Two-Mile Road to Cost $33,293.25

The County Commissioners at their meeting last Tuesday accepted, with the approval of the State Road Commission, the bid of the Hassan Paving Company of Massachusetts, for the two miles of road to be built on the west of Princess Anne towards Deal's Island, for the sum of $33,293.25. The bid includes a concrete bridge over the Manokin to replace what is known as the "Red Bridge." The State pays 50 per cent. of the cost of the road, the county 40 per cent., and the property holders 10 per cent. The last named amount has already been subscribed.

The commissioners also agreed to pay their share, or one-eighth of the cost of the construction of the Meadow Bridge at the dividing point of Wicomico, Worcester and Somerset Counties. This bridge is to be built under the provision of the State Aid Law, and will be a modern concrete structure. Somerset's share of this cost will not exceed $50.

Democratic Headquarters Open

At a meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee for Somerset County held in this town on Thursday last, steps were taken looking to the inauguration of an earnest campaign on the part of the Democrats in every district of this county.

Headquarters were established in the Brick Hotel building in this town, and Mr. H. C. Dashiell was selected to take charge of these headquarters.

Steps were taken looking to the appointment of executive committees for each of the districts, and it was determined that the speaking campaign should begin October 18th.

Fisherman Drowned

Charles Simpson, a fisherman about 45 years old, was drowned in the Sinepuxent Bay, near the drawbridge, at Ocean City, last Wednesday, in sight of his home by falling from a rowboat. It is supposed that Simpson, who was in the bay in an open boat crabbing, lost his balance and fell overboard. The rowboat was discovered late in the afternoon, capsized, near Simpson's home, which is a houseboat near the drawbridge.

Four white youths were shot and one negro was badly battered about the head that he will probably die in a race riot in the northeastern section of Baltimore, Tuesday night. One thousand white men and boys attempted to lynch the negro.

TRIENNIAL CONVENTION

Episcopalians Divided As To The Name For Church

For the next three or four weeks the attention of thousands of ministers and laymen of the Protestant Episcopal Church from all over the country will be directed to New York, where the triennial convention begins Wednesday, October 8th. The convention will be held in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, and is expected to continue until the last of the month.

This General Conference, on account of the many questions of vital importance that are to be handled and adjusted, is considered by the Episcopalians all over the country to be of great moment, and it is possible that before its adjournment there may be numerous radical changes in both the church name and its government. There will no doubt be a lively discussion over the much-talked-of change in name. Many of the high churchmen are advocating the elimination of the word Protestant, while the low churchmen are opposed to any change in its present name. Another question of great importance is sure to come up and it will be received with favor from every member of the church clergy. It refers to an adequate pension law for the benefit of the retired and incapacitated ministers, especially those who have spent their lives and energies in the service. Still another question to be submitted will be the making of more stringent marriage laws in the church for the purpose of eliminating, as far as it is practicable, the issuance of certificates to persons who are in bad health or suffering from incurable diseases.

Bowland-Smith Wedding

Miss Martie Bowland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus D. Bowland, and Ensign Jefferson Davis Smith, United States Navy, were married at Elkton, Md., at 6.30 o'clock last Tuesday morning at the First Presbyterian Church. Rev. Dr. John McElmoyle, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

The wedding was a full-dress affair, the groom's attendants being of the service. The decorations were autumn leaves and golden rods, with American flags in the background. A musical program was rendered while the guests were assembling by the stringed orchestra from the groom's ship, the Idaho.

The bride entered the church to the strains of the wedding march from Lohegrin, played by Mrs. J. Frank Frazier. The bride, preceded by the attendants, approached the altar with her father, passing under an arch formed by the upraised swords of the ushers. Edward Webb, of Muma, La., was best man. The bride was gowned in a handsome white broche charmeuse trimmed in duchesse lace and pearls. She wore a tulle veil caught with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies-of-the-valley and orchids. Her maid of honor, Miss Anna Bowland, her sister, was gowned in gold charmeuse and cloth of gold and carried yellow roses, while the matron and maids of honor—Mrs. John S. Strahorn, of Annapolis; a younger sister of the bride, Miss Jessie Bowland; her cousin, Miss Mary E. Bowland, of Tiffin, Ohio; Miss Jessie Pritchard, another cousin, of Newport News, Va.; Miss Rhea Guthrie, of Wichita, Kan.; and Miss Mae Guthrie, of El Reno, Okla.—all wore white satin gowns, with navy blue marquisette coats with gold trimmings, and carried pink roses.

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The young couple sailed from New York, Wednesday, for Solitude, La., the home of the groom's parents. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Smith, and a great grandnephew of Jefferson Davis.

Thomas E. Morgan Drops Dead

Thomas Elliott Morgan, 70 years old, dropped dead about 3.30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon on a street in Aberdeen, about a square from his home. He was on his way to the station to take a train for Lancaster when seized with heart trouble.

Mr. Morgan was prominently connected throughout the county. He is survived by his second wife, who was Miss Annie Smith, of Princess Anne, and three daughters by his first marriage—Mrs. George Roberts, of Forest Hill; and Misses Florence and Dora Morgan, of Aberdeen. He also leaves two brothers, William E. Morgan, of Aberdeen; and Francis H. Morgan, of Havre de Grace; and three sisters, Mrs. T. Littleton Hanway, Mrs. W. Oliver Hughes and Mrs. Morgan Mitchell, of Aberdeen.

Some men are born to trouble, some borrow trouble and others have trouble thrust upon them.

DEMOCRATS CHEER LEE

Campaign Starts Enthusiastically With Notification of Candidates

Unity and enthusiasm marked the real beginning of the Democratic State campaign Tuesday when Blair Lee, Emerson C. Harrington and Caleb C. Magruder were formally notified at the Rennett, in Baltimore, of their nominations for United States Senator, Comptroller and Clerk of the Court of Appeals, respectively, and when definite plans were adopted for a stirring canvass that would embrace every part of the State and continue until the eve of the election.

Assembled at the Rennett to attend the ceremonies were representatives of every shade of Democratic belief. The progressives and the conservatives sat down together. With Senator Lee and Gen. Murray Vandiver both sounding the call for a rally to the Democratic flag the situation was politically ideal.

The meeting of the State Central Committee was first held and details of the campaign necessary to be attended to at once were disposed of. After that the notification exercises were held, and following was General Vandiver's luncheon—a feature of such party gatherings.

When General Vandiver called the committee to order, the three State candidates took seats together and were consulted from time to time regarding features of their campaign itinerary which the committee had under discussion.

Sticking firmly to his principles that when a primary election is held, as a Democrat, should support every nominee on the ticket, Senator Lee enthused the gathering with the declaration that he was for the ticket from top to bottom, in city and counties.

On the other hand, General Vandiver praised Senator Lee for his record, declared that the platform of the party was truly progressive and asked for united support.

The list of new chairmen is as follows: F. B. Beall, Allegany county; Dr. George Wells, Anne Arundel; J. F. C. Talbot, Baltimore county; D. M. Loken, Baltimore county; J. Briscoe Bunting, Calvert; Thomas K. Smith, Caroline; D. J. Hesson, Carroll; H. H. Makey, Cecil; Walter Mitchell, Charles; W. L. Robinson, Dorchester; Dr. Charles H. Conolly, Frederick; T. J. Browning, Garrett; E. L. Oldfield, Harford; Charles W. Hassler, Howard; C. L. Dodd, Kent; Robert C. Hilton, Montgomery; J. Enos Ray, Prince George's; J. E. George, Queen Anne's; W. E. Dougherty, Somerset; E. P. Plowden, St. Mary's; M. T. Johnson, Talbot; John B. Sweeney, Washington; James T. Truitt, Wicomico; M. T. Hargis, Worcester.

The dates for the county meetings were announced as follows:

October 4—Chestertown.
October 6—Prince Frederick.
October 7—Leonardtown.
October 8—La Plata.
October 9—Marlboro.
October 10—Cambridge.
October 14—Belair.
October 14—Centerville.
October 16—Open.
October 17—Open.
October 18—Cecil county.
October 20—Snow Hill.
October 21—Snow Hill.
October 22—Princess Anne, Crisfield.
October 23—Havre de Grace.
October 24—Denton.
October 25—Salisbury, Easton.
October 27—Oakland, Westminster.
October 28—Cumberland, Rockville.
October 29—Hagerstown.
October 30—Frederick.
October 31—Baltimore city, grand rally.

November 1—Ellicott City and Annapolis.

When the roll of the new central committee was called every county answered except Harford.

Killed by Lightning

The terrific storm which passed over Wicomico county Wednesday morning killed Mr. Hubert Warren, on his farm on the shell road near Salisbury. Mr. Warren was in the field at work and was preparing to go to the house when a bolt of lightning struck him on the head and killed him instantly. His body was badly burnt from his shoulders down. While the hair on his head was not touched the hair on his body and legs was burned to a crisp.

There were two sharp peals of thunder in rapid succession, which threw the community into consternation. The remarkable thing about the storm was its brief duration, there being perceptibly only a few rumblings of thunder prior to the two loud reports.

Mr. Warren moved to Salisbury from Virginia about a year ago and purchased the Betts farm on the shell road.

He was much thought of by all his neighbors and was a prosperous farmer. Dr. Dick was called as soon as Mr. Warren was discovered in the field, but he said the man had died instantly on being struck.

BROADER EDUCATION LINES

Elementary Schools to Receive Benefits of Tax of 16 Cents

Acting under the advice of Governor Goldsborough and supported by his influence the State Board of Education has adopted a broad policy for the advancement of education in Maryland. These progressive policies will be submitted to the next legislature, with the backing of the Governor, the State Board of Education, and the most influential educational factors in the State.

In this broadening of the public school system of Maryland Governor Goldsborough and the State Board of Education have the co-operation and the sympathy of the National Bureau of Education, Dr. Claxton, United States commissioner of education, has been in close touch with the State Board of Education. He was in Baltimore one day last week and laid his views before the board.

The immediate interest of the National Board of Education in Maryland schools is a survey of the state with a view to a discovery of its defects.

Incidentally it may be stated that this display of interest in the public school system of Maryland by the National Bureau of Education has a most important significance with wide ramifications. Because of its proximity to the national capital Maryland is being selected as a field for experimentation in many fields, including modern road building, fish culture, cattle disaffection and other questions which vitally affect the public welfare.

Here are the policies adopted by the State Board of Education as suggested by Governor Goldsborough:

Statewide school compulsory attendance law.

Schools in the counties to be open at least seven months of the year.

No teacher to be appointed or retained after 1915 unless those teachers shall have had previous professional training as teachers.

Pensions to teachers.

Fixing in terms of all teachers and their assistants. This means the introduction of the civil service idea on a broader scale in the public school system of the state.

Devotion of all revenues derived from the direct tax of 16 cents on each $100 to elementary schools. This means an enlargement of the facilities of the primary grades. The enlargement of the facilities of the high schools and academies is to be brought about by legislative appropriations.

Educational mass meetings to be held at least twice each year in each county. The object of these meetings will be to arouse a greater interest in education.

Annual survey of the educational facilities of Baltimore and of the several counties, which survey is to have the co-operation of the National Bureau of Education, with a view to discovering defects, if any defects exist, and to remedy defects if found to exist.

Dr. M. Bates Stephens, state superintendent of education, has given his indorsement to these views.

Prohibition Ticket Nominated

Nominations for State offices were made Tuesday by the Prohibition party at a postponed session of the State convention held at headquarters, 1715 Guilford avenue, Baltimore. Edwin Higgins was chairman of the convention, and Samuel H. Norman was secretary.

The session of the State convention was postponed from that which was held at Mount Airy on August 14. At that time nominations were deferred, and the convention adjourned subject to the call of its chairman, Rev. Charles M. Elderdicke.

The following ticket was nominated: For United States Senator—Finley C. Hendrickson, of Cumberland. For Comptroller—R. Henry Holme, of Baltimore.

For Clerk of the Court of Appeals—Rev. Charles M. Elderdicke, of Frederick.

The convention unanimously adopted the "pledge signing" idea of the National Prohibition Committee, which is an effort to get 5,000,000 voters to agree to vote the Prohibition ticket when a sufficient number have signed to carry an election in any national, State or county fight.

Turkeys Plentiful

"Turkeys—and plenty of 'em." This is the report that is being received from sections of Maryland, Tennessee, Virginia and Eastern points where the gobblers are being raised. According to indications there will be a bountiful supply of the fowl for Thanksgiving and the national bird should grace the table of every household on the day set aside in November to give thanks.

TARIFF BILL WAS SIGNED

Law Effective at Once And Collectors Were Notified

Surrounded by the leaders of a united Democracy, President Wilson signed the Underwood-Simmons Tariff bill at 9.09 o'clock Friday night at the White House.

Simultaneously telegrams were sent to customs collectors throughout the country by the Treasury Department putting into actual operation the first Democratic tariff revision since 1894.

The act became effective immediately and Saturday morning, when the custom houses at Baltimore and at other American ports opened for business, the new Democratic rates were collected upon imports.

A happy group of legislators, members of the Cabinet and friends encircled the President as he smilingly sat down and slowly affixed his signature with two gold pens. He presented to Representative Underwood the pen that had written the word "Woodrow," and the one which had completed his name to Senator Simmons. Both recipients bowed their appreciation.

In impressive silence the President rose and delivered in easy, natural tones an extemporaneous speech that brought prolonged applause.

The President declared that the journey of legislative accomplishment had only been partly completed; that a great service had been done for the rank and file of the country, but that the second step in the emancipation of business was currency reform. He earnestly called upon his colleagues to go "the rest of the journey" with fresh impulse.

Bulletin On Maryland Schools

Praise and blame are alternately meted out in a bulletin on Maryland schools just issued by the United States Bureau of Education. The bulletin is an educational survey of Montgomery county but concerns itself also with Maryland rural schools in general and with the whole rural-school problem throughout the United States. The Government publishes the detailed facts about this Maryland county in the belief that a study of them will aid in solving rural educational problems elsewhere.

The chief weaknesses noted by the Bureau's report: "Too many one-room schools and too little consolidation; defective methods of lighting, heating, ventilation and of seating pupils; the lack of recreation facilities; the low proportion of children of school age enrolled or in regular attendance; the slight attention paid to beautifying the surroundings of the school buildings, and the absence from the curriculum of studies preparing for country life."

On the other hand, the Bureau's investigators found some very important sources of strength in the Montgomery schools: "Direct and capable supervision; uniform grading, a sufficient number of buildings in good repair; a teaching staff experienced, relatively stable, and efficient; a fair beginning of introducing into the curriculum those subjects most closely adapted to rural needs, and a number of high schools which in equipment and in the grade of work done are well above the average for similar communities."

The bulletin commends especially the Maryland county organization of schools declaring that this system has proved to be the most effective machinery for the upbuilding of rural education.

In Open Boat to 'Frisco

En route for the San Francisco Exposition from Eastport, Me., by the way of the Panama Canal, Capt. Matthias Johnson, of Perth Amboy, N. J., arrived in Lewes Monday night of last week, and left early Tuesday morning for Norfolk, Va., probably stopping for an hour or so at Chincoteague, Va.

His craft is a 23-foot whaleboat, with a single-cylinder gasoline engine, with no housing of any kind, and is called the "George Washington." The captain said he intended to do the most of his running at night. When asked what protection he would have from the heavy rains and seas said: "Oh, I have a good suit of oilskin."

Wilson Postpones Panama Trip

President Wilson has given up the idea of visiting the Panama Canal this fall. He will not go until the currency bill has passed the Senate, and unless the legislative situation is entirely to his liking this winter he may postpone the journey for another 12 months. It is believed he will not send any message to Congress on the Panama tolls question until he has had opportunity to give his personal attention to the question, and possibly not until after he has visited Panama.

GOOD ROADS FOR FARMERS

Houston's Plea To The National Congress

Secretary. Houston, of the United States Department of Agriculture, before the American Road Congress which was in session in Detroit, Mich., last week expressed his approval of the efforts of the organization and explained the interest of the federal government with reference to road building. He urged good roads for the farmers in preference to great transcontinental highways for automobilists, and at the same time he said he did not underestimate the valuable service rendered by automobilists in the propaganda for roadbuilding.

"The suggestion of great national transcontinental roads appeals to my imagination, as does the suggestion of interstate roads connecting capitals or cities of commercial importance to my logical faculty and to the same sense of pleasure that I experience in riding about the country in my friends' automobiles. But that the essential thing to be done is the providing of good roads which shall get products from the community farms to the nearest station and make rural life more profitable, comfortable, pleasurable, I entertain no sort of doubt; and it is obvious that the representatives of the people in Congress are likeminded. For in making their recent appropriation of a half million dollars for good roads they stipulated that it should be used in improving the condition of post roads with a view to the economy and efficiency of postal delivery and the transportation of farm products to the market.

"Such roads are equally essential to the establishment and operation of decent elementary and secondary schools for the benefit of the country boys and girls. I do not eliminate other things from consideration and I do not underestimate the rights and pleasures of the automobilists and the service they have rendered in the propaganda for road-making.

"That the suggestion of federal aid to road building raises grave questions and involves possible dangers, no thoughtful citizen doubts. There are proposals before the public mind which would bankrupt the federal treasury and suggest possible abuses before which those of the worst pork barrel bills of the past would pale into insignificance. No proposal which does not carry with it the assurance of safeguarding the Treasury in this direction seems to me to stand the ghost of a chance of favorable consideration.

"The first practical essentials in the planning of road legislation would seem to be to recognize the states as the smallest unit with which the federal government might deal. This would make relief from the insistent demand that would come from every township in the Union for its share of state or federal assistance without reference to the practicability of the undertaking.

"It would seem that the basic feature would be such co-operation between the states and federal government as would leave with the states the initiative in the selection of roads to receive aid and as much of the immediate construction and maintenance as would be practicable.

"It is also reasonably clear that there must be some automatic check upon the demands to be made upon Congress, and that this should be afforded through the requirement that the states and the localities should contribute an amount both for construction and maintenance at least equal to and possibly double that contributed by the federal government."

Other speakers before the Congress included Logan Waller Page, president of the American Highway Association; A. W. Campbell, deputy minister of railways and canals in Canada; Col. William D. Schier, chairman Massachusetts State Highway Commission, and Frank W. Buffman, state highway commissioner of Missouri.

Crab Crop Worth $2,900,000

After one of the most successful seasons in the history of the industry, the soft-shell crab season has about closed at Crisfield, the greatest crab center in the world. The season opened around April 15, and although crabs have not been quite as plentiful as in some other years, the price has held up well, and those engaged in the business there report prosperous conditions.

The Crisfield seafood dealers have been making arrangements for the oyster season for the last three weeks, and the large number of shucking houses are now at work.

The seafood business is Crisfield's main industry. It is estimated that Crisfield ships more than 90 per cent. of the entire crab output of the United States, and a large percentage of the oyster output. Statistics gathered for the year beginning September 1, 1912, and ending September 1, 1913, reveal the following interesting information: During that year Crisfield shipped 3,800,000 dozen soft crabs, valued at $2,400,000; hard crabs, 10,000,000 valued at $500,000; oysters, 2,500,000 bushels, valued at $1,500,000; clams, 30,000,000, valued at $150,000; canned sea food, valued at $1,100,000.

A NARROW ESCAPE

By SAMUEL E. BRANT

When young Mrs. Marshall came to L., knowing that the start one makes socially in a place counts for a good deal, she made herself agreeable to every one, became familiar with only the best, was careful that her costumes were cut in the latest fashion, and, since the dominant circle admitted of cavaliers for their prominent members, she rather encouraged the attentions of Huntington Dabney.

It must be admitted that keeping Mr. Dabney up to his duties as her cavalier was hard work. His main accomplishment was leading a cotillion, and he was not known to have any secondary one. Mrs. Marshall could stand to be put in a straitjacket costume and listen to society gossip, including private quarrels and the mishap of the last social climber who had fallen from an upper round of the ladder to the bottom, but found it tiresome, indeed, to pretend to be flirting with Huntington Dabney in a solitary corner at a function in order to maintain a reputation for being one of those ladies to whom husband and children are a bore. And it was the harder for her because she was devoted both to her husband and her children. As for Mr. Marshall, she told him in the beginning what her designs really amounted to, but he didn't take sufficient interest in the matter to remember the explanation.

Among the other penalties Mrs. Marshall must pay for effecting an entrance into L. society was the sitting in tight slippers for several hours at dinner parties. Her feet were tender, and for this reason her footwear was made of light material, but even slippers, made very small, binding the feet for hours on a stretch, will at last cause pain. It was sitting thus at a dinner party for an unusually long period that brought about a mishap to Mrs. Marshall that came very near plunging her to the foot of the social ladder and rendering her fall so unfortunate that she would not have been able to begin to climb again.

At the dinner in question Mr. Dabney was assigned to take Mrs. Marshall out, Mr. Marshall having been honored by being assigned to the hostess. Mrs. Marshall's shoe pinched, and after enduring a long period of suffering she slipped it off. Mr. Dabney, who was a restless man, must needs kick his legs about under the table till he sent the slipper off to parts unknown. When at last the innumerable courses had been finished and a pousse cafe put a close upon the feast the diners arose to go into another part of the house for a cotillion.

Mrs. Marshall, who had for some time been feeling with her toe for the missing slipper, finding that without some expedient she must go with the others in a stocking foot, so to speak, when the party were rising, kept her seat, talking very hard to her cavalier, pretending to be so wrapped in her subject as not to notice the movement. Of course the gentleman kept his seat, too, and was all attention. The lady watched out of the corner of her eye the retiring guests and saw that no especial notice was taken of her remaining behind. As soon as the others were all gone she informed Mr. Dabney that she had lost her slippers under the table and had lagged behind to recover it. Dabney started to get it himself, but the lady stopped him and, getting down, groped for the missing article. It was dark down there, and Mrs. Marshall was nearsighted. She shined some time without success. Then Mr. Dabney's gallantry got the better of his discretion, and down he stooped, went under the table to help.

The host had scarcely left the dining room before he proposed that the men return for a pony brandy. Several of the ladies whose heads were not easily overturned by spirituous beverages declared that they, too, wanted "another." Suddenly the dining room door was thrown open, and a merry party entered. Mrs. Marshall, realizing the horror of the situation of being caught under the table with her cavalier, whispered to him:

"For heaven's sake be still!" Mr. Dabney obeyed orders. What else could he do? The host poured the liquor and all were standing around the table ready to drink when those under it heard him say:

"What the deuce became of Dabney and Mrs. Marshall? They didn't leave the dining room with the rest of us." "They must have gone out by another door," suggested one of the women. "Drink her down," said the host, "and we'll go and look for them. They must have gone up that stairway. I don't allow any scattering in my house," he added jocularly.

The revelers tossed off the brandy and ran laughing up the staircase. As soon as the last one had disappeared Mrs. Marshall scrambled out and ran like a deer to an unoccupied music room, followed by Mr. Dabney with the slipper. Then Mrs. Marshall sat down to a piano and began to run over the keys. This brought those who hunted for them, and all exclaimed:

"How did you do it?" When Mrs. Marshall that night before going to bed told her husband of the narrow escape she had had he looked at her in holy horror.

"Great Scott, mummy," he exclaimed, "that's the nearest thing to a catastrophe that ever happened in this family!"

Tipping in Austria.

"You know the value of tips in the United States," writes a man from Prague, who visited this country for the first time two years ago, "and you are more liberal than we are in that respect, but such a thing as tipping a railway conductor is not known to the tourist in America. Here in Austria the custom is so well established that the refusal of a conductor on a Buchs-Linsbruck train to accept a thoughtless passenger who had been allowed to ride alone in a compartment has caused unusual comment. The title 'White Raven' was conferred on the conductor, who emphasized his displeasure at being tempted by having the passenger summoned before a magistrate on the charge of attempted bribery. Do not let that trouble you, however, when you come here, because the tipping malefactor was discharged, and the magistrate's contemptuous look at the conductor indicated that his opinion of a man who would not take a tip was unfit for publication."—New York Tribune.

Cooked Meats.

Boiled meat may lose some of its best foodstuff properties if too much water is used in its boiling or if it is taken from the water in which it is boiling. Instead of allowing it to remain and recover by absorption some of its valuable properties. Eight pounds of beef after it is boiled will weigh six and a half pounds. After it is baked it will lose two pounds and six ounces. After it is roasted it will lose three pounds and ten ounces. Other meat losses almost in the same proportions when it is cooked. It will be noticed that roasting meat causes it to decrease considerably more than boiling. One great trouble, of course, in boiling meat is that it loses nearly 45 per cent of its mineral matter and 12 per cent of its fats and nearly 8 per cent of its proteins. Housewives should not worry over this, however, when it is known that there is a greater percentage of nutriment in cooked meats, notwithstanding the loss by cooking, than there is in raw meats.—New York American.

Regulating His Sleep.

John Wesley recognized the evils of oversleeping and gave a recipe whereby one may find out how much sleep he really wants. It was derived from experience. "I waked every night about 12 and lay awake for some time, and I readily concluded that this arose from my being longer in bed than nature required. I procured an alarm, which waked me next morning at 7 (an hour earlier than I rose the day before), yet I lay awake at night. The next morning I rose at 6; notwithstanding, I lay awake the second night. The third morning I rose at 5, nevertheless lay awake. The fourth morning I rose at 4, as I have done ever since, and I lay awake no more."—London Chronicle.

No Matter Who.

A party of women were being escorted through the state house the other day by a bowing and scraping guide. The women were of the enthusiastic type and raved over this and that and said, "Oh, simply too gorgeous." Finally they were shown the portrait of a former governor.

"Oh, superb, isn't it?" said one of them. "And an excellent likeness too. A portrait of whom did you say it was?"—Boston Traveler.

VANISHED MOUNT MAZAMA.

It Was One of the Loftiest Peaks in the United States.

The highest mountain in Oregon is Mount Hood, 11,225 feet above the sea level. Compared with Mount Whitney, to the south in California, and Mount Rainier, to the north in Washington, each rising well above 14,000 feet, Mount Hood does not appear as a skyscraper. However, according to the geologists of the United States geological survey and other authorities, Oregon had at one time, probably before the dawn of life upon the earth, a great volcano which towered as far above Mount Hood as does Mount Rainier, possibly even several thousand feet higher. This was the great Mount Mazama. But thousands of years ago the mountain disappeared into the bowels of the earth, and all that is left today is the huge rim around Crater lake.

Crater lake is the caldera of this extinct and collapsed volcano and is nearly six miles in diameter. The inside walls of the rim of the ancient mountain are in places nearly 4,000 feet high and almost perpendicular. The lake itself is in places 2,000 feet deep, and parts of the wall rise above its water another 2,000 feet. A restoration of the mountain in fancy, using as a basis the angles of the lower slopes, which still remain, shows that the apex could not have been far from 15,000 feet in height, so that Mount Mazama was one of the most lofty and majestic peaks in the United States.—United States Geological Survey.

MARKS ON THE BAGGAGE.

They Tell Waiters Abroad the Kind of Man the Owner Is.

Much traveled persons who carefully examine their trunks will find thereon a number of calligraphic marks which they probably put down to the wear and tear imposed on the baggage. As a matter of fact, the signs come, not of chance. They are placed there by the waiters at the various hotels whereat the traveler has stayed and have a direct meaning.

A sort of freemasonry exists among waiters at European hotels. They have a system of marking baggage so as to tell other waiters the manner of man that the traveler is as regards tipping.

The traveler who arrives at a hotel with his baggage marked with a straight upright line on either side of the locks is sure of good attention. He is classified as "very liberal." A horizontal straight mark in the upper right hand corner of a trunk means that the owner is no good at all, while if this mark is accompanied by a V mark it signifies to the waiting fraternity that the traveler is the limit—entirely hopeless.

A cross mark on the lower right hand corner conveys the intelligence that the owner of the trunk is rather eccentric, but worth paying attention to. A diagonal mark in the lower left hand corner speaks of a person who is eccentric without being liberal.—London Answers.

Three Castes in Bolivia.

Bolivian society is composed of three strata. Firstly, we have the "gente decente," or white people who show no trace of Indian blood. This class is small, but necessarily influential; indeed, all the government of the country is in their hands. Next comes the "cholos"—those of mixed Spanish and Indian blood—and lastly the pure Indians, who form an immense submerged class—superstitious, ignorant, downtrodden, yet splendid workmen and one of the chief sources of national wealth. It is estimated that of the 3,000,000 people who comprise the Bolivian nation only about 200,000 can read and write. The great mass of these illiterate people belong to the "gente decente," while the "cholo" and Indian classes are almost totally submerged in ignorance.—Christian Herald.

Wellington as a Shot.

"The hero of Waterloo," says Lady Frances Shelley in her "Diary," "was a very wild shot," and goes on to tell what happened once at Maresfield, where he was visiting her:

"After wounding a retriever early in the day and later on peppering the keeper's gaiters he inadvertently sprinkled the bare arms of an old woman who chanced to be washing clothes at her cottage window.

"I was attracted by her screams, and took in the situation at a glance and went to the cottage door.

"My wounded, my lady!" she cried. "My good woman," said I, "this ought to be the proudest moment of your life! You have had the distinction of being shot by the great Duke."

Ma Was Different.

A boy wrote a composition on the subject of the Quakers, whom he described as a sect who never quarreled, never got into a fight, never clawed each other and never jawed back. The production contained a postscript in these words:

"Pa's a Quaker, but ma isn't."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

His Ambition.

"To think," said the prison visitor, "that you will have to go through life as an ex-convict!"

"Well, miss," replied Crowbar Claude, "to tell you the truth, just at present there ain't nothing I'd like more to be."—Exchange.

Her Only Mood.

"Not exactly," replied the mariner, "but I'm not out of practice. Every evening I go to the club and spend hours in a rocking chair whose motion has given many men seasickness." Washington Star

The Yellow Claw

Was It the End of It?

By CLARISSA MACKIE

Perkins entered his employer's private office and laid a square paper wrapped package at Murray's elbow.

"By parcel post, marked 'Personal,'" he murmured apologetically and went away as silently as he had come.

