some by the pound. Some commanded him to sit down and copy a few chapters from "The Innocents Abroad." Others asked that his autograph be attached to a check. John Hay requested that he copy a hymn, a few hundred lines of Young's "Night Thoughts," etc., and added:

"I want my boy to form a taste for serious and elevated poetry, and it will add considerable commercial value to have it in your handwriting."

Altogether the reading of the letters gave Mark Twain a delightful day.—Albert Bigelow Paine in St. Nicholas.

SLEEPING NEAR DEATH.

Naps That Might Have Landed Those Who Took Them In Eternity.

A short time ago a man was discovered in his lunch hour fast asleep on a plank. His arms were hanging down, one on each side of the board, which was about a foot wide. He was snoring gloriously and quite carelessly, whether awake or asleep, that if he turned over for greater comfort he would "tumble out of bed" 120 feet, for that plank was part of the scaffolding erected for the repair of a church spire!

A similar disregard for danger was reported lately during the erection of some electrical works. One of the men engaged on the tall chimney, missing his mate at the lunch hour, went up the half finished chimney to find him. He discovered him fast asleep on a narrow ledge of brick inside the shaft, a fall from which meant a drop of eighty feet.

On one occasion a circus arrived in a certain town not a hundred miles from London at an early hour after a long journey and a performance the previous night. As a consequence few of the company got any sleep. That day there was the usual procession and the afternoon performance. The lion tamer had a very rough time because of the illness of one of his beasts.

The evening performance arrived, and this man had to pretend to go to sleep with his head on the body of a couchant lion, finishing up the performance by springing up and putting his head in another lion's mouth.

But when the jumping up time came a gentle snore was heard. The man was fast asleep with his head pillowed on a lion—London Globe.

Military Rifles Remodeled.

Nations with large armies were often loath to discard their old weapons and frequently altered existing models to bring them up to date. Thus we note that England converted her old muzzle loading Enfields in 1864 and 1866 to use the Snider action with a metallic cartridge case. In 1866 Austria adopted the Mannlicher .433 caliber with a straight pull bolt action and a box magazine, loading from a steel clip. Two years later the caliber was reduced to .315, using black powder. The sights of these rifles were regauged in 1890 on the adoption of smokeless powder.—Outing.

Eagle and Snake.

The eagle will dive upon a snake whenever it gets the chance. The eagle usually swoops upon its prey, seizes it by the tail, bears it aloft and lets it fall. It never attacks it when coiled, but first drives it to flight by screams and the beating of its wings. The snake is either killed or stunned by the fall, whereupon the eagle carefully cuts off the head and devours the body, which is usually very fat.

Under Obligation.

"That man Jones backed me into a corner last night and kept me there two hours telling me the bright things his two-year-old boy has said."

"Gosh! You must owe Jones an awful lot of money if you'll stand for that!"—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Contrary to Precedent.

"The speaker seems to be an unusually modest man."

"What makes you think so?"

"He makes all his promises in the first person plural and all his excuses in the first person singular."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

A Specialist.

"Mary, have you cemented the handle on the water pitcher you dropped yesterday?"

"Well, mum, I started to, but I dropped the cement bottle."—Puck.

INCREASING THE WHEAT YIELDS

CONTROL OF SMUT, MISSION FLY AND PROPER FEEDING PRACTICAL AND PROFITABLE.

Farm practice on thousands of American and European farms, together with the results obtained by more than 50 years' testing by foreign experiment stations combined with more than 30 years' work by American experiment stations have demonstrated that the yields and net profits from the United States' wheat crop can be increased many times. The utilization of smut from wheat in the United States would save American farmers from ten to fifteen million dollars annually.

The control of the Hessian fly would save many times that amount. The use of a sufficient amount of a balanced plant food ration has added from 10 to 15 bushels per acre to the average annual yield of a single community. Sixteen Pennsylvania farmers by the use of 500 pounds of fertilizer per acre, raised an average of 30 bushels of wheat per acre. Last summer 36 farmers in one section of Virginia averaged 33.1 bushels per acre.

J. MILTON CLOGG Pocomoke City, Maryland An Ordinance

Providing for the regulation of outside toilets or privies in the town of Princess Anne, and for the abolition of hog pens in said town and the prohibition of selling and disposing of hogs in a certain section of said town.

Section 1—Be it ordained and enacted by the President and Commissioners of Princess Anne that it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, owning property within the corporate limits of the town of Princess Anne, to have or maintain any outside toilet or privy located on such property or premises unless the said outside toilet or privy be equipped with water-tight construction effectively preventing the refuse therein from coming in contact with the soil and be rendered inaccessible to flies in the manner required by the State Health Department.

Section 2—And be it further ordained and enacted by the said President and Commissioners of Princess Anne that on and after the first day of January, 1916, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to keep or maintain any hog pen or to keep or to keep or confine any hogs or pigs within the corporate limits of the town of Princess Anne.

Section 3—And whereas a number of grocery stores and provision stores are located in that section of said town of Princess Anne, bounded on the north by Prince William Street, on the east by Main Street, on the south by the Bank of Commerce lot and on the west by Church Street, from which said stores most of the residents of said town obtain their food and provisions, and whereas the maintenance of outside toilets or privies in proximity to said stores is deemed a menace to the public health.

Therefore, be it ordained and enacted by the said President and Commissioners of Princess Anne that on and after the first day of January, 1916, it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to have, keep or maintain any outside toilet or privy within the limits of the town of Princess Anne, who shall within ten days after being served with written notice from the said President and Commissioners or the health officer of Princess Anne, fail to remove the same and put it in conformity with the requirements of this ordinance, shall upon conviction thereof before a Justice of the Peace of the State of Maryland and for Somerset County, be fined the sum of ten dollars for each subsequent offense and twenty-five dollars for each subsequent offense and be liable to the costs of the county until fine and costs are paid.

Section 4—And be it further ordained and enacted by the said President and Commissioners of Princess Anne that this ordinance shall take effect from the date of its passage.

Ordained and enacted by the President and Commissioners of Princess Anne this 25th day of August, 1915.

Sold Some Goods

Recently a merchant of Queen Anne's county happened to see a farmer receive a box at the depot and noticed that it was from a mail order house. He also noticed that the goods were right in his line and the same as he carried for years. He immediately approached the farmer and said, "I could have sold you the goods you have here for less money than the Chicago house and saved you freight." Then why don't you do so said the farmer. I have taken the local papers for a year and have not seen a line about you selling these goods or any other goods. This mail order house sends advertising matter to me asking for my trade and they get it. If you have any bargains why don't you put them in the paper so we can see what they are.—Ex.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Conservation Commission of Maryland
The Conservation Commission of Maryland received last Tuesday from the Governor of Virginia the signed and sealed agreement which was the result of the recent conference between Governor Harrison and Governor Stuart of Virginia, as to conservation rules for the taking of oysters in Virginia.

