SALISBURY LAD

Receives High Praise for Works of Art in Painting and Drawing.
(From Boston Fair Program.)

There is something very striking and fascinating in the exhibit of Mr. Benjamin Frieda, and to one who, like the editor of the Food Fair Flyer, has hibernated among the red men of the plains and forest, the strong image of Chief Red Cloud of the Dakotas and the heads of other warriors painted or burned, life size, on leather, is one of those things that rivets people to the spot.

Mr. Carlyle Watson, who is the artist for Mr. Frieda, is a young man, but the cleverest experts and older artists have to work hard to equal his simplest productions. He has a life-size Indian painting which has taken first prize at every fair where it has been exhibited. Mr. Watson's work, which is done on cow hide and sheep skins, or upon pocket books, is certainly clever. The Indian heads are true works of art and there is that expression of countenance, that peculiar stamp of character which few artists can successfully reproduce. Mr. Watson has also gone into other places of human life and his highwayman, traced on sheep skin, is an excellent reproduction of the famed bad man of the plains.

(Young Watson is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lambert Watson, of North Division Street, Salisbury, Md., who have resided in this city for several years.)

To Collect The Mortgage Tax.

The County Treasurer is having considerable difficulty in collecting promptly the mortgage tax. Bills for all mortgage taxes due Sept. 1, 1908, are now being mailed, and with them the following circular letter:

Salisbury, Md., October 1908.
Dear Sir:—The County Commissioners have given me instructions to proceed at once to collect any mortgage taxes still due, and I must now insist upon having the accounts closed at once.

If the mortgages charged against you have been paid, either in full or in part, you have failed to have the credits made in the Clerk's office.

Kindly give this matter your immediate attention.

After reasonable time in which to close these accounts is given, if proper responses are not received, the Treasurer will advertise these mortgages or any other property the holders have for sale to satisfy the claim.

Thos. Perry, Treasurer.

HOBBS ARRESTED

In Caroline County Charged With Violating Corrupt Practices Act.

Denton, Md., Nov. 2.—State's Attorney Elmer W. Deen, stated this evening that he had sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Charles W. Hobbs, former Clerk of the Circuit Court for Caroline County, now chairman of the Republican Central Committee for the county, and one of the county's most prominent citizens, charging him with violating provisions of the Corrupt Practices Act.

Mr. Deen was informed today, he said, that Mr. Hobbs was in Philadelphia a few days ago and there met at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, Mr. Marion Humphreys, a nephew of Congressman William H. Jackson, and was told by him to look in a certain drawer there and he would find money; that Mr. Hobbs did find the money and that he brought it to Caroline County, and that some of it had been distributed here for bribery of voters.

This action of the State's Attorney is the result of an investigation of bribery rumors held at the Law Building in Denton today, at which there were present Chairman Thomas A. Smith, of the Democratic Committee; Henry B. Lewis, T. Alan Goldsborough, M. Bates Stephens, J. Kemp Stevens, Chairman Hobbs and Mr. Albert I. Towars.

The State's Attorney said that he had been informed that at this investigation Mr. Hobbs had refused to make a statement. It is alleged by the Democrats that he admitted in detail the whole transaction later, and that others whose names are withheld are involved. Mr. Deen says other arrests may follow. Phoebe messengers have been sent to all sections of the Eastern Shore, telling of Mr. Hobbs' alleged admissions, warning officers to be on their guard.—Baltimore Sun.

I am seventy-three years old. I never felt so entirely well or young as I do now, but I am thankful for what Peru-na has done for me."

CONGRESSMAN J. HARRY COVINGTON.

COVINGTON ELECTED TO CONGRESS BY LARGE MAJORITY.

Which Will Reach Nearly 3000. First Congressional District Overwhelmingly Democratic. Every County But Somerset Gives Democratic Plurality.