John Murray stared at the package with incredulous eyes. Suddenly his jaw set firmly and he jumped up and, locking the door to the outer office, went to his safe and took from an inner compartment two other packages of the same size and shape as the one Perkins had just brought in.

With the three packages ranged before him on the desk, John Murray studied them with knitted brow.

They were exactly alike. He opened one of the packages.

Within was a square box of Chinese red lacquer, with a powdering of gold on the lid. The box was perhaps ten inches square and three inches deep. Murray lifted the lid and gazed long at the strange contents of the box.

On a bed of red silk lay a hand—a hideous, claw-like hand—with long, transparent nails. The thing was made of yellow wax, but so perfect was the workmanship and so faithfully had the artisan carried out his idea that the yellow hand seemed like that of a living human hand, a veined and knotted hand, with muscled fingers half curled, as if in malignant desire to clutch, to strangle, to kill.

There was nothing else in the box save the yellow, claw-like hand.

With set lips Murray opened the second box and disclosed a facsimile of the waxen hand and the third box and saw still another hand. But this last hand contained in the box just arrived was closed, as though it held something in a death grip.

Murray shuddered a little, for he knew that the throat which the Yellow Claw lunged to grasp was his own.

He knew that the death grip was intended for his own strong, brown throat.

Murray knew that he had received the three warnings and that if he did not obey the last one—well, he drew a sharp breath and walked to the window—well, if he didn't heed the third warning, why, he would disappear as mysteriously as Henderson had vanished three months before or as completely as Moore had dropped out of sight six months ago.

"I will speak to Swinnerton. He must advise me," muttered Murray as he thrust the boxes back into the safe and locked the door.

As he spoke there came a rap at the office door.

He turned the key and admitted Perkins, who darted little, snaky glances around the room as he delivered his message:

"Mr. Swinnerton to see you, sir."

"Send him in, please," said Murray shortly and he pushed forward a deep chair for his visitor, who entered almost immediately. Tom Swinnerton was a tall, thin, anxious looking young man with fair hair tousled over his fine forehead. He sank down in the chair and tossed his hat on the desk.

"Hope I don't bore you, Murray, but I've heard from them," he said with a nervous laugh.

John Murray uttered a faint echo of the laugh.

"I'm in the same box, Tom. I've heard three times."

"My God, Murray!" gasped the other. "You don't mean—why, what are you going to do about it?"

Murray shrugged his shoulders. "The third call came only half an hour ago."

"I've heard twice. I came to ask your advice," shuddered the younger man, fixing his anxious eyes on Murray's strong face.

"There's only one thing to do, Tom, after all"—and Murray turned suddenly and sat down close to his visitor. He spoke in a whisper: "You know we four, Moore and Henderson, you and I, promised to obey the call of the Yellow Claw at any time in return for which they allowed Henderson to go free after that fiasco of his up the river. Those were rough days for foreigners in China, and, well, I don't believe any one of us expected to be called upon to do what the Yellow Claw demands. Henderson must have refused and Moore as well, for you know they have both disappeared."

"Well, what is the one thing to do, John?" asked Tom after a while.

"Go down into Chinatown, find out what they want and then decide what is best to be done."

"When shall we go?"

"Tonight is best. I've had my last call. The third hand held a garrotter's cord. Jove, they're an uncanny set, these Chinese!" Murray arose and paced the floor.

"Why Chinatown? We don't know where to go," objected Tom.

"They've come by parcel post. I've investigated and can tell you the veriest from which they were mailed. And I'm pretty sure that when we get into Chinatown there will be some one looking out for us to take us to the Yellow Claw."

The two men dined in silence, and when the early twilight was falling they walked slowly up Dupont street, touching elbows with slant eyed Asiatics who had formed this foreign settlement in California's largest city.

As they passed a dark alley a Chinese stepped forth and held out a lean hand toward them.

"Come," he said in a shrill whisper, and the two followed, knowing that they had received the dreaded summons.

Down the alley, lighted at long distances by small smoky oil lamps above grim doorways, through a broken arch, a turn to the left, through a swiftly opened door, down an ill lighted passage, at the end of which were broken steps leading down into a black void. Their guide produced a candle, lighted it and led the way down other steps into the bowels of the earth. At last he paused before a black painted door and rapped softly three times, then three times again.

The door swung inward and disclosed a dimly lighted room.

Under a canopy of richly embroidered satin there sat on a cushioned teakwood chair a dignified figure clad in a Chinese robe of stiff brocade. On the breast of the tunic hung a heavy chain of amber beads and from the beads there swung a life size waxen hand—the replica of the three that John Murray had received, and of the two that had come to Swinnerton.

The face of the man in the chair was hidden under a queer mask of painted porcelain, but his bright dark eyes shone through narrow slits beneath the painted brows.

Murray looked around to find that the door was closed and their guide had disappeared. They were alone with the grim figure in the chair.

"Advance," murmured the figure in English, and the two obeyed mechanically. Murray's hand rested on the revolver in his coat pocket.

"You have come in obedience to the beckoning of the Yellow Claw?" went on the voice monotonously; "are you prepared to keep your promise made to the most high Feng Soy?" His voice dropped to a whisper as he added a few words of secret import. A dead silence followed his speech.

"What is it you wish us to do?" asked Murray at last.

Again the personage bowed his covered head and whispered short abrupt sentences that caused his hearers to stiffen with horror.

Their faces were white like drifted snow when they lifted them to the impassive porcelain mask. Swinnerton's eyes were fixed on the bright dark eyes of the personage with a strange intensity; it was as if he was trying to wring some secret from the keeper of the Yellow Claw—as if he was racking his memory for some clue. Murray broke the silence.

"And if we refuse?" he asked.

"If you refuse," answered the voice, "Henderson and Moore will no longer be alone."

Tom was laughing and in either clutch band was a revolver; his long neck was thrust forward and his head nodded waggishly at the personage.

For the first time the figure in the teakwood chair moved, the hands sought folds of the voluminous robes and fashed out again.

Four revolver shots deafened the air, and when the smoke had cleared away Swinnerton was sitting on the floor with a bullet through his arm, while the teakwood chair was empty.

On the silken carpet before the dais was a huddled form under folds of stiff brocade.

Murray leaned over his friend and assisted him to rise.

"Tom, are you badly hurt?"

"A scratch on my arm. I believe Perkins is dead. Better look and see," returned the other with a dry laugh.

"Perkins? What are you talking about?"

"Why, I guess you'll find that the Yellow Claw is nothing less than your confidential clerk, Perkins. I thought his face was familiar, but couldn't place it. Remember Blake, the renegade white man who got Henderson into that trouble up the Yangtze?"

"Yes, of course; but Perkins?"

"Perkins is Blake, and the fiasco has been working us four to the limit. Must have robbed and murdered Moore and Henderson. Both wore handsome jewelry and carried large sums of money when they disappeared. Let us get out of this."

"But the Yellow Claw?" protested Murray, unconvinced that all these years of uneasiness and the last few weeks of terror had been inspired by the machinations of his snaky eyed clerk.

"Perkins is the Yellow Claw. It doesn't exist outside of China. That's my best bet. He's used his knowledge to blackmail us, and he may be the tool for treasonable powers higher up. Remember the sums of money he demanded? Whew!"

Murray stepped to the prostrate form and turned it over. The porcelain mask fell away and disclosed the dead face of Perkins. The waxen hand at his neck was red with blood.

Without another word the two Americans left the room. Together they ded silently by strange passages and through crooked corridors, darting blindly here and there, up darksome stairways, until, guided by a watchful Providence, they found themselves in a dim courtyard that was peopled only in the shadows. No one stayed their flight, for no one cared. Each had his own affairs, and murder was a common thing.

Finally they came to the Signal building, and Murray helped his companion up to the office and telephoned for a physician to attend to Swinnerton's wounded arm.

"Now to live," muttered Swinnerton with a grim smile. "The Yellow Claw is dead."

But Murray shivered as if he felt the cold breath of some evil premonition. "I am not so sure about that," he said slowly.

Late at the Play.

We know from Peps and from passages in the plays of contemporary dramatists that the manners of theater audiences in the restoration epoch were not nice, but there is no reason to believe that even the fops habitually arrived at the theater late. Mr. Sparkish, Mr. Novel and their fellows would talk loudly while the play was going on, to show the superiority of their wit to the poet's, but they likely were on hand early to lose none of the fun. In later epochs of English theater history theater going was a serious undertaking, not a mere pastime. One can tell from the beginnings of old plays that the authors counted on audiences closely attentive from the first. Lady Randolph is the first speaker in "Douglas," Orestes in "The Distressed Mother," Almedra in "The Mourning Bride." The custom of "playing the audience in" with a short piece was of still later origin. Perhaps about that time the habit of going late to the theater became common. "Half price" for late comers was a custom of Thackeray's time.—Westminster Gazette.

Cruikshank at Eighty.

"Among the many people whose acquaintance I made in Richardson's rooms was old George Cruikshank. I happened incidentally to remark that I wasn't very well, when Cruikshank in his genial manner exclaimed: 'What? Not well? A powerful young fellow like you ought to be ashamed of yourself to talk of being unwell! Here, let me see you do this.'"

"He sprang up, took the tongs and poker from the fireplace, crossed them on the floor like two swords and then, whistling his own air, danced a highland sword dance with great agility and accuracy, keeping it up for at least a quarter of an hour. As he threw himself into a chair, somewhat exhausted by his efforts, he said, 'Now, then, when I'm dead you can say you saw old Cruikshank when he was over eighty years of age dance the sword dance in Dr. Richardson's room.'"

From "Pages From an Adventurous Life."

Punished the Selfish One.

The Bale-Geneva express, says the London Standard Geneva correspondent, was overcrowded the other day and several travelers had to stand in the corridors of the second class coaches. One tourist saw a seat vacant, but covered with luggage, and asked a passenger sitting near whether the seat was "occupied." "Yes," replied the stranger, "the man is in the restaurant car, and will return soon."

There the matter ended until the express reached Lausanne, when the owner of all the luggage prepared to get out.

"Pardon me," said the tourist, "that luggage does not belong to you," and called the guard. The latter sided with the tourist, and the whole matter was placed before the station master. The selfish traveler had to prove, piece by piece, that the luggage on the seat belonged to him, and he finally was obliged to pay for two second class tickets.

The Charm She Wore.

Many are the charms adopted by society women with a grain of superstition in their makeup, and one of the most unique is that worn by a young matron who spends much of her time at Atlantic City. Attention being called to her curious pendant—a polished substance set in pearls and suspended from a slender gold chain—she was asked what manner of stone it might be. "Stone?" she laughed. "It's just plain, ordinary wood. You see, I have a most unfortunate tendency to boast, and at such times caution tells me to knock wood. Oftentimes there is no wood at hand, so all I have to do to save myself from my rashness is to tap my little lock. Simple, ain't it?"

—New York Tribune.

Beautiful India.

India bears no same relation to the Orient that Italy does to Europe. It is the home of palaces, temples and monuments; it is the home of beautiful art work in many materials. Most of its cities have a splendid historical past that is seen in richly ornamented temples and shrines, in the tombs of its illustrious dead and in palaces that surpass in beauty of decoration anything which Europe can boast.

"The Critic in the Orient."

Setting Him Right.

They were enjoying a motor ride and had just entered a country road.

"May I kiss your hand?" he asked, a little confusedly.

She removed her veil.

Blair Lee on The Principle of Direct Primaries

In his speech of acceptance of the Democratic nomination for United States Senator, Blair Lee gave utterance to the following sentiments which are thoroughly characteristic of the great leader of Woodrow Wilson Democracy in Maryland and which should determine the conduct of all true Democrats in Somerset county at the approaching election:

"Believing as I do in the principle of direct primaries, the rule of and submission to the will of the majority within the party, I desire to go further and urge, as I have consistently done in the past, the united, hearty and unqualified support of every successful Democratic candidate in Baltimore City and each of the counties of the State."

This is a clean-cut announcement of the principle involved in direct primaries and of a Jeffersonian doctrine that should be cheerfully accepted by every voter who affiliated as a Democrat and participated in the recent Democratic primaries. In Somerset county Democrats have just emerged from a primary contest which was conducted under the provisions of a law which guaranteed a fair count and finally and fairly ascertained the will of the majority of those voting in the primary.

No man who voted in the primaries and calls himself a Democrat can fail to give "heartily and unqualified support to every successful Democratic candidate." More than twenty-six hundred citizens voted in the primaries in this county on September 8th. These citizens are bound by every principle of honor and fair play to bow to "the will of the majority" and in the capacity of acquiescence in the popular Democratic will, the Democratic ticket will be elected by an unprecedented majority on November 4th.

Rally Democrats! Rally men who profess allegiance to the principle involved in direct primaries! Rally Woodrow Wilson Democrats and give to the people of the State the highest and best possible proof that you are what you profess to be—believers in "the rule of the majority" and in the capacity of the people for self-government. Live up to your political creed and your Democratic professions when you enter the booth on general election day. By your ballots show your belief in the true intent and spirit of the direct primary law and in this way vindicate that law.

This is your duty as Democrats, this is your obligation as honorable men. By your deeds, not by your words, men will judge you now and hereafter, when you profess your belief in "the principle of direct primaries, the rule of and submission to the will of the majority within the party."

Fun, If Not Temperance

Joint debates were the features of the old political campaigns "before the war," but these oratorical duels have become almost as scarce nowadays as affairs of honor under the old-fashioned code. These intellectual contests were the delight of our fathers and grandfathers, and Greek met Greek and giant met giant in them to the edification and entertainment of multitudes. They threw light on the issues of the day and furnished the voter with information not otherwise always obtainable. Some of these joint discussions, such as those between Lincoln and Douglas, helped to make history, as well as to make the debaters famous. But whether they changed votes or merely riveted previous convictions, they provided interest and excitement and constituted a popular show. At present the press has become the debaters' forum, and the average voter is so well informed on public questions that he is a dangerous critic. The orators who get up to debate before him must mind their p's and q's and be sure to cross their t's right if they are to secure the approval of a severe censor.

Yet that this old form of combat is still popular was shown by the interest taken in the Rayner-Cockran debate in this city in 1912, and the interest which has been aroused by the coming debate at the Lyric between the champion of cold water and the champion of more exhilarating beverages. Not many votes are likely to be changed by the discussion, but it promises "lots of fun" and excitement and very little temperance on either side. Every son of man and nearly every daughter, too, loves a real fight and a real fighter, and everybody will hope that the contest at the Lyric will justify the advance notices of the press agents, and be so full of fiery and melodramatic points as to make the auditors feel that they have not wasted their evening.—Baltimore Star.

State Bonds Sold

The Board of Public Works, last Thursday, disposed of $1,174,000 of bonds of the State of Maryland, the full unsold balance of issues aggregating $5,000,000 issued for state roads, care of the insane and the erection of State Normal school buildings. J. S. Wilson, Jr., & Co., of Baltimore, and White, Weld & Co., of New York, joint bidders, were awarded the bonds, their bid being at the rate of $97.081. The price received for the bonds is considerably higher than that for lots recently sold, and the state authorities are gratified at the results.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Mortgagee's Sale OF VALUABLE Real Estate

By virtue of the power contained in a mortgage from Margaret C. Bruce to the undersigned, dated the 18th day of September, 1909, recorded among the land records of Somerset county, in the State of Maryland, in Liber S. F. D., No. 52, folio 392, etc., I will sell at public auction at the Court House door, in Princess Anne, Maryland, on

at or about the hour of 3.30 o'clock p. m., the following described real estate in Dublin district, Somerset county, Maryland, being all the real estate described and conveyed in said mortgage, namely:

First—All that part of the land conveyed in said mortgage which lies on the west side of the county road leading from George Dryden's to Costen Station, known as the Folly Ditch Road, situate near said Station, being the same land which was conveyed by the said Margaret L. Bruce to George F. Patterson, by deed dated the 14th day of September, 1910, recorded among said records in Liber S. F. D., No. 55, folio 268, etc., containing more or less, whereon the said Patterson now resides, and improved by a dwelling house, barn, and other outbuildings.

Second—All that part of the land conveyed in said mortgage which lies on the east side of said county road, near said Station, being the same land which was conveyed by the said Margaret L. Bruce to John Hostetter by deed dated the 18th day of September, 1910, recorded among said records in Liber S. F. D., No. 55, folio 103, etc., containing more or less, lying opposite the first parcel hereinbefore described, whereon the said Hostetter formerly resided, and improved by a dwelling house and outbuildings.

The above described parcels of real estate will first be offered separately and then as a whole, and if the highest bid for the whole exceeds the aggregate of the highest bids for the two parcels, the highest bid for the whole will be accepted, otherwise the highest bids for the several parcels will be accepted.

WILLIAM M. NOCK,
Mortgagee in said Mortgage.

Ready for Vigorous Campaign

With three complete State tickets in the field, the general campaign will probably open within the next two weeks and from then on a most vigorous contest will be waged throughout Maryland. Seldom in the history of Maryland politics have the prospects for Democratic victory been brighter than they are in this contest. It is declared that the Democrats have named, not only on their State ticket, but on the general legislative ticket, some of the strongest men that have ever aspired to office in this State. Many of them have excellent public records and all of them are men of the highest standing in the State. From present indications, the Democrats will sweep the State. This is admitted by Republicans, as well as Progressive leaders and workers. The Republican party is divided against itself. The Progressive party has considerably diminished in numbers since the last fight. The Democratic party is more harmoniously and enthusiastically united than it has been for years. When the Democrats begin their campaign it is their intention to whoop things up in every county and in Baltimore city. Not only will local orators be called upon to take the stump, but it is expected that some members of Congress will be asked to come to Maryland to help to elect the State ticket. As a United States Senator and one Congressman are to be elected in Maryland, the Democratic members of Congress are much interested in these contests. It is expected that, during the height of the Maryland campaign, Congress will be in session, and thus it will be easy for Democratic orators in Congress to come to this State to make speeches.—Democratic Telegram.

—"The Girl of the Eagle Ranch," a western comedy in four acts, will be presented at the Auditorium Tuesday evening, October 7th, by a fine company of 10 people, under the direction of Whipples & Hilbert, the well-known producers of clean plays. They have special scenery, high-class vaudeville between each act, catchy music. Reserved seats on sale at B. H. Dougherty's store. Prices 50c, 35c and 25c.

—The eighty-seventh stated meeting of the New Castle Presbytery will meet in Wicomico Church, Salisbury, today (Tuesday), and Wednesday, October 7th and 8th. The Rev. H. L. Bunstein will retire from the office of moderator, and there will be an election of officers for the year. A special feature will be an address by W. C. Pearce, associate-general secretary of the International Sunday School Association.

—Mr. J. H. Hallberg, a lawyer of Chattanooga, Tenn., was injured in a runaway at Kingston, this county, on Monday afternoon of last week, as was his wife, who was with him in the vehicle. Mr. Hallberg had been on a visit to his parents at Kingston and was driving out with his wife, when the horse became frightened and ran away. The man was thrown out and his right leg broken, and his wife's ankle was dislocated and badly fractured.

—The Second Bi-Annual Eastern Shore Sunday School Convention to be held in Salisbury October 7th to 9th will be under the supervision of the Maryland Sunday School Association. Speakers of international reputation are to be present, and a large delegation representing the various churches on the Eastern Shore. On Wednesday evening, October 8th, the big parade will be held, starting at 7.30, and will proceed to the Asbury Methodist Episcopal Church where services will be held. A very interesting program has been prepared for each day and evening.

—Mr. Henry Sterling, of Salisbury, spent Sunday, in Princess Anne, with is mother, Mrs. Ashton Mills.

—The story of the New Hampshire woman flagging a train with her petticoat is hard to believe in view of the present styles.

—The Somerset County Sunday School Convention will be held at Antioch M. E. Church, Princess Anne, on Nov. 6th and 7th.

—The duck season in Somerset will open on November 1. The State duck bill, passed in 1910, made the season uniform throughout the State.

—Miss Maude Wilson, of Orle, is in charge of the C. & P. telephone office in Princess Anne during the absence of Miss Eva Lankford, who is on her vacation.

—Mrs. Charles E. Davis, youngest daughter of the late J. Newell Reid, died at her home in Cranberry, N. J., last Wednesday, aged 42 years. Her death was due to chronic indigestion. Funeral services were held at her late home on Friday. Mrs. Davis is survived by her husband and one son, Charles Newell. She was a sister of Mrs. Marion Gunby Huffington, whose death was chronicled last winter, and was well known in Princess Anne.

—To Form State Institution

It is stated that upon the consolidation of the Dorchester and Farmers and Merchants National Banks, of Cambridge, the charters of the two institutions will be surrendered and a State bank established. The new institution will have a capital stock of $100,000 and a surplus of an equal amount.

It is said the Dorchester Bank will divide its undivided profits among its stockholders, leaving its surplus of $50,000 untouched, while the Farmers and Merchants Bank will reduce its stock from $60,000 to $50,000, and levy an assessment of about $10,000 in order to bring the surplus up to $50,000.

That the new bank will be a State institution seems to bear out the statement that a community of interest will be established between it and the Eastern Shore Trust Company. It is said that former Governor Henry Lloyd, now president of the Dorchester Bank, will head the new institution, with William F. Applegarth, Governor of Goldsborough and W. Lake Robinson as vice-presidents.

Mutual life insurance dividends are to be exempt from the income tax on corporations. This will be gratifying to policy-holders. Moreover, it will be more justice to them. In fact, the so-called dividends are not dividends in any proper sense of the word. They are drawbacks or returns to the policy-holders of excess premiums. Every mutual life insurance association collects from its members a little more in premiums than will probably be required. This is done to meet extraordinary emergencies, such as war or epidemics, when the death rate is apt to rise suddenly. When this anticipated emergency fails to materialize the excess is refunded. The "dividends" represent savings, not profit. Philadelphia Record.

Yes, Paint

may be high next year, so much work has been put off and more may be.

Men don't know that it costs more money to wait than to paint; it costs about 10 per cent. to wait, and not over 5 for the extra price.

What is 5? About $2.50 on the average job (3000 square feet); 10 gallons Devco, 15 of average paint; yes, 20 of some.

Suppose there's plenty of oil next year, won't paint go down? Yes, a little; there can't be plenty of oil; the demands settle that. Half the work of last year and this is waiting; so stupid we are.

FREAKISH PHOTOS

Moonlight Effects Obtained by Taking the Sun.

TRICK OF THE GHOST FAKE

"Speak" and "Vision" Pictures Only Require a Little Care and Simple Apparatus, and It Is Easy to Photograph a Man Inside a Pint Bottle.

Moonlight effects in photography are generally gained by trickery. Of course it is possible to take photographs by moonlight, the exposure varying from thirty minutes to two hours. The results, however, are rarely satisfactory, owing to the movement of the shadows producing a blurred effect in the finished print. To obtain a moonlight picture of the approved sort—a fine cloud effect with the moon casting a long line of brilliant light upon water—special preparations must be made.

A rather cloudy sunset must be chosen. Then when the sun drops low on the horizon and is partly obscured by the cloud bank, one seizes the opportunity to secure a snapshot (the lens being well "stopped down") right into the eye of the light. The plate thus obtained should be slightly underdeveloped. If all has gone well the resulting negative will supply a picture exactly resembling a moonlight effect, and by carefully gumming a small circle of opaque paper upon the film one is able to print out the "moon" into the bargain.

Photographs in which the snow appears to be falling are usually produced by artificial means. If the subject is to be a portrait the sitter should be garbed appropriately and placed before a wintry background. When the negative is obtained it should be dried and well varnished, then placed flat upon a table with the film side uppermost. Take a soft toothbrush charged with rather thick India ink and carefully mixed up with water and draw it over the teeth of the comb, which should be held some little distance from the negative. If this operation is carefully managed the result will be an irregular spattering of the pigment upon the varnished film, and when this is dry a print will be produced which looks just as though the negative had been taken in a snowstorm.

Photographs of the class in which ghosts or visions appear may be "faked" in several ways. The first of these may be described in the duplicate exposure method. Suppose, for example, we wish to photograph a man inside a bottle which will hold no more than a pint of liquid. To accomplish this apparently impossible feat proceed as follows: First photograph the bottle standing upon a dull black support and with similar background. While focusing take care to mark out what will be the bottle's boundaries on the plate by fixing little pieces of gummed paper to the ground glass screen of the camera. Then get your man to stand or sit in a chair upon a black cloth with a smooth black curtain behind him. Focus upon him so that he falls within the boundaries of the bottle, this being easily managed by means of the gummed paper guides. Finally expose the plate which has already been used to photograph the bottle, and when this is developed your friend will duly appear inside.

This method will be found in practice to explain many pictures which at first seem very astonishing. To make a "vision fake" arrange a little scene, such as a bare room with an empty hearth, with your model sitting listlessly in the foreground. Make your first exposure on this scene, being careful to mark out on the ground glass screen the space into which the vision must fall. A dark curtain or dark woodwork should occupy this space in the first picture. Now procure a sheet of dead black paper, mount it evenly upon stiff card and with a little Chinese white sketch out an appropriate vision.

If you cannot do this yourself get an artist friend to help you, but see that the sketch is placed in the correct spot—i. e., the spot which you have arranged for it to occupy in the finished picture. When the sketch is finished set it up before the camera, focus and see that it falls within the required boundary upon the screen. Then expose again the plate which has already done duty and—if no miscalculations have been made—an interesting "vision" picture will result.

The ghost "fake" may be made in exactly the same way, only in this case an appropriate scene would be a deserted churchyard, with your model posing in an awestruck attitude beside a tomb. In all photographs of this kind the reader should bear in mind that a dead black background does not appreciably affect the sensitized plate, but a show plate should be used whenever this is possible, as by this means any slight tendency to "fog" will be obviated.—Scientific American.

Plain Talk From Home.

Won Their Pardon.

From the time of the story of Damon and Pythias various reasons for temporary release from jail have been given. It is related that in the Napoleonic era a soldier confined in a military prison for a minor offense against the service during a brief time of peace was released in order that he might be present at the christening of his infant son, born during his imprisonment. But Napoleon, in order to test the intensity of the man's desire, made him agree to serve a year longer for the privilege of a three day furlough. The soldier gladly did it and when he returned found a pardon and a corporal's warrant for his infant son, to be valid when the son had "served with credit six months in the emperor's army of the future." Frederick the Great released an audacious captain under sentence of death so that the captain might "tell him a few beneficial things about himself." The things told face to face influenced the great king to pardon the blunt death defying soldier.—New York Sun.

Beecher Found Them.

Henry Ward Beecher used to visit his old friends once a year for many years, but in the latter part of his life he was not able to do this. In his very last year, however, he was able to spend a day in Indianapolis and went round the place. That evening he was received by the ministers, and the chairman in welcoming him said:

"Doubtless you find few of your old friends here in Indianapolis after so many years of absence, but we who are here welcome you just as warmly."

Mr. Beecher in reply said:
"Your chairman has said that I have found few of my old friends here in the city. It is true. I found only Mr. — Mr. — and Mr. — (naming four or five of the old men of the city). But this afternoon we drove out to Cedar Hill (the cemetery), and I found them. They are all there, sleeping just as peacefully as they used to do under my sermons."

Speed of Animals.

According to the naturalists, no animal is known to have exceeded the speed attained by the famous race horse Sysonby. Instantaneous photographs show the full length of one complete stride of about twenty-six feet. In the stride of the fastest racers the hind quarters and limbs are raised considerably higher than the shoulders and from this relatively great height is brought downward and forward, widely separating from each other, as a sportsman says, "to avoid striking the fore legs." The hare which is hunted with fast dogs has not in reality the speed of the dog. The dog, on the other hand, does not attain the speed of the horse. The hare is said to run at the rate of fifteen yards per second under the most favorable conditions. The elephant, going at a rate of two yards a second, carries a weight approximating that carried by six horses.

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines

If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia, use cough medicines that contain codeine, morphine, heroin, and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant, like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ disease. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world-wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. For sale by all dealers.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Farm and Garden

GROWING A TREE CROP.

Add to Value of a Farm and Bring Money Return in Time.

Eight years ago we planted 800 catalpa trees on one acre, says a correspondent of Farm and Fireside. We now know that the larger profits could have been obtained by planting twice that number. These trees were one-year-old seedlings. The ground was plowed and prepared as carefully as for a corn crop and the young trees carefully cultivated for two years, since which time no time has been spent on them, except a few hours each March in cutting off the lower limbs. The trees are now eight inches in diameter and about twenty-four feet in height. There are now on the acre approximately 800 fenceposts, worth on the ground at least 15 cents each, or $15 a year for the use of the land. This is not a bad rental considering the small amount of labor expended. But we know now that it would be a very wasteful process to cut these young trees, because there is almost a second post to each tree above the one we could use, and in six years more three posts per tree can be cut without any doubt.

We have this plan outlined for the future of the grove. In the next two years we will cut about 800 of the poorer trees and use them. This will leave the 500 best trees to grow to larger size. By the time they are fourteen or fifteen years old they will make three posts to the tree, when there will be 1,500 posts on the acre. Then we will cut 200 trees, making 800 posts, leaving 300 trees to grow to telephone pole size, when they will be worth $1.50 each if there is no advance in price. There would then be a total of $450 worth from the acre. Besides, the thinnings for posts for farm purposes come in conveniently.

Eight years ago I made this same estimate at a forestry meeting, and many thought I was too optimistic, but now we have the trees to show for the first part of the estimate, and if they come up to our expectations as well for the next ten years we will be satisfied.

We have planted each year since and now have good trees of different species growing on five acres of land on a farm which otherwise would be without any timber supply.

A NAME FOR THE FARM.

A name for the farm home is an important asset. It not only lends dignity to the business of farming, but it gives the farmer himself, the boys and girls and all those connected with his household a greater pride and attachment for the place.—Kimball's Dairy Farmer.

Treating a New Rope.

A new rope, particularly if it is sisal, often causes trouble because of its stiffness. If used as a hayfork rope or in any place where it is apt to be troublesome until it has been used for some time. This trouble may be avoided by boiling the rope in water. The plan usually used is to coil the rope in a boiler or large soap kettle and cover with water and bring to boiling heat. The rope is then stretched out and allowed to dry, when it will be found to be soft and pliable. Manila rope is usually soft enough to use without such treatment.—J. M. Drew, University of Minnesota.