This question has been giving the oyster officials of both states a great deal of trouble for years. The agreement received last Tuesday will remove many causes of complaint.

In fact the agreement is so strict that it will be strictly enforced, all oysters to be marketed in standard form.

Oyster police and inspectors of both states will be required to collect and issue permits.

Permits will be required to be used on the coast of the Potomac.

Extension of the Village Mail Service

A material extension of the village letter carrier service at Princess Anne, was instituted by the Postoffice Department yesterday, whereby residents living within the corporate limits of the town, north of the Manokin river, will have mail delivered at their doors twice each day.

In the morning this delivery will be made by the regular village letter carrier and in the afternoon by one of the rural letter carriers who will deliver the mail in this section immediately after having the office at 12:30 p. m.

It is hoped the village letter carrier service extended to include their real estate, but heretofore it has been impossible to effect the change. Quite recently, however, all parcels of this service have been required to travel later than at their doors, doing away with the delay in delivery while waiting for patrons to respond to the carrier's call.

The postmaster immediately recommended to the Fourth Assistant Postmaster General that the time thus saved be utilized in extending the service and an order was issued to this effect.

Another decided improvement in the mail service at Princess Anne has recently been inaugurated. Mail boxes for collection purposes have been erected in different sections of the town and collections are made from each of these boxes three times each day except Sunday when one collection is made. These collections are made immediately prior to the hour of closing of every important mail and afford to the entire community a convenient and expeditious method of dispatching their letters.

This service is enjoyed by few, if any, towns of the size of Princess Anne and is the equivalent of the service furnished in large towns and cities.

Wicomico County Courts

The September term of the Circuit Court for Wicomico county convened Monday morning of last week, with Judge H. L. D. Stanford on the bench.

Judge Stanford in his charge to the jury laid special stress on the alleged numerous violations of the liquor laws in Salisbury, and urged a most searching investigation by the jury.

Judge Stanford also referred to the homicide case to be tried at this term, where one colored man shot another at a colored picnic over the price of a quart of whiskey, the wound resulting fatally in a few days.

There are four removed cases to be tried at this term—2 from Worcester county, 1 from Dorchester and 1 from Somerset.

E. P. R. Man in Get Back Pay

Salary increases for rural mail carriers, provided for in the last Postoffice bill, will be applied to the fiscal year of 1916.

Postmaster General Burleson secured authorization from the Comptroller of the Treasury last Tuesday for use of the unexpended balance of the 1915 appropriation to back pay to carriers to make up the difference between the new scale and the one then effective.

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Patterson, of Hagerstown, are spending some months with their son, Mr. E. P. Patterson, at his home, "The Oakton," near Wicomico.

GRADING DIAMONDS

A diamond of the first water should be perfectly colorless and transparent, without any inclusions or flaws. It is the second water if it is colorless with small but perceptible inclusions or if it is without flaws but with some traces of color, and third water if it is colorless but with larger flaws or if it is distinctly colored. The correct valuation is therefore very difficult and often subject to the jeweler's judgment. For this reason Professor Medard gives to the student the following hints:

The roughness in stones of the first water is perfect lack of color or, what is more highly prized, a trace of blue. In general, beautifully colored diamonds command fabulous prices and are to be found only in the treasure vaults of princes.

Stones of the second water are numerous. They are supposed to be more perceptibly pure, but almost always show some inclusions. There are often traces of yellow color in this grade, and because this can be seen best in sunlight one should never buy diamonds at night, for the prevailing light seems to make them even more noticeably yellowish in appearance.

Most of the stones of the ordinary market are of the third quality, and the dealers try to cover up their faults by continuing them into groups for better stones or for the popular pendant, diamond brooch, necklace rings, etc. While they may be colorless, they are often so full of flaws that they would be ranked as "first" or diamonds good only for mechanical purposes, if there had not been such a demand for the same as to increase the price.

Are You Looking For It?
Old one comes quick enough without looking. Some look old at forty. That is because they neglect the liver and bowels. Keep your bowels regular and your liver healthy and you will not only feel younger but look younger. When crowded with constipation, bilelessness, take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are intended especially for these ailments and are excellent. Easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Obtainable everywhere.

THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY

Entrance Examinations for the Department of Engineering, as well as for the College of Arts and Sciences, will be held in the Academic Building of the Johns Hopkins University Homewood, Baltimore, September 18-21, 1916, beginning at 9 a. m. each day.

Application for Scholarships in the Department of Engineering, established in the Johns Hopkins University under the provisions of the Laws of Maryland, Chapter 10, 1916, may now be made. If there is more than one applicant for a particular scholarship, a competitive examination must be taken in the Academic Building, Homewood, on September 22, 1916, beginning at 9 a. m.

Each County of the State and each Legislative District of Baltimore City, with the exception of Charles, Harford and Queen Anne's Counties, will be entitled to one or more scholarships for the year 1916-17, in addition to those which have already been assigned. In the three counties mentioned above all the available scholarships have been awarded.

Under the provisions of the Act of Assembly, the County and City scholarships in the Department of Engineering are awarded only to deserving students whose financial circumstances are such that they are unable to obtain an education in Engineering unless free tuition be granted to them. The scholarships entitle the holders to free tuition, free use of text books, and exemption from all regular fees. The EXPENSE OF ATTENDANCE FOR THOSE WHO DO NOT RECEIVE SCHOLARSHIPS IS NO GREATER THAN AT OTHER MARYLAND INSTITUTIONS.

Scholarships may be awarded to graduates of any of the following colleges: Agricultural College, Mt. St. Mary's College, Rock Hill College, St. John's College, Washington College and Western Maryland College; and one scholarship will be awarded "At Large."

Applicants should address the Registrar, The Johns Hopkins University, for blank forms of application and for further information as to examinations, award of scholarships, and courses of instruction.

THE JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY

Entrance Examinations for the Department of Engineering, as well as for the College of Arts and Sciences, will be held in the Academic Building of the Johns Hopkins University Homewood, Baltimore, September 18-21, 1916, beginning at 9 a. m. each day.

