It is up to the farmers and their wives to make this show a great success by sending in exhibits for the various departments.

Young Man Held On Serious Charge

Arrested in Snow Hill and Brought To Salisbury. In Jail Waiting Preliminary Hearing.

William Hearn, about 25 years of age, of this city, was lodged in jail at Snow Hill, on a complaint made by a Mr. Smith on Davis street. Hearn is alleged to have had improper relations with a step-daughter of Mr. Smith's. The step-daughter claims to be 16 years old and accompanied by Hearn, she went to Pocomoke, where they registered as man and wife. Hearn secured employment at a mill there, owned and operated by Mr. W. S. Phillips, of this city.

Hearn was arrested by the sheriff of Worcester county and lodged in jail. Afterwards State's Attorney Kerbin communicated with State's Attorney Long, of this city, and Sheriff Larmore brought the accused man to this city. Hearn is in jail here awaiting a preliminary hearing.

MEDICINE SALESMAN ROBBED OF $300

Attacked on Church Street Saturday Night. Found Unconscious on Sunday Morning.

Dr. Butler, a patent medicine salesman, who has been coming to Salisbury for a number of years with his goods, was found in an unconscious condition, lying in the yard of a colored family on East Church street early Sunday morning.

Otis Messick, a telegraph operator who happened to be passing, discovered the man and immediately communicated with Chief of Police Disharoon, who had the man carried to a physician, by whom he was ordered to the hospital.

Butler had been selling goods all day and had the entire day's receipts in his pocket and while going down Church street was suddenly attacked, and upon regaining consciousness was minus his bankroll which contained in the neighborhood of $300.

It is said that the doctor was not seriously hurt by his assailants.

CANNERS ARE FACING FINANCIAL LOSSES

There Is Much of Last Year's and This Year's Crop Still Left on The Canner's Hands.

Unless some means of loosening the present stagnant market is found, canners of Wicomico and the surrounding counties must face a serious financial loss. This is the report which comes from many sections.

A great deal of last year's pack of tomatoes is still in the hands of the packers, and despite the very small pack this season the canners still have the great bulk of their product on hand.

It is stated wholesale grocers and retailers alike are not buying either canned goods or any other commodity because of the financial situation. Having lost heavily in sugar and other foods, the grocers are conserving their capital and the canners are suffering.

It is also reported that a number of jobbers who previously contracted for the canned goods are now breaking their contracts on the flimsiest pretexts. So the outlook for the packers is anything but bright at present.

COMPANY I ENLISTS TWO NEW MEMBERS

Company I added two more men to its roster last Monday night. They are Clarence Wheaton and Dewey Morris, both of Salisbury. The teams will start working this week and try to enlist enough men to put the company over.

The boys were put through some preliminary drilling Monday night by a former service man. The company promises to be full of pep and has plenty of enthusiasm that should go with a good company.

Two basketball teams were picked out Monday night and they will have a practice game Monday next. The boys are very enthusiastic over basketball and the company promises to have a good team.

Ex-County Treasurer D. B. Cannon is about completing extensive improvements to the residence on the old "Ebenezer White" farm on the Spring Hill road, which he recently purchased from R. Frank Williams.

The old residence has been entirely remodeled and is now one of the most attractive places in the neighborhood.

Harding, Weller, Goldsborough Elected; Wave Sweeps Country Republicanward; Unprecedented Majorities in All States

Maryland's Eight Electoral Votes Safely In The Republican Column, Weller's Majority Will Be About 17,000, While Goldsborough Has Carried The First Congressional District By About 1,200. Delaware For Harding And Elects Republican Governor.

Senator Warren G. Harding, of Ohio, has been elected President of the United States, by a landslide. He has carried everything before him in his sweep to the Presidential chair. Only the solid South remains, and even in some of these states the results are in doubt. Weller has been elected to the United States Senate from Maryland by 17,000 majority. Goldsborough has been elected to Congress from the First Congressional District, which is about all the Democrats have to be thankful for. The Eastern Shore did not break away in the tidal wave that swept the country, and Wicomico gave Democratic majorities ranging from 700 to 1,400. Goldsborough's majority will be over 1,200.

Delmar district was the banner Democratic district in Wicomico county, giving Cox 337 majority. Cox carried every district in Wicomico, excepting Ty-askin, Salisbury, Trappe, Sharptown and Nanticoke. Camden gave Smith, Democrat, for the Senate, the banner majority, with 370, while Parsons, with 285 and Delmar with 282, closely contested for the largest Goldsborough majority.

The total vote in the county, with all districts in, give Cox 4,909 and Harding 3,991, a majority for Cox of 918. Smith received 4,935 and Weller 3,882, a majority for Smith of 1,053, while Goldsborough got 4,554 and Andrews 3,843, giving Goldsborough a majority of 711.

While Harding carried Trappe district by one vote, the district gave 49 majority for Smith and nine majority for Goldsborough. In Sharptown district, which Harding carried by 20 and Andrews by 30, there was a tie vote of 181 in the Smith-Weller fight.

Maryland handed its eight electoral votes to Senator Harding by a big majority, the extent of which cannot be ascertained. Weller was elected by over 17,000 majority. The complexion of the Maryland delegation in Congress seems to be four Republicans and two Democrats, a gain of one Republican.

Delaware has gone Republican. Denney, Republican candidate for Governor, has been elected by a safe majority, and the legislature is safely Republican. The Republicans carried the city of Wilmington by from 3,000 to 4,000 majority, and carried New Castle and Sussex counties, while the Democrats will have to be satisfied with carrying Kent county, according to the incomplete returns.

Senator Harding carried Ohio by over 400,000, New York state by over a million, the largest majority in history. Pennsylvania contributed over 600,000, California gave an overwhelming majority. Massachusetts gave 400,000, Nebraska, the home of William Jennings Bryan, 100,000, Indiana 75,000, Michigan 150,000, Illinois a half million, of which Chicago contributed 350,000. The Republicans elected the majority of their Senate candidates in all the contested states, Wadsworth winning in New York by over 400,000. The House of Representatives is also controlled by the Republicans. Substantial gains were made in New Jersey, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, West Virginia, Massachusetts, Missouri and one or two other Western states.

Harding will have more than 307 votes in the electoral college, while Cox is sure of only 140, with 75 doubtful. Nearly all these doubtful votes will fall in the Republican column, according to late returns.

The victory of the Republican ticket is complete. They have the presidency, complete control of both the Senate and Congress. In the different states where governors were to be elected, the Republican candidates have been swept into office by the tidal wave that hit the country Tuesday. The contest for Governor in New York is neck and neck at this writing, but the Republicans are claiming that state also.

Hawkins, the colored candidate for the United States Senate in Maryland, who had been touted as going to poll a heavy negro vote, failed to make any kind of a showing, receiving a scattered vote here and there over the state. Iverson, the Independent wet candidate did no better, his vote being almost negligible.

Mr. S. D. ## HOPITAL PROCEEDING IN

Wonderfully Fine To The Community Workers

HAND ON LARGE PASSES $100

Much Work Remains But Campaign Is Progressing Satisfactorily. Interest And Its Success Seem Big Check Attracts Much

The campaign for the Hospital fund for Peninsula Hospital is easily verified by the fact that it would be the largest philanthropic event ever known in the lower Peninsula. Public interest in the organization of the Hospital is progressing, and the interest is emphasized by the response of the people of the workers.

More than 70 of the workers and committeemen have been to a chicken and waffle party at the Armory Monday evening under the auspices of the Hospital Board of the Hospital.

How the subscription secured is told by the following list of names: Initial Gifts Committee: Salisbury Team: Wicomico Co. (includes Sussex county) (Delmar) Worcester county (Snow Hill) Pocomoke (Pocomoke) By mail and miscellaneous.

Much of the work of Wicomico County remains to be done. It is a task of no small proportions. The County Board is getting it done.

General Adkins, executive director of the Hospital, is in these days will take hold of the substantial additions to the Hospital fund.

At the meeting of the Hospital Board Monday night, it was decided that the workers would have a card plan till Tuesday night, ending Wednesday morning, Nov. 10. Each team would make a house to house canvass. Messrs. Fred P. Adams and Harry W. Knapp have been the city out in 12 districts, and the captains of each of the first 12 teams drew by lot the district his team will cover during Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, by which time it is expected that Salisbury will be pretty well worked.

Mrs. Julia U. Langston is Captain of a team which will canvass the colored population of the city. Chairman Adkins wishes to emphasize that the workers ought to be able to cover whatever amount for service they are given. Several reports have come to the campaign headquarters of people whom no worker had called, and friends will likely be seen during the week when the house-to-house canvass is made. But even then, some people who wish to help may be "out" when the workers call, so every one who wants to have a share in making possible the new hospital building, and who is not busy on Friday evening, Nov. 10, should once call the Campaign Headquarters, Phone 233,000, and someone will tell them how they can help.

Considering the response from the territory already heard from, the Campaign Manager says nothing but praise can be given, and if the situation yet to be heard from, one-fourth as well, the $200,000 assured. Mr. Fencil says the campaign for Salisbury, about $100,000, every man, woman and child simply splendid, the best of the campaign he has directed, and if it has been equalled, and if it is still hundreds of people in Salisbury who want to help it, Somerset and Sussex counties ought reasonably to be expected to contribute $200,000 for the Hospital Board to build and equip.

Messrs. Boulden and Boulden are working this week.

S. S. CONVENTION WAS A REAL LIVE THING

"The Very Atmosphere Was Electric With Thrilling Questions," Says Rev. Dr. J. T. Herson.

The Wicomico County Sunday School Convention met in annual session on Tuesday morning last at the Wicomico Presbyterian Church of Salisbury. Sunday School conventions have come to be a place of meeting for folks who haven't anything else to do, but this convention was unlike any I have seen for years. It was a real live thing. The very atmosphere was electric with thrilling questions and every face was just wide open in expectancy. Nor was any one disappointed for the speakers were well chosen and knew their subjects.

Miss Everett is her address on "Teacher Training," brought something of new vision upon this vital need of the present day Sunday School. Dr. Charles Roads, of the Philadelphia Conference, is an expert in Sunday School work. He differs from many "experts" in that he is actually succeeding in his home church. His addresses were not much for flourish, but for reaching the heart of the Sunday School questions he has no peer. Mrs. A. W. Karnell is a real convention all by herself.

The wife of a Presbyterian minister, the mother of five children, a writer of some note and a lecturer of rare ability. As she expressed it, "I am a busy woman and have no time for trivial things," and she proved it by some of the most heart-searching speeches it has ever been our privilege to hear. Her appeal for closer relation between the church and the Sunday School, and for the altar of religion in the home will not soon be forgotten. This was a sure enough convention. Last year we "looked in" on the convention in session and found a little handful of folks just going through a form, and it made one's heart sick to watch them do it, but this year found the Presbyterian Church in Salisbury pretty comfortably filled with a crowd of folks bent upon serious business. The roll call found 14 ministers present, 20 superintendents and about 31 out of 44 schools represented.

A new day has dawned for the Sunday Schools. They are to be vital factors in the work of the day just ahead. We are to give more time to the study of the girl and boy. We are to spend more time and money teaching them that the "wild oats" period is a wicked travesty on truth, and we are to help them save all of life for Jesus Christ and usefulness. The church and the Sunday School are to be brought closer to each other. Fathers and mothers are to be asked for co-operation so that the home will be really the center of religious influence. The emphasis is to be laid on family religion. While we listened to the speakers we longed for the day of the family as a family in all the work of the church. No person could listen to Mrs. Karnell and not feel the tug of a brighter and bigger and better day. It is just ahead and the convention held last week helped greatly in bringing the vision to the Sunday School workers of this county. The work of the next year will be worth watching. Joseph T. Herson.

THE TIME TO DISPOSE OF POTATO CROP

Grower Has To Decide Whether To Sell or Hold For Better Prices During Winter.

THE FARMER'S PROBLEM IN THE FALL MONTHS

Many Factors To Be Considered—Should Study General Prices And The Markets. Department Of Agriculture Gives Some Sound Advice Along This Line.

Whether to dispose of his potato crop direct from the fields or to hold it for possible later increase in price, is a problem which confronts the farmer every fall. On the one hand is the buyer offering figures based on the quantity and other conditions of the market, the tightness of money, and a number of related conditions which may depress the price. On the other, he is confronted with the expense of storing, the shrinkage in volume, possibility of rot, and the uncertainty of the number of bushels of potatoes which will be carried over by farmers throughout the United States to be thrown into the market during the winter.

It is a problem that has to be decided, because the crop is there. It is a problem that the farmer must decide for himself.

Lowest in October. Prices naturally are lowest in October, when the crop is just out of the ground. A study recently made by the Bureau of Markets of the United States Department of Agriculture covering the last 10 years, shows that the average price rises very slightly until the 1st of January, and then more rapidly until the 1st of March, another sharp advance taking place between April planting season and June.

These are only averages, however, and may be varied by many conditions which the farmer has to study largely for himself. Reasoning about future prices is unusually difficult at the present time.

A study of the general tendencies of the market, whether up or down, must be based on facts pertaining to the country as a whole. The supply may be less than usual in a certain county, but if the total crop is large the size of this total crop will have a tendency to lower prices even in this county of short production. Prices in that county may be high, but they will not be so high as they would have been if the total production of the country had not been so large. That is, the conclusions drawn from the broad and general information may be modified by local conditions in each section, but it remains true that each of these sections will be influenced by the up and down tendencies which move over the country as a whole. A grower should know the general situation in order to make proper allowances for local conditions and he should not only study the potato market but should consider the size of the sweet potato and other food crops which may influence the demand and consumption of white potatoes. He must watch, too, the trend of general prices, especially food prices. If general prices should fall decidedly, then the price of potatoes might be carried lower than the year's production would warrant.

In comparing the prices of one year with those of another, allowance must be made for the rapid decrease during the last few years in the purchasing power of the dollar. For instance, $1.61 per bushel in 1919 and 80 cents per bushel in 1911 does not mean that potatoes were twice as valuable at the later date. The increase in price may have had nothing to do with the potato business. It may have come from the general rise which increased the price of wheat, clothing, and machinery as well as potatoes. The effects of the general increase in prices must be eliminated from the calculation.

Potato Exports Small. Before attempting to analyze the relations between the figures of production and stocks on the one hand and prices on the other, it should be mentioned that potatoes are not exported to any great extent, seldom more than 1 per cent of the crop being carried out of the country. Neither are potatoes carried over from one season to another, as is the case with some crops. That is, the potato crop is practically all consumed in this country and each season's crop is a separate problem in itself.

This is one of the large potato years, and the way in which the question of time of marketing is settled by the individual farmer means an immense sum of money in the gross returns from one of the Nation's leading crops. The wise grower will study every phase of conditions, and

Overcoat Weather Promised Very Soon

Drop In Temperature Is Expected By The Forecaster—Month Equals Old Record.

Only once before in the last 50 years has there been an October with so many hot days as the month just past has had. Ten days of the month recorded a temperature of 80 degrees or higher. This record was equalled 41 years ago, October, 1879. The minimum temperature of 66 degrees Wednesday night equalled the previous warmest night of the month, which occurred on the 22nd. From another angle Wednesday stands out in the records of the Weather Bureau as having a maximum temperature that has been equalled only once in 50 years after October 25. The weather man is predicting a change to cooler very soon. "Enough of a drop," says the forecaster, "to make overcoats come into their own."

A Reliable Remedy for Colds and Croup.

It would surprise you to know the number of people who use and recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mrs. J. N. Rose, Verona, Pa., writes "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been used by myself and husband for a number of years for coughs and colds. I also gave it to my little grand-daughter three and a half years of age when she had croup last winter. It broke up the attack at once. I have recommended this remedy to many of my friends and neighbors who have also used it with good results."—Adv.

COAL PRICE RESTS ON THE WEATHER

Delay In Use, Caused By Continued Mildness, Will Push The Quotations Down.

Whether Salisburians will continue to pay $17 to $20 a ton for coal will be decided by the weather, said a prominent dealer a few days ago. He pointed out that as long as the miners and operators were able to receive a price justifying a retail price of $17 a ton there would be no decline in price. He said the bidding for coal as it is mined is very spirited over the entire country, some communities being willing to pay almost any price to obtain coal enough to insure a supply for the winter. If cold weather sets in the present price will continue because consumption will start with the lowering of the temperature, and bidding will follow the old figures.

But if the weather remains moderate, holding back consumption for three or four weeks beyond the date it usually starts, bidding will become lax, for many communities will have enough coal for the winter which otherwise would buy more. When the competition to obtain coal at any price ceases the operators will cut their prices and then, and not until then, can Salisburians look for a decline in the price of domestic coal. The operators, it was said, would hold on for the last dollar and only the weather would be able to beat them.

After a hearty meal, take Doan's Regulets and assist your stomach, liver and bowels. Regulets are a mild laxative. 30c at all stores.—Adv.

IF HARDING IS ELECTED.

When these lines are being written it seems certain that Harding has been elected.

The center of interest in the campaign has been the League of Nations. The issue has not been the simple one Governor Cox made it when he said, "I am in favor of going in. Harding is in favor of staying out." On that single issue, Harding might have been defeated.

What may Harding be expected to do on the League question?

We think it very easy to forecast. The real leader of the Republican Party is Elihu Root. He has indicated his views on the League. They are those which the average American will approve.

Mr. Root is in favor of "going in" but with Article X amended. Article X would bind us to guarantee against external aggression the existing boundaries of all nations in the world. It would commit this country to war to maintain them.

Mr. Root very properly says that Article X is no essential part of the League. Boundaries fixed by the President and his advisers in Paris are not necessarily right. Some of them are obviously wrong. Why bind the United States to maintain them?

Nations are compelled to submit their disputes to arbitration before going to war, as much has been accomplished for permanent peace as is possible with humanity as it is. Mr. Root's plan would countenance the use of force just this far—to compel nations to submit their disputes to arbitration. That means a partial settlement instead of a diplomatic settlement, as is provided in the present League. Mr. Root would count upon enlightened public opinion to sustain and uphold the findings of the arbitrators.

Thus Mr. Root's plan would change the League into an arrangement to compel arbitration. The present League is simply an offensive and defensive military alliance to enforce the Treaty of Versailles.

Mr. Root's plan tends inevitably towards peace. The League as it stands tends inevitably towards war.

One other purpose will be in Senator Harding's mind—to work out a plan for our coming into the League which the people generally will approve. We look forward to an era of good feeling in the government, or cordial co-operation between the Congress and the President. We believe the general approval by the people of our entering the League is more important than the precise form in which our entry is made.

THE VERDICT.

When expressed in no uncertain terms, the wish of Americans today as the wish of the United States is always accepted.

There are those among us who may have wished otherwise, there are those who worked for this result, but today, we will one and all acclaim Senator Harding, of Ohio, as our president, elected in one of the warmest contested campaigns in American history.

THE NEWS supported Senator Harding, and we did so because we felt that the time had come for a change from the radical ideas of the past to a more conservative administration of the affairs of these United States, we thought that the three established branches of the government—executive, judicial and legislative—should be restored, instead of the usurped use of the executive branch by man or men. We wished for a return to Americanism as we have known it in the past instead of the tendency to merge into international affairs.

THE NEWS has no apologies to offer for its policies in the campaign which is now history. We supported Harding because we thought in him we would get a better administration of the affairs of this country.

We supported Smith because of his excellent record of the past. He had been tried and had never been found wanting. We are not believers in the policy of changing public officials simply for a change, but believe in rewarding work well done. Senator Smith has made one of the best Senators Maryland ever had and we were of the opinion that it would be far better to re-elect him, than a man untried.

However, the returns indicate that Weller has been elected. The expressed will of the voters of Maryland is that Weller shall represent this state in the United States Senate, and while we regret the passing of Senator Smith, we accept this verdict as all Americans accept the rule of the majority.

We hear it expressed that this is a grand Republican victory. Republicans should not take too much credit. It is not a victory of any man, men or party, but a victory of the American people for the principles of Americanism, over the fear of being involved into the petty quarrels and turmoils of Europe.

The Republicans should realize this as did Senator Harding when he said on election night:

"I am happy to express my gratitude but I am not exultant. It is not a personal victory. It is a renewed expressed confidence in Americanism."

CONSUMERS NEED TO ORGANIZE.

The mighty work of waging war caused the organization of countless associations. To such an extent was organization carried on, that as soon as the armistice became effective, interest in co-operative bodies of every kind dropped to low ebb.

Naturally, after any great crisis we feel the reaction. At present we are in that period of depressing reaction in which it is often well-nigh impossible to arouse any enthusiasm about anything whatsoever that has to do with community effort. Yet the need for just such effort is possibly as great as it ever was.

The farmers need associations, the merchants need them, so do the soldiers, the sailors, the marines. Sewing circles and welfare bodies are essential to social life. Young men's clubs, old men's club, women's clubs, card clubs, and political clubs fill a real need. Combined effort of the people is necessary that the veterans of the World War who gave part of themselves for their country may have what is due them.

Drives are on for political goals, for hospitals, for memorials, for public institutions, for libraries, and all of them must be put across. As a matter of fact, the organizations are not only necessary but are really in existence. Perhaps at this time most of them are more or less quiescent, but they are realities just the same.

Only one group of citizens remains to be organized, but no one is on foot to effect that end. That one group is composed of us—the consumer, the common people.

Business men organize for co-operative buying and selling.

Why shouldn't the people whom they serve combine for co-operative buying? The farmers are organizing, and wisely, for co-operative marketing. What prevents a number of housewives from doing the same thing and getting advantage of wholesale prices?

THE ELECTION.

The election in Wicomico county passed off in its usual quiet manner Tuesday. The only thing which made it different from any preceding election day was the participation of the women in the great national battle of the ballots.

And how well they played their part was demonstrated in their early arrival at the polling places, the long waiting in line, and the eagerness they manifested in the support of their favorite candidates. There was a spirit of cheerfulness manifested by the women voters which was contagious, and many a man who, in the years long ago was wont to fuss and fume—and "cuss" a little about the delays in voting, kept sweet-tempered and awaited his turn in the line.

The participation of the fair sex in the contest Tuesday elicited profound respect from the men. In many instances men moved away from the voting line to give place to some aged woman who had grown tired of standing so long in line. Heads were bowed by the men in the election house as the women came in; there were no cigar stumps littering the floor of the election house and the tobacco smoker and chewer did not mix with the women. The conduct of the men was, indeed, Chesterfieldian, and showed the refining influence of the female voter.

There was on Tuesday more than usual activity on the part of the Republicans and Democrats to get their voters to the polls. Every automobile that could be hired or borrowed was pressed into service and from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m. there was a constant stream of cars going and coming. All roads led to the voting-places.

It is safe to say that the largest proportion of the registered vote ever cast in Wicomico county was cast last Tuesday and it was the most orderly election ever held in the county.

The women, white and colored, had been coached as to how to mark their ballot, and the percentage of spoiled ballots was very small when the size of the ballot is considered. Taken all in all, the first participation of the women in the exercise of the ballot was a success.

For full election returns see tabulated statement printed elsewhere.

Very Successful Corn Show Held

Vocational Agriculture Class Room, Farm Bureau and Vocational Department Cooperating.

Cooperation pays. This was well illustrated by the Community Corn Show held in the Vocational Agriculture class room, Delmar, on the evening of November 29th. The local business men crowning the efforts of the Farm Bureau and Vocational Department by providing the means for a very attractive premium list.

Mr. A. D. Cobb, county agent for Kent county, Del., showed his skill and absolute fairness in judging all exhibits. In the mean time County Agent Vaughn started good lively discussion among the assembled farmers.

There were about 50 entries of corn, sweet potatoes, white potatoes, various grains, apples, turnips, celer, and pumpkins. The class in Vocational Agriculture was right on the job when it came to capturing the premiums.

The winners of the prize and the names of the contributors of the premiums will be published next week in the Delmar Section.

FAMOUS RACE HORSE SEEN BY HUNDREDS

Man-o' War, the champion race horse of the world, received a wonderful ovation on his trip from Philadelphia through Delaware to his winter quarters near Ocean City. At Harrington, Georgetown and Berlin junctions long stops were made and large crowds were allowed to go in the special express car and see the champion and the other horses in the stable. At every station big crowds were out to get a glimpse of the famous runner.

Ed. Long, colored, charged with assault and battery, was carried to the House of Correction last week by Officer Dennis. Long was arraigned before Justice of Peace Turner about two weeks ago and a fine was imposed upon him, with the understanding that he would have to pay or go to the House of Correction. Long, failing to pay the fine, was sentenced to the House of Correction for a term of six months.

There will be a social Thursday night, November 11th, at Brick Kiln School. Everybody welcome.

MARDELA SPRINGS.

Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Kraus were visitors in town on Monday. Mardele Springs seems to have a great attraction for persons who have once lived here.

Last Sunday night when Rev. Irvin Owens was preaching in his series of meetings at Mt. Pleasant Church, Dr. B. G. Parker supplied his pulpit in Mardele Springs.

This week Rev. G. W. Gorrell and wife are in Baltimore attending the sessions of the Maryland Baptist Union Association, in the Seventh Baptist Church. Mr. Gorrell will be away over Sunday.

A cement pavement has just been put down in front of our bank. This is a beautiful property and an ornament to the town. The bank is doing a thriving business.

Dr. Parker preached on Sunday afternoon for the Branch Hill Baptist Church during the absence of the pastor.

Miss Lulu Bounds, one of our popular teachers in the public school, spent the week end in Parsonsburg.

Mrs. B. G. Parker has been on the sick list this past week. A new crop of measles has made its appearance in town this week. It is to be hoped that it will not be in such a malignant form as was the mumps last year.

Wednesday last was Teachers' Day and the school was closed for the day. The teachers visited nearby schools, supposedly in search for new ideas and to impart their ideas of instruction and discipline to the schools visited. As the practical business man would say, "This is a good stunt."

Mrs. May Venables and sons have returned home after an absence of several weeks.

The Community League has been reorganized by the election of the following officers: Rev. G. W. Gorrell, president; Rev. Irvin Owens, vice-president; Mrs. Ernest Bennett, secretary, and Mrs. Hurley, treasurer. The nation may have a difficult task in forming a league, but our people have none. The nation might do well to take a few lessons from us. The executive committee is planning something good for the next meeting.

It is high time that the children should be hindered from going into homes where there are contagious diseases. Three cases of this kind, not long since, were known to have spread diseases. When parents are uncertain what is the matter with their own children they should not permit them to go to school. If there is any trouble with the throat, or breaking out upon the body, they should invariably be kept at home and not sent to school where they may endanger the lives of others. It would be safer to see a physician at once and let him determine the nature of the disease and administer the remedy.

Mr. Ralph Bounds on Wednesday suffered a painful accident to his right hand in cranking his Ford. The Ford is unpretentious but sometimes it can put up a hard kick.

Reports from other cities throughout the state indicate that conditions are practically the same. In Peoria the situation is much worse.

THE LIVING ARE BEST

"Affection That Is Showered On A Casket Lid Is Poor Stuff," Says Writer.

EPITAPHS VERY OFTEN DON'T TELL THE TRUTH

Interesting Coincidences Related By A Prominent Salisbury Clergyman
Who Recently Met Old Friends On The Streets of This City. He Offers His Flowers To The Living.

Some months ago while walking on Main street, Salisbury, I was very much surprised to find a student friend of mine standing on the steps of the Peninsula Hotel. We had a long and a very interesting conversation indeed about the "old days and the old boys." But I asked, "What are you doing away down here?" and he replied, "I was raised at Shal Point and am just returning from the funeral of my father." Then he told me of his boyhood days hereabouts, of the days of sport on the Wicomico and of the men and boys he knew in Salisbury. Among other things he said, "When I was a boy there was a lawyer in this town who had religion. He must be dead by now, for he was not young then. I shall never forget that man for he was a good man. His name was Ellegood." I took my friend around to Mr. Ellegood's office, but unfortunately he was out of town. My friend was the Rev. John Wesley Wainwright of the New Jersey Conference.

On Thursday, October 21st, I attended the dedicatory exercises at Morgan College, Baltimore. There I was introduced to the Rev. C. W. Ballou, D. D., who is "80 years young" and who for 52 years has successfully served the best churches in our denomination. When he learned I was from Salisbury, he asked, "Is my friend, Rev. Ellegood?" I was one of the most efficient Sunday school superintendents I have known, and one of the most Christian men it has been my privilege to be associated with."

The Rev. Charles Roads, D. D., Sunday School expert of the Philadelphia Conference, was on the program of last week's Sunday School Convention. He differs from most experts I have known, in that he actually succeeds at home, and has been honored time and again by the church. We had the pleasure of entertaining him at our parsonage while he was in Salisbury. He had visited Salisbury while he was state secretary of Sunday Schools for Maryland. A few minutes after he reached our home he said, "You have a Mr. Ellegood in this town. I well remember him. He was mightily interested in the things of the Kingdom, and I guess a thoroughly good man."

These happenings have made a tremendous impression upon me. To have such testimony from so widely separated sources is surely an evidence of lasting impressions made for good. Here is a man who has lived to high and holy purpose, and who is in the same business of noble living today. Faithfulness is characteristic of this man Ellegood. When he is not at church or prayer meeting, I know one of two things has happened, either he is out of town, or important business detains him—and it must be important. If he were absent on two successive Sundays I would know he was dead. That his tribe might increase is my prayer.

The Church of God, as I know it in Salisbury, needs nothing more than it needs men who take their religion seriously and work at it every day. Men who will "purpose in their hearts" to be faithful to God and His Church. I am glad I have been privileged to know James E. Ellegood. I offer no excuse for writing this note, although I am afraid I will have offended Mr. Ellegood. He doesn't seem to be in any hurry to die. He is as busy every day as any "young man" ought to be. I hate post-mortem kindnesses, such things so frequently smack of shallow mockery. Affection that is showered on a casket lid is poor stuff indeed and epitaphs very often don't tell the truth.

I offer my flowers now, while he is living, to the man who is a real example of the one thing Jesus talked about—Faithfulness.
Joseph T. Herson.

GUNNERS ARE GETTING READY FOR SEASON

Looking For a Good Season Shooting
Quail and Rabbits. Many Licenses
Have Been Issued.

The open season for game, especially for rabbits and partridges, which opens on November 10th, is being anxiously awaited by Wicomico County gunners who for the past few days have been busy getting their guns in shape and securing their licenses from Clerk Kelly in order to get first crack at the game.

The open season for hunting partridges and rabbits has been extended this year up until the first day of January, 1921, giving the hunters the privilege of the sport during the Christmas holidays, something they hitherto have never enjoyed. The law in a great many respects is the same as last year's; one new provision, however, which has been added is that the hunter must wear while hunting a sleeve band on his left arm with a number corresponding with his hunter's license. Same will be given him when he secures his permit to hunt.

Several hundred ring-necked Chinese Pheasants have been turned loose in Wicomico County and sportmen are warned not to shoot these as a county law makes it a misdemeanor to do so.

Serious Results from Colds.

Colds not only cause a tremendous financial loss but are also a serious injury to every one who contracts them as they lower the vitality and prepare the system for the more serious diseases. It is not at all unusual for people who have serious lung trouble to say "I had a hard cold last winter." Why not take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and cure your cold while you can.—Adv.

THINGS ARE PLANNED THIS YEAR

Generous-hearted People Are Pouring Out Thousands For The Building Of Hospitals.

SICK AND SUFFERING MUST BE CARED FOR

$100,000 Asked For The Peninsula General Hospital. $150,000 For Virginia Hospital. $100,000 Pledged For Memorial Hospital Near Crisfield.

The generous-hearted people of the Eastern Shore of Maryland are aspiring to great undertakings this year in the erection of new hospitals and the enlarging and improving of old institutions. Friends are being asked for contributions running up into hundreds of thousands of dollars, and the best part of it is, the people are subscribing the money necessary to meet the needs. There seems to be no such word as "fail" in either of the undertakings; all will be "put over" and with something to spare.

Now here in Salisbury the managers of the drive who are working as a new addition to the Peninsula General Hospital are asking for two hundred thousand dollars—a tremendous sum—and they are going to get it. The big clock in front of the court house is daily telling the story of success as the hands move around the dial in the direction of the $200,000 mark. The hands have passed the $125,000 mark, and the subscriptions are pouring in daily. The people of Wicomico and the adjoining counties who have received the benefit of treatment at this hospital have made up their minds to finance the enlargement and improvement of this institution so as to place it on a par with the best hospitals in the largest cities—and it is going to be done!

While all this is going on here, the good people of the Eastern Shore of Virginia are making a drive for $150,000 for the erection of the Northampton-Accomac Memorial Hospital located at Nassawadox. The people of Accomac and Northampton are responding.

From Somerset county, Md., comes the maintenance of a hospital to be erected by a son to his late father and son. She has expressed her willingness to erect a $100,000 building. In furtherance of this scheme a conference was held at the court house in Princess Anne Friday afternoon between Mrs. Edward W. McCready and a committee of citizens of the county to consider plans for supporting the proposed memorial hospital near Crisfield. Mrs. McCready is the widow of the late Edward McCready, who, together with their only child, was instantly killed in an automobile accident at Westover about two years ago.

Mr. McCready was the son of the late Robert McCready, of Crisfield, and was born and reared there, but before his death had resided for a number of years at Chicago. Mrs. McCready decided some time ago to erect a hospital in memory of her late husband and to dedicate the gift to Somerset county. Plans were prepared some time ago by an architect. The cost of the hospital will be about $100,000.

The chief question considered Friday was how to support the hospital after it is erected. It was the consensus that Somerset county would be eager to come to the aid of the institution in every possible manner.

It was decided that a committee of five members should be appointed to consider the formation of an Edward W. McCready Memorial Association. The plan is that the association when organized shall undertake to support the hospital financially.

So here are three worthy charities appealing for the support of the people to the amount of several hundred thousand dollars—and these enterprises are going to get every penny asked for—and they should, for nothing appeals more forcefully to the generous-hearted people than the hospitals, built and equipped for the alleviation of pain and the cure of sickness!

RETURNS AFTER ABSENCE OF HALF A CENTURY

Mr. Sewall T. Collins, of Chicago, Illinois, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Edwin J. Kelly, and Prof. Kelly, of Snow Hill. Mr. Collins left Snow Hill 51 years ago, when quite a young man, and he has revisited his old home only twice in that time, his first visit having been a little more than nine years ago. He finds many changes in Snow Hill, the fire of 1893 having obliterated many landmarks, and the vicissitudes of life having removed many former friends and acquaintances. Mr. Collins is connected with a large banking house in Chicago.

COLLISION BETWEEN AUTOS ON BRIDGE

Ford and Haynes Cars Come Together With Injuries To Both Machines, On South Division Street.

A collision which partly wrecked a Ford car, owned by Oscar Fooks, and a Haynes car, belonging to Lowe's garage, occurred on the South Division street bridge Wednesday night. Oscar Fooks, the owner of the Ford car, was going out of town and is alleged to have been driving without lights, when Brownington, the driver of the Haynes car, met him on the bridge. The Ford car struck the Haynes and skidded up against the bridge, sending the other car against a telephone pole. Fooks was cut on the hand by flying glass but the other occupants of the other car were not injured.

Fooks at a hearing before Justice Jones Thursday morning was fined $9.75 for driving without lights.

Messrs. Garfield White and Mark Carey escaped serious injury when the car in which they were riding Wednesday night, skidded and turned turtle. White, who runs a local taxi for himself, was engaged by Carey, who is employed by the Bell Telephone Co., to carry him around the country on business that day. Returning on the Sharptown road, they skidded on the corner of road at White Lowe's farm, and headed for a telephone pole. White gave the wheel a sharp cut sending the car on the road again, but the rear part of the car gained more speed than the front causing it to turn turtle. No one was seriously injured and the men escaped with a few bruises and a severe shaking up. Some people came along about that time, uprighted the car and the men drove on in town.

THE OPEN SEASON FOR WILD-FOWL IS ON

Ducks, Geese, Brant, Jacksnipe and Crow Bills May Be Killed Until January 31st.

Monday, November 1st ushered in the open season for shooting wild fowl including ducks, geese, brant, Jacksnipe and crow bills. These kinds of wild fowl can be killed only between November 1st and January 31st.

States Game Warden LeCompte has sent out warning that licenses must be secured by hunters before going gunning, and that the hunter must wear an armband on the left arm as an evidence that he has procured such license. In a circular letter sent out last season the state warden says: "Numerous reports received by this department makes it certain that wild fowl this year is greater in abundance than ever heretofore. There will be plenty of sport for everyone, however, no person should try to take advantage of this clean and wholesome sport by hunting game without first procuring a hunting license and arm tag. The number of the tag should correspond with the number on license."

"We now have over 700 deputy game wardens scattered throughout every section of the state, and it might be well to take note of this fact, and not run the risk of being apprehended for violation of the game laws."

Two Cars In Accident On Monday

Run Together on East Church Street. New Ordinance Prohibits Parking On Division Street.

Two cars—an Overland and a Ford—collided on Church street Monday afternoon. The Ford had the front wheel torn off and the fender bent.

The accident occurred when the driver of the Ford tried to go by the Overland car, driven by Lybern Taylor, but found his way blocked by a car which was parked along the side of the street.

According to an ordinance passed by the City Council last week, it is against the law to park along Division street, from Church to Main. A proper enforcement of this ordinance is desirable and as the police have been notified it is hoped that the frequent accidents of the past caused by this parking of cars can be avoided.

FORMER SALISBURY MAN MARRIED IN NEWARK

Mr. Harry S. Duffy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Duffy, of 307½ East Church street, this city, was married to Miss Mabel Shively, of Allentown, Pa., in Newark, N. J., at noon on Saturday last. The bride, who is an actress, has been connected with several prominent Broadway shows and late of Jimmy Hodge Pretty Baby Co., road attraction.

Mr. Duffy has also been connected with the show business for the past few months and is also a theatrical promoter but expects to make his future home in this city with his parents.

SEASON TO OPEN FOR FUR-BEARING ANIMALS

Trappers Are Anticipating A Good Season. Hides Are Expected To Bring High Prices.

Coon season is now in full swing and local hunters are reporting quite a little success. Last year coon hides sold around $12 per hide, but it is doubtful if they will be any higher this year.

Although it is a little early to see how muskrats will be this year, it is the opinion of men who generally keep informed upon this subject that the muskrats will be plentiful. Muskrats do not generally come out until after frost and it is a little too early to see how they will run at the present time. The season opens upon January 1st which is 15 days later than previous years.

Hides last year sold around $3 to $4 but will probably be cheaper this year. Last year the meat sold from 25c to 30c and this is likely to stay. The local dealers predict a drop in fur and hides as the business houses in the cities are not quoting any fixed prices as yet.

Mink season will also open on January 1st.

Breezy Items From Needle Work Guild

Cold Weather Reminds Us That The Annual Collection of Garments Is Due. Directors Named.

The coming of the first cold days reminds us that the time for the annual collection of garments for the Needlework Guild is at hand.

The Salisbury branch was organized last November with 26 directors and a collection of 500 garments. These were turned over to Miss Laws, public health nurse, who found them a most wonderful help in relieving suffering during her winter's work.

This year an effort is being made to secure a director from each town in the county, these directors having the privilege of securing garments from the general collection for cases of need in their neighborhood.

A member contributing two new garments a year for men, women and children, or for use in the hospital. A director is responsible this year for 22 garments and one money member. This year it is earnestly desired to bring the number of garments up to a thousand.

Any woman desiring to become a director or a member will kindly telephone Mrs. Robert A. Boyle, president or Mrs. E. Stanley Toadvine, secretary.

We may be of different opinions regarding the questions of the day but the call to clothe the naked and feed the hungry comes direct from the Master of Life. Here is the opportunity to obey. Two new garments once a year! Could any woman refuse so small a help to attain this great end?

The place and time of the public meeting will be announced later in the papers.

"MAN OF MYSTERY" WAS URICH HILL

Son of a Prosperous West Virginia Farmer, Who Came For Him Friday.

The man who had been acting in such a mysterious manner in these parts for several weeks, and who was taken into custody on the charge of vagrancy—as told in last week's News—has proven to be Ulrich Hill, son of a prosperous West Virginia farmer, residing near Charleston.

The father came to Salisbury last Friday and took the young man home. The meeting was said to have been most affecting, the young man having been a wanderer from home for the past ten years.

It is said that Hill adhered to his usual silence to the last, and refused to discuss his reasons for leaving home or his wanderings during the past ten years. All sorts of stories were afloat here concerning the man, some believing him to be the famous Louis Bergdell, of Philadelphia. So all rumors are now at an end since the man's name and home have been ascertained.

NICHOLSON-MARSHALL WEDDING TUESDAY EVENING

A very pretty wedding took place on Tuesday evening, when Nellie Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Marshall, became the bride of Mr. Levin James Nicholson, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Nicholson. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. T. Herson, after which a reception was given at the home of the bride to immediate relatives and friends. The bride was attired in a blue suit or tulle with hat and gloves to match and carried a bouquet of white roses and sweet peas. After a few weeks Mr. and Mrs. Nicholson will reside at their new home near Salisbury.

GASOLINE BILL AMOUNTS TO A HUGE SUM

Believed That $25,000 Is Spent In Wicomico County Each Week For Gasoline.

TRUCKS AND BUSINESS CARS ARE HEAVY USERS

Prominent Dealer Says That At Least Thirty Thousand Gallons Are Sold In Salisbury Each Week At Cost Of More Than Nine Thousand Dollars. Larger Part For Trucks.

Just for the privilege of moving around Salisburyans spend over $9,000 per week for gasoline. This estimate was made by a conservative wholesaler last week. He says the average sales in this town for the past five weeks has run around 30,000 gallons. Some of it is sold at 32 cents and some at 33, but putting the total sales at 32 cents the cost in this city alone is about $9,000.

These figures are startling in the extreme, and demonstrate more than anything else the tremendous growth of the automobile here. But a small portion of this expenditure is for pleasure riding, it is believed, the great part being for trucks and business cars generally. Much of the gas sold on Saturdays is to farmers and should not be credited to Salisbury's use.

The same wholesaler thought the consumption for the county for automobile, truck, tractor and motor boats will exceed 75,000 gallons, which would make the gasoline bill of the county amount to over $25,000 per week. He said this would be the yearly average, and that during the summer months the consumption for town and county would exceed the above figures by 50 per cent.

However correct these figures may be—and they are reasonably so—the daily average expenditure in Salisbury for gasoline is far over a thousand dollars. Add this to the sale of lubricating oils and greases, the average maintenance bill for Salisbury's automobiles and trucks will run around $1,200 or $1,500.

Farming Conditions Not Encouraging

Low Prices For All Crops And Little Demand. Price of Corn Is Starting Out At A Low Figure.

Every day we hear comments on the drop in prices on some article that there is a sufficient supply of certain commodities and that things are gradually returning to normal. This, in general, is good news, but to one class of workers, one of the most important classes, it means in this section practically a complete failure on the past year's work. That class is the farmer.

Many farmers on the East Side of the county have hardly made a sale since the strawberry season. With fields of tomatoes untouched, sweet potatoes far below normal with chances of a very great advance extremely doubtful and white potatoes at about half their former prices, it is surely not an encouraging outlook. Corn, which is usually regarded as at least a cost crop, is not such this year as it is selling at public sale at 88 cents a bushel or 44 cents a basket.

Farmers are hoping that after election prices on farm products will at least come up to a cost price.

THE FIRST ANNUAL HORTICULTURAL SHOW

Students In Horticulture Will Hold A Show Of Fruits, Flowers And Vegetables.

The students of the Horticultural Department of the University of Maryland, at College Park, are making preparations for a fruit, vegetable and flower show, to be held on two successive days, the 20th and 21st of November. The "Hort Club" is cooperating with the department and is going to make this display an annual affair.

The students from the various counties are having fruits, vegetables and flowers sent from their homes and their friends homes. These products are to be shipped at the expense of the Horticulture Department and the smaller displays will be used afterwards in class work, the larger boxed or barreled displays will either be returned or sold, in accordance with their condition and the will of the exhibitor. Competent judges will judge the exhibits and ribbon prizes will be awarded the winners.

To Start Campaign For New Members

Local Girl Scouts Hold Meeting and Set Week of November 6-15 For Drive.

The first meeting of the Girl Scouts was held two weeks ago, and the fall season's work was mapped out. The meetings will be held in the Armory every Friday night. Nine scouts passed their tenderfoot tests at the last meeting.

The week of November 6th-15th has been made scout week and a drive for new members will be conducted. Posters will be put in the store windows calling attention to the activities engaged in by the Girl Scouts. Last week the girls contributed $50 to the hospital campaign. Saturday last the girls took their monthly hike to the Homestead Dairy Farms. They were shown about the place, through the courtesy of Mr. Van Horn. After which they cooked their supper in the opening and spent a delightful day. Monday's Scout is at the tub. Her Sunday clothes to rinse and rub. Tuesday's Scout will roast and stew. And fry fresh pancakes just for you. Wednesday's Scout is bent on thrift. To patch the hole and darn the rift. Thursday is Scout Service Day. For helping your neighbor in many a way.

Friday's Scout is rosy and strong. She camps and hikes the whole day long. Saturday's Scout is happy and gay. For this is the baby eating day. While Sunday's Scout present to you. Her unfurled back in the family pew. But all Girl Scouts throughout the land. Are ready each day to "lend a hand."

Corn To Be Used As Fuel By Farmers

Burns Longer Than Coal And Is Cheaper, Say Growers In Northwest.

Hundreds of thousands of bushels of corn may be burned as fuel by farmers in Northern Nebraska this winter, according to reports brought in from North Line counties.

High-priced coal and a bounteous but low priced crop of corn is given as the reason. New corn, unshelled, now brings three-quarters of a cent a pound, or $15 a ton. The cheapest soft coal is $15, and there are transportation charges above that.

A wagon box 30 inches high is required to hold a ton of unshelled corn, and that amount, it is said, will make a hotter fire and last longer than a ton of coal.

tendance On Thursday.

BIG BANQUET HELD;
225 IN ATTENDANCE

Mr. S. Ker Slemmons, Cashier of the
First National Bank, Delivered the Welcoming Address. Many State Officers Present, and Occasion Was A Complete Success.

An event of unusual interest in the fraternal circles of Delmar took place on Thursday, when Mary Belle Council,
No. 33, Sons and Daughters of Liberty, entertained the annual Maryland State Convention of that order in the Hearn & Company Hall in this town.

Over 125 delegates from Baltimore, Whaleville, Ahol, Elliott City, Frederick, Have de Grace, Perryville, Deals Island, Hagerstown, Parsonsburg, Mardela Springs, Salisbury and other Maryland towns and cities were in attendance, when the opening hour for the convention arrived.

Mr. S. Ker Slemmons, cashier of the First National Bank, delivered the welcoming address. He welcomed the visitors from all over Maryland to our little city, and in a measure, by his greetings, prepared the visitors for the overflowing hospitality and cordial reception that awaited them. The response was made by Howard Albaugh, of Frederick.

The sessions of the day were exclusively devoted to the business routines of the order, which were disposed of
in a quick and businesslike manner.