Small Flock Fattens Best.

That chickens intended for market should be divided into small flocks and should be fed heavily on fattening feeds while giving them range in a small grass inclosure is the belief of Professor James G. Halpin of the College of Agriculture of the University of Wisconsin.

The Baltimore Star

The Leading Evening Paper of the South.

The Baltimore Star, established August 17

1903, by the publisher of The Baltimore American, has won its place as the representative evening paper of the South. It gives more news and more reading matter than any other afternoon paper in Maryland. It is especially rich in departments—financial, sporting, society, children, women, and to these departments the best writers of America are regular contributors. The Star is the great home paper for every member of the family. It is a cheerful newspaper, with plenty of entertainment, those who try it keep on taking it.

The Star is elaborately illustrated. It has the first photographs of important events. Its portraits of leading men and women are unequalled.

The Star has two great news services, with wires direct to its offices from all parts of the world. It uses every modern invention and the best enterprise to get all the news.

The Star is different from other Southern papers. It has a quality of its own.

Weds in Intended Shroud

After being pronounced incurable by a score or more of physicians of the first rank and operated on nine times, each time with supposedly fewer chances of recovery, Miss Sophia M. Koerth, of Baltimore, was married last Tuesday night to Jeremiah J. Rallsbach in the dress which she four years ago made with her own hands for her shroud.

Four months ago, after the last operations, Miss Koerth felt for the first time that a cure had been effected. Since then she has been strong enough to carry a market basket half a mile or more and has not felt the faintest trace of former pain.

Miss Koerth's case is well-known among abdominal experts. At one hospital she begged to be operated on, but the surgeons refused to have her put on the operating table, declaring it would mean nothing but death.

Success of The Parcel Post

Whatever derangement may have been caused in the service of the mails owing to the recent increase of parcel post business is confined to the smaller offices. The volume of business resulting from the increase of the weight limit and the reduction of rates has exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the advocates of the innovation. It would not be surprising, therefore, if the available office room and service force had proved inadequate to the prompt handling and delivery of the enormously larger quantity of matter offered for postal transportation.

The manner in which the service has responded, and is responding, to the demands made upon it is gratifying evidence of the general efficiency of the Post Office Department. The added requirements of the parcel post are being met with as little fuss as were the more modest ones at the beginning of the service, in January last. The postal business is evidently capable of expansion to any degree; and, if necessary, it could become the transmitter of the entire retail commerce of the nation and make a good job of it.—Philadelphia Record.

Chronic Dyspepsia

The following unsolicited testimonial should certainly be sufficient to give hope and courage to persons afflicted with chronic dyspepsia: "I have been a chronic dyspeptic for years, and of all the medicine I have taken Chamberlain's Tablets have done me more good than anything else," says W. Good Investment for the Family

In these days of wide vision and broad interests, when what happens at a distance is often of as much concern to intelligent folk as what happens in their own communities, every family ought to subscribe for at least one well-edited city newspaper. For people who measure newspaper value by quality rather than by bulk, there is none better for the purpose of keeping in touch with the progress of events at home and abroad than "The Philadelphia Record."

"The Philadelphia Record" is clean, alert and reliable. It prints the news without color or distortion, as concisely as possible, but always readably. Its daily departments cater to a wide range of interests and tastes. It is a recognized authority on sports, household affairs and fashions. Its market quotations are the standard by which transactions in farm products are governed throughout the territory it serves. Thorough covering of the news fields of its own and neighboring States has always been a valuable "Record" feature, and one which its army of readers in the smaller cities and town of Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware and Maryland appreciate.

There is information and entertainment in "The Philadelphia Record" for every member of the family, and a subscription to that newspaper is a profitable investment in the interest of the home.

Wilson to Review Cavalry

President Wilson was given an opportunity during the first week of October to review the largest aggregation of mounted troops of the regular army that has assembled in Washington since the grand review in the late sixties of the seasoned veterans led by Generals Grant, Sherman and Sheridan. This aggregation, composed of the Tenth, Eleventh and Fifteenth Regiments of Cavalry which has been encamped at Winchester, Va., since the middle of July and will break camp October 1st.

It is planned to have these regiments march to Washington, where the President may review them. During their stay in Washington they will be encamped at Fort Myer, Va., and at the Washington Barracks. There are three thousand men and horses in all. Their work at Winchester trying out various plans of troop, squadron, regimental and brigade formation and the latest drills and exercises as set down by the Cavalry Board, which studied cavalry methods of Europe for some time, has put them in the finest condition.

Panama Canal Has Cost Nearly $300,000,000

The total cost of the work on the Panama Canal, down to May 30, was $295,587,618.41. These figures are given in the Panama Canal Commission's report to the Secretary of War, just made public.

Over $16,000,000 of this amount was spent for health, or sanitation. Over $6,000,000 went for civil administration, and almost $3,000,000 has been spent thus far on the fortifications. The actual work of construction and engineering had cost, on May 30, $182,187,886.

There is, besides, the $50,000,000 paid for the old French rights and for the canal zone; the interest on the canal bonds; and some part of the army expenses which might properly be charged to the canal. Including these items and the costs yet to come, it is seen that the estimate of $400,000,000 made by Current Events years ago will be very nearly correct.

Livestock Increase on National Forest Ranges

A marked increase in the quantity of livestock grazed on national forest ranges during the past fiscal year is reported by the forest service. Nine and a half million domestic animals have been occupied during the summer in converting one of the by-products of the forests into meat, hides and wool. In addition, there were in round numbers three hundred thousand calves and colts, and five million lambs and kids exempt from permit and therefore not enumerated.

According to the figures gathered, the amount of stock grazed under permit during the year is over four per cent. greater than for the previous year, while the number of permittees using the forests for pastorage purposes was increased from 26,501 to 27,466. The total receipts by the government from grazing fees for the twelve months ending June 30, 1913, were $1,007,739, and the portion of this applied to schools and roads in the states in which the national forests are situated is about $352,708.

It is satisfied that the annual product of these animals is 300,000 head of beef cattle of various ages and grades and 5,000,000 head of lambs and mutton sheep.

Since the average net meat weight of a beef animal is 515 pounds, of a lamb 37 pounds, and of a sheep 52 pounds, the stock grazed on national forests in the eleven far-western states produce annually about 156 million pounds of beef and 312 million pounds of mutton. In addition, it is said the wool grown totals 55,000,000 pounds; hides approximate 300,000 in number; and pelts 5,000,000.

The Conquest of Typhoid

Typhoid fever, the scourge of armies, has been conquered by vaccination. That is the substance of a report made by Major Frederick F. Russell of the U. S. Medical Corps.

In all past wars, more soldiers were killed by disease than by bullets, and typhoid has been the worst of the diseases. It will not be so in the future, if Major Russell's report is even in small part correct.

In the war with Spain, of 10,759 soldiers in camp at Jacksonville, 2,693 had typhoid. In the whole army there were about 5,000 deaths. Even in time of peace, when the greatest care was taken, there were 300 to 600 cases of this disease in the army every year. That was before typhoid vaccination was known. The first year that this treatment was widely used in the army was 1910. In that year over 10,000 soldiers were vaccinated, and the number of cases of typhoid dropped to 70 in 1911. A rule was then made, that every soldier must take typhoid vaccination.

In 1912, which was the first year in which the entire army had taken the treatment, there were but 27 cases. Now there are none. For almost a year there has not been a single case of typhoid fever among our 80,000 soldiers.

Major Russell also reports that during the past four years more than 20,000 persons have taken the typhoid vaccination without a single death or serious illness from this cause.

The conquering of typhoid appears to be one of the greatest victories of peace. With smallpox and typhoid thus reduced to almost nothing by vaccination, the question arises: May not many other diseases be overcome by like means?

DEMOCRATIC MEETING

State Candidates to Speak in Princess Anne Oct. 22nd

A Democratic Rally will be held at the Auditorium, in Princess Anne, on Wednesday, October 22nd, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. Arrangements are being made to have one of the largest meetings on this occasion ever held in this town. A large band has been engaged and reserved seats will be provided for the ladies.

The list of speakers will include the Hon. Blair Lee, candidate for the United States Senate; Hon. Emerson C. Harrington, candidate for State Comptroller; and Hon. C. C. Magruder, candidate for Clerk of the Court of Appeals. In addition to the above-named speakers it is expected that either Congressman Thomas F. Heflin, or Mr. Albert C. Ritchie, of Baltimore, will also be present to address this meeting.

The Democratic State Central Committee especially requests the Democratic district leaders and workers to work up sentiment in their districts and get the people out to attend this meeting. It is especially desired that the farmers come to the meeting to hear the issues discussed.

The Democratic Party has just passed the tariff bill, and President Wilson has signed it. This law is expected to greatly reduce the cost of living, and be of wonderful benefit to the masses of the people. The speakers who will be in Princess Anne on this occasion will be able to tell the people just how much this tariff bill will benefit the masses, and it is most important that every Democrat should come to Princess Anne on the 22nd, and hear the issues of the campaign discussed.

Senator Blair Lee has always been a great favorite with our people, and he will be present on this occasion to deliver one of his usually eloquent and able addresses.

In addition to the above meeting, the Democratic State Central Committee is arranging a complete schedule of local meetings to be held in all the districts in the county.

These meetings will begin on Saturday, October 19th, and on that occasion a meeting is being arranged to be held at the K. of P. Hall at Deal's Island.

It Sounded Like Thunder

By F. A. MITCHEL

I met Lillie Longman and was introduced to her at a barn dance. I fell head over heels in love with her at once. There was some attempt at fancy costume among the girls, and Lillie was dressed like an Indian girl, her long black hair hanging below her waist. I knew scarcely any one there and stood watching a set of dancers who were doing a quadrille or some other of those old fashioned square dances. Lillie was bobbing about, feeling happy in the consciousness of looking very pretty and showing her long locks, and all the while she was firing quick shots at me with her black eyes.

After the dance I hunted for some one to introduce me to Lillie and was successful. The girl had known I was watching her in the dance, and every one of her antics was for me. I wasn't a dancing man and persuaded her to sit out a dance with me. Then a nice looking, dapper young fellow took her for another dance, and I looked on again. This time her antics were for me all the same, but they were of another kind. She flashed her eyes alternately at me and into those of the fellow she danced with. I was too stupid to see through this feminine device then, and it had its effect. Quite likely it would have worked just as well with me if I had seen through it. When a girl wishes to attract and a fellow wishes to be attracted it's the easiest job in the world.

It wasn't long before I was going to see Lillie. She was an orphan and lived with her grandmother, an old lady deaf as a trolley car conductor whose car is jammed full of strap hangers. She was half blind too. But she must have heard by contact with substances if she didn't hear through the air, and, as for seeing, the darker it was the better chance she had of distinguishing objects. She was like other deaf and blind persons in that respect. She couldn't see or hear what she should see and hear, but had remarkable facilities for detecting what was most inconvenient for others for her to know.

About the time I made Lillie's acquaintance her grandmother was taken with her last illness. Lillie loved the old lady, and her approaching demise was an affliction to the niece. As for me, I was but twenty-one years old and had years before me in which to do courting, but so impatient was I that I grudged the old lady what little time she needed from Lillie. I feared I would be too old for matrimony before the invalid got into her grave and ceased to require attention.

Now that I look back on this period I can see that I was very unreasonable. I would go to the house and wait a whole evening for Lillie while she remained upstairs with her grandmother, hoping every minute that she could come downstairs for a brief sitting with me. One evening when I had waited a couple of hours in this way I concluded, considering that the old woman was blind and deaf and her imperfect senses must be further deadened by illness, to go upstairs to the sickroom, steal in and see if I couldn't get a word with Lillie.

I tiptoed up the staircase and to the door of the room, which fortunately I found ajar. Lillie was sitting in a chair where she could see me. She came to the door, and I told her that if she couldn't come to me I was bound to go to her. She went back into the room, turned the light very low and beckoned me to enter. There was a sofa placed where the invalid could not very well see it. I stole toward it, and Lillie and I sat down side by side with our arms around each other.

We whispered more love than today, at fifty, I could talk in a year, and to be heard by each other we scarcely needed to whisper, for when I spoke my lips touched her coral ear, and when she spoke her lips were a millionth of an inch from mine.

"Who's there?" came from the invalid.

Lillie arose, went to the bed and asked her grandmother if she wanted anything. She replied that she thought she heard whispering. Lillie told her that she must be mistaken, put her hand on the sick woman's head to soothe her and told her she had better try to get a little sleep.

When her grandma was satisfied with this or not she said no more, and Lillie, after cuddling her awhile, came back to me. I had been wishing I could burst the remains of the drum of the old lady's ear with a ramrod, but when Lillie came back I felt better. However, we didn't think it prudent to do any more whispering and refrained. I took a pencil from my pocket and some old letters and wrote what I had to say—very short sentences, in every one of which the word "love" figured conspicuously.

Men, instead of choosing, as is supposed, appropriate opportunities for proposals, are quite likely to choose the most unfitting. I was unable to even whisper without being heard by a deaf and dying old woman, and yet I must needs choose the moment to make a declaration (on paper) and ask Lillie to be my wife. She accepted me (on paper), and I sealed our engagement with a kiss which was unintentionally a smack.

"Lillie!" came from the sickbed.

"What, grandma, dear?"

"Is it raining?"

"No, grandma."

"Oh, I thought I heard something that sounded like thunder."

PERSIAN OPIUM.

Turning the Poppy Juice into Dried Cakes For Export.

Persian opium juice is sold in large copper vessels by the grower to the merchant, in whose hands it undergoes several processes in order to preserve it from fermentation and decay. On sunny, fine, hot days the Persian caravansaries, where opium dealers have their magazines, present an interesting picture. The juice is brought out to be prepared into cakes for export.

On large wooden boards, two and a half feet long and one and a half feet broad, the sticky mass is spread out with spade-like tools to permit the water it contains to evaporate. Experienced workers move from board to board, turning over the layers every now and then, that the heat and sun may dry up the exposed surfaces and render the opium fit for making into cakes. In favorable weather this process takes only an hour or so, and the opium is ready for the next manipulation.

It is now scraped off and is rolled into stiff, dough-like lumps and handed to a man who divides it into smaller portions, weighing one pound each, which he passes on to molders, by whom they are pressed into the wooden forms and then laid on a large board for the final drying process. When this is completed the cakes are rolled up in red paper imported specially from China. One hundred and forty-four are put in tin lined wooden boxes, are covered with strong hides and sealed. Two cases form a mule load.—Christian Herald.

Crocodile in a Tree.

An African hunter once found a large crocodile hanging in the fork of a tree about ten feet from the ground. As the place was fully half a mile from any water it was difficult to account for the crocodile's strange position. When questioned about the subject the natives explained that it was put there by an elephant. It seems that when the elephants wade into the Lake Niamai to bathe the crocodiles are in the habit of worrying them and biting their legs. Sometimes when an elephant is annoyed beyond endurance it picks up its tormentor in its trunk, places it among the branches of a tree and leaves it there.—London Graphic.

INSTINCT AND INTELLECT.

The Broad Difference Between the Acts of the Two Powers.

For many years it has been the custom to think of instinct and intelligence as set over against each other. The former represents the inherited reactions of the animal; the latter signifies those acts which the animal learns in the course of its individual life and its power to learn in this fashion.

Instinctive acts are "perfect the very first time," while intelligent acts are slowly acquired. In so far as an animal is dependent on its instincts, it is the victim of its ancestry and of its immediate environment. In so far as it is intelligent, it can adapt its environment to itself, can rise above its immediate surroundings and act in the light of a distant end to be accomplished.

Instinct is blind as to the outcome of its action. Intelligence foresees and modifies its behavior in the light of its foresight. The supreme example of instinct has been the wasp going through an elaborate course of action to provide food for its yet unhatched offspring, seeking out a particular species of caterpillar, stinging every segment just enough to stun the animal, but not kill it, and then depositing the worm at the bottom of its newly made nest where it has laid its egg, covering up the cell and then leaving, never to see the larvae nor to live to do the same act another season. The supremely intelligent animal is man, possessing the earth by the genius of his intellect.—M. E. Haggerty in Atlantic Monthly.

BROKEN ENGLISH.

Wrestling Match a Frenchman Had With One Little Verb.

He was a hard working and intelligent Frenchman, but the verbs still troubled him.

"Ah, yes, m'sieur, I saw Mrs. Brown the other day," he said to an English friend, "and she told—I mean, told me that her school was soon to break down."

"Break up, surely?"

"Ah, yes, break up! Your verbs do trouble me so yet! Break up—that was it!"

"Why was she going to let her school break up so early?"

"Because influenza had broken down in it."

"Broken out. It is a bit puzzling, isn't it?"

"Broken out—ah, yes! And she is going to leave the house in charge of a caretaker, as she fears it might be broken—How do I say that, please?"

"Broken into, I expect."

"That is it. Broken into—by the burglars."

"Is her son married yet?"

"No; the engagement is broken in."

"Broken off. Oh, I hadn't heard of that! Is she worried about it?"

"He only broke up the news to her last week. Is that right?"

"No; you should say just 'broke' there."

"Ah, well; I think I am nearly broke myself by those verbs of yours!"

And he went sadly on his way.—Pearson's Weekly.

Feed and its Flavor.

In a plea for better food in America—really pure food, better cooked—the Journal of the American Medical Association calls on doctors and nurses to make the subject of "serious national import."

"We cook food for at least four reasons," says the Journal. "To sterilize it, to make it nutritious, to render it more easily digestible and to improve or vary its flavor. The last of these is at least as important as any of the others. When the gustatory nerves find in response to the stimulus of some rare condiment or aroma the saliva flows in joyous excitement, and the digestive juices, by whose benign influences food is transformed into nourishment, respond in salutary and fullest measure. The simple and pleasant way to bring this about is to pay proper attention to the flavor of food."

A Rhythmical Criticism.

Professor Brander Matthews was talking of certain past participles that have fallen into disuse, reports the Washington Star.

"The past participle 'gotten' has gone out to England, although it still lingers on with us. In England gotten is almost as obsolete as 'putten.' In some parts of Cumberland the villagers still use gotten and putten, and a teacher once told me of a lesson on the past participles wherein she gave her pupils an exercise to write on the blackboard.

In the midst of the exercise an urchin began to laugh. She asked him why he was laughing, and he answered:

"Joe's put putten where he should have putten put."

Both Sides of It.

Johnny—What does it mean to say "seeing the humorous side of things," dad? Father—Well, let us take an example. How many sides has a banana skin, for instance? Johnny—Two. Father—Exactly. And when some other man steps on the banana skin he sees the serious side of it, and you see the humorous side.—London Answers.

Ingenious.

"Now," said Mrs. Goodart, "if you do a little work for me, I'll give you a good meal after awhile."

"Say, lady," replied Hungry Hawkes, "you'll get off cheaper if yer gimme de meal now. Work always gives me a fierce appetite."—Exchange.

Looking down on others is not the way to make them look up to our selves.

Two Stories.

Elmer, aged six, accompanied his father to the circus one afternoon. Among the many strange and bewildering things he saw was one man standing on the shoulders of another.

"Look, papa!" he exclaimed. "There's a two-story man!"—Chicago News.

To Make Sure.

Mrs. Younglove—If I wasn't afraid baby was sick I do believe I should spank him. Younglove—Well, let's make sure. You begin spanking, and I'll go for the doctor.—Puck.

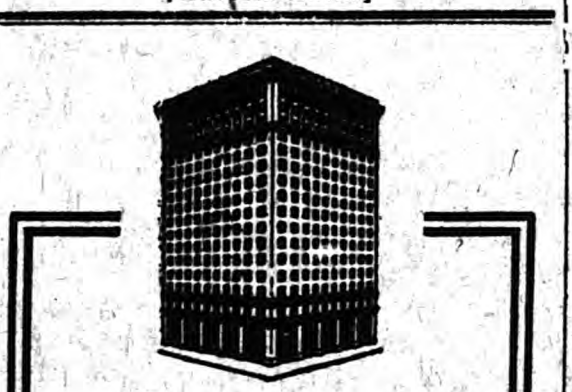

Mated.

"What do you think? Mayme's affinity is a shoemaker?"

"The very man to be a sole mate."—Baltimore American.

The Family Cough Medicine

In every home there should be a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, ready for immediate use when any member of the family contracts a cold or a cough. Prompt use will stop the spread of sickness. S. A. Stid, of Mason, Mich., writes: "My whole family depends upon Dr. King's New Discovery as the best cough and cold medicine in the world. Two 50c bottles cured me of pneumonia." Thousands of other families have been equally benefited and depend entirely upon Dr. King's New Discovery to cure their coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Every dose helps. The Wonderful ALADDIN Lamp Wonderful because it produces a luxurious, soft, white light, excelled only by sunlight. Burns ordinary kerosene or coal oil, the cheapest of all illuminating fuels. Burns Less Oil than Any Other Lamp of Equal Candle Power. Aladdin Lamps are most durable in construction—easiest to take care of—simplest in operation. The light is brighter and easier on the eyes than gas or electricity. Occultists declare the Aladdin Gives The Best Artificial Light Known. Users declare it is not only the best light, but the best lamp known. The Aladdin is superior by test and best. There is No Equal. by comparison. It appeals to those who want unobscured excellence for its own sake—appeals to those who consider economy a first essential. Occles, solid, simple, safe and clean—The Ideal Lamp for the multitude. Don't be bamboozled by an imitation. There is only one Aladdin. Insist on having it. The name is on every burner.

A Mistaken Policy

This community has recently been flooded with literature of the Anti-Saloon League of Maryland reflecting upon Hon. Blair Lee, Democratic candidate for the United States Senatorship, and seeking to influence votes for his Republican opponent, Hon. Thomas Parran.

Blair Lee has hosts of friends in the State of Maryland and in this county. If the Anti-Saloon League expects to deflect these friends from him by its criticisms, we think it will sooner or later realize its mistake. We see no reason why a candidate for the United States Senate should be subjected to such local espionage, or in what respect his Republican opponent is his superior.

The question for the people to decide in this senatorial campaign is not whether or not Mr. Lee's attitude in the legislature upon a local measure was agreeable to the Anti-Saloon League, but whether or not he is in accord with the policy of the present Democratic national administration and is the man fitted to aid in securing satisfactory results for the entire country.

It seems to us that this policy of the Anti-Saloon League savors of supererogation and that, much as people favor temperance and temperance reform, they will hardly permit an organization imbued with one idea to dim their regard for Blair Lee, or to influence their votes to his discredit.

For Father's Day

A bill has been introduced in Congress for the creation of a Father's Day, upon which the churches will be called upon to do honor to the dignity and the life of the paterfamilias. The day is to be on a par with the established Mother's Day. The old man is coming into his own, and if upon this auspicious day of celebration of his virtues he might witness the incineration of all millinery bills and the wiping out of all dreamers' accounts through the benefaction of some of the Crookes of the country in behalf of fathers his preparedness for the songs and incense would be all that might be desired.

But every day is father's day to pay bills. Every day is father's day to do the stunt of making a livelihood for the wife and sextette of children, more or less. Every day is father's day to be made to feel as small as the tiniest potato in the hill, when mamma marches her porch club into the premises with a silent hint for his evacuation until the celery-and-celery feast has been brought to a close.

The Father's Day idea is a tardy effort to galvanize some interest in the existence of the negligible member of the household. The fathers do not want any more days, for the days they now have fill the calendar with recurrent reminders of burdens. As for honors, the fathers know they would have to sound their own trumpet on father's day as on any other day when their existence creates any ripple of interest whatever. —Baltimore American.

Republican Post-Mortem

The Republican National Committee will meet in Washington December 16 under the most depressing circumstances. The very place is ill-selected. If the committee should meet in Chicago or San Francisco it would not have before its very eyes a Democratic Administration and Congress carrying on the government as well as though they had had a century of experience.

When the Republican party recovered from the stunning blow of last November it was cheered by a couple of reflections—one that the Democratic party would commit vast blunders which would have the same effect upon the country as Republican successes, and the other that the party was not beaten by Democrats, but by the insurgents led by Mr. Roosevelt, and that after they had vented their wrath for what they regarded as the counting out of Mr. Roosevelt, they would hurry back to the reservation.

Neither has happened. The administration has been extremely busy. It has been pushing tariff and currency legislation, and dealing with China, Japan and Mexico, and the country gives no sign of recognizing any of its policies as blunders. Tariff "tinkering" went on for half a year without staying the course of business, and the panic and prostration of trade it was to bring about have not appeared. In a Congressional district in Maine half the Progressives seem to have gone back into the old party, but that isn't enough to save the Republicans, and elsewhere there is little evidence that half of the insurgents have laid down their arms. Certainly Mr. Roosevelt has not.

What will the Republican National Committee have to offer the country? A return to high protection? The tranquility of business under a Democratic enactment proves that the country has no strong desire in that direction. That issue will win no more victories for the Republicans, and there is no other on which approximate unanimity can be obtained by Republicans and Progressives.

If the representation of Southern States in national conventions be cut down the probability of the Republicans being swamped by the Progressives will be increased. Is there any individual around whom the Republicans are likely to rally? The only men of marked popularity are La Follette and Hagley, both of whom are thorough-going Progressives, short only of bolting the party last year, and Republican hopes of electing Mr. Stokes in New Jersey rest entirely upon the claims that he is progressive, which means that he cannot be far from being a Progressive.

Certainly the country will never put up with the management of the Republican party of the past few years, and except in the State permeated by the influence of President Wilson it shows no disposition to reform itself and bring forth fruits meet for repentance. The Progressives are buoyant and belligerent, and the people show every sign of contentment with the Democratic regime. The Republican National committee will not have a pleasant meeting unless November shall bring them some encouragement. —Philadelphia Record.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

Shellfish Day November 21

Swenson Earle, secretary of the National Association of Shellfish Commissioners, announced last Tuesday that Friday, November 21, had been selected by the association as National Shellfish Day. All patriotic residents of states in which the shellfish industry is prominent will be urged to eat largely of the products of their waters and to have talks in the public schools on the shellfish industry.

The success of "Oyster Day" last year, which originated in Maryland, is responsible for the creation of "Shellfish Day," and also the plan to have an "oyster week" from October 20 to 25. The observance of oyster week is expected to promote a big boom in the business throughout all the oyster-producing States.

Social Sundays' Calendar

A suggested calendar of social Sundays has just been completed by a special conference committee appointed to study this subject. In the calendar sixteen Sundays of a national character are indicated, of which six are for the furtherance of social propaganda. The full report is made public from the office of The National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, and as a result of the work the calendar has been suggested for 1914, including a number of stated church and national holidays:

January 4th, New Year's Sunday; January 25th, Child Labor Sunday; February 8th, Lincoln's Sunday; February 22nd, Washington's Sunday; April 12th, Easter Sunday; April 19th, Sabbath Observance Day; May 10th, Mothers' Sunday; May 17th, Peace Sunday; May 24th or 31st, Memorial Sunday; June 14th, Children's Sunday; June 28th, Independence Day Sunday; September 8th, Labor Sunday; October 25th, Prison Sunday; November 22nd, Thanksgiving Sunday; November 29th to December 6th, Tuberculosis Day; December 20th, Christmas Sunday.

Mortgagee's Sale OF VALUABLE Real Estate

By virtue of the power contained in a mortgage from Margaret C. Bruce to the undersigned, dated the 13th day of September, 1909, recorded among the land records of Somerset county, in the State of Maryland, in Liber S. F. D., No. 52, folio 392, etc., I will sell at public auction at the Court House door, in Princess Anne, Maryland, on Saturday, Nov. 8th, 1913, at or about the hour of 3.30 o'clock p. m., the following described real estate in Dublin district, Somerset county, Maryland, being all the real estate described and conveyed in said mortgage, namely:

First—All that part of the land conveyed in said mortgage which lies on the west side of the county road leading from George Dryden's to Costen Station, known as the Folly-Ditch Road, situate near said Station, being the same land which was conveyed by the said Margaret L. Bruce to George F. Patterson, by deed dated the 14th day of September, 1910, recorded among said records in Liber S. F. D., No. 55, folio 268, etc., containing more or less, whereon the said Patterson now resides, and improved by a dwelling house, barn, and other outbuildings.

Second—All that part of the land conveyed in said mortgage which lies on the east side of said county road near said Station, being the same land which was conveyed by the said Margaret L. Bruce to John Hostetter by deed dated the 13th day of September, 1910, recorded among said records in Liber S. F. D., No. 55, folio 103, etc., containing more or less, lying opposite the first parcel hereinbefore described, whereon the said Hostetter formerly resided, and improved by a dwelling house and outbuildings.

The above described parcels of real estate will first be offered separately and then as a whole, and if the highest bid for the whole exceeds the aggregate of the highest bids for the two parcels, the highest bid for the whole will be accepted, otherwise the highest bids for the several parcels will be accepted.

TERMS OF SALE:—Cash. Title papers at expense of purchaser or purchasers. WILLIAM L. NOCK, Mortgagee in said mortgage.

Of Interest to Automobilists

Of special interest to automobilists is a decision rendered last Tuesday by Judge Stamp, in Part 2 of the Baltimore City Court, in the case of James Teackle Dennis and Mrs. Dennis against the Motor Car company, as it establishes for the first time in Maryland the rule of the measure of damages when an old automobile is taken on trade at an agreed price, and there has been a failure to deliver the new car.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis had agreed to buy a new machine for $4,750, and the company had agreed to take their old car in part payment at an agreed price. After the company had sold the old one, there was a dispute as to whether the new automobile complied with the provision of the contract. As a result Mr. and Mrs. Dennis bought one of another make, and were told they would be allowed $800 for their old car.

Judge Stamp, before whom the case was tried without a jury, decided that Mr. and Mrs. Dennis were entitled to recover $800 from the Motor Car Company, although its representatives testified that the old car had been sold for $425.

Decatur Memorial Hospital Plan

Within a short time ground will be broken, in Berlin, Worcester County, for a hospital, which will be known as the Decatur Memorial Hospital, in honor of Commodore Stephen Decatur, who was born where the hospital will stand. Mayor Orlando Harrison, the chairman, has donated two acres of ground and $500. Other donations have been received amounting to over $1,000.