Application for Scholarships in the Department of Engineering, established in the Johns Hopkins University under the provisions of the Laws of Maryland, Chapter 10, 1916, may now be made. If there is more than one applicant for a particular scholarship, a competitive examination must be taken in the Academic Building, Homewood, on September 22, 1916, beginning at 9 a. m.

Each County of the State and each Legislative District of Baltimore City, with the exception of Charles, Harford and Queen Anne's Counties, will be entitled to one or more scholarships for the year 1916-17, in addition to those which have already been assigned. In the three counties mentioned above all the available scholarships have been awarded.

Under the provisions of the Act of Assembly, the County and City scholarships in the Department of Engineering are awarded only to deserving students whose financial circumstances are such that they are unable to obtain an education in Engineering unless free tuition be granted to them. The scholarships entitle the holders to free tuition, free use of text books, and exemption from all regular fees. The EXPENSE OF ATTENDANCE FOR THOSE WHO DO NOT RECEIVE SCHOLARSHIPS IS NO GREATER THAN AT OTHER MARYLAND INSTITUTIONS.

Scholarships may be awarded to graduates of any of the following colleges: Agricultural College, Mt. St. Mary's College, Rock Hill College, St. John's College, Washington College and Western Maryland College; and one scholarship will be awarded "At Large."

Applicants should address the Registrar, The Johns Hopkins University, for blank forms of application and for further information as to examinations, award of scholarships, and courses of instruction.

HUGHES DODGES ISSUE ON EIGHT HOUR LAW

Attacks Wilson's Plan, but Won't Say What He Would Have Done.

ONLY WAY TO AVERT STRIKE.

Republican Nominee is Asked to Declare if He Would Have Voted the Bill With the Certain Assurance of Industrial Disaster to the Country.

So busy has been Charles E. Hughes attacking the deeds of the Wilson administration that he has had little time to tell or has purposely evaded telling the public what he would have done had he been president under similar circumstances.

Lately Mr. Hughes has turned his attacks upon President Wilson's successful settlement of the crisis in the railroad world by causing to be passed by congress the Adamson eight hour bill. Mr. Hughes has characterized this action as a "surrender to force," as "opposed to being dictated to by any power on earth before the facts are known," and he would not act until he had had a "fair investigation and candid treatment."

Taking issue with the Republican candidate's attitude, the New York Times in an editorial asks: "What would Mr. Hughes have done?" "Well, what would Mr. Hughes have taken?" continues the Times. "What would he have done? Here was Mr. Wilson's position: The brotherhood refused arbitration; the railroad presidents would not accept the settlement Mr. Wilson proposed, granting the eight hour standard day, with provision for an impartial inquiry into its working. There was no law on the statute books to enforce arbitration.

"The president knew, knew with certainty and beyond question, that he could not get such a law from the congress now in session. The sure and inevitable alternative to his acceptance of the eight hour standard day measure was a strike, the suspension of railway service, freight and passenger, all over the country, beginning on the morning of Sept. 4.

Would Hughes Have Done It?

"Mr. Hughes would not surrender to anybody in the country. Then he would have surrendered the country to the disturbance, immeasurable loss and peril of a strike. Would he, in fact, have done that? Had he been president, confronted by that situation, would Mr. Hughes have brought on a strike by refusing to sign the bill granting a wage increase?"

"The Republican candidate stands for two things—first, for the principle of fair, impartial, thorough, candid arbitration, and second, for legislation on facts according to the necessities of the case." Mr. Wilson stands for these two things and, much more, has pledged himself to use all his influence to secure them.

"What more could Mr. Hughes do? Would it be too much to ask the Republican candidate to put a little common fairness into his speeches? Is he afraid to tell his audiences what the president actually did urge upon congress?"

"As a true champion of arbitration President Wilson recommended that arbitration judgments be made records of a court of law in order that their interpretation and enforcement may not be with the parties to the dispute, but with an impartial and authoritative tribunal." It was his purpose to provide against future emergencies to what he nearly succeeded in doing in the White House conferences would put such a face upon the matter that prevent the recurrence of such dangers as then confronted him and the country.

"The people of the United States are not going to be put off with the misinformation as to what the president did to avert a strike and to prevent the threat of future strikes. We have reason to believe that the full revelation of what he did, what he tried to do and Republican efforts to make an issue of it would tell entirely flat.

Advice to Railroaders.

"But the people do know, for it was before them in the president's address to congress, that he proposed, not an emergency act, but a broad program of legislation to meet a public need and permanently remove a public danger. It was a program which we are convinced the railroaders would be very wise to accept in its entirety.

"Certainly it seems to us that they are ill advised to pray for the election of Mr. Hughes, who, if we take him at his word, would have brought on the strike, with all its irreparable injuries to the country's business and peril for the country's peace."

Shell Coated Trees.

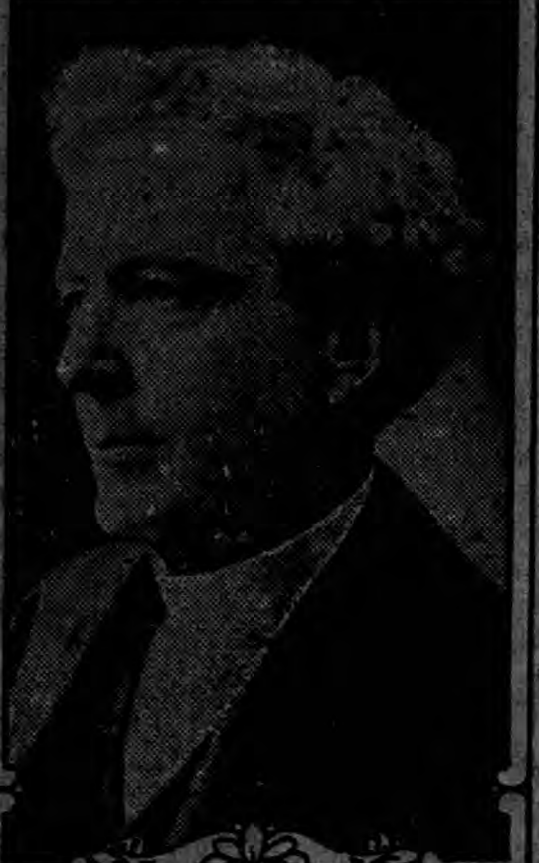

Whole forests may be seen coated with shelly substances on the coast of New Holland. These incrustations are supposed to arise from decompositions of shellfish, which, transported by the winds, are deposited in the form of dust in trees and plants.