In the evening in the basement of the Methodist Episcopal Church, a banquet was spread for over 225
guests, many additions to the throng being made by visiting members from Salisbury and other nearby towns.

This banquet was an informal affair and assumed the status of a general "get-acquainted" meeting. The menu for the occasion consisted of ham, peas, cream potatoes, Maryland biscuits, finger rolls, pickles, salad, ice cream, cake and coffee and was thoroughly enjoyed by those present.

A roster of the delegates shows that the following lodges were represented:
Rescue, No. 1; Pride of Maryland, No.
3; Martha Washington, No. 4; Frances Scott Key, No. 5; Liberty, No. 6;

Sustained A Bad Sprain From Fall

Young Lady From Seaford Injured While Visiting Friends In Salisbury.

Miss Bertha Giles, of Seaford, Del., was injured Wednesday while visiting friends at Salisbury when she accidentally fell on the street, badly spraining her leg. An X-Ray examination at the Peninsula General Hospital, Salisbury, revealed the fact that there was no fracture.

Dr. Annie C. Shipley, Miss Giles' physician, came to Salisbury and took the patient home.

Miss Giles, who is well-known in Delaware, is a daughter of the late Thomas B. Giles, and a sister of the late Branch Giles.

more; Inside Guard, E. M. Ader, Frederick; Outside Guard, John F.
Hutton, Mardela Springs; National Representative, G. W. G. Unger, Williamsport.

Much credit for the success of the entire convention is being given to the committee in charge, which consisted of Mrs. Charlotte Lear, chairman; Mrs. Ida Lowe, Mrs. Ella Vincent,
Mrs. Addie Snowden, Mrs. Ida Slacum,
Mrs. Ida Leontes, Miss Sarah Mills,
Mrs. Mary Windsor, Mrs. Lillie Culver, Miss Viola Culver, Mrs. Lillie Leonard, Mrs. Lula Parker and Mrs.
Blon West.

Many of the visitors spent the night in Delmar, starting for their homes on Friday morning. The convention was one of the best and most enthusiastic ever held by the order and many were the words of praise that were heard from the visitors for the manner in which they had been entertained while here.

The organization is fraternal and beneficial and numbers 106 lodges in 28 states, and has a membership of 31,000 in Maryland.

The next annual council will be held in Baltimore.

That Delmar should have been chosen as the place for such an important gathering as the State Convention of the Sons and Daughters of Liberty, reflects much credit upon the membership of Mary Belle Council, No. 33, as a strong and capable organization. The lodge here is in a flourishing condition, has 193 en-rollees and numbers among its most prominent ladies and gentlemen of this town.

Eastern Shore hospitality is known the world over and it can be truthfully said that it did not suffer any in the manner in which the delegates were entertained while visitors to Delmar.

DELMAR CELEBRATES WHILE SALISBURY SLEEPS

Mayors May Come and Mayors May Go, But a Hallowe'en Will Linger
On and On.

While Salisbury slumbered at the order of its mayor, Delmar was wide open Saturday night, and young and old, pretty and ugly, small and large,
particular and indifferent, turned out en masse in celebration of that time old gala occasion—Hallowe'en.

Seemingly not worrying about the bad luck of its unfortunate neighbors on the south, they proceeded to paint
the town red, green, blue or any old color, and for an evening dull cares were forgotten as of old, before mayors and other highly important officials discovered that to have a good time was a violation of the laws and ordinances of a self-respecting community.

Delmar's streets were lined with all kinds, shapes, colors, sizes and discriptions of humanity, all striving to make believe that they looked like they were something they wasn't. But they had fun, and no policemen, clothed with high-sounding authority, endeavored to stop them.

The now famous "It is my order"
sign had not appeared in Delmar, so the younger people proceeded to do things to the Queen's taste. And strange to relate no damage was done.

Every imaginable character was represented. There were fat men, poor men, big and little, there were dancing girls, who were not girls at all, and handsome young men who were wearing pants for the first time and showed it, too. Even the famous Max Sennett diving girls was represented.

The old as well as the young seemed to enjoy the festivities of the evening with never a thought that only a short distance away—six miles, is it?
—the town father had proclaimed that to do this was a solemn violation of the majesty of the law, and must be prohibited even to the extent of arresting those who might be so brave as to venture forth to celebrate the centuries' old Hallowe'en.

Today Delmar has resumed the even-tenor of its way, business is going on as usual and there is nothing to show that for a night Delmar people were so indiscreet. And even the children are happy that they do not live in such a highly civilized town as a certain metropolis of the Eastern Shore, where such things are prohibited by the solemn proclamation of its mayor.

HIGHER PRICES BEING PAID FOR SWEET POTATOES

Sweet potatoes reached their highest prices in Seaford Saturday when they brought from 65 cents to 70 cents per basket. Seaford brokers are buying in large quantities, shipping out some of them and storing others. Also, they are buying in large quantities of sweets in other markets several of them having entered the Salisbury
and other Wicomico county markets.
In Wicomico they are at present harvesting one of the largest sweet potato crops in the history of the county.

ADJUTANT GENERAL WICKERSHAM RESIGNS

General L. Posey Wickersham, Adjutant General of the State of Delaware, has tendered his resignation as such to Governor John G. Townsend, after with the exception of two or three short periods, practically forty years of loyal service to his state and country in the military service. His resignation was regrettably accepted by the governor, taking effect on October 27th. The adjutant general's failing health is his reason for resigning.

MAKE YOUR BUSINESS A SUCCESS.

It is very hard for a merchant
to be successful today.
In this day of keen competition, of large mail order houses, of parcel post deliveries to the very door of the customer, of live, wide awake business methods and co-operative buying on a large scale by chain stores, the battle for success of the merchants is a hard one indeed.

He needs to study the plans and methods which have enabled
the other fellow to get ahead.
The store that knows the best
how to please the buying public will get the business. Salespeople must know the value of prompt and cheerful service.
The manager must know instead of guess the status of his business.

It is reported that there were 4,013 business failures in the United States last year. Nine-tenths of these failures were caused by wrong methods or no methods. Laziness, carelessness, mistakes, indifference and forgotten charges are the leaks
through which most of the profits got away.

A successful merchant is one who distributes the responsibilities of details among his employees. He will have a competent man in charge of deliveries, another in charge of telephone orders, another in charge of accounts, another credits, a buyer, an advertising man, etc., thus specializing each in his work and making for efficiency. A jack of all trades is a thing of the past. Give a man one special thing to do and he will soon become an expert in this one specialized branch, but make him do everything, and everything will suffer.

Advertising is the most important item. There is no part of a business that is more interesting when it is properly understood. Necessarily newspaper advertising is the cheapest,
quickest and best way of reaching the public. But be sure to make it effective by using better selected type, no big words, discreet, moderate statements, well-placed white space, frequent changes, with still something about each advertisement the same so that it will become associated in the public mind with the store.

Everything in advertising should be directed towards causing the patron to mount the five steps towards patronage of the store—attention, interest, desire, confidence and action.

There is no substitute for personal salesmanship, nor any limit to its possibilities. In attention to customers, or trying to get them to see something not wanted, permitting the store to be "jst out" of articles, lack of patience and lack in dealing with those hard to please, etc., will lose many a customer, and once lost they are hard to regain.

The clerk with a smile is a big asset to a store or any other business. Give customers what they ask for, prompt and courteous treatment, and when their wants are satisfied do not fail to call attention to other desirable articles. Be a real admirer of your goods. Be patient with those who do not buy. They may be the customers of tomorrow.

But above all let the public
know what you have for sale.
Advertising is necessary to first draw them to your store, and once there you should make it so they will want to come again.
Do not be afraid of printer's ink,
but remember what John Wanamaker said, that if he had three thousand dollars to start in business with, he would invest one thousand of it in a stock of goods and the other two thousand in advertising.

TWO AUTO ACCIDENTS ON THIS WEEK'S LIST

Woman Was Seriously Injured In One and She Is Now In Peninsula General Hospital.

On Sunday night about eight o'clock
another very serious automobile accident happened, when a party by the name of Douglass, of Laurel, ran into the rear of a dearborn on the road near Delmar.

It seems that Douglass was driving his car and tried to pass another automobile, when he ran into the rear of the dearborn. Mrs. James Sheridan was seated in the rear seat of the vehicle and she was thrown out and sustained cuts around the face and fingers and her right leg was crushed and broken. A car occupied by Paul Haating and Clayland Calson picked her up and rushed her to a physician in Delmar, who rendered first aid, and she was then rushed to the Peninsula
General Hospital at Salisbury.

At the hospital on Monday it was stated that Mrs. Sheridan was getting along as well as could be expected.
It is reported here that this is one of numerous automobile accidents in which this Douglass has been involved in the past few weeks.

An accident which resulted in a horse being badly cut about the nose and face and an Olds automobile being somewhat damaged occurred at a corner on North Second street, Delmar, Saturday night. Dr. S. H. Lynch was driving his car near the corner
when a horse driven by Mr. Jack Phillips rounded the corner and ran directly into the car. The horse's nose struck full into the windshield of the car, breaking it and cutting the horse about the face and nose. The car, besides a broken windshield, had its fenders badly bent and was otherwise badly damaged. None of the occupants were hurt.

ANNUAL MEETING DELAWARE CORN GROWERS ASSOCIATION

The Delaware Corn Growers Association will hold its fourteenth annual corn show in the Armory, Newark, December 28 to 30, in co-operation with the Farmers' Short Course conducted by Delaware College.

Cash prizes amounting to $500 will be awarded for the best exhibits of corn, wheat, soy beans, cowpeas and other legume seeds. Special classes are provided for the boys' corn club exhibits, the boys' five-acre corn contest exhibits and for the subordinate granges of the state. The State College has provided a fine silver cup which will be awarded annually to the grange making the best exhibit of three-ten-acre samples of corn. The cup will not become the property of any grange until it is won three successive years.

RUNAWAY PRISONER IS AGAIN APPREHENDED

The Sussex authorities succeeded in capturing Tuesday Ray Lewis, negro,
of Sharptown, who three weeks ago was sentenced to serve six months in the Sussex county jail for larceny, but escaped while in the custody of Paul Johnson, son of Sheriff William O.
Johnson, while he was in a field at work. The negro slipped up behind young Johnson and hit him with a pair of pliers on the back of the head, inflicting a wound about two inches long and rendering him unconscious.
In a few seconds, however, the young man was on his feet and saw Lewis running. A posse at once set to work to find him, and after a chase of about six hours he was rounded up in the vicinity of Laurel and returned to the jail at Georgetown.

SEVERAL HURT IN AUTOMOBILE COLLISION

Two persons were injured and two automobiles smashed beyond recognition when the cars of Robert Allen, of Cannott, and Arthur Smith, of Frederica, collided, Sunday night, at Chapel Branch, one mile from Seaford.

Smith had in his car, besides himself, his wife and her father, of their way to Cambridge Hospital to visit a sick relative. In the car with Allen were his brother, Jesse, and James Burton, of Seaford.

When the cars came together all the occupants were hurled out. Robert Allen received severe cuts on the arm and bruises while Smith suffered lacerations of the head and body.
The others escaped with minor injuries.

THE NEWS' BULLETIN SERVICE IN DELMAR APPEARS

Delmar School Boys Are Good Carpenters

When New Tables For School Are Needed They Go To Work And Make Them.

The Agricultural Class of Delmar moved into new quarters this year.
When moving was done, just before school opened, there were no tables available and it was necessary to have them in order to have something upon which to work.

The class was not to be held up and the boys decided to make the tables
under the guidance of the instructor
and as part of the farm shop work.
Three strong tables thirty inches wide and twelve feet long, were built very efficiently for the cuts are square
the joints snug, unions tight and surfacing smoothly done. The tables are not only excellent in appearance, but they are also strong enough to stand hard wear and at the same time, tight enough to be easily handled and moved. Then they were stained and varnished.

All of this work was done by the boys in the department of Vocational Agriculture and much credit is due these young men for their enthusiasm and efficiency in handling tools.

LAUNCHING OF BIG BARGE AT SEAFORD

One of the two large barges being built at the Sussex Marine Railway, Seaford, was launched Wednesday and the other is expected to take to the water in a few weeks. They are twin boats, each measuring 92 feet long, 28 feet wide and 12 feet deep. When completed they will be used in Baltimore harbor. The railway has been doing quite a lot of work since Vane Brothers, of Baltimore, purchased it last June. As soon as the present lot of work is finished, a fleet of fishing steamers will enter the railway for repairs.

FIRE CAUSED BY ELECTRIC IRON DOES MUCH DAMAGE

A fire, which was caused by an electric iron, did considerable damage in the home of Mr. George Hartman in this town, on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs.
Hartman was using the iron in the morning and after finishing her work left the iron on the board. About five hours later she discovered the fire and it was extinguished with considerable difficulty before it got beyond control.

Large Crowd Came Stayed Late The News As MANY LADIES SHOW INTEREST IN

Crowd Was A Good Natured Took The Results As A Good Grace, Delmar Bell
Chief Operator, Handed
Service Election Night.

That the people of Delmar clated the efforts of The News them the election results from state and nation was evident tion night when hundreds gathered on Railroad Avenue
the news as flashed here and ed immediately by The News
sentative.

As the returns came in a drift of the presidential state and district results heard, sometimes weak and overwhelming, as they came timents of the crowd which

Owing to the heavy rain
the country, occasioned by voting for the first time, the slow in starting, but after gan it came thick and fast, who had waited patiently
warded by getting the news
it was received.

Many ladies were in the
they were provided chairs on side of the old German & Bryan's restaurant by the proprietors,
they seemed to fully appreremarks heard from these voters simply showed that may be sure that they they were not understand that all times, and been pursued seasoned veter-
ence.

That the interest
was also proven by the
of the crowd remaining sma' hours, not feeling go home until they knew the who was elected. As the however, the crowd began to away reluctantly, apparently overstayed their time, if they give their employers an honest day's labor the next day.

The crowd was good natured took the results as they came, whic-er they suited or not, and were typical evidences of the willingness of the American people to abide by the majority rule.

The special telephone which been installed for the use of those remained at home was also a busy instrument all the evening kept ringing until the early hours Wednesday morning, and those sought information in this way were given the results as fast as possible.

The service as rendered was complete as it was possible to give every detail of the arrangements being effected by The News in agement in advance. Of course News could not make the election specials count the vote any faster once the result was found it was mediately flashed to the news crowd.

The News wishes to thank owners of the German & Bryan's restaurant for the use of their fire, lights and chair which they willingly furnished on this occasion.
They also wish to thank the Chief operator of the Delmar office of the Telephone Company for the excellent manner in which she handled great increase of business. The vice was perfect, and the service treatment received could been improved upon.

Pleased or not pleased with the results of this election, the Delmar are at least pleased service rendered them
on this occasion.

BOY WANTONLY SHOT
BY RIOTOUS NEGROES

William Kenney, Jr., who makes his home in Seaford with his great-grandfather, William Kenney, was shot, Tuesday, while walking down the State Road with two companions. As the boys neared Herring Run Branch, an automobile loaded with negroes came along, one of the negroes whipping out a revolver and firing at the boys as the machine flew up the road. The ball struck young Kenney in the leg, inflicting an ugly, but not dangerous, wound. He was helped home by his companions and the matter reported, and though efforts have been made to learn who the negroes in the car were, the efforts have proved futile.

ELECTION QUIET AND VOTERS ARE OUT EARLY TUESDAY

The election passed off quietly in Delmar on Tuesday. On both the Maryland and Delaware sides, the voters were out early and thereby saved the usual rush at the closing hour. The women especially seemed to take the advice to "vote early" and were on hand in large numbers when the polls opened.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS IN SUSSEX COUNTY

Things Transpiring In All Sections
Of the County To The North
Of Wicomico.

Isaac Giles, of Laurel, a retired farmer, is seriously ill at his home and in view of his advanced age his condition is considered critical.

Sussex County Commissioners have men at work graveling the road from Brown's Bridge to Middleford, a distance of one mile, at a cost of $250.

The late residence and 22 acres of land belonging to Charles B. Houston, of Millsboro, were sold Thursday to Ex-Congressman Henry A. Houston and Robert I. Houston for $16,540.

Harvey D. Williams, nephew of Joseph Williams, of Seaford, now assistant cashier of the Eastern Shore Trust Co., of Federalsburg, has been appointed cashier of the Sussex Trust Co., of Laurel.

Members and friends of St. John's M. E. Church, of Seaford, have raised enough money to clear off the indebtedness on the improvements made to the church and parsonage, amounting to more than $4,000.

Joseph C. Collison, retired Seaford merchant, is making extensive improvements to his home property on Conwell street, by having a heating apparatus installed and other changes to the extent of $1,000.

Mrs. I. John Collins, of Laurel, who was seriously injured about two months ago by falling from a chair in which she was standing while disconnecting an electric iron from the light socket, is rapidly recovering.

Laurel community was greatly sorrowed Thursday afternoon by the death of Mrs. Elizabeth Jennie Wright, one of the most prominent and highly respected women in this part of the county. Mrs. Wright was 77 years of age and was a sister of the late Benjamin Fooks.

L. H. Staub and wife, of Missouri, are visiting their former home in Seaford, making the trip east all the way by automobile, a distance of about 1,200 miles. Mr. Staub says he and his wife are now located near the Ozark Mountains. They will make the return trip also by automobile.

The Broadkill oystermen have about decided to quit oystering as the price has gone down from 75 cent a basket to 50 cents. The oysters are in prime condition just now and so plentiful that on many days the oystermen make two trips to the oyster beds, catching as high as 18 and 20 bushels a day.

Archie Purse, son of D. Edward Purse, of Seaford, received a severe break of the arm while assisting his father to store sweet potatoes in a potato house. He was at work on the second floor when he accidentally stepped on a trap door, falling to the floor below, fracturing his arm and hurting his side and shoulder.

Invitations have been issued to the marriage of Charles J. West, assistant cashier of the First National Bank, of Seaford, and Miss Sella Whitfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Whitfield, of Suffolk, Va., formerly of Seaford. The wedding will take place at Suffolk on Saturday, November 6, in the First Presbyterian Church. After their wedding tour the newly-weds will return to Seaford and occupy the Hiram Brown property on King street.

Seaford and Blades canners are now running their canneries on sweet potatoes and thousands of baskets of the sweets are now being put in cans. This means the giving of employment to hundreds of persons in this section at a time when they would not otherwise be employed. It also means the using of not only prime potatoes but the seconds and culls can be utilized to much advantage, and thus the farmers can get rid of his seconds and culls on a profitable basis.

Carl Johnson, negro, whose home is at Bridgeville, has been taken into custody by the Bridgeton, N. J., authorities by whom he is charged with tying and robbing Roy Gaskill, a taxi driver of that city and then stealing the car. Johnson is under indictment at Georgetown for killing Joseph Cannon in a fight over a card game, but Sussex county authorities never have been able to apprehend him and his whereabouts were not known until communication was had between the local authorities and officers of Bridgeton.

PREDICTS $3 WHEAT WITHIN NINETY DAYS

Secretary of Growers' Association Says Farm Strike Will Be Felt In All Parts of Country.

Whether farmers of the Southwest are obeying a "strike call" issued recently by the Wheat Growers' Association in the form of a proclamation, calling upon its members in several states to withhold their wheat from the market until a basic price of $3 a bushel was reached, could not be ascertained.

Reports from some grain market centres attributed decreases in the wheat supply received and an increase in price to the proclamation. No widespread curtailment of wheat offerings was reflected in the grain markets of the Southwest, grain men said.

Wheat will go to $3 per bushel within 90 days, due to the refusal of the association members to sell, the secretary predicted, prior to receipt of news that the market in Chicago had stiffened, due to the reported falling off of deliveries. McGreevy said he expected no increase for 30 days, by which time the farmers will have made their strike felt.

Sixty days more will see the goal of $3 wheat attained, he said.

By Margaret Steele Hard.

Not long ago I was startled to hear a small neighbor remark to my equally small daughter, "I don't think Father and Mother are very good parents. Father's too severe and Mother's too easy."

The whole matter of discipline seems to have been put in a nut shell
by this youthful judge; for as one observes parents, he discovers that they are generally of one of these types.

The severe parent is perhaps less prevalent. His severity is born either of fundamental misconceptions regarding children and their needs, or of selfish desire to restrain and curb, so that his own freedom may suffer no annoyance or inconvenience; or most deplorable of all, it is the result of his own ill-temper.

Let us illustrate these types of severity. First, the child who is denied some harmless pleasure, for example:
"Mary, don't get water in that teapot! I can't have you dripping water all over the house. What? Well, pretend there's water in it—it's just as good." But it isn't, as any little girl with a teapot can tell you.

Contrast this severity which is caused by lack of imagination and sympathy on the part of the parent with the severity of the second variety, that which is selfish in its origin.

"Ellen, stop romping, and behave like a lady!" But Ellen is ten and should not be asked to be a lady. In fact no one would be more distressed,
than her mother, should the child suddenly arrive at the stage of maturity.
It is simply that her mother is disturbed by her activity.

And lastly, consider the exhibition of infuriated parenthood, from which we turn our eyes as from unspeakable shame.

"Come here this instant, or I'll give you such a whipping you'll never forget it! Stop that yelling, do you hear? Stop that yelling!" and the ad-monishing voice of the irritable parent reaches a scream as he slaps and jerks about the frightened child.

The opposite extreme of the deplorably uncontrolled parent is the "easy parent" who is generally the mother.
She suffers from shortsightedness.
She seems to forget that in a very short time her boy or girl must live in a world that will not so readily excuse and cajole as she; that Sarah's whims and Richard's petulance will not be looked upon by the general public as odd, little outshoots of human nature; but as weeds, pure and simple. Nor does she seem to realize that faults in a little child, steadily nurtured, instead of being outgrown become in growing!

"Sarah, what can Mother get for you—don't you like your dinner,
dear?" and Mother, weary after preparing the family meal, snatches a bite here and there between trips to and from the pantry as she brings such food as Sarah's whims demand;
while Sarah watches with aly eye, fully aware of her power.

What conclusion does one gain from observing parents with their children?
That the indispensable qualities for parenthood are understanding sympathy coupled with firmness. Not uncontrolled demands for obedience, but steadfast reasonableness which creates confidence and love when it goes hand in hand with an eager desire to live understandingly in the child's world.

For after all, discipline is very much like a salad. Its perfection depends upon the proper combination of ingredients, given in right proportion.
There must be sufficient oil to assist in soothing too severe a tang of vinegar, but not enough to neutralize, just a dash of pepper and mustard; and finally the hand which mixes it with the tender green—that is the touch of personality which perfects it!

A very delightful surprise party was given Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Loomis of East New Market, on Monday night, it being the 50th anniversary of their marriage. Mr. and Mrs.
Loomis were invited out of town to summer and during their absence a number of their friends took charge of their home, completely transforming it for the occasion. The decorations were of autumn leaves, dahlias and chrysanthemums and were most attractive. When Mr. and Mrs.
Loomis returned home during the evening they were greeted by a great number of people who had gathered to extend their congratulations and best wishes. Refreshments were served consisting of fruit punch, ice cream and cake. Mr. and Mrs. Loomis received a number of handsome gifts including a dinner set of china and a

"Why, Nellie, you are a confirmed window shopper! Here I have my arms full of bundles, and outside of a spool of thread you have not bought a single thing."

"Because the spool of thread was all I needed," replied Mrs. Nellie Wharton cheerily.

Elsie Brandt, her married sister, looked thoughtful and unsatisfied.
She had come to the city from the home of her husband and mother at Cleston, visiting Nellie for the first time since her marriage. Elsie had been somewhat disappointed to find the bride of a year living in a cheap, modest three-room flat, palpably economical in household outlay, her husband a traveling salesman from home
most of the time, and, although she had joined her guest in making the rounds of the stores and had looked at and admired the contents of the display windows, Nellie had made one insignificant purchase.

"And look at the dream of a skirt, Nellie!" enthused Elsie. "Marked low, too. Why don't you buy it? Your dress looks positively shabby and I do believe it is one you had before the wedding."

"That is true, Elsie," responded Nellie, "but it will have to do for a spell
yet. You see, Ronald and I are living on a settled basis of expenditure, and I have to be careful."

When Elsie Brandt went home she aired her suppressed grievances fully.
Nellie had not told her much about her own domestic affairs, appeared happy as a lark, but Elsie was impressed with the idea that Ronald was either a poor provider or earning very little money.

"I declare! about all Nellie has is the commonest dress goods, but I noticed in a wardrobe some fancy shirts
of her husband that must have cost a lot."

"Calico wife, silk husband, eh?" suggested her mother.

"Come to think of it, I fancy you have hit the nail on the head," observed Elsie's husband. "I happened across Ronald Wharton in Belleville last week. He was rolling by in a deluxe automobile in charge of a liveried chauffeur. 'Dressed up to the nines.'
Actually he was a sort of fashion-plate—a pink of perfection as to attire and makeup, I won't say foppish, Ronald is tasteful and knows how to wear good clothes, but doesn't stint himself, that is sure."

Uncommunicative Nellie might have enlightened her carping relatives had she been present. The fact was that her husband was following a rather particular line of business calling for neatness, precision and effect. He was no poseur, but he appreciated and valued the influence of personal impressions. Ronald was traveling for a publishing concern putting out high class sets of books, and catered only to families of fashion and wealth.
Whenever he made a town, as the saying is, he followed selected social leaders. His immaculate attire and naturally gentlemanly ways won recognition.

Just after he married Nellie the business house he had been with for many years removed to distant headquarters and he looked about for a new connection.

"It means putting a thousand miles between ourselves and your family folk," he told Nellie, "if I go with them. To break into a new line will be experimental, but I believe I have an offer worth working out."

He told Nellie all about the book selling proposition. It would take about all the ready cash he had to equip himself rightly and stand traveling expenses for 60 days ahead. The commissions tendered were very generous, and if he met with any pretentious measure of success there was an assurance of an income treble that he had received in his old position.

Heart and soul wise, prudent, calculating Nellie entered into the proposition of the hour. She scaled down household expenses to a narrow minimum. She declared she was outfitted completely as to attire for a full year ahead. If sister Elsie had been with Nellie when she assisted her husband in getting ready for the road, she would have been fairly appalled.
Handsome of face and well built, brisk of manner and naturally graceful of poise, her adorable better half indeed knew how to wear good clothes, and Nellie insisted on his providing himself with the very best.

It was six months after her first visit to the city that Elsie wrote her sister that both she and her mother had arranged to spend a week with her.

"I have made over two of my old gowns," Elsie told her mother. "They will fill in some of the dreariness of Nellie's wardrobe."

"Yes, poor child! and I am going to cheer her up with a present of fifty dollars for a winter coat," added Mrs.
Dubois.

Ronald was at home in a new and larger flat when the visitors arrived, spruce, jolly, delightfully habited as usual, which Mrs. Dubois secretly resented until Nellie burst into the room to welcome her.

Elsie stared at the marvel of elegance and luxury. The reward of economy, sacrifice and patience had come richly to those two, and when the story of the same came out Elsie realized that there was no further need of Nellie continuing to be "a window shopper!"

BEAVER BOARD

FOR BETTER WALLS & CEILINGS

At First or At Last?

Sooner or later you will have Beaver Board that room.

The one question is whether you will do it at first or at last. While a surprisingly large amount of Beaver Board is used for the purpose of covering over worn-out lath and plaster walls, you never heard of anyone putting lath and plaster over Beaver Board. When a Beaver Board wall or ceiling is up, it's up to stay.

Why not have your Beaver Board room at first instead of at last and avoid the extra job and extra cost?

Beaver Board is a lumber product built up from the fibre of clean white spruce. It comes in sturdy, durable, handsomely-surfaced panels without a crack, knot or blemish. It will last as long as the building in which it is used. It resists heat, cold and sound better than lath and plaster. It is completely sanitary and easy to apply. Warping is prevented by a special patented process which no other wallboard is licensed to employ.

Let's talk it over.

THE MAN-ABOUT-TOWN.

*Scraps He Picks Up Here, There
And Everywhere.*

Farmers generally are digging the sweet potato crop and from reports received the acreage is the largest ever known in Wicomico county. The quality is also said to be fine, the yield per acre being above the average. Prices, however, are not so high as at this time last year and for this reason most farmers will likely store the bulk of their crops. A few carloads have been shipped the past few days, mostly to New York, but there is a decided determination among the largest growers to use the storage houses in order to hold the tubers for an advance in price later on.

It is said that several mammoth storage houses have been built this year in lower Sussex and Wicomico counties in anticipation of a large business in the storage line than in former years. The potato crop in Sussex, is, lie Wicomico, the largest ever known, both as to acreage and yield. With the prices of other farm crops on the decline, the sweet potato growers are fearful that this crop will sell at low prices this winter. Several canneries, I understand, will be operated this fall in Wicomico county, guaranteeing a ready market for thousands of bushels of small potatoes. A few of the canneries are already in operation.

I had occasion to visit Milford, Del., a few days ago on business and was surprised to see that the old National Hotel had been sold and was undergoing changes which will fit it for a business block. The old National was one of the well-known hostilities of Delaware for years and was a favorite meeting place for Delaware politicians. The new owner proposes to tear down the old building, and to erect a modern one on the site, containing stores, a moving picture hall, a garage in the rear, and modern apartments on the upper floors.

George W. McBride, of Boonsboro, who holds the record of having taught public schools for a period of 50 years, in an interview printed in the Boonsboro Times takes a fling at present-day school management and he says most plainly that he is not in accord with the present-day methods of education and believes the old-time plan was much more conducive to good training in the fundamentals of learning.

David H. Wyand of Keedyville, who recently celebrated his nineteenth birthday anniversary, is said by the Hagerstown Globe to have spent the day on a trip to the old John Brown farm, at Harper's Ferry, some 12 or 15 miles from his home and ate his birthday dinner on this historic farm, "where it may be said that that plans, which partly led to the beginning of the Civil War, were laid."

A large flock of wild geese flying over Salisbury and squaking vigorously attracted attention about 7 o'clock last Thursday evening. As they were flying northward some said, "That is a sure sign of an open winter."

Another man said, "Well the bee proved that too, as the honeycomb is so thin it will hardly hold the honey." Another said, "The corn husk is not as heavy as when we have a hard winter."

We hope these prophecies are true, for a mild winter will be welcomed by hundreds of people with empty coal bins—and The Man About Town is, unfortunately, one of this class.

I noticed in a recent issue of the New York World a special dispatch from Tangier Island, which will prove interesting reading. I reproduce it: "Inhabitants of this island are awaking to the requirements of the times. They have just purchased five fast seaplanes from a representative of the Marine Air Transportation and Manufacturing Company. Acquisition of so many planes by a community of only 1,200 inhabitants must seem extraordinary when it is disclosed that there is neither an automobile nor a carriage of any kind here. Most of the traffic is handled in wheelbarrows.

"Many of the older residents have never left its shores. Automobiles, steam cars and trolleys are unknown to them. There is but one physician here and the seaplanes will be used among other purposes to procure outside medical help in case of emergency. Their other uses will be to transport critically ill or injured persons to Crisfield Hospital for treatment, and as an aid to net-fishing.

"The planes will also be used commercially. That the residents will not tolerate inquisitive interference in their affairs was manifested a short time ago when a moving-picture operator was driven away and his machine smashed when he attempted to take pictures.

"The operator's visit followed the nation-wide publicity of the shooting of a 17-year-old boy by the island constable for violation of a Sunday ordinance. When the boy refused to go into his house, as ordered by the marshal, a scuffle followed and the boy was shot. The constable is now serving a term in the penitentiary for the shooting.

"It was on Tangier that the 'Island Parson,' Rev. Joshua Thomas, preached to the Methodists for 50 years.

The island is also known as the place of encampment of the British Admiral Cockburn's forces in their war on the villages of the Chesapeake in 1812.

WORCESTER COUNTY NEWS IN BRIEF

A novel way of communication was introduced a few days ago, when a carrier pigeon was used to bear a message confirming a business transaction. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Ardis, of near Nassawango, went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. McKee, near Snow Hill, to look at a cow, which Mr. McKee was offering for sale. Mr. and Mrs. Ardis liked the cow, the price was agreed upon, and he told Mr. McKee he would take the cow, provided his wife did not change her mind before they reached home. Mr. McKee suggested that they take one of his carrier pigeons, and release it on their arrival home, with a message stating their decision. In about an hour, the pigeon arrived home, with the following message from Mr. Ardis: "Just a line to let you know we got home all safe with the pigeon and hope it will be all right when it gets back to your home. Will look for you tomorrow morning with the cow. Sent by a homer pigeon—the local mail carrier."—Snow Hill Messenger

A number of the patrons of Whaleyville public school met at the school building on the afternoon of Thursday and organized a School Improvement Association electing Mrs. John Dale as president. Other officers including a vice-president, a secretary and a treasurer were elected and committees were chosen to assist in carrying out the very constructive program for school improvement which has been adopted.

The annual meeting of the Worcester County Medical Society was held in Snow Hill Tuesday. The meeting was altogether quite a successful affair. Questions both scientific and otherwise were freely discussed. The following officers were elected for next year: President, Dr. Norman E. Sartorius, Pocomoke City; vice-president, Dr. Charles A. Holland, Berlin; secretary-treasurer, Dr. R. L. Hall, Pocomoke City; delegate to the State Society, Dr. John L. Riley, Snow Hill; alternate delegate, Dr. A. A. Parker, Pocomoke City; censor, Dr. John D. Dickerson, Stockton. At the conclusion of the meeting most of those present took dinner at Purnell's Hotel.

To Build Well At The Beginning Is Better Than To Repair All Your Life

If you make the mistake of buying building materials by price only, you will find it a costly one. Undersized, improperly seasoned timbers that cannot stand the strains for which they are used are poor investments no matter how little you may pay for them.

Careful attention to the requirements of your materials will nearly always save you the expense of frequent repairs, and will add greatly to the worth of your investment. The cost of a long series of repairs will more than outweigh the little additional cost of building right in the first place. For example, it is always better to repair a leaky roof than to pay for the damage it may cause; and it is always best to build that roof right in the first place, say with Red Cedar Shingles—the kind that last a life-time—and save not only the cost of repairs but also the cost of damage from leaks.

If you contemplate building either now or in the future, be sure to see us and talk over your problems. We believe our service is of such a nature that you can derive material benefit from it.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried everything I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe it I hadn't heard of Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since. I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too. At all druggists. E 85

THE EASTERN SHORE TO CULTIVATE FLAX

N. Y. Financiers Asking Farmers To Contract For 50,000 Acres For Elk Mills Plant.

Agents representing New York financiers are canvassing the farmers of Delaware and the Eastern Shore of Maryland with a view to the cultivation of flax on a large scale. The farmers are asked to contract to plant 60,000 acres of flax in the spring and to deliver it to the big plant that is just being completed at Elk Mills, Md., where it will be transformed into thread ready for textile mills. It is understood that the farmers will be paid $40 a ton for the fibre, and that from one and a half to two tons may be grown on an acre.

According to information that has reached here this is but the beginning of an industry that will eventually be extended to all parts of the United States, and to some of the foreign countries, and that this projected wholesale disposal of flax has been made possible recently through the discovery of a chemical process of treatment that eliminates the long and expensive rotting and tanning.

This newly discovered process cures the fibre in less than a day, whereas months were required under the old method. It is proposed that each year the acreage of the crop will be multiplied rapidly, and that from 60,000 acres next year farmers here and in Delaware and adjacent states will be engaged to plant 500,000 acres in flax; and the gain each year is expected to maintain this ratio of increase until it will exceed the total acreage of cotton in this country.

It is proposed to export a large amount of the fibre to Europe, notably to England and France, where it is especially in great demand, and where it is especially sought by manufacturers of air and water planes. The reduction of the cost in manufacture by the new method will make the cloth or linen, cheaper than the ordinary cotton goods, and it is predicted that flax will eventually take the place of cotton, for the reason that it can be cultivated and harvested with a minimum of manual labor.

The new plant at Elk Mills is almost completed and is receiving its machinery; by spring it will be ready to care for all the yield of the fibre raised next season. It is regarded as the central plant, and others are planned for erection in various parts of the country during the coming summer, so that there will be a group of these mills in operation throughout the country wherever flax may be grown. It is understood that the test of the curing process has been tried out carefully in the last two years and that it has met every expectation.

There is much speculation as to the undertaking among the few who have been made acquainted with the details. Among other claims is one that will make the United States the chief flax-producing country in the world, and that it will almost wholly supersede cotton, because of its superiority and because of the lower price possible under the new process.

It is understood that the proposition has been amply financed, and that the company will be incorporated in one of the Eastern states for $1,000,000. All the money required for the enterprise has been provided by New York capitalists.

It means that 10,000,000 acres of land in this country will be devoted to the culture of flax and that it will enable the farmers to turn from the overproduction of wheat and corn—which seems inevitable with a lessening of the consumption by the prohibition of the manufacture of liquors—to a new crop that will pay them 100 per cent more than the average value of the cereals or forage.

BISHOP COOK VISITS A HISTORICAL CHURCH

The Newly Elected Prelate Attends An All-Day Meeting Near Seaford, Del.

More than a thousand persons attended the all-day services at old Christ P. E. Church, Broad Creek, nine miles from Seaford, on Sunday. Rt. Rev. Philip Cook, Bishop of Delaware, preached his first sermon as bishop to an assemblage that overflowed this historic church built before the Revolutionary War, while hundreds were attentive listeners from the outside.

The Bishop made a forceful impression upon his people, and said this was the first time he had been in harness in Seaford, and although the diocese was not large, he intended to keep the harness well oiled and hoped in a short time to know personally every communicant.

Nearly every town and parish in Sussex county was represented, also a large number from Wicomico county, Md.

The three vested choirs of St. Luke's Church, Seaford; St. Philip's, Laurel, and St. Mark's, Delmar, numbering more than 50, were in attendance.

Automobiles, which brought the Episcopalians to the church, were parked everywhere about the historic edifice and many who brought their mid-day meal with them, partook of it seated in their car, or under one of the stately trees near the church.

THREE HELD FOR ROBBING R. E. POWELL'S

Justice Jones Held A Very Exciting Session Of The Police Court Tuesday.

STATE'S ATTORNEY LONG CONDUCTS PROSECUTION

Prisoners Defended By A. M. Jackson. Justice Jones Holds The Three Prisoners Under Heavy Bail To Await The Action Of The Next Grand Jury.

Police Justice Jones' court was crowded to its full capacity Tuesday morning by persons eager to hear the testimony produced at the preliminary hearing of Ollie Cantwell, Thomas Mitchell and Robert Disharoon, alleged to have been implicated in the burglary of R. E. Powell & Co.'s big department store on the night of October 20th, when goods to the value of $300 to $350 were carried away in dress suit cases.

The prosecution was conducted by State's Attorney Long, while two of the prisoners were defended by Alex. M. Jackson. Cantwell refused to have legal help and conducted his own case. There were several lively tilts between counsel which were repressed by Justice Jones.

The testimony was most conflicting throughout the entire case, the alleged burglars maintaining from the beginning of the trial that they were innocent and that the portion of the stolen articles recovered were purchased from a man whose name neither of the accused men would divulge. They each intimated that they knew the party or parties who burglarized the Powell store, but each refused to inform the officers, saying they would suffer imprisonment rather than divulge any names.

Cantwell swore that he was in no manner connected with the burglary; that the dress suit case and goods found in his possession were purchased by him from a man, whose name he would not divulge, for $60.00. The other two prisoners, Mitchell and Disharoon, were equally as emphatic that they did not have a hand in the burglary, but the chain of evidence was so strongly linked that the prisoners knew more than they were telling, that Justice Jones held each in $4,000 bail ($2,000 for the prisoner and $2,000 for his sureties) for the action of the March Term Grand Jury.

Lawyer Jackson tried to induce the Justice to reduce the bail on the ground that the amount was excessive, but the Justice was obdurate. Mr. Jackson then said he would institute habeas corpus proceedings before the Judges of the Circuit Court and ask a reduction of the bail bond in each case.

Methodists Plan Ocean City Service

Bishop John W. Hamilton of Washington To Dedicate New Church At Ocean Resort.

Methodism in Ocean City until 1914 was hardly an institution to be proud of. For lack of leadership, it was as late as that year before there was a formal organization of a Methodist Society in the town. The institution is therefore, just six years old. From a charter membership of 18 it has grown to a membership of 130 and has a summer following large enough to show the great possibilities of a church in this growing resort.

For a time limited resources permitted thought of only a small building. Some time ago all who were interested in the project were inspired to attempt an undertaking to furnish a building commensurate with the size of Maryland's only coast resort, by an offer from the Methodist denomination to help out to the extent of $65,000. The result was a fine modern building costing $17,000.00 which is to be dedicated next Sunday, November 14th, by Bishop John W. Hamilton of Washington.

Bishop Hamilton will preach Sunday morning at 10 o'clock, dedicate the church at 2 p. m. and preach again at 7:30 p. m. It is expected that large numbers of the Bishop's friends on the Peninsula and friends of the church will motor to the coast for these services.

CORDIAL WELCOME TO THE EASTERN SHORE METROPOLIS

Salisbury is host this week to the great State Agricultural Convention, which has brought to our city hundreds of farmers and business men indirectly interested in farming operations, and for four days—beginning Tuesday night—the agricultural problems will be considered in all their phases. Big men will discuss Organization, Marketing and Legislation affecting the farmer, and there is a great treat in store for the hundreds of people who come to Salisbury this week.

All roads are leading to Salisbury this week and we assure the farmers that a cordial welcome awaits all who come. Our homes are open to make you comfortable; the keys to the city are in your hands; we welcome you, one and all, and may your deliberations redound to the good of the great farming interests!

Come, and stay as long as you want to, for we know that you will carry away with you pleasant recollections of the warm-hearted hospitality which will be yours while you stay!

Violent Prisoner Severely Punished

Escaping Sussex Prisoner, Who Beat Sheriff's Son, Gets Additional Sentence of Two Years.

Raymond Lewis, of Sharptown, convicted at the October term of Sussex county court on a charge of stealing chickens and sentenced to serve six months in jail, and who subsequently attempted to escape from the custody of Paul Johnson, by hitting him on the head with a pair of pliers and inflicting a severe wound, entered a plea of guilty to assault with intent to commit murder before Judge H. C. Conrad, of Georgetown. He was sentenced to serve two years in prison and pay a fine of $200.

M. D. AND V. ANNOUNCES WHOLESALE LAY-OFF

Many Veteran Employees Are Affected By Move on the Part Of Eastern Shore Railroad.

Owing to slack business along the entire line, the Maryland, Delaware & Virginia Railway Company has laid off many of its employees indefinitely. Every branch of the division, from clerical forces to section labor, has been affected by the layoff. Many of those whose services have been dispensed with have been employed by the railroad company for years.

The only reason given for cutting down the number of employees is that their services are not needed at present time, owing to the slump in transportation.

It is said by those in authority that there is little likelihood of the force returning to normal until next spring, unless freight and passenger business makes a considerable increase, and this is not looked for at the present time.

Several weeks ago a large number of the employees of the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk Railroad were laid off, owing to a slowing decrease of business. About that time there were also rumors that the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway Co. contemplated taking the same course. There are again rumors to the same effect and much uneasiness is felt by the employees.

It is felt, however, that the laying off of railroad employees is only temporary and that by early spring business will revive to such an extent that all the old employees will be recalled.

UNLAWFUL TO PARK CAR ON DIVISION ST., NEAR P. O.

About two weeks ago the City Council passed a ruling making it unlawful to park cars along Division street, between Church and Main streets. Since that time several cars have been tagged and on second offense the drivers will be hauled before a magistrate with fine and costs the verdict.

Division street has usually been in a congested condition due to the parking of cars on both sides of the street and only last week an accident resulted in two cars trying to pass through the narrow space that remained. General traffic will be very much better along Division street if this rule is enforced.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS IN SESSION TUESDAY

The County Commissioners were in session Tuesday. Very little important business came up for consideration.

Eugene Oliphant was instructed to have the Douglass road improved with clay at a cost not exceeding $300.

OFFICERS ON TRAIL OF SIDNEY WRIGHT

Was Seen Near Delmar Monday Night But Got Away Before Officers Arrived.

Sidney Wright, colored, who is wanted by the Wicomico authorities on the charge of shooting a colored man over in Jersey, during a dispute over a game of craps, is still eluding the officers.

Wright has been reported in this vicinity several times since the shooting and the officers have promptly gone after him, but somehow or other Wright manages to elude them.

Monday of this week word came from Delmar that the fugitive was in that neighborhood. As soon as possible Sheriff Larmore and two or three Salisbury cops jumped in an automobile and made a quick run to the town, but search in every direction failed to find elusive Sidney, although the officers believe they were on his trail several times.

One of the detectives of the Delaware Division came unexpectedly on the fugitive one day last week. The detective was coming south on the evening mail train, and when the train was entering the Delmar yard he observed a colored man standing on the rear platform. Suspecting that the colored man was the fugitive wanted, the detective asked him if he was not named Wright. Without answering the question the negro jumped from the train and escaped to the freight yard.

Company "I" Gains Seven More Recruits

Public Spirited Young Men Decide The City's Needs Are More Vital Than Their Own Pastime.

John K. Gunby, J. Walter Mitchell, William J. Downing, Jr., Percy Heath, Curtis McCracken, Normal Stiles and Alfred T. Truitt joined Company "I" at the meeting of that organization on Monday night. The addition of these recruits makes a total enrollment for the local company of 46.

Preparations are going forward to muster the company into Federal service on Monday, November 29th. In case enough recruits are not secured to bring the local body to full strength, it is planned to join with it the Crisfield organization as a platoon.

It is not only the hope but the expectation of the military authorities that by the time for Federalization the requisite number of men will have enlisted. Thus will Salisbury take up again her place at the head of the column.

JOHNSON-GILLISS WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

Announcements were received in Salisbury Thursday of the marriage of Mr. Rollie Downing Gilliss and Miss Virginia Dare Johnson, which took place in Baltimore on Wednesday, November 3rd. The young couple are well-known in Salisbury, the bride being a daughter of Captain and Mrs. Edward Johnson and the groom being a son of ex-Sheriff Willie Gilliss, of Quantico. The groom is cashier of the Bank of Fruitland and was formerly assistant cashier of the Salisbury Building, Loan & Banking Association.

The young couple will reside in Salisbury and will be at home to their friends after December 1st.

Messrs. Eugene Messick, of Salisbury, and Guy Long, of Fruitland, have returned after spending several days gunning near Kingston.

GOV. RITCHIE ADDRESSES BIG MASS MEETING

Lays Stress On Educational Feature Of Co-operative Organizations.

FARM FEDERATION HEAD ALSO SPEAKS

J. R. Howard Points Out Two Essentials For Successful Work By Co-operative Associations. Must Have Skilled Man At Head Rather Than Man Skilled Only In Farming.

Governor Albert C. Ritchie addressed a large audience of interested hearers at the Arcade Theater on Tuesday evening upon the occasion of the first mass meeting of the Maryland Agricultural Convention now in progress in this city.

Taking as the subject of his speech the movement among the farmers for co-operative marketing, the Governor in a splendid address held the interest of his audience from the opening to the closing sentence.