The committee in charge of raising the money comprises Mayor Orlando Harrison, Horace Davis, treasurer; and Sidney C. Jones, secretary; Reese C. Peters, Calvin B. Taylor, Samuel M. Quillen, Jr., Charles W. Tingle, Robert J. Showell, Thomas J. Whaley, Henry T. Bell and Edward S. Furubush. The hospital will cost about $7,500.

PAINT

Every gallon cost a painter's day's work. Poor paint, more gallons; good paint, less gallons.

Every extra gallon adds to your job its price and the painter's day's work; not far from $5 a gallon.

RIGHT SOIL FOR ALFALFA.

Deep Loam is Best, but Other Kinds Will Produce Crops.

Many people make the fatal mistake of expecting alfalfa to do well on soils that are not fit properly to produce any kind of crop. says Bulletin 86 of the Purdue university (Indiana) station. There is just as much need of care in selecting and preparing soils for alfalfa as for any other crop and probably more because of its deep rooting habits and large plant food requirements.

Deep, loamy soils with open subsoils are undoubtedly best for alfalfa, but there is plenty of evidence to show that it may be successfully produced on almost any type of soil, from light sandy or gravelly loams and peats or mucks to heavy clays, provided that it is well drained, sweet and properly supplied with organic matter and available plant food.

Many soils that at present are not fit for alfalfa culture may be made so by providing drainage facilities, correcting acidity, adding organic matter or supplying needed plant food, according to the requirements. Good drainage is essential in order that the roots may go deep into the soil. Hardpan must be broken up or avoided altogether. Soils that are sour may be made sweet by thorough drainage and the application of lime.

A good supply of decomposable organic matter in the soil helps the bacterial action in making plant food available, facilitates the inoculating process and, together with a good drainage, prevents heaving in the spring. For soils that are out of condition in this respect a good way to supply organic matter if sufficient manure is not available is to raise and plow under a crop of cowpeas or some other green manuring crop before attempting to grow alfalfa.

Peat and muck soils may be used for alfalfa if they are well drained and properly supplied with mineral plant food. Potash is nearly always lacking in these soils, and often phosphoric acid and lime must also be supplied. Soils that are subject to flooding are not good for alfalfa.

WASTE OF GOOD MATERIAL.

Tons of good humus making material are allowed to lie unused on many farms. Much of the unsightly rubbish which mars the appearance of the premises could be changed into valuable plant food by composting. Every farm and especially every truck farm should have a compost heap into which sods, lawn clippings, leaves and other waste matter could be thrown and rotted down. If wet down and forked over occasionally such stuff will soon be turned into fine garden mold.—Farm Journal.

Fertilizers For Apples.

At a meeting of the Massachusetts Horticultural society Wilfred Wheeler recommended this formula as a basis for fertilizing young apple trees: Six pounds of slag, two pounds of potash (low grade sulphate), one pound nitrate of soda. An application of a pound of this mixture per tree per year of tree's age will keep it growing in a healthy state.

FOR THE POULTRY BEGINNER.

Determine the schedule and ration for feeding the chicks.

Decide whether you will start with hens, hatching eggs or chicks.

Determine the style of laying house and arrangement of the plant.

Properly locate your plant and decide upon the number of layers to keep.

Settle upon the feeding ration for layers and the schedule for working it.

Decide how you will protect your baby chicks from their enemies—rats, cats, dogs, inclement weather.

Decide upon the breed of chickens to be kept and select a breeder from which to get your foundation stock.

Determine the manner of brooding your chicks. Select your equipment and the style of house you intend to install it in.

Determine the method and equipment necessary to raise successfully to the laying age the chicks after they have passed the brooding stage.

Solve the problem of the selling end—how to market your product at a profitable margin above cost.—Country Gentleman.

Winged Creatures of Borneo.

In Borneo winged creatures are encountered where one would least expect them. Flying fish the size of herons are found in all the waters, and there is the flying fox, the well known fruit eating bat, which the Malays call "kruang." They may be seen almost any evening winging their steady flight often at a great elevation well out of range of a shotgun. The flying squirrels as evening twilight comes are also seen. They glide down from one lofty tree to the base of another, up which they scramble to the level they started from. Wide expansions of skin between the fore and hind limbs act in parachute fashion and sustain them in their glide. They are of some size, but are quite harmless. The flying lizard is seen in the heat of the day in the jungle gliding down with a dash in much the same manner as the squirrel. But he is much smaller and it requires a quick eye to detect him. The natives kill him with a clay ball shot from their blowpipes.—North Borneo Herald.

Spiders That Hunt Fish.

There are certain large sea spiders two feet from toe to toe, called Oolondelias gigas, that live in the water and feed entirely upon mollusks and worms.

The carnivorous wolf spider, an amphibious inhabitant of the tropical regions of South America, is said to prefer a fish diet, though it is not averse to eating mice, young birds and even snakes, resembling in this respect the theraphosidae, or bird catching spiders, of India and Queensland, some of which equal a rat in size.

The colossendeis is the most formidable specimen of the spider family, measuring six inches around the body and possessing twelve long, hairy legs, with which it grips its finny prey. It attacks fish several times larger than itself and after biting them through the back and stinging them to death girts itself by sucking the juices from the bodies of its victims.

Enterprise. A well known business establishment recently sent out a circular to the trade with which it has dealings announcing the death of the head of the firm. To the astonishment of the firm, there was received from a printing house the following reply to the circular:

"Gentlemen—It is with deep regret that we learn by your circular of recent date of the great loss sustained by your firm, and we respectfully beg to express our heartfelt sympathy."

"In this connection we observe that your circular is printed by Messrs. Blank & Co. We feel confident that had you placed this order with us we could have quoted you cheaper and better terms than any other firm; consequently in the deplorable event of a future bereavement we trust that you will afford us an opportunity to make you an offer in this regard."—Exchange.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

ALFALFA AND SWINE.

Not the moldy old maxims away out of date, but the porkers we raise, that are paying the freight. They roam through the pastures, red, white, spotted, black, and the wealth they are making fills many a sack. And still opportunity knocks at our door. With the millions we ship, there's a market for more.

On seas of alfalfa, in shadow and abean, float cargoes of feed through the billows of green, and again and again on that marvelous tide the ripples of richness flash, wondrous and wide. Alfalfa, sweet emblem of plenty and charm, may the wave of thy verdure food every farm!

Time comes when each acre must yield without flaw. Production must double its nature's grim law. The cities will team with vast millions that toll, and life, with its hopes, must depend on the soil. What methods more wise could the farmer combine than raising alfalfa and fattening swine?—Brad in Kansas Farmer.

DOUBLE YOUR EGG CROP.

Use of the Trap Nest May Do the Trick—Right Mating Necessary.

In Farm and Fireside a contributor says that poultry raisers can practically double their egg production if they persistently use the trap nest. Following is an extract from his article:

"For the benefit of those who are not acquainted with the trap nest I will explain in detail its purpose. The trap nest is a nest so contrived that when the hen enters she springs a 'trap' which closes the door and holds her captive until she is released by the attendant. The nest is of sufficient size to allow the hen plenty of space to move around in or she would be apt to break the egg."

"By taking the hens of highest trap nest record and mating them with males descended from heavy layers you will lay the foundation of a good strain of heavy layers. By careful trap nest culling and with the same care in breeding year after year, you will build your flock up to a high state of efficiency."

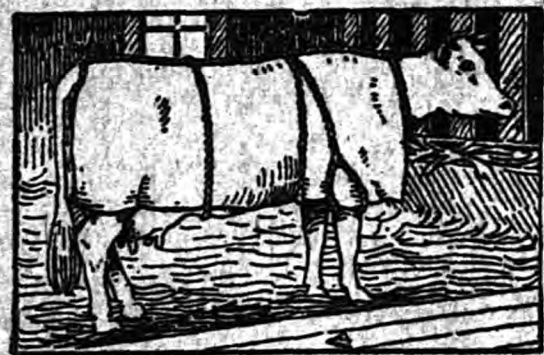

"It is not at all uncommon for flocks that are trap nested to average 180 eggs per hen per year. At the same time these flocks not infrequently contain individuals that have a record of 200 to 230 eggs each per year."

"The latest figures at hand from the department of agriculture declare that the average farm hen lays less than eighty eggs per year. Sixty eggs per hen per year would probably be overestimating the average untrained farm hen. At any rate, the great difference between 200 to 230 eggs and sixty or eighty eggs is enough to think about seriously."

FOR COMING COLD DAYS.

Plan Now to Keep Your Cow Comfortable in Cold Weather.

hind the forelegs. Tie another around the body in front of udder, then make a crupper.

Tie another around each fore leg and fasten at top, then a rope around neck. Now sew two gunny sacks together and slip them under these ropes. Take a darning needle and twine and fasten on sides and top.

When the sacks are worn out cut the fastenings and slip two more under. A good blanket will last no longer than the cheap one described.—Farm and Fireside.

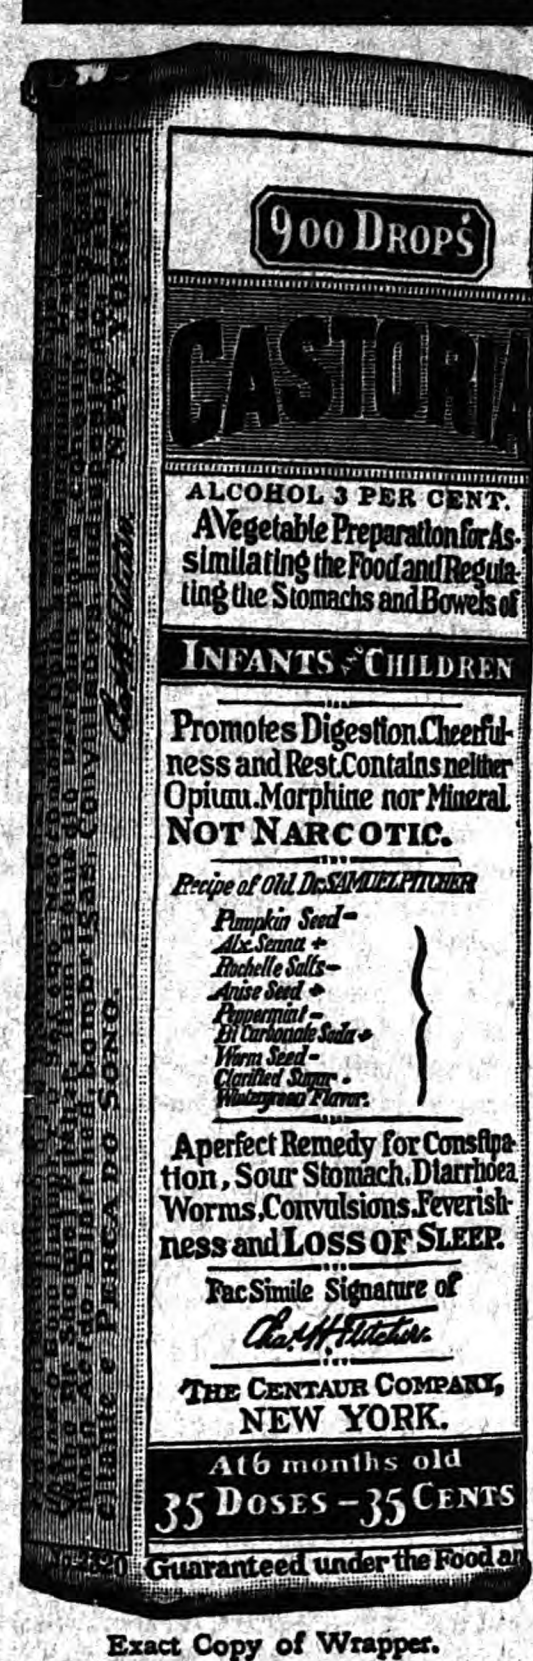

WITH THE HONEY MAKERS.

By no means store comb honey in the cellar, as it is sure to sweat and become moldy. Better put it in the attic, as the heat can in nowise harm it, provided, of course, that it isn't hot enough to melt it.

The best and most profitable way for the average beekeeper to dispose of unfinished sections is to extract all that will not sell as second grade for as much as extracted honey will bring and use them for bait sections next year.

In preparing the hives for the late flow proceed in precisely the same manner as for the early flow, using the same supers as formerly, only, of course, putting in new section boxes with foundation for comb honey to take the places of the completed sections taken from them.

The extracted honey when stored in cans or barrels can be placed in cellars or other convenient repositories and unless bottled early will in all probability granulate as soon as the nights become cold, but this granulation in no sense hurts it and the heating required to liquify it for bottling in a large measure prevents further granulation.—Farm Journal.

Storm Wipes Out Nome

Nome has been almost destroyed by a storm. All the south side of Front street is gone. The sandspit is gone.

Two miles of territory next to the sea was devastated. No lives were lost.

On Sunday night, the 5th instant, the storm that began beating in from Behring Sea was the worst ever known there. Men and women worked all night in the icy water to save their household effects. The electric light plant was wrecked and telephone service cut off. The loss is estimated at $1,500,000.

There will be much suffering and outside help will be required. Winter is at hand, and it will be impossible to get in supplies needed.

The steamships Victoria and Corwin, which were lying in the roadstead, ran to the open sea and escaped damage. All the small boats on the beach were destroyed. Five hundred houses were demolished.

Nome was built on a sandy sea beach. In front of the town is an anchorage for ships, but steamers do not make a landing. Cargoes and passengers are landed at an aerial tramway station in deep water.

The principal part of the town, which a dozen years ago had a population of 20,000, is on the east side of Snake River, with a finger extending to the west along a narrow sandspit. This sandspit was rich in gold dust, and the early settlers built their cabins there.

Of late years the sands have been worked out and little except dredging operations, which require large capital, is being done. It has been estimated that the dredges have enough ground in sight to operate 50 years more.

Nome has produced more than $35,000,000 in gold dust. Some years the yield has been as high as $3,000,000. This year the production will not exceed $4,000,000 owing to lack of water.

The summer population of Nome is about 4,000; and in winter 2,000 remain, the others going out on steamships that leave late in October. One steamship is yet to leave Seattle for Nome.

It will be possible to send revenue cutters to Nome to deliver supplies and take away the needy persons who wish to leave.

Panama Canal Opened

Exactly at 2 o'clock, Eastern time, Friday afternoon, President Wilson, pressing a button in the White House, sent an electric current flashing more than 4000 miles over land and under seas to blow up the Gamboa dike in the Panama Canal and remove the last practical obstacle in the great inter-oceanic waterway. A dispatch from Panama said the dike was blown up at 2.02 o'clock.

The work costs approximately $375,000,000, and required the combined efforts of countless thousands of men. The result of it changes the map of the world and shortens the water routes between East and West variously from 5,000 to 8,000 miles.

Medals Offered Children

The Director of the Office of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture, Logan Waller Page, has announced that the time in which children may submit essays on the repair and maintenance of earth roads, in competition for the gold medal and the two silver medals, has been extended to March 2, 1914.

The conditions for the essay contest are as follows:

1—The subject of the essay will be the Repair and Keeping-up of Earth Roads.

2—It is open only to children from 10 to 15 years, inclusive, who are actually living on farms and who are actually attending some school.

3—The essay should be not more than 300 words in length, in the handwriting of the child, and should be written on only one side of the paper.

4—On the upper left hand corner of the first page should appear the following statement: Essay on Earth Roads by (name and age of child, actual residence and school attended).

5—Children wishing to enter this contest may ask the advice of their parents, teachers, neighbors, highway commissioners, and other people, and read books or magazines giving information about the subject. They must not give the information they gain in this way in the exact words of an adult, or the author of a book. They must express the ideas in their own language. They will not be expected to use technical terms, and any words that make the meaning clear will be acceptable.

6—The essays will be rated by an impartial committee according to the understanding of the subject shown by the child and according to the penmanship, English and spelling. The writer of the best essay will receive a gold medal; the writer of the next best essay, a silver medal; and the writer of the third best essay, a silver medal.

7—All essays should be plainly addressed, in an enveloped stamped with a two-cent stamp, to: Committee on Children's Road Essay Contest, Office of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. and should be mailed to reach that office not later than 9 a. m. on Monday, March 2, 1914.

8—Children who have already submitted essays in that contest which was originally announced to close October 15th, may, if they wish, submit a second essay.

Forest Notes

Washington stands first in lumber production, with Louisiana second.

It is said that 90,000,000 broom handles are used annually in the United States; one for each man, woman and child.

The lands burned over during the terrible fires on the Idaho national forests in 1910 are now largely covered with a thick growth of young tree seedlings by natural reseeding.

Manufacturers of artificial limbs are seeking substitutes for English willow, used because of its combined lightness and strength. It is claimed that the Port Oxford cedar of the Pacific coast will prove equally serviceable.

In the open yellow pine forests of Washington and Oregon, a collapsible plow is being used in digging fire lines to stop surface fires. The plow can be dismantled and folded into a compact form, so that it can be packed on horseback, and weighs only 40 pounds. When in use one man with a horse can do the work of 20 or more men working with shovels.

Women Who Get Dizzy

Every woman who is troubled with fainting and dizzy spells, backache, headache, weakness, debility, constipation or kidney troubles should use Electric Bitters. They give relief when nothing else will, improve the health, adding strength and vigor from the first dose. Mrs. Laura Gaines, of Avoca, La., says: "Four doctors had given me up and my children and all my friends were looking for me to die, when my son insisted that I use Electric Bitters. I did so, and they have done me a world of good." Just try them. 50c and $1.00 at all druggists, or by mail, H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

President Wilson Appoints New Postmaster for Princess Anne

Late Thursday afternoon Mr. H. L. Brittingham received a telegram from Washington announcing his appointment by President Wilson, to the office of postmaster at Princess Anne.

As soon as the many friends of Mr. Brittingham heard of his appointment, which was announced, among other appointments by the President, in telegraphic dispatches to the daily papers, Mr. Brittingham began to receive hearty congratulations. As the United States Senate very likely will confirm President Wilson's appointment of Mr. Brittingham he may safely be regarded as Princess Anne's next postmaster.

Although Mr. Brittingham will be but 25 years old next December, he has so far proved himself to be a young man of energy, perseverance and progressiveness. He is the son of the late Mr. Henry L. Brittingham and Mrs. H. L. Brittingham, the latter living on South Main street, with whom he makes his home. He is also the grandson, on his father's side, of the late Mr. William J. Brittingham, who was the first cashier of the Bank of Somerset, and grandson, on his mother's side, of the late Col. W. T. G. Polk.

Mr. Brittingham attended the University of Missouri, at Columbia, Mo., for three years, and then took up the profession of teaching, and has taught for six years in the public schools, the first six months at Deal's Island, the rest of the time as an instructor at the High School in Princess Anne.

At this time it cannot be stated positively what changes may be made in the present postoffice force when Mr. Brittingham assumes his duties, but it is very likely there will be new men for some of the positions.

Mr. Robert F. Duer, the present incumbent, who was appointed by former President Taft, August 17, 1909, to fill out the unexpired term of the late Mr. William F. Lankford, has rendered due observance to the demands of the office.

For a small town like Princess Anne, the local postoffice does a surprisingly large amount of business, it being the distributing point for 18 other postoffices. The amount of mail handled by the local postoffice force is consequently very large.

Twice each month a report is made to the postoffice department at Washington as to the number of money orders issued, and the amount thereof. The amount of the money ordered for the first period of October--from the 1st to the 15th--was $1,907.22. If this amount was averaged up by the day it would amount to over $55 per day.

Since the installation of the parcels post system the work of the local office has been largely increased, especially since the weight of articles that can be sent by mail has been extended to twenty pounds. During the months of October and November all mail that comes into the local office will be weighed so as to make a just compensation to those who took out contracts to carry the mail before the law went into effect allowing articles weighing up to and including twenty pounds to be sent by parcels post. If the proposition of Postmaster-General Burleson to permit the carrying by parcels post of articles weighing up to and including one hundred pounds should ever be adopted by the postoffice department, its usefulness as a public carrier will be greatly augmented, and the express companies, that have for years enjoyed a monopoly of the common carriers' business, would be obliged to lower, in many instances, their extortionate rates to meet the competition of the postoffice department. It was reported that an attempt to inaugurate the one hundred pound system would have been made had it not been for the enormous expense attending the installation of new scales capable of weighing as high as one hundred pounds to the thousands of postoffices located all over the country, and their branches, in place of the present comparatively new scales whose weighing capacities are but twenty pounds.

If the hundred pound parcels post suggestion ever becomes a reality, the work of the then local postmaster will be considerably increased to meet the demands which will then be put upon the office by the heavier articles to be handled for delivery or forwarding.

Mr. P. M. Smith, the present assistant postmaster, has been in office for six years, and during that time has gained the respect of the citizens by his efficiency and courtesy. He has been aided in his efforts to serve the public by the other employees, including Messrs. Walter Long and Jay

Seven Speeches Scheduled for the Democratic Campaign

The interesting announcement was made in Washington, Thursday, that Secretary of State W. J. Bryan is to make seven speeches in Maryland during the present campaign in advocacy of Blair Lee and the other candidates on the Democratic ticket.

The tentative program for the Secretary's tour of Maryland includes the following speaking places and dates: Baltimore, Friday night, October 24; Princess Anne, 10 o'clock, Saturday morning, October 25; Easton, Friday afternoon, October 26; Cambridge, Friday night, October 26; Rockville, Saturday morning, November 1; Hagerstown, Saturday afternoon, November 1; Frederick, Saturday night, November 1.

At Princess Anne it will be possible for many voters of Worcester and Wicomico Counties, as well as of Somerset, to hear him; voters of sections of Queen Anne's and Caroline will be able to hear Bryan at Easton.

Goslee-Fisher Wedding

The home of Mrs. A. J. Fisher, 216 Crawford street, Portsmouth, Va., was the scene of a very pretty autumn wedding, last Wednesday afternoon, when her daughter, Ray, was married to Mr. Henry Clarke Goslee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel H. Goslee, of Princess Anne, Md. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Bosman, pastor of the Monumental Church. The wedding march was rendered by Mrs. J. T. Henley, of Norfolk, Va.

The bride was becomingly attired in a traveling suit of blue broadcloth, with hat and gloves to match, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and lilacs of the valley.

Miss Jeannette Henley, of Norfolk, was maid of honor, and wore a gown of blue charmeuse, trimmed with pearls, and carried pink roses.

Miss Virginia Goslee, of Princess Anne, sister of the groom, and Miss Hillie Hudgins, of Portsmouth, were bridesmaids, and wore pink crepe de chene trimmed with pearls, and carried pink and white carnations.

Mr. J. Oscar Goslee, brother of the groom, was best man. Mr. William Cooley, of Norfolk, and Mr. Charles Hudgins, of Portsmouth, were groomsmen.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Goslee left for a northern trip to Washington, D. C., New York, Niagara Falls and Canada.

Public School Notes

A committee of ladies of the Civic Club of Princess Anne appeared before the School Board last Tuesday and requested certain improvements in the High School building of the Washington Academy--usually known as the Princess Anne High School. Among other things, the ladies made some important suggestions as to the sanitary arrangements of the school and better lighting for the middle recitation room on the second floor.

A delegation from Habnab was before the Board asking for an additional teacher at that place, and tendered the use of a suitable room if the Board would equip it and supply a teacher. The matter is yet undecided. An assistant teacher has been authorized for school No. 3 at Smith's Island and Miss Virginia Goslee, of Loretto, has been appointed to the position.

The department of Manual Training and Domestic Science at the Crisfield High School under the management of Miss Clara B. Fishpaw, has been thoroughly organized and equipped and the work is proceeding nicely.

An industrial department has been added to the Princess Anne colored school, at "Greenwood." Manual Training and Domestic Science are now included in the curriculum.

Red Men's Big Class Adoption

A most successful class adoption was held at Salisbury last night (Monday) by Modoc Tribe, No. 104, I. O. R. M., of that city. It was a first-class class adoption, more than 100 pale faces from Somerset, Worcester and Wicomico Counties being initiated into the order. About 30 braves from Wa Wa Tribe, No. 121, and 14 candidates, of Princess Anne, attended.

It is estimated there were over 500 braves who took part in the parade in the afternoon, making a fine and imposing appearance. After the parade a banquet was served in the armory to the members of the order and invited guests. Speeches were made by several distinguished visitors and members of the order.

The Wigwag of Modoc Tribe, which has recently been greatly improved, was crowded at night, with braves, and the mystic rites of initiation were administered to the candidates in a dramatic and impressive manner.

"PENNY-A-LINER'S" FABRICATION REFUTED

No Meeting of Oystermen Was Held In Fairmount District or Resolutions Adopted Denouncing Mr. Miles

This community was deeply stirred on Tuesday of last week by an article in the Baltimore Sun under the caption "Oyster War Breaks Out on Tangier Sound," a part of which article included a set of alleged resolutions purporting to have been adopted at the meeting of oystermen held in Fairmount district denouncing the Hon. Joshua W. Miles as a most treacherous enemy of the oystermen, and stating that after the alleged meeting Mr. Miles was burned in effigy.

The article referred to is an absolute fabrication and no portion of it bears any semblance of truth, excepting that, as we understand, on Saturday, the 11th instant, certain oystermen did go upon the planting ground at Porpoise Point, overturn the watch-house and destroy the stakes and buoys. No body of oystermen, however, were ever accompanied to this point or any other planting ground by their wives and daughters.

Careful investigation among the residents of Lower Fairmount shows that no meeting of oystermen was ever held at any point in Fairmount district on Monday night of last week, or at any other time, at which resolutions were adopted denouncing the Hon. Joshua W. Miles, or anyone else. It is furthermore declared in Fairmount district that no effigy of Mr. Miles, or of anyone, has ever been burned at any place in Fairmount district.

The sensational article which appeared in the Sun being, therefore, so gross and base a perversion of truth has created the deepest feeling of resentment among all the people of the county against those who are responsible for its publication. It is, moreover, the basest misrepresentation of the law-abiding and intelligent oystermen of Somerset county, who, we are confident would never bring reproach upon the good name of their county in the eyes of the people of the State, by giving their countenance to such acts of ignominy as were reported in the Sun.

BILL EXEMPTING SOMERSET COUNTY FROM THE CAMPBELL-PRICE LAW

Passed at the Instance of Democratic Legislation Vetted By Governor Goldsborough

At the session of the Maryland Legislature of 1912, Mr. Hosea C. Webster, Democratic member of the House of Delegates from Somerset county, introduced a bill, the same being House Bill, entitled "An act relating to the taking of oysters with scoops, scrapes, drag or dredge, within the waters of Somerset county and prohibiting the taking of oysters with tongs in any boat, propelled in whole or in part by wind or sail."

This was an Act, authorizing and regulating the issuance of licenses to dredge oysters within the waters of Somerset county, "not parcel of any creek, river, cove or inlet," and further providing "that no canoe or other vessel shall be employed in taking oysters with scoop, scrapes, drag or dredge, or other similar instrument in the waters of Somerset county, unless the owner thereof shall have first obtained a license as above provided." The Act, therefore, by its express terms, prohibited dredging in the rivers, creeks, etc., of this county, and expressly prohibited all dredging in the waters of the county, except as provided by the Act as offered by Mr. Webster. It was passed by both Houses of the Legislature after the Campbell-Price bill became a law, and the consensus of opinion among leading lawyers of the State was, that it nullified the provisions of the Campbell-Price Law, so far as they applied to Somerset county. Soon after the adjournment of the Legislature, the Baltimore Sun published a leading article, in which this opinion as to the effect of the Webster bill was clearly expressed.

This bill offered by Delegate Webster, received the support of the entire Democratic delegation from Somerset county in the House, and of Senator Milbourne in the Senate, but when it was presented to Governor Goldsborough, and his attention was called to the effect of its provisions, he was unwilling that the oyster people of Somerset county should be exempt from the Campbell-Price Law and vetoed the Webster bill.

There is another matter in which Governor Goldsborough expressed his attitude toward the oyster people of Somerset county. It is a well known fact, that there is no law providing for a local guard boat in the waters of the Manokin river, and that this boat has been kept on the Manokin river merely by the authority of Commander Howard. No oyster territory in Somerset county is in need of greater protection than are the waters of this river, and in recognition of this fact, there was a bill prepared, at the instance of Mr. S. Frank Dashiell, providing that a local guard boat should be kept on the waters of the Manokin river during the entire year.

This bill was offered in the Senate by Senator Milbourne, and passed both Houses of the General Assembly, receiving the unanimous support of every member of the Somerset delegation. Commander Howard was in favor of the bill, but when it was presented to Governor Goldsborough he vetoed the bill, giving, it is understood, as his reason therefor, the fact that, in his opinion, it was an unnecessary expense to the State.

The board of general appraisers was created in 1888 and it was largely due to Senator Gorman that the law creating the board provides that it shall be non-partisan. Mr. Brown was appointed as a Democratic member of the board, filling the vacancy created by President Taft's removal of Mr. Thaddeus Shattles, of Baltimore.

There is a most persistent effort being made by the Republicans of Somerset county to stir up the oyster people over the wrongs which have been done them in the oyster survey, and to gain their support by representing to them that the Democrats are their enemies while the Republicans are their friends. This is merely a line of "hot air" and a lot of "buncombe" which the Republicans are using in order to gain support for their ticket among the oyster people.

The legislation referred to above, however, shows the absolute insincerity of this representation, which the Republicans are making. Governor Goldsborough is the supposed leader of the Republican party in this State, and moreover he has always resided in the tide-water county of Dorchester, and the history of the legislation above referred to, shows his spirit as the leader of the Republican party, of hostility to the oystermen of Somerset county, when he vetoed these two local bills which had been passed by the Democratic delegation in the General Assembly from this county.

It is suggested, therefore, that the oyster people of this county call upon the Republican candidates for an explanation of the fact that Governor Goldsborough refused to exempt Somerset county from the provisions of the Campbell-Price bill, after a law for that purpose had received the unanimous support of the Senator and the Delegates from this county, and to ask these same candidates if they agree with the Republican Governor that the maintenance of a guard boat in the waters of the Manokin river during the entire year, is an unnecessary expense upon the State.