Paul the Dogger Point. "There is a dogger point getting along with the other dogger point." "There is a dogger point getting along with the other dogger point." "There is a dogger point getting along with the other dogger point."

BURBANK OUT FOR WILSON, "THE GREATEST STATESMAN"

Announcing his support of President Wilson, Luther Burbank, the horticulturist wizard of California, said: "I believe him to be the greatest statesman we have ever had."

Mr. Burbank, the Edison of scientific horticulture, declared that without reserve he endorsed the position announced a week earlier by Thomas A. Edison. Both Burbank and Edison have been lifelong Republicans. Edison put it this way:

by Underwood & Underwood. LUTHER BURBANK.

"Times are too serious to talk in terms of Republicanism or Democracy. When it's America that is at stake men have got to vote as Americans. A fool or a coward would have had the United States in all sorts of trouble. As it is, we are at peace, the country was never more prosperous, and we have the strength that comes with honor and integrity of purpose."

Greatest Benefit to Farmers.

"When congress passed the rural credit bill a few weeks ago it placed upon the statute books a measure of greater direct benefit to the farmers of the United States than any legislation enacted since the creation of the department of agriculture, now nearly a generation ago.—The National Monthly.

Success is sweet, the sweeter if long delayed and obtained through manifold struggles and defeats.—A. Bronson Alcott

A Taste For Soap.

Surely one of the queerest of tastes was that of the historian Prescott, of whose life in Rome Mrs. Hugh Fraser tells in "A Diplomatist's Wife in Many Lands." She says that he used to keep a cake of soap on his writing table and nibble at it constantly, "saying, when he was remonstrated with, that people should be clean inside as well as out."

Ambitious. "Are you men ambitious?" "Oh, very. Every man around the place is willing to do anybody's work but his own." — Louisville Courier-Journal.

Are You Looking Old?

Old age comes quick enough without inviting it. Some look old at forty. That is because they neglect the liver and bowels. Keep your bowels regular and your liver healthy and you will not only feel younger but look younger. When troubled with constipation or biliousness take Chamberlain's Tablets. They are intended especially for these ailments and are excellent. Easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Obtainable everywhere.

BURNED LIME vs. LIME CARBONATE

The greatest authority on lime in the United States, Dr. Cyril G. Hopkins, of the University of Illinois, under date of December 1, 1916, says:

"No trustworthy investigations support the use of burned lime in preference to natural lime carbonate, such as ground pulverized shells, limestone or marl. On many soils a moderate use of burned lime, in connection with the liberal use of farm manures, yields profitable returns, which, no doubt, would be still more profitable if the burned lime were replaced with carbonate in equivalent amount and of proper fineness."

DEMOCRATIC PROMISES TO FARMERS FULFILLED

Benefits Under Wilson Set Forth in Official Pamphlet

The Democratic platform of 1912 made this promise to the farmers of America:

"Of equal importance with the question of currency reform is the question of rural credits or agricultural finance. Therefore we recommend that an investigation of agricultural credit societies in foreign countries be made, so that it may be ascertained whether a system of rural credits may be devised suitable to conditions in the United States, and we also favor legislation permitting national banks to loan a reasonable proportion of their funds on real estate security."

"We recognize the value of vocational education and urge federal appropriations for such training and extension teaching in agriculture in co-operation with the several states."

These pledges, with many other services to the farmer, have been completely fulfilled in the legislation of the present administration. The record of Democratic Performance is offered in comparison with the Republican record of broken promises to the farmer in an attractive pamphlet issued by the Democratic national committee. Copies have been furnished to every Democratic state committee for free distribution.

In Hot Water. Two citizens were fiddling up the street one day recently, earnestly engaged in exchanging their experiences with dyspepsia.

"And did you ever try the hot water cure?" asked the thin one.

"Did I?" repeated the melancholy one, who had also something of the saving grace of humor in his makeup, as many melancholy men have. "I should say I did. Why, man, I've been married fifteen years."

All For the Best. "Why do the roses fade so slowly away?" she inquired poetically. "Well," replied the baldheaded young man, "when you think it over it's all for the best. It's more comfortable to have them fade slowly away than to go off all of a sudden, like a torpedo."

A Method of Division. L., who was full of pranks, was taken ill. "We must be careful," said his doctor. "I will send you a nurse of not less than fifty years of age." "Rather," replied L., "send me two each twenty-five years old."—Gaieties de la Medecine.

MUSIC'S UNIQUE QUALITY.

Wherein it Differs From Sculpture, Poetry and Painting. Music finds its perfection in itself without relation to other objects. It is what it is in itself alone. It is non-definitive; it does not use symbols of something else; it cannot be translated into other terms.

The poet seeks always a complete union of the thing said and the method of saying it. Flaubert seeks patiently and persistently for the one word which shall not only be the exact symbol of his thought, but which shall fit his euphony.

The painter so draws his objects, so distributes his colors and so arranges his composition as to make of them plastic mediums for the expression of his thought, and the greatness of his picture depends first of all and inevitably on his power of fusing his subjects with his technique.

In sculpture precisely the same process takes place. Neither of these arts actually copies nature. Each "arranges" it for its own purpose.

In music this much sought union of matter and manner is complete. The thing said and the method of saying it are one and indivisible. It is, as Pater says, "the ideal of all art whatever, precisely because in music it is impossible to distinguish the form from the substance or matter, the subject from the expression."—Atlantic.

Boorish and Urbane.

When we speak of a person as "boorish" we mean that he is rude, ill bred and uncouth. We seldom stop to think that the word originally meant nothing more than "rustic." Boor is the same word as the German "bauer" and the Dutch "boer," signifying "a farmer." The manners of the peasantry are alluded to in an uncompromising way by the history of this and many other words in the language. "Heathen" and "pagan" meant simply "country bred" and "village bred" once upon a time. Culture and the higher civilized virtues were thought of as originating in towns and making their way slowly, if at all, to the rural districts. So we have as an antonym to "boorish" the word "urbane"—which originally meant "city-bred."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

A Vicious Dwarf.

Bebe was the favorite dwarf of the former King Stanislas of Poland. Born in 1741 in Lorraine, at the age of five he was twenty-two inches high and at his death in 1764 thirty-three inches. He was neither physically nor mentally active. Once Count Borowski visited him, and he became so jealous of the former's superior manners and intellectual qualities that he attempted to throw his visitor into the fire, but was prevented by the household.

A Disappointing Trip.

"I have just been invited to take a four day automobile tour with Mr. and Mrs. Whitby."