He dwelt at some length on the State's interest in agriculture as a fundamental industry and declared that the present state administration fully appreciates and is in sympathy with the difficult problems confronting agriculturists today.

He believes it to be the duty of every citizen to see that the farmer is allowed to make as good a livelihood as could be gained in any other occupation or industry, and urged each individual to do what was in his power to raise and maintain the standard of living on the farm. This belief, the Governor said, is founded on the essentially fundamental character of the agricultural industry, and the dependence of all other industries upon it.

Governor Ritchie said that he believed the farmers can be educated to efficient methods of marketing their products only through organization, and that co-operative organizations would also tend to improve farm methods. His address was peculiarly applicable to the farmers of Wicomico county who have recently organized a co-operative marketing association, and it is believed that the speech will be productive of much good, particularly in this section.

His Excellency also urged the banks to extend short term loans on crops and aid in every other way possible the improvement, expansion, and productivity of the farming industry.

Another speaker of note at the same meeting was J. R. Howard, president of the Farm Federation, who gave a talk on co-operative movements. Mr. Howard pointed out two salient essentials for the success of such movements. The first was that a real need for such organization must exist and that after organization the members of the body must stick together, and the second was that at the head of the organization should be placed a man skilled in marketing rather than one who had spent his life in producing.

CANDIDATES ARE COMING OUT EARLY

Four Candidates for Seaford Postoffice Already in the Field and Others Are Expected.

The Republican victory of Tuesday is bringing forth many candidates for the Seaford postoffice, four Republicans having already announced their candidacy with two more expected to come out at any time.

Those already in the field are: J. Emery Willey, Medford L. Watson, Robert Allen and Walter T. Wallace. The two others who, it is said, will be out for the appointment are Thomas N. Rawlins and Dr. Charles M. Hollis. Rawlins is a former State Treasurer.

The term of the present postmaster, O. W. Short does not expire until October 5, 1921. He is not under the Civil Service. The office pays $2,400 per year.

THE CHRISTMAS SEAL CAMPAIGN HAS OPENED

Fight Against Tuberculosis Is Aided Greatly By Sale of Attractive Seals For Envelopes.

The National Tuberculosis Association has for several years carried on the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals with the consent of the American Red Cross, and the Red Cross has been vitally interested in the success of the Association. This year the Red Cross still feels that the right to carry on the campaign should not be denied the National Tuberculosis Association and, furthermore, they are anxious that the attempt should be well financed and successful but careful distinction should be made at this point lest there be misunderstanding.

The Red Cross is not conducting this campaign in any official capacity, either as it applies to chapters, or to the organization as a whole. It is not in any sense a joint enterprise carried on by the two organizations.

It has been decided at National headquarters that the Christmas Seals sold by the National Tuberculosis Association shall no longer bear the emblem of the Red Cross. This is deemed necessary owing to the confusion in the public mind as to the exact relation between the American Red Cross and the National Tuberculosis Association in the matter of the Christmas Seals, a confusion which seemed to be inevitable so long as the seals bore the Red Cross emblem.

For the purpose of the Fourth Roll Call and the Christmas Seal Stamp sale the relationship of the two organizations shall be stated in the following:

1. There is no official connection between the campaign of the National Tuberculosis Association and the American Red Cross.

2. There is to be no use of the Red Cross emblem by the National Tuberculosis Association.

3. The title "American Red Cross" is not to be used on the Tuberculosis Association seal or stamp.

The statement of this relationship at the present time should not be construed as meaning that the American Red Cross is less interested in the success of the National Tuberculosis Association than heretofore. On the contrary, the American Red Cross recognizes the inestimable value of the work of the National Tuberculosis Association and thoroughly approves and sincerely hopes for the success of its campaign.

Memorial Exercises St. Peter's Sunday

American Legion Accepts Invitation Of Dr. Cone To Honor Those Who Died In Battle.

At the regular monthly meeting of the American Legion Monday night at the First Regiment Armory numerous matters of routine business were attended to.

The Legion as a body decided to accept the invitation of Rev. Dr. Herbert Cone to attend Saint Peter's Church Sunday, November 14th, in honor of the men who died in the World War. Members of the Legion are requested to assemble promptly at the Armory at 10:30 Sunday morning and march to church in a body, but uniforms will not be worn.

The executive committee of the local post wishes to impress on the public generally that this memorial service is not at all exclusive but is open to the citizens of the town. Particularly are all former service men, whether or not they are members of the Legion, requested to be present in fitting appreciation of those comrades-in-arms who fell in battle.

The service will be short and appropriate. Special music will be a feature of the occasion.

FOURTH RED CROSS ROLL CALL BEGINS

Second Anniversary Of Signing Of Armistice Chosen As Opening Date For Great Drive.

Its appeal based upon a record of solid achievement during the last year in putting under way its peace-time program of service the Fourth Roll Call of the American Red Cross will begin today. Throughout the length and breadth of the land and even in the far-off possessions of the United States the American people will be given the opportunity to renew allegiance to their Red Cross through the payment of dues for the coming year. An adult membership of approximately 10,000,000 resulted from the Roll Call last year and preliminary reports from all parts of the country indicate that this extent of support will be maintained and possibly exceeded for 1921.

"The Red Cross comes to its Fourth Roll Call with its war task still unfinished and its peace program rapidly developing," says Dr. Livingston Farrand, chairman of the Central Committee, in a message from National Headquarters. "Never were the world and national needs so pressing and the corresponding opportunities for service so great. It is only too evident that the world has not been able even to approach reestablishment after the war. Widespread distress and sickness stare us in the face in Europe and the Red Cross is carrying on to the extent of its resources, in an attempt to answer the call for help. How permanent and far-reaching that answer shall be depends upon the mind and the conscience of the American people."

The Fourth Roll Call will continue wherever necessary, to Thanksgiving day, November 25. For many weeks National Headquarters, the fourteen Divisions and the over 3,500 Chapters have been organizing Red Cross workers everywhere for the big task that is involved in re-enrolling the millions of members. That the success of their efforts may be insured, churches, service men's organizations and fraternal and similar bodies are giving generous co-operation. Not the least important assistance that is being given is that of thousands of societies of the foreign born and the foreign language press which in this way are giving evidence of appreciation for the wide variety of service rendered the immigrant population by the Red Cross.

Preparations for the Roll Call include a novel series of posters, for the most part in text form, describing the peace-time work of the Red Cross in its many phases. Leading all, however, is an adaptation of A. E. Foringer's mighty war-time poster, "The Greatest Mother in the World," portraying the Red Cross of Peace, "Still the Greatest Mother."

An innovation in this Roll Call will be a membership certificate presented to every payer of dues, whether the dues be $1 for Annual Membership or $100 for Patron Membership, as well as a 1921 membership pin and window membership flag. Next Sunday, November 14, has been set apart for Red Cross exercises in the churches, pastors throughout the country having arranged special programs for that day.

HIGHWAYMEN MAKE SEIZURE BOLD HOLDUP

Salesman Held Up On Highway Far From Prince Georges On Wednesday Night.

HAS THRILLING RACE WITH DESPERADO

Second Attempt Within A Week Leads Authorities To Believe Is Operating Near Salisbury. Drivers Are Warned To Take Caution Against Robbers.

The second holdup within a week occurred on the Prince Georges Annapolis road late Wednesday night. A man named Duvall, who works for the Hood Tire Company, was en route to his home, a few miles this side of Prince Georges, when he was stopped and found himself surrounded by two masked highwaymen.

Duvall, who was unarmed, was in his possession about $2,000 belonging to his firm, which he had just earned during the day, would probably have fared badly had not another car coming from the direction of Allen Park suddenly appeared and the rays of light from the latter car caused the robbers to duck behind their own car. Quickly taking advantage of the opportunity Duvall shot around the stalled car and putting on full speed started toward Salisbury.

Looking back Duvall found that he was being closely followed by another car which had been standing at the road where the holdup had occurred in which were two more men whom he took to be accomplices of the masked pair. The race from the on to Moore's Corner was thrilling. When the latter place was reached the salesman turned and went into a field, thereby eluding his pursuers. He feared to follow him, as he was unable to assure himself of the number on the other car and recognized it as an Overland.

The other holdup occurred about a couple of weeks ago on the same road, ex-Sheriff Dryden being stopped at the point of a pistol by a man who jumped on the running board of his car. Dryden, who was accompanied by another man, put on full speed suddenly and threw the would-be robber from the car.

It would appear from these two incidents that a gang of holdup men is operating along our roads at night and those who have to traverse these thoroughfares after dark should take the necessary precautions to prevent the successful operations of these bandits.

PICTURESQUE CAREER OF SEN. SMITH

Veteran Democrat Buried Under Great Republican Land-slide. Held Many Offices.

HAS BEEN IN POLITICS FOR FIFTY LONG YEARS

Has Weathered Many Storms—Was Always Devoted To Interests of His Constituents and Particularly Those On Eastern Shore—He Will Be Missed In Washington.

The News shares with several thousand Democrats on the Eastern Shore the regret that Senator John Walter Smith went down to defeat at the late election. The News—while supporting Harding and Coolidge for President and Vice-President—was equally as ardent in supporting Senator Smith and we have no apologies to make for our course. We gave what we believed to be good reason for our course during the campaign. Senator Smith is a neighbor of ours, having spent his life on the Eastern Shore and having been identified with our business affairs. Thousands of people of all parties know John Walter Smith personally and there is keen regret that he lost out in the great battle last Tuesday. But he has been honored with every political gift except that of the Presidency, and he has served the state and nation with ability and retires with the best wishes of our people.

Senator Smith's political career has been most interesting. The writer would like to recall his wonderful achievements in politics on the Eastern Shore:

Senator Smith has been active in politics for nearly half a century, and for nearly a third of a century he has held public office. He has been State Senator, Congressman, Governor and United States Senator, a unique record and sequence of achievement. It has been the criticism not merely of his enemies, but of independent observers that Senator Smith has not been the constructive force in public affairs, whether of the State or of the nation, that he might have been. Regardless of the measure in which this criticism may be justified, it is indubitable that for many years Senator Smith has been able to get the necessary preponderance of the votes. That he has been a politician and an adroit one will not be denied. It has been the Senator's boast that he has always been glad to help the people of his state. He is credited with being a man who "stands by his friends." He has been a striking example of the efficacy of personal work in politics—the pleasant word to the voter, the friendly shake of the hand.

Senator Smith was first elected to the State Senate of Maryland in 1889 and was successively re-elected in 1893 and 1897. He served as Congressman from the First Congressional district in 1898, and was Governor of Maryland from 1900 to 1904. He was elected by the Legislature to serve the unexpired term in the United States Senate of the late William Pinkney Whyte. This term expired March 3, 1909. Since then, Senator Smith has been elected to the Senate for two successive terms.

Several years ago, while doing a little birthday "reminiscing," he remarked: "It is a curious fact that at one time I was officially a member of the Maryland Senate and of Congress and was Governor of the State. I, of course, resigned two of my commissions when I accepted the third."

Recently, in the advertising columns of some of the Baltimore papers, Senator Smith's record of achievement has been presented by his friends with more sympathy and in greater detail than is feasible in the present sketchy remarks. One of the most striking accomplishments and one of his earliest, was his victorious fight as State Senator for the "free schoolbook bill." Senator Smith's services in connection with the sanatorium at Sabillasville has earned him the gratitude of his State.

Senator Smith has served on various Senatorial committees, including those on Canadian Relations, Coast Defense, Naval Affairs and Appropriations. As chairman of the Senate District Committee, he became "Mayor of Washington." His experience as a lumberman gave him special qualifications for his membership in the Forest Reserve Commission.

Though Tuesday involved Senator Smith in the general Democratic massacre, against the carnage of which only the solid South afforded sanctuary, the Senator and his friends take comfort in the fact that relatively he scored a triumph. Though the majority for Harding in this state was upward of 50,000, Weller's lead over Smith was in round numbers only a third of this figure. So while Senator Smith went down to defeat he is entitled to entwine his individual brow with not a few of the victor's laurels.

The political cataclysm of Tuesday will, among other things, bring to a close the official public career of Senator John Walter Smith.

IN MEMORIAM.

PARSONS—In sad but loving memory of our dear son and brother, Arthur S., who departed this life two years ago today, November 4th.

When the evening shades are gathering, And we are sitting here alone, In our hearts there comes a longing, If you only would come home.

Time cannot heal the wounded heart, Nor fill the vacant chair, We miss our dear son all the time, We miss him everywhere.

To a mound where the ivy is creeping, And the grasses there sad vults keep, Where they say our loved one is sleeping, Our spirits oft wander to weep.

Off we wander to the grave-yard, Flowers to strew with loving care, On the grave of our dear darling, Who is sweetly sleeping there.

Gone in the best of his days, Blighted in manhood's bloom, Torn from our hearts that loved him, To sleep in the silent tomb.

You are not forgotten, dear son, Nor will you ever be, For as long as our memory lasts, We will remember thee.

Gone but not forgotten, BY HIS MOTHER AND FATHER.

TO THE DEMOCRATIC VOTERS OF WICOMICO COUNTY:

At the instance of some friends in this county, I have been requested to become a candidate for Clerk of the Circuit Court, in the coming Democratic primaries. I shall submit my candidacy to the Democratic voters at that time and if I am nominated and elected I will endeavor to fill the public trust in the interest of all the citizens of this county.

Respectfully yours, ALEXANDER D. TOADVIN.

REPUBLICAN VICTORY IS REMARKABLE

Nothing Apparently Left To Cox Except Vote Of The Solid South.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS IS BURIED DEEP

Unprecedented Republican Majorities Reported From All Over The Land
—Congress Strongly Republican In Both Branches—Great Stampede
Back To G. O. P.

Reading the returns of Tuesday's battle of the ballots one is appalled at the magnitude of the victory achieved by the Republicans. Nothing like it has ever occurred in the political history of this country.

The overwhelming triumph that attended the candidates and cause of the Republican party leaves no doubt of the sentiment of the country. It was for a change, a radical change.

Some of the results are fairly stunning. New York's Republican plurality was more than a million, even New York City, home of Tammany Hall and long an impregnable Democratic stronghold in fair party contests, giving a large majority for Harding and Coolidge.

Massachusetts likewise was overwhelmingly Republican, the city of Boston, ordinarily good for 20,000 Democratic majority, turning this margin into a Republican lead of about 30,000.

The Central States went in the same direction by tremendous land-slides. Ohio's Republican majority threatens to exceed 200,000, while Indiana and Illinois likewise joined the rushing torrent of Republican ballots.

The country has gone Republican with a vengeance.

The change is complete. The next national administration will be thoroughly Republican—President and Vice-President, Senate and House.
There will be no divided responsibility.
The victorious political party will have the entire machinery of government under its control. And it is well that this is so.

Many causes may be ascribed for this tremendous reversal of public sentiment, but a few will suffice. In the first place, there was plainly manifest a feeling of dissatisfaction with existing conditions, despite their favorable character as to business and industrial prosperity, and an insistent desire for a change. In the second place, all the hostile alien elements of the country joined unitedly with the Republican party in declaring against the League of Nations. And in the third place, the great bulk of the newly-enfranchised women voters went pell-mell into the Republican party and voted accordingly.

The future is problematical. The country has emphatically voted against the League of Nations, repudiated it enormously. Harding has declared himself favorable to a separate peace with Germany, and this may be the outcome.

The magnitude of Tuesday's verdict in favor of the Republican party is shown in the unprecedented majorities. Just think of such majorities as these: New York, 1,000,000;
Ohio, 400,000; Pennsylvania, 750,000;
Wisconsin, 300,000; Indiana, 200,000;
Iowa, 200,000; Kansas, 200,000; New Jersey, 200,000, etc. Space would fail in attempting to record the tremendous—the colossal—victory for the Republican party on Tuesday!
The Democratic party carried but eight states, all in the Southland. It was indeed a pitiable showing for a great party which had elected Wilson twice.

In many of its aspects the election was unusual. Both the Democratic candidate and his chief managers conceded defeat before enough returns
actually were in to show it in figures.

With the election went what President Wilson characterized as a "solemn referendum" on the League of Nations issue and if it may be said that the electorate regarded their votes as an expression on that question they registered a preference for Harding who declared for "staying out" as against Cox who declared for "going in" with a landslide which exceeded the expectations of the most enthusiastic Republicans.

Republican control of Congress for another two years with an increased House majority and a prospective increase in the Senate was a major part of the election sweep.

A net gain of 20 votes in the House was shown with complete returns from only 17 states, but with most of the Democratic strongholds reporting.

Eight of the 15 Republican Senatorial candidates had come in with substantial leads, while in 10 other states all of the Republican entrants were reported in the van.

For the 19 Democratic Senate seats nine of the minority party should be returned inners—all from Southern States—while in the border and Western States the others were fighting an uphill battle.

President Harding will have a Republican Congress to support his policies in the first two years at least of his administration. The party which was triumphant at the polls Tuesday will have increased majorities in both Houses.

In the State of Maryland the Republican victory was unprecedented.
Harding received 48,000 plurality, something never before heard of in the political annals of this state. He swept into office with him Ovington, E. Weller, Republican candidate for the United States Senate, though Senator John Walter Smith, Mr. Weller's Democratic opponent, has made a better showing than the Democratic national ticket. The Republicans elected four of the six Congressmen from Maryland, only Goldsborough and Lithicum being saved from the wreck.

Despite the cutting which is believed to have been done to Senator John Walter Smith, he made a relatively better showing in his race than did Governor Cox in the Presidential contest in Maryland.

Taken all in all, the election was full of surprises which it is useless to comment upon.

Harding and Coolidge form the fourth national ticket of the Republicans to carry Maryland in the electoral college. In 1864 it went for Lincoln.

In 1896 McKinley carried Maryland

A CHILD'S SUMMARY OF HEALTH RULES

Red Cross Nurse Gives Rules For Keeping Little Ones Fit For Work and Play.

The following resume of a forty-five minute talk on health and hygiene given in a school room down in the mountains of North Carolina, was made by child nine years of age to take home to her mother. The child certainly caught the essential points:

"If ye wash yourself inside and out no pisin will stick to you and make you sick."

"Your mouth was made to eat with and your nose to breath with. Ef ye don't do hit this a way ye might get a sickness."

"Ef you heft to spit, kiver it up with dirt."

"Ye needn't have varmint in yer hed ef ye don't want him. I fergit the name she give the stuff that will kill 'em, but if ye keep clean they won't be any."

"Ef sores air made clean and kep clean ye on't get blood pisin."

"Wormn is dirt come to life in you,
as should not be thar. Wash all garden stuff keeful and clean your spring."

"Ef you keep yer finger nails clean mouth might be a swell pail and ef waste is not got rid of ye might get a fever."

"Ef you eep yer finger nails clean ye can scratch yer hid ithout danger of pisin. And hit air not polite to hav dirty nails."

"Ef you have sore eyes, don't spread 'em among others. Be keeful not to use no one's towel or razor or handkerchief."

"Ef ye see a baby with sore eyes, tell a doctor. Little babies don't belong to have nothing the matter with 'em."

"Ef you get hurt get fixed right away or tomorrow it will be a bigger hurt. A house wife is too late."

ARMISTICE DAY: ITS MEANING.

Two years ago this date the war torn world laid down its arms on certain fronts and rested after four years of horror. The Armistice became effective at eleven o'clock in the morning and, so far as we are concerned, is still effective. The world looked for a speedy peace that would restore conditions to normal as quickly as possible. The other nations associated with us in the struggle have signed the peace; we have not. The blame for this state of affairs has been placed where it rightfully belongs. Now let us have peace and have it speedily.

The two years that have intervened since the last shell plowed its scorching way into enemy territory seem long or short according as we view them. To the boys who were kept so long on foreign soil, the time seemed interminable. To those of us who have been living a normal, routine life in our own beloved country, the time seems short. The weeks and months that have rolled away have been sufficiently long, however, in which to have accomplished great things.

The time for action is here. November 11 will be celebrated over the United States, as well as in many other countries, this day. The celebrations on that date will be in joyous strain, as most patriotic occasions. Buddies who fought side by side together and talk over old times, and orators will stir emotions of fervid eloquence.

On the following Sunday, November 14, however, the celebration will take on another note. This date has been officially set aside as a memorial day for those who fell in battle. Religious services in memory of the men and women who made the supreme sacrifice for their country will be held throughout the country. The American Legion will, in many places, hold appropriate exercises and present Victory Medals to those who won them. Other patriotic and civic bodies will honor the dead.

To have offered one's life for America was a noble thing; to have given one's life for America was nobler. May we all learn from the greatness of the men and women who died in the war, that our greatness will consist in living for our country. To allow unrest, depression, and suspicion to rob us of our fair land will be to break faith with those who died that America might be free.

The time for action is here. Let this memorial day teach each of us its true lesson of nobleness and real citizenship, and let us apply in our daily lives the lesson thus learned. So shall we be better men and women; so shall our land be fairer.

PRESIDENT WILSON.

These United States is their presiding man. He is not a man, but a spirit. His health is shattered, but because the crowds that once acclaimed him have turned their faces away. The bitterest disappointment that comes to leaders is to see a cheering throng become a sullen or hostile crowd.

Sometime in the future a just appraisal of the life and services of Woodrow Wilson will be made. We predict that after his obvious short comings are taken from his accomplishments there will be left still an outstanding figure which generations may well delight to honor. We are not now attempting to say how future historians will rank him among the presidents of this Republic.

The President contributed one unique idea towards the winning of the war. He appealed to the German people over the heads of their government. From the outset he made it clear that our war was against the Imperial German Government and not against the German people. The American soldier when he aimed his rifle at a German soldier probably did not take the time to reflect that he was not shooting at the German people but only at the German Government. Nevertheless the Wilson idea had far-reaching consequences. Ludendorff in his book implies that it was this idea which won the war for us by sapping the morale of the German people. The Italian d'Annunzio, was simply applying the Wilson idea when he made his dramatic flight over Vienna, dropping appeals to the people, that Italy was their friend, and an enemy only of their government.

But when one appeals to a people against their government he is playing with revolution. His idea undoubtedly hastened the Armistice but it also brought virtual anarchy into Germany. With that we may say we have no concern.

It took a master mind to conceive where the German War Machine might be given a vital blow. It took a master of style to deliver the blow in the effective form in which it was given.

The President's failures we believe can be summed up in too great reliance upon his own judgment. There is no single mind in all the world superior all the time to common council. There is no such thing as personal infallibility. Insistence upon it tends to drive away from one the support of those who have a right to be heard.

The President's son is setting. No one knows better than he when the mistakes were made. The events of the last two years pass before his tired eyes in unending line. His bitterest enemies need wish him no greater punishment.

We do not approve Mr. Bryan's demand that he resign. We hope he may fill out his term in peace and honor, each day bringing him strength and the consolation that must come from efforts bravely made though ending in failure. And when he shall be a private citizen again, we wish him long years of rest and happiness. We hope, however, that he will put down on paper the Memoirs of Woodrow Wilson from, say July 28, 1914 to May 31, 1919.

OUR OPPORTUNITY.

The city this week is thronged with visitors. What will be their impression of Salisbury? Good or otherwise, it lies within our power to form that impression. Lying south of the Mason and Dixon line, in a state noted for its hospitality, Salisbury will undoubtedly win favorable comment.

Let us each lay aside for a short time this week some of our business cares and devote ourselves to making our visitors welcome. Each citizen can gain friends for himself and for his city if he will but devote a little effort to whole-hearted hospitality.

The visitors are, for the most part, farmers. Salisbury is particularly dependent on the farming class for its prosperity. This is an opportunity to form acquaintanceships with those to whom we are so much indebted. Let us make the most of it. Let us make this a friendship week.

PRESIDENT WILSON APPEALS FOR HELP

Date Of Fourth Red Cross Roll Call Brings Forth Message From Chief Executive of Nation.

The following message from President Wilson, who is also President of the American Red Cross, to the American people, was issued from the White House today:

"The American Red Cross deserves a hearty response to its fourth invitation to annual membership, which will be issued during the fortnight beginning November the Eleventh, Armistice Day.

"Under the stimulus of war and through the co-operation of our people, this organization grew into immense size, enlarged its range of activity, served not only our fighting forces but also civilians involved in the hardships of war in our own nation and in the nations associated with us in a great common enterprise, and gave to the world an example of effective mercy through co-ordinated effort.

"Since the cessation of hostilities the organization has faced a dual duty: first, to fulfill obligations created by the war, and, secondly, to adapt its experience and machinery to the needs of peace.

"It is, today, still assisting governmental agencies in the care and cheer of our disabled soldiers and sailors, in replacing those able to work in civilian occupations, and in counselling and aiding the families of former combatants; and it is still assisting, with diminished resources, the process of rehabilitation in some of the more prostrated countries of our former associates.

"While continuing these manifold obligations, the Red Cross has been accommodating methods and applying lessons learned in war to the normal needs of our own people in times of peace, especially in regions where provisions for public health and welfare were imperfectly developed. It has placed public health nurses in many localities, and has endeavored to enlist greater numbers of young women in the nursing profession in order that the supply might more nearly equal the steadily increasing demand for community nurses. It has devised a scheme of 'public health centers' for the relief of maladies and for instruction in hygiene, dietetics and general principles of disease-prevention. With its nurses and nurses' aides it has rendered incalculable service in the serious epidemics of influenza. It has carried instruction in hygiene and first aid into schools, the women's clubs, and the homes of our country. It has taught young and untaught mothers how to care intelligently for their babies, and had done much in many ways to promote child welfare, upon which the welfare of the nation ultimately rests. It has made it a fundamental principle to avoid futile duplications, to cooperate with public agencies when its cooperation was sought, and to supply deficiencies where such agencies had not yet been established.

"It has continued its educational work among the school children through its Junior Red Cross branch, and it has, as one result of its war experience, put preparation for disaster-relief on a scientific foundation, so that it is now equipped to meet disaster emergencies promptly in almost every part of our country.

"By systematic plans and practical performances, it has given a clear answer to the question why the Red Cross should be continued and carried over from war activity into peace-time activity. The answer is in the record.

"Additional to these obvious aspects of the matter, there is another reason why I, as President of the United States and President of the American Red Cross, urge my fellow countrymen to join the Red Cross in impressive numbers: Reaction follows emotion, and after great effort comes perilous lassitude. Sound patriotism and genuine human service are continuous, not intermittent, not contingent merely upon the excitement of war. If there is in some of us an inward cooling of the fine fervor which animated us in the crisis of the nation's stress and peril, a contraction of the spirit which ennobled us as individuals and as a nation, now, during the 'Red Cross Roll Call,' is a fitting season to take counsel with our inner selves, to rekindle the old flame, to reaffirm allegiance to practical patriotism and practical humanitarianism, and to symbolize the regeneration of our better thoughts and handsomer selves by re-enlistment in a great army mobilized for the common good.

(Signed) "WOODROW WILSON."

"Own Your Home" Beautify It With Evergreens

"THERE'S no place like home," especially when it is protected and graced by Harrison's Evergreens. There are lovely Blue Spruce, Spreading Hemlocks, sentinel-like Junipers and dense Arbor Vitae from which to select. Some, like the Spruce, grow rapidly; others, like the Juniper, grow very slowly. There's a Harrison Evergreen, for every planting purpose.

We grow Evergreens in great blocks, where they are carefully cultivated and given ample room for symmetrical development. We dig by hand—never with a tree-digging machine. Thus we preserve the natural earth or "root balls." These "root balls" are carefully wrapped in burlap, so that the trees reach you in perfect condition for planting.

Follow our simple directions and you'll succeed with Harrison's Evergreens.

Send for Planting Guide

Our 80-page planting guide lists over 50 varieties of Evergreens, also a number of deciduous trees, shrubs and flowering plants. It tells you, too, how to select them, how to plant them, and how to care for them. Other helpful chapters are devoted to the growing and marketing of trees and shrubs. Send for your copy of the "Planting Guide" today! Direct from nursery prices.

Halloween passed off very quietly in this section. It was observed on Saturday evening but owing to an order passed by the city fathers there was very little, if any, demonstration. Time was when the young folks of our town got a very great deal of pleasure out of this festive season, but under the new order of things their rights have been curtailed and the 14th has been put down tight.

Indications point to a scarcity of turkeys in Wicomico county and those who have flocks refuse to sell or engage them to townspeople believing that better prices will prevail at Thanksgiving time than they have been able to obtain for the past three years. Last season they could be purchased in some sections for 32 cents per pound, but this year they are expected to reach 35 cents and possibly 40 cents.

On Sunday, November 7th, the home of Azariah Moore and Frank M. Ulman, at 1303 North Division street, this city was the scene of a family reunion of the Moore family, of Bridgeport, N. J. The occasion was caused by the celebration of Mr. Moore's 60th birthday anniversary. A turkey dinner was served, the guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Moore, William U. Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Moore, Mr. and Mrs. John H. Moore and Mrs. Caroline Riley, all of Bridgeport, and Mrs. Elizabeth M. Brown, of New York, Mr. Marx Ulman, of Salisbury.

Mr. Ray Robertson, of White Haven, had the misfortune to have his car stolen last week while in Washington. Mr. Robertson, accompanied by his brother, W. N. Robertson, went to a theatre and left his car parked on the street. After the show the car was missing and the police were notified, but as yet the thieves have not been apprehended. The car was a sport model Auburn and was valued by Mr. Robertson at $2,000.

Several friends from Wicomico county attended a surprise party Tuesday evening given in honor of the 50th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Elijah A. Carman, of Snow Hill. The guests, who numbered more than 50, came amply provisioned with ice cream and cake, and Mr. and Mrs. Carman also received numerous presents and a purse of silver. Mr. and Mrs. Carman were married at the home of the bride's parents, the late Elijah B. Parsons and wife, near Mt. Olive M. P. Church, in Colbourne's district, on November 2, 1870, by the late Rev. Robert H. Powell, of near Mt. Zion M. P. Church.

A slight earth tremor, lasting a few seconds, was felt in and around Salisbury Thursday morning between 11 and 12 o'clock, and the citizens were much concerned to know what caused it. Homes were shaken, windows, doors and other parts rattling from the tremor. Many thought a terrific explosion, similar to the one at Greenwood, a few years ago, had occurred, but were unable to learn that any explosion had taken place. Others thought the community had been visited by a slight earthquake. While the shock was felt in different sections of the town and community, no damage was done as far as could be learned.

A quiet but interesting wedding took place in Salisbury at the Southern Methodist parsonage, at high noon, on Saturday, October 30th, when Miss Reva Poulson became the bride of Mr. Horace E. Kelly, both of New Church, Va. Dr. Thomas R. Reeves officiated. Dr. Reeves was presiding at Blackstone when Miss Poulson was a student there. Miss Poulson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorenza Poulson and Mr. Kelly is a prominent business man of upper Accomack. The bride and groom were accompanied by Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Jones and Miss Esther Covington, of New Church, and Mrs. Spencer Rogers, Jr., of Onancock.

Otis Levi Gilliam, of Salisbury. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. P. Rixey, the father of the bride, assisted by the Rev. H. L. Hout, pastor of the Methodist Church. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Mary Vivian Conway.

The maid of honor was Miss Edna Wine, of Stuart Hall, Staunton. Miss Frances Coleman, of Culpeper, was flower girl. The ushers were J. Edward Tompkins, Rowland F. Tankard, Joseph W. ## W. P. JACKSON URGED FOR NEW CABINET

Entitled To Post Because Of Work On National Committees, Friends Say.

OTHER BIG PLACES FREELY DISCUSSED

State Chairman Tait Mentioned For Collector Of Part Of Internal Revenue—A. W. W. Woodcock Suggested As Naval Officer. Jackson A Member Of National Committee.

The results of Tuesday's election were scarcely known before the work of picking out men to fill big positions was begun. In this connection two Salisbury men are spoken of for big places, ex-Senator W. P. Jackson for a cabinet portfolio, and Col. A.
W. W. Woodcock for a big Federal position in Baltimore. In Friday's Baltimore Sun the following speculations were indulged in:

In the aftermath of the sweeping Harding victory in Maryland, friends of former Senator William P. Jackson, member of the Republican national committee, were turning their attention to Mr. Jackson's ambitions for a portfolio in the cabinet. It has been the understanding of Republican politicians since Mr. Jackson's service in the Senate that his ambition was not for preferment in the State, but for a high office in the Federal Government.

His friends believe that he is in position to be considered very seriously.
He has been a member of the national committee for years, and his continuous service is said to be the longest of all the present members. That has given him a wide acquaintance among the big Republican leaders, and they have looked upon him as the main figure in the Republican party in Maryland, and as one of the representative Republicans of the South.

"The belief is general among Republicans that President-elect Harding will give Southern Republicans membership in his cabinet. That has been done by other Republican Presidents, and the fact that Maryland, Tennessee and Missouri gave Mr. Harding two Southern men, think he is bound to have on the list of the Southern men, because Maryland Republicans are in a particularly advantageous position. Generally counted a Democratic state, Maryland will have two Republicans in the United States Senate when Mr. Harding assumes the Presidency and four of its six members of the House will be Republicans. No other state in the South or on the border will have given so much so much to the Republicans.

Both Senators from Kentucky will be Democrats, and there is one from Missouri. And both Senator-elect Waller and Senator Freeny are expected to be behind Mr. Jackson in his ambitions.

"Mr. Jackson's friends believe he will be helped, too, by his close relations with National Chairman Will H.
Hays. They have been intimate since
Mr. Hays became national chairman, and it is understood that Mr. Hays is disposed to aid Mr. Jackson. Also,
and apart from their personal relations, Republican leaders say that Mr.
Hays is anxious to give recognition to Southern Republicans, in order to further his plans for the up-building of the Republican party in the South. It always has been one of the ardent desires of the Republicans to break the Democratic hold on the South, and they are more cheerful over the prospects now than ever before.

"Mr. Jackson's chances are not engrossing all of the attention of the Republicans, however. They are paying attention already to the forthcoming distribution of Federal jobs in Maryland. State Chairman Tait is being talked about for either Collector of Internal Revenue or Collector of Customs. The latter pays $7,000 and the former $6,000, but the former has much more patronage. For Naval Officer, Amos W. W. Woodcock, of Salisbury, now an Assistant Attorney General, is likely to be well in the running.

GIVEN DINNER TO CELE- BRATE 80TH BIRTHDAY

On November 8th, Mrs. Sallie E.
Barker, of Mardela Springs, gave a dinner in celebration of her husband's eightieth birthday. Those present were Mr. William A. Riggins of Sharpsburg, Mr. George Gressen of Riverston, Mr. Charles Cooper of Mar-dela, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Kennerly of Salisbury, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Stout, Mrs. Ber-the Holloway and children all of Double Mills and Miss Edna Maddox of near Salisbury. All present joined in wishing Mr. Barker many more happy anniversaries.

HOSPITAL DRIVE MAKES PROGRESS

More Than $142,000 Reported, Of Which Half Comes From City of Salisbury. Progress Steady.

The Hospital Drive continues to make progress. To date there has been reported more than $142,000.
Subscriptions are coming in steadily and there is no longer doubt that the goal will be reached. In Salisbury alone more than $70,000 has been subscribed.

No more generous giving has been seen in the campaign than the subscriptions of the 16 public nurses totalling $14,650.00, and the 11 graduate nurses totalling $1,050.

Oak Troop No. 1, of the Girl Scouts, sent in their subscription for $50.

The workers who called at Booker,
Scott and Moore report the employment of that well-known concern as 100 per cent strong in subscriptions to the fund.

Mr. Jos. H. Cox, chairman of the Seaford, Del., committee, reports the appointment of six teams for the work in that section.

Mr. John W. Ennis, chairman for Pocomoke City, has arranged for meetings in the churches of that growing city Sunday, November 14th, when a delegation from Salisbury will be present to aid. Following the meetings Sunday, he plans for personal solicitation of the town the following week. In a letter to the campaign manager, Mr. Ennis says: "I am very sorry that we have been unable to get under way sooner, but local conditions have prevented. However, we expect to be on hand in the wind-up."

The workers engaged in the cleanup house-to-house canvass this week report that in many cases they found people "out." This will explain why some people may not even yet have been seen. The campaign committee will greatly appreciate it if all such who wish to have a part in this fund,
and have not been seen, will come forward at once with such contribution as they can make.

DELMAR SECTION

Mrs. Harlan M. Waller, of Delmar, entertained Monday afternoon in honor of Mrs. B. R. Riggins, of Rebo-

Mrs. James Brayshaw and Mrs. P. E.
Lynch poured coffee. Mrs. J. Fred Stevens presided at the piano. The guests were: Mrs. B. R. Riggins, Mrs.
G. H. Riggins, Mrs. Polk Morris, Mrs.

Mrs. E. E. Freeny and Miss Rose Freeny entertained at cards Monday evening also in honor of Mrs. Riggins.

RAILROADS AND EMPLOYEES TO HAVE MEETING

A conference is to be held, probably in the latter part of this month, between representatives of the railroads of the country and their employees on the question of whether or not the national agreements in effect during Federal control shall be continued.

It is understood labor desires to have the agreements continued, but the railroad managements feel otherwise. Another question which has arisen is the one of how future disputes between managements and employees shall be settled.

Employees wish to have the National Boards of Adjustment continued, but the roads insist on one of two plans, i. e., the adjustment of disputes by committees of employers and employees or by boards of adjustment representing every separate system. The employees desire to put before the Railroad Labor Board the question of whether or not the National Adjustment Boards will be continued.

Serious Results From Colds.

Colds not only cause a tremendous financial loss but are also a serious injury to every one who contracts them
as they lower the vitality and prepare the system for the more serious diseases. It is not at all unusual for people who have serious lung trouble to say "I had a hard cold last winter."
Why not take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and cure your cold while you can.—Adv.

THE HUNTING SEASON IS NOW IN FULL SWING

Opened Yesterday With Hundreds Of Gunners In Pursuit Of Game.

971 COUNTY LICENSES ISSUED BY THE CLERK

One Dollar And Fifty Cents Was Paid For Each License, Or A Total Of Nearly $1,500 Paid For The Privilege Of Enjoying The Sport.
Game Reported To Be Plentiful.

On Wednesday, November 10th, the hunting season opened for partridge, male pheasants, ruffed grouse, woodcock, rabbits, wild turkey and squirrels. The law prohibits the killing of the female Chinese Pheasant at any time.

Reports received from the Clerks of the Courts of this state show that hunting licenses were issued very heavily. In Wicomico county Clerk
Kelly issued up to noon on Tuesday 971 county licenses, each costing $1.50 or a total of nearly $1,500 was paid for the privilege of enjoying a few days' sport.

Sportsmen have been making preparations for a long time for the open season, predicting one of the best gunning seasons of late years. Reports coming in from various parts
of the country indicate there will be plenty of game, both birds and rabbits.

Many ducks have been shot along
the banks of the lakes and streams
where they come up each evening to feed. It is not thought more than one half of the ducks shot down are
retrieved, as there are practically no
dogs in this section trained for that purpose, and along most of the water courses there are many regions
where it is almost impossible to find
a bird after it falls unless one has a trained dog. Night hunters report
raccoons and opossums more plentiful
than usual.

It is evident from the unusually
large number of gunners licensing
that the supply of game will soon be much diminished. The armed brigades which sallied forth yesterday
morning were the largest ever seen
in Wicomico county.

In order to prevent violations of the game laws, the Conservation Commission has named hundreds of deputy game wardens, and these will enforce the game laws to the limit.
Hunters, therefore, had better be careful to obey the game laws.

It is unlawful to hunt on property
other than that which is owned or tended by the hunter without a hunting license. The law requires every person hunting to have in their possession their license and in addition
to same display in plain view on the left arm between elbow and shoulder
an arm tag, which is furnished at time of purchase, free. The numbers on the tag must correspond with
the license.

It is unlawful to shoot wild fowl
from any boat of any description propelled by motor or power of any kind.
It is unlawful to hunt ducks with row
boat, however, row boat can be used to shoot from in blinds built over the nests coming in from various parts
of the country indicate there will be plenty of game, both birds and rabbits.

Hunters, therefore, had better be
careful to obey the game laws.

It is unlawful to hunt on property
other than that which is owned or
tended by the hunter without a hunting license. The law requires every person hunting to have in their possession their license and in addition
to same display in plain view on the
left arm between elbow and shoulder
an arm tag, which is furnished at
time of purchase, free. The numbers on the tag must correspond with
the license.

It is unlawful to shoot wild fowl
from any boat of any description propelled by motor or power of any kind.
It is unlawful to hunt ducks with row
boat, however, row boat can be used

of the country indicate there will be plenty of game, both birds and rabbits.

Sportsmen have been making preparations for a long time for the open season, predicting one of the best
gunning seasons of late years. Reports coming in from various parts
of the country indicate there will be plenty of game, both birds and rabbits.

Many ducks have been shot along
the banks of the lakes and streams
where they come up each evening to feed. It is not thought more than one half of the ducks shot down are
retrieved, as there are practically no
dogs in this section trained for that
purpose, and along most of the water courses there are many regions
where it is almost impossible to find
a bird after it falls unless one has a trained dog. Night hunters report
raccoons and opossums more plentiful
than usual.

It is evident from the unusually
large number of gunners licensing
that the supply of game will soon be
much diminished. The armed brigades which sallied forth yesterday
morning were the largest ever seen
in Wicomico county.

In order to prevent violations of
the game laws, the Conservation Commission has named hundreds of
deputy game wardens, and these will

IN MEMORIAM.
A tribute to esteemed worth.
Mrs. Ida Smith Carey entered into rest November 1st after a lingering illness of ten months which she bore with wonderful submission. She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Litchon Smith, was born and reared on the Wicomico River, near Shad Point.

In 1878 she married Wm. T. Carey, whose life she exalted. Four of their children are living. Everett, of Roanoke; Claude, of Philadelphia; Norman and Mrs. Samuel Atkinson, of Fruitland.

She was a beautiful Christian life from Fruitland, and interment made beside her children and parents in Shad Point cemetery.
Here was a beautiful Christian life from its beginning to the close. Born to rectitude and refinement she always sought the best,
her church. She always helped her neighbor,
the sick and those in distress with a cheerfulness that only comes to those who walk in the higher life. She helped all who came in touch with her with a tenderness of soul which seemed to bear her silently on into its ever larger spheres. She carried weaker natures with her by force of superior vitality. She was a child of hope and it shone from her as she walked along the ways of people.

Of such as she born lovers of God, there is at the end no association of earth, the Heavens are so near that we recall these words: "The wise shall shine as the brightness of the firmament and they that turn many to righteousness as the stars forever and ever."

REPUBLICANS CARRY DELAWARE BY 10,362 PLURALITY

Sweep Wilmington, Rural New Castle and Sussex County, Losing Kent.

COL. W. D. DENNEY
ELECTED GOVERNOR

His Plurality Over A. J. Lynch, His Democratic Opponent, Totalled 9, 233, According to Complete Returns
From Every Election District In The State.

Complete returns from every district in the State of Delaware show that the Republicans carried the State at Tuesday's election by a plurality of 10,362. This applies to the presidential electors, the vote for Col. H. A. DuPont, who had the largest vote in that behalf being cited. His total was 41,426. On the electoral ticket George Gray, who had the largest electoral total on the Democratic side, was 41,426. On the electoral ticket the Republicans carried each of the four political divisions of the State except Kent county, where the Democrats had a majority of 1,503.

Col. William D. Denney, of Dover, the Republican candidate for Governor, was elected by a plurality of 9,233. He received 51,261 votes, while 42,028 went to Andrew J. Lynch, the Democratic nominee, who ran ahead of the electoral vote of his party. This, and the fact that he carried both Kent and Sussex counties, the former by 1,065 and the latter by 918, shows that the Republicans split their tickets on his behalf, in the lower part of the State. Col. Denney's vote shows that he was honored in the same manner. While Kent rolled up a plurality of 1,503 for the Democratic electors, Col. Denney cut down the Lynch plurality there to 1,065.

The following figures, based on the complete returns, show the vote for these offices in Wilmington, Rural New Castle, Kent and Sussex counties:

Wilmington, Cox, 17,719; Harding, 26,879; Harding plurality of 9,160. Lynch, 18,083; Denney, 26,914; Denney plurality, 8,831.

Rural New Castle, Cox, 7,260; Harding, 9,547; Harding plurality, 2,187. Lynch, 7,374; Denney, 9,749; Denney plurality, 2,375.

Kent, Cox, 8,009; Harding, 8,506; Cox plurality, 1,503. Lynch, 7,417; Denney, 6,362; Lynch plurality, 1,055.

Sussex, Cox, 8,438; Harding, 8,856; Harding plurality, 418. Lynch, 9,164; Denney, 8,246; Lynch plurality, 918. Total in State, Cox, 41,426; Harding, 51,788; Harding plurality, 10,362. Lynch, 42,028; Denney, 51,261; Denney plurality, 9,233.

The Senate of the State is controlled by the Republicans. Sussex sent one Democrat and one Republican. The vote was as follows: Second district, Capt. C. B. Insley, D., 1,848; W. H. Adams, R., 1,616; Insley's majority, 423. Fourth district—F. C. Shockey, D., 770; H. Prettyman, R., 1,430; Prettyman's majority, 660.

In the lower house, owing to a tie in Sussex county, the control is in doubt. A special election will be held to determine the winner, and as the district is nominally Republican, they claim control of the lower house. The vote now stands 17 to 17, with one in doubt—the controlling vote.

SCHOOL CLASSES TAKE

TRIP TO DAIRY FARMS

The second year classes in Home Economics and Agriculture of the Laurel High School, accompanied by their teachers, enjoyed a very pleasant and instructive trip to the Homestead Dairy Farm, near Salisbury, on Monday. The class in agriculture is now taking up the study of dairying, especially the judging and scoring of dairy cattle, and this trip gave the boys unusual opportunity for studying some good animals. They also got the inside information about feeding. There are about 250 head of cattle in the dairy, 100 of which are milking and 15 of these are under test at the present time.

The trip was made a double success by the home economic girls, who prepared a lunch which was served on the Homestead lawn just before they returned to Laurel.

The Halloween celebration at Seaford Friday night drew 5,000 people to Seaford from practically every town and village in Sussex county, several of the towns in Kent county and many from Maryland. The affair was a huge success.

LIGHT SERVICE VERY BAD IN DELMAR

Dim Street Lights The Rule and Not Exceptions. Better Service Is Demanded.

The Mayor and Council have received numerous complaints of late regarding the very poor service that is being furnished Delmar by the electric light company. The service is indeed bad and the city lights are so dim at times that they are hardly discernible.

Another matter that is causing much inconvenience to railroad workers and citizens of the town in general and one that will become worse as the shorter days of winter arrive, is the fact that the city lights are turned off every morning at 5 o'clock. This works a hardship on the workers that have to go to work between five and six o'clock each morning, in the roundhouse and at other railroad work. The Council have been asked to take up these complaints with the electric light company in an endeavor to get better service, and Mayor Thorington is giving the matter attention.

There does not seem to be any question but that Delmar is and has been receiving poor service at the hands of the electric light company for some time past. Hardly a storm of the recent few months has past without interruption in service altogether. The street lights are dim, and on Saturday and Sunday nights were hardly better than the old fashioned street oil lamps.