"Stovey" Brown Gets $9,000 Job

George Stewart Brown, former city councilman of Baltimore, and familiarly known to hundreds of Baltimoreans as "Stovey," was nominated, last Thursday, by President Wilson, to be a member of the Board of General Appraisers at New York.

The same day the President nominated three Marylanders, all recommended by Representative J. Harry Covington, of the First District, to be postmasters. They are as follows:

A. B. Cochran, at Crisfield; H. L. Brittingham, at Princess Anne; and H. Jasper Harper, at Hurluck.

In point of importance and desirability the appointment of Mr. George Stewart Brown, to be a member of the Board of General Appraisers, will probably prove to be the best place of patronage which will be given to Maryland. The salary is $9,000 a year and the appointment is for life, so that it is better than any of the offices at Baltimore, both in salary and in tenure in office.

The board of general appraisers was created in 1888 and it was largely due to Senator Gorman that the law creating the board provides that it shall be non-partisan. Mr. Brown was appointed as a Democratic member of the board, filling the vacancy created by President Taft's removal of Mr. Thaddeus Shattles, of Baltimore.

A man may be a hard drinker and still find it quite easy.

TAX COMMISSION REPORT

Burden Upon the People Nearly Doubled Since 1910

The commission appointed by Governor Goldsborough in June, 1912, to study the taxation system of Maryland, has filed its report with the Secretary of State, Robert P. Graham.

The commission is composed of Henry F. Baker, of Baltimore county, chairman; J. Barry Mahool, E. Stanley Gary and Vernon Cook, of Baltimore city; J. H. Gambrill, Jr., of Frederick county; and William M. Cooper, of Wicomico county; and Allard C. Girdwood, its secretary.

The report is very complete and contains a full account of the tax system of Maryland, and points out the striking instances in both the present law and the administration. The underlying principle sought throughout it is the need for uniformity of all laws and the like administration in each county.

Besides the assessment of property and collection of taxes, which are so closely related, the commission discusses taxation of corporations, direct inheritance taxation, taxation of stocks and bonds or intangible personal property, taxation of mortgages, licenses, etc. There are also discussed the subjects of the large expenditures of the State, such as school taxes, appropriations for charitable institutions and good roads. It recommends that the fee system be entirely abolished and all fees be paid directly to the state.

A large part of the report is taken up with a discourse on the finances of Maryland, and a few far-reaching recommendations are made. It shows how the state tax has increased from 16 per cent. levied in 1910, to 31 per cent. levied in 1913, and then proceeds to show that if some radical changes are not made in the manner of setting aside sinking funds a rate higher than 31 per cent. is absolutely imperative. There is also a detailed discussion of the amount of taxes that would have been necessary each year from 1909 to the present time to pay interest and sinking funds of the first road loan, or that of 1908, if the requirements of the same had been properly distributed and how much has been actually collected for this debt.

It is, however, as regards the assessment of property, that the commission most urgently points out the need for central control of tax matters. There is no system and no opportunity for local assessors to be instructed in the law or practice of other counties. This condition of inequality exists even between the different districts of the same counties, and also between the adjoining properties. Some property is assessed at 20 per cent. of valuation and some counties at 40 per cent., and others at 80 per cent. To meet this condition the commission points out that the remedy lies in the establishment of a central body, and they suggest that it be composed of three members; that in every county a county supervisor of assessment, be appointed by the State Board from a list of five resident tax payers, nominated to the State Board by the county commissioners of each county.

Big Money on Peach Crop

Messrs. J. G. Harrison & Sons, of Berlin, shipped their last peaches last week. The first peaches from their orchards were picked June 14th, and they have had ripe peaches every day during the past four months. The firm only had 10,000 trees under cultivation occupying less than 100 acres of land. The net profits show more than $25,000. The gross sales from peaches were $35,165.53, and after deducting every item of expense connected with the cultivating, spraying, picking, labor, boxes, etc., the net was $25,888.84.

The shipments were as follows--20, 314 half-bushel baskets, or 31 cars of 640 baskets each and 374 baskets over; 12,089 carriers, six-gallon, making 30 cars of 400 carriers each with 89 carriers over. This makes a total of nearly 63 cars, or 19,174 bushels.

The highest price for which first grade peaches in six-gallon carriers sold for net f. o. b. Berlin was $2.00; the lowest price, $1.25. The highest price paid for one-half bushel baskets, first grade peaches net f. o. b. Berlin was $1.05 per basket; lowest price, 80c.

The total net sales of peaches was $35,165.53, which would make an average price per bushel, including all grades, soft peaches sold locally, etc., at $1.83.

The figures certainly demonstrate that there is great money in raising peaches in this locality if the proper methods are used in their cultivation and handling.

BRYAN COMING TO TOWN

Preparation Being Made for the Reception of Secretary of State

One of the most interesting events that has transpired in this county for years is scheduled for next Saturday when Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State, is expected to be in Princess Anne and address the people of this section. Whilst the address is to be under the auspices of the Democratic State Central Committee of the county and of a political significance, nevertheless his coming is bound to bring people, without regard to party affiliation, from the adjoining counties as well as Somerset, and also from Delaware and Virginia.

The arrangement is for a special train on Saturday morning to meet Mr. Bryan at Claiborne and bring him to Princess Anne and to convey him later to Easton where he is to speak again that afternoon.

The address in Princess Anne will be at about 10 o'clock and will be delivered according to present plans, in front of the main entrance to the Court House, on Prince William street.

Looking to this event, an enthusiastic meeting of Democrats was held on Friday evening at the Heptosophs' Hall. The meeting was organized by electing Hon. Joshua W. Miles, chairman; and M. W. Adams, secretary. The following committees were appointed:

General Executive Committee--Messrs. C. M. Dashiell, W. B. Spiva, Gordon Tull, Robert F. Maddox and Hon. Joshua W. Miles, who will serve as chairman.

Finance--Messrs. M. W. Adams, J. A. Powell, J. A. Ellegood, J. A. Dougherty and D. C. Armstrong (this committee has power to add to its number one from each election district of the county).

Committee on Preparation, Plans, Etc.--Messrs. Columbus Lankford, Z. W. Townsend, Albert Fitzgerald.

Music--J. A. Dougherty.

Decorations--S. Frank Dashiell, A. S. Boyland, F. H. Dashiell.

Advertising--William B. Spiva.

Entertainment--Left to be filled by the Executive Committee.

These committees started promptly at work and matters have been definitely shaped up for the occasion.

The idea is to get the whole county enthused, and to secure all the assistance possible.

Arrangements will be made to have a special train from Crisfield and return, and such other facilities for travel and accommodation that may be necessary.

As a starting point towards the necessary funds to make the occasion a success and to defray the expense, the sum of $125 was subscribed at the Friday night meeting. Every one who is interested is invited to confer with the various committees and give all the assistance possible. Such an event must be made a success and, as the time is short, the work will have to be done quickly.

In addition to the plans above stated, arrangements will be made for the fair sex to hear Mr. Bryan, and the idea is to have the ladies assemble in the Court room, where Mr. Bryan will be invited to make a preliminary address, after which the ladies, then comfortably housed, will be able to remain and through the open windows listen to the famous orator's outside address.

The householders in Princess Anne are specially requested to decorate their homes on this occasion.

New Fire Stations

The town commissioners of Princess Anne have arranged for the building of a house, 12 feet by 30 feet, on the water station lot, in which to keep the fire hose reel and ladder wagon. Also a small building, about 8 feet by 10 feet, on Mrs. H. L. Brittingham's lot, for a fire hose reel.

On October 16th the commissioners purchased 400 feet of wax and gum-treated rubber-lined cotton hose, and a hose reel cart.

It is the plan of the commissioners to keep the ladder wagon and one reel cart with 500 feet of hose at the north-end of the town on the water station lot; and one reel cart, with 500 feet of hose, at the south-end of the town on Mrs. H. L. Brittingham's lot. They are having the wagons, ladders, etc., repaired and painted.

These improvements will be completed in about two weeks, at an estimated cost of $500.00. The commissioners would then like to see the citizens organize a fire department.

Even the woman with a single idea may hope to double up.

Mingling With The People

By REGINALD D. HAVEN

Billy Riggs and I, being in Paris when the warm season was coming on, thought we would go to Switzerland. We had both been in Europe several years studying languages and were well equipped with both French and German. So we concluded to tramp about, mingling with the people, and not give away the fact that we were Americans. We went to Interlaken by train and from there laid out pedestrian tours.

One of the first we made was to Grindelwald and thence up the side of the mountain to Schidegg. There we got a good dinner, after which we walked up a short distance to a point where we could see the glacier. It was very wild and magnificent and all that, but seeing such sights is not what I am going to tell you about. In the afternoon we walked down the mountain to Lauterbrunnen and shortly before we reached that place came up with a couple of Swiss girls dressed in the costume of the country.

It occurred to both Billy and me that if we could walk the rest of the way with two pretty girls—no girl could be homely in the Swiss costume—it would be away ahead of trudging alone by our own uninteresting selves. As we passed them I bowed very politely, took off my cap and, pointing to a mountain whose name I knew as well as my own, asked in German—the language mostly spoken in this part of Switzerland—what it was.

"That's the Eiger," replied one of the girls.

I boldly expatiated on the beauty of the scenery, envied those who lived always in the Alps, and as soon as I ran out of something to say Billy took up the dialogue. The girls did not seem averse to forming our acquaintance, and it was not long before we separated them, Billy walking beside one, I beside the other. We both pretended to be Germans of the lower class, though not Swiss. I got in as many nice things to my girl as I could think of, and she being to the country born and unsophisticated I didn't hesitate to lay it on thick. Every now and again I could hear Billy, who was walking with the other girl only a few yards ahead of me, doing the same thing.

When we reached Lauterbrunnen the girls bid us goodby, saying that they lived in a chalet beyond the town. We were near a refreshment house standing beside the road, and I invited them to go up on to the porch for a cheese sandwich and a glass of the beer they drink over there, which is so dreadfully mild that it wouldn't intoxicate a mouse. After a consultation apart from us they said they wouldn't mind being refreshed after a long walk, and we all four went up on to the porch, took a table and called for the beer and sandwiches.

Billy was talking glibly about our life on the farm at home when one of the girls said:

"You are not a farmer; neither is he. You are both gentlemen."

I looked at Billy, and Billy looked at me.

"How did you find that out?" I asked.

"We have so many tourists about us all the time that we could tell their nationality no matter what disguise they might put on. You are not German either. Don't you suppose we can tell a German from a Frenchman or an Englishman?"

"What nationality are we?" Billy asked.

"You wear French clothes, but you are not French. You are either English or American. I think you are American."

"By Jove, Billy," I exclaimed in the plain American language, "they're smarter than I thought they were."

The girls were very much tickled that they had been able to tell our nationality. They asked us to teach them a little English. So I told the one I had walked with to pronounce the words "I love you." She spoke them, "I love you," and asked me to translate them into German, but there was a look in her eye that made me suspect that she already had an idea as to their meaning. I told her they meant "Thank you."

Meanwhile Billy was amusing himself by telling the girl to say "Kiss me," telling her the whole meant "Good morning." Billy and I kept looking at each other, laughing over the fun we were having, and by and by the girls said they must go on home. We asked permission to attend them, but they declined. At parting one of them said:

"We thank you for your kindness, gentlemen. Though we are only poor Swiss farmers' daughters, we seem to have amused you."

"The thanks are due to you," I replied, "since you have given us a very pleasant hour."

"Don't you think," said Billy, "that there was some shenanigan about those girls?"

"What do you mean?"

"Seems to me they know more than we think they do."

A week later we were in the casino at Lucerne when I heard a woman's voice behind me speaking with the real American accent.

"For heaven's sake, Julie, where have you been all this time? I've been looking for you everywhere."

I turned, and there stood our Swiss peasant girls.

"Stung!" cried Billy, and the girls burst into a laugh.

THINGS HE DIDN'T KNOW.

They Were Many, but That Didn't Keep Him From Giving an Opinion.

A well known architect was summoned as a witness in a long island court in a suit over the cost of a building. The lawyer whose duty it was to cross examine started in to attack the credibility of the witness.

"Do you know how much a hundred these bricks cost?"

"I do not."

"Do you know how much the cement cost per bag?"

"No."

"Do you know how expensive sand is down here?"

"I can't say that I do exactly."

The lawyer looked at the witness with fine scorn.

"And yet you pretend to come here and qualify as an expert. How can you give any kind of an opinion on how much this building ought to have cost when you don't know the prices of the material it's made of?"

The witness looked at the lawyer with a flash in his eye that boded ill.

"Well," he said, "I don't know the price of needles nor the price of thread nor how much cheap cotton material costs, but I don't hesitate to express a solemn opinion that that suit of clothes you're wearing cost about $5.00."—New York Post.

The Farm Telephone
Farm life before the days of the telephone was rather a lonely proposition. The Bell telephone has changed things—has made farm life more pleasant, more profitable.

It brings the farmer news of the town and market; it brings the farmer's wife messages of cheer and neighborly good-will; it brings to the young folks social messages from their friends.

All Growing Children are dependent on nourishment for growth. Their health as men and women is largely established in childhood.

If your child is languid, bloodless, tired when rising, without ambition or rosy cheeks, Scott's Emulsion is a wonderful help. It possesses nature's grandest body-building fats so delicately predigested that the blood absorbs its strength and carries it to every organ and tissue and fibre.

First it increases their appetite, then it adds flesh—strengthens the bones—makes them sturdy, active and healthy. No alcohol or narcotic in Scott's Emulsion, just purity and strength.

Choate and Depew.
At an annual dinner of the St. Nicholas society, Ambassador Joseph H. Choate was down for the toast "The Navy," while Senator Depew was to respond to "The Army."

Depew began by saying: "It's well to have a specialist. That's why Choate is here to speak about the navy. We met at the wharf once, and I never saw him again till we reached Liverpool. When I asked how he felt he said he thought he would have enjoyed the trip over if he had had any ocean air. Yes, you want to hear Choate on the navy."

Choate responded: "I've heard Depew hailed as the greatest after dinner speaker. If after dinner speaking, as I have heard it described and as I believe it to be, is the art of saying nothing at all then Dr. Depew is the most marvelous speaker in the universe."

Returned the Compliment.
Shortly after the workmen had finished the landlord took special pains to show to each tenant the bill for doing over his flat. The householders regarded that attention in different lights, according to the improvements they had fought for and got. Some looked frightened, thinking it portended a raise in rent, some apologetic, others defiant. The third floor right man was noncommittal. Three days later he called at the landlord's office and showed him a slip of paper. It was a bill for six shirts, some socks and ties, a hat and a blue serge suit.

"What's this got to do with me?" the landlord asked.

"Oh, nothing," said the man. "Just an interchange of courtesies. Nothing like being neighborly, you know."

Few Russians Wear Hats.
The male population of Russia wearing hats is in the great minority as compared with the vast number who purchase the Russian cap. The seasons are practically winter and summer, so that the transition from the cloth cap is to one of fur, the straw hat coming in for slight attention during a brief period in midsummer. The student class, which aggregates many thousands, and the official class, which is still more numerous, with those in the city who wear a uniform cap with an official or semi-official cockade, constitute a vast army of people who do not wear hats.

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines
If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia, use cough medicines that contain cocaine, morphine, heroin, and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant, like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture beds or breeding places for the germs of pneumonia and other germ disease. That is why pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world-wide reputation for it cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. As Koreans Shop.
Shopping in Korea is a very grave and solemn task and occupies the master of the house the greater part of the day. In the market here he purchases his provisions, cooking utensils, linen suits, hats, sandals, tobacco, and the native drink, a liquor obtained from fermented rice. Only one article of the same kind is purchased from a single store. It would be an offense against Korean etiquette to buy a dozen at a time, as this would deplete the stock too quickly and give the shopkeeper the trouble and work of restocking before he was ready. It will therefore be seen that wholesale orders are not welcomed in this odd country: "little and often" appears to be the Golden Rule in buying. Wide World Magazine.

Out For a Dicker.
The old fashioned farmer, who liked nothing more than to dicker, hobs up now and then to rub elbows with the moderns. In a department store recently one of the old fashioned kind approached the clerk and inquired: "How much are you asking for rubber boots today?"

Then, when he was told the price, he looked wise and queried: "And how much are you gettin'?"—New York Globe.

How Do You Laugh?
A French paper has discovered that a person's character is expressed in his manner of laughing. If you laugh in "ha-ha" fashion you are frank if a man and inconstant and incapable of keeping a secret if a woman. If you laugh "heh-heh" you are suspicious, melancholy and skeptical. If you adopt a deeper tone and laugh in "ho-ho" you are generous, easy going and good natured. The proper pitch for the fair sex to laugh in is "he-he," while people who laugh with a "ho-ho" effect should be avoided as hypocritical, scandal mongering and mis-erly.

Morbid Parisians.
Public executions in Paris prove very profitable to the owners of houses commanding the scene. Windows are let out for the occasion, the landlords watching for the first sign of the execution and then at once sending word to the persons who have hired the room. If an ordinary criminal is executed the charge is usually about $4 per seat, but should the offender have committed any remarkable crime the price runs up to as much as $30.

Exaggerated Impressions.
"Mr. Meekton says his wife is competent to hold any office in the government."

"That opinion," replied Miss Cayenne, "is the result of his vanity. He thinks that because she can govern him she must be able to govern the entire nation."—Washington Star.

MARRY TO BECOME MEN.
In Korea Males Are Looked Upon as Children Until They Wed.

The Koreans marry very young, generally between the ages of twelve and fifteen. For a woman to reach twenty without marrying is considered a terrible thing. A peculiarity of these weddings is that they would appear to be a matter of interest to every one except the parties mostly concerned, who often see one another for the first time on the wedding morning. This is because in a Korean household the boys are kept apart from the girls, the father and the sons occupying the front of the house and the mother and daughters living in the rear of the establishment. Moreover, in their social life the boys are not allowed to mix with the gentler sex.

The parents and friends arrange the match in accordance with their own interests, and if both parties agree and the bargain is concluded the formalities are of the simplest. There is no religious ceremony and no legal contract.

Early on the wedding morn the best man arrives to tie the bridegroom's pigtail in a knot on the top of his head. This not only remains forever as an outward and visible sign of his condition, but entitles him to wear a hat for the first time in his life and to be treated as a man and enter public life. He may be a mere child, twelve years of age, but he has no longer any right to play with his boy friends and must choose his associates among old men.

He has now all civil rights and is expected to behave accordingly. If, on the contrary, a man is unable to afford the luxury of a home and a wife, he may reach the age of fifty, but he must still wear his pigtail down his back, has none of the advantages of citizenship and is expected to play with kites, marbles and such like. Any folly he may commit is excused in the same way as the naughtiness of a child who is not responsible for his actions.

The wedding ceremony itself is most simple. The whole function consists of a procession when the bride and bridegroom are conducted by their respective relations to a dais. There they are put face to face and probably, as already stated, see each other for the first time. They merely glance at one another, then bow, and the knot is tied indissolubly. Wide World Magazine.

Fingers and Forks.
A New Yorker was speaking of a London house show he attended. "A feature of the show," he said, "was the magnificent riding of certain Arab chiefs. These chiefs gave a dinner one evening, an Arab dinner, and they ate the first course—kous kous—with their fingers."

"An Englishman asked for a fork for his kous kous. When it was brought to him a young chief said: 'I beg your pardon, but I don't see how you can hope to eat with a fork.'"

"The Englishman replied, 'was about to remark that I didn't see how you could hope to eat with your fingers.'"

"But my fingers," said the Arab, "are clean—clean. I know it. I see to it myself. But you, sir, how can you feel sure about the cleanliness of your fork?"—New York Tribune.

Bryan's Visit to Princess Anne

Next Saturday will be a gala day in Princess Anne for the Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State, is coming to address the Democrats of this section.

It is out of the usual for our county seat to have the honor of such a distinguished guest and we predict that the crowds that will be here will not be confined to one party, though Mr. Bryan's address will have a political significance.

That a great treat is in store for the people of this section, goes without saying. Many have not heard Mr. Bryan. This will be their opportunity. Many have already heard him and they will be glad to duplicate their experience.

In advance of Mr. Bryan's coming we take pleasure in voicing on the part of Princess Anne, a welcome not only to this distinguished visitor, but also to the people at large.

Political Chicanery

The recent flamboyant account of alleged wrongdoings by oystermen in Fairmount district, published in the daily press of last Tuesday, appears to have been the work of some apostle of confusion and to have had little foundation. The fact that the authorities at the county seat had had no intimation of such wrongdoings, reinforced by rigid investigation, emphasizes the folly of giving too much credence to startling news items, especially at a time when political capital is at a premium.

It is very plain that the author of the article in question had something more in mind than the mere suggestion of a violation of law. It appears to be true that something in that direction had occurred, but nothing to justify the elaboration and flights of imagination so rhetorically wrought up into a news item.

The notion of that truculent news promoter savor of deceit, and his evident intent was to stir up strife and mislead the oystermen of Somerset county. If the truth were known, it would probably develop that the writer of the article in question was far from being a sympathizer with the oystermen, but rather an enemy in disguise, who, not for the first time, was attempting to shift the burden of his own conscience upon more loyal people than himself.

Such political chicanery will bear serious watching.

Sulzer Guilty of Perjury

Convicted on three of the four articles of impeachment voted upon last Thursday by members of the Court convoked to try William Sulzer, the forty second constitutional Governor of New York, was removed from the office of Governor. He was not disqualified from again holding office in the State.

CHANGES IN ORGANIC LAW

Six Constitutional Amendments to be Voted on

At the election in November six amendments to the State Constitution will be voted upon.

They make the following changes in and additions to the State's organic law:

Alteration in method of condemning property for municipal use in Baltimore.

Printing bills, witnessing and engrossing them for Governor's signature.

An additional judge for Baltimore and Harford Counties.

Placing penalty for bribery on the vote buyer.

Fixing the salary of the State's Attorney of Baltimore at $5,400 annually; of his chief deputy at $4,000; and of each other deputy at $2,500.

Authorizing the legislature to pass laws for appointment of deputies to the Attorney General.

All of the amendments have been approved in the Republican and Democratic platforms. There is no political opposition to them. The amendments will not be printed in full on the ballots as heretofore. To prevent a ballot as large as a blanket, Attorney General Poe has decided that only the salient features of each amendment shall be printed.

The amendments changing the method of condemning property in Baltimore city provides that for condemnation on behalf of the city or state the legislature may enact laws for the appointment of appraisers by the court, upon whose valuation property may be taken. Should a jury grant the party from whom the property taken a higher sum than that of the appraisers, the difference also must be paid. But the property may be taken by the city or state immediately upon decision by the appraisers. The purpose of the amendment is to expedite condemnation proceedings.

The purpose of the amendment allowing bills to be printed for the signature of the Governor is to facilitate the clerical work of the legislature and also to lessen the opportunity for fraud in legislation. Previously, the engrossing of bills, particularly toward the close of the session, was a huge task and delayed the work of the legislature. That condition furnished one of the chief aids to interested parties who desired to change bills after their passage and before signature by the Governor.

The amendment giving an additional judge for Baltimore and Harford Counties arises from the large increase in the court work of Baltimore County following the suburban expansion.

The amendment allowing the penalty for bribery to be put upon the vote-buyer alone is designed to stamp out corruption at elections. It is contended that so long as the rich interests could buy the votes of poor men without punishment there could be no complete stamping out of bribery. It is also contended that the vote-buyers were the more culpable, and that if the penalty were removed from the seller it would be possible to ascertain and convict the buyer.

The increase in salaries in the State's Attorney's office in Baltimore explains itself; the authority of the legislature to give the Attorney General deputies arises from the demand for abolition of separate counsel to the various state boards and for centralization of the state's legal department.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Woman's Name Goes on Ballot

Mrs. Grace Koontz, Socialist candidate for Treasurer of Allegany county, is to have her name printed on the ballot to be voted in November.

This was the decision handed down by Judge Robert Henderson, who, in granting the writ of mandamus, stated that the duties of the board in this regard are ministerial and not judicial, and, as the statutes of Maryland clearly outlined that the name of any candidate nominated in any of the three methods prescribed by statute and properly certified to by the board should be printed on the ballots by the supervisors, that they were vested with no discretion and it was their imperative duty to print Mrs. Koontz's name on the ticket.

Bull Moose Lose Head of Ticket

George L. Wellington, Joseph R. Baldwin and William A. Smith, Progressive state candidates, will not appear on the ballot to be voted for next month. Failure of Progressive leaders to certify their nominations to the Secretary of State within the prescribed time will block the names from being printed on the ballot. The three men are candidates respectively for United States Senator, State Comptroller and Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Secretary of State Graham made the above announcement last week, accompanying it with an opinion from Attorney General Poe, prohibiting him from certifying the nominations of both the Progressive and Labor state candidates. The Attorney General's decision and the announcement of Mr. Graham came like a bolt out of a clear sky, so confident have been the Progressives that their candidates would be certified to.

The Progressives will probably consider a test of Mr. Poe's decision in the courts, but this course will prove unavailable as a final decision cannot be obtained in time for the election. As another resort the Progressive leaders will probably advise their followers to write the names of the state candidates on blank spaces on the ballot and then vote for them.

Chronic Dyspepsia

The following unsolicited testimonial shows that it is sufficient to give hope and courage to persons afflicted with chronic dyspepsia: "I have been a chronic dyspeptic for years, and of all the medicine I have taken Chamberlain's Tablets have done me more good than anything else," says W. G. Mattison, No. 7 Sherman street, Hornellsville, N. Y. For sale by all dealers.

Order Nisi.

In the matter of the tax sale of real estate in Deal's Island Election District of Somerset county, assessed to Mary H. Windsor or Eldridge Windsor's heirs, made and reported by Robert F. Maddox, County Treasurer for Somerset county for the year 1913, William J. Tankersley, purchaser, ex parte.

No. 2876, Chancery. In the Circuit Court for Somerset County, in Equity.

Whereas a certain Robert F. Maddox, County Treasurer for Somerset county, in the State of Maryland, for the year 1913, has reported to the Circuit Court for Somerset County a sale made by him to William J. Tankersley, of all that lot or parcel of land in Deal's Island Election District, of said county, in the State of Maryland, containing 3 acres, more or less, with the improvements thereon, situated near the county road, leading through said district, adjoining the land of Thomas B. and E. F. Webster, near the lower school house and assessed to Mary H. Windsor or Eldridge Windsor's heirs on the assessment books of said Election district for said year 1913, and sold for the payment of taxes due and in arrears, together with all the proceedings had in relation thereto; and whereas upon examination it appears to the said Court that the said proceedings are regular and that the provisions of the law in relation thereto have been complied with. Now it is therefore ordered, by the Circuit Court for Somerset county, in Equity, this 11th day of October, 1913, that notice be given by the publication of this order once a week for three successive weeks in the MARYLANDER AND HERALD, a weekly newspaper published in Somerset county, before the 10th day of November, 1913, warning all persons interested in the said real estate to be and appear in this Court on or before the 16th day of November, 1913, to show cause, if any they have, why said sale should not be ratified and confirmed.

The report states the amount of sales to be $8.25.

Local and Miscellaneous

—Dr. C. W. Purnell, optometrist, will be at Omar A. Jones' drug store Monday afternoon, October 27th.

—Mrs. Addie H. Byrd, who has been spending several months with relatives in Berlin, Md., returned home Friday.

—Mr. Gordon T. Whelton, of Crisfield, Somerset county surveyor, was in Princess Anne, Wednesday, on business.

—Mr. William J. Culver, a linotype operator on the Baltimore Sun, spent from Wednesday till Friday night with his father, Mr. George A. Culver, near West.

—Miss Beatrice Jones and Mr. W. Twilley Malone, both of Allen, were married last Wednesday at the Methodist Episcopal Church South, at Allen, by the Rev. James W. Twilley.

—Pomona Grange will meet at Quinton Hall, Costan Station, Saturday, October 25th. This meeting will be of special interest on account of exhibits of farm products. Recitations and discussions will also be included in the day's program.

—Among the gentlemen present at the Democratic meeting last Friday evening to arrange for Mr. Bryan's visit to Princess Anne, were Messrs. William E. Dougherty, chairman of the County Central Committee, and A. B. Cochran, the newly appointed postmaster at Crisfield.

—Mr. and Mrs. Emmett S. Learey returned to Princess Anne last Thursday night after an absence of eight months. Last March Mr. Learey, on account of ill health, went to Kellogg's Sanatorium, Battle Creek, Mich., where he spent four months, and there he was joined by his wife and they then spent two months at Lake Side, Ohio, and two months with relatives in Findlay, Ohio. Mr. Learey's health has been much improved during his absence.

NOTICE

Members of the Democratic Executive Committee for the various election districts of Somerset county are cordially requested to attend the Democratic Mass-Meeting in Princess Anne, Wednesday, October 22nd.

Come in advance of the Mass-Meeting at 2 P. M. By order of DEMOCRATIC STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

—The telephone is a great boon. It enables many a small man to talk mighty big.

—The devil may have his faults, but he never puts off till tomorrow what he can do today.

—Mr. Elijah McGrath, of Salisbury, spent a couple of days in Princess Anne last week.

—Mr. John Wheatley and Mr. Charles Porter, of Antioch avenue, have had their houses newly painted. Calvin T. Hudson and Paul Sterling did the work.

—The rehearsals for the minstrel show to be given for the benefit of Wa Wa Tribe, No. 121, I. O. R. M., are progressing finely, and a good entertainment is assured.

—Governor Goldsborough will hold a public session at Annapolis for the purpose of considering applications for pardons Thursday, October 23d. The session will be from 10 in the morning to 4 in the afternoon.

—Among the Postoffice appointments last week was that of Mr. Arthur B. Cochran for the town of Crisfield. Mr. Cochran is one of Crisfield's most prominent Democrats and business men and is most deserving of the honor.

—Capt. John Sterling, president of the Bank of Crisfield, suffered a paralytic stroke Wednesday night, from which he is critically ill. Although 88 years old, Captain Sterling was active in business. His condition is serious.