"Yes."

"How did you enjoy it?"

"Oh, I didn't care much for it. Mrs. Whitby was so enthusiastic over the scenery and things that she never told me a thing about any of our friends that I hadn't heard before."—Albany Knickerbocker Press.

"WATCHFUL WAITING" HAS SAVED A NATION'S LIFE

Mexican Envoy's Tribute to President Wilson's Policy.

Convincing testimony to the wisdom and justice of President Wilson's Mexican policy is given by Luis Cabrera, one of Mexico's commissioners at the joint Mexican-American conference in session at New London, Conn.

"I do not care to discuss political or international questions of any kind," said Senor Cabrera in a recent interview, "but I will say that in official circles of Mexico President Wilson is looked upon as one of the greatest men the United States ever has had as a leader. He is calm and considerate, and his much abused 'watchful waiting' policy has probably saved the life of my nation and prevented your country from entering into a needless struggle."

DAIRY and CREAMERY

USE PURE BRED BULLS.

Mixing of Blood Sure to Result Disastrously in the Long Run.

Every now and then a man who has spent a good deal of money breeding up his dairy cattle gets the idea that he wants to cross the breed he has with some other that has taken his fancy, writes a correspondent of the Iowa Homestead. In nine cases out of ten the result is disastrous, but the fact that on the tenth time the progeny may have the desirable characteristics of both breeds will always lead some men to attempt it.

The trouble about this is that it defeats the very object for which men have been working for centuries. Certain types have been developed and kept as pure as possible so they might regularly transmit their desirable points to their progeny. I have seen cross breeding tried a number of times, and I know no man can tell what sort of an animal he is going to get from a certain cross. The mixing of the blood breaks the chain of inheritance, and one may get a "throwback" that will remind him of what the first wild calf must have looked like. When one makes the cross he breaks the long chain of inherited traits that may reach back for half a thousand years.

While many Holstein cows do not give such high butter fat tests as some of the other breeds, yet their strength and vitality are strong points in their favor. Holstein calves are very vigorous and grow rapidly. That is not true of some of the breeds that test higher in butter fat. As an all around cow the Holstein is hard to beat. The cow shown is a Holstein.

If those who get good bulls and start to raise better calves would keep at it there would be a big change in the average dairy animal. I have known men to get first class sires, keep them a year or two, let them get spayed and breached and then sell them for much less than they paid for them. Then they would go back to the mongrels of the neighborhood, and all the good results obtained from the use of the good bull would be lost. This happens again and again. Some men never seem to learn wisdom, being content to make a temporary change for the better and then slip back in the old ways.

To keep going right the pure bred bull is an absolute necessity. Having got together a few good cows of any one of the noted dairy breeds, under no conditions or circumstances breed them to a sire of another breed. If the cows are Holstein, breed them to a Holstein bull. In the long run this will be far more satisfactory than mixing the blood.

GREEN FEED FOR COWS.

Alfalfa a Good Forage to Tide Dairy Cattle Over the Dry Spell.

During the hot, dry weather dairy cows will shrink in milk flow unless provision has been made to give them some sort of green forage. Just as soon as there is any corn mature enough for feed, cutting some for the cows will help to keep up the milk.

There is nothing better than alfalfa as a green forage during the hot weather. Cows will eat new alfalfa hay even when on the best of pasture. In fact, during the hot weather they would much prefer eating alfalfa at a rack to going out in the pasture and grazing.

There is no better or easier way of keeping up the milk flow during the hot part of the year than by keeping a rack of fresh alfalfa hay where the cows can get at it at all times. It takes feed to make milk, and in hot weather cows lose their appetites and do not graze as well, even though there may be plenty of grass.

It is not only a matter of the present. Cows that have once run down in milk seldom come back later, even though the conditions may become much more favorable. It is far better and more profitable in the long run to make some special effort to keep up the milk flow during these trying periods.

Oats For Silage.

Oats will make a fair to good grade of silage, but are not quite as valuable or desirable as some of the other grains. They should be cut when the grain is in the milk or early dough stage and before the stems have become hollow. When run through the cutter they should be cut into one-half inch and preferably one-fourth inch lengths so as to permit more solid packing in the silo. If properly ensiled oats should prove a good substitute for green feed until corn is ripe or even later.

Improving the Dairy Herd.

With a good registered sire and high grade heifers of the same breed a man can reasonably expect to improve his herd, but with a grade sire such improvement is impossible, because there is no source from which better qualities may be brought in.

DAIRY WISDOM.

- Look out for the cold fall rains.
- Put the cows up. This applies to calves as well.
- Deal gently with the cow of nervous temperament. She usually is one of the best in your herd.
- Gentleness and patience with the heifer that has calved for the first time will win out every time.
- Nobody likes to walk about in mud and filth while caring for cattle. With a little work and a small expense the cow lot can be made a better place to go into.
- Let the sun in through large windows in the stable.

BALANCED RATION FOR THE DAIRY COW

[Prepared by United States department of agriculture.]

Every cow has individual peculiarities in the assimilation of her food and the production of milk from it. The skillful feeder who will keep dairy records of each cow's production and of the amount of feed given her will soon find that some of the cows are responding to an increased ration and returning a good profit on it, while others are limited in milk production and cannot profitably be stimulated by feeding to yield a greater milk flow.

The following general rules are given in a new farmers' bulletin of the United States department of agriculture, No. 743, "The Feeding of Dairy Cows," as a guide for winter feeding by the inexperienced feeder:

First.—Under most circumstances the cow should be fed all the roughage that she will eat up clean, adjusting the grain ration to the milk production. Only when the cow tends to become overfat should the quantity of roughage be restricted.

Second.—A grain mixture should be fed in the proportion of one pound to each three pints or pounds of milk produced daily by the cow, except in the case of a cow producing a flow of forty pounds or more, when the ration can be one pound to each three and one-half or four pounds of milk. An even better rule is one pound of grain each day for every pound of butter fat produced by the cow during the week.

Third.—Feed all the cow will respond to in milk production. When she begins to put on flesh cut down the grain.

For the most profitable milk production the cow must be fed a balanced ration at the cheapest price such ration can be provided. By balanced ration is meant the combination of such a proportion of nutrients and in such quantities as the cow requires to maintain her bodily functions and as she can utilize in the production of milk. These nutrients are classified as protein, carbohydrates and fats. Protein is one of the principal constituents of milk. Fats and carbohydrates perform much the same functions—that is, they produce energy and heat—and in the balancing of a ration are usually classed together. If the cow is given a ration containing an excess of either element the excess is liable to be wasted; hence the economical importance of a balanced ration.