The Democrats in the First Congressional District have every reason to be proud of the results of the election. A feeling was in the air at the convention which nominated Mr. Covington as the standard bearer against Congressman Jackson that this was a Democratic year in the District. This feeling never got any weaker but grew each day as election day drew nearer, and found a vent on Tuesday in an overwhelming victory for Mr. Covington.

Wicomico County did her part and did it well, rolling up a substantial plurality both for Covington and the National ticket, despite the claims of the Republicans that they would carry the County. The fight in the County seemed to have been made by both parties without the use of any money, the ballot, acknowledged to be, as it has always been in this County, a fair one to both parties. With these conditions—no bribery or trickery—existing Wicomico County vote is regarded as proof that Wicomico County is normally a Democratic stronghold, and united as it was this fall certain to give a majority that way. The vote in the First District and County are given below:

TAFT ELECTED-PRESIDENT LATEST STATE RETURNS.

Misrepresentation Of Eastern Press Largely Responsible. Gains Electoral Vote Of About 300.

Tuesday's election resulted in a pronounced victory for Taft for President. The Democratic claim of the labor vote was proven to be groundless as the result shows this vote to be divided as usual. The hammering of the large daily papers in the East upon the danger of electing Bryan was effective and resulted in giving the Eastern States to Taft with an overwhelming majority. The enthusiasm for Bryan and the principles of the Democratic party was gradually changed by the scare lines of the daily papers assisted by the employers of labor whose interests were best protected by the Republican tariff plank, and a state of unrest and uneasiness over results if Mr. Bryan should be elected caused many to vote the Republican ticket. Judging from results there can be but little doubt but what the business men and laborers were scared into supporting Taft by the fear of a business depression in case of the election of Mr. Bryan. In several of the states carried by the Republicans on the Presidential ticket, Democratic governors were elected. The electoral college vote will probably stand as follows:

Some Notable Events.

Throughout the West an astonishing thing was noted. All the prosperity States, those in which the hard times have not been felt, increased Bryan's vote. In Nebraska, for instance, where the farmers are getting more money for what they have to sell than they ever did before, they carried the State for Bryan.

In Iowa, where the same thing is true the Democrats cut the Republican majority two-thirds. But in States like New York, where the pinch of hard times has been felt, Taft got record breaking majorities. It is the first time such a thing happened when there has been a change of Democratic Government.

Another curious thing was the election of Democratic Governors in States which Bryan lost.

Marshall, Mo., has won so many votes that he has no chance of being elected.

Bryan Gets Majority. Final Results Must Await Re-count.

Until the last vote is counted it will be impossible to say exactly how many of the Bryan electors have been elected in Maryland, basing the calculations upon the unofficial figures in those counties and city wards where the official count has not been completed the certainties are that Bryan has five electors and Taft one, the other two are doubtful. Practically all of the wards gone over show greater or less gains for Taft from the unofficial figures and the latter plurality in the City will be well over two thousand. Bryan's plurality in the counties will be about 1875.

The official count has not been completed in Dorchester, Prince George's, St. Mary's and Worcester counties and the pluralities for those counties are estimated from the unofficial returns. In arriving at the above figures the count as it has proceeded thus far shows that Hellen, Conley and Biedler are the low men among the Democratic electors in the order named. If seven democrats are elected Hellen will be the unfortunate loser; if six Hellen and Conley, if five Hellen, Conley and Biedler. The high men among the Republican electors are Robinson, Towers and Adkins. Adkins and Towers are running well up with Hellen and Conley and it is quite possible that they may win out, if Taft's plurality in the City should go across the board as it seems quite likely, but they will only win, if at all, by a few dozen votes or so at most and therefore the result cannot be told until the official count is altogether. That Taft's plurality in the City may reach 2500 or more is quite possible. The unofficial count gave him a plurality of 1737.

VOTE IN MARYLAND

Surprises For Both Parties. Democrats Lose Baltimore City, But Carry State.

The vote in Maryland was a surprise for both parties. Democrats lost Baltimore City, but carried the State.