Just why Delmar should be discriminated against, when other towns served by the Eastern Shore Gas and Electric Company are getting good service, is hard to tell, and it is hoped that when the matter is taken up with the electric light company they will give immediate relief.

COMING AND GOING OF DELMAR PEOPLE

Many Items of Local Interest, Personal, Social Events and Other Activities of Delmar People.

Mrs. Nettie Williams returned Saturday from a visit with her brother, Mr. H. E. Lowe, at Cape Charles, Va.

Mr. Charles Adkins, of Cape Charles, is visiting friends in Delmar.

A couple of cars on a "circuit special" were derailed in the Delmar yards on Sunday evening.

Mrs. J. E. Austin, who has been very ill for some months past, was out for the first time on Saturday. Her many friends in Delmar were glad to see her outside after her long illness.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has stationed a man at the crossing this town for several days past to keep a check on the number of people who use the crossing.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hudson and their children, Elizabeth, Anne and Junior, spent a delightful time in the mountains of Pennsylvania, returning to Delmar on Tuesday.

Mayor Thorington told The News reporter on Sunday night that he would have something to announce in a short while that every citizen of the town would be interested in. It is something very much needed, he said, but further than that he refused to go.

The cannon recently secured from the War Department by Mayor Thorington has at last gotten a place to locate. For some time past it sat in one of the streets of the town, but now arrangements have been completed whereby it can be placed on the lawn of the station here, and it has been located there until such time as the City Hall lawn can be arranged for its reception.

Probably one of the oldest women in Delaware to cast her vote on Tuesday was Mrs. Catherine Tyndale, known to lower Delawareans as "Aunt Kitty" Jerden, who resides in South Nanticoke district. When registered she stated her age as 106 years, and at the time stated she did not know how much older she was. Residents in that section, however, say they have been able to trace her record and have every reason to believe that she is 115 years old.

JOHN BAKER OF DELMAR IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT

John Baker, of Delmar, ran a car he was driving into an electric light pole in front of the Railroad Store, about 11 o'clock Saturday night. The Oakland car was badly damaged and Mr. Baker received several minor injuries. The car was going about 15 miles an hour when the accident happened.

25TH BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED BY SUPPER

Mrs. Elijah Brittingham Surprises Assembled Guests By Announcement.
Over 25 Present.

A complete surprise was sprung on a dinner party given by Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Brittingham, on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock when Mrs. Brittingham announced to the assembled relatives that it was the occasion of her 25th birthday. The guests were taken unawares by the announcement, but it did not affect their appetites in the least and they proceeded to do full justice to the dinner, which was one of those for which the Eastern Shore is famous. The guests of the afternoon were about 25 of Mr. and Mrs. Brittingham's relatives, including both the young and old (?). The children present seemed to be delighted that Mrs. Brittingham had not overlooked them in the preparations.

Mrs. Brittingham received many useful presents from those of her relatives who were "on the inside," and many wishes that she may live to enjoy many such occasions from those present who had been caught "unprepared." After the dinner, which was served at 4 o'clock, the company enjoyed themselves in the good old fashioned Eastern Shore style with a "talk feast," after which the party broke up to attend religious services at the different churches.

"AMERICAN AUTHORS" DISCUSSED AT NEW CENTURY

A Paper—"Edith Matilda Thomas"—Mrs. Victor Carmine.

Singing by the club—"Home, Sweet Home," by John Howard Payne.

Mrs. John H. Powell will have a "Home Economic Demonstration" in the club room on November 16th, 2:30 p. m.

ROADS WORK TO STOP IN DELAWARE

One thousand men employed on 80 jobs for the States Roads Commission will be laid off November 15, when work is suspended for the season.

Concrete prices are too high for Chief Engineer Mackell, and no further work will be contracted for until January 1, when lower prices are expected to prevail. The prolonged mild weather has made the demand for concrete brisk and has prevented any falling off that might have been expected if cold weather had cut down work in the northern part of the country.

Delaware road work is similarly affected. Again it has become necessary to shut down on part of the new road work through Delaware, owing to the action of the Federal authorities in summarily cancelling all priority permits for the shipment of road building materials, due to the coal situation. No general lay-off of men is expected for a time, as it is possible to shift them to grading work, but apparently no more new sections will be completed this year, owing to the lack of materials.

THE RESULTS.

The voters of this country have made known by an avalanche of votes just what they want.

They have decided, in a manner that is unquestionable, that they wish the Republicans to administer the affairs of this country for the next four years.

There is not an American in this country today, Democrat or Republican, that is not perfectly satisfied that this is the wish of the majority of the citizens of the United States. And there is not an AMERICAN in this country today who is not willing to accept the wish of such a majority.

The election is over. The results are known. The Republicans have swept the country by majorities heretofore unknown.

New York State gave a majority of nearly a million and a quarter. Other states piled up unprecedented majorities. The victory for the Republicans was overwhelming. Never before in the history of the United States has a president been elected by such a vote, both popular and in the electoral college. Even the Southern states broke from their moorings and some gave Republican majorities while all gave an increased Republican vote, and in many Republicans were elected to Congress from old time Democratic districts. Even the old war horse of Democracy—Champ Clark—was overcome in the tidal wave that swept the country.

With such an overwhelming defeat for the Democrats there must be a reason. There was. Getting down to brass tacks, since the election is over, we can figure out this reason.

First, the people of the country were completely dissatisfied with conditions. They were tired of the high cost of living, of profiteering, of high rents, of no homes at any price, of prohibition that did not prohibit, of votes for women, because they did not get them sooner and because they ever got them at all—they were afraid of the League of Nations and afraid not to accept it—everything from the price of wheat and the price of sugar, to the numerous wars in Europe were laid on the party in power and they bore the blunt of blame.

Yet the real reason for this unprecedented victory can be summed up in a few words—the American people were disgusted with existing conditions and wanted A CHANGE.

So they proceeded in the only way in their power—the ballot box—to get it.

The Republicans have won. The victory is complete. They absolutely control the presidency, the Senate, the House of Representatives, governors of a majority of the States, and the Legislatures in these States.

It is now up to the Republican party to deliver. They cannot offer excuses for accomplishments. The people have given them absolute power, in the hope of securing better conditions and if the Republican party is wise it will deliver the goods. It has been demonstrated in this election that the American people can and will control the United States. No one man or clique of men can become big enough to take this power away from them. So the Republican party has been given the opportunity to do what they have promised to do in the campaign just ended.

If the Republicans see the trend of the times they will give an account of themselves and may enjoy power for years to come, but if they decide they are

"CLEAN-UP DAY" FOR DELMAR ANNOUNCED BY MAYOR

Mayor Thorington announces that next Wednesday, November 17th, has been set aside as "Clean-Up" Day for Delmar. The Mayor is anxious that every citizen of the town co-operate in this movement, and help to make the city a credit to its citizens. All dirt and rubbish will be removed by the town authorities on this date.

DEMOCRATS FOUND CAUSE FOR JUBILATION

In Seaford District They Stemmed
The Tide With A Great Democratic Majority. Are Now United.

Democrats of lower Delaware are rejoicing over the fact that Seaford has returned to its own by rolling up an old-time Democratic majority. Seaford had for years been the banner Democratic district of Sussex county, but a split in the party allowed the Republicans to elect a Representative two years ago and a State Senator four years ago. On Tuesday the party was united and all worked like Trojans to redeem the district.

That the work proved a success was shown by the fact that Samuel S. Gray for Representative and George B. Insley for State Senator were elected by the biggest majorities ever given Democratic candidates in this district.

Gray's majority was 270, and Insley's 420. Gray's opponent was William Barr, a farmer of South Nanticoke, and Insley's was Monroe H. Adams, a Seaford fruit broker. Both these Republicans were considered formidable candidates, but the Democrats buckled down to work and shortly after the counting of ballots began it was seen that it was only a question of how big would be the majorities of Gray and Insley.

The women workers of the district came in for great credit for the victory. They missed no opportunity where a vote for the Democratic party was in sight. Not only was their work felt on election day, but they had been on the job several weeks previous to election, and this, combined with the getting-together of all Democrats, accounted for the remarkable victory.

Samuel S. Gray, who was elected Representative, is assistant passenger agent at the Pennsylvania Railroad station in Seaford and Capt. George B. Insley is a well-known resident of Broad Creek. It was unfortunate for Senator-elect Insley that he was confined to his home all during the campaign by illness, but his friends worked all the harder for him, thereby giving him a majority such as no other candidate had ever received in the Second Senatorial district.

That both these gentlemen will give a good account of themselves in the next Legislature of Delaware, is not only the prediction of Democrats, but of many Republicans who know their worth.

The Republicans of Seaford, Blades, Broad Creek and South Nanticoke districts joined in a celebration in Seaford, election night, the equal of which has never been held before by the Republican party of lower Delaware.

Hundreds were in the parade, riding in gaily decorated automobiles, floats, etc. Many of the floats were nicely decorated, containing appropriate words about the great Republican victory. The parade formed on High street, and after marching over the principal streets, visited Blades, after which they left for Bridgeville, where a similar celebration was taking place by the Republicans of Northwest Fork. The two celebrations joined at Bridgeville, making one monstrous parade. All the leading Republicans of lower Delaware took part. The parade was nearly a mile long when it left Seaford, and Miss Parker, a teacher in the Seaford public school, made a most imposing spectacle, arrayed as the Goddess of Liberty, in an automobile containing several of the leading Republicans of the district.

CLEAN-UP DAY AT THE DELMAR CEMETERY TUESDAY

A loyal band of Delmar citizens, women and men, proceeded on Tuesday last to have a clean-up in Delmar's cemetery. The lots were all given a general cleaning up, and those who could not contribute their labors were asked by Mr. Doda Hearn in a notice sent out last week, to contribute financially to help. The response was almost unanimous and Mr. Hearn says that starting with January 1st, 1921, a plan will be inaugurated whereby the cemetery will be kept clean and he is asking the help of the lot owners to this end.

Of Wicomico.

Ralph Hill, 14-year-old son of William Hill, a farmer living near Seaford, was badly injured Saturday when he fell from a hay loft on his father's farm, breaking his leg.

Rev. J. H. Gardner, a former pastor of Seaford Circuit M. E. Church, now stationed at Crapo, is in the midst of one of the largest revivals ever held in that section, 75 already having professed Christianity.

Seaford section is becoming quite favorable for the raising of fall strawberries. A few years ago small lots were occasionally brought in Seaford during the fall and found a ready sale at 25 cents per quart. During the past month the supply has been greatly increased, so much so that beautifully ripened strawberries have been on sale almost every day. The variety is known as the Everbearing and will bear fruit until early winter. They have been known to bear as late as Christmas time. This variety will not, however, allow of shipping to distant markets.

Preaching a farewell sermon in the First Baptist Church, Milford, Sunday morning, Rev. Thomas C. Davis brought to a close a very successful pastorate of more than eight years, during which time he has made many friends, not only in Milford, but throughout the State because of his earnest efforts in behalf of the welfare of children. Mr. Davis and his family left Monday morning, going to his new charge, the First Baptist Church, of Dividing Creek, N. J.

town, collided with a team belong to Noah Hitchens, one mile north of Georgetown, Saturday night, in which were Mr. and Mrs. Hitchens and their two children, Floyd and Lester. The impact was so great that the buggy in which they were riding was completely demolished. One of the mules had two legs broken and had to be killed. Mr. Hitchens sustained an injury to a leg while his wife had her lips mashed and one tooth knocked out. Floyd, their eight-year-old boy, was seriously injured about the face and throat, one of the gashes almost severing the jugular vein. Deep cuts also were inflicted in the forehead and sides of the face. The injured were hurried to Georgetown, where medical attention was given.

Tie Has Resulted In Tie Vote In District.

LAW PROVIDES FOR SPECIAL ELECTION

Democrats and Republicans
Votes Each in Lower House District. In Republican, But Contest Is Expected By Democrats.
Election In 30 Days.

The official canvass of the Tuesday's election in Sussex county, which was completed by Judge Brad and H. H. Insley, shows that for the office of Representative General Assembly, from the district of that county, the Democrats will determine the political complexion of the next House. Without the district returns, so far as can be ascertained, the work has been completed in Kent and Sussex and part of New Castle counties—show that the Democrats and Republicans elected 37 members each.

were tied in 1897, 1900, 1904, 1908, 1912, 1916, 1920. In 1912 and 1916 two proposed in New Castle County in the Fifth and Twelfth districts, having been abandoned by the Democrats—it is safe to assume that the result in New Castle county will remain unchanged through the present count.

Therefore, it is safe to assume that the 18 Democratic candidates for Representative and the 18 Republican candidates, returned at the canvass. That being the case, the election of the Sussex tie will determine the political complexion of the next House.

The State Constitution provides a special election in 30 days after the canvass of the election, a tie, as a means of settling the tie of this sort. When inquiry was made at the State House it was stated that the governor had not yet been officially advised; therefore there was no official statement, as to what he would do in the matter. However the law (State Constitution) says:

"Wherever there shall be a vacancy in either house of the General Assembly, by reason of failure to elect, illegitimacy, death, resignation or otherwise, a writ of election shall be issued by the presiding officer of the house in which the vacancy exists, or in cases of necessity in such other manner as shall be provided by law; and the person thereupon chosen to fill such vacancy shall hold office for the residue of the term. And whenever there shall be such a vacancy in either house, and the General Assembly is not in session, the Governor shall have power to issue a writ of election to fill such vacancy, which writ shall be executed as a writ issued by the presiding officer of either house in case of vacancy, and the person thereupon chosen to fill such vacancy shall hold office for the residue of the term."

The Seventh Representative District of Sussex county, in which the Representative resulted from the election, is Baltimore hundred, a strong Republican district. Incidentally, the voters in that hundred gave Harry Prettyman, Republican candidate for Senator in the Fourth Senatorial district, 1,024 votes, as against 497 for F. C. Shockey, the Democratic candidate.

In the representative contest, however, the situation was different, and candidate, Elmer J. Turner, Democrat, and W. C. H. Hickman, Republican, receiving 748 each.

Notwithstanding the usual Democratic vote there, the Democrats

Such a result in respect of the legislature never before prevailed in Sussex and the result of the election will be awaited with interest.

bigger than the will of the voters of this free country and do as their leaders direct regardless of the sentiment, then another landslide will be in prospect, and the next time no one knows where it will land.

The day has arrived when the party in power must deliver. Excuses are a thing of the past. We have enfranchised an intelligent and uncontrolled vote, and they have got to be perfectly satisfied that they are getting the best or those in power will have to stand by their acts, and defeat if their services are not entirely satisfactory.

The opportunity is open for the Republican party in this nation. They have every chance. Let us hope that the leaders can see the handwriting on the wall and see that the period of petty politics has past and the day has dawned when the American people demand ACTION and not TALK.

Doctor's Swift Race To Head Off Death

Pursued Young Man Who Had Taken Poison Tablet by Mistake and Driven Out of Town.

Dunoho Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Robinson, of Seaford, a sophomore student at Delaware College, came home Saturday to spend the week-end with his parents and Sunday night in company with James Burton and Harlan Pursue, two Seaford boys, made arrangements to go to Federalsburg to spend the evening with some girl friends. He had a headache before leaving and stopped into a local drug store to get an aspirin tablet. The druggist was filling a prescription at the time, but stopped long enough to hand Robinson the bottle containing aspirin tablets. Instead of taking the tablet at once he set it down on the prescription counter near a bottle containing the bichloride and turned around for something. When he turned back to the prescription counter to take the aspirin, he picked up the bottle containing bichloride of mercury and taking one of the pills out swallowed it, explaining as he did that it was the bitterest aspirin tablet he ever took. He then took a swallow of water and going out of the store jumped in a waiting automobile and was off to Federalsburg.

Soon after his departure it was discovered he had taken the bichloride of mercury tablet. Dr. Shipley was called and when the case was explained to him, he jumped into the high-powered car of Charles Day and with Mr. Day at the wheel the car shot forward toward Federalsburg at break neck speed in an effort to overtake the unfortunate young man and his companions. They caught up with them about five miles this side of Federalsburg and taking young Robinson in their car, rushed him to Federalsburg where efforts were made to get the poison out of him. Dr. Shipley, assisted by the Federalsburg physicians, worked over the boy for several hours. He recovered after much forcible vomiting, and is now much better. Developments will be closely watched by the attending physician.

MANY "SWEETS" ARE BE- ING PLACED IN STORAGE

It is estimated that there are stored at Delmar, Seaford, Laurel and Salisbury over a million baskets of sweet potatoes, which will start moving out in carload lots about Thanksgiving, continuing until spring.

The price paid for the potatoes has averaged around 50 cents per basket. The brokers store them in large storage houses and hold them until the price advances, when they commence to unload.

The farmers, too, are storing many sweet potatoes in the expectations of better prices later on, and the potato storage houses are doing a rushing business.

The chemical apparatus was rushed to the scene and after pouring several gallons of chemicals down the chimney the fire was extinguished.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. J. Masop, pastor of the church, and who assisted by the Rev. F. H. Blunt, rector of the Protestant Episcopal church of Quantico.

The bride was prettily gowned in a dark traveling suit. Following the ceremony the newly married couple left for a short trip.

2. An education for the children.
3. A comfortable and carefree old age.
4. A stabilizer of business.
5. A savings fund that can be drawn on in case of emergency.

Picture a community where every family owned its own home and every child got an education—where every old person was financially independent and every business was on a sound and stable basis—and finally where everyone had a nest egg laid aside for emergencies, and you will have an idea of the kind of a community we are trying to make of Wicomico County.

READING THE SIGNS.

By Carolyn Sherwin Bailey, Author of Wonder Stories.

The primary children did not want to play with the boys and girls from Mill Street, although the Mill Street children were in the same class. Odd little foreign lads and lassies they were, wearing fur caps and scarlet shirts and orange colored scarfs. But they did not seem to know how to play; and there was something worse than that about them.

"The Mill Street children don't know how to live in our town," said the others. "Only see what they do!"

Maud saw one Saturday afternoon when she took her roller skates to the park. There, right beside a sign that read "Keep off the Grass," sat Santa, the little Italian girl, picking daisies.

"Oh, please don't do that Santa," Maud said. "The sign says not to. You come with me and I will show you a free daisy field."

Santa looked at the sign. She touched the letters with her fingers and then she smiled at Maud as she joined her on the sidewalk and the two hurried off. They had a beautiful afternoon and on Monday Maud gathered the Primary children together and told them a secret about the Mill Street children. Then such nice things began to happen!

Jean had a big police puppy that he had brought from Havre, France, but he would take it out on Mill Street, and even farther, without a muzzle. But Harold, who sat next to him in school, took him to the big town hall and showed him the sign about dogs being muzzled and Jean's father bought him a muzzle so large and soft that the puppy liked to wear it.

Barton was going to school one day and he met Joseph going the other way. Joseph had not gone to school in Russia, and he had decided to play truant, because it was such a sunny day. But Barton told Joseph that he wanted to show him something, so, together they went to school. They entered by the great front door and Barton showed Joseph the notice on the wall that told the school law. It read that a boy or girl must not play truant. So Joseph laughed with his big brown eyes, for the sign was a surprise to him and he was not even late for school.

After the Mill street children had learned to live in the American town and how to play with the American primary children, they found out Maud's secret. She had asked the others to help these foreign little ones to learn the laws that the signs of the town told. Mill street knew very little about laws and the children, at first, could not read the signs.

Is there a Mill Street in your town?

THE NEW STREET SIGNS ARE PLACED

Will Prove Valuable Assistance To Visitors In Salisbury. Residences To Be Renumbered.

The new street signs which were ordered by the Mayor and Council last Spring arrived during the past week and were immediately erected at the various corners by Commissioner Serman and his street force.

These signs which are of unmele blue background with lettering of white are erected on iron poles and display the name of the street or avenue in such a manner that it can be read at quite a distance by either automobilists or pedestrians.

Hitherto it has been nearly impossible to direct a person to such and such a street or avenue as there was no way of telling when one reached their proper corners to make their turn, as the old street signs erected years ago are now practically extinct.

The markers are not only practicable as an assistance to strangers in the city but are ornamental as well and add quite a bit to the appearance of our thoroughfares.

It is understood that the next step contemplated by the city officials along this line is the renumbering of all the residences in the city and the proper placarding of same which is to be done in the near future.

A Wife on Probation

By OTILLIA F. PFEIFFER

(© 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

There was not a grain of sentimentality or nonsense in the make up of Gregory Lane, he was proud to boast to his friends! A widower for 15 years, he had brought up his son, Homer, as would a strict disciplinarian and had turned out a fine young man in all respects.

"When you have made your way into a solid business position and the future is assured," Mr. Lane told Homer, "it is natural and sensible to think of marrying, not before," and the speaker considered this as a sort of warning that would have a restraining influence on the young man.

When the latter was twenty-two Mr. Lane sent him to the city to enter the offices of the Central Railway Equipment company, in which he had a large interest. The reports he received from Homer and from his employers for the first year inspired the old man with the deepest pride and satisfaction. Homer had developed salesmanship qualifications of no mean order. It was through him that an extensive contract was received covering construction in Buenos Aires.

Then there came, suddenly, jarring to Gregory Lane, a development that for a time disrupted his living plans and caused the first hard feelings he had ever experienced against his son. Its arrival was heralded by the appearance at the old home of a bright, presentable young fellow about Homer's age, who announced in a preliminary way that he was a close friend of Homer and a fellow employee.

"Homer sent me to see you, Mr. Lane," he said, "and I hope what I have to communicate will not distress you, for Homer has married a young lady you must like and respect, as we all do, if you will take the trouble to learn of her good qualities."

There Maurice Page was halted in his disclosures by the old man springing to his feet as though a cannon ball had struck him. His face grew purple, his gray locks seemed to vibrate electrically, his lips trembled as he uttered hoarsely:

"You mean to tell me that my son has married without notifying me of his intentions or seeking my consent?"

"It came about so strangely," said Page. "Please let me tell the whole story, Mr. Lane, and I am sure you will not blame him. Homer has married the sweetest girl in the world. He has been calling upon her for some months, and just a week ago her father died, leaving his motherless daughter nothing but debts. Her position was a pitiable one. Homer acted on an impulse of his generous nature. There was a quiet wedding yesterday morning. Within the same hour the house informed Homer that he would have to take the first steamer to South America, to reach Buenos Aires and protect several millions of railroad supplies in litigation. Husband of an hour, he bade his wife, Vera, farewell, instructed me what to do, and Mrs. Lane is a guest of my mother until some permanent arrangement can be made for her."

"And what has all this got to do with me?" demanded Gregory Lane, his face presenting an icy inflexibility. "As against every tacit promise he has made me, Homer weds in defiance of all sense and order."

"Mr. Lane," interjected Page pleadingly, "it will break his heart if you do not receive the daughter he has won you. She is practically homeless." And a new phase of feeling influenced the indignant father as, youth against age, the fervent pleas availed. Gregory Lane's temper did not unbend, but he spoke gruffly:

"Very well, let Homer's wife come on probation."

The trembling little refugee came to the great gloomy home much in the frame of mind of a destitute one seeking an unfriendly and unwelcome shelter. In imagination the old man had pictured some brazen, artful adventuress, who had captivated his son, some extravagant woman, disdaining work, thinking only of the luxury the Lane wealth might bestow. Therefore he prepared to accept what was an unwelcome burden on a probationary basis. His two servants were discharged, fully half of the house closed up. When Vera came all was chill, dark, forbidding. The unfriendly, suspicious atmosphere fairly froze her. When there presented a complaining, miserly old creature, she saw little hope in the future of harmony and happiness. Then love, deep, earnest, ideal grappled with the problem that fate had awarded her to solve.

"For Homer's sake!" she whispered fervently to herself, and bent to the task of winning the perverse nature of a tyrant by gracious words and deeds.

Gregory Lane was making the test severe and trying, but Vera withstood the ordeal. With the sparse household outlay she did wonders. In the absence of dainties she created them; she transformed disorder into coherency and neatness. Under the well assumed mask of unfriendly harshness, she saw affection and respect worth winning. When the husband of an hour returned, Gregory Lane, transformed, the dreary home all beautiful greeted him:

"A wife worth having!" spoke Gregory Lane. "Entirely too good for either of us!" and the probationary period ended in the sunshine, harmony and the happiness that made the lives of those three radiant and resplendent.

It is a Billous Attack.

BRIEF NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE STATE

Called From Our Exchanges and Put In Shape For Quick
Reading.

The new three-masted schooner Lillian E. Kerr, which has just been completed at the yards of E. James Tull, Potomac City, for J. W. Somerville, Guilford, Miss., arrived in Baltimore to load for her maiden voyage to South Atlantic ports. The Lillian E. Kerr is 176 feet long, 35 feet 2 inches beam and 12 feet 7 inches depth of hold, and is of 562 gross tons. She was built and fitted for sea at the Tull plant, where her keel was laid August 14. The vessel will be placed permanently in the lumber trade between the States and the West Indies. She is a sister ship to the J. W. Somerville recently built at the same plant and now on her way to Africa.

Although the Chesapeake bay crop of oysters does not promise to be exceptional, there are indications that oysters will be larger and more numerous this year than usual. This is due to the fact that conditions throughout the spawning season were good in the tributaries of the bay and that there was a general "strike" in most of the rivers. These facts were brought out following the inspection of the State oyster bars by R. V. Truitt, who submitted his report to Harrison W. Vickers, chairman of the Conservation Commission.

Work on St. Michael's cemetery, Frostburg, is being pushed with vigor by the St. Michael's parish. The men and the pastor work each evening of the week, excepting Saturday and Sunday evenings, and have accomplished much. The men of the Ancient Order of Hibernians removed the several bodies that were buried in the pathways and reinterred them in other graves designated for them.

A jury in the Harford county Circuit Court awarded a verdict of $852 to Harold C. Grubb, of Baltimore, in his damage suit against Mrs. Katharine de Weihenmeyer, of Philadelphia, resulting from an automobile accident that occurred near Oakington in November, 1919. Grubb, it was alleged, hired his automobile to Harvey and Alfred Williams, of Baltimore, who were returning home from West Chester, Pa., when they met the defendant's machine, and which, the occupants of the plaintiff's car stated, was zig-zagging on the road. The cars collided and were badly damaged, while the occupants were more or less injured. Grubb brought suit for $1,500 for damages to his car and the loss of its use. The defendant claimed that the plaintiff's car ran into hers.

The beautiful residence situated on what is known as the Philip G. Scarff property at the Upper Cross roads, Harford county, and owned by Mrs. Margaret E. Maddox, was destroyed by fire about 8 o'clock Monday night, together with most of its valuable furnishings. The fire is thought to have originated from a defective flue and quickly spread. It was one of the largest and most modern improved homes in the country and the loss is estimated to be about $10,000, with partial insurance.

Easton is proud of the distinction that has come to one of its boys, Raymond B. Cox, a native of Easton, and cousin of Alfred B. Mason, has been elected president of Webster and Atlas National Bank, of Boston, and is the youngest national bank president in the country. Mr. Cox is a son of B. F. Cox, who for years was a merchant of Easton. Mr. Cox is just 27 years old, having been born in Easton in 1893, but since entering the banking field, which he did immediately on leaving school, his rise has been rapid.

E. Lee LeCompte, state game warden, is in receipt of reports from his deputies in the several counties that the thousand or more pheasants distributed by them are thriving on Maryland soil. According to report they are taking to the woods. It is also said that they are on friendly terms with partridges. The pheasant is a pugnacious bird. It had not been expected that he would associate with the native bird. Mr. LeCompte reports that the elimination of wood land and sage fields is detrimental to the life of game birds. At the same time he says that reports show an increase in wild birds. There are now over seven hundred deputy game wardens scattered throughout every section of the State, and it might be well to take note of this fact and not run the risk of being apprehended for violation of the game laws.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

On Tuesday school was dismissed at 1:45 p. m. for the day so the faculty could vote.

The Soccer game which was to take place on Friday was postponed for some unknown reason and the season won't open until the first of the week, probably Tuesday. The schedule of games has not been definitely settled, but there will be two or three preliminary contests during the next two weeks. For daily practice two teams have been selected and to all appearances in the skirmishes they are evenly matched. There are however several players who are beginning to show their superior ability and the varsity team will consist of these players.

The Freshmen party was a social success. It was held Friday afternoon on the large green field back of the Armory. Several teachers acted as chaperons. Games were indulged in and refreshments were served in that style which is known as "Each man for himself."

Friday morning Reverend Shipley visited the school and gave a short address. His speech was very elevating as well as appropriate and was thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Next Friday morning the Juniors will entertain the school. They are working quite hard on the play and cordially extend an invitation to the public to be present Friday morning, November 12th, at 9 a. m.

THE VOGUE SHOP SERVICE MEANS PROPER CLEANING

No nothing problem means a lot of worry these days. People have less money to spend for a clean and they get less clothes for their money. Three years ago you could buy three suits for what you now pay for one. Yes! Look at this! It is a fact that you actually wear out your old clothes. Do you call a garment worn out when it begins to look shabby because it is faded or soiled? If you could put the original color back into the fabric or take out the soil marks you would have several years more good use of the article. That's just what the VOGUE SHOP is doing. It is helping you to fight the H. C. L. by making your old clothes look new. Proper cleaning of wearing apparel at regular intervals is the most intelligent economy one can practice. Remember our work is cleaning, pressing, and dyeing and we can give you the very best service available in these lines. We have special machines for taking out of your Blue, Red and Cool Cloth suits. Look through your wardrobe window and call 1121. We will be glad to help and serve you.

BEAVER BOARD

FOR BETTER WALLS & CEILINGS

At First or At Last?

Sooner or later you will Beaver Board that room.

The one question is whether you will do it at first or at last. While a surprisingly large amount of Beaver Board is used for the purpose of covering over worn-out lath and plaster walls, you never heard of anyone putting lath and plaster over Beaver Board. When a Beaver Board wall or ceiling is up, it's up to stay.

Why not have your Beaver Board room at first instead of at last and avoid the extra job and extra cost?

Beaver Board is a lumber product built up from the fibre of clean white spruce. It comes in sturdy, durable, handsome-surfaced panels without a crack, knot or blemish. It will last as long as the building in which it is used. It resists heat, cold and sound better than lath and plaster. It is completely sanitary and easy to apply. Warping is prevented by a special patented process which no other wallboard is licensed to employ.

Let's talk it over.

THE MAN-ABOUT-TOWN.

Scraps He Picks Up Here, There And Everywhere.

In a nation of such modern origin as ours it is difficult always to get a right perspective; our vision is too limited. For that reason we should the more carefully guard the story of the past with its varied incidents. Two of these old-time happenings were recalled this week. The first was the 150 anniversary of the first Methodist sermon preached in Baltimore by an English preacher, John King. A blacksmith's shop originally stood at Rath and Front streets, where the first sermon was preached. The other was a celebration by the Presbyterian Church of the 205th anniversary of the first regular Presbyterian service within the bounds of the Presbytery of Baltimore. This was at North Point, in Baltimore county, to which place a Presbyterian pilgrimage went on Wednesday. The oldest organized Presbyterian church in the country is that of New Castle, Del., which was organized in 1670. A number of other Presbyterian churches in Delaware and Maryland go back before 1700. It is well for us to remember the links that bind our present to our past, that we may the better understand our nation's growth.

Large expectations are being held by some good people as to the uplifting effect of the advent of women in politics. We are being told that we shall at once see the purifying process as the influence of women's votes begin to show itself. This, in fact, was one strong argument advanced for the granting of suffrage to women. We readily acknowledge that politics need purifying and need it badly. Men are nominated for office whose characters would hardly bear inspection. It is said that an Episcopalian rector in Pennsylvania four weeks ago strongly urged his parishioners to return from voting for one prominent candidate for the presidency because he had had some experience in the divorce courts. The following Sunday, on account of what he had found out the previous week, he repeated the same advice, but this time with reference to the other great party nominee and for the same cause. As to the ultimate fruits of the enfranchisement of women, time alone will tell.

There is undoubtedly a certain unprogressiveness in the figures compiled by the Census Bureau with reference to the religious affiliation of our people. There are, we are told, 227,487 religious organizations in the land, which must mean individual churches, with a total membership of almost 42,000,000. There are some 20,000,000 scholars attending the 194,769 Sunday Schools. Yet it would be surely a grave error to put down the other 60,000,000 of Americans as outside the Christian church. It is true they may be outside formal membership of the churches; but it is not equally true that many millions of them are consciously or unconsciously influenced by their Christian environments? Certainly millions of them have no idea of activity opposing Christianity, and the Master once said: "He that is not against us is on our part."

The greatest problem in civic improvement is the large number of people who seem to have no sense of cleanliness and order. While this element is most conspicuous in big city slums yet most towns have some representatives of it. Some of the most disorderly dwellings are found in country locations.

A constant state of deadlock exists between these people and owners of property. Landlords won't improve the property because they complain that tenants abuse it. Tenants complain that they are so discouraged by the run down condition of things that they have no interest in improvement.

In some places civic organizations have made a systematic effort to remedy these conditions. At Cincinnati, a visiting housekeeper was appointed to see what she could do in a typical slum district. It was a difficult matter to handle as a tactless approach to these people would meet rebuffs.

But in this case a woman with human sympathy was able to persuade the tenants of the advantages they would gain by taking hold to improve conditions. Then when she had got the co-operation of the tenants, she approached the landlords and persuaded them to make betterments. As a result nearly all the homes were improved, value was added to the real estate and living conditions made far more pleasant.

While conditions would be different in a community like ours, yet the time will come when efforts to persuade disorderly neighborhoods to clean up will be an essential part of any civic improvement movement. It is merely a question of getting the landlords and tenants to cooperate.

A WORD WITH WOMEN.

Valuable Advice for Salisbury Readers.

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache, pains about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and urinary disorders, hopeless of relief because she doesn't know what is the matter. It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow. Then help the weakened kidneys. Don't expect them to get well alone. Doan's Kidney Pills have won the praise of thousands of women. They are endorsed at home—Read this Salisbury woman's convincing statement: "Mrs. Chas. T. Bradley, 315 Elizabeth St., says: 'I was troubled with a bad case of kidney complaint and backache. When I did anything that obliged me to stoop, I could hardly straighten up, because sharp pains would catch me in the small of my back. One day I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking several boxes, I was rid of the trouble. Since my cure, I have always recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from backache or disordered kidneys.' Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bradley had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv't.

ENGLISH FANS EAGER TO SEE MAN O' WAR

Big Offer Made Samuel Riddle To Show Great Horse Abroad.

Man o' War, mighty world's champion race horse, may face the barrier at an English race course if money and the pleadings of many English sportsmen can induce his owner, Samuel D. Riddle, to take the famous stallion there.

Before and since the great match race, in which Man o' War conquered Sir Barton, many offers have been made to get the champion of champions abroad, while prominent sportsmen from abroad have urged Riddle to send Man o' War to England to meet the English champion, Comrade, but all these offers have been rejected.

Thursday night came word from London that Freeman Bornstein, the New York sportsman, who promoted the Wild-Wallace fight at Toronto last summer, asserted he had cabled Riddle an offer of $100,000 to bring Man o' War to England for a race next spring.

The Riddles are at their Berlin home, where they maintain their racing stables, and Riddle was out in the wilds on a hunting trip, but Mrs. Riddle said she did not think a purse alone, no matter how big, would be sufficient inducement for Mr. Riddle to send his great champion abroad.

On Tuesday Miss Charlotte Frances Ryall, daughter of Mr. William J. Ryall, of Fruitland, died at Chertown, Va. Her remains were brought to Fruitland, on Thursday and funeral services were held in the Christian church. Interment was in the cemetery of the Fruitland M. E. Church. The deceased was a graduate nurse of the Peninsula General Hospital.

CHESAPEAKE WONDERFUL INLAND SEA

Could Supply The Whole Country With Oysters and Central Section With Fish.

BAY IS GROWING RICHER ALL THE TIME

Is The World's Finest Inland Sea and Yields More Food Than Any Body Of Water Its Size Anywhere. Is 158 Miles Long. Delaware Bay and Tributaries Mentioned.

Felix Agnus, the veteran Maryland editor, writing under the caption of "Our Wonderful Bay," declares the Chesapeake to be the finest inland sea in the world, and says it could be made to supply oysters enough to supply the whole country and fish enough to meet the needs of the people of the Middle States. Much of his informing article applies so well to the Delaware Bay, and its tributaries that it is worth reproducing in part:

"Captain Wright, who has spent a life-time near or on the bay, says the Chesapeake is the 'Mother of Waters,' and calls attention to its remarkable tides as follows: 'The distance from the capes at the mouth of the bay to Betterton, Kent county, at the mouth of the Sassafras river, is about 158 miles, and when it is high tide at the capes it is also high tide near Betterton, with one low tide between them. When it is low tide at each place, one high tide is found midway between them. Even in its tides it is matchless.

"It is the world's finest inland sea and it yields more food than any body of water its size anywhere.

"It is a bay that is growing richer all the time. Daily the tides bring down tons of soil from the miles of rivers and creeks and the changes are continuous. We can trace the erosions better than the building up. For example, on the Eastern Shore since 1847 Tilghmans Island has lost 330 acres. In 300 years Sharps Island has dwindled from 700 to 50 acres and it will gradually disappear.

"Thus the Chesapeake tides are full of nutriment for the vast life that is found under its surface, and that becomes food for the millions of America. Last year the Chesapeake supplied 4,666,211 bushels of oysters, an increase of a million bushels over the previous year. I asked an official of the conservation commission what was the highest yield in the oyster history of the Chesapeake. He replied 10,000,000 bushels annually. Kellogg said, 'The Chesapeake Bay is the most extensive and prolific oyster territory in the world.' Professor Brooks said, 'The opportunity for rearing oysters is unparalleled in any part of the world.' The bay is ready for the work: it has 640,000 acres of rich oyster bottoms, and America will never lack for oysters if we Marylanders do our part. But our oyster policy has been sadly deficient. We are doing a little better now, but we need to improve in many ways. What I should like to see would be more persons engage in oyster culture. Thousands of acres of oyster bottom are open to private enterprise.

"In food value the bay's production may be made almost limitless. I am glad to learn that the State is propagating food fishes, especially white and yellow perch. We should have cheap fish in Baltimore and Baltimore is the natural fish market for the Middle North and West. The Chesapeake can be made to supply fish for all territory in ever increasing numbers, and there are no better fish in the world.

"All over this bay rests a genial fate. Observations made under the auspices of the Maryland Weather Service for 25 years show that the counties bordering on the Chesapeake Bay count upon a safe growing period of from 190 to 210 days. And some of the farms produce two and three crops a year.

"With a ship canal at its head and its other canals leading south to the Gulf of Mexico the Chesapeake is entering a new future as a great highway of trade. There is no calculation that can accurately state its commercial possibilities. Soon it will have the largest steel mill and the greatest shipyards in the world, and thus it is moving into its wonderful destiny.

"Already, too, people are seeking its salubrious shores for their homes and I venture to say that more than one visitor of the present year will be buying before the prices ascend. Then, too, we shall soon have the Philadelphia yachts in the Chesapeake. With the deepened canal to the Delaware, it is inevitable that the Chesapeake will become the water playground of Philadelphia. Today more than 6,000 boats float upon its surface. Coming years will see the number doubled."

Bishop Appeals For Energetic Rectors

Head of Easton P. E. Diocese Issues Call For Strong Men During Reception At Cambridge.

A reception in honor of Bishop Davenport, of the diocese of Easton, was given at the parish house of Christ Church, Cambridge, to which all the members of Episcopal congregations throughout the county were invited. The bishop delivered an address in which he made a plea for strong energetic men as rectors of rural congregations.

There were solos by Mrs. John E. Groff and Misses Nellie Shackelford and Margaret Skinner, with instrumental music by Mrs. George Jones and Miss Margaret Matthews.

Bishop Davenport spoke Sunday morning at Christ Church to a large congregation. He preached in the afternoon at St. John's Church, Neck District, and again at night at Christ Church, Cambridge.

OUR MILD FALL SEASON IS UNUSUAL

The long spell of warm October weather has brought blossoms again to the orchards of the lower part of the Eastern Shore and the bees that had long ago closed their operations for the winter have gone forth the second time to gather honey from the clover and flowers that have bloomed out of season. Everybody and everything animate seems to be rejoicing except the man or woman with hay fever, an affliction that only departs with the advent of frost. Even the sweet potatoes are sprouting as if mistaking the balmy days for mid-summer. The mildness of the Eastern Shore climate can be gratefully appreciated by realizing that in some of the more northern sections of the country the trees are bare and the groundhog has curled up for his long winter sleep.

MARYLAND ANNUAL AGRICULTURE CONVENTION MOST SUCCESSFUL

Delegates And Visitors Are Favorably Impressed With Fertile Eastern Shore.

SPLENDID ADDRESS BY GOVERNOR RITCHIE

Farmers From All Sections Of Maryland Made Their Way To City To Attend First Convention Of The Society Ever Held On The Eastern Shore. Program Instructive.

The first gathering of the farmers of Maryland on the Eastern Shore was a success in every way. From the arrival of the delegates and visitors to their departure, the plans were carried out with precision and without a single slip. The committee on entertainment, with headquarters at the Armory, registered each guest and assigned him to a home, hundreds of which had been listed and indexed in order to provide a place for every visitor.

The plan of entertainment included automobile trips to Harrison's Nurseries, Riddle's Racing Stables, Ocean City, Allen's Farms, and the Homestead Dairy. An old fashioned oyster roast provided 500 bushels of delicious Chincoteagues for the delegates on Wednesday afternoon. The entertainment of the city's guests in the homes of the citizens was no small portion of the hospitality.

The attendance reached approximately a thousand, and the roll call at mass meetings showed that the vast majority of the delegates were from the Western Shore, and from the upper Eastern Shore counties. The only unfavorable comment heard during the entire convention was the absence of local farmers. Only six Wicomico agriculturists answered the roll. Visitor after visitor remarked on the fact that the farmers of Wicomico, Worcester, Dorchester, and Somerset counties were not present.

for they were extremely eager to meet and talk with Eastern Shore agriculturists.

In spite of this unfortunate phase, however, all the guests were very favorably impressed with what they saw and will long remember Salisbury and the generous hospitality accorded them there.

The program of meetings was long and varied. Each of the six associations affiliated with the Agricultural Society had a long list of speakers who presented their several subjects with marked ability. Among the outstanding addresses was that of Governor Ritchie at the mass meeting on the evening of the opening day.

Speaking to a large audience at the Arcade Theatre, the Governor urged co-operative farm sales, describing the success of a similar movement in California. It was manifest throughout his speech that he had given much thought and study to his subject, and what he had to say was well worth while not only on account of its inherent value, but as well for its excellent presentation.

DIPHTHERIA MAKES ITS APPEARANCE IN CITY

Several Mild Cases and One Death Are Reported—Public Advised To Guard Against Sore Throat.

Several cases of diphtheria have recently been reported in Salisbury. There has been one death from the disease. As many children in the public schools seemed to be suffering from sore throat, cultures were taken and it was found that a number of them had the diphtheria organisms in their throats. While it was in only a mild form, there is always danger of the disease becoming severe.

Diphtheria is an acute disease of the nose and throat and is considered dangerous. It is caused by a germ which not only makes the spot where it grows inflamed and sore, but secretes a poison that weakens the heart. The disease is contagious and can be contracted from others who have it and spread it by careless coughing and sneezing. Cups and spoons which have not been thoroughly cleaned in boiling water are also sources of contagion.

Before antitoxin was known, the death rate from diphtheria was one out of three. If the antitoxin is used on the first or second day of contraction of the disease, however, ninety-eight persons out of every hundred recover.

The presence of the disease in the city is not serious enough to be disturbed over, but it is well to take all precautions against it. Sore throat should have the attention of a physician, and under all circumstances people should not be careless about sneezing, coughing or spitting.

Capt. and Mrs. Edward Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Rollie D. Gillis, left the early part of this week for Richmond to attend the wedding of Edward Johnson, Jr., and Miss Catherine Price, of that place. Mrs. Gillis will be matron of honor.

President's Thanksgiving Proclamation

"In a spirit of devotion and stewardship we should give thanks in our hearts and dedicate ourselves to God's service."

President Wilson issued his Thanksgiving proclamation Friday, setting aside Thursday, November 25, for the usual observances. The text follows:

"The season approaches when it behooves us to turn from the distractions and preoccupations of our daily life, that we may contemplate the mercies which have been vouchsafed to us, and render heartfelt and unfeigned thanks unto God for His manifold goodness."

"This is an old observance of the American people, deeply imbedded in our thought and habit. The burden and the stresses of life have their own insistence."

"We have abundant cause for thanksgiving. The lessons of the war are rapidly healing. The great army of freedom, which America sent to the defense of liberty, returning to the grateful embrace of the nation, has resumed the useful pursuits of peace, as simply and as promptly as it rushed to arms in obedience to the country's call."

"The equal justice of our laws has received timely vindication in the support of law-abiding people against various and sinister attacks, which have reflected only the base agitations of war, now happily passing."

"In plenty, security and peace, our virtuous and self-reliant people face the future, its duties and its opportunities. May we have vision to discern our duties; the strength, both of hand and resolve, to discharge them; and the soundness of heart to realize that the truest opportunities are those of service."

"In a spirit, then, of devotion and stewardship we should give thanks in our hearts and dedicate ourselves to the service of God's merciful and loving purposes to His children."

"Wherefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-fifth day of November next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and I call upon my countrymen to cease from their ordinary tasks and avocations upon that day, giving it up to the remembrance of God and His blessings, and their dutiful and grateful acknowledgments."

High School Alumni Hold Reunion Xmas

Combined Roll of Classes Shows 800 and Meeting Is Expected To Be Largest Ever Held.

A big reunion of all the alumni of the Wicomico High School, classes 1876-1921, will be held in this city during the Christmas holidays. A committee has been busy for some time formulating plans for the celebration which will be the largest gathering of graduates of this institution ever assembled, the combined rolls showing around 800 graduates.

Six and possibly more of the first class to graduate, that of 1876, are living in and around Salisbury. They are Jay Williams, Mrs. E. D. Fowler, Mrs. Thomas Perry, Miss Mary Heister Parsons, Elijah S. Gordy and Washington E. Parsons.

The program will consist of musical numbers, speeches by representatives of the various classes, rendition of several sketches by the class of '21 and other numbers. Refreshments will be served and the affair will probably close with a dance.

The committee in charge of the reunion consists of Charles LeVines, 3rd, chairman; Miss Mary Little, secretary, and William Morgan, treasurer. Prof. Clark is co-operating to make the occasion a success as usual, as are several of the members of the older classes.

Announcements will be mailed to all graduates of the school later. It is hoped that all alumni whether in Salisbury or elsewhere will make an effort to be present at that time and take part in order to make the affair a grand success. Officers for the ensuing year will be elected and plans formulated to make the association a perpetual one.

Election Bills Mount High In Wicomico

Will Exceed By Several Hundred Dollars The Expense of Any Former Year.