Corn silage, corn stover, timothy hay, millet hay, prairie hay, hays from the common grasses, straws of the various cereals and cottonseed hulls may all be classed as low in protein content, while legume hays, such as alfalfa, the clovers, cowpeas, soy beans and oat and pea, are classed as roughage high in protein. Grain and concentrated feeds are the chief sources of protein, and the mixture should be made to fit the class in which the roughage belongs.

Warts on Cows' Teats.

A wart is the result of an abnormal development of the cells of the skin brought about by a variation in nutrition. These growths when having a stem can best be removed by cording with a strong thread. If small they may be nipped off with scissors and the wound touched with lunar caustic or a hot iron. If large and without a stem apply strong nitric acid, repeating as often as the dead portion falls off.

N. B. C. GRAHAM CRACKERS

You don't have to coax the children to eat plenty of N. B. C. Graham Crackers. These are not only rich in the nourishment that builds bone and muscle, but their tempting taste makes the little appetites hungry for more.

N. B. C. Graham Crackers added an individuality and nut-like flavor that other graham crackers lacked. This makes them an almost universally popular article of everyday diet.

It costs a good many dollars to find out what the doctors don't know about infantile paralysis.

After showing its warm sympathy for strikes, the public expresses its indignation at the advances in the cost of living that the strikes produce.

When beef grows higher, the popular thing to do is to petition Congress or start law suits, but no one thinks of trying to have more cattle raised.

About now the back yard looks pretty disorderly with the refuse of summer, but the fact that it was well cleaned up last spring gives the householder much satisfaction.

It is predicted that one result of the fighting in Europe will be greater efforts to preserve human life, so that people will be all ready to get killed in the next war.

That menacing apparition in the school house door is not the Queen of the Amazons in all her war paint, but merely an irate parent come to complain because Johnny was kept 15 minutes after school.

CONCILIATING LABOR

Such bitterness as is revealed in the New York traction strike is very ominous. Even if Congress passes legislation controlling strikes on public utilities, that leaves untouched the greater question of class hostility.

The laboring man imagines that the capitalist is living a life of soft luxury. On the contrary, the capitalist often has to be awake and worrying about the production and responsibility of a great business.

Meanwhile the capitalist imagines that the laboring man is living a life of slothful comfort. He does not realize what a struggle it is to maintain decent and wholesome conditions for a family under the present cost of living.

There will be bitterness and costly uprisings as long as each side shows failure of comprehension. The capitalist should manifest personal interest in his men. He will find it pays, in self respect, enjoyment of life and in dollars and cents. Let him visit his workpeople in their homes, and see how they live. Let him provide healthful working conditions. If he has a prosperous year, let his employees share by some form of a bonus.

On the other hand, there are too many employees who think capital can be expected to work for the pay of a day laborer. Let them reflect that socialism is a scheme for increasing the cost of living. Substitution of government bureaus and politicians for personal energy and initiative would reduce production by one-half. Private ownership of industrial plants promote energy, enterprise, and development of resources. It is a paying proposition for everybody to allow a capable organizer to make a handsome profit, since it cheapens the necessities of life. The capitalist should remember, however, the famous old proverb that "Enough is as good as a feast."

UNRELIABLE ADVERTISEMENTS

There has been a great change of sentiment in regard to the reliability of advertising. The writer can remember how, as a boy, he used to hear people denounce statements made by advertisers. There was a widespread feeling that you couldn't believe the things you saw in print.

It is now realized that a merchant would better not advertise at all rather than put lying or even exaggerated statements into black and white. The people flock to his store, and if they find they are given shams, they feel they are "double crossed" and they take it to heart.

Advertising solicitors used to be met with the excuse from some merchants that they would not advertise because the public would not accept their statements. That excuse is rarely given now.

Advertising produces a strong feeling in the public mind of business good or bad. It is the part of wisdom for every merchant to see that it is justifying the certain claims of advertising, and that the public quality schemes, mediocrities, etc., there is still a good deal of advertisement that hurts the business and the public alike.

ing feeling in the minds of some that publicly made statements can't be depended on.

But no matter how many fakes are still printed by the newspapers, the reputable home paper rarely gets caught but metropolitan papers are careless in this matter, any individual merchant can build up public confidence in the accuracy of his statements. Let him take pains to display prominently every article he has advertised. After people have visited the store a few times, and have regularly found the goods as announced, the reputation for fulfilling promises is created and is easily maintained.

Prize Hen Dead

Lady Eglantine, the wonder of the poultry world and the pride of the Eglantine Farms, near Greensboro, Md., is dead. Lady Eglantine for many years had been the most famous hen in the world. Her supremacy goes back to the time when she laid 315 eggs during her pullet year. She easily won every prize for which she has competed in poultry shows. At one of the shows a room was reserved for her at the Imperial Hotel. This hen, which was of the Singlecomb White Leghorn breed, left only nine cockerels and three pullets as her descendants at the Eglantine Farms. Her owners sold only 17 of her eggs and these brought the record price of $10 each. They are now trying to locate the persons to whom these eggs were sold, in an effort to determine whether Lady Eglantine left any descendants other than those now at the farms.

TRUSTEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue of a decree of the Circuit Court for Somerset County, in Equity, passed in cause in which Charles A. Miller and others are defendants, the undersigned trustee thereof, will sell at public auction at the Court House door, in Princess Anne, Maryland, on beginning at about the hour of 12 o'clock P. M., the following described tract of land in Somerset County, Maryland, of which the late Charles A. Miller died seized, to-wit:

Tuesday, October 3, 1916

No. 1—All that farm in Westover District on the east side of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad, and on the north side of the estate road leading from Princess Anne, to the village of Westover to Crisfield, near said village, containing more or less, adjoining the land of Lewis Layfield, and whereon Theodore F. Pomeroy now resides, being all that part of the first parcel of land mentioned in a deed to said Miller from Columbus Adams and wife, dated the 7th day of July, 1893, recorded in Liber O. T. B. No. 37, folio 303, etc., which lies on the north side of said estate road, and including a small strip of land which was conveyed to said Miller by Michael Brown and wife, improved by a dwelling house, barn and other outbuildings, and also by a canning house, with machinery and equipment and warehouses.

This farm will be first offered in two parcels, one containing 4.5 of an acre with dwelling house, and the other containing the balance of the farm with dwelling house, barn and outbuildings, and will then be offered as a whole, the trustee reserving the right to accept the most advantageous bid or bids or to reject all bids. A plat of the canning house property can be seen at the office of the trustee.