—Mr. Herbert Holland, the Washington Hotel barber, who, week before last decided to give up his job and go to Wilmington, Del., on last Tuesday, changed his mind, and concluded to remain at his old stand. Herbert says Perryhawkin and Wilmington are not in it with Princess Anne.

—Mr. James Sterling, son of Mrs. Ashton P. Mills, of Princess Anne, received complimentary notices in the Baltimore papers for his playing as left tackle on the Washington College football team, of Chestertown, against Western Maryland College, of Westminster, Saturday before last at Oriole Park, Baltimore. Neither team scored.

—Fire destroyed the residence on Cove st., Crisfield, occupied by E. H. Bethard, about 9 o'clock last Thursday morning. The house was known as the David Sterling property, having been erected by Capt. David Sterling, one of Crisfield's pioneer citizens, many years ago. It was one of the oldest buildings in Crisfield, and was owned by E. E. Moore. Bethard's loss will be slight as he succeeded in saving practically all the furniture and household goods.

Federal Aid For Good Roads

Secretary Houston of the Department of Agriculture says that the state and federal governments should work together for highway improvement in order that a large proportion of the money annually spent for road construction may not be wasted.

In his own department the office of public roads has been demonstrating the value of proper road building by construction of certain object-lesson roads, and the forest service is carrying out his idea of national and state co-operation in road building. The law requires that ten per cent. of the gross receipts from the national forests shall be spent in the states in which the forests are situated. This money is expended for road improvement under direct control of the secretary of agriculture.

The amount appropriated under this act, based on the national forests for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, is $234,638.68. From the 1912 receipts for this ten per cent. road item, there is an additional $134,831.10, which is still available.

In administering the ten per cent. road fund, forest officers charged with the actual plans and expenditures in the neighborhood of their forests have, in almost all cases, secured an equal or a larger co-operative fund from state authorities for the building of certain pieces of road.

With the money thus expended many important roads are being built or put in repair. One of the Wyoming national forests, six miles long, makes accessible to farmers a large body of timber and opens up a region of great scenic beauty. In northwestern Arizona, part of the fund will be used in connection with the Le-Fevre-Bright Angel road, important because it makes accessible to tourists the Grand Canyon in Colorado.

In one place, the ocean to ocean highway crosses the Apache national forest, Arizona, and on this project the forest service and the local authorities co-operated enthusiastically. On the Florida national forest in western Florida steel bridges and graded roads have, under the stimulus of this fund, taken the place of corduroy, bog and sand.

This Federal road fund is now available in all national forest states of the west. Just as fast as returns come in, the forestry officials say, a similar fund will become available in states in which eastern national forests are being secured.

Marble for Lincoln Memorial

The white marble of which the great $2,000,000 Lincoln memorial temple is to be built on the banks of the Potomac in Washington is to come from the Sopris national forest, Colorado.

This is said to be the first great building in the east to be constructed of this stone, known to the building trades as Denver marble, though much of it has been used as an interior finish in public buildings. In the west a notable example of its use is found in the new Federal building at Denver.

HARD TO CHANGE NAME

Episcopalians at Convention Pass Constitutional Amendment

An amendment to the constitution making it impossible to change the title prayer-book, or otherwise revise it without a two-thirds vote of both the House of Deputies and the House of Bishops, was overwhelmingly adopted late last Thursday by the House of Deputies of the Protestant Episcopal Church in triennial convention in New York. The House of Bishops must concur before the amendment becomes effective.

The debate in the House of Deputies over the constitutional amendment affecting prayer-book revision was extended and spirited. The amendment was offered by the Rev. Dr. William T. Manning, rector of Trinity Church, New York, who was the high church party candidate for presiding officer of the deputies. While efforts were made to keep out of the debate any direct reference to the proposal to change the name of the church from the Protestant Episcopal to the American Catholic, Dr. Manning, who spoke at length on his amendment, plunged directly into the phase of the matter and after-ward President Mahn, of the House of Deputies, declined to rule out of order deputies who undertook to answer Dr. Manning's arguments. The amendment was voted upon by dioceses and was carried as follows:

Clerical vote for, 48; against, 15; divided, 8. Lay vote for, 58; against, 8; divided, 3.

Best Paint

What is it? Devos.

How Devos? It's 160 years old; but that isn't how it has long been the best; but that isn't how.

It has been developed by use and study, by study and use; that is how; and approved by experience, many years; that's how.

It commends itself by long lasting and small paint-cost; not cheap by the gallon, but cheap by the job and cheap by the year and ten years, cheap by the lifetime.

MATCHING PEARLS.

Oriental Beliefs in Sex and Affinity in the Gems.

Most brides are partial to pearls, and in some eastern countries no other jewels are allowed to figure among the bridal ornaments.

In Persia the notion prevails that the pearls themselves are susceptible of married bliss. Among the hereditary jewelers of the Persian court it is an article of faith that pearls have sex and that every one has its mate. Its equal in size and beauty. The surest way to avoid the dreaded pearl disease is to mount the pearls in pairs. If deprived of their mates they languish and lose luster; hence the desire to match pearls which has led to such extravagance.

It is said that the great glory of the ropes of pearls given to Queen Alexandra by some of the princes of India was the perfect matching of almost all of the pearls. Thus the eastern experts believed they were assuring long life for these jewels. It is believed to foretell misfortune for the owner of pearls when they contract the pearl disease.

Some readers may remember that the first whisper of coming misfortune for the beautiful Empress Eugenie arose when the news was spread abroad that her pearls were spotted and crumbling away. Of course, the French jewelers would have derided the eastern notion of sex and affinity in pearls, but the keepers of the shah's jewels believe in it, and they have preserved many of the crown jewels for centuries. Modern jewelers are always on the lookout for opportunities of matching pearls. You do not find them so anxious to match diamonds or rubies. And it is curious that persistent searching generally discovers that all pearls have doubles in size, luster and weight.—New York Sun.

BATHS IN PARIS.

They Are Something in the Nature of a Public Function.

American tourists when they visit Paris find unexpected difficulties in gratifying their desire for a bath. Conditions are slowly changing for the better, however, and some of the hotels have introduced bathrooms, an innovation brought about mainly to satisfy American demands. A writer in the New York Sun tells how the bath is usually enjoyed:

Like most intimate affairs in France, the bath partakes of the nature of a public function. There is also a choice in the matter. The ambulance bath was one franc fifty a bath, or you got a season ticket for one franc twenty. A man wheels a handcart, which carries a receptacle filled with hot water, surmounted by a tub, to your door. He brings the tub on his head to your room and returns with the hot water, two covered palafans at a time. He then retires to the courtyard and waits till you have finished the bath. His cheerful whistle floats up to the window to the accompaniment of your splashing as a reminder that you should not linger—which you are not tempted to do in the cramped quarters of a French bathtub.

The foreign lady's bath is a sort of gala day for the neighborhood. If frequent, the event is discussed by the neighbors across the way. "Truly, that costs dear; they are bien des millionnaires," ces dames Americans! And the children flock to count the pails as they are turned out. All of this is well calculated to make the occasion one of keen embarrassment for the foreign lady.

Modest Fitzgerald.

Edward Fitzgerald was utterly careless of his fame. He lived to be an old man, yet not one in a million of his fellow countrymen regarded him as a poet, even if they had heard his name mentioned as an old chum of Alfred Tennyson. Yet he translated "The Rubaiyat of Omar Khayyam" long years before his death. He kept it "choking about" apparently not thinking it worth publication, and when he did print a few copies nobody took any notice of it. Today it is one of the most famous poems in the world.

First Word Heard of It.

Harry returned to Sunday school, after a long absence, on the day on which tickets for the annual picnic were distributed. He trembled in his seat when the teacher began a quiz on the lesson of the previous Sunday. Finally his turn came.

"Harry, who slew Goliath with a pebble?"

"Honest, teacher," said Harry, "I don't know; I didn't even know he was dead."—New York Press.

Just the Other Way.

A Sphinx 5,000 Years Old

What is regarded as the most wonderful relic of Egyptian history ever brought to light—a Sphinx figure of Ramesses II., found a year ago in the ruins of ancient Memphis—is now lying in a tramp steamer at Christian street wharf, Philadelphia, to be transported next week to the University of Pennsylvania Museum, where it will be placed in the courtyard.

Weighing 11 tons and measuring 12 feet across the red granite carving shows the face of the second Ramesses, King of the Egyptians, with the body of a lion. Carved from a solid stone more than 5,000 years ago, the sphinx is the first to be brought to this country.

About the base of the sphinx in Egyptian hieroglyphics is told the story of Ramesses II. Special hoisting machinery is being prepared to lift the monument out of the ship. The authorities of the university museum are now at work in an effort to find a contractor who has the facilities for conveying the sphinx from the wharf to Thirty-third and Spruce streets where it will have its permanent resting place.

Through its annual contributions to the British School in Egypt the University of Pennsylvania has acquired title to the sphinx. A year has been consumed in its transportation.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Wangen's Fountain of Wine.

A fountain of wine is one of those historical extravagances which are generally associated with the name of Nero. Yet on every July 13 the public fountain of Wangen, in the Alsace wine country, flows with wine. In the middle ages the commune of Wangen was sentenced to make an annual payment to the monastery of Strassburg of 400 measures of wine. In 1733 the payment was abolished by the Directory. Under Louis XVIII. two merchants secured the transfer of the payment to them, by means of forged documents, for 1500, but the commune commenced proceedings against them, to which it was victorious on July 13, 1830. Since that date a communal festival has been held on that day, and from the public fountain erected to commemorate the victory wine flows for one hour in the day.—Westminster Gazette.

Paradoxical. Willie (ready for school)—Mamma, they are hoisting up a safe down the street. Mother—Well, be careful not to walk on the safe side.—Boston Transcript.

Life is altogether too short to dwell on failures. Push on to a new success.

Read. Investigate. Be convinced. You'll find why Princess Anne folks believe in Doan's.

John B. Fleming, Main street, Princess Anne, Md., says: "You are at liberty to continue using the endorsement I have given before, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills, for the cure has been permanent. I often tell my friends about this remedy. For a long time I was troubled by pain and weakness in my back, brought on by disordered kidneys. The kidney secretions were also in bad shape. I had often read about Doan's Kidney Pills and finally procured a box at Homer A. Jones' drug store. The results were very satisfactory."

KICKED ON THE TIPS.

The Waiter Thought the Rule Should Not Work Both Ways.

"My bill at the cabaret restaurant on Broadway was $25, and when I gave the waiter a tip of a dollar he frowned."

The speaker was a banker from Duluth. He continued warmly:

"What are you frowning about?" I asked the waiter. "Isn't that a generous tip for a few minutes work on your part?"

"In New York," the man answered, "the rule is always to give a tip of 10 per cent. Your bill, sir, called for a $25.00 tip. So, naturally, I feel a little aggrieved. But it is easy to see, sir, that you are not a New Yorker, and so it can't be expected that you'd know the rules."

"Well, I pocketed the waiter's insult, and the next time I was in that neighborhood I dropped in on him again. This time I was alone, and not being hungry, I only ate a $1.35 meal. When it was over I handed the waiter a tip of 11 cents. You ought to have seen his face. It was worse than before."

"It's all right," I assured him. "It's according to the 10 per cent rule that you taught me. If a man's bill is exorbitant that makes no difference, according to the rule. Well, then, when a man's bill is small, it should make no difference, either."

"The waiter glowered at me. He shook the 11 cents in his palm sarcastically. I said, as I rose to go:

"And, by jove, it won't make any difference either. If you waiters insist on your 10 per cent for large amounts then you've got to take it for small amounts, too. At least, by jingo, you've got to take it from me. I'm from Duluth, but I know my way about."

The Duluth banker sighed heavily. "But the fact remains," he said, "that ever since that waiter called me down I give 10 per cent on big amounts like a fool and like a fool I give 20 to 30 per cent on small amounts."—Minneapolis Journal.

FOUND A HIDING PLACE.

Then They Got a Big Surprise When Daylight Appeared.

The father of Joseph Altscheler, the writer of war stories, was a Prussian who came to this country a few years before the war between the states broke out and settled in Barren county, Kentucky. By reason of his foreign birth the elder Altscheler was not subject to draft by either army when hostilities began, but his southern sympathies made him obnoxious to a group of bushwhackers who, posing as Federalists, infested the vicinity of the Kentucky-Tennessee state line.

One starless, moonless night in the summer of 1863 a neighbor came with the word that the bushwhackers were on their way to kill Mr. Altscheler and another resident of the vicinity who had been outspoken in his approval of secession. It was not certain, the messenger said, which road of the two marauders would take to reach the homes of their proposed victims; but it was certain that they would be along soon.

Mr. Altscheler and the other threatened man gathered up a blanket apiece and went into the woods to hide. In the darkness they speedily lost all sense of direction. For an hour they wandered about, seeking a suitable camping place. Finally they came to a spot that was free of trees and where the ground felt smooth underfoot. So they spread their blankets and went to sleep, secure in the belief that no bushwhacker could find them there.

The rising sun, shining in their faces, waked them. They sat up and looked around. They had been asleep all night at the only place where the raiders could not have failed to find them had their plans been carried out at the forks of the county road.—Saturday Evening Post.

Diameter of a Fine Wire.

Should you ever find it necessary to obtain the diameter of a fine wire, it may be done in this manner: Wind it carefully around a piece of pencil in one layer for an inch or so, that each turn is touching the previous one. Then measure exactly an inch along the wire and count the number of turns it takes. You then have the information. Thus, if there are eighteen turns the wire is one-eighteenth of an inch diameter.

Gas in Trees.

An interesting phenomenon, says a writer in American Forestry, is the escape of gas from cavities at the base of hardwood trees in the Ozarks, when the trees are cut down. "When the cavities are cut into the gas escapes with a whistling sound, and if lighted it will burn with a faint yellow flame." Decomposition of the heart wood of the tree is supposed to cause the formation of the gas.

PROCLAMATION

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of Maryland.

Whereas, at the January Session of the General Assembly of Maryland, held in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirty, the said Assembly passed certain amendments to the Constitution of Maryland, and the said amendments are in the following words, to wit:

CHAPTER 402.

AN ACT to propose an amendment to Article 3 of the Constitution of this State, by adding a new Section, to be known as Section 4A, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for their adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following new section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Article 3 of the Constitution of this State, to be known as Section 4A, and to be numbered 4A, and it is hereby provided, that said section shall become a part of Article 3 of the Constitution of Maryland.

Sec. 2. The General Assembly shall enact no law unless the same shall be taken for public use without just compensation, to be agreed upon between the parties or first paid or tendered to the party entitled to such compensation, but where such property is taken for public use, the City and County Council of Baltimore, the General Assembly of Maryland, or the Court of Appeals, or any one of them, may, upon payment of the value of such property, or into Court and securing the payment of the value of such property, award by a jury, such property may be taken.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the said foregoing section, hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State, shall be submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof, for their adoption or rejection, in the month of November, 1932, to be held on Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, 1932, and upon each ballot there shall be written or printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Approved April 8, 1932.

CHAPTER 401.

AN ACT to amend Section 27 of Article III, title "Legislative Department," of the Constitution of this State, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for their adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section 27 of Article III, title "Legislative Department," of the Constitution of this State, and it is hereby provided, that said amendment shall be submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof, for their adoption or rejection, in the month of November, 1932, to be held on Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, 1932, and upon each ballot there shall be written or printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Sec. 2. Any bill may originate in either House of the General Assembly, and be amended, amended or rejected by the other, but no bill shall originate in either House during the last ten days of the session, unless two-thirds of the members elected thereto shall so determine by yeas and nays, and no bill shall be passed until it shall have been actually introduced or printed for a third reading.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the foregoing section, hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State, shall be submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof, for their adoption or rejection, in the month of November, 1932, to be held on Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, 1932, and upon each ballot there shall be written or printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Approved April 8, 1932.

CHAPTER 403.

AN ACT to amend Section 21 of Article 3, title "Judicial Department," of the Constitution of this State, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for their adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section 21 of Article 3, title "Judicial Department," of the Constitution of this State, and it is hereby provided, that said amendment shall be submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof, for their adoption or rejection, in the month of November, 1932, to be held on Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, 1932, and upon each ballot there shall be written or printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the said foregoing section, hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State, shall be submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof, for their adoption or rejection, in the month of November, 1932, to be held on Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, 1932, and upon each ballot there shall be written or printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

State may be interested, and he shall give his opinion in writing, whenever required by the General Assembly or either branch thereof, the Governor, the Comptroller of the Treasury, or any State Attorney, on any legal matter or subject depending before them or either of them; and when required by the Governor or General Assembly he shall aid any State Attorney in prosecuting any suit or action brought by the State in any Court of the State, and he shall commence and prosecute or defend any suit or action in any of said Courts, on the part of the State, which the General Assembly or the Governor, acting according to law, shall direct to be commenced, prosecuted or defended, and he shall have and perform such other duties as shall be appointed him by the General Assembly, and he shall receive for his services an annual salary of three thousand dollars, or such annual salary as the General Assembly may from time to time by law prescribe; but he shall not be entitled to receive any compensation or rewards whatsoever in addition to the salary aforesaid for the performance of any official duty; nor shall the Governor or any member of the General Assembly, or any member of the Council in any case whatever, unless authorized by the General Assembly, receive any compensation or rewards whatsoever for the performance of any official duty; and the said Governor, or any member of the General Assembly, or any member of the Council, shall be ineligible for re-election to the same office or position for the term of years next following the expiration of the term for which he was elected or appointed.

Sec. 3. If any person shall give or offer to give, directly or indirectly, any bribe, present or reward, or any promise or any security, for the payment or delivery of money, or any other thing, to induce any voter to refrain from casting his vote, or to prevent him in any way from voting, or to procure a vote for any candidate or person proposed, or voted for as an elector of President and Vice President of the United States, or for any representative in Congress or for any office of profit or trust, created by the Constitution or Laws of this State, or by any Ordinance, or authority of the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, the person receiving the same, and any person who gives or causes to be given, an illegal vote, knowing it to be such, at any election to be hereafter held in this State, shall, on conviction in a Court of law, in addition to the penalties now or hereafter to be imposed by law, be forever disqualified to hold any office of profit or trust, or to vote at any election thereafter.

But the General Assembly may in its discretion remove the above penalty and all other penalties upon the vote buyer, so as to place the penalties for the purchase of votes on the vote buyer alone.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the said foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State, shall be submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof, for their adoption or rejection, in the month of November, 1932, to be held on Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, 1932, and upon each ballot there shall be written or printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Approved April 8, 1932.

AN ACT to amend Section 3 of Article 1, title "Elective Franchise," of the Constitution of this State, so as to permit the General Assembly to excuse the vote seller from any penalty for selling his vote and place the penalty for the purchase of votes upon the vote buyer alone, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for their adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section 3 of Article 1, title "Elective Franchise," of the Constitution of this State, and it is hereby provided, that said amendment shall be submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof, for their adoption or rejection, in the month of November, 1932, to be held on Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, 1932, and upon each ballot there shall be written or printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Sec. 2. Any bill may originate in either House of the General Assembly, and be amended, amended or rejected by the other, but no bill shall originate in either House during the last ten days of the session, unless two-thirds of the members elected thereto shall so determine by yeas and nays, and no bill shall be passed until it shall have been actually introduced or printed for a third reading.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the foregoing section, hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State, shall be submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof, for their adoption or rejection, in the month of November, 1932, to be held on Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, 1932, and upon each ballot there shall be written or printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Approved April 8, 1932.

AN ACT to amend Section 3 of Article 5, title "Attorney General and State's Attorney of the Constitution of this State, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for their adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section 3 of Article 5, title "Attorney General and State's Attorney of the Constitution of this State, and it is hereby provided, that said amendment shall be submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof, for their adoption or rejection, in the month of November, 1932, to be held on Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, 1932, and upon each ballot there shall be written or printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Approved April 8, 1932.

AN ACT to amend Section 3 of Article 4 of the Constitution of this State, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for their adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Article 4 of the Constitution of this State, and it is hereby provided, that said amendment shall be submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof, for their adoption or rejection, in the month of November, 1932, to be held on Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, 1932, and upon each ballot there shall be written or printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

State may be interested, and he shall give his opinion in writing, whenever required by the General Assembly or either branch thereof, the Governor, the Comptroller of the Treasury, or any State Attorney, on any legal matter or subject depending before them or either of them; and when required by the Governor or General Assembly he shall aid any State Attorney in prosecuting any suit or action brought by the State in any Court of the State, and he shall commence and prosecute or defend any suit or action in any of said Courts, on the part of the State, which the General Assembly or the Governor, acting according to law, shall direct to be commenced, prosecuted or defended, and he shall have and perform such other duties as shall be appointed him by the General Assembly, and he shall receive for his services an annual salary of three thousand dollars, or such annual salary as the General Assembly may from time to time by law prescribe; but he shall not be entitled to receive any compensation or rewards whatsoever in addition to the salary aforesaid for the performance of any official duty; nor shall the Governor or any member of the General Assembly, or any member of the Council in any case whatever, unless authorized by the General Assembly, receive any compensation or rewards whatsoever for the performance of any official duty; and the said Governor, or any member of the General Assembly, or any member of the Council, shall be ineligible for re-election to the same office or position for the term of years next following the expiration of the term for which he was elected or appointed.

Sec. 3. If any person shall give or offer to give, directly or indirectly, any bribe, present or reward, or any promise or any security, for the payment or delivery of money, or any other thing, to induce any voter to refrain from casting his vote, or to prevent him in any way from voting, or to procure a vote for any candidate or person proposed, or voted for as an elector of President and Vice President of the United States, or for any representative in Congress or for any office of profit or trust, created by the Constitution or Laws of this State, or by any Ordinance, or authority of the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, the person receiving the same, and any person who gives or causes to be given, an illegal vote, knowing it to be such, at any election to be hereafter held in this State, shall, on conviction in a Court of law, in addition to the penalties now or hereafter to be imposed by law, be forever disqualified to hold any office of profit or trust, or to vote at any election thereafter.

But the General Assembly may in its discretion remove the above penalty and all other penalties upon the vote buyer, so as to place the penalties for the purchase of votes on the vote buyer alone.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the said foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State, shall be submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof, for their adoption or rejection, in the month of November, 1932, to be held on Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, 1932, and upon each ballot there shall be written or printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment" and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Largest Carriage, Wagon and Harness Dealer in the State of Maryland

Don't buy old style rigs, shop-worn and rusty; buy nice fresh painted up-to-date brand new jobs. We are unloading two cars each week, and selling them as fast as our factories can rush them to us. Never before was there such a demand for Wrenn Buggies, Runabouts and Surreys.

Mr. Wrenn was here April 6th. I gave him the largest order the factory ever entered on their books. We will sell over 50 car loads of Wrenn's Vehicles this year. We have the goods and make the price that shuts out all competitors.

I have in stock for your selection:

The Lightest Surrey made in the United States for one horse

The Lightest Runabout with 4 styles axels

The Lightest Novelty Wrenn Buggy with 4 style axels

The Lightest Speed Cart on the market

My Farm Wagons cannot be equaled for $10.00 more. We don't only guarantee our steel axles but we guarantee every part of the wagon. Our rims are deeper, our spokes and hubs are larger. Look them over, you can see the difference.

We have 3 car loads of different styles of BERRY WAGONS—our prices suit you.

We bought over $6,000.00 worth of Harness before the advance in price. Our customers are more than satisfied with their purchase.

One-half of your coal—and it did you no good. Hard luck that. But there is a way to fix it. Here's how:

That stove of yours has seen its best days. You need a new one. You know it—but you have let things drift along. Meanwhile, you have been losing HALF of every hod of coal you have put in it. Of course, you knew it, but you did not think of it that way. You know that half of every lump is gas. Fail to burn that gas and it is like throwing into the ditch half of every dollar you spend in coal.

Rather extravagant? Yes? The ordinary stove made of a lot of separate castings leaks air. They leak air at the wrong place. Places you can not control.

RESULT—the best part of your coal—the 14,000 cubic feet of common illuminating gas that is in the average ton of $3.00 soft coal—goes up the flue unburned.

You have lost it. It has gone up in smoke. Save that gas—mix it properly with air and you have the hottest kind of a blue flame. But there is only one way to do this—Buy the only heater that is made tight—holds tight—stays tight.

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

It leaks no air. This is the heater that mixes the gas and air and gives you all the heat in the coal.

This is the heater that burns any kind of coal and makes a ton of $3.00 soft coal do the work of $8.00 hard coal in a high priced base burner.

This is the heater that is a joy and comfort to the housewife. It makes no dirt or smoke in the house.

This is the heater that saves labor—fix it in the morning and at night and FORGET IT THE REST OF THE TIME.

This is the heater that gives a steady, constant heat from soft coal or lignite.

This is the heater that will hold its fire untouched for a day and a half.

This is the heater we sell you under a guarantee that is as "good as old wheat at the mill." Burns soft coal, lignite, slack, hard coal or wood.

It is just the kind of a heater you want. Come in and see it.

THE SOUTHERN CROSS.

Its Name Does Not Quite Fit This Wondrous Constellation.

The Southern Cross, wonderful alike to those living in the southern half of the world and to the tourist thereof, is one of the most conspicuous and interesting of all the southern constellations.

Situated at a distance of about thirty degrees from the south pole, it is plainly visible in all regions south of the equator, and also to some distance north, about as far as the tropics of Cancer. The farther south one travels the higher in the heavens will appear the cross, and naturally the more conspicuous it becomes.

It seems to have received its name, not like the northern constellations from the ancients, but like most of the southern constellations from the Portuguese navigators, during their explorations into the southern waters. It is said that when Dante came out from "Inferno" he declared that he had seen a mighty cross set in the southern firmament, and the navigators set about to find such a figure and settled upon this one as best fulfilling the conditions. That it is difficult, at first glance, to picture this as a true cross, is not surprising, for had it been named the "kite," a much closer representation could have been imagined. The so-called "false cross" midway between the cross and the bright star Canopus, although composed of fainter stars, is much more regular and symmetrical in shape.

Taken all in all, this constellation of the Southern Cross, which has been the wonder of centuries, still holds its place as a remarkable curiosity, even with the advance of astronomical investigation, and with the data obtained from the spectroscopic and the photograph; our efforts still find unlimited problems yet to be solved. And, above all others, that of the Southern Cross is yet far from a complete solution.—Leon Campbell in "Peru Today."

PUZZLES OF SLEEP.

Noise and Slumber and the Marvelous Rapidity of Dreams.

Both Bismarck and Pepsys found that noise enhanced the value of a night's rest. Bismarck confided in his old age to an interviewer that he could "never sleep in Berlin at night when it is quiet, but as soon as the noise begins, about 4 o'clock in the morning, I can sleep a little and get my rest for the day."

Pepsys records in his diary on Sept. 23, 1861, that he slept at Welling "and still remember it that of all the nights that ever I slept in my life I never did pass a night with more euphorism of sleep; there being now and then a noise of people that waked me, and then it was a very rainy night, and then I was a little weary, that what between waking and then sleeping again, one after another, I never had so much content in all my life."

The probability that we get snatches of sleep at odd moments when we suppose ourselves to have remained by the continuously awake is supported by the phenomena of dreams. Mark Twain accounted for his own "disappearing visitor" by the belief that he had unconsciously had a very short nap, and many have explained visions of ghosts as due to dreams during such short naps.

For nothing is better established in connection with dreams than that an apparently very long one can occur during an almost infinitesimal time. Alfred Maury had a long, vivid dream of the reign of terror, including the trial of himself before the revolutionary tribunal and his execution, and was able to show that it all happened during the moment of awakening by the fall of a red from the bed canopy upon his neck.—London Chronicle.

Nogi's Nerve Tonic.

Having been dedicated to the profession of arms, General Nogi was taken, with a still a small boy, to see a criminal decapitated and was rebuffed for shuddering at the spectacle. After midnight, when all was darkness and silence, he was required to go alone to the burial ground and bring back the culprit's head. The ordeal was designed to strengthen his nerves and teach him to fear nothing, living or dead.—Francis K. Loopp in Atlantic.

Our Language.

An intelligent foreigner is said to have expressed himself after the following fashion on the absurdities of the English language: "When I discovered that I was quick, I was fast; if I stood firm, I was fast; if I spent too freely, I was fast, and that not to eat was to fast. I was discouraged. But when I came across the sentence, 'The first one won one $1 prize,' I was tempted to give up English and learn some other language."

Neatly Turned.

Jack—I hear that you called on your girl's father. How did you come out? Tom—So so! I said to him, "Mr. X, I love your daughter." He said, "So do I; now let's talk of something else." Jack—And then—Tom—Then—well, we talked of something else.—Boston Transcript.

Her Talk Not Dead.

"I understand that your wife is a student of the dead languages." "Yes," replied Mr. Meekton. "But her studies are of no particular advantage. When she talks to me she insists on using language that I can't fail to understand."—Washington Star.

Talent's Advantage.

Willie—Paw, what is the difference between genius and talent? Paw—Talent gets paid every Saturday, my son.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Mrs. F. W. Marriner and two children, Mrs. Florence Brittingham and Mrs. B. T. Dykes left today (Saturday) to spend some time visiting relatives in Baltimore and Sykesville, Md.

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Marriner gave a party Thursday evening in honor of the 21st birthday of their son, Clayton. About 100 guests were present and spent a delightful evening. The house was decorated with flowers. At 10 o'clock the merry company was invited to the dining-room to partake of refreshments after which they retired to another room and viewed the many beautiful and useful presents the young man had received. Those assisting Mrs. Marriner in the dining-room were Mrs. L. Paul Marriner, Mrs. James T. Marriner, Mrs. B. T. Dykes, Mrs. George Miller and Misses Olive and Sallie Gibbons.

The Literary Society met in the public school house at Perryhawkin Wednesday evening. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mr. F. W. Marriner, and the exercises were as follows: Song by the Society; recitation, by Alta Pusey; address by R. H. Harris, quartette by Messrs. Clayton Marriner, Norman Dryden, William Reynolds and B. T. Dykes, after which the question "Resolved, That the Women of Maryland Should be Enfranchised," was debated by Messrs. O. H. Miller and B. C. Dryden for the affirmative and X. H. Harris and B. T. Dykes for the negative. The judges after remaining out fifteen minutes decided in favor of the affirmative.