The Board of Supervisors of Elections are busy examining and approving the bills incurred during the late Presidential and Congressional elections in Wicomico, and find that the costs are mounting into big figures compared with the expenses of past years.

For the past several years the County Commissioners have levied $3,000 each year for election expenses, but this amount will fall far short this year, owing to the increased number of registration and election officials, the purchase of new registration books, transcribing the names to the new books, the cost of providing extra voting precincts and the hundred and one other small items of expense.

While all the bills have not been audited, it is believed that the total of election expenses will foot up nearly $5,000. The County Commissioners will, therefore, be compelled to levy for a deficit in the election expenses in the very next year.

Another Big Time For Tall Cedars

Local Forest Will Go To Centerville On The 21st To Wake Up Aristocratic Old Town.

Another big time is in store for the Eastern Shore Forest, Tall Cedars of Lebanon, on the 21st inst., when the boys journey to Centerville to wake up that aristocratic town to the doings of "Tall Cedarsism."

The trip will be made by auto, the party leaving Salisbury at 12:30 p. m. The committee in charge of transportation consists of J. K. Valliant, E. B. Hill and D. N. Magruder. The Salisbury band will accompany the party.

A parade starting from the Centerville Armory at 4 p. m. puts in motion the activities upon the arrival of the visiting Cedars and the regular ceremonial takes place within the Armory at 7:30 p. m. This will be the fourth ceremonial of this young, hustling order and one of the Cedars sums it up in this manner. Number one was a dandy, number two a rip-roarer, number three a crackjack and number four—O boy, some time!

ORANCOCK HUNTER IS WOUNDED BY COMPANION

A Mr. James, of Oranock, was accidentally shot while ducking near Oranock last Tuesday. His companion was raising his gun when it prematurely discharged the load taking effect in James' left arm. He was brought to the Peninsula General Hospital for treatment.

RED CROSS ANNUAL ROLL CALL BEGINS

Membership Campaign Started Amidst Day and Will Continue Until Thanksgiving.

The American Red Cross opened its fourth roll call last Thursday. The drive for members, old and new, will continue until Thanksgiving and hosts of workers will assist in spreading the appeal of the organization for assistance throughout the country.

Wicomico Chapter of the Red Cross Association has launched its enrollment campaign enthusiastically, and with every expectation of receiving subscriptions not only of the majority of people now on its rolls, but also of signing up additional forces.

As the contributions are only one dollar each, it has been pointed out that in the humanitarian work of the World's Greatest Mother is put within the reach of everybody.

Chairman T. L. Ruark, of the local chapter, is looking for an increase in membership during this drive. In addition to the regular work of the Red Cross, Wicomico Chapter is supporting a nurse whose services are free to all persons in the county, and whose efforts are productive of excellent results.

Those with sympathetic hearts will be fully impressed with the tales of woe and suffering and hardship coming from Europe. The condition of orphan children in most of the war-stricken countries of the world is the most terrible and pitiable feature of the situation. It is estimated that 10,000,000 such little ones are without homes or proper care.

In many districts such children are running absolutely wild. In the summer they wandered through the woods and fields, picking up what they could find to eat. Winter, with all its cruelty and deprivation, will take from them this one source of supply. What will they do then?

In some of the Baltic countries, it is said, that there are practically no children between the ages of one and four on account of such fearful exposure. The American Red Cross has done a noble work for these unfortunate ones, probably more than any other agency. The next step toward further and more efficient help is for everyone to take out this membership in this splendid organization during the roll call this month.

Remember that, as during the war, all you need is a heart and a dollar. Most people today have the dollar; not all have the heart. Let Wicomico county lead the way with a 100 per cent showing of both hearts and dollars.

Two Negroes Wounded In Shooting Affray

Five Shots Fired and Two Take Effect—One Man Reported Critically Injured—Police on Lookout.

Will Parsons was shot through the arm and Joe Whaley in a critical condition in the Peninsula General Hospital with a bullet wound in the stomach as a result of a shooting affray in the poolroom of James Dashiell, colored, at the lower end of Main street, shortly after noon Saturday.

Several negroes, it is alleged, were in a game of crap, when an argument arose, followed by a fight in which the two wounded men and Charles Birkhead were the participants.

Birkhead, it is said, fired the shots, five in all, two taking effect.

During the excitement which followed the shooting Birkhead made his getaway and was last seen on East Church street, probably making for the railroad, by which it is thought he made his escape. The police immediately got busy on the case and are on the lookout for Birkhead should he be in the vicinity of Salisbury.

PANAMA CANAL SHOWS DEFICIT IN TOTAL TOLLS

During the past fiscal year the Panama Canal has been self-sustaining, according to the Current Canal Record, the official publication of the zone. The report shows that the receipts for the past year were $8,935,871, while operating expenses were $6,548,272 or a profit of $2,387,599. A change in the rule of measurements makes a profit smaller than it would otherwise have been. The total cost of operation of the canal for the fiscal year has been $38,657,766 and the total revenues amount to $34,657,766, making a deficit of some $2,000,000 instead of a surplus of $2,387,599, had the original table of measurements been adhered to.

Prices Here Reach Much Lower Level

Declines From 20 To 60 Per Cent. In Ready Made Clothing. New Level Will Be Permanent.

Prices are falling in Salisbury. For the past several weeks, the press has devoted much space to the great fall in wholesale prices, and the public has been anxiously and eagerly awaiting the same thing to take place in retail lines.

Falling wholesale prices are being reflected in retail prices in Salisbury, according to local merchants, and price reductions made during dollar day week have become more or less permanent, so much so, in fact, that they are no longer reductions but must really be called declines.

In the dry goods stores, particularly, is the decline in the high cost of living noticeable. Such staple, nationally advertised articles as Hill's muslin and Lancaster gingham are selling today for approximately 100 per cent less than they were three weeks ago. Articles as influential on the markets as these are really barometers of prices in other kinds of textiles. Ready made clothing has also taken a drop averaging between 20 and 60 per cent of former prices.

The institutional advertising begun this week by the Merchants' Division of the Chamber of Commerce in many of the Eastern Shore newspapers, offers positive proof that the merchants of Salisbury are doing all in their power to reduce the cost of living. At the same time, it is the expectation that this advertising will convince the people of the peninsula that Salisbury is really the shopping centre of the Eastern Shore, and that the business men of the city are quite alert to the possibilities of bringing more business here.

Presbyterians Unveil Tablet To War Hero

George E. Hill Honored By Church of Which He Was a Member—Memorial Service For Legion.

In order to perpetuate the memory of the men who died in the late war, President Wilson designated last Sunday as Memorial Sunday which was fittingly observed in Salisbury.

Wicomico Post No. 64, American Legion, was extended an invitation by Rev. Dr. Cone to hold memorial service in Saint Peter's Protestant church which was accepted. The members of the Legion and other ex-service men assembled at the First Regiment Armory and marched to the church. Dr. Cone called upon Capt. L. Claude Bailey, who read the names of those who made the supreme sacrifice, after which Dr. Cone delivered an appropriate sermon taking as his text: "And one of you shall chase a thousand."

Services at the Presbyterian church consisted, in part, of the unveiling of a tablet to the memory of George C. Hill, a member of that church, who was killed in action. The tablet was presented by the Ushers' Association of the Presbyterian church.

More Than $2,000 Spent For Licenses

1,326 Residents of Wicomico Took Out Resident State Licenses To Shoot Game.

More than $2,000 was paid for the privilege of shooting game in Wicomico county this season—the largest amount ever before expended for a few days' shooting in this county.

Clerk Kelley says all records were broken, and that for several days prior to the opening of the season his deputies were detained in the office until 7 to 8 o'clock in the evening. The records make the following showing:

Number of resident county licenses issued, 1,326, costing $1.00 each.

Number of resident state licenses issued, 124, costing $5.00 each.

Number of non-resident state-wide licenses issued, 17, costing $10.00 each.

The money received from these licenses goes to the salary of the game warden and the balance to the purchase of game for restocking purposes.

SALISBURIAN INJURED IN AUTOMOBILE MISHAP

Maurice Jones, son of W. C. Jones, of this city, met with an accident last Sunday while motoring to Crisfield. One of the wheels of the machine came off throwing the car into a ditch. Though severely shaken up no one was seriously injured.

THREE-QUARTER MARK PASSED IN HOSPITAL FUND CAMPAIGN

OCEAN CITY DEDICATION.

Ocean City was the Mecca for Methodists last Sunday and hundreds motored to the seashore resort to be present at the dedication of the new church which has been in the course of erection for several months. The long wait for the completion of the edifice has meant much to the Ocean City congregation, because instead of the small building that was originally planned, through friends all over the state, they have been able to build a structure costing $17,000.

Bishop John W. Hamilton, of Washington, D. C., was present all day and preached three times to large congregations. Numbers of Salisburyans attended the afternoon meetings at which time the dedicatory services took place.

VIRGINIA METHODIST CONFERENCE CLOSES

Reports Show an Encouraging Growth—Five Changes in Eastern Shore Pastors.

After a six day session, the 135th annual gathering of the Virginia Conference of the M. E. Church, South, at Norfolk, closed on Tuesday. On the Eastern Shore only five changes were made in the appointment of ministers of the various churches, these being at Kellar, Onley, Atlantic, Franktown and Pocomoke City.

The first day's session was devoted to organization of the conference and the rendering of reports by the presiding elders, while the second day was consumed in the presentation of reports on the educational work of the conference and by addresses from prominent ministers.

Bishop Hendrix stated in his report that the M. E. Church, South, had sent out more than 100 missionaries recently and within the next four years would send out 400 more. One of the aims of the educational movement is to raise $33,000,000 for Christian education and $1,000,000 for the needs of deserving students desirous of securing an education. The Virginia Conference voted to accept its share of the total amount to be raised, which is $1,980,000.

On the third day the annual report of the Preachers' Relief Society showed that for the year ending October 28th, receipts were $27,000; disbursements, $20,000; loans secured by deeds of trust, $67,000, and total assets, $74,000.

The Centenary movement board reported that more than 80 per cent of the $1,000,000 pledged for the missionary movement has already been collected, and that there is every assurance that the remaining amount will be collected before the first of the year.

The feature of the last day was the reports by the presiding elders, as to their work in their districts, on the Epworth League, schools and colleges. (Continued on Page 8.)

Appreciation for Successful Convention

Mr. C. M. Freeman, Chamber of Commerce, Salisbury, Maryland.

Dear Mr. Freeman:

I am herewith enclosing a copy of the resolutions adopted by the Maryland Agricultural Society submitted by the resolutions committee. This, however, in a very small way expresses the appreciation of the officers and members of the society and affiliated associations to the Chamber of Commerce and to all local organizations for the splendid entertainment and arrangements made for our pleasure and comfort.

Without doubt this was the most successful convention ever held by the Society in the State and I feel sure from the expressions of our representatives of the twenty-one counties that the name of Salisbury and its people will live long in the memories of our representatives. I am convinced that it has been a wonderful spiritual meeting for our society.

May I express my personal, as well as official appreciation, to the members of the Chamber of Commerce for the splendid co-operation that they extended to me on all occasions.

Assuring you personally and all concerned in this wonderful meeting of our sincere appreciation, I am,

Very truly yours,

THOMAS B. SYMONS, Secretary.

THE RESOLUTIONS FOLLOW:

WHEREAS the Maryland Agricultural Society assembled in Salisbury for its sixth annual meeting is greatly indebted to the generous hospitality of Salisbury; to her Chamber of Commerce and affiliated organizations for the preparations in detail by providing a program, generous hospitality, and a general good time for these associations; therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, that the thanks of this Society are hereby tendered to the above mentioned organizations and all who in any way contributed to the welfare of this Society and its delegates.

Bradley opened the end of the box.

CONVENTION SUCCESS DUE TO CITIZENS

Committees Actively In Charge Of Plans Worked Only Through Co-operation.

EVERY CITIZEN WAS
OF INESTIMABLE HELP

Hundreds of Visitors Made Welcome
By the Whole-Hearted Interest and Hospitality of Every Salisburian
With Whom They Came in Contact.
Delegates Were Highly Pleased.

Salisbury has established an enviable record in community effort. The Maryland Agricultural Society Convention, which was held last week, was the most successful that that organization has ever experienced because every single citizen, every boy and girl, every welfare organization in the city, made an exceptional effort to convince the visitors of the merits of the town and the quality of Eastern Shore hospitality.

Delegate after delegate remarked on the intense interest of those citizens of whom inquiries were made on the streets. Case after case is reported in which busy men and women, hustling boys and girls on the way to schools or to do errands, left their purposed path to set the visitors straight in regard to directions or the location of certain buildings.

Although the convention was engineered by the Chamber of Commerce, through the activities of various of its sub-committees, the undertaking was intended to be, and really was, a community affair. The Chamber of Commerce, through its secretary, expressly thanks every man, woman and child in Salisbury, who made possible the gathering together and entertaining of so many hundreds of visitors. And through the same agency, the delegates have expressed their thanks for the hospitality and entertainment which they thoroughly enjoyed while they were in the metropolis of the peninsula.

While credit is due to all Salisburians, special mention should be given those who took upon themselves the responsibility for carrying out the plans. The various committees are accorded this honor through their chairmen. It is impossible to give a list of all those whose indefatigable efforts counted so much, for to do so would be to write a directory of Salisbury. The thanks and congratulations of each citizen are reciprocally due every other citizen. More specifically, the work of the Chamber of Commerce committees calls for public mention.

The convention would not have attracted any visitors had it not been given sufficient publicity to draw the crowds. The committee on publicity, headed by Mr. W. H. Carty, published articles regarding the Salisbury meeting in every paper in the State at least ten days before the gathering convened. They also sent out 5,000 double page posters which were posted all over Maryland; mailed more than two thousand personal invitations, and provided the souvenir buttons that all the visitors wore.

Finances were ably handled by Mr. I. L. Price and his committee, who spent many an hour canvassing interested people to raise funds to defray the convention expenses.

Mr. Ralph Grier, with his committee, secured an abundance of rooms for the several meetings that were almost constantly in progress, and had them always open on time, nicely heated, cleanly kept. Directories were posted at the Arcade Theatre and at the Armory, and signs were placed at each gathering place for the different organizations.

The reception committee, in charge of Mr. Marvin Evans, met all trains and carried the delegates from the station to headquarters at the Armory.

The entertainment committee, under Mr. William Cooper, planned and executed a very enjoyable program, embracing sight-seeing trips to The Allen Nurseries, The Homestead Dairy Farms, The Harrison Nurseries, Ocean City, and Riddle's Racing Stables near Berlin, where the great Man o' War was exhibited. The oyster roast, one of the greatest ever held on the Shore, was also the work of this committee. The success of the entertainment of delegates was due in no small measure to Messrs. J. Waller Williams, J. James Scott, E. Dale Adkins, Paul Watson, John Gunby, H. L. VanHorn, Henry Hanna and every automobile owner in the city.

The big trucks which brought the oysters from Ocean City were kindly supplied by Morris Brothers, C. R. Disharoon & Company, E. S. Adkins & Company and the Wm. B. Tighman Company. Housing arrangements, under the efficient supervision of Mr. C. G. Culver, were perfect. The facility with which visitors were assigned homes was remarkable. This facility was made possible only through the co-operation and executive ability of Messrs. F. P. Atkins, W. F. Messick, L. P. Coulbourn and Misses Stella Ward, Nellie Massey, Alice Tondvine and every housewife in the city.

The citizens of Salisbury, and each of them, may well be congratulated on the successful manner in which this big convention was handled. There was not a slip from start to finish. The wheels turned perfectly. The credit belongs to Salisbury as a whole, and not to any one person or organization in it. Perhaps this is but the beginning of Salisbury as a convention city. It will be only the beginning if the seeds planted last week are properly tended and made to grow. This is the duty of every man, woman and child in Salisbury.

OYSTER ROAST WAS CONVENTION FEATURE

Hundreds of Visitors Enjoy Eastern Shore Hospitality And Will Have Reason To Remember Salisbury.

The most successful attempt in the way of entertainment ever made in this city was the oyster roast which the Chamber of Commerce gave visitors to the Maryland Agricultural Convention and the Community Fair on Wednesday. The roast was held on the large vacant lot on Circle Avenue just back of the First Regiment Armory from four to six o'clock, and was attended by hundreds of people hungry for the juicy bivalves.

The roast was truly typical of Eastern Shore Hospitality. The committee in charge made generous preparation, so generous in fact that many bushels of oysters were left over. Three hundred bushels had been supplied by Scott Brothers for the occasion, and even the keen appetites of hundreds of hungry people failed to make away with them all.

That the roast was a success was evidenced by the pleased expressions of the epicures present whose satisfaction more than rewarded the committee in charge. "Some Oysters!" "Good," "Fife," "Some Roast!" and other such remarks were audible evidence that the right channel for entertaining the visitors had been foreseen. The only complaint reported was that the oysters served seemed to be totally devoid of pearls, but the committee really does not feel like accepting the responsibility for this complaint.

Special scalding vats were placed on the lot behind the Armory and long tables liberally supplied with pepper, salt, vinegar, and the requisite utensils for eating were built on which the oysters were piled after being scalded.

Taking it by and large, the Roast was probably the most enjoyable feature of the Convention, and the memory of it will long remain with those who were fortunate enough to be there. The occasion will also be an additional incentive to "Remember Salisbury in 1920."

COMMUNITY FAIR HAD LARGE ATTENDANCE

Excellent Exhibits Attracted Hundreds of Visitors To Armory and Created Unusual Interest.

Under the auspices of Wicomico Pomona Grange, a community fair was held last week at the First Regiment Armory on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The event transcended any that has preceded it in the excellent of exhibits, large attendance and manifest enthusiasm of both promoters and patrons.

Messrs. L. T. Wimbrow and T. S. Hearn were in charge of the agricultural section in which were displayed splendid specimens of white and yellow corn, sweet potatoes, Irish potatoes, apples and other products of the farm.

Mrs. Walter Dryden had charge of the fancy work and boys' and girls' department. Examples of crocheted and knitted work, embroidery and similar articles attracted much attention. The household exhibit, supervised by Mrs. Wm. F. Allen, contained especially fine displays of canned fruits and vegetables and other products of the housewife's skill.

The products of the classes in manual training, the exhibition of which was directed by Miss Nettie Holloway, were one of the most interesting features of the fair. The school display also embraced the usual specimens of the work of pupils. The evergreens placed at the Armory and along Division street by Harrison's Nurseries added a needed touch of decorative-ness to the general scene.

A Rat That Didn't Smell After Being Dead For 3 Months.

"I swear it was dead at least 3 months," said James Sykes, Butcher, Westfield, N. J. "We saw this rat every day. Put a cake of RAT-SNAP behind a barrel. Months later my wife asked about the rat. Remembered the barrel, looked behind it. There was the rat—dead, not the slightest odor." Three sizes, 35c, 65c, $1.35. Sold and guaranteed by Dorsey & South Hardware Co., Inc.

THE VOGUE SHOP SERVICE MEANS PROPER CLEANING

The clothing problem means a lot of worry these days. People have less money to spend for clothes and they get less clothes for their money. Three years ago you could buy three suits for what you now pay for one. Yet, listen! how seldom is it that you actually wear out your old clothes? Do you call a garment worn out when it begins to look shabby because it's faded or soiled? If you could put the original color back into the fabric or take out the soil marks you would have several years more good use of the article. That's just what the VOGUE SHOP is doing. Helping you to fight the H. C. L. by making your old clothes look like new. Proper cleaning of wearing apparel at regular intervals is the most intelligent economy one can practice. Remember our work is cleaning, pressing, and dyeing and we can give you the very best service obtainable in these lines. We have special machinery to take care of your Palm Beach and Cool Cloth suits. Look through your summer wardrobe and call 1124. We will be glad to help and serve you.

HAVE YOU A HEART?

Nothing so truly exemplifies the true American spirit as the devotion of the people of this country to the Greatest Mother in the World, the American Red Cross.

Organized with but a single purpose, the alleviation of suffering, both mental and physical, throughout the world, the Red Cross has performed nobly a noble duty.

The association has brought relief to millions upon millions, and has fought at home and abroad against distress, disease, and death. The Red Cross worker is found in every country, in every time, in peace and in war. The activities of the society are manifold, touching every form of human pain, aiding every applicant for help.

It has a vast constructive program tending to the building of a sound body in which a sane mind may dwell, and its workers have served humanity not only on the field of battle, but at the bedside, in the tenement, in fire, and famine, and flood. Men and women have given their lives in its service; and thousands of others are giving their daily lives for the same cause.

The American Red Cross is a charitable organization. It must depend for its existence, and hence its efficient service to the world, upon voluntary subscriptions. It has thrice asked for members, charging a membership fee of one dollar. The millions of men and women and children who enlisted under its banner are manifest evidence of the place it holds in the hearts of Americans.

Today it is asking again for that support which it is assured of receiving. The work of readjustment after the war, the care of the crippled, the maimed, the blind, the sick, and those who gave their minds in battle, falls largely on the Red Cross. Thus is the problem of post-war work a huge one, and one calling for every resource in both money and human energy and faith.

Sympathetic hearts will need but a word to win their subscription. The heart of the vast public, always quick to sympathy, will respond now as it always has in the past. This drive for membership, which has so appropriately commenced on Armistice Day, will, without question, be one of the greatest the country has ever witnessed. The Red Cross needs your help; give it; give it freely and with a glad heart.

All you need is a heart and a dollar. You have the dollar; surely you have the heart.

FRIENDLY ADVICE.

THE NEWS supported Senator Harding in the campaign. It does not regret its position. The same reasons which it urged in its weekly editorials still control.

If the issue is decided, this paper in its independent position as an advocate and becomes a critic,—not a partisan, but always, we hope, a constructive.

Constructive criticism follows an act and does not precede one. We are not criticising, therefore, at this time, but offering, no doubt with thousands of others, a little friendly advice.

The President-Elect faces difficult problems, not so difficult, however, that they can not be solved. He would no doubt like to settle every question without offending anyone. We believe he desires harmony above all things. Our first suggestion is not to mind offending the people who ought to be offended. Standing alone that is rather meaningless. It is very easy, however, to define the people who ought to be offended. They are the group found in all parties who are for themselves—or the interests who put them there—first, and for the country second.

The President must then decide whether he will follow the honest conservatives or the honest liberals. There is a very clear distinction between the two. The conservative believes that things are better as they are. The liberal believes in making an effort to improve them. The ideal of the conservative is the country as it was in the first two years of Taft's administration. The liberal believes that out of the war's upheaval something better can be made.

The conservative is very apt to put first in his thoughts property rights. The liberal is very apt to put first in his thoughts the rights of humanity.

The conservative may honestly believe that the rights of humanity are best served by preserving just property rights. The liberal puts the emphasis on humanity.

These two lines of thought are distinct though they often seem to run together. We hope the new President will seek his inspiration mainly from the liberals.

He was selected at Chicago largely, however, by ultra-conservatives. These gentlemen may see in the landslide an over-whelming endorsement by the people of their point of view.

That does not follow. The people voted against President Wilson and his policies—not for Harding or any special Republican policies.

The President-Elect starts without any positive direction from the people, but with a wholesale negative direction. So long as he registers a complete change from the present administration, he carries out the wishes of the people. He is at liberty to follow the conservative lines of thought or the liberal.

We hope he will choose the latter.

A LOST OPPORTUNITY.

The Convention of the Maryland Agricultural Society and affiliated organizations, which closed in this city last week, was regarded by those who took part in the organization as the most successful ever held. It was held for the first time on the Eastern Shore, and with excellent purpose.

That purpose was to bring to the Shore farmers from other sections of Maryland, and other parts of the Union, that they might become acquainted with the wonderful fertility and possibilities of this section. Some of the most prominent men in agricultural circles were present and made vitally interesting and instructive talks. These same men, many of whom wield great influence in things pertaining to farm production and are possibly able to do much to help the farmer solve his problems, went through Wicomico and the adjoining counties on tours of inspection. What they learned will be bound to influence them for or against the Eastern Shore.

Without question, they were favorably impressed with what they saw and what they heard. But they did not hear enough, though possibly they did see enough. On every hand was heard the inquiry, "Where are your local farmers?" Unfortunately, no one could answer satisfactorily that question.

At the roll call of the organization, only six representatives of Wicomico responded. Undoubtedly there were many more present, but the small number of responses was decidedly disappointing. The occasion of the Convention was an excellent opportunity for local agriculturists to learn what progressive farmers elsewhere are doing, and in gaining that knowledge apply it profitably to their own individual cases.

There is another side to the matter also. The people of Salisbury, realizing the vast extent to which they are dependent on agriculture, both locally and nationally, contributed large sums for the expenses of the Convention, believing that in so doing they were going to benefit Wicomico farmers. That they are deeply disappointed at the failure of their efforts, and at the seeming lack of appreciation, goes without saying.

The result is not, however, so dark as it may seem at first sight. Although there were but six answers at roll call, the number of local farmers who were present has been estimated at close to a hundred, and the valuable suggestions and information they have gained will eventually influence farming throughout this region. It is sincerely to be hoped that all who attended the meetings will spread the good things they took away with them.

Crops, weather conditions, and other obstacles prevented many from being present. The loss is theirs, but may not be irreparable because the minutes of the Convention will be made public sooner or later and they can learn from books what their more fortunate neighbors learned at first hand.

Always a staunch supporter of the farmer, THE NEWS hopes that the seed planted at this Convention will lead to greater things agriculturally in Wicomico, and that the day is not far distant when farming interests here will be second to none in all this fertile country.

SALISBURY MEETINGS EXCEPTIONAL SUCCESS

Prominent Men Express Favorable Opinion—Secretary Freeman Is Highly Commended.

That the Maryland Agricultural Convention and Community Fair, November 9-12 inclusive was successful goes without saying. The delegations from the Western Shore counties had some new experiences and left Salisbury convinced that it is really one of Maryland's cities.

Of the Agricultural Convention Dr. T. B. Symons, of the University of Maryland, says: "It has been the most successful meeting the society has ever had." Mayor Kennerly in his opinion says that so far as he can state the convention was a decided success and that everyone from the president of the convention down enjoyed his stay in Salisbury. Mr. Kennerly says further that it is a matter of personal regret that the number of Wicomico county farmers who attended the convention was not greater, thinking that local farmers should take a more active interest in the cooperative movement, because co-operation seems to be the fundamental principle of success in business today. He sees no reason why farmers should not receive the same degree of profit from organization as do other industries.

The Mayor said that he would like, through the columns of The News, to congratulate Mr. Freeman, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, for the exceptional effort he has made to place Salisbury in keeping with larger cities of the state in entertaining such societies.

Mr. Cobb, County Agent, is speaking of the Community Fair, saying: "The Fair this year has been much more successful than it was last year. Delegations and representatives from this state and Virginia have told which has been the best of the two.

me that they have never seen a better exhibition of potatoes than those displayed here. Through attendance our farmers are learning that we grow as good products as any part of the state grows. Next year I believe we will have as large an exhibit of corn from Wicomico county alone as we now have from the entire state. The attendance has been excellent."

From the viewpoint of delegations at the convention it was a success but the attendance of Wicomico and neighboring counties was far from what it should have been. At a roll call Wicomico county was found to have fewer farmers present than several of the Western Shore counties. It is felt that this should not have happened because matters were taken up which should be and are of interest to the farmers of this section, such as discussion of the Vestal Bill, standardizing shipping containers, Kenyon Anderson Bill, concerning the operation of meat packers, and discussion on building facilities. It is apparent that preparations must be made making it possible for farmers to secure the necessary funds to carry on their farm operations in order to pay the nation in a normal condition. Wicomico farmers are interested in these topics and should have been present.

Special Sale of Men's and Boy's Clothing & Furnishings.

IN THE HISTORY OF BUSINESS IN AMERICA, THE FALL OF 1920 WILL OCCUPY A CONSPICUOUS PLACE.

First—Because the top prices on merchandise were reached.

Second—Because of the abnormal weather, that even in normal business times, would have retarded merchandise production and sales to the extent of large totals.

Third—Because of the tremendous, unanimous and insistent demands of the people for lower prices.

EVERY ONE OF THESE CONDITIONS IS ADVERSE TO TRADE.

But when they are all combined, as they have been this season, they force remarkable conditions in the market of the country, the working out of which none may know at this time. The policy of this store is to mark down with the market and throughout the entire store you will find lower prices on merchandise that has been marked down from the high prices of a month ago. On men's and boys' clothing we have maintained only a modest profit of 25%, knowing full well that this line of merchandise was already high, comparatively speaking, to stand a normal profit by us, or the extremely large profit that many of the exclusive clothiers exact. For this sale of Men's and Boys' Clothes THE PRICES WILL BE AT COST and to fully co-operate with our customers in the lowering of prices, this store is merely adding freightage and over-head expense—making no profit-mark-up whatsoever. We invite you to compare these prices with other merchants on the peninsula—no matter where they are, fully realizing when you do so, you will find us the lowest. This is the biggest and best way that we can make clothing cheaper to you—and bring the lowest prices of 1920.

IN OTHER WORDS, BRIEF AS IT MAY BE, THIS IS THE GREAT BUYING PERIOD. HERE THEY ARE AT THE REDUCTION OF 25 PER CENT.—WHICH BRINGS THEM TO COST

STATE-SENATOR ELECT AT DEATH'S DOOR

Captain George W. Insley, of Bethel Very Low—Death Would Necessitate Special Election.

Captain George W. Insley, Democratic State Senator-elect for the Second district of Sussex county, is critically ill at his home at Bethel and specialists say his condition is such that he will never recover and his death is looked for momentarily. For the past five weeks he has been confined to the bed, and while nearly every district in the southern part of Delaware was swept into the Republican column, Captain Insley's friends rallied to his support, election day, and elected him by a majority of 434 over Monroe H. Adams of Seaford, one of the largest majorities ever received by a candidate for State Senator in that district.

If Senator-elect Insley should die before the first of the year, at which time the Delaware Legislature convenes, it will have to be held to choose his successor.

If this should come to pass, two special elections will have to be held to fill seats in the Legislature. Next month a special election will be held in Baltimore hundred district to choose a member of the lower house since the vote was a tie on election day between Elmer J. Turner, the Democratic nominee, and William C. Hickman, Republican. The tie in this district also caused a tie in the lower house of the Legislature, it now standing 17 to 17.

Later—Senator-elect Insley has been a patient in the Peninsula General Hospital in Salisbury for several days past. He was removed to Baltimore on Wednesday morning, and it is reported that the Senator's chances of recovery are very good.

ADDITIONAL DELMAR LOCALS.

Rev. Howard Parry, the new pastor of the Baptist church in Delmar, has arrived with his family, and has settled down to work among his congregation. He is at present engaged in getting started a cantata which will be rendered on December 19th and also a Christmas entertainment.

The Young People's Society of the Baptist church will meet at the home of Miss Mildred Johnson on Friday evening, when a social will be held. The young people of the church are especially invited to be present.

At the regular meeting of the New Century club held Tuesday, November 9th, the "benefit" for the Peninsula General Hospital netted a nice lot of fruit, vegetable and jellies and the children from all the schools, each brought one potato, which amounted to nearly four barrels. The program for November 23rd, 2:30 p. m., is "Child Welfare," and will be arranged by Mrs. F. E. Lynch.

Mrs. J. W. Slacum spent Wednesday and Thursday of the past week with her sister in Fairmount, and attended the annual Epworth League convention during her visit. There will be a meeting of Delmar Grange at the Grange Hall Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Refreshments will be served. Patrons are requested to attend.

R. C. NURSE TELLS DANGERS OF COLDS

Due To Poor Ventilation, Insufficient Clothing and Exposure—Can Be Avoided For Most Part.

A head cold is an acute inflammation of the delicate membrane lining of the nose and its communicating cavities of the head.

Head colds become more frequent during the months of early fall when indoor amusements are being patronized and people begin congregating in crowded places.

The inflammation is caused by small germs which are constantly present in the nose but only produce their harmful effects when our resistance is lowered by cold, over-tiring, loss of sleep, etc. The membrane is a thin delicate pink membrane whose function is to warm, moisten and purify the air we breath into the lungs. When we enter a cold atmosphere this membrane receives more blood and thus becoming warmer imparts its warmth to the air coming in contact with it.

When we wear insufficient clothing to keep the body warm more blood must flow to the surface of the body to warm it. The membrane is thus deprived of its necessary supply and becomes weakened. The germs always present there attack it and cause an alteration or cessation of its function.

The membrane becomes inflamed and swollen, resulting in a heavy, stopped-up, uncomfortable feeling in the head. The swelling produces a decrease in the size of the air passages, rendering breathing difficult. They may become so swollen as to entirely occlude the normal air passages so that mouth breathing results.

A moderate headache may be present with a slight fever, an excessive discharge from the nose and eyes. The nose becomes red and sore from the constant irritation due to the use of a handkerchief. Excessive sneezing may be one of the initial symptoms of the onset. The inflammation may become worse and spread to other parts of the head, ears, throat, etc., unless promptly treated.

As prevention is always better than cure we should strive to prevent catching cold by avoiding poorly ventilated, overcrowded theaters, street cars and places of amusement.

Avoiding places where excessive dust is present.

Avoid sitting in draughts, excessive cold, etc.

When leaving a warm room and entering a cold place wear sufficient clothing to keep from becoming chilled, change wet clothing for dry as soon as possible, particularly shoes and stockings.

Avoid contact with others suffering from the disease.

When sneezing, cover the nose and mouth with a handkerchief.

Always dress warmly and have as much fresh air as possible.

Regulate your habits, eat properly, sleep sufficiently, bathe frequently and keep the bowels regular.

It is said that age is not determined by the number of years that pass over one's head but the number of colds that pass through it. These ailments should not be taken too lightly and therefore when a cure is not followed by the remedies usually employed in the home, a doctor should be consulted at once. Early attention prevents loss of time and serious consequences.

WILLIAM WIGTON, JR.
REPLACES SHERWOOD COX

Sherwood Cox, for the past six months manager of the Peninsula Produce Exchange in this city, has been transferred and made a traveling representative and will leave shortly on a tour of the cities of the west and Middle West. Mr. Cox will make a trip through the South this winter and in the spring will go to Boston where he will be stationed permanently.

Although he has been in Salisbury but about six months Mr. Cox has made many friends who regret to see him depart. He will be succeeded by William Wigton, Jr., of Berlin, who has been moved from the Berlin office here.

IN MEMORIAM.

In sad but loving remembrance of my dear son, Private Paul C. Howard, who died at Camp Meade two years ago, November 18, 1918.

Two long years have past. Since that day I've seen. But my love for you is just the same. It was the day you went away.

Some may think I'll soon forget him. And my wounded heart be healed. As long as life and memory last, I will remember him.

Often I wonder to his grave. Pious to stand with loving care: On the grave of my dear Paul, Who is sweetly sleeping there.

NON-ATTENDANCE LAW TO BE RIGIDLY ENFORCED

On and After November 22 Writs Will Be Issued For Violators of School Attendance Law.

Acting under instructions from the Board of Education, several weeks ago that she investigate and report to the board all violations of the school attendance law—Miss Gillis, attendance officer, made a lengthy report to the board last Tuesday showing that in several sections of the county there are numerous infractions of the law, many through ignorance of the school law, many from willful violations of the law, and others from poverty of parents who need the income derived from the work of the children. Miss Gillis' report was very comprehensive and showed that she had made a careful survey of the field and had laid her plans so as to carry out the orders of the board. Miss Gillis reported that she had visited several neighborhoods where the parents seemed that they had not seen the notice published. In the county newspapers setting the date for the strict enforcement of the attendance law on November 15. In order to give every parent and guardian ample opportunity to comply with the law's provisions, the board instructed the attendance officer to immediately notify every teacher in the county, by circular letters, to be read to the pupils, that on November 22 (next Monday) warrants would be issued for the arrest of parents and guardians who were violating the school attendance law on that date. The attendance officer was instructed to impress in the strongest terms possible the determination of the board to enforce strictly the provisions of the law, without fear or favor, on and after next Monday. It is expected that there will be several warrants issued for the arrest of parents and guardians who are wilfully violating the attendance law. The board takes the ground that as the law is on the statute books it should be enforced to the letter and that if it is too drastic the law should be repealed. At all events, the Board of Education of Wicomico county is determined to enforce the law if there is machinery to enforce it.

More Trouble Given Prohibition Officers

Official Ban Is Placed on "Canned

has been officially banned in a recent order sent out by the government. The reason for the action, it is said, is because the manufacturers of harmless beverages complained that the sale of hops and malt was hurting their business.

The latest bone dry ruling makes it unlawful to sell malt and hops in connection with other ingredients for making beer. Commissioner Williams of the Internal Revenue Department says that "It has never been the purpose or desire of the Bureau of Internal Revenue to interfere with any legitimate business. The impression has gone abroad that there might be some ruling by the bureau which might interfere with the legitimate sale of malt extract, dry malt, or hops."

The manufacturers of the malt and hop preparations will, according to report, carry the case to the Supreme Court. They state that the directions on their products describe the making of a beverage of less than one-half of one per cent alcohol. They point out also the fact that farmers are allowed to make wine and cider from their fruits and berries, but that the city dwellers are unable to do this on account of the high cost of the ingredients.

ELECTRIC NOVELTY CLOCK BEING DISPLAYED HERE

The time was when novelties were well, just novelties. Such was the original alarm clock, but the place it holds in the homes of the world today could scarcely be called a novelty. The clock with an alarm attachment has become a necessity. Perhaps it will be the same with a new clock distributed in this territory by the Liberty Novelty Company, 902 Railroad avenue, this city. The clock runs by a dry battery. In the dial are 18 holes, one at every 15 minute interval, and in a cup at the base of the clock are several steel balls. A ball is inserted in the hole opposite the time at which you wish to be called. At the time appointed, the ball is released, drops into the base, and there establishes electrical contact that rings a buzzer until you stop it by releasing a button, or for twenty second if not touched. It is possible for this clock to call a person any number of times during a day or night, and the alarm can be set at one time for any number of calls up to 100, or one for every 15 minute interval. The clock is an absolutely new invention and just appeared in Salisbury last week.

WELL-KNOWN RESIDENT OF SALISBURY DEAD

Mrs. Belle H. Jones Passes Away At The Peninsula General Hospital on Monday.

Although suffering for several weeks from an incurable malady in the Peninsula General Hospital, the death of Mrs. Belle H. Jones, which occurred about 8 o'clock Monday evening, came as a great shock to her many friends in Salisbury. Her death is universally regretted.

Deceased had passed the major portion of her life in this city, where her parents were among the leaders in the social and business circles of this city. She was a daughter of the late Dr. Cathell and Isabella Humphreys, who resided for years on North Division street. Being the only daughter of parents of ample means she was educated in city colleges and as a young woman took a leading position in the social circles of this city, where her jovial disposition and polish made her a favorite among the circle in which she moved.

At an early age she married Purcell L. Jones, a well known young business man of New York, who was connected with the dry goods house of A. T. Stewart & Co., on Broadway, and for several years the young couple resided in New York. On the death of Mr. Jones the widow returned to Salisbury and made it her home until her death.

Deceased was 74 years of age and was at the time of her death the oldest member of the Wicomico Presbyterian Church, to which she was a devoted adherent. Mrs. Jones was of lovely Christian character and was never happier than when doing charitable work. She was, from its organization until her death a member of the Board of Lady Managers of the Home for the Aged in this city and devoted most of her time to the success of this institution. How badly she will be missed by the old ladies who are passing the sunset of life in the home can only be known to them. Her life has been one of devotion and sacrifice and many a tear dropped into the grave in the Wicomico Presbyterian church yard Wednesday when her body was laid at rest by the side of her husband who had gone on years ago.

Mrs. Hester Gordy.

Mrs. Hester Gordy, one of Salisbury's oldest residents, passed away Monday at her home in this city. Mrs. Gordy met with the misfortune to fall in her back yard several weeks ago, sustaining a fracture of one of her hips, which, owing to her advanced age (she being over 80 years) she failed to rally. Deceased was the widow of the late Wm. A. Gordy, one of our most respected citizens. She leaves several children and grandchildren to mourn their loss.

Fear Of Disease Causes No Disease

Say Health Authorities Who Lay Down Various Rules For Safeguarding Health.

Rules of conduct and health are heard on every side, but here are a few items of interest in regard to the latter that it will do no harm to read. Fear of disease never caused disease.

Streets are dangerous playgrounds for children.

Chew your food now and your gums later.

The stomach has no teeth.

How many rooms in your house have sunshine? Has every room sufficient ventilation? Are all rooms free from dangerous walls and ceilings, clean, with the paper and paint in good condition?

Is your bath room light, airy and bug-proof?

Are the plumbing fixtures in your home in good condition?

Remember that health is a priceless possession, and can nearly always be acquired. Impaired health is a hindrance to effective work. Don't wait until disease overtakes you before you safeguard yours. Spend freely your time, money and effort to keep yourself 100 per cent fit all the time, nothing else will repay you to such a great extent.

WILL MUSTER LOCAL COMPANY NEXT MONDAY

Company "I," First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, will be mustered into Federal service on Monday evening, November 22, according to advice received at The News office from local authorities.

The company needs a few more men to bring it up to federal strength but there is little doubt that they will be secured this week. When federalized, a company of 50 men means an annual income to the town in which it is stationed of approximately $6,000, aside from the invaluable feeling of security and protection the citizens have in a well organized and trained body of men.

The company encourages all athletic sports, furnishes all equipment and pays each man from $65 to $225 a year. Full equipment will be issued to the members of the local company as soon as the organization is recognized by the federal government.

WIND STORM PLAYS HAVOC LOCALLY

Telephone and Light Poles Are Blown Down Causing Cessation of Service and Great Inconvenience.

The rain and high wind storm of Tuesday played havoc with the lines of public utility companies of the Eastern Shore.

The Eastern Shore Gas and Electric Company reports that Cambridge was without lights the greater part of the night the linemen being called upon to work all night in an effort to locate the trouble. Poles blown down, pins snapped off and general damage to the lines caused trouble in all parts of Salisbury. Lights were flickering continuously on account of tree limbs grounding the current.

The Western Union Telegraph Company's lines south of Dover were put out of commission.

High tides were prevalent at all watering places. At Ocean City there was an exception high tide though no serious damage was done. At Camden avenue bridge the Wicomico overflowed the wharfing.

The terrific wind and rain storm caused great damage to the telephone system in this vicinity, tearing down wires and crossarms and breaking off telephone poles. The service of about 300 subscribers was interrupted and 32 of the company's long distance lines were out of order Wednesday morning. The storm blew down about 20 poles in this section. Such storms naturally interfere with the service and means a tremendous expense to the company in construction work. Fortunately, the telephone company is well organized and well equipped to take care of these troubles.

KILLED INSTANTLY IN BAD AUTO CRASH

Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Henderson Victims Of Accident On Way Home From Visit to Brother.

Mr. Thomas E. Henderson, of Fruitland, received the sad intelligence one day last week that his brother, Isaac Henderson, and wife had been killed in automobile accident in New Jersey. The Hendersons had been visiting relatives in Worcester and Wicomico counties and were returning home when their automobile went over an embankment, turning turtle, near Freehold, N. J. The occupants were pinned under the machine with their skulls crushed and limbs broken. The exact cause of the accident is unknown but it is believed that Mr. Henderson fell unconscious at the wheel and the machine went over the embankment. A man driving along the road near Freehold Saturday afternoon say the auto overturned at the bottom of this embankment. He investigated and finding the two people under the machine returned to a farm house for assistance. A physician was summoned and he declared that the man had died before the accident.

Mr. and Mrs. Henderson leave four children, two girls and two boys, and a niece whom they also raised. Mr. Henderson is survived by three brothers: William J., of Snow Hill; Thomas E., of Fruitland; Joseph J., of Long Island, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Freeman are being congratulated by their many friends upon the arrival of a fine baby boy, weighing ten pounds.

CARD OF THANKS.

Through the columns of this paper I wish to thank the kind friends for the aid rendered during the death of my dear daughter, Charlotte Ryall, and wish to thank those who sent automobiles for the funeral and for the beautiful flowers which were given.

WOULD-BE ASSAILANT GETS FIVE YEARS IN WORKHOUSE

Negro Who Attacked Miss Culver In Her Bed Room Sentenced.

PLEADED GUILTY AT TRIAL IN GEORGETOWN

Twenty-Six Days From Date of Attempted Assault Williams Receives Sentence of Five Years in Workhouse and Fine of Five Hundred Dollars.

Charged with assault and pleading guilty thereto, Caper Allan Williams, colored, before Resident Judge Henry C. Conrad, Georgetown, was sentenced to serve five years in the New Castle Workhouse and pay a fine of $500 on Wednesday.

This was the judgment passed upon the negro that attempted assault upon Miss Polly A. Culver, in the bedroom of her residence in Delmar on October 14th, an account of which appeared in The News.

While Miss Culver was preparing to retire that night a negro appeared in her room on the second floor of her home, with a drawn revolver, threatening to kill her if she made any outcry.

Miss Culver grappled with the assailant and nearly got the revolver away from him. The surprise of her attack was rewarded when she managed to break loose and ran down stairs for assistance. The frightened negro escaped. She notified some neighbors, who with Mr. S. N. Culver, Miss Culver's brother, soon figured out who the guilty party was and went in pursuit. Williams was captured and when brought before a local justice of the peace pleaded guilty. He said he had climbed a back fence of the home and, securing a ladder, had made his way into the bedroom of Miss Culver. His plans were frustrated by the plucky fight made by Miss Culver, and he had been glad to make his getaway. He was turned to the Georgetown jail the day after the attempted assault, and tried on Wednesday, when he pleaded guilty and was immediately sentenced.

Twenty-six days have elapsed since the attempted assault to the trial, and the speedy trial, conviction and sentence imposed, was good work on the part of the Sussex county authorities and is commended on every hand in Delmar.

96,000 Of Delaware's 103,104 Cast Ballots

More Than 14,000, or Nearly 14 Per Cent More Than Voted In Election of 1916.

The official count of the vote polled at the election on Tuesday, November 2, shows that 96,000 of Delaware's 103,104 registrants went to the polls and deposited their ballots. As there were 51,810 votes cast in the presidential election of 1916, the increase in the total ballot is 44,190, or nearly 44 per cent.

What part of this vote may be attributed to the new voters under the Nineteenth Amendment can only be approximated. There was a total of 42,571 women in the state who were qualified to vote and it is probable that about 40,000 of them exercised their newly acquired privilege.

There were 20,884 women registered in Wilmington, 7,515 in Rural New Castle, 7,000 in Kent and 7,500 in Sussex county. As the total vote only fell off about 7,000 as compared with the registration, it is probable that 4,000 or 5,000 of those refraining from voting were females. Of the 42,571 registered voters in Wilmington, 5,673 did not cast their ballots, and of the 18,383 in Rural New Castle, all voted but 734. Kent's registration was 15,197 and her total vote was only 1,424 less, while 18,046 Sussex registrants cast their ballot, only 729 refraining from voting.