No. 2—All that farm on the north side of the county road leading from Westover to Green Hill, and on the northwest side of the county road leading from Green Hill to Arden Crossing, known as the "Allen Farm," adjoining the land of James M. Loner, and containing more or less, and being all the land which was conveyed to said Miller by William S. McMaster, assigned by deed dated the 26th day of March, 1900, recorded in Liber O. T. B. No. 30, folio 43, etc., except so much thereof as was conveyed by said Miller to Lewis Layfield.

No. 3—All that tract of land in Dublin District, on the southeast side of the county road leading from Green Hill to Arden Crossing, and opposite No. 2, which was conveyed to said Miller by Lewis J. Waters and Henry J. Waters, trustees, by deed dated the 8th day of July, 1896, recorded in Liber O. T. B. No. 35, folio 487, etc., containing more or less, improved by a Large Store House and large barn.

No. 4—All that lot of land in Fairmount District, containing more or less, including "Henderson's Island," which was conveyed to said Miller by H. Fillmore Lankford, trustee, by deed dated the 26th day of March, 1900, recorded in Liber O. T. B. No. 30, folio 43, etc., improved by an Orchard House, where the late Benjamin F. Lankford carried on the oyster business.

4 1-2 ACRES

Possession of No. 4 will be given on compliance with the terms of sale, and possession of the other properties will be given on the 1st day of January, 1917.

TERMS OF SALE:—One-third cash on the day of sale, and the balance in two equal installments of six and twelve months from the day of sale, to be secured by the Bonds of the purchaser or purchasers with security satisfactory to the trustee, bearing interest from the day of sale, all cash and the option of the purchaser or purchasers. Title papers at the expense of the purchaser or purchasers.

H. FILLMORE LANKFORD, Trustee.

CHINESE DOCTORS.

Their Weird Ideas About Disease and Its Remedies.

PUNCH HOLES IN PATIENTS.

To Perform This Operation They Use Eight Different Styles of Needles, Some Two Feet Long, and the Bigger the Punch the Greater the Doctor.

The bigger the needle with which a Chinese doctor punctures his patient the higher the charge, for the bigger the needle the more distinguished is the physician. If the doctor wears a straw hat, that signifies he is a prosperous doctor and his charge is a little more. If he comes in a sedan, the patient must pay for the chair.

Dr. Franz Otto Koch, writing in the Popular Science Monthly, gives a description of the Chinese physician and how he practices.

"The native Chinese doctor is a curiosity," writes Dr. Koch. "He passes no examination; he requires no qualifications; he may have failed in business and set up as a physician. In his new profession he requires little stock in trade, medical instruments being almost unknown.

"Acupuncture, as it is called, is one of the nine branches recognized in medical science among the Chinese. It is of most ancient origin, having been in use from time immemorial. There are 537 markings to be learned. Every square inch on the human surface has its own name, and some relation to the internal parts, purely imaginary, is assigned to it. The user is cautioned against wounding the arteries; hence he must know the position of the blood vessels. By close study of a man's hand, pierced with holes, the Chinese physician learns where to drive his needles. Parts of the body are selected which may be pierced without fatal results. Sometimes heat is applied to the outer end of the needle, and this is called a hot acupuncture, but the needle is never heated before insertion.

"The needle used looks very much like a sewing machine needle, but it is longer and coarser. Some of the Chinese doctors have needles two feet long and are supposed by ardent admirers to be able to drive these instruments entirely through the patient's body. The great size of the needles is in reality intended to represent the greatness of the owner's skill and reputation. The needles used are of eight forms, as follows: The arrowhead, blunt puncturing, spear pointed, fusiform, round, capillary, long and thick. The point of insertion, the depth and direction are all important. The method is usually to drive the needle through the discolored skin by a blow from a light mallet.

"If he can get an old book of prescriptions from a retiring practitioner so much the better for the Chinese doctor. He is now equipped to kill or cure, at chance or his ignorance may dictate. The doctor most entitled to confidence in the sight of his countrymen is the man whose father has been a doctor before him. Confidence in him knows no bounds should his grandfather have followed the same calling. This is not mere fatuous belief in heredity, but is based on the supposed value of old prescription books passed on from grandfather to grandson.

"Fees vary according to the physician's social class and that of his patients and also according to the physician's place of residence. The enormous sum of perhaps 15 American cents or half a dollar at the most may be charged for a visit if the doctor comes in a sedan chair. Of this amount a large proportion goes for the chair. Should the doctor belong to the humbler ranks and come on foot his fee is proportionately less. He assumes a solemn air and owl-like look as he peers out of the semicircular of a Chinese bedroom through great goggle shaped glasses—two inches across and set in huge uncut copper frame.

"Most important in diagnosing a case, according to Chinese ideas, is the feeling of the different pulses of the human system. The pulse at each wrist is felt. By thus feeling the pulses the states of a dozen real or imaginary organs are determined. Having thus learned by the pressure at these pulses the seat of the disease, a few questions may be asked, but these are considered scarcely necessary. A prescription sometimes calling for the most horrible and nauseating compounds is prepared in large doses, for the native believes that the larger the dose the more likely it is to prove efficacious. In prescribing for natives the foreign doctors have to give the strictest injunctions that the paper box in which the pills are contained is not to be swallowed.

"The manner in which the Chinese treat their physicians is characteristic. Should a speedy cure not result from the doctor's treatment the patient calls another. If he does not improve he calls a third. Thus the medical skill of the whole neighborhood may be drawn upon."

Sound to Have Change.

In the absence of her husband the fascinating young married woman was bonding with an old admirer.

"Oh," sighed the old admirer, "if only you had married me instead of Will."

"When I should have been with Mr. Chamberlain at this moment, instead of here, with this fascinating woman, how strangely things turn out!"

IF THE G. O. P. ELEPHANT COULD SPEAK THE TRUTH

Voters of the U. S. A.—

We, the Republican party, being at our wits' end and desperate, put it up to you:

For nearly four years now a Democratic administration has been in power. Contrary to every law of reason, every principle of progress, the country is at peace and alive—may, humming with prosperity. Business is rushing. Wages are high. The only discontent is the discontent of those who are reaching for bigger chunks of plenty.

We are flabbergasted. All this has happened during a period when the rest of the world has been agog, when international crises were impending on all sides, when we would have sworn only Republican statesmanship could pull the nation through.