5000 plurality in the Eastern Shore. In Mr. Talbot's district the falling off of the vote on the National ticket, while Mr. Talbot himself carried the District by over two thousand was surprise to many who expected a section to turn in a substantial majority for the National candidate.

In Mr. Mudd's District the vote was on the other side, as did Mr. Mudd come near carrying his district but the Democrats won.

In Baltimore, both the victory and the defeat in the City by the Republicans. A 2000 plurality was a gift to the Democrats.

Perhaps the highest parties was the result in strongholds of Republican counties in the Western State. Here Sen. Lawrence carried the County by a very close vote. On the face of the unofficial returns Bryan and Taft have carried the State by a very small plurality. The official recount commenced on Thursday but final results in Baltimore City will not be known for several days.

The Republicans seem to be making gains in Baltimore which if kept up will give them a plurality in the State.

Mr. Biedler, who carried the County by a very close vote, has won so many votes that he has no chance of being elected.

NEW IDEAS IN WINTER

Fashions. Inexpensive Models of Cashmere And Not: Evening Coats And Capes: Fur Ruffs And Rug Muffs: Smart Fur Coats.

Very pretty and what is better, comparatively inexpensive evening dresses this season are made of cashmere in white, pale pink, blue or lavender. This fabric drapes beautifully and is handsomely trimmed with satin bands, silk braid, or braided effects in ribbon or velvet. Black or white point d'esprit net is another excellent material for the modest evening gown.

Wraps For Evening.

Long loose coats of broadcloth with flowing sleeves are worn a great deal for evening. These are lined with satin of white or pale colors and are lavishly trimmed with silk braid of the same shade as the material. Very pretty evening wraps also take the shape of capes of pink, pale blue, red or tan broadcloth, cut with a high military collar trimmed with gold braid and having the front set off by a few brass buttons. More expensive evening coats are made of satin or Ottoman silk.

Furs That Are Fashionable.

There is little danger that the woman of fashion will catch cold this winter for not only are many of the new coats and wraps made with high collars but fur ruffs and close warm neck pieces are worn by everyone who wants to be considered well dressed. Furs run to extremes this season and are either made very short like the new French ruffs or are out long in peleries style.

The fur ruffs shown by C. O. Shayne & Co., are something entirely new and give the coat or costume with which they are worn a look of smartness and a French touch that is indescribably chic. Some of the most attractive of these little neck pieces take the form of a straight piece of fur, in which a spring has been run, to keep the ruff upright and close.

May Issue Free Passes.

Free passes may be issued to bona fide employees of a railroad who are traveling to re-enter the railroad service. Passes cannot be extended to the families of employees who died a natural death while in the service of common carriers though that privilege is accorded to the families of employees killed in the service. These are among the rulings announced by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The commission holds that a railroad may provide in its tariff that whenever, because of washouts or other accidents, passengers are delayed beyond their ticket limit or so as to curtail their stopover privileges, the conductor or other agent may, by indorsement on the ticket, extend the time to cover such detention. This is to be honored by succeeding conductors on the company's lines, but no carrier can provide such extension over lines other than its own, except when provided a proper joint tariff.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness, caused by Catarrh, that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. F. J. CHERNEY & CO., Toledo, O.

around the neck. This is finished with a rosette and long ends of satin ribbon or a bunch of fur tails. Again the ruff is made of white bengaline, edged with mink and fancifully trimmed with tails at the closing which can be worn either at the front, one side or the back. A little ruff of pony skin is pleated and stands up around the face like the neckwear shown in portraits of Queen Elizabeth. A very handsome ruff of ermine has a big effect of the fur in the front to cover the V shaped opening shown in most of the new coats. It is further trimmed with bright green velvet ribbon and set off by a jabot of lace. Extremely pretty also, and what is better comparatively inexpensive, is a ruff of dyed muskrat that fastens in the front by slipping one end through a loop of fur and forms a fleur de lis effect.