CANCER CAUSED DEATH OF PROMINENT FARMER

Charles Friedel, a farmer living near Seaford, died, Sunday, aged 65 years of cancer of the face, from which he had been a long sufferer. He was born at Larry Creek, Lyscom county, Pa., but moved to Delaware with his parents when quite young, settling in Kent county, near Felton. He came to Sussex county 25 years ago, settling on a farm near Cannon. He had been successful from the start of his farming career.

PENNSY STARTS WAR ON "SEAT HOGS"

Conductors of the Pennsylvania Railroad have been instructed to declare war on the "seat hogs," who occupies one seat and turns over the seat in front of him as a parking place for his feet. Decision that this must cease was reached at a meeting Friday of the operating staff of the railroad. The conductors may permit passengers to turn over the backs of the seats, but that this may not be done until after every passenger has been provided with a seat.

Sweet Potato House Destroyed By Fire

More Than 10,000 Bushels of Sweet Potatoes Burned. Loss Is Estimated at About $9,000.

A large sweet potato storage house on the farm of Howard B. Oliphant, about one and a half miles from Laurel, was destroyed by fire early Sunday evening. It is not known how the fire originated, but it is supposed it was caused by a defective flue. The local fire department hastened to the scene, but there was no water nearby and little could be done with the chemical apparatus. It is said there were nearly 10,000 bushels of sweet potatoes in the house, valued at about $6,000 to $7,000, while the building was worth about $2,000. The loss is partly covered by insurance. Some farmers who had but a small crop of sweets had put their potatoes in the house, but had taken no insurance and the fire wiped out the only profitable part of their year's work.

COMING AND GOING OF DELMAR PEOPLE

Many Items of Local Interest, Personal, Social Events and Other Activities of Delmar People.

Snow flurries were reported in up-Delaware points on Friday.

Mr. Williams Cannon was operated upon at 9 o'clock Monday morning for tonsils by Dr. Joseph Ellegood, of Wilmington.

Many flocks of wild geese are seen daily passing over Delmar, headed south. This is said to be a sign of approaching cold weather.

Miss Hattie Adams is just recovering from a six weeks' illness of typhoid fever at her home on Chestnut street, Delmar. She was attended by Dr. Ellegood.

At the close of 1920 the Sussex County Administration of affairs through the Levy Court will pass into the hands of Republicans for the first time in four years.

Miss Gladys Ross, a student of Delmar, Md., High School, was operated upon for tonsils and adenoids at 12 o'clock Monday. Dr. Joseph Ellegood, of Wilmington, performed the operation.

The Armistice Day celebration here in Wilmington on Thursday was reported by Delmarians who were there to witness it as being over a mile long. Over 7,000 men and women were in line.

Mr. Walter Clark, the popular young undertaker of Chincoteague, Va., was a visitor in Delmar this week. He was accompanied by his wife. Mr. Clark was a former Delmar boy and many of his friends here were glad to see him again.

The Delaware State Board of Agriculture has offered prizes for the best kept and most profitable farm flocks. The net profits and the care, breeding and management will be considered in making the awards. Only registered breeds will be allowed to compete for the prizes.

Lower Delaware sportsmen are looking forward to the opening of muskrat season, as the skins promise to bring very high prices again this year. Some farmers who had the marsh land last year cleared more from it than they did from their farms, anywhere from $2,000 to $6,000 being reported.

AUTO TRUCKS ARE REPLACING RAILROADS

Motor Trucks Of Wholesalers Haul Stuff More Cheaply And Are Getting The Business.

The Pennsylvania Railroad has announced that owing to the falling off in trade they will forward freight shipments on the Delmarvia Peninsula every other day, instead of daily as they have been doing for some time past.

Before the war there were daily shipments, but the demand for railroad equipment during the war caused the freights to be cut down to tri-weekly shipments. This was continued for the duration of the war, but after the war the railroad was induced to return to daily shipments. Now, according to officials of the company, the business has fallen off to such an extent that they are compelled to return to the tri-weekly plan.

The growth of the auto truck business on the shore is one of the reasons attributed for the falling off in freight. Regular trains of trucks ply between points down the peninsula and the business they do detracts from the railroad to such an extent as to make the daily freights a hard proposition to make money on.

It is stated by those in a position to know that the railroads cannot compete with the auto truck routes maintained by the Baltimore and Philadelphia wholesalers, who will deliver goods at the doors of their customers on the peninsula at a far lower figure than the railroads can deliver the same goods at the freight stations.

Trucks are seen daily passing to and fro to practically every point on the Delmarvia Peninsula, carrying goods for merchants, furniture and even articles bought by Eastern shore customers at the retail stores in the cities. The business of shipping by truck has grown by leaps and bounds in the past few years until the amount of trade they diverted from the railroads was bound to be felt and have its effect on the freight shipments by railroads.

The move by the Pennsylvania Railroad, however, is the first made so far in this section by the railroad traversing this route.

Number Witness Eclipse.

A number of Delmar citizens witnessed the eclipse of the sun Wednesday morning between 9 and 11 o'clock. The sun was covered to the greatest extent about 10 o'clock, when about one-quarter of the face of the sun was hidden. With a piece of smoked glass the partial obstruction could be plainly seen.

With the beginning of the reconstruction which the American people have ordered to be undertaken, there is no more important field for consideration than that of the railroads.

We have heard a great deal about the need of providing the railroads an "adequate income" and the Interstate Commerce Commission has listened with wide open ear to the tale of woe told by the railroad companies. As a result we are paying passenger and freight service rates that would have seemed fabulous in the "good old days."

We have heard, too, the demands of the railroad employees for what they call a "living wage," and, while the demand was not wholly satisfied, an increase in their pay was granted and they are "on the job."

So it is getting near time to say something and do something for the railroad customer, particularly the man who pays the freight bills and who for some years past has been getting anything but good service.

It seems but reasonable that if the freight shippers and receivers must pay the increased rates to provide the "adequate income" which the railroads demand and, of course, must have, then the shipper and receiver should have as nearly "adequate service" as it is possible to render.

It also seems reasonable that since the railroad's interests are hedged and guarded in its dealings with the public, so that the shipper and receiver of freight operate under castiron provi-

RETAIL PRICES ARE NOW ON THE TOBOGGAN

Considerable Reduction Noted In Prices of Essentials In Retail Stores.

BIG DROP COMING AFTER CHRISTMAS HOLIDAYS

Merchants With High Priced Stock on Their Hands Are Endeavoring To Hold Off The Drop In Prices For Six More Weeks, When Rush To Cover Will Start.

The H. C. of L. is coming down. The newspapers say so, the people say so, the retailers reluctantly say maybe so, and most everybody in general certainly hope so.

Radical reductions in the price of some of the common necessities of life, which are believed to presage still further cuts in the price of food, clothing and essential commodities, are revealed by a canvass of many local stores.

The belief is prevalent that retail prices are bound to reflect the big decline already accomplished in wholesale lines. In fact, it has been stated by some of our prominent merchants that strenuous efforts are now being made to bolster up the market until after the Christmas holidays, when prices will drop with a dull thud. They say that should the merchants be able to maintain present charges for the next six weeks, they will be in a far better position to accept lower prices and even losses on their sales, since they will have disposed of the majority of their stocks purchased at high levels, in the rush of holiday buying.

These prophets say that after the holidays are over, however, there will be a grand rush to cover, and every merchant will endeavor to unload the goods he may have left over, which he purchased at the high market levels months ago.

This will not hold good for many lines, they say, but there seems to be every reason to believe that definite and deliberate efforts are being made to ward off any price reductions until the Christmas holidays.

Candy is cited as one of the articles in which this is most apparent, since sugar has dropped even at retail more than 100 per cent, while the prices now charged for confectionery were fixed at the high tide of the sugar market.

Flour, as a commodity also notice-

BIG POTATO CROP FROM SINGLE PLANT

Great Result From Single Planting Tossed Into Yard of Farmer Near Laurel.

E. John Beach, a farmer living at Broad Creek, about two miles from Laurel, reports an unusual yield of white potatoes on his farm. He says that late last winter, or in the early spring, some potato parings it is supposed, were thrown out into the yard by his wife, one piece falling close by the chicken yard fence, where it became covered with a little earth, and, taking root, sprouted. The ground on this side of the chicken yard was covered with blackberry vines, which had choked out all other vegetation and no attention was taken of the lone white potato plant struggling for existence until late in the summer when its height and flourishing condition attracted Mr. Beach's notice.

At maturity each of the two stems were nearly six feet in height, and this fall, had fallen in nearly opposite directions, the tip of one being more than 10 feet from the tip of the other. There being so little earth over the parent plant's roots, Mr. Beach noticed that a space of about 12 inches in diameter was completely covered with potatoes protruding from the ground. When he dug them, yesterday, he gathered, by actual count, 260 potatoes from the one plant and he states that he left at least 20 in the ground which were too small to be worth picking up.

Seventy-six of the tubers were of good eating size some of them being 8 to 10 inches in circumference. They were of the Green Mountain variety and he has been advised to save all of them for planting.

RAILROAD SERVICE

sions for the railroad's benefit, some means should be devised to make their interests reasonably secure.

As the matter now stands, when the railroad accepts a shipment of freight, it is sure of it pay for hauling it; when it enters upon any transaction with the shipper, it is able to guard against his neglect or carelessness to the full, but the delays and neglects by the railroads may embarrass or damage or even ruin the shipper or receiver, yet he is helpless.

For example, the railroad, perhaps after long delay and repeated urging, backs a car upon your switch for freight which you wish to ship or shoots the loaded cars that you have waited weeks for up to your plant to unload. If you delay the loading or unloading the penalty of demurrage falls promptly and irresistibly and you pay the penalty.

But when your freight is loaded or when the near or distant shipper has loaded freight to come to you, the railroad "takes its time" about the transportation of that freight and you wait. The freight moves or stands still for reasons unknown quite outside the range of your ability to guard against or correct. You have no way of collecting damages, no matter how heavy the damages you may have suffered. Your plant may close down for lack of raw materials or coal; the goods you want for sale may be out of season when you get them; your customers may have gone elsewhere—it's all the same to the railroad. It collects the freight bill and is satisfied with the transaction.

This is not a flight of fancy; it is bitter experience.

But what are we going to do about it?

The answer is plain. Turn the demurrage around upon the railroads. If you must pay the railroads the damages your delay in loading or unloading costs them, let them be obliged to pay you for the damage their delay in transportation costs you.

Let a liberal time be set for the transportation of freight over certain distances or through certain zones; then let an automatic damage, per ton or per car, be assessed for each day of delay beyond that time.

Radical, you say, and so would the railroads. They would put up an indignant protest, but the fairness of the proposal is absolute and the precedent is already established in the custom and law of demurrage. Consideration will show you that the present contract between the shipper or receiver and the railroad is one-sided to the last degree. And it does not require very much imagination to picture the results of such a proposition. Freight would move. Nobody doubts that. Not once in a thousand years would the railroads have to pay damages.

We believe that the adoption of this plan would do more than any other to solve the present inadequate service and delays of the railroads.

Let's make the contract two-sided.

GAME PLENTIFUL SAY DELMAR SPORTSMEN

The rabbit and patridge season opened on the Maryland side Wednesday and many of Delmar's sportsmen are taking advantage of the fine weather for gunning. One party of four on the first day of the open season returned with a bag of 24 rabbits and two partridges, and reported game plentiful this season. Other parties going from day to day are reporting good luck and plenty of game. Some nice bags of both rabbits and birds are being reported.

Many Accidents Reported In State

The Delaware Safety Council Report Shows Total of 41, With 16 Automobile Accidents.

The Delaware State Safety Council Statistic Committee makes its report from October 16 to 31.

The report shows a total of 36 in Wilmington and five outside of Wilmington, making a total of 41.

Auto accidents, as usual, head the list numerically. Sixteen of the auto accidents resulted in damage to property, eight in personal injury. One of the latter was fatal.

There were no unusual accidents reported. All were of a character that might be classed as common and most all of the class that might have been avoided with a little care.

Aside from the automobile fatality, there was but one death—that of a boy struck on the head with a horse-hoof.

PROHIBITION DIRECTOR SAYS TOO MUCH CIDER

Issues Final Warning To Those Who May Be Selling Hard Cider To Stop At Once.

Aroused by reports that too much hard cider is being sold throughout Delaware, W. Truxton Boyce, Federal Prohibition Director, on Tuesday issued the following warning:

"Many complaints have come to my notice of late of persons getting drunk on hard cider in the rural sections of the state. I want it understood that the sale of cider containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol is as much a violation of the prohibition law as the sale of whiskey.

"This notice is final and no further warning will be issued. Anyone who sells cider or wines of any kind containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol in the future will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

Under the law cider may be made and drunk so long as it is sweet, or it may be turned into vinegar. Nor is that any law to prevent one from drinking home made cider which may have acquired an alcoholic content above that specified in the Volstead act. Both the federal and state statutes however expressly forbid sales of such cider for beverage purposes.

Thieves are busy in and around Seaford.

Thieves are operating in and around Seaford and the authorities have been unable to apprehend them. Thursday night they attempted to gain an entrance to the home of Frank Hurley, but were frightened off. The home of Harry M. Lawrence was entered a few nights ago and several articles taken. While the automobile of Virgil Isaacs was standing at the railroad station, a sneak thief took a new overcoat out of it. Several farmers report the loss of chickens and other fowls.

Delaware Gunning Season Opens

The rabbit season opened on the Delaware side on Monday and now the gunners of Maryland have nothing to fear, when they are close to the line. The Delaware gunners, however, had better be careful, as they must have non-resident licenses to hunt in Maryland.

Four Candidates For Delmar At Time of Election Are Active

BERTH A GOOD ONE AND FIGHT IS ON

Successful Candidate Will Receive Five Long Years The Same As He Received For Active Service On The Railroad At Time of Election To Protect Employees' Interests

While the election is over, everybody has ascertained the result in nation, state, county and district and is ready now to settle down to the even routine of daily life, with the case with the employees of the New York, Philadelphia and Delaware Railroad. They are just at the moment engaged in one of the political battles of their history—railroad organization.

It is who shall be their representative on the Voluntary Relief Committee of the Pennsylvania Railroad for the next five years.

It seems that since the formation of this association by the Pennsylvania Railroad some years ago, which, by the way, is a relief association formed by the railroad for the benefit of its employees, and which they pay stipulated amounts each year for protection in case of sickness or death—the employees have had one representative on each division who served with the superintendent of that division on the committee, with headquarters in Philadelphia.

Heretofore, it was customary to elect this representative of the employees each year, and he served without pay. But now things have changed and the representative for the time will serve for five years and receive his remuneration in the form of continuous services in the form of relief members the same amount of pay each month as he would have received had he continued at active work in his present position on the railroad.

This apparently has made a very fat plum for the employees to consider, as it is figured that they will receive the same pay as if actually on duty, and at the same time not lose any priority rights and other rights to which they may be entitled, the pension included, the five years being counted on their length of service.

That it is attractive is proven by the merry race that is now going on between four different candidates for the position, and the comment it is creating among the railroad workers who have forgotten all about the presidential election of a few days ago and settled down to hard fighting for their respective favorites.

The four candidates in the field are D. J. Truitt, conductor; Joseph P. Conner, conductor; W. H. Draper, engineer, all of Delmar, and Captain Cass, captain of an Nyp and N boat at Cape Charles.

None of the tricks of the old political managers and bosses are forgotten in the campaign that is now raging in full blast. The records of the different candidates are being scrutinized and circulated broadcast, and even one candidate claims that "lies" are being told about him in an endeavor to beat him for the honor. Be this as it may, the battle is a merry one, and much interest is being created in railroad circles from Delmar to Norfolk in what will be the outcome and who will get the prize.

A passenger on any Nyp and N train these days wonders what all the commotion is about and until he is put wise he may think that the railroad employees do not know who is elected after all the publicity that important event has had and are still campaigning for their favorite candidate.

The duties of the representative to be elected are to watch out for the interests of the employees in their claims for benefits or "relief" when they are made and represent the employees on all occasions. The company's interests are protected by the superintendent of the division.

BRIEF NEWS FROM ALL PARTS OF THE STATE

Culled From Our Exchanges and Put
In Shape For Quick
Reading.

Robert Seney, 75 years old, Centerville, died Saturday night in the office of Dr. J. M. Corkran, where he had gone for treatment. He leaves one sister, Mrs. Saulsbury Cahall, of Price.

Mrs. Frances Bishop Dodd, wife of James H. Dodd, of Cambridge, died at her home at that place Saturday night. She was a daughter of John T. Bishop. She was 40 years old. Besides her husband she leaves 16 children and several brothers and sisters.

Harry C. Williams, leading farmer of Montgomery county, died Friday evening at his home near Oakdale. He was 53 years old. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Barnsley, of that county; four sons and two daughters.

News has reached Centerville that John Rothwell, the 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Rothwell, of Burrisville, had been killed in Wyoming. In the absence of details the parents of the young man assume he met his death on construction work on Wyoming railroad. The body has been sent to Centerville.

While Charles Carroll and wife, colored, were attending an all-day church meeting at Chew's Chapel in the first district of Anne Arundel county Sunday, three of their children, Charles, Annie B. and Emma G., aged 6, 3 and 2, respectively, were burned to death in a fire at their home on the farm of Stephen Duckett at Davidsonville. The children had been locked in the house. How the fire started has not been learned.

Allegany county has one official that has gone begging—that of County Surveyor. Several months ago, Henry W. Schallert, who was re-elected to the position last year, resigned. Since then the County Commissioners have been skirmishing about to get some one to take the job. Several were offered the place, but they flatly refused to consider taking it. The pay is by fees fixed by law and is not adequate, it is stated.

James Waller Thomas, of Cumberland, an authority on Maryland and Colonial history, will attend the two hundred and twenty-fifth anniversary celebration in Philadelphia, November 15, of the foundation of the Church of England in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, as the representative of the Diocese of Maryland. Bishop John Gardner Murray recently invited Mr. Thomas to attend as his representative and deliver an address. The convention will meet in historic Christ Church in Philadelphia erected in 1695, the first Episcopal church building in the Colonies. Several hundred clergymen will attend. Governor Sproul will deliver an address.

The monument erected by Calvert county to the soldiers and sailors from the county who lost their lives and to those who served in the World War was unveiled and presented to the county at Prince Frederick on November 11—Armistice Day. The proceeding took the form of a military ceremony by Calvert County Post, No. 83, American Legion.

At the last meeting of the Town Commissioners of Cambridge, Mayor Earl W. Orem was appointed chairman of a committee to consider the purchase by the city of the Wallace property for municipal purposes.

H. Northcraft was fined $25 and costs by Justice John J. Dressman, of Allegany, on a charge preferred by Deputy State Game Warden Joseph E. Weaver, for having game in his possession out of season. Northcraft had a squirrel which he said he killed in Pennsylvania.

The proposed bond issue of $200,000 for school improvement in Garrett county was defeated by the voters at the election Tuesday by the vote of 212 to 1.

The oyster dredging season which opened in Talbot waters this week promises to be better than in recent years. The dredging grounds are reported to be well stocked with a good quality of oysters and the market is brisk. Owing to high wages and the expense of feeding crews, captains of dredge boats have been complaining of the small profits made during the past two years, but the outlook for this year is better, it is said.

The new fire-fighting apparatus for Easton is expected soon and in preparing for it the town authorities have discovered that the present water mains are inadequate to accommodate the engine when running at full speed. It is claimed by those who are in a position to know that serious damage will result to the present water mains if the new engine is run at full speed. The Mayor and Council have taken up the matter on various occasions and it is now thought best to put in a pipe line from the river down Glenwood avenue to the opposite end of the town. This line will carry salt water and be used only in case of fire.

PLAN OBSERVANCE OF "SCHOOL WEEK"

December 5-11 Set Aside To Acquaint Public With Duties, Needs and Importance of Schools.

The first full week in December has been designated by the Commissioner of Education as "School Week." The governors and school authorities of the several states have been requested to make such plans as may be necessary to have the people use the week of December 5-11 for the dissemination of information to the public regarding the needs of the schools, to enhance appreciation of the value of education, and to create such interest as will result in better opportunities for education and larger appropriations for schools of all kinds and grades.

It is suggested that on Sunday, December 5, ministers should use one or more of their church services for emphasizing the importance of education, and that chambers of commerce, boards of trade, women's clubs, labor unions, farmers' organizations, patriotic and civil societies, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs and other similar organizations should devote one meeting to a discussion of the needs of education in their state, county and local community.

It is particularly desirous that the significance of this occasion be fully impressed on the people of Wicomico county. During the present session, the School Board has found it necessary to close one or more schools on account of lack of attendance, and later upon the promise of patrons to have their children give proper attendance, re-open the school. To such an extent have children of school age been kept away from places of instruction that it became imperative to enforce the truancy law.

If the public can be educated to the vital necessity of sending young boys and girls to school for the fullest amount of time possible, America will necessarily have in the future a better trained citizenry than it has had in the past. Another consummation to be greatly desired is that during School Week the people of this county should be shown accurately and convincingly the urgent need for more and better school facilities. The bond issue, which was overwhelmingly defeated in May, might have passed had the public fully realized the need of our educational institutions.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Last Tuesday Professor Clark delivered to the Seniors the first of a series of annual lectures. In this lecture he had the unpleasant duty of informing the various members of the class of their weak subjects, and advising if these subjects were not improved they need not expect to graduate. It may be said that he told the students in such a kind way they were inspired to put forth fresh efforts rather than be down-hearted and not care whether they studied or not. Professor Clark is interested in the class and wants to see every member graduate in June.

Friday morning the Junior Class entertained the school. Bertha Adkins, the class president, delivered the address of welcome and announced the program, the first part of which consisted of musical numbers. Handel Hopkins rendered a cornet solo. His as followed by a violin solo by Miss Ruth Truitt. The Junior Chorus also gave a selection. The final number on the program was a comic sketch in which Fulton Brewington imitated the owner, manager and actor of a typical side show. He talked continuously from start to finish introducing his famous characters the strong man, the dwarf, the giant, the invisible singer, the two headed man and all the other freaks of nature, which go with a side show. This sketch proved a success and was the most amusing and humorous entertainment the students of the Wicomico High School have presented this year.

FARMERS AND PLANTERS CO. INCREASE CAPITAL STOCK

The Farmers and Planters Company of this city has recently increased its stock by an additional issue of $200,000 of common stock at par value of $100 per share, as well as 400 shares of preferred stock, according to a letter recently mailed to patrons of the company.

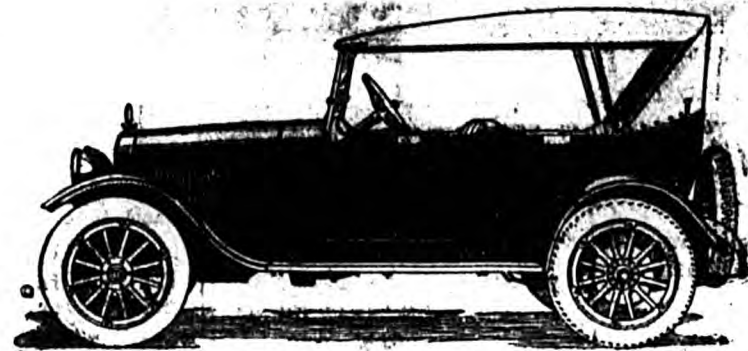

The increase in capital was made necessary by the growth of business since 1912. In that year it was $127,000; in 1920 it is $616,000. The company manufactures dry fish fertilizer which is used extensively on the peninsula. The stock has always paid a good dividend.

Vote Taken At Rexall Stores Correctly Placed 46 Out of 48 States Before Election.

Now that the election is over, the smoke of battle lines lifted, the ballots counted and the "I told you so's" settled down to their customary avocations, one cannot fail to view in retrospect the almost infallible forecast the Rexall Stores straw vote gave as to how the nation would vote November 2.

With a total of 1,239,680 ballots recorded in the Rexall Stores straw vote on November 6, as early as October 15th it was shown that Senator Hardin would sweep the country and roll up an unprecedented plurality over Governor Cox. Figures told this story. From every state in the union the ballots rolled in each day, and as the date of the election approached it was plainly evident that this plurality hourly was increasing.

The Rexall poll showed that Senator Harding would have 379 votes in the electoral college to 152 for Governor Cox. The actual figures, as based on the consensus of newspaper opinion to date, show that the Rexall poll was short two states—in the Harding column—Tennessee and Oklahoma—both of which had shown strong Democratic sympathies from the start. These states appear in the Rexall Democratic column, while both are now claimed by the Republicans.

In the case of Tennessee that is easily explainable. The mountain districts of Tennessee are strongly Republican; in fact, the bulk of the Republican strength in that state lies in these districts. These mountaineers rarely visit the towns and cities. It is only when they come to the polls or to attend court that they are lured from their mountain retreats. Few of them had any opportunity to register their presidential preferences before the election and in consequence the Republican strength was not recorded or shown in the Rexall poll.

In the case of Oklahoma, Senator Harding demonstrated a strength and popularity in that state which was not reflected in the poll in the Rexford figures. But the vote in this state was close at all times. In Tennessee poll a few thousand votes would have swung it either way.

The honesty and accuracy of the Rexall Stores vote has unquestionably been sustained by the results. Forty-six states out of a possible 48 correctly placed is ample proof that such a poll taken under such far-reaching conditions, has won its place in the limelight of accuracy, honesty and usefulness, and that it achieved what no other similar attempt ever even approximated.

For six weeks the bulletins as posted in White & Leonard's two Salisbury stores attracted city-wide attention, and so far as possible The News carried the results from time to time in its news columns, indicating the trend of sentiment as reflected in the tallies.

The November term of the Circuit Court convened Monday at ten o'clock with Chief Judge John R. Pattison and Associate Judge Joseph L. Ball on the bench. Hon. William A. Perdue of Vienna, was made foreman of the Grand Inquest; the other members of the body being Messrs. Pilney E. W. Thos. C. Rose, Orem Cannon, Herman Manning, George Wallace, Charles Luthincum, J. William Richards, Wrightson Camper, George W. Healey, Alton Hackett, William H. Stead, Edwin T. Pink, T. Howard Mchell, Henry L. Phillips, James H. Seum, Robert A. Hurlock, Ack Wheeler, Francis T. Turpin, William Dean, Harry Henry, Elbert Tdgell and Alderheart Hooper.

Col. Clement Sullivan, sold lawyer and statesman, died at Cambridge-Maryland Hospital Wednesday. His death brought to an end a life that had been full of activity for more than 60 years. He was admitted to the Cambridge bar in 1861 and the following year enlisted in the Confederate Army. During the four years of the war he continued in active service, winning promotion after promotion until at its close he held the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel and had been recommended for the rank of Brigadier-General but the commission was never made out owing to the fact that the Confederate Army was compelled to retreat from Richmond before it was issued. His military career ended with the surrender of Lee's Army; he received his parole and returned to his home in Cambridge where he resided until his death.

The average child, by the time he is four or five years old, has developed a craving for stories. He is attending a kindergarten, where a constant is developed, and at least is satisfied there. But even in case he has the right to his bed at home when Mother or Father or tell him stories, either at bed or any other more convenient

How many parents realize that a little half-hour each day, if planned for, may be made an important introduction or addition to a child's education? And this does not mean that the material chosen should be one bit less attractive to the child. But if a mother, instead of just picking up at random any one of her child's books—which may be good or indifferent—and reading mechanically merely to satisfy his desire, gives the matter just a little thought, the "story time" may be made valuable or, still more interesting.

There is a vast treasure of folklore, fairy-stories, poetry, myths of all land and ages to be found from which will furnish the imagination and give him an insight into the world while things in it and all literature.

The librarian of any large library will be glad to furnish a list of the very best juvenile books to be read by small children. But there is a great deal of material for fascinating studies, history, nature study, map training and other subjects which is not in such convenient form, but a mother who is interested, can find it with the help of the librarian or by consulting the tables of contents of bound volumes of the best children's magazines; she can retell the material thus gained in a simple form suitable to her own child.

It is worth while for any parent to give some time and study to planning definitely the ground to be covered for if all the reading develops some general scheme and is not purely haphazard, a very great and telling addition to the boy's or girl's education may be made with very slight effort on the part of the parents.

INVEST a few dollars in Harrison's Shade Trees, Evergreens, Fruit Trees, Shrubbery, Peonies and other hardy Perennials. These will quickly add hundreds of dollars to the value of your home and greatly enhance its charm. There is time to plant them this fall.

Harrison's Norway Maples are unexcelled for shade or beauty. They grow into sturdy, round-headed trees with thick glossy foliage, dark green in summer, fading to golden yellow in autumn. We have tens of thousands of fine specimens, including any desired size up to 4 inches caliper.

Harrison's Oriental Planes are rapidly gaining popularity for lawn and street planting. These trees thrive amid dust and smoke, making them especially desirable where automobiles are numerous. The heads are wide and round with strong branches. The sturdy trunks are beautifully mottled with dark green and white.

For those who prefer them, we have Oaks, Ashes, Catalpas, Horse Chestnuts, Lindens and Willows.

No planting is complete without a few Evergreens. You may choose from our more than fifty varieties, including Koster's Blue Spruce, Norway Spruce, Hemlock, American Arbor Vitae, Chinese Arbor Vitae, Retinispora and Pines.

Your Teeth Should Last a Lifetime— If You Keep Them Clean

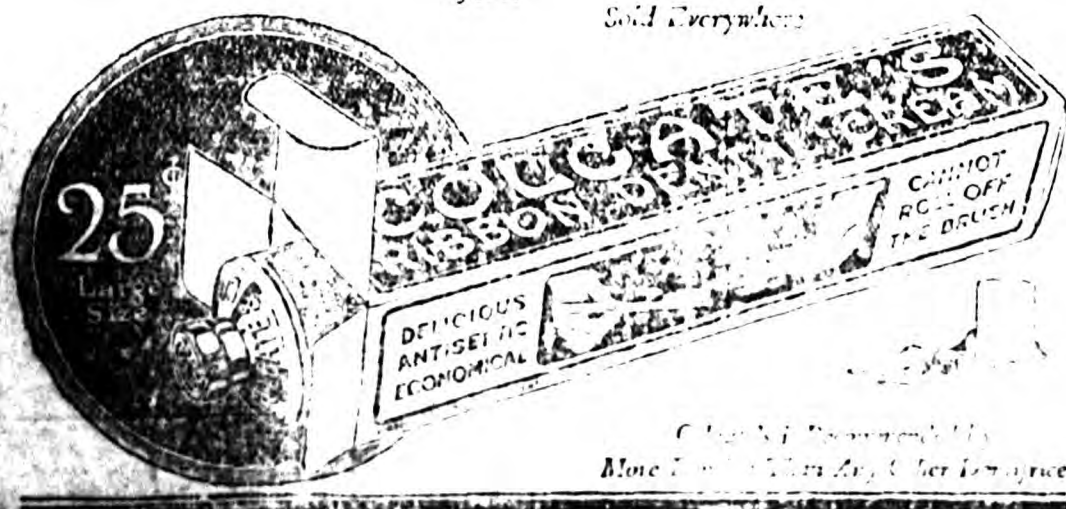

ISN'T it worth more to brush your teeth twice a day than to suffer the tortures of toothache? Often more serious sickness follows neglect of that simple habit of cleanliness.

This is such an important lesson that in most of the better schools the "tooth-brush" is part of the children's education. Good teeth mean better work and better play.

Decide now to take the slight trouble necessary to save your teeth by using Colgate's Tuben Dental Cream twice a day and visiting your dentist twice a year.

able, has dropped over $5 a barrel in the last few weeks, but the price of bread still remains at a high level. Bread, however, will have to follow downward in price shortly or the housewives will do their own baking.

Newspapers also of late have carried announcements of price cuts in clothing up to 50 per cent. The late winter and the fact that the public is refraining from buying any more than they must have is the cause of this reduction.

Local merchants, of course, have on the shelves clothing that they bought months ago at the high price levels that then prevailed, and are reluctant to take these big losses. But if they withstand the downward tide until after Christmas, the rush to unload their remaining stock will be general.

As to whether the merchant is wise to hold off from this cut in prices until the very last minute and then perhaps have to take larger losses than he would at present is hard to foresee, but

H. C. of L. is surely coming down.

NEWSY HAPPENINGS IN SUSSEX COUNTY

The Armistice Day celebration here was confined to the ringing of the church bells at intervals throughout the day.

Although white potatoes sold a few days ago in the eastern part of Sussex county for $1 per bushel, in the western end of the county they are bringing from $1.12 to $1.15 per bushel.

Scarlet fever has developed in Seaford and as a result the first grade of the Seaford public school was closed. The disease is not only confining to children, but grown-ups are contracting it.

Notwithstanding that there was a small acreage of buckwheat this year and the yield was poor, averaging only about 12 bushels to the acre, the price remains low, the farmers receiving only $1 per bushel.

Never before has the chestnut crop been so poor as it reported this season. Practically all the trees are dead, and in sections where one is found with signs of life, it is so badly affected with blight as to be of very poor quality.

Wash Trader, Seaford negro, was shot Thursday, the ball going through one leg and entering the other. Several young negroes were fooling with the revolver when it accidentally exploded. Trader was crossing the street at the time.

One hundred members of First M. P. Church, Georgetown, have formed a "Rainy Day Club," with each pledged to hang a small bag somewhere in their home and each day it rains between now and the middle of March of next year, drop one cent into it as a saving fund for church purposes.

Prince Frederick Tobacco Men Meet

Thomas Parran, President Maryland Tobacco Growers Association, Makes Lengthy Address.

The Calvert County Tobacco Growers Association, meeting at Prince Frederick on Wednesday, were told by Thomas Parran, president of the Maryland Tobacco Growers Association, that that organization now has more than 75 per cent of the growers of the state in its membership and is growing stronger steadily.

Several hundred new members were added by a drive for membership in Southern Maryland during the past few weeks. Calvert County, in which 50 per cent of the tobacco growers are affiliated with the organization, and other counties. The association has more than 5,000 of the 10,000 growers in the state.

Mr. Parran stated that the tobacco crop now in bolls, the largest ever produced, is fully 50,000 hog-heads. Tobacco, which is of excellent quality, will bring about 40 cents a pound when placed on the market and 50 cents if the growers close to $200,000, an amount that is many times more than would be obtained if each grower marketed his own crop instead of selling through the association.

As a result, a solution control, 50 per cent of the tobacco marketed, will be placed on the market and 50 cents if the growers close to $200,000, an amount that is many times more than would be obtained if each grower marketed his own crop instead of selling through the association.

What Is Life Insurance?

Life insurance is, in reality, no more nor less than:

1. A home for the family.
2. An education for the children.
3. A comfortable and carefree old age.
4. A stabilizer of business.
5. A savings fund that can be drawn on in case of emergency.

Picture a community where every family owned its own home and every child got an education—where every old person was financially independent and every business was on a sound and stable basis—and finally where everyone had a nest egg laid aside for emergencies, and you will have an idea of the kind of a community we are trying to make of Wicomico County.

BEAVER BOARD

FOR BETTER WALLS & CEILINGS

At First or At Last?

Sooner or later you will Beaver Board that room.

The one question is whether you will do it at first or at last. While a surprisingly large amount of Beaver Board is used for the purpose of covering over worn-out lath and plaster walls, you never heard of anyone putting lath and plaster over Beaver Board. When a Beaver Board wall or ceiling is up, it's up to stay.

Why not have your Beaver Board room at first instead of at last and avoid the extra job and extra cost?

Beaver Board is a lumber product built up from the blue of clean white spruce. It comes in sturdy, durable, hand-surfaced panels, without a crack, knot or blemish. It will last as long as the building in which it is used. It resists heat, cold and sound better than lath and plaster. It is completely sanitary and easy to apply. Warping is prevented by a special patented process which no other wallboard is licensed to employ.

Let's talk it over.

THE MAN-ABOUT-TOWN.

Scraps He Picks Up Here, There
And Everywhere.

The political cyclone of 1920 having passed over, leaving in its wake a badly battered Democratic party, the leaders of that party are gathering up the fragments and will try to repair the battered old hulk.

Already there is talk among the leaders of "getting together" for the next year's fight for the state Comptrollership, the Legislature and the board of public works. The board is composed of the Governor, Comptroller and Treasurer, the latter being chosen by the Legislature on joint ballot. The Republicans will have to capture the Comptrollership and the Legislature on joint ballot to get control of the board of public works.

There is talk among the leaders of putting up only the best-known and most popular men for the Legislature, irrespective of what faction these men have trained with in the past. There is a new element to be reckoned with in the women voters. They will in no uncertain tones make a demand for nomination of clean, capable men for the political offices, and will not vote for anything on tickets simply because the candidates are labeled "Democratic" or "Republican." The women will want to know the records of the various candidates and will scrutinize the records of such candidates. The white women voters will not be led around by the smooth-tongued campaign orators, and the party leaders might as well accept that as a fact right now and begin to "get their ducks in row" to induce capable and clean men to come out and run for the various offices.

One suggestion is to the effect that men of high standing in the community be induced to let their names be used as candidates for the House of Delegates and that the women voters be especially enlisted in their support. The candidates would have to be men willing to make a substantial sacrifice to go to Annapolis, as the voters in the referendum of last Tuesday refused to give the legislature the meager increase of $300 a year proposed in a constitutional amendment.

Men of prominence with many business interests, it is pointed out, have been induced to serve on unpaid boards and commissions of great importance and there is no reason why some may not be found willing to spend 45 days at Annapolis. That is about the number of days the Legislature is actually in session every two years, though the Constitution says 90 days.

It is evident from the gossip heard on the streets among Republicans and Democrats alike that both the old parties are determined to put up their best men for office next fall and appeal to the women voters to ratify action of the parties by electing the best men.

There will surely be "something doing" in Maryland politics next year, for the Republicans are wearing broad smiles at the 50,000 majority given Harding and are predicting that they will sweep the state for Comptroller next fall.

The opening of the season for shooting wild fowl in this state brings the pleasing intelligence that ducks are more plentiful than for many years past.

Perhaps there is no kind of sport with the gun excelling a day in a sink box or blue, with just enough wind to make the quarry dart to decoys, and if the shrill whistle of wings should proclaim the approach of a group of canvasbacks, the hunter will find his heart beating faster than it has ever done before.

It is a thrilling moment when he downs one of the precious canvasbacks with his right barrel, and another with his left, and how he yearns for a third shot as he sees the others of the flock darting away at the speed of an airplane.

While epicures have taught us that the canvasback fowl is fit food for a king, his next of kin, the "red head," is so near an approach in flavor and juicy tenderness that it requires an educated palate to tell the difference between the two kinds.

The black duck, too, is but little less savory and is much more abundant and less coy, especially, than the canvasback, who is ever alert to danger and is rarely caught off guard. The canvasback can fly 80 miles an hour.

Then there are geese and brant awaiting to match their cunning against the hunter and his gun. In them the sportsman will find a quarry worthy of his skill, and if the former did not resort to subterfuge to deceive, they would live to die of old age. The brant is especially shy and wary, and it requires the deception of a "Raffles" to get near enough to him to puncture the outer armor of his feather and quill shield.

It is reported that the wild fowl are more numerous this season than for a long time, but a few days of shooting will probably find them so difficult to approach that the interest in them will have greatly cooled by time the season is half over.

Disharoon, who died at Lexington on December 18, 1918, was taken to Princess Anne from New York Tuesday, and services were held Wednesday afternoon at All Saints' Protestant Episcopal Church, Monie. Services were conducted by the Rev. Walter Archibald, of Princess Anne. The dead soldier was a member of the Fifty-sixth Pioneer Infantry. ### Can Store Liquors Says Supreme Court Important Unanimous Ruling Makes Legal The Transportation and Storage of Legally Bought Liquor.

The United States Supreme Court has just rendered two decisions vitally affecting prohibition enforcement. The first rules that a claimant of liquor lawfully acquired before the prohibition law became effective has the right to store it in a place other than his home. The second holds that a claimant having liquor lawfully acquired may transport it to his home.

The second ruling is simply a corollary of the first, for to legalize the storage of liquor without legalizing at the same time the right of transporting it would have been to give with one hand and take away with the other.

Significant is the fact that the opinion of the Supreme Court was unanimous, and Justice McReynolds' concurring opinion that the Eighteenth Amendment did not give to Congress the power of virtual confiscation of legally obtained liquor by preventing or interfering with the consumption by the owners, was no less noteworthy.

The new decision adds more trouble to the rum hunters. Estimates of the amount of spirituous liquors stored in the United States run from ten to twenty million gallons, and it will be most difficult in many cases to discriminate between honest and dishonest claims to the benefit of the high tribunal's ruling.

For any itching skin trouble, piles, eczema, salt rheum, hives, itch, scald head, herpes, scabies, Doan's Ointment is highly recommended. 60c a box at all stores.—Advt.

A WORD WITH WOMEN.

Valuable Advice for Salisbury Readers.

Many a woman endures with noble patience the daily misery of backache, pains about the hips, blue, nervous spells, dizziness and urinary disorders, because of relief because she doesn't know what's the matter.

It is not true that every pain in the back or hips is trouble "peculiar to the sex." Often when the kidneys get congested and inflamed, such aches and pains follow.

They help the weakened kidneys. Don't expect them to get well alone. Doan's Kidney Pills have won the praise of thousands of women. They are endorsed at home—Read this Salisbury woman's convincing statement:

Chas. T. Bradley, 315 Elizabeth St., says: "I was troubled with a bad case of kidney complaint and backache. When I did anything I could hardly straighten up, because sharp pains would catch me in the small of my back. One day I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and after taking several boxes, I was rid of the trouble. Since my cure, I have always recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to anyone suffering from backache or disordered kidneys."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bradley had. Foster-Milburn, Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

BOLSHEVISM MENACES

OUR CIVILIZATION

Lenine and Trotsky Reported Sending Huge Army of Khifals To This Country.

Bolshevist agents are planning for the final battle of communism in the United States, according to information recently received at the port of New York by the Commissioner of Immigration. The news from Holland that Lenine and Trotsky propose to send an army of 25,000 Bolshevist missionaries to America fits in perfectly with the propaganda of communists already established here that the final battle will be fought out on United States soil.

The radical foreigners are making their way into this country as stowaways on vessels, as sailors, and by means of bribing the crews on sailing ships. Recently an attaché of the American Consulate at Rotterdam was offered $250 a day to permit six Bolshevist agitators to embark for the United States. Although Rotterdam seems to have been selected as the clearing house for these enemies of civilization, the Holland authorities, in co-operation with those of the United States, are taking steps to cope with the schemes.

Many good Americans do not know the dangers of such movements as that started by the Russian radicals. Many there are who believe that Socialism is not a menace, but would prove to be a blessing. These are unaware of any similarity between Socialism, Bolshevism, and Anarchy, or Nihilism. Socialism is really Bolshevism with a shave; beneath the surface all three movements bear the same element of danger.

Nihilism teaches the destruction of everything as it now exists. It inculcates the belief that the first lie is God and the second is right. It calls on its followers to burst asunder the chains of science, civilization, property, marriage, morality and justice. Bolshevism and Socialism do the same thing. All three teach that there is no God and that the ultimate goal to be desired is the utter destruction and extermination of Christianity.

The sooner Americans are brought to their senses and learn the vicious dangers of these doctrines, the sooner will America and the world be made safe for democracy. To allow any native or foreigner, to give public expression to the theories of pernicious radicalism, is to stamp one's self as anything but a 100 per cent American.

Strange Happenings

Are Vouched For

Medal For Lone Cox Voter—Laborer Gets $146 In Week In Southern Illinois.

What is believed to be the record in a week's earnings for a common laborer in Southern Illinois has just been established by a negro, Charles Gark, at Carbondale. Working six days he earned $148.

The town of Orwin, in the western end of Schuylkill county, Pa., has been awarded the prize as the banner Republican town of the coal region, if not of the entire state. Of 162 votes cast election day, all were for Harding except one. Who the man was who refused to make it unanimous is not known, but the Democrats say they will give the lone Cox voter a medal if he will admit it.

Rev. Dr. S. Edward Young, pastor of the Bedford Presbyterian Church, Brooklyn, declared in a sermon last week that the United States is "fast becoming the most criminal nation of the world." He attributed the increase of lawlessness to the constraining of immigrants of liberty as license, a degree of prosperity too great for "unsanctified human nature to stand" and the enactment of laws "that are not intended to be strictly enforced." This is not a crime wave, but a steadily swelling tide of increasing murder, robbery, burglary and theft, of killing by carelessness and by intent, of graft in places high and low," he said. "It is not specially characteristic of any one locality, but is almost equally ominous North and South, East and West."

Debs Is Refused

Pardon By Wilson

Socialist Candidate For President Must Serve His Term in Federal Prison. Legion Endorses Action.

President Wilson's refusal to pardon Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for president, who is now serving sentence in the Federal prison at Atlanta, Ga., was endorsed by departments of the American Legion, according to advice just received by The News.

The commander of the Legion, F. W. Galbraith, sent the following message to the President: "Your decision not to pardon Eugene V. Debs, as recently reported in the press, is heartily concurred in by the department adjutants of the American Legion in conference in Indianapolis. The Legion views with heartfelt satisfaction this vital act in support of the fundamental doctrines of the Constitution."

Asphalt To Cover

Macadam Roads

The Object Is To Save Cost of Maintenance, Which Is Now Said To Be $800 Per Mile.

The State Roads Commission has decided on the policy of covering all macadam roads with asphalt. The work has already begun on a small scale and will be pushed as vigorously as funds in hand will permit.

The move is an economic one. The cost of maintenance has mounted to $800 per mile per annum. Even with this large expenditure the results have not been satisfactory. The maintenance fund is derived from motor vehicle licenses. This fund has been $1,350,000 a year. It is possible to divert a part of this fund to the gradual spreading of asphalt over the stone roads. When the work shall have been completed, the maintenance fund will be insufficient as compared with present expenditures.

Sixty-four thousand dollars which the State Roads Commission had understood would be available for its work during the current year will not be forthcoming as the result of an opinion filed with State Comptroller E. Brooke Lee by Attorney General Alexander Armstrong.

The money was figured by Chairman John N. Mackall, of the commission as due for this year's maintenance fund from the 1919-20 budget of former Governor Harrington. Doubtful of his right to pay it under the law, Comptroller Lee referred the matter to Mr. Armstrong, who has ruled that the Road Commission's view is a mistaken one.

During the present year the commission has constructed 130 miles of roads, at a cost of $5,000,000.

Members of the commission, division engineers and representatives of the Bureau of Good Roads in Washington, will begin a two-day journey of inspection over the roads in Western Maryland. Next week they will make a tour of roads on the Eastern Shore.

East Nashville, Tenn.—The efficacy of Theodor's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver."

"I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."

Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr. Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.

Theodor's Black-Draught liver medicine is the original and only genuine. Accept no imitations or substitutes. Always ask for Theodor's.

HARDING'S VICTORY IS GOMPER'S DEFEAT

Veteran Leader of American Federation of Labor Fails To Deliver Vote of Organization.

Samuel Gompers, veteran leader of labor in this country, suffered serious embarrassment when the election totals were made known on Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. The American Federation of Labor, without whose vote Gompers indicated no man could be elected president, suffered defeat in nearly every fight it made, from Governor James Cox on down the line.