A STATEMENT OF FACTS

A Record of Honesty and Efficiency of Democratic Rule

Remember, voter, the splendid record your Democratic officials have made in Somerset county in the last eleven years, when you go to the polls on Tuesday, Nov. 4. Recall the facts and have your neighbors bear them in mind.

Here are some of the things accomplished within your own knowledge:

First—Appropriations for public schools have been increased from an annual levy of $6,000.00 in 1901, to a levy of $22,000.00 in 1913.

Second—A new public highway has been constructed leading from Princess Anne to Fairmount, extending through a large part of the richest section of the county at a cost of only $2,000.

Third—A new jail, the best equipped of any jail in this Judicial Circuit, has been erected at a cost of $8,200.00.

Fourth—A new Court House has been erected and furnished with improved equipment and furniture at a cost of $35,000.00. Experts say that this property could not be rebuilt now for less than $40,000.00. Bonds are outstanding for only $30,000.00 of the indebtedness created by the erection of this handsome building.

Fifth—A new brick High School building has been erected at Crisfield at a cost of over $25,000.00. Bonds to the amount of $25,000.00 are outstanding for this improvement.

Sixth—A new High School has been erected at Marion at a cost of $6,000.00. There is no indebtedness outstanding for this improvement.

Seventh—A levy of $3,800.00 has been made, collected, and paid over as required by the Shoemaker Road Law to assist land owners to construct one mile of new stone road near Pocomoke City.

Eighth—Fifty miles of new shell road has been built in the county in the last six years at an average cost per mile of about $1,200.00.

Nine—Between five and six hundred terracotta pipe culverts have been laid throughout the county to replace old wooden bridges at a total cost of about $5,000.00.

Tenth—$2,300.00 has been spent for a concrete bridge at Jenkins Creek, and large corrugated iron culverts.

Eleventh—The real and personal property of Somerset County was reassessed by the Board of County Commissioners of Somerset County in 1908 and 1909 at a total cost to the people of Somerset County of less than $4,000.00. The area of Wicomico County is smaller than that of Somerset County, but the total cost of reassessing property in Wicomico County in 1910 was over $8,000.00.

Twelfth—The old tax collectors' system has been abolished and the up-to-date Treasurer's system established in its place for the collection of taxes at a saving of $400.00 annually to the county, and the public revenues are more promptly collected than ever before in the history of the county.

Thirteenth—During a period covering the last six years, out of a total levy of $120,000.00 for road purposes, $77,300.00 has been expended for permanent work and material, to wit: For iron and concrete bridges, shell roads, terracotta pipes and lumber.

Fourteenth—A substantial and long-needed improvement in the highway leading across the headwaters of East Creek, near St. Paul Church, and the highway leading from Rehobeth to Shelltown was made in 1912. Tax payers in these communities approve these excellent improvements.

Fifteenth—During the last ten years three new iron bridges have been erected in Somerset County at a cost of $2,000.00.

Sixteenth—Of Somerset County bonded indebtedness of $81,000.00, only $55,000.00 is fairly chargeable to Democratic management, and for this bonded indebtedness we exhibit the handsome new Court House at Princess Anne, and the new improved High School at Crisfield, the total cost of these two buildings being much in excess of the present bonded indebtedness issued to pay for same. The balance of the bonded indebtedness of the county is for deficiencies contracted in the main under Republican rule, and chiefly for school purposes, as Republican Commissioners did not levy sufficient appropriations to meet the annual needs of the public schools.

More Potatoes This Year

White potatoes continue to bear up well, the total shipments having now reached a maximum of 211,005 barrels as compared with 184,912 last year. It is predicted that many more white potatoes will be raised on the Delaware-Maryland peninsula next season, as prices have come up well and the crop can now be successfully raised and marketed at a large profit.

Apples are catching up on the record run of last year of 581,730 baskets. The total shipments this season now reach 162,405 baskets and the farmers who grow winter apples have only fairly begun this harvest and the shipments to cold storage places.—Delaware State News.

A Marvellous Escape

"My little boy had a narrow escape," writes P. E. Bastians, of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a severe attack of croup. As luck would have it, I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for one hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." Sold by all dealers.

Seventeenth—During the last ten years the assessment of the property of the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad Company located in Somerset County has been increased by Boards of Democratic County Commissioners from a total of $227,000.00 in round numbers in 1901, to a total of $543,313.00 in 1913; in other words the assessment against the aforesaid Railroad Company's property in this county during the period of Democratic control from 1901 to the present time has been increased $316,313.00, more than double the assessment of 1901, notwithstanding the fact that the law of the state, over which the County Commissioners have no control and cannot defy, exempts the most expensive part of the railroad property, to wit: its bridges.

Some criticism has been heard that by the legislation that was enacted to float the necessary bonds to build the new Court House, the payment of the bonded indebtedness was postponed for so long a time, but it is respectfully submitted, that in view of the county's meagre resources and general financial condition, it was not only wise public policy but good financing, to so legislate as to enable the county first, gradually to liquidate outstanding bonded indebtedness known as the "Deficiency Bond Indebtedness of 1898," created by previous administrations, which now aggregate $18,000, and are being paid for at the rate of $1,500 per annum by the present generation; and also to postpone the payment of any of the principal of these Court House Bonds to such a period as will enable the people of Somerset County to pay the school bonds of 1902, amounting to $18,000, in full, before paying any of the principal of the bonded indebtedness for the erection of the Court House, which will serve the people of Somerset County as well as a hundred years hence as it serves them now.

A significant fact that should always be borne in mind in connection with the taxation problem in Somerset County is that the total valuation of property for taxation purposes is lower in Somerset County than any county on the Eastern Shore.

MASS MEETING SUCCESS

Big Gathering of Democrats to Hear Candidates Speak

The Auditorium, Princess Anne, was filled, Wednesday afternoon, with a very enthusiastic audience, including a number of ladies, to listen to the telling speeches of the Democratic candidates who had come here in the interest of the party. Mr. Henry J. Waters, on behalf of the State Central Committee, called the meeting to order. State's Attorney Gordon Tull was chosen chairman; Mr. I. T. James Brown, secretary. The speakers were Senator Blair Lee, Mr. Caleb C. Magruder, clerk of the Court of Appeals; and Hon. Albert C. Ritchie, of Baltimore, who was putting in a day campaigning. The brass band from Lawsons furnished good music on the street before the meeting, and between the speeches in the Auditorium.

Mr. Magruder met with a fine reception from the audience when he was presented by Chairman Tull. Mr. Magruder spoke mainly on home rule for counties, declaring that many matters of minor legislation that choke the files of the Legislature at every session should be left to the County Commissioners to determine.

Senator Blair Lee received a great ovation upon his introduction to the audience by Chairman Tull, showing the high esteem in which Senator Lee is held by the people.

Senator Lee said he was glad to see so many ladies present, and it was no more than right that they should take an interest in politics. Continuing he said:

"The Currency Bill, supposed by many to be one affecting banking interests alone, is necessary from the standpoint of the housekeeper and wage-earner as well. This important matter has not been taken up before because the party, so long in power, did not look after the interests of the people. Standpatism is an obstruction to the progress of mankind. The United States Senate has long been looked upon as the home of special privilege. There is a point when you cannot trifle longer with the impulses of the people."

After a few appropriate remarks Chairman Tull introduced Mr. Ritchie as one of the speakers of the meeting, who dwelt upon the necessity of sending a Democratic senator to Congress. He said in part:

"The tariff has been readjusted as promised, the Currency Bill is well on its way and will become a law, probable next month, and thus a splendid start has been made along the line of redeeming the pledges of the Baltimore Convention. But another and, to my mind, a greater problem remains to be taken up, and that is the regulation of the trusts."

"What reason is there why Blair Lee, a man of splendid attainments, of courage and of purpose, should not be sent to speak and vote Democracy on the floor of the Senate? Let us perpetuate our Democratic majority there so that this may not continue to be a government of men, but a government of laws administered by men."

The meeting was a great success, and the enthusiasm manifested shows the Democrats are confident of victory at the polls on Tuesday, November 4.

Red Men Entertain Guests

The council fire burnt bright, Wednesday night, at the wigwam of Wa Wa Tribe, No. 121, I. O. R. M., of Princess Anne. There were about 45 braves of the tribe present to welcome the following distinguished visitors: Grand Sachem John W. Walker, of Baltimore; Great Senior Sagamore Jacob Stump, of Westernport; Great Mishinewa M. E. Tindle and Past Great Sachem E. E. Twilley, of Salisbury.

Speeches were made by the visitors complimenting Wa Wa Tribe on its activity in getting new members, and the general enthusiasm prevailing. During the evening an exemplification of the unwritten work was given.

At the close of the council meeting the visitors were taken to Mr. B. H. Dougherty's ice cream parlor where refreshments were served.

New Concrete Bridge

The work of putting in a concrete bridge over the Manokin river, in place of the wooden Red Bridge, was started yesterday (Monday). The work is being done by the Luten Bridge Company, of York, Pa. Mr. L. S. Vandling is in charge of the construction work.

The new bridge will have a 32-foot arch, and will require about three weeks for its completion. The bridge is located on the road leading from Princess Anne to Deal's Island, and the road will be closed to travel until the bridge is finished.

Hick's Forecast For November

The regular storm period, covering the first days of November bids fair to be a decidedly stormy and inclement period. It is central on the 4th coincident with the center of the Venus equinoctial period. The Mercury period will also add its perturbing power to these disturbances. As these storms travel eastward across the country, from about the 3d to the 7th they will grow in intensity and extent, until most parts of the country will feel their influence and direct forces.

A reactionary storm period will bring a return of storm conditions—falling barometer, change to warmer, southerly winds, with probable thunder and rain—on and touching the 9th, 10th and 11th. The moon being on the celestial equator on the 9th, storms of rain, wind and thunder will be natural consequences on and touching that date.

A regular storm period involves the 14th to 19th, center being on the 16th. The moon is at extreme north declination on the 16th, which fact will tend to suppress the change to colder, which would normally follow the storms of this period. If low barometric areas should cover the southern parts of the country with counter storms moving out of the northwest at this time, cold, frosty weather will spread southward after this storm period, giving an early smack of winter to states far toward the gulf, say from about the 17th to the 20th.

A regular storm period covers the last week in November, having its astrophysical center on the 27th. The moon is also at new, or in conjunction with earth and sun, on the 27th. The barometer will fall, and other indications of brewing storms will appear westward by the 25th and 26th, but decided autumnal storms of rain and wind, turning to snow northward, will traverse the country from west to east on and touching the 27th, 28th and 29th.

SECRETARY BRYAN SPEAKS IN PRINCESS ANNE

Large Crowd Assembled at the Court House Last Saturday to Hear Him Discuss the Issues of the Campaign

Owing to the inclement weather the meeting was held indoors

An Enthusiastic Audience From the Start to Finish

In spite of the heavy downpour of rain an audience that filled every available inch of space, including many ladies, crowded the court-room in the Court House, Saturday morning, to listen to an address by Hon. William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State. Many were unable to gain admittance. It was intended to hold the meeting in front of the Court House, but the inclement weather prevented, and kept away hundreds of out-of-town visitors who would have otherwise come to hear the distinguished Congressman.

Mr. Bryan arrived in Princess Anne, on a special train from Claiborne, at about 10.15 o'clock. He was accompanied by former Congressman Joshua W. Miles and Messrs. Cassius M. Dashiell and I. T. James Brown, who had left Princess Anne Friday night for Claiborne to escort Mr. Bryan to this town.

On the arrival of the train here Mr. Bryan was driven to the Court House in Mr. Miles' automobile.

The entrance of Mr. Bryan and Messrs. Miles, Dashiell and Brown into the courtroom was hailed with loud and hearty applause by the big audience. Mr. Dashiell introduced Hon. Joshua W. Miles on behalf of the State Central Committee, as the first speaker, and to preside over the meeting. Mr. Miles said:

Ladies and Gentlemen—This is a great day in the annals of Somerset county. Our county was erected one hundred and ten years before the birth of the republic. One of our citizens signed the Declaration of Independence, and for more than one hundred and thirty years, our people have done their part in the upbuilding of this great Union of States. In this time, the people of the Eastern Shore have selected fifteen Somerset congressmen to represent them in the Congress of the United States, including one United States Senator; and our sons have served the commonwealth of Maryland with great distinction and honor in every branch of her splendid government; but for the first time in all our history, a member of a Democratic Cabinet is with us to tell us of the splendid stewardship and the record of achievement, of one of the greatest administrations in all the history of the Democratic party.

It is an inspiration to stand, with this environment, in the midst of this great assemblage of the electors of Maryland. It is an unusual honor, to be called upon to preside at such a meeting of the home loving and patriotic men and women of this fair section of our common country, and I desire to make acknowledgment of the distinction conferred upon me by the Democratic State Central Committee for Somerset county. I want to confess to you, and this shall be the keynote of my brief remarks, that I have long coveted the honor of being permitted to introduce to the people of my country the great Commander of the Democratic party, and one of the greatest living exponents of popular rights in any land of our country. Fellow citizens, I have the honor of introducing to you, our distinguished Secretary of State—the first counselor of our great Democratic President—Hon. William Jennings Bryan.

Prolonged applause greeted the announcement of Mr. Bryan's name, and continued for several minutes. He made a very strong argument for the Democratic cause. The main points of his address were as follows:

Ladies and gentlemen—I appreciate your welcome, and also the generous praise given to me by Mr. Miles. I hope you will not cherish it against him. It certainly makes up for the abuse showered on me by the Republicans. Now, whenever some mean Republican speaks badly of me, I shall think of Mr. Miles' kind words, and they will make me feel better.

I came from a section not so old as this, that cannot look back two centuries the way you can. My state is so new, comparatively speaking, that we generally ask each other we meet: "What State did you come from?"

This meeting recalls to my mind the first political speech I ever made. It was in a Court House in the town in which I was born in Southern Illinois. That was 34 years ago. I was in college at that time, and in my senior year. It has been a long time since then, and it would take a long time for me to tell of all the political contests I have taken part in. I have been preaching "Hope" for the last three decades.

My first speech took about 20 minutes. Now it would take me over a day to tell of the evil things the Republican party has done, and it would take me over a day to tell of the good things the Democratic party has done.

Mr. Bryan then spoke of Senator

Blair Lee in glowing terms, and counselled all who had the interest of the Democratic party at heart, and were desirous of good government, to vote for Blair Lee; to sink any local differences and not to do anything that would injure the party. Because, if Blair Lee is defeated, it could be easily explained to the people in the State, but to people living in other states it would look as if the people of the State were dissatisfied with President Wilson's policies.

"You want to send Blair Lee to the United States Senate," said Mr. Bryan, "because it is necessary to uphold President Wilson's hands. If his Republican opponent is elected he will do everything he can to tie the President's hands."

"Where I was reared," continued Mr. Bryan, "it was a Republican community, and they looked down on a Democrat. A man asked me if it would be inconsistent in him to be a Democrat and a Christian at the same time. I told him I knew of no inconsistency in the matter. That was 32 years ago. But times have greatly changed since then. I am proud to be a Democrat, and I am an elder in the Presbyterian church and high priest in the Democratic party."

Mr. Bryan then spoke in a highly laudatory manner of President Wilson and his steadfastness and courage of conviction in his work for the good of the people. Mr. Bryan took up the Currency Bill and told of the great benefit it will be to the country at large, when it becomes a law.

At the close of Mr. Bryan's address many of the audience pressed forward to shake his hand and congratulate him on his address.

Mr. Bryan, and invited guests, were later entertained at the residence of Mr. Joshua W. Miles, where lunch was served. The distinguished visitor, with a number of other gentlemen, took an afternoon special train for Easton where he delivered another address.

A fine musical program was given before the meeting by Blade's Concert Band, of Sanford, Del., C. W. Robinson, leader.

Local Happenings

In a certain store on Main street, Princess Anne, the proprietor is so pleasant and his clerks so courteous to customers that about every evening a number of gentlemen meet at this store to talk over local happenings.

On Wednesday night one of the gentlemen told of two horses breaking out of a barn and running through the streets, in their flight colliding with the porch of a house knocking one of the pillars down.

"The man of the house," said the gentleman, "was sitting in the kitchen, at the time of the accident, mashing turnips. At the noise of the collision he was so startled he dropped the turnips and dish on the floor. As soon as he recovered himself, looking at the turnips scattered about, he said: 'They may have been 'turnups' at one time, but they're certainly 'turn-downs' now.'"

In speaking of the high wind on Monday, another gentleman told the following:

"The wind blew so hard on Monday, it started a car on a siding at Cohn & Book Company's building. The car struck two other cars, starting them on their way towards the main track. It happened that no train was approaching at this psychological moment so no collision took place. In fact, there wouldn't have been any collision anyway, because Tom Heath, an employee, saw the cars moving, and put a couple of stones under the wheels, thus stopping the cars."

Polk Miller Dead

Polk Miller, the well-known lecturer and humorist died very suddenly in Richmond, Va., last Tuesday. Soon after the Civil War, in which he distinguished himself as a Confederate, Miller went on the platform and has toured the country many times.

For the most part he was greeted by large audiences, and his dialect stories, based on incidents in the lives and manners of Southern dinkies were greatly appreciated.

Of late years Mr. Miller was accompanied by a small troupe of banjoists and singers who rendered folk songs of the Southland.

Mr. Miller appeared many times in Princess Anne, and his entertainments were always well patronized and highly enjoyed.

GALE SWEEPED THIS SECTION

Damage Done on Eastern Shore by Wind and High Tides

The severe gale which swept the Eastern Shore on Monday of last week, did very little financial damage in and around Princess Anne. Branches of trees were snapped off and the water of the Manokin river, by night, had risen over the red bridge and flooded the roadway; also, extending from the bridge on North Main street to the Presbyterian cemetery. By the following Tuesday morning the waters had subsided.

Capt. James A. Campbell, of Habnab, is reported to have lost about $75 worth of potatoes, besides some other vegetables that were swept away by the rushing waters.

Messrs. G. Samuel Richardson, J. T. Lecates, William Lecates and Clarence Phillips, of Princess Anne, who went to Salisbury, on Monday afternoon, in Mr. J. T. Lecates' automobile, to attend the Red Men's tri-county class adoption rites, had a rather unusual experience on their return trip to this town. The hour was late and the road was enshrouded in darkness. It was so black a person could cut it with an axe; that is, to make a good story, the night should have been dark and dreary and so, but the moon was shining. The wind blew so strong that it made about everything movable to hurtle through space like whirling dervishes.

When the autoists came near the head of the creek bridge at Allen, they found the highway covered with rushing waters. The gentlemen decided to investigate and find out the condition the bridge was in. So Billy Lecates and Sammy Richardson arose in their manful manliness, took off their shoes and stockings and waded forth into the cold, bitter cold water, while the gentlemen in the auto applauded their noble efforts.

Sammy and Bill found one of the planks of the bridge washed away, and three others were loose. So Sam and Bill, with their massive strength, held the planks in place while the auto passed over.

"Any way," said Sammy, "we had a glorious time, and two of us got our feet washed."

At Crisfield the water extended up as far as the new brick hotel. In the lower section of the town boats were used to go from place to place.

Considerable damage was done by the wind at Easton and other localities.

At Salisbury the entire lower portion of Main street was flooded, Dock street was also under water. On some of the streets people had to use boats to go from place to place.

Nearly the whole of Marumco was covered for about ten square miles from the Pocomo Sound side to Carver's store. The whole of the county road was covered from Carver's store to Frank Whittington's, a distance of five miles. The tide was high at 2 p. m. and rose steadily all the afternoon.

Considerable destruction was caused by the wind on the Wicomico and Nanticoke rivers. At Rencher's Cove, in the Nanticoke district, only two boats, among more than fifty, remained afloat. Many of the latter being smashed to pieces. The long wharf of the Baltimore, Chesapeake & Atlantic Railway at Bivalve was wrecked by the high water.

The damage done in Wicomico County is estimated at about $20,000.

Going to the Minstrel Show? Yes

With "rings on her fingers, and bells on her toes, she'll make music wherever she goes" can be truly said of the minstrel show that is going to be given for the benefit of Wa Wa Tribe, No. 121, I. O. R. M., during the first week in November—date to be announced in the next issue of this paper.

The only difference between the girl "with rings on her fingers and bells on her toes" and the minstrel show is, the latter is a he affair, and the jokes, without any moss or whiskers on 'em. Besides, the dances, quartet and choruses will call for many encores. The songs will consist of a number of the latest Broadway, New York, successes. The specialties will be up-to-date and snappy. The young gentlemen, who are to take part, are among the best of our local talent.

The first part of the program will show life of the present times, then will go back to Indian days of wars, trails and scouts. Then the scene shifts back to the present day. There will also be given a side-splitting comedy, so be prepared to have your buttons sewed on strong.

Now, all ye readers, be sure to see the big parade on the day of the show as it will give you a slight idea of the fine entertainment that is to be given.

OYSTERYMEN'S FRIEND

That Is What Hon. Joshua W. Miles Is, Says W. L. Muir

The Baltimore Sun, of October 21st, contained the following article from Mr. W. L. Muir, of Baltimore:

"I read an article in your paper dated October 14, stating that the oystermen of Somerset County, Maryland, had removed certain buoys from leased oyster lots in Tangier Sound, and had torn down the watchhouse. This is only the dropping before the mighty shower, if this lease law as now construed by the present Shellfish Commissioners, stands. The people will not allow their natural rocks to be taken away. They are God-given rights and the people will maintain them at any cost."

"In that same article of October 14 they accused Mr. Joshua W. Miles of not being a friend to the oystermen. But if they knew him as I do they would have said different. For in 1903 the firm of Miles & Stanford took 21 five-acre oyster lots, located in Manokin river, to the Somerset County Court for the oystermen and they were set aside or given back to the oystermen. Again, in 1907, this same firm took to the same court 16 oyster lots from the river and they were all given back to the oystermen. In 1909, when the Manokin Planter & Packing Company wanted to dredge oysters from these beds, contrary to the Manokin river laws, and Mr. G. A. Cox, one of the firm, went to the Governor and the Board of Public Works and obtained a permit, and its employees began dredging on these lots, they were arrested by the local police boat of Manokin river. They were aroused, but did not know the law, and this same firm, Miles & Stanford, stood with the oystermen. Mr. Stanford, now judge, and one of the State's grandest men, went to the Governor for the oystermen and showed the Governor the Somerset law and what hardship and distress it had brought on them. Immediately the permit was rescinded and the dredging stopped on these bars. Mr. Miles also went to Annapolis and did what he could against any such law being enacted by the Legislature. Although they were offered $1,000 and a large retainer to work against the oystermen, they let it go and took the small sum of $50 from the oystermen and stood with them."

"These are facts, and in each case I was in a position to know, for I acted for the oystermen. This firm of Miles & Stanford knows these are facts, and does not this prove that Mr. Joshua W. Miles is a friend to the oystermen? I know he is."

Tried To Drown Her Children

An insane mother almost succeeded in taking the lives of her two small children and then attempted suicide last Tuesday in Crisfield. Mrs. Annie Harrison, crazed by drugs, took her two small children—one a girl of seven and the other a boy of two—for a walk down town. She walked down to Cove Landing, on the river front, and threw the smaller child overboard. The child came to the surface and the mother pushed its head under the water again, when Alexander Gerald, who resides near the scene saw the woman's act and rushed to the rescue of the child. Gerald got the child out of the water. The little one was unconscious and as the man attempted to revive it the woman grabbed her other child and threw it into the water.

With an unconscious child on one arm, Gerald again jumped into the freezing water and managed to rescue the other child. The mother then jumped into the river, in an attempt to take her own life, but was prevented from doing so by a waterman, who had been attracted to the scene.

Drs. R. R. Norris and W. H. Coulbourne examined Mrs. Harrison Tuesday afternoon and pronounced her insane. She was committed to the Spring Grove State Asylum. The children were committed to St. Vincent's Asylum, in Baltimore, by Justice W. A. Britton.

Pleased With Blair Lee

A striking incident happened at the Democratic mass meeting held Wednesday, in the Auditorium. Among those who attended was Mr. James Bailey, who is very hard of hearing. After the meeting was over and while walking along Main street, Mr. Bailey spoke to Mr. C. M. Dashiell, who was also present at the meeting, and said:

"Did you hear Blair Lee, did you hear every word he said?"

"Yes, I heard him very distinctly," replied Mr. Dashiell. "Could you hear him?"

"I heard a word once in a while," answered Mr. Bailey, "but oh, I saw him; and that was pleasure enough for me."

CIGAR BOXES.

There is a Tremendous Trade in These Cedar Wood Receptacles.

Cigar boxes are a negligible quantity to the average smoker who stands before a tastily dressed showcase and buys a "five cent straight" or a "three for a quarter." Few of even the most inveterate smokers ever stop to think of the number of these boxes used in the United States during a year, or from where they come.

Thirty millions is the total number of boxes supplied to cigar manufacturers in the United States. Many millions more enter the country filled with foreign rolled cigars from Cuba, Porto Rico and the Philippines. Manufacturers declare that the boxes made from Spanish cedar, a wood which is rarely seen outside of Cuba, is the best for packing the seductive weed.

Various woods have been tried, but wherever used connoisseurs have protested that even the finest of cigars were spoiled by putting them in boxes made from other wood than Spanish cedar. This wood always retains the flavor of a good cigar, and some assert that it greatly improves the flavor. The reason given is that the Spanish cedar grows only in that soil which produces the finest quality of what is known as Havana tobacco.—Washington Star.

Reading His Fortune.

A negro, having won a dollar at a crap game, decided to spend it on having his fortune told. The fortune teller led him into a gloomy room with dirty hangings and misty red lights. She took his palm, traced it with a dollar, spread out her cards and then said:

"You are very fond of music, you like chicken; you have won money at craps, and you have been in jail."

The negro looked at her with bulging eyes and finally ejaculated: "Mah goodness, lady—why, yo' jest read mah inmost thoughts!"—Exchange.

CROOKED BILLET INN.

London's Oldest Public House and its Romantic Interior.

The Crooked Billet, an inn which stands upon Tower hill, boasts itself, says the London Graphic, as the oldest public house in London. How far back its history goes it would be impossible to say. The records are wanting, but there is every reason to believe that the inn dates from the time of Henry VIII. Certainly no London inn is more romantic in the matter of sliding panels and concealed doors, secret rooms and underground passages—one of these reputedly leads to the Tower—and thick walls richly carved.

In the principal reception room are to be seen some magnificent oak panelings, a quaintly carved frieze above the door and a no less richly carved mantelpiece. The ceiling is covered with a number of strange devices, with a female head—believed to represent Queen Elizabeth—in the center. The windows looking out upon the street are fastened with shutters clamped with huge iron bars.

There is a tradition that Oliver Cromwell, once lived (or lodged) at the Crooked Billet. The place was known in those days as "the old house at the bottom of the Minories."

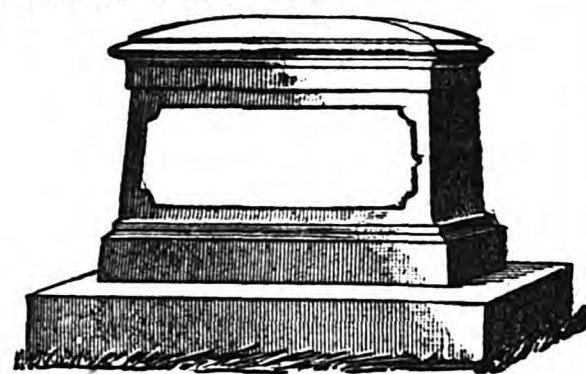

The Family Cough Medicine

In every home there should be a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery, ready for immediate use when any member of the family contracts a cold or a cough. Prompt use will stop the spread of sickness. S. A. Stid, of Mason, Mich., writes: "My whole family depends upon Dr. King's New Discovery as the best cough and cold medicine in the world. Two 50c bottles cured me of pneumonia." Thousands of other families have been equally benefitted and depend entirely upon Dr. King's New Discovery to cure their coughs, colds, throat and lung troubles. Every dose helps. The Farm Telephone

Farm life before the days of the telephone was rather a lonely proposition. The Bell telephone has changed things—has made farm life more pleasant, more profitable.

It brings the farmer news of the town and market; it brings the farmer's wife messages of cheer and neighborly good-will; it brings to the young folks social messages from their friends.

PANGOLINS OF AFRICA.

Curious Anteaters That Train With the Owls and Cats.

It is perhaps just as well to know that a pangolin is, although one is not likely to meet it outside of Africa or the London zoological gardens. The latter establishment has one of these rare mammals and is very proud of it. This specimen is of the particularly rare variety with the rather inelegant given name of "white belled." The pangolin is a sort of anteater, whose body is covered with scales. Although it is a mammal, a stranger asked to make an offhand diagnosis would not have called it a lizard.

The white belled pangolin trains with the owls and cats and sleeps during the daytime. When sleeping it is curled up into an object about the size of a large croquet ball, and in this position, owing to its plating of pointed scales, is about as easy to attack or handle as a hedgehog. The sharp pointed scales give it somewhat the appearance of an "animated fire cone." Its natural food appears to be white ants, but in captivity it thrives on chopped raw meat and eggs. It is a fierce and a wonderful climber with its clawed feet and prehensile tail.

It seems to have no value to the human race except as a curiosity, although perhaps the natives in Africa eat it as they do most everything else that by any stretch of the imagination can be called edible—worms, ants, lizards, snakes, etc., ad nauseam.—New York Post.

An Indignant Artist.

Haydon, the painter, was much disgusted when he visited London in 1944 at the time when two of his finest pictures were being shown at the Egyptian hall, and the public thronged into another room where General Tom Thumb was on view. "They rush by thousands to see Tom Thumb," wrote the disappointed painter in his diary. "Their eyes are open, but their sense is shut. It is an insanity, a rabies, a madness, a furor, a dream!" Another entry later on runs: "Tom Thumb had 12,000 people last week. R. R. Haydon 133½ (the half a little girl. Exquisite taste of the English people!"