Stoles are still worn; but this year they are made flat without any padding. Muffs are very large and are made flat in rug style, in the conventional almost square shape in vogue last year, or in the new directoire model which is about twenty two inches broad but has a shirring by which it can be drawn up at top giving it a sort of triangular apex.

Fur Coats.

The broadtail is used for a garment six inches long in length and fastened with not steel buttons, dyed by the new method it is an exact copy of a fur in a long loose shape shown nearly to the bottom. It has a satin lining and is made with a shirring at the bottom.

Delaware Red Men.

The Great Council of Delaware, Improved Order Red Men, convened in Dover last Wednesday. Great Chief of Records Edward McIntire reported an increase in membership of 479 during the year. He gave the following interesting statistics: members last year 5,018; adopted 784; admitted by card 42; reinstated 76; suspended 372; withdrawn by card 9; deceased 34; present members 5,497, gain 479.

Many requests from Catarrh sufferers who use atomizers have caused us to put up Liquid Cream Balm, a new and convenient form of Ely's Cream Balm, the only remedy for Catarrh which can always be depended on. In power to allay inflammation, to cleanse the clogged air passages, to promote free, natural breathing, the two forms of Cream Balm are alike. Liquid Cream Balm is sold by all druggists for 75 cents, including spraying tube. Mailed by Ely Brothers, 86 Warren Street, New York.

Hick's Forecast for November.

A regular storm period covers the first six days of November. The Moon is at first quarter on the 1st, at perigee on the 5th and on the celestial equator on the 5th. By the 1st the barometer will begin to fall in western sections, the temperature will rise and by the 2nd and 3rd storms will gather and start on their eastward march from west to east. On and touching Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, the 3rd, 4th and 5th, rain, wind and thunder storms will pass most parts of the country, with rising barometer, westerly winds and change to much cooler crossing close behind the storm centers, the chance to cool or colder appearing in the west, north west about the 3rd, and passing quite over the country to the eastward by the 7th. Frosts with some freezing northward, will result during the passage of this high barometer and cool wave.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 8th, 9th and 10th. A regular storm period begins on the 13th and extends to the 18th, being central on the 15th. The Moon is at last quarter on the 13th and in perigee on the 16th. Falling barometer, change to warmer, southerly winds and autumnal rains will pass over the country from west to east on and touching the 15th, 16th and 17th.

There will be but little time for reaction to anti storm condition between this and the coming storm period.

Possibly change to cooler may break in about the 17th and 18th.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 19th, 20th, and 21st. The Moon crosses the celestial equator, veering southward on the 19th. Change to much warmer, falling barometer and autumnal thunder storms will appear about the 19th, and run their course eastward on the 20th and 21st. The influence of the approaching Venus disturbance, as seen in the November storm diagram, will be felt at this reactionary period, the period coming in with high temperatures, and winding up with change to much colder and spurts of early snow in northern parts of the country. The probabilities of severe and dangerous gales over all the northern lake regions are decidedly strong at this and all the November periods, especially from the 5th to the end of the month. Navigators and shippers on the great lakes who ignore these probabilities will take desperate chances of paying expensive forfeits.

A regular storm period extends from the 23rd to the 28th.

The 23rd of November is the center of a seismic period—say from the 21st to the 25th. We mean by this that such phenomena are much more liable on and touching the 23rd. Let us all, especially northward, watch and see how far "Thanksgiving Thursday" will miss an old fashioned steel and snow storm in 1905.

New York Streets Lighted in Mid-day.

One of the queerest freaks of weather ever known outside the subway swooped down upon Harlem at noon Tuesday. Pitchy darkness enveloped the upper portion of the city. It was so dark that all the electric lights along One Hundred and Twenty fifth street were turned on. The trolley cars were lighted, and the big thoroughfare took on the appearance it usually presents at 8 o'clock at night.