The election results really represent a defeat for the leaders of labor, head of whom is Gompers. It was the A. F. of L. that made out the blacklist of candidates for the Senate and the House who were not to be put into office; it was Gompers who directed his followers to support Cox; it was Gompers and his high associates, but not necessarily a defeat for labor.

The American workingman is an American first, and a laborer second. He is part of that vast intelligent electorate which has recently put into the White House the overwhelming choice of the American people. He forms, with his associates, a mighty integral part of the electorate of this country, but he is not by any means the whole show.

Many times in the political history of the United States have the leaders of labor declared themselves against such and such men, parties or principles, and have predicted—and even ordered—their defeat. These same leaders have promised to deliver the labor vote. The records show not a case in which they have done it. The reason for this utter failure on the part of the leaders is plain: The American laborer has a vote and opinion of his own. He does not form a distinct class, as that word is interpreted in European countries; he forms a small part of the American people. It is in the latter capacity that he votes.

The vote of labor is said to be elusive. It is, when one man or one small group of men attempt to vote it as a solid body. The people of these United States are too big, too strong, too independent, to allow the tail to wag the dog—even were the tail able to do so.

As the spirit of Americanism is fostered, leaders of labor, as well as other leaders, will come to know with certainty that the average American is becoming more and more able and inclined to think for himself and vote accordingly. Over such independence as this, no man can ever assume absolute control.

A Good Car Will Remain A Good Car

Only so long as it is properly cared for. The man who puts a large sum of money into an automobile and then neglects to give it the attention any expensive piece of machinery deserves, is deliberately throwing away money.

Proper care of the automobile means more than keeping the tires inflated correctly, more than keeping the lubricating system in good condition, more than having a mechanic go over the working parts frequently.

Proper care means proper housing. A well built car deserves a well-built garage in which it may be stored. This is particularly true in winter. If you allow your car to stand in the open, investigate today the reasonable cost of building a garage that will add life to your auto, efficiency to its working, and help retain its beauty for a long time to come.

By buying your materials from Adkins, you can erect a garage at a very reasonable cost, a cost that will prove to be an invaluable investment. The use of Red Cedar shingles on the sides and roof, will almost eliminate painting, and will give you an artistic house of which you may well be proud.

An actual photographic reproduction of one of the largest plants of its kind in Maryland. Among other things, it manufactures materials for building exactly the kind of garage you want.

SCHOOL COSTS REPORTED FOR WICOMICO

Statement Of Board Of Education Gives Data For Schools Of County.

TOTAL EXPENSE IS OVER $210,000.00

Salisbury, Of Course, Leads In The Heaviest Expense, With Delmar
And Sharptown Coming Next. Every Department Shows An Increase Over Preceding Years.

The annual report of the Wicomico Board of Education is published in the Wicomico News, and it will no doubt prove interesting reading for those who are concerned about matters of public education and their cost.

It is a comprehensive report, giving, as it does, a detailed expense list of every department of school work for the fiscal year ended July 31, 1920. This report has been audited by a public accountant and the methods of bookkeeping commended by him.

The figures relating to the costs of operating the various high schools are interesting. For instance, the Wicomico High School with an enrollment of 464 pupils, shows total expenditures of $22,121.35; Nanticoke
High school with an enrollment of 38 pupils, cost $4,155.38; Delmar High school, with an enrollment of 60 pupils, cost $4,400.83; Sharptown High school, with an enrollment of 67 pupils, cost $4,232.21.

The big total for the Delmar High school included the erection of a new high school building.
The costs of operating the elementary schools of the city of Salisbury are as follows: Salisbury Grammar with an enrollment of 298 pupils, $7, 450.08; Central Primary, with an enrollment of 209 pupils, $5,444.68; Chadron Primary, with an enrollment of 495 pupils, $8,901.53; Upton Street
school, with an enrollment of 37 pupils, $1,390.52; East Salisbury, with an enrollment of 272 pupils, $4,814.
70.

The amounts expended for operating the colored schools of Salisbury were as follows: High school, with an enrollment of 71 pupils, $2,695.19; Salisbury Industrial, with an enrollment of 406 pupils, $3,214.71.

Costs for operating the elementary schools in the rural districts were in about the same proportion, owing to the increase of teachers' salaries, fuel, etc. Some of these schools are given as follows: Hebron, 142 pupils enrolled, $3,976.32; Willards, 145 enrolled, $3,137.77; Nanticoke, 52 enrolled, $2,472.88; Bivalve, 75 enrolled,
$1,451.04; Fruitland, 108 enrolled,
$2,382.40; Allen, 46 enrolled, $1,
544.99; Pittsville, 123 enrolled, $3,
438.81; Parsonsburg, 49 enrolled, $1,
491.51; White Haven, 46 enrolled,
$1,837.93; Quantico, 57 enrolled, $2,
811.32; Mardela, 123 enrolled, $2,
729.42; Athol, 61 enrolled, $1,686.56.
The total receipts of the free book fund were $7,940.99, which was all expended. The total receipts of the Colored Industrial Fund were $1, 551.51 with disbursements of same amount.

JUSTICE JONES HOLDS ALLEGED AUTOMOBILE THIEVES FOR GRAND JURY AND FINES GINGER SELLER

Justice Jones' police court had quite a busy session Monday in the hearing of a white man named Masterson and a colored man named Nimrod Westcott, charged with the theft of an automobile owned by Charles and Nelson of Delmar. These men have been held in jail here for several weeks pending an investigation by the authorities.

At the trial Monday morning the negro pleaded guilty to stealing the car, but Masterson denied any complicity in the theft, although he rode from Wilmington to Delmar with the negro on the night of the robbery.

After hearing all the evidence in the case Judge Jones held both men for the action of the grand jury under $2,500 bail each. Being unable to furnish the necessary bail the men were locked up in jail.

Masked Highwayman On Church Street

Warren Parker, Railroad Employee, Hold Up At Revolver's Point
Late Wednesday Night.

Warren Parker, an employee of the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk
R. R. Co., while returning to his home late Wednesday night, was suddenly confronted by a masked man on East Church Street, near the Ann street church and ordered at the point of a revolver to hand over his money.
Parker replied that he only had a few cents, whereupon the robber in order to satisfy himself searched his victim but found the statement to be true. In reply to the question by Parker as to whether he wanted
what little money he had, the man stated it was not worth fooling with.
With a threat that he would kill Parker
if he attempted to follow, the masked man disappeared down Barclay street. This is the second case of a hold-up on the same street within the past few weeks, the first being that of a patent medicine salesman who was found in the yard of a colored family and claimed to have been beaten and robbed of about $300
by a couple of thugs.

ATTRACTIVE MUSICAL EVENT DECEMBER 3

Mrs. William Feldman Is Arranging Unusually Good Musical Entertainment For Hospital Benefit.

A musical entertainment for the evening of December 3 is being arranged by Mrs. William Feldman.
The event will take place in the S.
Y. M. A., and will include the following features: Mrs. Feldman will be the soprano soloist and will be assisted by Miss Helene Broemer, a well-known Baltimore cellist, Miss Ethel Windle, reader, of Parkersburg, Pa., and Mr. W. A. Sheppard, baritone.

Mrs. Feldman is noted in Salisbury for her charming personality and lovely voice. She is a member of the Board of Lady Managers of the Hospital, and the proceeds from this entertainment will go to the Hospital drive for funds.

Miss Broemer is considered Baltimore's most popular cellist. She is a graduate of Peabody and has just returned from giving a series of concerts in California. Miss Windle will lend variety to the program by her reading. She was formerly a member of the faculty of Neff College, Philadelphia.

Mr. Walter Sheppard has long been identified in music circles here. Miss Nellie Sheppard will be the piano accompanist. Tickets for the entertainment will be sold by the Board of Lady Managers for the Hospital. The full program will probably be given in the next issue of The News.

enrolled in all the schools of the coun-

UNION THANKSGIVING SER- VICES AT ASBURY CHURCH

The annual union Thanksgiving services of the churches of Salisbury will be held this year in the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church. The preacher of the occasion will be Rev. Herbert D. Cone, the rector of the St.
Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church.
Special music will be furnished by the Asbury choir. All the ministers of the city will be present and have a part in the service. This union service is one of the most important religious events of the year. It is a time when all the members of the various churches join in a beautiful fellowship of worship and gratitude to God for His continued kindnesses. It is earnestly hoped that there will be a large congregation and the people of the community will attend in great numbers. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS SPEND DAY HUNTING

The Board of County Commissioners spent last Friday at the county poor farm. After inspecting the building and premises, they went hunting, having a day's good sport, and returned to the farm where they enjoyed a splendid dinner served by Mrs. S. S. Mills, wife of the caretaker. The commissioners found the almshouse in excellent condition, the inmates well cared for, and the conduct of the place generally satisfactory.

Duck Hunter Killed Accidentally Friday

Son Of Prominent Citizen Of Worcester County Shoots Companion.
Who Dies A Few Hours Later.

The most serious hunting accident reported this season occurred last Friday near Pocomoke City, when Frank Wilson, son of Francis M.
Wilson, prominent business man of Worcester county and president of the Pocomoke City Bank, shot and killed Sam Doughty.

The two men, with William Keims, were duck hunting in the power boat operated by Mr. Doughty, and had taken their places in a blind. Wilson, sighting some geese, fired, killing one and wounding another. He then raised his gun to kill the wounded bird and fired directly into Doughty's head who had also risen to kill the injured duck.

The full charge of shot took effect in Doughty's head, carrying away the ear and part of the neck. Wilson and Keims got the wounded man back to the boat and took him home where he died about seven o'clock. The accident occurred about two o'clock and greatly saddened the community in which the men lived.

NEEDLEWORK GUILD EXHIBITION SUCCESS

Hundreds Of Garments Contributed To Display For Distribution To County's Needy And Sick.

The annual meeting of the Salisbury branch, Needlework Guild of America, was held in the Nurses'
Home, Peninsula General Hospital, last Tuesday afternoon, and owing to the storm and the small attendance,
the exhibition was held over until Wednesday afternoon when large numbers were present. More than a thousand pieces of needlework were displayed, which is eloquent testimony of the power of small individual efforts when properly organized.

At the Directors' meeting, preceding the exhibition, it was decided that henceforth the second week in November should be "Needlework Guild Week" and that members of the organization should be notified in time to have their offering ready.

The articles are for the use of the sick and needy of the county. The Hospital was given towels, pillow cases, wash cloths, etc., and Mrs.
Houston Todd, tuberculosis nurse, was provided with a linen closet of bedding and garments which will enable her to do much more effective work. Pine Bluff Sanatorium was also given a number of things of general utility. The collection is in charge of Miss Margaret Laws and Mrs. Houston Todd.

The Guild was organized last December with a directorate of 18. It now has 38 members. Last year the collection numbered about 500 garments, and this year over 1,000. The old officers were elected for 1921.

AMERICAN LEGION DANCE AFTER BASKET BALL GAME

Company "I" has started real activities. The basketball season will open on Friday night with Company
"C" of Cambridge. "I" company has some sterling material to draw from and should put a very good team on the floor for this game. Play will be started at 7:30. Those in charge are hoping that the people of Salisbury will show their interest by attending this opening game.

Wicomico Post No. 64, American Legion, will give a dance in the Armory on the same night. Music will be furnished by Madlen's Orchestra.
The committee in charge is John K.
Gunby, Alex. Grier, Howard Ruark.

AUTHORITIES CONCERNED OVER MANY HOLD-UPS

Discussing the recent hold-ups that have occurred within the city, as well as in the immediate vicinity of Salisbury, Mayor W. Arthur Kennerly, in speaking to a News reporter, stated that the public generally should take proper precautions against the attacks of these bandits. He advised that people with money and valuables should take care not to expose themselves to view, and that strangers should be avoided in suspicious circumstances.
Doors ought to be locked and windows fastened in order to prevent second story men from making raids. Funds do not permit an increase in the police force at this time, but it is thought that if citizens will exercise discretion hold-up men will find Salisbury an unproductive source of ill-gotten revenue.

For What Do We Owe Thanks? For Peace, Prosperity, Protection

For what have we to be thankful? Much more than casual consideration reveals. Food, the first necessity of man, has been ours in the same abundance as that of past years, though Europe has faced famine after famine, some the results of natural elements, some the results of man-made disaster.

Shelter, warmth, clothes, protection, have been ours.
We are blessed today with plentiful crops, greater in some respects than any before in our history. Some hardships we may have endured; let us give thanks for the strength that has been ours in overcoming our mishaps.

Another national election has stirred the country. We owe thanks for the wisdom of the people in selecting the leader of their choice, and for the sagacity of refusing to accept, for sentimental reasons alone, obligations fraught with entanglements and the surrender of a God-given sovereignty.

We are blest with comfort, blue skies and pleasant days,
and the prospect of greater prosperity to come.
For what have we to be thankful? Much! Let us give thanks.

Red Men Planning Big Class Adoption

Monday Night Set For Conferring Of Degrees On Palefaces From All Parts of the Peninsula.

Red Men in Salisbury and the surrounding territory are planning a big time for Monday evening, November 29. At six o'clock the three degrees will be conferred on a large class of pale faces from all over the Peninsula, the work being done by the degree team of Modoc Tribe. This will be the largest class adoption ever held on the Eastern Shore, and Modoc Tribe is expected to do the work in great shape.

At eight o'clock there will be a public meeting at the Arcade Theatre at which Past Great Inchoonee James A. Rogers of New York, Chief of Records H. B. McFerran of Chicago, Past Great Inchoonee John W.
Cherrie of Norfolk, and the Great Chief of Maryland, Delaware, and Virginia, will make addresses. A general invitation has been extended to all Red Men and their families and friends to attend this meeting. Past Great Inchoonee Rogers is reported to be a splendid orator.

METHODIST MINISTERS RECEIVE MORE PAY

Increase Has Been General Throughout The Wilmington M. E.
Conference.

For some time the inadequate pay received by ministers of the gospel
has been a scandal and been deplored and discussed by church people in their conventions and conferences, but not much has been done until recently. About five years ago a persistent, systematic effort began to be made by the bishops and district superintendents throughout the Methodist Episcopal Church to correct this injustice. At the first quarterly conference each year the matter was put up squarely to the laymen. The results, while not yet reaching the ultimate goal, are nevertheless highly gratifying, and show what can be accomplished when there is hearty cooperation. There has been splendid work done in the whole of Wilmington Conference, but none better than that in Salisbury district. Much of the credit is due to the leadership of Rev.
Dr. Collins, district superintendent.

In some instances salaries have been almost doubled during the past five years. The large increase is more remarkable when it is remembered that the "Centenary" drive was put on during this period, and now many churches are giving as much to this great missionary propaganda as they give to home work.

WORLD'S CHAMPION RACE SHOWN IN PICTURES HERE

The "Race of the Age" the picture which is scheduled to be shown at Ulmans Opera House on December 1st and 2nd will excite much interest from the fact that it shows Man O' War defeating Sir Barton in the classic event of the season, the race at Kenilworth Park Race Track which Man O' War won by several lengths.
This horse is owned by Mr. Samuel D. Riddle and was trained at his farm near Ocean City.

At one-point on the track, a slow motion picture camera was set up and the picture very vividly shows
the muscles and stride of Man O' War.
Fourteen cameras were used in making this picture which records the entire race.

FEDERAL FOR DR RIVER C

Chamber Of Commerce
That Government
Definite Action

WOULD GREATLY DEVELOPMENT

The Desperating Of The Channel Said To Be One Understandings Of Rivers
Work By War Depart-
Soon As Congress Grants

The regular meeting of the ber of Commerce took place in rooms of the organization on day evening at eight o'clock.
Attendance was good and generally important subjects reported upon and discussed.

To a special committee of Messrs. A. W. W. Wood-les E. Harper, and Oscar L. was referred the proposition curing federal aid for the drive
the Wicomico River. Mr. Harper the course of the discussion that the project has already passed upon by Congress and work will probably start as the money necessary for has been appropriated.

It was pointed out that had been made in the manproportioning funds for harbors work, and the the Chamber was directed communicate with the War or other bureau and ascertain status of the project. At time, the committee will power to collect data tonnage that passes
way, together with itizens that may be on quick action.

For this reason position of the country
tion relating ments of freight on the river
they can secure. Such informa-embraces all tonnage passing the Wicomico from Salisbury to Bay.

The co-operation of all those make use of the river as a means transporting goods and material will do much to aid the Chamber this work that will ultimately make this a richer section of land. A channel of sufficient depth to allow vessels of heavy draught pass will be a vast and powerful influence on the future development of this region of the Eastern Shore.

It should be noted that statistics applying to sail vessels only are requested for the Department obtains information about steamers direct from railroads and from the steamship companies.

A more or less complete report on the year 1918 showed that in Pension receipts and shipmen-freight amounted to almost tons valued at a good deal more one million dollars. As the business will amount to about these amounts, it is evident dredging of the river will be great advantage to the Shore counties, and particularly the Peninsula General Hospital.

WICOMICO COUNTY SORGHUM HAS INFINITE POSSIBILITIES

Local Manufacturer Tells News Representative Of Success Of Small Plant Operated In Salisbury This Season
Which Made About 3,000 Gallons.

The possibilities of a large cane molasses still for Wicomico county were discussed today by W. E. Downing in a special interview with a representative from The News. Mr. Downing has had a small mill in operation this season, and although he did not intend to go into the business on a large scale, he manufactured nearly 3,000 gallons of first class sorghum during the months of September and October.

His plant consists of one eight horse-power gasoline engine, a crusher, and a three-section cooker, the total cost being about $800. The cooker was made by a local tinner, and while not so well finished as those which are machine made, it answered all purposes and saved considerable expense. Mr. Downing operated a force of five men during the height of the season, but having only one experienced cook, he was unable to work two shifts, though had he done so, his yield would have been greater and his expense smaller. The cooker required about a cord of pine wood, cut to four foot lengths, a day.

All the cane used was grown locally. About May of this year, Mr. Downing advertised in The News that he wanted farmers in the section to grow cane for custom use at his mill. In answer to the advertisement he received letters from Oklahoma to Canada, trying to sell him everything from matches to a small railroad; but particularly did he receive an abundant supply of cane from the farmers of the county for twenty-five miles around in direct answer to his advertisement.

Some of the growers who tended carefully to their crop got remarkable returns. In one case a quarter acre of cane yielded 67 gallons, which sold for $1.50. In another, the yield was 76 gallons which sold at the same price. The best brand grown was "Sugar Drip Cane," which is the kind used extensively in the molasses mills of the south. This variety, planted in four foot rows and thinned to eight inches apart in the rows, gave big yields when well tended and dressed with poultry manure or a fertilizer containing a high percentage of nitrate. The cane should be planted not later than June first.

It was found that the cane gave a greater yield to the ton when it was allowed to mature fully before it was cut, and then was cured for two or three weeks in piles at the mill. Green cane, when crushed, carries a large percentage of water, which is drawn out when the stalks are piled in the open for several days. For this reason, it takes less boiling to bring the juice down to the molasses state. It took about ten gallons of juice from green cane to make one gallon of sorghum, whereas the ripened cane reduced on the average of about six gallons of juice to one of molasses. Considering the time and expense of boiling, it is evident that the cost can be materially lowered by the use of cane fully ripened and cured.

The growers who got the greatest yield stated that it was no more trouble to grow cane than to grow corn, and that the two crops are quite similar. Light soils were found to make a better grade of sorghum and one that was lighter in color, and heavy soils produced a darker, less desirable molasses. It was found, too, that by storing the finished product in barrels rather than in cans, a more average molasses was obtained. This is due, no doubt, to the fact that in putting up the sorghum in cans, some would be cooked a little longer than others and that there would thus be a slight variation in the total product.

Mr. Downing estimates the profits from his mill this season in the neighborhood of $600 and believes that there is a wonderful opportunity for the formation of a stock company to carry on the manufacture of sorghum on a large scale. Not only would the plant seem to be a splendid chance for money-making, but it would give to farmers locally a means of raising and selling a crop that pays much better than average crops. It is estimated that upward of $200 can be cleared on the acre on a product that seems not to be so subject to price fluctuations as are the prices on other crops grown locally.

The Downing mill was run on custom trade only, and no effort was made to secure a wholesale market. This phase of the possibility is an unknown quantity, but one that might well be investigated. With a force of five men on one shift, a small cooker—only four to fifteen feet in size in which the juice was cooked in three stages—one local man turned out 3,000 gallons.

What could be done if the manufacture of sorghum in this section were entered into on a large enough scale to make it a worth while industry? Let the thoughtful consider, and let the inquisitive investigate. Perhaps "Wicomico Brand" molasses might

FEDERAL AID FOR DREDGING RIVER CHANNEL

Salisbury. An additional reason for getting behind this proposition and pushing with every ounce of energy is that dredging the channel will give local shippers a better chance of development. That the local company is well known is evidenced by the fact that there is here now the largest vessel that ever came up the river this far. The "Newbury Port" is 285 feet long, 45 feet beam, and 30 feet deep. Loaded she draws 26 feet and light 7 feet. Her tonnage is given as 4,000. That she was brought here from New York, through a shallow, tortuous channel, to be refitted at the Smith and Williams yards is a high tribute to the reputation of the Salisbury concern. Such a reputation must inevitably redound to the great credit of the city.

The plan for building a public comfort station somewhere in the center of the city was referred to the Civic Committee, headed by Mr. L. W. Gurney, and action is expected on it soon. Other matters related to the widening of Division Street in front of the Court House, the writing of a city directory, and a drive for more members. The president sent to a committee of insurance men the mapping out of a program of education on "fire prevention."

At the conclusion of the meeting, the body was addressed by the president of the Champion Motor Car Company which is seeking a factory site and wishes to locate in Salisbury. The car built by the company is an assembled one. The matter was referred to a special committee.

PLANNING BIG THINGS FOR WESTERN MARYLAND

The Rev. Dr. Ward Would Double The Capacity Of This Famous School.

Rev. Dr. A. Norman Ward, formerly a well-known minister of Salisbury and recently elected to the Presidency of Western Maryland College, is already planning big things for this well-known College. Dr. Ward's many friends here knew that when he assumed his present position he would be the right man in the right place and that he would lose no time in the forward movement for the advancement of his institution. It may take years to accomplish all that is laid out, so huge is the undertaking, but the Methodist Protestants of the State are behind the movement, and it will no doubt be pushed to completion.

Dr. Ward's plans call for the enlargement of Western Maryland College to double its present capacity. Ten new buildings, a modern stadium and athletic field and reconstruction of some of the present structures are included in the plans.

Several years will be covered by the building plan, it is anticipated, but some how the work is to be begun in the near future. Official sanction of the project will be asked of the board of trustees at the mid-winter session.

Construction of the stadium and arrangement of a large athletic field will be the first step taken. Plans for the stadium are now being drawn by a Baltimore architect. Although they have not yet been officially accepted, it is understood seating arrangements are to be provided for about 2,500 spectators.

With the completion of the preparation of this ground the college will have a campus of approximately 100 acres. Erection of two new dormitories, one for girls and one for men, is to form the second step in the building program. Dr. Ward hopes that work may be begun on these within the next 12 months.

C. E. ADAMS PURCHASES EAST MAIN STREET GARAGE

A deal whereby the East Main Street Garage, for the past several years owned and operated by Oscar Grier, becomes the property of C. E. Adams, has been practically consummated during the past few weeks, and Mr. Adams has taken charge of the business.

The deal involves the transfer of the land, building, equipment and good will of the business and the consideration is said to have been in the neighborhood of $20,000. Mr. Adams has been in Salisbury about a year in the engineering business, and this he proposes to continue in conjunction with the garage business, having his engineering office in the same building. Mr. Grier is understood, will continue with Mr. Adams in the capacity of mechanic.

Man O'War, the upper-borne owned by Mr. Samuel Riddle and trained at his farm near Ocean City will be shown at Ullman's Opera House in the picture, "The Race of the Ages." This picture was made at Kenilworth Park race track, Windsor, Ontario, and shows Man O'War defeating Sir Barton in the classic event of this season. At one point in the track a slow motion picture camera was set up and the picture very vividly shows the muscles and stride of this horse who has been such a sensation in racing circles.—Adv. 1215

SENATOR-ELECT INSLEY HAS SUCCESSFUL OPERATION

Word was received by The Wicomico News just before going to press that Senator-elect George B. Insley, of the first senatorial district of Delaware, was successfully operated on at Johns Hopkins University on Monday. Dr. Finney performed the operation, attended by Dr. Fletcher, the diagnostician. More than half a gallon of pus was removed from an abscess in the kidneys of the patient and he is now fast recovering his health. His son, Lee Insley, of Salisbury, expects that Senator Insley will be brought home within the next two weeks.

TRAIN OPERATING COST FOUND BY I. C. C. STUDIES

The Interstate Commerce Commission has found in its study of certain railroads that in July, 1919, the cost of operating a freight train mile was $1.54. In February the cost rose to $1.912, an increase of 24.3 per cent. Since February the costs have been as follows: March, $1.793; April, $1.874; May, $1.78; June, $1.879, and July, $1.897. It will be seen that since February the costs have been constantly lower, yet railroad freight rates continue to advance.

FIRST LABOR BANK IN DELAWARE FOR BUSINESS

There is often no place the worker can go to get a loan, save the loan shark, where he often pays 100 to 200 per cent per annum.

"There should be banking facilities for the workers the same as for other classes. There are such banks in every other country. There are 55,000 co-operative banks in Europe, many of them small, and they rarely lose a cent.

"The motto of the bank is service. Our bank by-laws forbid loans or profits of any kind to officers or directors. "We expect to receive the deposits of 85,000 members and 892 local divisions. We will invest the insurance and savings funds of our members and their widows. They have no place to go to make safe investments. We will draw wills and trust agreements for our customers and help them to build new homes."

MILLSBORO SWEPT BY $50,000 BLAZE

Eight Stores and Dwellings in the Business District Were Destroyed. Incendiarism Suspected.

A $50,000 fire visited the business section of Millsboro early Saturday. Incendiarism is suspected.

The town probably would have been wiped out had it not been for the quick arrival of help from other towns and a fortunate shift in the wind.

A little after 1 o'clock smoke was discovered coming from three buildings closely joined together. The town being without adequate fire protection, an appeal for help was instantly telephoned to Laurel, Georgetown and Milford, and all responded. The Milford company's engine broke down enroute and the Georgetown chemical engine, could not cope with the blaze. Just an hour after the call, the Laurel company was on the scene, with hose drawing water from a millpond, but one block was burned and all the Laurel boys could do was to prevent fire spreading to other blocks. Similar service was performed by the firemen from the other towns.

The losses are approximately as follows:

Harbeson Hickman's dwelling and undertaking establishment, loss, $15,000.
Charles R. Godfrey's store and lodge rooms above, $12,000.
Robert K. Houston's residence, $5,000.
Ollie Burton's store, $1,500.
Layton Houston's barber shop and residence, $2,000.
John Rodgers' store, $1,200.
John Lingo's potato house, barn and fertilizer house, $5,000.
Albert Brittingham's shoe store, $2,000.

The blaze is believed to have started in Godfrey's store.
The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Aged Woman Bids Defiance To Death

Recovers From Attacks Most Threatening And Is Now Reveling In Ice Cream.

For the second time within the past few weeks, Mrs. Sallie Shiles, widow of George H. Shiles, of Laurel, has apparently fooled her physician in respect of her illness. Previous to Mr. Shiles' death she developed double bronchial pneumonia, who had ended his life, and steadily grew worse and when the physician said she could live only a day or so, he merely stated what seemed to be a self-evident fact. She recovered however and was able to go about the house when, on Monday she was stricken with paralysis, which affected the entire left side and the doctor, thought her death was only a matter of a few hours. After lying in an almost deathlike semi-comatose condition for 24 hours, Mrs. Shiles again began to improve and Thursday was able to sit up and partake of ice cream.

Oliver Thomas, the charming actress, will be presented in a special matinee Thanksgiving afternoon at three o'clock at Ullman's Opera House. "Everybody's Sweetheart" is the last and best Schenck-Oliver Thomas Production made and is sure to captivate the audience. The evening show begins at 7.30 and 8.45.—Adv. 1200

STATE SENATOR INSLEY IS NOT FATAALLY ILL

Johns Hopkins Physician Says He Has Good Chances After An Operation.

So many reports concerning the condition of Captain George B. Insley, State Senator-elect from the Second Senatorial district, who resides at Bethel, have gone out, some of them very erroneous, that his friends of the district are anxious for the public at large to know his true condition. Through his son, Lee Insley, of Salisbury, Md., Dr. Annie C. Shipley was called upon to get a reputable physician who could give some idea of the nature of Captain Insley's condition, and what his chances for recovery are.

Dr. Shipley got in communication with Dr. F. Thomas Fletcher, of Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, who came down, and in company with Dr. Shipley visited Captain Insley at the Peninsula General Hospital, Salisbury. After a thorough examination as was possible at the hospital, Dr. Fletcher came to the conclusion that Captain Insley has a good chance for recovery.

From what he could ascertain Captain Insley is suffering with a perinephric abscess, which is an abscess in the region of the kidneys. Dr. Fletcher advised removing the patient to Johns Hopkins Hospital, where a more thorough examination could be made. He took back with him to Johns Hopkins some of the patient's blood, for testing, and in a letter received here Wednesday, stated that after examination he was still of the opinion that Captain Insley has a fair chance of recovery, if the abscess proves to be in the region of the kidneys, as is now indicated. A surgical operation could be performed and the pus removed, he said, giving Senator-elect Insley an excellent chance for complete recovery.

Captain Insley was taken to Johns Hopkins Hospital Wednesday, from Salisbury, and Dr. Fletcher and his associates will take up his case. Captain Insley's numerous friends here and elsewhere are extremely hopeful over Dr. Fletcher's examination and will await with interest the progress of the case.

COMING AND GOING OF DELMAR PEOPLE

Many Items of Local Interest, Personal, Social Events and Other Activities of Delmar People.

Mrs. Julia Bryan is numbered among the sick this week.

Mr. Marion Vincent left on Wednesday for a short visit in Rehoboth Beach, Del.

Bishop George Davenport of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Eastern made his first visit to Spring Hill P. E. Church, near here, Sunday. A large congregation greeted him.

Thanksgiving poultry is missed from many menus in Delmar Thanksgiving. Turkeys are very scarce at any price this year, while ducks and chickens are selling at unheard of prices.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. West and Mrs. Edward Short and daughter, Helen, and Mr. Rodney West, of Georgetown, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Hudson and family Sunday, November 14.

At the semi-annual meeting of the Associated Banks of Wicomico, Worcester and Somerset counties held in Crisfield on Friday of last week, Mr. J. G. W. Perdue, of Delmar, was elected as treasurer of the association.

Organization has already been begun in Delmar for the sale of Tuberculosis Christmas Seals. Prominent women are making preparations to sell as many of these as they can, by personal solicitation. The stores have announced willingness to help by placing them on sale.

Several buyers of holly are working this section, having come from Philadelphia for the purpose of making arrangements for the making of holly wreaths for the holiday season. They report the holly to be very plentiful, but to be without berries. This is said to be an indication of a mild winter.

CLEVER CROOK IS STILL DOING BUSINESS

The One-Legged Crook Who Fleeced Salisbury Women Is Still Operating.

A one-legged crook, claiming to be an ex-soldier, shell-shocked into the loss of speech and hearing, who fleeced many of the women folk of Salisbury a few weeks since, paid a visit to Cape Charles this week which certainly netted him more than $100. He could talk and hear as well as the many kind contributors to his unearned income.

Two weeks ago he was arrested in Salisbury, plead guilty to the charge of being an importer, and was ordered to leave the city.

He arrived in Cape Charles on Armistice Day and registered at the Virginia Hotel as Jack Southard, Montreal, Canada. He wrote on a piece of paper which he gave to the clerk, "Have you a room?" "Yes, when did you lose your speech?" was penned by the clerk on duty.

"17 days before the Armistice was signed," wrote the bogus ex-soldier.

But the man who lost his speech 17 days before the Armistice was signed talked very fluently to the town authorities when ordered to leave town last Tuesday, and he could certainly hear the way that money talks. For when he paid his checks at Taylor's restaurant on Front street, he exhibited a roll of bills that made the cashier look the second time. He seems to have gotten away with his "help the handsome beggar" stuff almost everywhere that he went in town.

The above account from a contemporary shows how much damage one crook can do. Watch for them.

It is reported that the authorities know that this crook has or intends working every town on the shore and they also know where he is staying while conducting his operations. It is said that if he wishes to escape a very unpleasant scene, and maybe one he will remember for a long while, he had better pack up and get out of this territory.

THANKSGIVING

When you think of the pleasure and bounteous feast in store for you on Thanksgiving day recall to your mind the story of the Pilgrims and their first Thanksgiving, a day which they made famous for the American people. Think of the hardships they went through on their arrival in this country and try and imagine the feeling they must have had on that first holiday in which they gave thanks to their God for the opportunities that the new country gave them. When we think of their mode of living and compare it with ours of today in this great modern and progressive land have we not reason to be more than thankful for our privileges here, where a wealth of advantages is given to all. No matter who you are or where you are, do not merely make this a day of celebration but be thankful for the wonderful gifts you have.

A LEAGUE OF FREE NATIONS.

What will President Harding do about the League of Nations? That is a very vague question about a subject of very great interest to all.

First of all he has promised to make peace with Germany. Our war has been ended for over two years. Peace ought to be established in theory as it is now in fact. To make the peace a fact, a law would require simply a resolution by Congress approved by the President that the state of war is ended. As Congress has the right to declare war, it has the right to declare that war ended. No one will seriously contend that in so doing we are in any sense disloyal to our allies in the war. We entered the war for no material advantage. No one can complain if we renounce the right to claim anything from the vanquished foe.

Peace being established, there arises the question of our relation to the League of Nations. The League is carrying on without us. We have to decide whether we care to join or not, or on conditions.

The people, in the last election, have declared very emphatically against our joining the League as it is, without reservations. That fact alone is clear. Whether the majority prefers to stay out altogether, or to go in with reservations, or to go in some other kind of an association, is not known. The administration is at liberty to map out the course it believes right.

Our first objection to the Covenant of the League is that it guarantees boundaries and settlements which may not be right. The giving of the Shantung peninsula to Japan, the isolation of Austria, the Italian settlement, are simply instances, as far away from the principle of self-determination as daylight is from dark.

Our second objection is the surrender of the right to a small diplomatic council to say what the obligations of this mighty nation are.

A League which compelled nations to submit their disputes to an international court before going to war, and which goes no further in our judgment, the ideal solution. After a fair trial of a dispute, public opinion in the nations would probably prevent an appeal to force. The plan leaves open for settlement and adjustment all present boundaries. It allows then each nation to say whether it will accept the finding of the court. The plan would prevent any war which can be prevented. It makes of the world a society of free nations. It impairs the sovereignty of none, since it compels only the submission of disputes to a court, not the acceptance of the decision.

Into that kind of an association we believe the vast majority of our people would very cordially approve our entering.

The result could be obtained either by negotiating an entire new set of treaties or by our entering the present League with a reservation clearly setting forth that this was our obligation to the nations, and that we would, of course, have to accept the findings of the court.

It is needless to say that the Court set up by such a League would have to be the wisest and the fairest that it is possible for men to secure. The League would then be not a guarantee of existing settlements, right or wrong, but a guarantee of a fair trial by an impartial court. Beyond compelling the submission of disputes before fighting, it should not go.

A NATIONAL MENACE.

Fire prevention is worth any amount of cure. You may carry more than enough insurance to cover your losses, but there are always some things destroyed in a fire that money alone cannot replace. Your records are an example. Protection against fire is the only way in which you can keep them safe.

Your insurance may cover your losses, but it will not help your neighbor whose home may have caught fire from yours. The only way to protect the homes of the city is to take every possible means to prevent fires.

The full season of the year always shows for the United States a great increase in the number of disastrous conflagrations. Defective flues, rubbish near ash dumps, smoldering ashes carelessly dumped near inflammable articles, dirty chimneys, dry leaves in the roof gutters, and kindling piled too near fireplaces and stoves, cause most of the damage.

Before another day passes, examine your chimneys. See that your flues are clean, you will use less fuel and get more heat anyhow, if they are. Clean out the gutters along the roof, giving the water a chance to drain off and sparks no chance to start a fire. Investigate any steam or hot water pipes that run into your attic; if there is any danger of their becoming hot, they should not be in direct contact with wood. The metal thimbles on the pipes where they pass through the floors should also be looked after. Keep your furnace room clean and you will greatly lessen the fire hazard in your home.

Business houses can well afford to take the same precautions as do householders. The grates along the streets should be kept absolutely free from rubbish of any kind. A lighted match or cigar stump flipped negligently into them will start a fire that might wipe the entire city out of existence. Other conditions peculiar to factory or store should have immediate attention.

Salisbury's splendid volunteer fire department is noted for its efficiency and the speed with which it can get into action. But to make the expensive apparatus at the city hall give the fullest amount of protection possible, every citizen must co-operate with the fire fighters and do all he can to prevent fires getting a start. Don't procrastinate in this matter, for by so doing you may endanger not only yourself but others as well. Make a civic goal of "No fires in the city this winter."

NOT DOLLARS BUT HEARTS.

Hearts are needed more than dollars in the coming drive for the Red Cross Association. There are enough people in the United States today who recognize the inestimable value of this wonderful organization to contribute funds sufficient for its operations, and these people will contribute.

Locally, the Red Cross Chapter is desirous of impressing upon the public the importance of the Association's post-war work. Not only in war, but in peace are the workers to be found in thousands of communities doing all they can to relieve distressing situations. For this reason, it is particularly desirable that the people of this county know something of the Red Cross program of work for the future.

The Public Health Nurse, Miss Margaret Laws, spent the month of October visiting schools and homes, giving instructive talks and making inspections. She examined 362 pupils in the public schools and found 9 with defective vision, 166 with enlarged tonsils, 284 with defective teeth, 277 underweight, and 144 more than 10 per cent under weight due to malnutrition. In many schools she found that not a pupil had used a tooth brush on the day of her investigation, and a great number of those questioned did not even possess one.

She did more than this. She made six nursing visits to homes and 12 other visits of a miscellaneous character. She delivered 17 lectures to groups of pupils, held classes at a number of places, and inspected 16 buildings and premises. All this was in addition to her office work and the preparation of articles for the press.

Such an insight as this into the work the Red Cross is actually doing in the county will, we hope, give the public at large a better understanding of the vital part the "Greatest Mother in the World" is taking in making America a better place in which to live.

Miss Laws' work is typical of what is being done all over the United States. When you come actively into contact with the work of this organization, give your fullest sympathy and co-operation that the work may be absolutely efficient. In the coming drive, remember that while your dollar is necessary, it is not by any means the most valuable contribution you can make to the work of the Red Cross. With your dollar, give a little of yourself and much of your heart.

LAW RELATIVE TO THE SALE OF GAME

Prominent Attorney Gives News Reporter His Interpretation of The Game Law.

A great many inquiries are being made daily as to the proper interpretation of the game laws relative to the sale of game. There seems to be a great variety of opinions as to the provisions of the game laws. In communication with a well-known attorney a few days ago as to whether or not it is a violation of the law to sell rabbits, birds, etc., he called attention to the provisions of Chapter 520 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland of 1920, as follows:

"After providing the open season to be from the 10th of November to the first day of January in each year and forbidding hunting upon Sunday and when the ground is covered with snow and at night, the law goes on to provide as follows:

"And it shall be unlawful to sell, offer for sale, purchase, or offer to purchase or buy such named birds and animals at any time, whether same are caught or killed within the State of Maryland, or any other state, territory or country.

"Now squirrels, rabbits, otter and muskrat and deer are certainly animals and the law forbids the purchase or sale of any of these animals at any time, in explicit language."

TRI-COUNTY BANK ASSO. MET IN CRISFIELD FRIDAY

The semi-annual meeting of the Associated Banks of Wicomico, Worcester and Somerset counties was held in the Chamber of Commerce rooms at Crisfield on Friday 8th last week. Mr. I. L. Price, of the Peoples National Bank, presided. The address of welcome was made by Mr. E. L. Quinn, of the Marine Bank of Crisfield, and was responded to by Mr. H. W. Ruark, of the Salisbury Building, Loan and Banking Association. Judge Duncan, of the juvenile court of Baltimore county, was the principal orator of the occasion. The following officers were elected: President W. E. Bratton, Snow Hill; vice-presidents E. L. Quinn, Crisfield; secretary, John T. Keas, Berlin; and treasurer, J. G. W. Perdue, Delmar. Resolutions of sympathy for the loss of his wife and of felicitations upon his long service in banking circles, were adopted in regard to Mr. Wm. B. Spiva.

A gentleman was seen on the street this week and the remark was made that this was the first time he had been seen since the election. He was thought to have been home nursing a big pain. ## VALUED AT $20,000

Be Entitled To Probate Dismiss Of Valuable Properties And Makes Division Among Seven Children.

The will of the late Mrs. Hester A. Gordy, widow of the late William M. Gordy, and who died last week, was read for probate in the Orphans' Court for Wicomico county last Tuesday.

The will, which was executed on May 28th, 1917, and was witnessed by the late Raymond K. Truitt, Miss Mary Roberts and Curtis W. Long, leaves of an estate valued at more than $20,000, consisting of farm lands, a house and lot in Salisbury, Md. notes on hand for money loaned various parties.

The real estate consists of a farm containing about 93 acres, located on the north side of the road leading from Salisbury to Delmar, about one mile from the city limits of Salisbury. It is said that Mrs. Gordy refused an offer of $10,000 for this farm a few months prior to her death.

After providing for her debts and payment of her funeral expenses, the residue is divided equally between her seven children and grandchildren. In order to make an equal division of the real estate, the 73 acres of the home farm on the Salisbury-Delmar road was divided into seven tracts of 10 acres and a fraction each and was divided as follows:

Item 1—To Carl Parker and Betsey Parker, grandchildren, and Mildred Parker, great grandchild, $100 each.

Item 2—To Eugene H. Gordy, son, and during the term of his natural life, and after his death to his children, 10 acres of land.

BUCKET BRIGADE'S GOOD

WORK PREVENTS BIG FIRE

The Fire Department was called out about 11 p. m. to the veneering establishment of Harry Wilson on Mill street. Fire had broken out in the boiler room of the plant, presumably from the ignition of the sawdust which was hauled in for fuel. The damage probably will not exceed $1,000. It was feared that the main building where Mr. Wilson manufactures butter trays, mustard paddles and like articles, which is separated from the boiler room by about ten yards, would be burned. Due to the work of a bucket brigade the building was kept sufficiently wet to prevent ignition until the firemen could get into action.

MARKET PROGRAM IS VERY BROAD

Local Association of Farmers and Producers To Do Annual Business And Selling of Farm Products

STATE PURCHASING BODY A POSSIBILITY

Meeting of Agricultural Convention Opened at Salisbury, Md. Nov. 24. The annual meeting of the Maryland Agricultural Society, held at Salisbury, Md., Nov. 24 to 25.

The adoption of a policy for the development and promotion of cooperative buying and selling organizations among the farmers of the state was the outstanding feature of the sixth annual meeting of the Maryland Agricultural Society, held at Salisbury, Md., Nov. 24 to 25.

The adoption of a policy for the development and promotion of cooperative buying and selling organizations among the farmers of the state was the outstanding feature of the sixth annual meeting of the Maryland Agricultural Society, held at Salisbury, Md., Nov. 24 to 25.

The policy as mapped out and approved by the society does not contain any other buying or selling activities by the society itself. In fact, it recommends that even county federations or associations, engaged in a program of community or county development, should remain out of the marketing field and merely foster and promote cooperative marketing associations where the need of such agencies is apparent.

As outlined by the committee and as understood by the members of the Maryland Agricultural Society, the idea is to keep community and business organizations separate and distinct. Consequently the attitude of the Maryland Agricultural Society will be one of active interest in the support and growth of cooperative buying and selling organizations without participating in such activities itself.

Five members were appointed to the marketing committee. The society will maintain the same position toward cooperative marketing in the state as the American Farm Bureau, with which it is affiliated, holds in a national capacity through its marketing committee of seventeen.

Of the important duties of Maryland marketing committee will be to keep in touch with the latest developments of national farm organizations which are studying the marketing situation and to report their findings and recommendations to the local or county federations. In this manner, it is hoped, that the marketing program in Maryland will be developed step by step as conditions warrant and in line with the very best thought and practice on the subject.

The program approved by the Maryland Agricultural Society was drawn up by a committee composed of Dr. F. B. Bamberger, chairman, assistant director of the University of Maryland Extension Service; Edwin Ward, Jr., of Howard county, and C. E. Bryan, of Harford county, and embodies the following salient points:

1. Organization for the marketing of farm products should be based on the commodity.

2. Farm organization, engaged in a program of community development, should not engage directly in the business of buying or selling but should foster and promote such enterprises whenever and wherever the need is apparent.

3. Cooperative marketing associations should be incorporated without capital stock, with membership fees but no annual dues, with individual liability strictly limited, and with provision for dividing savings over the cost or management upon the basis of the amount of business done through the association by the respective members.

4. County or local units may be formed but actual selling of products should be done through the parent organization.

5. Purchase organizations should not be linked up with marketing associations, except where the purchases have a direct connection with the production or marketing of the special commodities handled by the marketing organization.

6. Purchasing associations should be organized on the same basis as marketing associations.

7. Should the growth of business warrant a state-wide purchasing association may be formed with local or county units as members.

8. With a state-wide purchasing association, the local or county unit should act as a distributing medium, with county and state associations acting as their commissions as might be agreed upon for their services.

The purchasing association should not be set up only for the actual purchase and sale but should make purchases to be resold.

In addition to going on record as favoring the passage of the Capper-Volstead bill, regarding cooperative farm organizations; the Kenyon-Anderson bill, providing for the regulation of the packing industry; the French-Truth-in-Fabric bill, requiring the labeling of woolen goods; and the Ventral bill, providing for the standardization of carriers; the Maryland Agricultural Society adopted resolutions opposing the passage of the Nolan bill, providing for an extra tax on land values in excess of $10,000; and condemning the practice of speculating in staple food products as wheat and corn.

The society also adopted a strong and comprehensive agricultural program for the coming year and in this connection again endorsed its policy of encouraging the development of community organizations, engaged in improving rural conditions. The Maryland Agricultural Society has long held that improved rural communities are the best means of establishing a better agriculture and a more contented rural population.

Addresses by Governor Albert C. Ritchie and J. R. Howard, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, were features of the evening session, November 24. After complimenting the Eastern Shore of Maryland on its beauty and the productivity of its soil and promising that if he ever left Iowa he would move to the section across the Chesapeake, Mr. Howard spoke of the conditions with which the farmers are at present confronted. He first paid attention to the speculation in farm products, bringing out the fact that on the Chicago Board of Trade wheat and other grains are sold over and over again in proportions which far exceed the annual farm production of these crops. He said that in one year the amount paid by dealers in grain for taxes and commissions amounted to more than $600,000,000. Mr. Howard, in support of cooperative marketing, emphasized two important factors, the chief of which was to be sure that cooperation was necessary and that the farmers would stick together, and the second that a man versed in marketing be placed at the head of the organization.