No war has engulfed us. No panic has paralyzed us. No nation has with impunity continued to infringe upon our rights.

We can't deny what has been done. All we can do is take our oath we could have done it better. How, we do not know. If only we said it loud and long enough we hoped the country would believe us.

But the country is busy, and our voices grow hoarse. We are having a hard time.

Woodrow Wilson has nothing to show us but what he has accomplished. He has none of the glamour of the what-might-be. We, on the contrary, have our old promises and policies, mellowed by age, but still bearing the stamp of the nation's solid interests. Protection, privilege, government by influence—surely the country has not given them their last trial.

Well, street is with us. Big business is with us. But, oh, voters, we confess it, we need you. Don't keep looking at the peace and prosperity around you. Try to get our point of view. What- ever Wilson has done, the man is a Democrat, and neither federal government nor federal offices were meant to be forever in such hands.

Let's forget issues and talk as friends. Turn him out and give us a chance!

PRaises WILSON'S STAND IN BEHALF OF SUFFRAGE

The action of the National Woman Suffrage association at Atlantic City, N. J., in rejecting by an overwhelming vote the proposal to make the suffrage movement a partisan annex of the Republican campaign was further emphasized by Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, "the sage of suffrage," in an interview published in the Philadelphia Press, a staunch Republican organ.

"The president in his speech to the convention promised all he could carry out," said Dr. Shaw. "If he had promised more we would have known that he could not carry it out.

"Not the Republicans alone, nor the Democrats alone, can bring suffrage. If it could be done that way I would favor it. But it can't. We must get enough Democrats and Republicans together to do it."

Keeping Posted.

Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy

This is a medicine that every family should be provided with. Colic and diarrhoea often come on suddenly and it is of the greatest importance that they be treated promptly. Consider the suffering that must be endured until a physician arrives or medicine can be obtained. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy has a reputation second to none for the quick relief which it affords. Obtainable everywhere.

FARMERS NEGLECTED BY THE REPUBLICANS

But Democrats Quickly Save Them Rural Credits.

Don't forget, Mr. Farmer, that through your Farmers' National Congress, National Grange, National Farmers' Union, American Society of Equity and similar organizations you have for years demanded and have impounded Republican administrations for legislation you needed.

What did you get?

Through all the years since 1864 the Republican party was deaf and blind to the farmer's financial needs, this in the face of the fact that successful systems of rural credits were in operation throughout Europe for a century. When this great Democratic measure was put to a vote in the senate on May 4, 1916, only five Republicans dared vote against it. Three of them were on the subcommittee who wrote the Republican platform of 1916.

Was it because you were not big interests? You were, many of you, highly financed, and High Finance held the mortgage, and to that extent you belonged to High Finance. But you paid big interest to associate with Big Interests. A stack of wheat wasn't as good collateral as a sheet of scraps of paper held by a stock gambler. Nor did the Political Bosses of the Republican party care to give you financial justice. They were too busy "protecting" themselves.

THE PROMISES OF THE DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM OF 1912—written in courage and honesty and with sympathetic understanding of the needs of every honest American interest—HAVE BEEN KEPT!

The Republican party refused to do these things, which the prosperity of the American farmer required.

The Republican presidential candidate, Charles E. Hughes, denounces the Democratic party and President Wilson for having done these things.

Where does your interest lie?—[From Farmers' Pamphlet Issued For Free Distribution by the Democratic National Committee.]

BURLESON'S "THREE STRIKE"

That $5,200,000 Check Wins Opponent's Praise.

"The Democratic party seems to have enough capacity to run the postoffice department. Postmaster General Burleson has deposited a check for $5,200,000 with Secretary McAdoo, being the profits of the fiscal year 1915."

Sounds like a Democratic campaign orator, doesn't it?

But it isn't. It is the Philadelphia Public Ledger, a paper that is supporting Hughes, telling its host of readers about merely one of the deeds of the Wilson administration.

Continues the Ledger:

"The secretary of the treasury replies that his department has experienced the sensation of receiving a postal surplus only three times in eighty years, and these three times have been under the administration of President Wilson and Mr. Burleson. But we have no hope that this will satisfy Mr. Hughes. He will tell the next audience he gets hold of that the service is not nearly so good as it used to be when postmaster generals were Republicans and there was a deficit every year, the amount being something over $17,000,000."

An Army Corps.

In round numbers an army corps consists of 40,000 men. It is made up of three infantry divisions, each having a proper proportion of cavalry, artillery and departmental troops. Each division in turn is made up of three brigades and each brigade of three regiments. With each division there are also what are known as corps troops that form the field hospital, baggage company, pontoon troops, telegraph division, field bakery, supply columns, ammunition column, etc. Each division has attached to it also, though not forming an integral part, a cavalry brigade for scouting and an aerial section. The army corps is one of the great units of the whole army organized for field service.—New York Times.

SIGNALS OF DISTRESS

Princess Anne People Should Know How to Read and Heed Them

Disordered kidneys give many signals of distress.

The secretions may be dark, contain sediment.

Passages are sometimes frequent, scanty, painful.

Backache is often present day and night.

Headaches and dizzy spells may occur. Weakened kidneys should receive quick help.

Don't delay! Use a special kidney remedy.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys, backache and urinary disorders. Princess Anne evidence proves their worth.

Mrs. C. A. Young, Beachwood St., Princess Anne, says: "I was in a bad way from a run down condition of my kidneys. My hands and ankles were puffed up with dropsical swellings and there were puffy sacs under my eyes. I was subject to dizzy spells and when I stooped over, sharp pains caught me in the small of my back. I felt miserable. After using one box of Doan's Kidney Pills, I was rid of all symptoms of kidney trouble."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Young had. Foster-McMillan Co., Proprietors, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Baltimore Star

The Leading Evening Paper of the South

The Baltimore Star, established August 17, 1908, by the publishers of The Baltimore American, has won its place as the representative evening paper of the South. It gives more news and more reading matter than any other afternoon paper in Maryland. It is especially rich in departments—financial, sporting, society, children, women, and to these departments the best writers of America are regular contributors. The Star is the great home paper, with something for every member of the family. It is a cheerful newspaper, with plenty of entertainment. Those who try it keep on taking it.

The Star is elaborately illustrated. It has the first photographs of important events. Its portraits of leading men and women are unequalled.

The Star has two great news services, with wires direct to its offices from all parts of the world. The Star has a wireless equipment. It uses every modern invention and the best enterprise to get all the news.

The Star is different from other Southern papers. It has a quality of its own.