Two colored men, who were at Eighth avenue and One Hundred and Twenty fifth street thought the dark spell portended the end of the world, and they knelt on the sidewalk and began to pray.

PRONOUNCED HIS CASE INCURABLE

Whole Body Raw with Eczema—Life was Intolerable—Was Even Incased in Plaster—Discharged from Hospitals as Hopeless.

SUFFERED 14 YEARS CURED BY CUTICURA

"From the age of three months until fifteen years old, my son Owen's life was made intolerable by eczema in its worst form. He was all right until a red rash broke out on his forehead, but we were not alarmed at first. Very soon, however, the rash began to spread over his head and shoulders, and it caused him great discomfort. I took him to a doctor and tried half a dozen other treatments, all with the same result: no improvement at all. The disease gradually spread until nearly every part of his body was quite raw. We had to strap him down in bed, for he used to tear himself dreadfully in his sleep. The agony he went through is quite beyond words. No one thought we would rear him. The regimental doctor, a very clever man, pronounced the case hopeless; at least, he said the only hope was that he might, if lived long enough, outgrow it to some extent. We had him in hospital times and he was pronounced of the worst cases, if not the worst admitted. From each he was discharged as incurable; in fact, he was worse under the successive treatments. At one hospital they incised the disease, and this seemed to make the soreness terribly. He was badly that no one liked to touch him and his life was a burden. We kept trying remedy after remedy, but we had got almost past cure. Six months ago we got a set of Cuticura Soap, 'Resolvent' Pills and Ointment. The result was not long in coming. He was not having a hot sleep. Mrs. Ely Brothers, Goldenrod, N.Y., writes: 'Cuticura cured my son Owen's eczema.'"

At one hospital they incised the disease, and this seemed to make the soreness terribly. He was badly that no one liked to touch him and his life was a burden. We kept trying remedy after remedy, but we had got almost past cure. Six months ago we got a set of Cuticura Soap, 'Resolvent' Pills and Ointment. The result was not long in coming. He was not having a hot sleep. Mrs. Ely Brothers, Goldenrod, N.Y., writes: 'Cuticura cured my son Owen's eczema.'"

COVINGTON'S VICTORY.

One of the most gratifying results of Tuesday's election is the victory of Mr. Covington in the First Congressional District.

Mr. Covington's plurality of nearly 9000 votes leaves no doubt in the minds of the public as to the real sentiment of the District and is an evidence of the awakening of the people on the Eastern Shore to the necessity of closely scrutinizing the candidates for public office.

Personally every one who knows Mr. Jackson as a private citizen, will feel sorry—not that Mr. Jackson is defeated, but that he again allowed politicians of his party to persuade him to make the run.

As a citizen Mr. Jackson is well thought of, in his own community which has often benefited by his generosity and public spirit. As a member of Congress and manager of a political party his course has been open to severe criticism and methods of obtaining his end subject to just condemnation. It is not fair to Mr. Jackson to say that as far as any evidence can be seen in this County he strictly kept the provisions of the Corrupt Practices

Covington, of Talbot, who will Mr. Jackson as a member of this District, is an young democrat and should a valuable man in that body. fight he made in this District shows that he has energy and ability.

RESULTS IN MARYLAND.

All things considered, the vote cast for the Presidential and Congressional candidates, should be gratifying to the Democracy of Maryland.

WORKING OF CORRUPT

Practice Act. Gov. Crothers' Comments.
Attorney General To Aid in Prosecution.

The thing that will interest the politicians about these statements is that it gives them an opportunity of seeing who of the officeholders contributed toward the party's success and who did not contribute. It will show to each side who are the men who supply the funds, and this is a question of intense interest to most of them.

In addition to the sworn statements which the treasurers must file with the Clerk of the Circuit Court, the Corrupt Practices act requires that each candidate on the ticket must within 30 days after election file with the Secretary of State a sworn statement as to his expenses during the campaign. This statement is required to be a detailed one and must show what money was given by the candidate for the conduct of his campaign and what money he spent in other ways.