Speaking of farmers' credits and advocating more liberal methods of financing farmers, Mr. Howard pointed to the difference which exists between a city which desires to install an electric light plant and the condition of the farmer who has the same desire. The former, said Mr. Howard, may sell bonds payable in 20 years at an interest of 4 per cent, while the latter must sign a 90 day note bearing interest at 7 per cent.

MISS KATHARYN E. PRICE WEDS BALTIMORE MAN

Miss Kathryn Edna Price and Mr. Edward F. Johnson were united in marriage on Tuesday at Asbury M. E. Church, Smyrna, by Rev. George Peck Clark, of Baltimore, assisted by Rev. R. P. Nichols, the local pastor. The bride was given in marriage by her father, Senator Lewis M. Price. She wore a gown of ivory colored crepe mecor trimmed with old lace and a lace hat. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids and locust blossoms. The matron of honor was Mrs. Rolfe D. Gilliss, sister of the groom. Mr. Edward Piper, Baltimore, was best man and the ushers were Messrs. Carl and Warner Price, James Russell of Salisbury, and William Engleish, of Baltimore. The ceremony was followed by a reception at the home of the bride.

PUBLIC SCHOOL PUPILS GIVEN HARD TESTS

Psychological tests throughout the public schools of the county are being conducted by Superintendent James M. Bennett, of the School Board. The Otis Group Intelligence scale, which had such varied use in the Army during the Selective Service operations, is being used by the school authorities. The test embraces about 200 questions or problems which must be answered within a short time limit. A sample problem is: "If a man walks west from his home eight blocks and then walks east three blocks, how far is he from his home?" The essence of success is a active mind. It is therefore necessary to think quickly and grasp the meaning of the problem in order to make a good rating. The length of time taken to answer a given question, determines, with other factors, the intelligence of the person undergoing the test.

MERCHANTS PURSUING PROGRESSIVE POLICY

Following the Success of Dollar Day Week, Merchants Division C. of C. Decide to Advertise Salisbury.

Preparations for a second breaking holiday trade in Salisbury are under way. The shop windows are assuming their dress of attractive and suitable gift things and counter displays and interior exhibitions are taking on a Christmas tone.

Dollar Day week was such a decided success that the Merchants Division of the Chamber of Commerce has planned a comprehensive advertising program to be run in the papers of the Eastern Shore to convince outsiders that Salisbury is really the Shopping Center of the Peninsula. This advertising campaign is a departure from the accustomed conduct of business affairs here and has several purposes.

Salisbury is the place for the people of the peninsula to do their shopping not only at Christmas but all the year round. That is the first lesson this campaign endeavors to teach.

Salisbury merchants have voluntarily cut through their profits and in many cases are selling goods below cost in order to help the public satisfy its needs. This is the second purpose behind the publicity movement. Prices are as low in Salisbury as they are anywhere else in the country, and in many lines are lower than they are elsewhere. This is the third major purpose of the activities of the Merchants Division.

In preparing your shopping list, remember the Salisbury stores. No other store in the state presents greater attractions than the local shops when they are fully arranged in their holiday dress. To make Salisbury grow, and that is the hope and aim of every Salisbury man, it is imperative that home merchants be patronized. Consider the fact that local business men have not the high rents, taxes, and overhead that often make prices in the larger cities higher, and for this reason, everything else being equal, prices are lower in this city than they are in the larger cities not far distant.

Shop early. You will gain added satisfaction and pleasure from supplying your needs while the stocks are complete and the stores are not crowded. By the same token, you will give the merchant a chance to serve you as he would like to. Shopping early will be a decided advantage for both buyer and seller. Make the most of it.

The Stanwood Six ideal and purpose, which has been realized and fulfilled was to build a car of medium size of medium weight, composed of standard parts throughout, with each part the very best of its kind for this particular car—a car with moderate upkeep, with no skipping in any detail, and presenting an appearance of graceful sturdiness and finish equal to any car on the market, regardless of price.

In body design there are no startling innovations which might satisfy some transient and temporary fad, although approved modern lines have been carried out.

In construction, and framework of the body is heavier and the body more substantially made than is to be found on any but the highest grade cars.

I am going to write to Santa Claus and ask him to bring me that Baby Grand Piano that's in the Window of Sanders & Stayman's Music Store, they also have a Steinway Baby Grand on the floor, the best Piano made. Altho I'll be satisfied with an upright piano, they have the Ivers & Pond which we all know is good; the Estey too, they handle,

You can pay a small payment down and the balance in monthly payments, so I'm going to get old Chris to go to Sanders & Stayman's store and have him to pick me out something good in a Piano for Christmas.

And I know I will be satisfied as they have got over five hundred satisfied customers in and around Salisbury and if Santa Claus can't buy me a piano I'm going to ask him to bring me a Vocalion Machine as I like them better than any phonograph I've ever heard, and they carry a full line of the Aeolian Vocalion Records, so I'll write Santa Claus today, and tell him to ask for

FOURTH ANNUAL RED CROSS ROLL CALL PROGRESSING

Many Members Being Secured
By Loyal Workers For The Cause.

JUNIORS HELPING ALL OVER STATE

Many Schools In Delaware Are 100 Per Cent Members—Delmar Committee Are Meeting With A Ready Response Everywhere They Go. A Heatt and a Dollar All You Need.

Delmar has been the scene during the past week or so—since Armistice Day, in fact—of much activity on the part of that loyal band of women who each year conduct the annual roll call for "the greatest mother in the world"
—the American Red Cross.

This is the fourth annual roll call of this wonderful organization and the committee in charge of the work in Delmar are requesting much success in securing new members and collecting the annual dues of $1.00 from those who have "joined" during the previous three drives here.

The slogan of "all you need is a heart and a dollar" is being used to good purpose again this year and enrollments are rolling in from every direction. This year the Junior Red Cross is coming to the front nobly and from all parts of Delaware comes the reports of school after school that are 100 per cent enrolled.

Six reasons advanced by the workers for securing members are that the Red Cross must be prepared to meet any disaster caused by fire, flood storm or epidemic. The Red Cross is establishing Health Centers, in co-operation with official and other health agencies, for health information and instruction. The Red Cross is building up the country's nursing resources. The Junior Red Cross is developing a finer type of American citizenship. The Red Cross is still serving the Army and Navy as well as caring for the ex-service men. The Red Cross is answering humanity's call by continuing its relief work in other countries.

However, those familiar with the great work of the American Red Cross in the past, need no extra reasons now to make them join. The past performances are all sufficient reason for enrolling and thereby helping in the great work the Red Cross is doing.

Mrs. S. M. Ellis is the chairman for the Fourth Red Cross Roll Call in Delmar and she is being ably assisted by the following corps of workers:

North Second Street—Miss Helen Chipman, Mrs. George White.
Hastings Street—Mrs. C. C. West.
Jewell Street and Railroad Avenue
—Mrs. W. S. Marvel, Jr.
Grove Street—Miss Lydia Wilson,
Miss Elsie Hearn.
State Street—Mrs. Joseph Ellis,
Mrs. Fred Scott, Mrs. Ira Hearn.
East Street—Miss Mary Lou Slem-ons.

Elizabeth Street—Miss Blanche
Long, Miss Marion Hearn.
Chestnut Street—Mrs. R. F. Marsh,
Pine and Walnut Streets—Mrs.
Elijah Wooten, Mrs. Charles Purdy.
West of Railroad—Mrs. E. E.
Freeny.

If you are not already enrolled see one of this committee at once and get your button, which will show to everyone that you have both a heart and a dollar.

NEW P. R. R. AGENCIES.

The Pennsylvania Railroad System has re-established its "off-line" freight and passenger agencies in ten leading traffic centers outside the company's own territory. These agencies were in operation in pre-war days, but were discontinued while the railroads were being operated as a unit for military purposes.

The cities in which both freight and passenger agencies have now been reopened are: Dallas, Tex.; Minneapolis, Minn.; Kansas City, Mo.; Los Angeles, Cal.; New Orleans, La.; Omaha, Neb.; Boston, Mass.; Seattle, Wash., and San Francisco, Cal. In addition a freight agency only has been opened at New Haven, Conn.

It will be the policy of the Pennsylvania Railroad to maintain these agencies primarily for the convenience and information of patrons in such matters as selecting the best routes, mapping out tours, tracing freight shipments, obtaining tickets, and, in general, rendering all assistance possible to shippers and passengers using the Pennsylvania Railroad.

GETS 140,000 FOR THE DEATH OF FOUR SONS
John Henry Selby, a Seaford negro,
has just been notified by the War Relief Department at Washington, that he is beneficiary in the sum of $100,000 to be paid to him, $200 a month, for the loss of life of his four sons, William McKinley Selby, James Selby, Preston Selby and George Selby, in the World War, each having taken out a $10,000 life insurance policy. All four of the boys were drafted in the service from Broad Creek. The father of the four unfortunate boys came to Seaford from Snow Hill several years ago, and has made it his home since.

The railroads of the country,
in their retrenchment program,
continue to lay-off their employees in a wholesale manner and it is said that the program will be continued until 40 per cent of the force of men formerly employed will have been laid-off for an indefinite period.

Have you stopped to figure
just what this means to the railroads of the country in dollars and cents.

To start off the people of the country were informed that the recent raise given the railroad workers amounted in round numbers to $600,000,000.

As this represented a raise of about 20 per cent on former wages, it is fair to presume that the former payroll of the railroad companies was around $3, 000,000,000, which increased itself to a payroll of approximately $3,600,000,000 when the raise was granted.

Next we see the railroads of the country coming before the Interstate Commerce Commission asking for an increase in freight and passenger rates, 20 per cent on passenger rates and 40 per cent on freight rates.

And they used as the basis of

MR. FRAZIER DID NOT VOTE FOR OR AGAINST THE FULL CREW BILL

Owing to the many inquiries
we have received regarding Mr.
Jos. L. Frazier's record on the full crew bill, when he was in the Legislature, we publish the following received from Horace E. Flack, Executive, Department of Legislative Reference, City Hall, Baltimore, which will explain itself:

Dept. of Legislative Reference,
City Hall,
Horace E. Flack, Executive.
Baltimore, Md., Nov. 20 1920.

Dear Sir:
Your letter of the 15th inst.
has been referred to this Department and in reply to your inquiry, I beg to say that the full crew bill was passed in 1908
session of the Legislature, at which time Mr. Jos. L. Frazier was not a member of the Legislature.

If at any time I can be of further service to you, do not hesitate to call upon me.

Very truly yours,

TO DISCUSS CHANGES IN DELAWARE SCHOOLS

Three County Conferences Will Be Held Tuesday, November 30,
At 10 A. M.

Three county conferences on matters educational have been called by the Citizens' Committee, recently appointed by the hold-over senators of Delaware. These conferences will be held at the county seat of each county—Wilmington, Dover and Georgetown, on Tuesday, November 30, at 10 a. m.

The conferences will be composed of members of the Citizens' Committee who live within the county, members of the boards of education of the special school districts within the bounds of the county and the local trustees of the county school districts.

The purpose of the conferences is to discuss suggested changes in the present organization and administration of the Delaware school system.
Various suggestions have been made and the committee wishes to discuss them frankly with the citizens who are now the elected representatives of the people in charge of the schools in the various districts of the state.

The topics to be discussed at the conferences will be determined by the conferences themselves after they are called to order, but the Citizens' Committee has suggested that the discussion shall include various topics related to the present organization and administration of our school system, consolidation of schools and the transportation of children, school costs and school taxes.

The meetings will be held in the State House at Dover in the court room at Georgetown and in the High School auditorium at Wilmington.

Stubborn Fight With An Infuriated Bull

Sussex Butcher Barely Escapes With His Life From The Attacks
Of The Bull.

Joseph H. Waller, a lower Sussex county butcher, had a thrilling encounter with an enraged bull this week. He was dressing a heifer that he had purchased of Stewart Steen, near Waple's Mill, in a wood on the Steen farm. While Mr. Waller was at work the bull broke through the fence and rushed at him. Seizing a fence rail, he fought the enraged animal away from his horse, that was tied to a nearby tree, all the while calling for help. He succeeded in driving the bull away from his horse, but in turn was attacked. Dodging from tree to tree, he kept out of reach of the animal until Mr. Steen arrived with a pitchfork and drove the bull back into the stable. After the fight the colored boy who was with Mr. Waller was induced to climb down from the tree in which he had sought refuge.

GUNNING SEASON OPENS; GAME IS PLENTIFUL

The open season for rabbits and quail was inaugurated in lower Delaware and the hunters returning are reporting game more plentiful than usual. Some excellent scores were made by local sportsmen, but as far as can be learned the law was upheld, according to the number of game allowed to be killed, 12 quail and six rabbits per individual.

The Lay Off And That $600,000,000 Raise

this increase the figures of the pay roll as it then appeared.

Incidentally their request was granted and on the face it appeared that they would be getting only a fair return on their investment.

But the question rises now,
what becomes of the $2,400,- 000,000 they will save on their pay rolls if the retrenchment program is carried to a conclusion.

Will there be a corresponding reduction made in freight rates and in passenger rates, or will this money simply go into the pockets of the railroad companies along with the just return on their investment already provided for in the Esch-Cummings
bill?

We believe the latter proposition will be more likely, until the people become aroused and force reductions.

When the increase was granted of 20 per cent in passenger rates and 40 per cent in freight rates the American people felt that the railroads should have this increase. They hoped for better service and thought that owing to the increased expense of labor just granted the railroads would have to have increased revenues to keep moving.

The people did not take into account, however, the padded pay rolls that were to be wiped off the books the minute the increase was granted and the saving of nearly two and half billions of dollars on this item alone.

Will not this wholesale laying off of the railroad employees have a tendency to give us worse service, if such a thing is possible, than we have been enjoy-

Two Wilmingtonians played promi-

Firing at a single quail which rose

B. of L. E. Co-operative Opens For Business In Cleveland.

HAS $1,000,000.00
CAPITAL PAID

Expects Deposits and Banking Business of $5,000. Members and Local Divisions. Will Invest in Insurance and Savings of Members and Their Widows and Build Homes.

The first Co-operative National Bank in the United States comes into existence as the Brotherhood of Locative Engineers' Co-operative National Bank and threw open its doors for business on November 1 at Cleveland, Ohio.

With the establishing of this Labor bank last has a financial institution through which it can employ its own credit.

The announcement of the development of the bank was made by Warren S. Stones, Grand Chief of the B. of L. E., upon receipt of a letter from John Skelton Williams, Wilmington, D. C., United States Attorney, of the Currency that final authorization for the bank had been granted.

The capital of the bank is $1,000,000
with a paid-in surplus of $100,000.

The stock is owned exclusively by the B. of L. E. and its members and was oversubscribed more than $100,- 000, although annual dividends are limited to 10 per cent. The officers of the bank are: President, Warren
S. Stones; vice-president, and cashier, W. B. Prenter, general secretary, treasurer of the B. of L. E., W. E. Mc-Caleb, formerly active vice-president of the Dallas-Federal Reserve Bank.
The officers of the B. of L. E. are the directors.

The new co-operative bank is housed in a building across the street from the B. of L. E. building in a property which was bought by the B.
of L. E. last June and upon which site that Brotherhood intends later to erect a twenty-story building.

In announcing the opening of the co-operative bank Grand Chief Stone said the purpose of the bank would be to serve the cause of the workers by developing for their use a financial institution where they may obtain loans, invest their savings and enjoy the advantages of co-operation in their financial dealings. In this connection Grand Chief Stone said:

"So far as I know, this is the first co-operative commercial bank in the United States, although there are many such banks in Europe. It is the first Labor bank. We chose a national bank because of its greater security,
as the first consideration with Labor is that its enterprises must be absolutely sound.

"We made the bank co-operative by distributing the stock to as many members as possible, so that it would approximate the co-operative ideal of one man, one vote.

"We also limited stock dividends to 10 per cent. We expect to pay 4 per cent on time deposits, to provide for an additional surplus, and if there are excess earnings, we expect to share them with our depositors who co-operate with us in making the bank successful.

"The bank will not confine itself to the Brotherhood. It will do a commercial savings and trust company business. It will do banking by mail.
We have 85,000 members, not to speak of the several million workers who belong to other Labor organizations. The bank, of course, is open to everybody and is not an exclusive Labor bank. We expect to handle the foreign exchange for immigrants.

"The organization of a bank was twice authorized by convention, but its opening was delayed on account of the war. That our members were ready for this venture is proved by the fact that the stock was oversub-
scribed.

"This confidence is explained by the fact that the Brotherhood has succeeded in anything it has undertaken.
The fact is, Labor needs a bank.
Its own more than any other class less it is the farmers.

"The wages of Labor in the United States amount to $50,000,000,000 a year. The average workman has a place to go to do his banking in his own city at least, his own country.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

THE SLEEPY HOUR

This is No. 6 of the fourth series of articles issued by the National Kindergarten Association, New York City. They are appearing weekly in these columns.

By Luelia A. Palmer.

I often wonder if mother realizes what that last kiss and tender pat mean to a child as she tucks him in bed. Perhaps the caress would be given oftener and with added gentleness if she knew what an influence it had upon the unfolding of a little new life.

Over and over the brain repeats during the night the vents of the day, twisting them into fantastic shapes. These ideas float through the mind of the child for eight to ten hours out of the twenty-four—during one-third to one-half of his life. Whether the fancies will be happy or sad is often determined by the last half hour before sleep begins. And the repetition of the ideas influences a child's temperament making it more cheerful or pessimistic.

That last half hour is often a tax upon the patience of the mother and older people. The child is tired, the activity of the day has exhausted him and he relaxes control over himself; he becomes nervous and excitable or sluggish and obstinate. The adult is also not so well poised as during the day and the sleepy time is often a period of conflicts.

What is the result of discipline just before sleep? When a child has been very naughty and received some physical correction and had a good cry, he falls into a deep sleep. There is a certain soothingness about the finality to his treatment; he has been upset, in an irresponsible, capricious frame of mind during his naughtiness, then in a state of suspense as to the outcome, and the punishment has settled his uncertainty, there is a promise that life will run smoothly in the morning. The hard cry exhausts the child physically and he is in a state for rebuilding sleep.

There is another kind of crying to sleep which does not bring rest and health. When a child has been just a little petulant or reluctant to obey, not naughty enough to be dealt with severely, the adult sometimes speaks harshly or finds fault with the child and insists on exact compliance with commands. The little one goes to bed in a bad humor and cries fretfully. An older child will toss restlessly. The sleep is light and unrefreshing, there is a feeling of something wrong with the world that he cannot help or explain. Even if the displeasure incurred does not cause the child to cry himself to sleep, if that last event in the day has been disagreeable and no reconciliation has followed, the unhappy mood colors the night's dreams.

What shall we do, shall discipline weaken at the end of the day or shall we hold strictly to our rules? Shall we allow the child to be disobedient, or insist on compliance at the expense of everyone's happiness? What is truly best for the child's good.

The best attempt at solution is prevention of the difficult situation. The sleepy mood of the child should always be considered before any requests or suggestions are made.

Evening is not the time for correction if it can possibly be postponed. Of course real naughtiness must always be dealt with positively on the spot by an appropriate consequence. But a child should never go to sleep without the forgiveness and sympathy of the person who has been compelled to inflict the punishment. Comfort and love should go with him into the land of dreams. Often we can afford to let the correction of little perversenesses and mischief wait over for the morning.

One little tired "cranky" child refused to put his tops away. The wise mother said, "Mother will do it tonight and we will talk it all over in the morning." After breakfast the heart to heart talk came, he was in control of himself then and could reason clearly. The conclusion reached was shown in her final sentence: "Tonight you will put your toys away because you must take care of your own property. Mother has the whole house and you and daddy to look after. With his mind firmly made up and strongly set during the day, there was no further trouble about the responsibility for clearing away the toys.

Few children express in words what they feel about the good night caress, but one mother was rewarded one morning by a voice beside her bed saying, "Mother, I just always have to hug you first in the morning, 'cause you always hug me last at night."

The influence of that hour may last through adolescence and youth. One grown up son away at college wrote to his mother, "Do you remember how after I had been naughty I was always sorry, but I could not say a word until I had plumped down into your lap before going to bed and buried my head into your neck? I would be a pretty big lapful now but I wish I could try it. It was not even the same after I got big and sat on your bed telling you about parties and things."

It is at the sleepy hour that int-

mate little confidences are given and quaint ideas expressed that lie too deep to be said in the midst of the happenings of the day. The mother who pauses to lend a sympathetic ear to little folks—and growing up folks—will gain and keep an intimacy and understanding companionship that will prove a safeguard and happy memory.

Princess Anne Man Lost In Woodland

Ray Gladden Is Found Only After Searching Party Begins To Hunt For Him.

Ray Gladden, of Princess Anne, was lost in the tract of timber of which he is one of the lessees a few nights ago. Mr. Gladden took his gun and went into the woods on a hunt for squirrels. Daniel Armstrong, Mr. Gladden's partner, heard the report of Mr. Gladden's gun once or twice, but when darkness fell and Mr. Gladden did not return from the hunt Mr. Armstrong went into the woods a short distance, calling and firing a gun.

Receiving no response and fearing Mr. Gladden might have been the victim of an accident, Mr. Armstrong gave the alarm. A group of men was rapidly assembled and a search was begun for the missing hunter.

In the meantime, after wandering about for several hours, Mr. Gladden reached a point from which he saw automobile lights in the distance. Making his way toward that spot he soon struck a road where a member of the searching party had been left as a "point."

4. A stabilizer of business.
5. A savings fund that can be drawn on in case of emergency.

Picture a community where every family owned its own home and every child got an education—where every old person was financially independent and every business was on a sound and stable basis—and finally where everyone had a nest egg laid aside for emergencies, and you will have an idea of the kind of a community we are trying to make of Wicomico County.

Wicomico county has several members of this society and will be well represented at the meeting.

INTERESTING LIGHT ON THE CONVENTION

Comments From Delegates, Visitors and Local People of Prominence Most Favorable.

The Women's Conference was well attended and every woman present was greatly pleased with the talks. Mrs. Wright told some friends after the meeting that she had attended a great many conventions but that this one was the best of all.

Probably the finest talk made at any meeting was that of Miss Laura Amos, of Bel Air, on "What the Girl's Club Work Means To Me." She was interrupted several times during the course of her speech by enthusiastic applause.

One County Agent was heard to remark upon his arrival in the downtown section of the city, "This looks like New York to me."

Dr. Johnson in his lecture on "Sweet Potatoes" and Dr. Sherman in his talk on "Marketing Cantaloupes," gave many pointers that if followed will greatly aid local growers. For example, Dr. Johnson explained the methods he uses to get an average yield of 115 barrels of sweet potatoes to the acre.

In speaking of the Bee-Keepers meeting, Mr. E. A. Hearn said that the talks given were instructive he had ever heard.

Mayor Kennerly's address of welcome was well delivered and well received—though it is said that he offered not only the keys to the city but those to his cellar as well.

The discussion on commercial fertilizers versus barnyard manure in growing truck crops was most interesting and included the use of legumes of green manure as well. This was one discussion that should have been attended by every truck grower in Wicomico county—but only 15 of them were present.

Speaking to County Agent Cobb, Professor Bedell of the University of Maryland said that the exhibit at the Community Fair as the finest he had ever seen in the state. Let it be remarked right here that Wicomico can raise as fine products as can any other county in the United States.

Secretary Freeman, of the Chamber of Commerce, was a live wire before and during the convention, and many well deserved and complimentary remarks were thrown his way.

County Agent Cobb is another individual to whom much credit must be given for the success of both the convention and the Fair.

The visitors were certainly pleased with the housing arrangements. It was a race as to which party roomed with the "finest people" because every delegate maintained that his own hosts were "just the finest ever."

It all goes to prove that Salisbury and Wicomico county can do big things in a big way. May this be only the first of such undertakings as the Agricultural Convention.

William Dunbar Gould, rector of Christ Protestant Church. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to the guests, who included members of the immediate families and a few intimate friends. Mr. and Mrs. Hubbard left by automobile shortly after one o'clock for Salisbury, where they boarded the northbound train for Atlantic City.

Messrs. A. Shepherd Bayly, William H. Thomas and P. Watson Webb, representing Dorchester Lodge, No. 19, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, last week closed a deal by which the lodge becomes the owner of the splendid store property at the corner of Poplar and Gay streets, now occupied by Messrs. Walter H. and Fred Meekins, trading as W. H. Meekins & Bro. This is one of the best constructed buildings in Cambridge. The lodge intends making a number of changes in the building, probably raising the roof and building an addition to the third floor which will be used exclusively for lodge purposes.

Mr. William L. Richard, a well known resident of the Neck district, died at his home at James on Thursday, at 7:30 p. m. He was only ill a few days. He was 85 years old. Mr. Hugh M. Marshall, also another prominent citizen of the Neck district, died Thursday at 7:30 o'clock, after having been ill for sometime. Mr. Marshall was 69 years old.

THE MAN-ABOUT-TOWN.

Scraps He Picks Up Here, There And Everywhere.

The first real cold snap of the winter, which struck this section early in the week, sent shivers through many homes in Salisbury which were without coal in the bins. There are few homes in this city which have a winter's supply of coal and there are hundreds which have not more than one or two tons, and the greatest number are without a scuttle of the black diamonds. The coal dealers are doing everything possible to secure fuel, and a few cars have been received during the past three or four weeks, but there was not enough to give each customer who had booked his order several months ago, more than a ton or two. The dealers are hoping for better conditions shortly, but candidly admit that the prospects are not very bright for the arrival of anything like a normal supply of coal in Salisbury very soon.

To add to the serious coal situation there is said to be a very great shortage of wood. Prices for this kind of fuel have soared skyward, ranging from $8 to $10 per cord for pine slab wood and $10 to $14 for oak wood. It is to be hoped that under present fuel conditions this section will have a mild winter.

ing will find no difficulty in persuading the faithful to accept them.

Even before the landing of Columbus in America, Richards Oak was standing sentinel on the bleak hills of Cecil's Sixth district. This was the announcement made to the pilgrims of the Hythehan Club of Port Deposit by Tree Surgeon Klopfer as they gathered around the five centuries old tree. Women from all upper Cecil have united with their Port Deposit sisters in the restoration of the ancient landmark. Sunday's exercises were held at the foot of the tree to stimulate interest. Mrs. William Gillespie was the poetess and the Rev. W. G. Koons, orator.

The age of the tree which stands beside the Rising Sun trail has been variously estimated as over 300 years, but the examination of Mr. Klopfer demonstrates belief of tradition that it had passed the 500 year mark. The dimensions of the giant are 75 feet high, 105 feet spread and 25 feet diameter.

MAN ABOUT TOWN.

TUBERCULOSIS DEATHS IN STATE NUMEROUS

White Plague Takes Toll of 2,361 in Maryland—War Against Disease Starts December First.

Organization has already been begun in the towns and counties of Maryland for the sale of tuberculosis Christmas seals. Already, prominent women in every community are making preparation. The stores have announced their willingness to help by placing them on sale; the women's clubs all over the state are eagerly lending their aid to the good cause, and even some of the school children have announced their intention of contributing their mite by investing their pennies in the brightly colored seals, and urging their companions to do their share.

Heretofore the little stamps have been known to many people as Red Cross stamps, and they have bought and used them with the idea that in doing so they were helping that great international organization. This year when they see the stamps they will find that instead of bearing the Red Cross they are adorned with a double-barred cross, the insignia of a work that touches every home and is of first importance to every individual in the state.

The money secured from the sale of Christmas seals forms the only source of income of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association. The funds so obtained pay the salaries of the tuberculosis nurses and of the industrial workers who co-operate with the factory and mill to see that they are healthful for the workers; they help to support the sanatoria to which very sick tuberculosis patients are taken; help in many ways indeed, to reduce the appalling mortality from this most prevalent of diseases.

During other Christmas seasons the people in the counties of Maryland, appreciating the work of the state's tuberculosis association and seeing the necessity for the raising of more money for its use, have bought generously of seals. If the preliminary preparations for the work this year are any indication, the sale of Christmas seals will be greater than ever before.

The association is sending workers to the counties to assist in organizing for the sale, and in any neighborhood where assistance is needed these persons may be depended upon to render first aid or last aid as the case may be. Their services may be had by applying to the headquarters of the Maryland Association at 704 North Howard street, Baltimore.

It goes without saying that a sum sufficient for the needs of the state in this work may be secured if everyone in it invests even a few dimes in seals. After the first of December one of these should decorate every letter, every bill, every package which goes through the mails, because last year in Maryland 2,361 persons died of tuberculosis.

The chief victims of tuberculosis are producers, men and women between the ages of 15 and 45.

Each penny which is spent for a Christmas seal is used to finance the fight against this awful disease, and helps to stamp it out.

The sale of seals is held at Christmas because each one bought by an individual is a Christmas gift to the community in which he lives.

The active work of selling seals will commence on the first of December, but from this date on orders may be placed for them, by forehanding persons who wish to get their Christmas packages ready for mailing, or by merchants who wish to brighten a corner of their bills by stamping them with a seal.

BEAVER BOARD FOR BETTER WALLS & CEILINGS

At First or At Last?

Sooner or later you will Beaver Board that room.

The one question is whether you will do it at first or at last. While a surprisingly large amount of Beaver Board is used for the purpose of covering over worn-out lath and plaster walls, you never heard of anyone putting lath and plaster over Beaver Board. When a Beaver Board wall or ceiling is up, it's up to stay.

Why not have your Beaver Board room at first instead of at last and avoid the extra job and extra cost?

Beaver Board is a lumber product built up from the fibre of clean white spruce. It comes in sturdy, durable, hand-sanded panels without a crack, knot or blemish. It will last as long as the building in which it is used. It resists heat, cold and sound better than lath and plaster. It is completely sanitary and easy to apply. Warping is prevented by a special patented process which no other wallboard is licensed to employ.

Let's talk it over.

Speaking of elections recalls to me the uncertainties of politics. When the next Congress meets there will be a scarcity of Smiths among the Senate and House members—just one lone member of that great family of mortals in each branch. There were five Smiths in the Senate during the Sixty-fifth Congress, before William Alden Smith, of Michigan, retired to private life. In the coming Senate Ellison D. of South Carolina, will be the only Smith in that august body. Hoke, of Georgia, was knocked out at the September primary by "Tom" Watson. John Walter, of Maryland, and Marcus Aurelius, of Arizona, were both defeated for re-election.

In the present House of Representatives there are four Smiths. Addison T. of Idaho, is the only one who comes back. The three who are to quit on March 4 are Frank L. of Illinois, J. M. C. of Michigan and Thomas F. of New York city.

The Republicans of Maryland are looking with longing eyes upon the fancy Federal plums soon to be given out by President Harding, and it is said that there will be plenty of applicants for the jobs. There are the Collector of Customs and the Collector of Internal Revenue, the incumbents being respectively William P. Ryan and Joshua W. Miles.

The office of Collector of Customs pays $7,000 a year, but Mr. Ryan's term does not expire till September, 1922. The office of Collector of Internal Revenue pays $6,000. The office of appraiser ($3,000) is another post in the customs service under Federal appointment. The place of Naval Officer ($5,000 a year) will afford an attractive and rather lucrative reward of merit. The place of Surveyor of the Port ($4,500) is not to be despised. The Commissioner of Immigration ($4,000) is a Federal appointee, as is the United States Marshal ($3,500). These are all fine political berths and President Harding

THE MUSKRAT SEASON IS DRAWING NEAR

A THOROUGH TEST.

One To Convince The Most Skeptical Salisbury Reader.

The test of time is the test that counts. Doan's Kidney Pills have made their reputation by effective action. The following case is typical. Salisbury residents should be convinced.

The testimony is confirmed—the proof complete. Testimony like this cannot be ignored.

Mrs. Wm. E. Wells, 410 Martin St., Salisbury, says: "I was very weak and everything I did was a burden. I suffered from rheumatic pains between my shoulders, my head ached nearly all the time and I was often dizzy. Finally I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and they brought me wonderful relief."

OVER SEVEN YEARS LATER Mrs. Wells said: "I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills as highly as ever. Whenever I have the least trouble with my back, I take Doan's and get relief. I buy this medicine at White & Leonard's Drug Store and find no praise too strong for it."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Wells had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

A Good Season Is Anticipated Although Prices Are Not Expected To Equal Those of Last Year.

The near approach of the muskrat season is causing much speculation among the Wicomico trappers as to the season's prospects. Last year, it is recalled, was an extraordinary good year for the trapping of muskrats, as prices were very high for the skins as well as the meat.

The consensus of opinion among the fur-buyers, as well as among the trappers is, that the coming season will not be as good as last season. In the first place a strike of the garment workers in New York city has upset the fur market market to such an extent that the auction sale held every fall in St. Louis was postponed until January and the sale shifted to New York city, where it is thought the manufacturers will be able to attend without much inconvenience.

But what caused this change of location is not definitely ascertained. Some say it was due to the low prices anticipated by the dealers, while others give the reason above stated. However, there seems to be a general opinion that there are at present immense quantities of skins throughout the country that can hardly be marketed at any price. This, of course, does not apply to muskrats only, but to all kinds of fur-bearing animals.

The muskrat is considered by all the best on the list, due to the great demand for Hudson seal, which is made from the muskrat hide. It costs about 50 cents to cure a muskrat hide from its raw state to that of Hudson seal. In Wicomico county and adjacent territory it is estimated that more than $200,000 is collected from the sale of muskrat hides alone in the course of a season. One prominent fur buyer who travels over the entire Eastern Shore, when asked what he thought the near future offered stated that the price would drop at least 25 per cent from that of last year. He also said that dealers are urging the trappers to postpone operations until the latter part of January, as the younger animals do not command the price for their fur. It is believed that Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey trap more muskrats than the rest of the country put together, and if the trappers will hold off until a little later than usual the recovery from the garment workers' strike will be accomplished and the fur in much better condition to demand fancy prices.

WORCESTER COUNTY NEWS IN BRIEF

Mr. William E. Bratten, cashier of the First National Bank of Snow Hill was elected president of the Tri-County Bankers Association at its meeting in Crisfield Friday.

It is proposed to organize a chapter of the Maryland Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in Worcester county. This society, of which the Hon. James H. Preston is president, is a flourishing organization, but the membership is confined largely to Baltimore. It is desired to have it extended throughout the state.

Mr. Edmund H. Johnson, son of Hon. William F. Johnson and wife, of Snow Hill, has been elected president of his class in the law school of the University of Maryland. Mr. Oliver D. Collins, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver D. Collins, is also president of his class in the law department of Johns Hopkins University, and Mr. Alfred Dashiell, son of Mrs. E. S. Dashiell, is making a splendid record at Princeton University.

The Deposit and Savings Bank of Snow Hill, which has been undergoing a complete renovation, held its formal opening Saturday. The interior of the bank has recently been fitted up in a handsome manner. The counter is constructed of Alaska Toleen marble with a base and top ledge of Verd marble. There are two writing desks composed of the same material for the use of patrons. A double vault has been installed, two stories in height. A ladies' entrance leads into the ladies' rest room which is furnished in natural oak. In this room are writing desks, books and magazines. Adjoining the ladies' room is the directors' room, furnished in natural oak. There are hardwood floors throughout except in the main lobby where tile is used.

Community shows were held at Snow Hill and Berlin last week, which were largely attended. The quality of the displays was a marked improvement over previous years.

Mr. A. E. Holland has on display in one of his show windows at his store on Clarke avenue one of the largest pumpkins ever seen in Pocomoke. When it was placed on the scales it tipped the beam at the 115-pound mark.

Lariat Jim

By RALPH HAMILTON

(A. 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

Perfection in the use of the lasso was the specialty of Jim Willis of Poker Flat, and there was not a man on the ranges who could bring an animal to its knees quicker and surer. It was at the half yearly round ups and try outs, wild, uproarious carnivals, where Jim excelled. They afforded ambitious cowboys opportunities to show off all the manifold tricks of the flexible rawhide, and one day, after Jim had won all the laurels, a stranger witness of his fascinating maneuvers stepped up to him and tendered a card.

"W. H. Arlington," it read and bore the additional words: "Middle West Circuits."

"What does it mean?" interrogated Jim bluntly.

"Five thousand dollars net to you for half an hour's show twice a day for six months."

"Oh, you want me to act?" interrogated Jim.

"Your natural self, with a natural lasso. A twenty weeks' season."

"I'll take it," announced Jim after a moment's thought. "Two people to see, though, before I leave here. Then I am ready to go with you."

Jim Willis had known two women in his career who had won his deepest regard and respect. One was Mrs. Cora Barker, a widow of thirty with three little children. Her husband had died leaving her penniless. A loathing ranchero named Jose Maderi had annoyed her with persistent proposals of marriage. Jim had trounced the insolent intruder, winning his curses, and had staked the thankful lady with capital to start a little store at the Flat where candy, tobacco and light lunches could be purchased. When he went to say good-bye to her, he had to tear himself away from a shower of blessings from the grateful creature and the wailing grief of the three little ones, whom he had petted and spoiled until they adored him.

His last call was at Dan Camplion's cabin upon his daughter, Editha. It was Jim who had found her when lost and nearly frozen a child of barely ten. Now at eighteen he revealed in her beauty and real friendly liking for him. In his mind was the resolve, if he "made his pile" on the stage to come back and ask her to marry him.

Jim electrified vast audiences by his dextrous feats with the lasso and won plaudits and dollars. He started back to the Flat and was crossing the hills when he was struck down from behind by Jose Maderi, who was bound to get even with his enemy. The senseless victim came back to consciousness to find that he had been robbed of the generous earnings of a half year, and lay bound and helpless with the venomous ranchero jeering at him and swinging a heavy whip.

"I'm going to beat you to a pulp!" hissed Maderi, "and then celebrate on your hard earned dollars."

"Not this exact time, you won't!" announced a young man coming from behind the rocks and leveling a weapon. "Hands up, or I'll fire! Then when you have restored your plunder to its rightful owner, right face and valmose, or I'll make a sieve of you."

Jim was profuse in his thanks to the stranger who had saved his fortune and mayhap his life. The latter refused to be considered a hero and went his way, but Jim expressed the hope volubly that the time might come when he could repay him for his great deed in his behalf.

It came sooner than he anticipated.

At the end of a week Jim appeared at the Camplion cabin. He was bent now on making a business of winning Editha, but Jim found her in tears. She appealed to him as the dearest friend she had. She confessed that during his absence she had met, loved and had become secretly engaged to a newcomer at the Flat, Paul Norton. The day before she had learned that he had fallen into the hands of a gang of greasers back in the hills and was held captive for ransom.

Jim's heart went down to his boots. The fair fabric of love and marriage he had built so fondly went crashing into ruins. "Who is the fellow?" he demanded gruffly, and Editha showed him a photograph.

It was that of the young man who had saved Jim's life and money. Sadly, but firmly, Jim turned away but with the words: "I'll have him here within twenty-four hours."

They made it a legend of the Flat how Jim shadowed the greaser band for a day and a night, how when they were filing through a narrow pass he, on the cliffs thirty feet above them, with his dextrous lasso described a whirl and a loop, singling out their captive, encircling his arms and then pulling him up out of sight of the baffled group.

Grimly mute, Jim listened to the overwhelming thanks of the reunited lovers. Then he took his way to the little store presided over by Cora Barker.

For two hours he sat with the loving little children tumbling over him joyously, and the buxom, happy mother playing him with all the luxuries in the place. A home feeling warmed the chilled heart of Lariat Jim. Here was devotion and love without stint, where he was needed, welcomed and beloved. With a last sigh he shut Editha out of his life. With heavy sincerity he took into it the four long legs who revered him as champion and hero.

HIGH SCHOOL TEAM DEFEATS BERLIN BOYS

Opening of Soccer Season Rings Up Victory Number One For Local Athletes—Game Well Played.

Wicomico High inaugurated the soccer season on Friday by administering a defeat to the strong Berlin High team, probable champions of Worcester county, by the score 3-0.

The day was ideal for the game and both teams were full of "pep" and for the first ten minutes neither side could give the other any work to do. In this period the Berlin boys kept the ball in the proximity of the home teams' goal a greater part of the time, two fine plays by "Ab" Ward, Wicomico's diminutive goal guardian, preventing scores. Then the scene of conflict suddenly shifted to the other end of the battle area and Capt. Cooper by an accurate boot sent the ball spinning directly through the visitors' goal. No further scoring took place in this half.

At the start of the period several substitutions were made in the home team lineup and the visitors went at the new blood with fire in their eyes coming within an ace of scoring the first few seconds of play, a ball placed squarely between the goal posts hitting the top bar and bouncing back into the field of play, a piece of hard luck. Then the Wicomico wrecking crew got busy and only a phenomenal stop by Brittingham, Berlin's goal-keeper, prevented another tally. After that even Brittingham could not stop the Wicomico scoring machine. Chatham kicked a nice goal on a pass from Capt. Cooper and the latter booted his second one a few plays later.

Mears and Byrd, halfbacks, played a steady game for the home team and the work of Sirman, who substituted for Toadvine, was of high order.

The work of the visiting team was good, the playing of Collins being the outstanding feature.

The lineup:
Wicomico High—Ward, Goal;
Toadvine, Sirman, R. F.; Dallas, L. F.; Mears, Duncan, R. H.; Byrd, C. H.; Duncan, Davis, L. H.; Cooper, (Capt.), C. F.; Chatham, O. R.; Waller, Purnell, I. R.; Bailey, I. L.; Brown Hearn, O. L.

Berlin High—Brittingham, Goal;
R. Taylor, R. F.; Wimbrow, L. F.; Collins, R. H.; Purnell, C. H.; Harrison, L. H.; Burbage (Capt.), C. F.; Mumford, O. R.; Warren, I. R.; T. Taylor, I. L.; Trader, O. L.

Goals—Cooper (2), Chatham.
Referee—Morgan. Linesmen—Clark and Jones. Time of Halves—20 minutes.

"VIRGINIA" GOES ASHORE OFF HOOPERS ISLAND

About twenty passengers, among them several Salisbury board, were marooned for nearly 24 hours just off Hoopers Island point Tuesday night when the steamer "Virginia" went aground during the violent storm of that night.

The "Virginia," in command of Capt. Channock, left Baltimore late Tuesday afternoon and was coming into the river and, in trying to locate the Hoopers Island light, the boat got off her course and was blown ashore. The accident, it is said, was in no wise the fault of the captain as the light which he was trying to locate was extinguished Tuesday night. The passengers were all safely transferred to the steamer "Avalon," another B. C. & A. boat, and carried back to Baltimore none the worse for their exciting experience.

FEDERAL EMPLOYEES TO BE LOOPED OFF BY THOUSANDS

So many charges of inefficiency in the Federal government have been heard that the public hardly knows just what to believe. The coming session of Congress, however, according to reports, believes that it has reason for a general house-cleaning and it is said that approximately 40,000 employees will be discharged. This wholesale looping-off of more or less dead wood will mean an annual saving to the government of from $100,000,000 to $200,000,000, so Republican members of the House assert. The Internal Revenue Bureau, upon which the collection of so much of the nation's revenue depends, will be the only department in which no cut will be made.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

At the regular meeting of the Senior class on Tuesday, Maude Reddish was elected class notary. This practically completes the staff of officers.

Every Wednesday at noon moving pictures are shown to the students in the manual-training room. These pictures, which are instructive as well as educational and interesting, are presented by Mr. Joe Ulman, manager of Ulman's Opera House. The faculty and student body appreciate and thoroughly enjoy them and want to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Ulman for his kindness. We venture to say if more people of Salisbury took as much interest in the school as he does it would raise the standard of efficiency to a higher level.

The Junior class celebrated Thanksgiving by having a party Friday night. Games and dancing were indulged in. Refreshments were served and the students declared the evening a grand success. Supt. Bennett and Prof. Clark were among those present. There will be only three days of school this week. Thursday and Friday are Thanksgiving holidays.

Maryland Growers At Pomological Society

Five Prominent Fruit Growers From State Will Attend Big Conven-
At Columbus, Ohio.

Maryland will be represented at the annual meeting of the American Pomological Society in Columbus, Ohio, December 1 to 3, by at least five prominent fruit growers who are members of the Maryland State Horticultural Society.

The Maryland delegates will include C. E. Bryan, of Havre de Grace, president of the State Horticultural Society; J. A. Cohill, of Hancock, vice president; S. B. Shaw, of College Park, secretary; E. P. Cohill, of Hancock, and A. P. Snader, of New Windsor. Mr. Shaw was recently elected assistant secretary of the American Pomological Society.

More than a thousand delegates are expected to attend the meeting. The question of chief interest to Maryland apple growers will be the organization of an international fruit growers' association. Large exhibits of fruits and nuts at the Ohio State Fair grounds will be a feature during the meeting, and Maryland growers have been asked to send plate displays to advertise the fine quality of fruit grown in this state.

RECRUITING STATION CLOSED IN SALISBURY

The Navy recruiting station in the Salisbury Building and Loan Building, which has been in operation for several months, was closed the first of the week and the petty officer in charge, Chief Boatswain's Mate W. B. Hall, was ordered to the main office at Baltimore.

The reason given for closing the Salisbury branch was that this did not seem to be a very good territory for recruits in this branch of Uncle Sam's service and the small number of recruits secured did not justify the expense of an office here, as the work could be well handled from the Baltimore station.

FEDERAL RECOGNITION OF NATION'S HOUSING PROBLEM

Recognizing the urgency of solving the housing situation, Senator Kenyon (Iowa), a member of the Senate Committee which has been making a national investigation of the housing problem, recommends drastic legislation to meet housing conditions. Among other measures, he urges the adoption of a Federal Home Loan Bank similar in its operation to the farm loan banks. Whether or not this will solve the problem is difficult to say, but the Federal government will surely make a step in the right direction when it applies its powers to finding homes for the homeless of this country.

SALE OF RACE HORSES AT POCOMOKE STABLES

These seven horses and others of his stables will be offered for private sale at Pocomoke Fair grounds on Saturday, November 27. One of the pamphlets may be secured on application to the office of D. C. Armstrong, Pocomoke.

NO ACTION ON TAX REVISION PROBABLE BY CONGRESS

There seems to be little likelihood of the present Congress taking action on tax revision. Senator Penrose has urged the Republicans in Congress to defer action until Harding can call a special session soon after March 4, stating that he believes President Wilson would veto any reforms initiated by the Republicans.

For A Day That's Com

There's a day coming in a few weeks that you will want to celebrate with gifts to your friends and the members of your family.

Last year, if you remember, you resolved that when the next Christmas came around you would make your purchases early enough to be able to do it without being hurried and at a time when you would have a full stock from which to select.

This year it is especially important that you buy early if you are to get just what you want.

There is going to be a great rush for Christmas gifts the weeks immediately preceding that day.

Stocks are not as large as they might be.

We have a large supply of wonderfully attractive goods right now, but they will not be here December 24.

It costs no more to buy now than to buy at the last minute. We lay the goods aside for you. You can get them when you like.

There is no advantage in waiting. All the advantage is in buying as soon as you can find what you want.

Buy now and get your initial or monogram marking done in time and be satisfied with the results.