Effect Of Corrupt Practices Act.

Few persons in the State realize just what the Corrupt Practices act meant in Maryland at the recent election. That the law was enforced and observed, is admitted, and as a result this was the first election in a great many years in this State which was not tainted with the buying and selling of votes. Of this there was none. Also there was practically no whiskey given away to influence voters and there was no coercion of employees by the big corporations one way or the other.

Now that the election is over the Democratic leaders—even those who did not look with favor upon the law before—are loud in its praise. They say that had it not been for the Corrupt Practices act and its rigid enforcement in the First Congressional district neither Covington nor Bryan could have carried that section of the State. Also, it is contended, Talbot's majority would have been greatly reduced had there been no such act, and elsewhere in the State the Democrats would have suffered.

"It shows," said an Eastern Shore leader, "that when you eliminate money the First district is safely Democratic. The Corrupt Practices act is the best thing that ever happened to the Democratic party in this State. Without it this time we would have been swamped all over the State."

Credit is generally given to Governor Crothers that the observance of the law throughout Maryland was as general as it was. The Governor used every means in his power to see that it was enforced, and was convinced it would be enforced this year.

Governor Would Amend Law.

The Governor was at his city office yesterday for the first time this week. He was greatly gratified at the showing for both Bryan and Covington in this county, where unusual results were given to the Democracy.

BRYAN'S LAST RACE

Says Dispatch From His Home Town.
Attorney General To Help.

Lincoln, Nov. 5 Having received a bigger total vote than he ever got before, Mr. Bryan proposes to use it as a lever and go to Washington, putting his proposed reforms up to Congress, one by one. He will continue to advocate them in speeches and lectures. But he will issue a statement, probably in a few weeks, declaring that he never will run again for President. In the future he will spend his time writing and talking for his reforms, devoting a great deal of his time to advocating legislation at Washington.

Mr. Bryan said that their capture of the Nebraska Legislature will enable the Democrats to make a beginning in that state with their reforms. The bank guarantee plan will be put into law, he believes.

Chairman Mack of the Democratic National Committee said that Bryan will, he believed, not again be a candidate for the Presidency, but would go to the United States Senate if the Nebraska Legislature is Democratic when the next vacancy from that state occurs in 1911.

Somebody Before February 1st.

If you are wise you'll be on the somebody list. We are going to remodel the store, notwithstanding the great success of our wonderful selling of suits and overcoats for the last two weeks, when we didn't have clerks enough at times to wait upon the customers for suits and overcoats. We didn't sell as many as we ought to have sold, why? Because many men didn't fully realize that one clothing store in town was living up to its advertisement and was selling every suit and every overcoat and every child's suit without a single coat clear profit. We ought to have sold every suit and every overcoat in the store, but we didn't and here's where you come in. Beginning today again Thoroughgood will sell any men's, boy's or child's suits or overcoats in the store without a single coat clear profit. Architects are now planning how to remodel the show windows and first floor and Thoroughgood is going to make it pay you to buy a new suit or overcoat or child's suit or overcoat. Suppose you had a clothing store and you intended to tear every part of the store (except the floor) to pieces, wouldn't you want good clothing? How's you sell them? You wouldn't expect to sell them for too much, nor even at full price, would you? You'd cut the prices, wouldn't you and you wouldn't cut them a wee little bit, would you, but you'd drop off a few wooden shill. Well, now Thoroughgood is doing it. We are going to sell every suit and every overcoat in the store and you'll

MARRIAGE CUSTOMS IN

Queer Ceremonies Gone Through Before Maid Becomes Wife.

The Tibetans commonly marry between the ages of twenty and twenty-five; as a rule, the girls being younger than the boys. The marriage is entirely arranged by the respective parents, the greatest secrecy being maintained—so much so that the parties most interested have no suspicion of what is being entertained.

The parents of the boy begin by despatching their agents to the parents of a marriageable girl, and if the latter think the match feasible, they immediately consult a confidential fortune teller or a high priest for advice.

At the proper time "milk money" is paid by the boy's parents to the mother of the girl, as a repayment of what the latter has cost to bring up—this sum naturally varying according to the status of the families. The date being settled, the parents of the girl are given to understand when the formal go-between will be sent to them from the other party.

Just before his arrival, the girl will be told to make an elaborate toilet, and on the arrival of the go-between she is formally told that she is to be married to So-and-so. The feast of "sending the bride away" is then held immediately, and lasts from two to five days—sometimes much longer.

Presentations are given to the girl by her parents and friends, and shortly an agent arrives from the bridegroom's parents bringing the "milk money" and a wedding gown for the bride. The latter is also given a marriage jewel to wear on her brow, as a sign that she is a married woman.

This is taken away from her by the husband, should she at any later time be divorced from him. On the day appointed for the bride's departure, the priests are called in, and various prayers are offered up; the professional adviser is also invited, and he gives the girl much instruction and advice as to her future duties.

Finally, the girl sets out on horseback, wearing all the ornaments given to her, also the dress sent by the bridegroom, and over her head a green, yellow, red and white cloth, which completely screens her face. She is met in the road by the welcoming party from the bridegroom, and then ensues more feasting, sometimes at the roadside eating houses, or at friends' houses, or even in tents.

Arrived at the bridegroom's house, they find the door closed against them, and various ceremonies are gone through before it is slowly opened by the boy's mother, who offers greetings in the form of special refreshments. Feasting and prayers then follow, and the parents of the bridegroom give each one of the guests a bit of thin silk, which signifies the perfect agreement of both parties.

Agricultural Wages in Russia.

The extreme poverty and the low standard of living of peasants from whom the agricultural laborers are recruited assure a low level of wages for agricultural labor, says the Bureau of Statistics report. The average wages will appear almost incredible when viewed from an American point of view. The average annual earnings of the estate holders consist of the unreasonably demands of the estate holders. According to an official statement embracing the decade 1891-1901, the average annual wages for a male agricultural worker in Russia were less than $23 and for a female less than $18.

The wages are equally low, being an average $24 for a male and $23 for a female worker for a whole year; so that the average cost of employing a laborer for the entire year is equal to only $55 for the male and $40 for the female. The wages for the summer season of five months are almost equal to the annual wages, being $32 for the male and $18 for the female laborer.

Position of a Watch.

Does a watch run better lying flat on its back or on edge? I put half a score of dealers to the test, and they answered it, says a New York Press. Apparently, none had thought of it. Perhaps a majority of men place their watches under the pillow at night, where they lie flat down for about eight hours. During the remaining sixteen hours they are on edge in the pocket. A watch in the pocket is warmed by the heat of the body. A watch on the bureau is cold. How is it affected? In a show window is a watch frozen solid in a 100-pound cake of ice, keeping excellent time. In another window is a chronometer at the bottom of a tank of water, ticking away merrily and accurately. I have looked in vain for a time-piece smiling in a furnace.

Independent Nerve Centers.

A laborer was brought to one of the large hospitals of Paris with his back broken in such a way as to cover the connection between his brain and the lower extremities. On tickling his feet with a feather the patient would draw away from the irritation unconsciously. This movement of the feet was evidently brought about by the local action of the nerve centers in those limbs, independently of the brain. This experiment has led many naturalists to doubt the so-called "intelligence" of the lower animals, but believe in the local action of the nerve centers of the animal's body.

Temperance Will.

An Irish lawyer noted for his wit was engaged by a lady to defend her husband who was charged with official embezzlement. When examining the plaintiff he asked: "You wish to leave your husband to drink?"

Yes, sir.

Then drink your husband's money.

Yes, sir.

Then drink your husband's money.