Browning's Pauline.

The first edition of Browning's "Pauline" was sold at auction for $2,400, yet not only did Browning receive nothing for it originally, but he would have withdrawn it from print if it had been possible. Yet so highly did Rossetti think of this despised masterpiece that, not being able to find a copy elsewhere, he went to the British museum library and spent several laborious days copying it word for word.

Wasteful.

Grasping in very careful man—No. 1 should never allow my only daughter to marry a journalist. He always wastes one side of the paper. And still less should she wed a poet. He doesn't even go to the end of the line.—Exchange

Avoid Sedative Cough Medicines

If you want to contribute directly to the occurrence of capillary bronchitis and pneumonia, use cough medicines that contain codeine, morphine, heroin, and other sedatives when you have a cough or cold. An expectorant, like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is what is needed. That cleans out the culture of pneumonia and other germ diseases that is very pneumonia never results from a cold when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It has a world-wide reputation for its cures. It contains no morphine or other sedative. For sale by all dealers.

Lameness

Sloan's Liniment is a speedy, reliable remedy for lameness in horses and farm stock. Here's proof.

"I had a horse sprain his shoulder by pulling, and he was so lame he could not carry foot at all. I got a bottle of your Liniment and put it on four times, and in three days he showed no lameness at all, and made a thirty mile trip besides."—Walter B. Alorford, La Salle, Col.

For Splint and Thrush
"I have used Sloan's Liniment on a fine mare for splint and cured her. This makes the third horse I've cured. Have recommended it to my neighbors for thrush and they say it is fine. I find it the best Liniment I ever used. I keep on hand your Sure Colic Cure for myself and neighbors, and I can certainly recommend it for Colic."—S. E. Smith, McLoughlin, Ga.

Consumption Takes 350 People Every Day in the United States and the surprising truth is that most cases are preventable with timely, intelligent treatment.

These appalling facts should warn us that after sickness, colds, overwork or any other drains upon strength, Scott's Emulsion should be promptly and regularly used because tubercular germs thrive only in a weakened system.

The tested and proven value of Scott's Emulsion is recognized by the greatest specialists because its medical nourishment assimilates quickly to build healthy tissue; aids in the development of active, life-sustaining blood corpuscles; strengthens the lungs and builds physical force without reaction. Scott's Emulsion is used in tubercular camps because of its rare body-building, blood-making properties and because it contains no alcohol or habit-forming drug. Be sure to insist on Scott's.

ENGLAND'S CURIOUS WELL.

Its Water Never at the Same Level For Two Consecutive Minutes.

Two miles out from Settle, on the main road between that town and Ingletton, Yorkshire, England, there is to be found one of the most curious of natural phenomena in the shape of the famous ebbing and flowing well of Giggleswick.

A small, unpretentious little structure, scarcely to be distinguished from the ordinary trough of water to be seen on many of our country roads, it is yet one of the most quaint and fascinating spectacles one could hope to see. As the name implies, the well has the nature of a tide. It ebbs and flows continually, though by no means with regularity.

Sometimes the privileged traveler will see the oblong stone basin filled with clear water; then, even as he gazes into its polished depths, the water gradually sinks until the trough is half empty, or it may be more. There is barely time to wonder at this strange thing ere, with a rush and a whirl, the trough is again full. The ebb and flow continue with more or less marked effect, and the water is never at the same level for two consecutive minutes. Sometimes the outflow has scarcely begun before the basin again fills, but at other times the trough is almost emptied.—Wide World Magazine

When Women Knew Not Golf.

A correspondent sends the Glasgow Herald some anecdotes of that period not so long ago, when women knew nothing of golf. One lady, making sympathetic conversation at dinner, said to a keen golfer: "I often see you in your red coat. Do you need many dogs to play golf?" A younger lady said she knew exactly how the game was played. "They got what they call a caddie to hunt about in the grass till they find a round stone, and then they hit it into a rabbit hole." A third lady, who had evidently enjoyed a near view of the game, said: "It is played by two men. One is a gentleman and the other is a common man. The common man sticks a ball on a tumpie, and the gentleman knocks it off."—Westminster Gazette

Fat and Fashionable.

According to the Moorish idea of beauty, the chief charm of a beautiful woman is that she can only waddle, not walk. The fatter she is the more beautiful she is considered. If she can attain two or three hundred pounds of flesh she is the envy of all her sex.

The Moorish shape—if shape it can be called—approaches the perfection of feminine beauty when it resembles, or rather exceeds, the circumference of a barrel. What a paradise for the fat woman! There she can eat and drink and feast to her heart's content, denying herself nothing, living an easy, indolent, luxurious life, with no horror of accumulating fat, but rather rejoicing in it. There the ambition of a woman is to acquire bulk. Physical culture she would regard as an enemy to beauty, and to take Turkish baths and diet herself would be considered the height of folly. She wants to be beautiful, and to be beautiful she must be fat.—St. Louis Globe Democrat

GRASS LINED BOOTS.

They Are Worn by the Nomadic Lapps, Who Never Get Cold Feet.

While civilized man suffers intensely from cold feet every winter, the Lapplander, living in the far north of Europe, has no such trouble. A traveler writes: "Their boots are made of reindeer skin and are worn very large, and the toes are pointed and curve upward so as to be easily slipped into their skis. The Lapp usually fills his boots half full with a peculiar green grass, into which he thrusts his naked feet. He then packs the boots full with more grass, tucks the ends of his trousers inside and binds them tightly round with many turns of a brightly woven braid. With these precautions they never suffer from cold feet, and chilblains, corns or such like civilized complaints are an unknown horror to them."

Concerning other customs the same writer says: "The Lapps are essentially a nomadic race and spend most of their lives wandering fancy free among the wild and glorious scenery of their northern home. However, at times no doubt the stillness of the frozen mountains becomes too still, and they turn their herds and start toward their nearest meeting place. Twice a year they hold these general gatherings—at Easter and midsummer—when they congregate and hold a general fair. It is on these occasions that they celebrate their weddings and funerals. The revelries last only about ten days, but many marriages take place between couples who perhaps have never met previously."

"As soon as a Lapp can afford to buy enough reindeer for himself he leaves the parental tent, takes a wife and roams away wherever his heart or reindeer dictates. There are no social distinctions in Lapland. Should a man have no reindeer or possibly have lost what he had he travels with a rich man and helps him tend the herd, but he lives and feeds with them in the same tent and is quite on a social equality until he can afford to start off with his own herd."—Chicago News

TURKISH VENGEANCE.

It's a Perilous Matter to Endanger the Life of a Sultan.

Within two weeks after the assassination of Mahmud Shekhet Pasha, the grand vizier of Turkey, thirty-two men were put to death for taking part in the conspiracy. According to Turkish custom handed down from the time of Mohammed, there is no limit as to the number of lives that may be taken as a penalty for the murder of one man. Even those interested in the remotest degree are liable to the sultan's vengeance. It is not so much the number the ruler of Turkey is authorized to put out of the way, but rather where the line is to be drawn.

The Turks have a story of one of the earlier successors of Mohammed whose life was only endangered because of a rock falling down a declivity near which the sultan was riding with his retinue. Half a dozen of those in charge of the trip were put to death as an ordinary matter of course, then half a dozen more who might have remotely known something about the facilities afforded by the road for killing the sultan. Finally all the members of a secret club or lodge were ordered executed because it was ascertained that one of the responses to a password was "Will you roll down the stone?"

Despite the protestations of the club members that the words had no significance at all with respect to the sultan or the sultan's trip along the road, they were ordered to the scaffold. They numbered 118 in all and died bravely, assuring their executioners to the very last that they were innocent. Later a eunuch who told how the falling of the rock was merely an accident was also put to death for daring to say so.—New York Sun

Killed by Light.

Those who have studied the strange inhabitants of the Mammoth cave in Kentucky say that the celebrated blind fish from that cavern when placed in illuminated aquaria seek out the darkest places, and it is believed that light is directly fatal to them, for they soon die if kept in a brightly lighted tank. The avoidance of light seems to be a general characteristic of the sightless creatures dwelling in the great cave.

Starting Something.

"While you are in asking papa for my hand in marriage, Philip, I'll be playing something lively on the piano," said the sweet young thing.
"No, I wouldn't do that, Jessica," replied the young man. "You know some people can't keep their feet still when they hear lively music."—Yonkers Statesman

Enough to Make Him Rave.

"What is the editor of the health hints department raving about?"
"A rich woman writes that she gives private moving picture shows in her home, and she wants to know if they will injure her poodle's eyes."—Birmingham Age-Herald

Election Tuesday, November 4th, 1913.

Next Tuesday's Election

What are you going to do at the election next Tuesday? This question will not worry the man who has the interests of his State and county at heart and who has been studious of conditions. It will, however, worry men who are lukewarm and forgetful of public interests.

Do you want the Republicans to reinforce their Governor with a Republican Legislature and a Board of Public Works? If so, there is abundant opportunity for this kind of business and a little unbecoming, real or pretended, can easily permit such a condition of affairs.

The question of a possible control of the State of Maryland by Republicans is but one of the grave questions presented to the people at this time. It is, however, a very grave one and one that deserves studious consideration. A condition precedent to such a possibility is faced in each county of the State. Take our own, for instance. The yielding of it to Republicans would be but one of the entering wedges to complete State control.

The Republican party is adroit and watchful and does not fail to utilize every opportunity to make political capital and to do so, does not hesitate to inveigle into its nets the unsuspecting or unscrupulous of any party, faction or enterprise. To illustrate: The oyster question, which is never silent in this county, is constantly used as a political lever, and if the Republican party is smart enough to enlist in its schemes men of the opposing one, the enlisted will have none to blame but themselves if Republican success is the result. So with any other public question including that of administration. The man who, to gratify some personal feeling, yields to Republican wiles, will find in the long run how monstrously he has been deceived. The only safe and reliable plan is to avoid the enemy entirely and to repudiate any overtures whatever.

This suggests another most salient point in the approaching election. Direct primaries, introduced by popular vote two years ago, are skillfully and persistently avoided by the Republicans, their idea apparently being that it is all right for Democrats but all wrong for Republicans. The policy of the latter is to stand back and enjoy any possible discomfiture that may result from a direct primary campaign but to stand ready all the time for any accessions to their own forces by reason of the family differences of their opponents.

The time has come when the great test of party unity is to be had. The direct system is built on the doctrine of majority control. The people have made the nominations; it is for the party to stand by them. No doubt after the sharp encounter of the primary campaign, the temptation to "fix" somebody is great. That is just what the Republicans want and it will be to their complete satisfaction to see as many Democrats "fixed" as possible.

True Democrats need not be appealed to to avoid such a condition of affairs. It is a true Democratic principle that the people shall rule, and if their vote has named the various candidates for office, the plain duty now is to support them. This was emphasized by the State speakers at last Wednesday's meeting and Blair Lee, the champion of popular rights, applied the doctrine in no uncertain words.

So that next Tuesday we face two grave questions. The first is: Shall we permit our State and county to risk Republican rule? The second is no whit less important and is this: Shall we as Democrats, whatever our family differences, yield to the popular will and stand by the candidates the people have selected?

We have too much confidence in the Democrats of this county to believe that they will, by indifference or otherwise, avoid either of these questions. The party, as a whole, can afford to bury a lot of direct primary talk, and be a unit to bury the Republican party instead.

So far as our candidates are concerned, we have good ones from Blair Lee down to the last one on the County ticket. They are men of unswerving Democratic faith; they are men of character and business energy, and they are men whom the Democrats will delight to honor. Let us avoid controversies and small talk and get down to the real business of the campaign. We want our party to succeed, and to accomplish it, let us each do our share of this important work.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O.

Facts in Regard to the Oyster Troubles in Somerset

Our earnest desire to be more than fair to the oystermen adds to the regret of The Sun that it was misled in the publication regarding the oyster troubles in Somerset. As soon as attention was called to the incorrectness of the article a staff representative was sent to the scene. He reports that the buoys and watchhouse on the planting grounds of A. R. Crockett were destroyed, but not more than 30 men were involved. There were no women on guard with guns while the men pulled up the stakes. Messrs. Joshua W. Miles and Benjamin K. Green were not hanged in effigy and no resolutions were passed denouncing them, certainly not at the time of the raid.

The Sun hastens to make a full correction, and while not condoning the offense of those who participated in the destruction of property, hopes that in justice to the oystermen of Somerset the correct statement will have as wide currency as the erroneous report. —Baltimore Sun.

—Harry K. Thaw was indicted in New York, Thursday, for conspiracy in escaping from Matteawan Asylum for the Insane. One of Thaw's counsel protested against the indictment, claiming it was illegal to indict a man adjudged insane. Thaw is still in Concord, N. H.

Order Nisi.

In the matter of the tax sale of real estate in Deal's Island Election District of Somerset county, assessed to Mary H. Windsor or Eldridge Windsor's heirs, made and reported by Robert F. Maddox, County Treasurer for Somerset county for the year 1912, William J. Tankersley, purchaser, ex parte.

No. 2876, Chancery. In the Circuit Court for Somerset County, in Equity.

Whereas a certain Robert F. Maddox, County Treasurer for Somerset county, in the State of Maryland, for the year 1912, has reported to the Circuit Court for Somerset County a sale made by him to William J. Tankersley, of all that lot or parcel of land in Deal's Island Election District, of said county, in the State of Maryland, containing 3 acres, more or less, with the improvements thereon, situated near the county road leading through said district, adjoining the land of Thomas B. and E. V. Wolster, near the lower school house and assessed to Mary H. Windsor or Eldridge Windsor's heirs on the assessment books of said Election District for said year 1912, and sold for the payment of taxes due and in arrears, together with all the proceedings had in relation thereto; and whereas upon examination it appears to the said Court that the said proceedings are regular and that the provisions of the law in relation thereto have been complied with.

Now it is therefore ordered, by the Circuit Court for Somerset county, in Equity, this 11th day of October, 1913, that notice be given by the publication of this order once a week for three successive weeks in the MARYLANDER AND HERALD, a weekly newspaper published in Somerset county, before the 10th day of November, 1913, warning all persons interested in the said real estate to be and appear in this Court on or before the 15th day of November, 1913, to show cause, if any they have, why said sale should not be ratified and confirmed.

The report states the amount of sales to be $8.25.

Local and Miscellaneous

Fortune may not always be feminine, but misfortune must be.

Mr. J. D. Laird, of Crisfield, was a Saturday visitor to Princess Anne.

If things are not coming your way it's a good plan to get in their way.

Miss Mary Parmele, of Lima, N. Y., is the guest of Miss Elsie Long.

From 10 to 15 men will be employed in the construction of the new concrete bridge.

Mr. B. H. Dougherty has added 40 new chairs to the seating capacity of the Auditorium.

Mr. J. B. Hendrie returned to Princess Anne, Thursday night, from a business trip to New York city.

Mr. H. Fillmore Lankford has had a steam-heating apparatus installed in his residence at Beckford.

Bombay Hook bridge, which was washed away in Monday's, October 20th, storm, was replaced on Thursday.

The waiting rooms of the new railroad station have been rearranged so that colored and white people will have separate rooms.

Miss Emily L. Fisher and Mr. William S. Fisher, and his two children, of Philadelphia, spent the week-end with Mrs. Charles T. Fisher, of Princess Anne.

The coming Friday night, October 31, will be observed as Halloween, and the young people are getting ready to make it a night of merriment and pranks.

Mr. Russell Hoffman, of Princess Anne, who had the tip of his little finger on his left hand badly crushed by a machine, was able to return to his work last Thursday.

Watch our next issue for description of carload of Horses and Mules to be sold at Pocomoke City, Md., November 8th, 1913, by Sparks Bros. Mule Co., S. J. Twilley, manager.

Mrs. Lillian Corbin Campeau has returned to her home, "The Maples," near Westover, after a visit to Seneca Lake, N. Y., where she entered her little girl, Olga, in Starkey Seminary, Lakemont, N. Y.

Mr. Gordon T. Whelton, of Crisfield, who was in Princess Anne last Tuesday, told of a farmer living near Coulbourne's Creek, who lost a hundred dollars worth of potatoes in last Monday's storm. The farmer had the potatoes covered with straw and they were washed away by the rising waters.

All Democrats of East and West Princess Anne districts are requested to attend a meeting in the Auditorium Princess Anne, Monday, November 3d, at 8 o'clock p. m. Addresses will be made by Messrs. Henry J. Waters, George H. Myers and others. Matters of special interest to all Democrats will be discussed.

It used to be that a woman could lead a man a dance, but now she makes him trot.

Miss Mary E. Wilson, of Clarksburg, W. Va., is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mr. L. James Wilson.

The Ladies' Card Club was entertained by Mrs. Henry M. Lankford at "Beckford" last Thursday evening.

When some people break their good resolutions, they will tell you it's only with the idea of making better ones.

Judge H. L. D. Stanford spent the greater part of last week in New York attending the Protestant Episcopal Convention.

Mr. Elijah McGrath, who was in Princess Anne last week on business, returned to his home at Crisfield last Wednesday.

Last week Mr. James T. Owens shipped to Philadelphia by Mr. Z. W. Townsend an 8-weeks' old calf which cleared him $25.43.

Mr. L. S. Vandling, while on his way from West Virginia to Princess Anne, was relieved of a pocketbook containing $100. Mr. Vandling said he first noticed his loss at Old Point Comfort.

An effort is to be made to have a temporary crossing thrown across the Manokin river for the benefit of foot passengers while the new concrete bridge is being built to replace the old Red Bridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob E. Stevenson, of Pocomoke City, celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary at their home in that town, last Wednesday night. About 200 guests were present at an informal reception.

At a recent meeting of the teachers of the Cambridge schools, Prof. A. R. Spaid, county superintendent, announced that the Compulsory Education Law will be put in force in Dorchester County commencing November 1st.

Much preparations had been made by some of Princess Anne's stores and hostiles for the crowd that was expected, last Saturday, to hear Bryan speak. But the heavy rain kept away the thousands who otherwise would have been present.

Mr. Frank Campeau, the celebrated actor whose summer home is near Westover, this county, is appearing this year as Joe Carson, in "Within the Law." Mr. Campeau will be seen in this great play in Baltimore, from December 1st to December 6th.

Fifth annual masquerade party at the hall at Westover, Thursday evening, October 30th. Mesdames McDowell and George Handy, who are the hostesses of the evening, will endeavor to make this the most enjoyable event of the season. A small admission will be asked at the door. When once inside you will want to give more.

Mr. William B. Anderson has returned to his home in Baltimore after visiting relatives in Somerset county. Mr. Anderson motored to Baltimore accompanied by his brother, Mr. Howard Anderson, and Mr. Joseph Reid, leaving their home at 7 o'clock and arrived in Baltimore Saturday evening without a mishap, making the trip in one day.

Among the state scholarships, entitling the holders to free tuition in the department of engineering in the Johns Hopkins University, awarded last week, was one for Mr. W. Stewart Fitzgerald, of Somerset county. Mr. Fitzgerald is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Fitzgerald, who reside near Princess Anne, and is a graduate of St. John's College, Annapolis.

"Oak Hill Farm"—a romantic idyl of country life—to be given at the Auditorium next Wednesday night, is one of the best rural plays now before the public. There is pathos, but good clean comedy predominates. The company is a good one under the direction of Whaples and Hilbert. Good vaudeville will be introduced between the acts—there will not be one dull moment during the entire entertainment. Seats are now selling at B. H. Dougherty's store. Prices 50, 35 and 25 cents.

Mr. Chauncey A. Turner and Miss Lucille Bevens Young, daughter of Capt. James T. Young, of Pocomoke City, were married at noon, last Wednesday, at the home of the bride's parents, by Rev. N. O. Gibson, pastor of the Bethany Methodist Protestant Church of that town. The bride for several years was a teacher in the primary department in the Pocomoke High School. Mr. and Mrs. Turner left on the noon train for New York city where they will spend their honeymoon.

Miss Dorothy Elderdice, reader, daughter of Dr. Hugh L. Elderdice, president of Westminster Theological Seminary, a graduate of Western Maryland College, and also of the Emerson College of Oratory, Boston, Mass., now making a tour of towns on the Eastern Shore, will give an entertainment at Salem Methodist Protestant Church, Saturday, November 1st. Miss Elderdice has achieved a high reputation as an entertainer. Admission 25 cts. for adults; 15 cts. for children. Entertainment begins at 8 o'clock.

DEMOCRATIC MASS-MEETINGS

By order of DEMOCRATIC STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

We have to cultivate happiness, but the seeds of discontent will grow in any soil.

Last Thursday President Wilson issued a proclamation designating Thursday, November 27th, as Thanksgiving Day.

A vote for Hon. Blair Lee, and the Democratic ticket, means a vote cast to uphold the hands and policies of President Woodrow Wilson. A vote otherwise means a step backwards.

Vote for every candidate on the Democratic ticket.

Mrs. Lucretia Noble Dead

Mrs. Lucretia Noble, wife of Mr. George W. Noble, died at her home in St. Peter's district at an early hour last Friday morning after a lingering illness of a complication of diseases, aged 43 years.

She is survived by the following children: Mrs. Dewight Wilson, Misses Ethel and Ruth, George, Harry, Ralph and Robert Noble. Mr. E. I. Brown, of Princess Anne, is a cousin of the deceased.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at her late home, conducted by the Rev. Mr. Stallings, and the interment was in the J. O. U. A. M.'s cemetery.

Chronic Dyspepsia

The following unsolicited testimonial should certainly be sufficient to give hope and courage to persons afflicted with chronic dyspepsia: "I have been a chronic dyspeptic for years, and of all the medicine I have taken Chamberlain's Tablets have done me more good than anything else," says W. G. Mattison, No. 7 Sherman street, Hornellsville, N. Y. For sale by all dealers. [Advertisement]

Beginning with its issue of Sunday, November 2d, and continuing regularly thereafter, The Philadelphia Record will publish a splendid weekly magazine in connection with its Sunday paper. The magazine will consist of twenty pages. It will have a handsome colored cover and will contain short and continued stories by the best modern writers. This magazine will be high-class and dignified and entirely consistent with the character of the Sunday Record, and it should appeal to all lovers of good reading matter. Among its contributors will be—Richard Harding Davis, Gouverneur Morris, Mary Roberts Rinehart, James Oliver Pinwood, Ellis Parker Butler, Rex Beach, Elinor Glyn, George Pattals, Gelett Burgess, Wallace Irwin and many others. It will be illustrated by the world's best artists—James Montgomery Flagg, Henry Hutt, C. Coles Phillips, Howard Chandler Christy, Penrhyn Stanlaws, Hamilton King and others equally famous. Even with such a splendid addition to this already excellent newspaper, the price of the Sunday Record will remain the same, three cents.

Cheap Paint

There are 1000 "cheap" paints and a dozen really cheap ones.

That double word "cheap" is the cause of wasting more money than good paint costs, two or three times over.

Cheap paint is good paint; there is no other; no other is cheap.

The two words sound alike but their meanings are opposite. "Cheap" costs double. Cheap is Devoe.

Oystermen Read This

Every Senator and Delegate elected on the Democratic ticket, either from Western Maryland, Southern Maryland, Baltimore city, the Eastern Shore, or from any part of the State, are pledged to stand by the oystermen on the following plank of the Democratic platform:

"The Democratic party pledges itself to guard jealously the rights of the oystermen, and all of those who earn their livelihood out of the waters of the State, and we do hereby pledge our party representatives in the next Legislature of Maryland to enact such legislation as will protect or restore their rights. In order to guarantee fully that no natural oyster bottoms shall be leased by the State for private planting, we specifically promise a law duly authorizing and empowering the Shellfish Commissioners, upon proper and reasonable complaint, to make re-examination of the bottoms complained against, and if such complaint be well founded so as to amend the survey heretofore made that the fullest extent, under the spirit of the law, no natural oyster bed, bar or rock shall be left out of said survey or become subject to private leasing."

A Gentle and Effective Laxative

A mild, gentle and effective laxative is what people demand when suffering from constipation. Thousands swear by Dr. King's New Life Pills. A STATEMENT OF FACTS

A Record of Honesty and Efficiency of Democratic Rule

Remember, voter, the splendid record your Democratic officials have made in Somerset county in the last eleven years, when you go to the polls on Tuesday, Nov. 4. Recall the facts and have your neighbors bear them in mind.

Here are some of the things accomplished within your own knowledge:

First—Appropriations for public schools have been increased from an annual levy of $6,000.00 in 1901, to a levy of $22,000.00 in 1913.

Second—A new public highway has been constructed leading from Princess Anne to Fairmount, through Stewart's and Revell's Neck, extending through a large part of the richest section of the county at a cost of only $2,000.

Third—A new jail, the best equipped of any jail in this Judicial Circuit, has been erected at a cost of $8,200.00.

Fourth—A new Court House has been erected and furnished with improved equipment and furniture at a cost of $35,000.00. Experts say that this property could not be rebuilt now for less than $40,000.00. Bonds are outstanding for only $30,000.00 of the indebtedness created by the erection of this handsome building.

Fifth—A new brick High School building has been erected at Crisfield at a cost of over $25,000.00. Bonds to the amount of $25,000.00 are outstanding for this improvement.

Sixth—A new High School has been erected at Marion at a cost of $6,000.00. There is no indebtedness outstanding for this improvement.

Seventh—A levy of $3,000.00 has been made, collected, and paid over as required by the Shoemaker Road Law to assist land owners to construct one mile of new stone road near Pocomoke City.

Eighth—Fifty miles of new shell road has been built in the county in the last six years at an average cost per mile of about $1,200.00.

Ninth—Between five and six hundred terracotta pipe culverts have been laid throughout the county to replace old wooden bridges at a total cost of about $5,000.00.

Tenth—$2,300.00 has been spent for a concrete bridge at Jenkins Creek, and large corrugated iron culverts.

Eleventh—The real and personal property of Somerset County was reassessed by the Board of County Commissioners of Somerset County in 1908 and 1909 at a total cost to the people of Somerset County of less than $4,000.00. The area of Wicomico County is smaller than that of Somerset County, but the total cost of reassessing property in Wicomico County in 1910 was over $8,000.00.

Twelfth—The old tax collector's system has been abolished and the up-to-date Treasurer's system established in its place for the collection of taxes at a saving of $400.00 annually to the county, and the public revenues are more promptly collected than ever before in the history of the county.

Thirteenth—During a period covering the last six years, out of a total levy of $120,000.00 for road purposes, $77,300.00 has been expended for permanent work and material, to wit: For iron and concrete bridges, shell roads, terracotta pipes and lumber.

Fourteenth—A substantial and long-needed improvement in the highway leading across the headwaters of East Creek, near St. Paul Church, and the highway leading from Rehobeth to Shelltown was made in 1912. Tax payers in these communities approve these excellent improvements.

Fifteenth—During the last ten years three new iron bridges have been erected in Somerset County at a cost of $2,000.00.

Sixteenth—Of Somerset County bonded indebtedness of $91,000.00, only $55,000.00 is fairly chargeable to Democratic management, and for this bonded indebtedness we exhibit the handsome new Court House at Princess Anne, and the new improved High School at Crisfield, the total cost of these two buildings being much in excess of the present bonded indebtedness issued to pay for same. The balance of the bonded indebtedness of the county is for deficiencies contracted in the main under Republican rule, and chiefly for school purposes, as Republican Commissioners did not levy sufficient appropriations to meet the annual needs of the public schools.

Seventeenth—During the last ten years the assessment of the property of the New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk Railroad Company located in Somerset County has been increased by Boards of Democratic County Commissioners from a total of $227,000.00 in round numbers in 1901, to a total of $543,313.00 in 1913; in other words the assessment against the aforesaid Railroad Company's property in this county during the period of Democratic control from 1901 to the present time has been increased $316,313.00, more than double the assessment of 1901, notwithstanding the fact that the law of the state, over which the County Commissioners have no control and cannot defy, exempts the most expensive part of the railroad property, to wit: its bridges.

Some criticism has been heard that by the legislation that was enacted to float the necessary bonds to build the new Court House, the payment of the bonded indebtedness was postponed for so long a time, but it is respectfully submitted, that in view of the county's meagre resources and general financial condition, it was not only wise public policy but good financing, to so legislate as to enable the county first, gradually to liquidate outstanding bonded indebtedness known as the "Deficiency Bond Indebtedness of 1898," created by previous administrations, which now aggregate $18,000, and are being paid for at the rate of $1,500 per annum by the present generation; and also to postpone the payment of any of the principal of these Court House Bonds to such a period as will enable the people of Somerset County to pay the school bonds of 1902, amounting to $18,000, in full, before paying any of the principal of the bonded indebtedness for the erection of the Court House, which will serve the people of Somerset County as well as a hundred years hence as it serves them now.

A significant fact that should always be borne in mind in connection with the taxation problem in Somerset County is that the total valuation of property for taxation purposes is lower in Somerset County than any county on the Eastern Shore.

CONVINCING TESTIMONY

Given by Many Princess Anne People

Experience told by Princess Anne people.

Those who have had weak kidneys—Who used Doan's Kidney Pills—Who found the remedy effective—Such statements prove merit.

You might doubt an utter stranger.

You must believe Princess Anne people.

Here's Princess Anne proof. Verify it.

Read. Investigate. Be convinced.

You'll find why Princess Anne folks believe in Doan's.

John B. Fleming, Main street, Princess Anne, Md., says: "You are at liberty to continue using the endorsement I have given before, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills, for the cure has been permanent. I often tell my friends about this remedy. For a long time I was troubled by pain and weakness in my back, brought on by disordered kidneys. The kidney secretions were also in bad shape. I had often read about Doan's Kidney Pills and finally procured a box at Homar A. Jones' Drug store. The results were very satisfactory."

When Servants Were Fined.

What would servants of modern times say to the following rules and regulations that were adopted over 300 years ago in the household of Sir J. Harrington, the translator of Aristotle?

A servant absent from prayers to be fined twopence; uttering an oath, a penny; leaving a door open, a penny; a penny fine for any beds unmade, fire unlit or candle box uncleaned after 8; any one breaking any of the butler's glass, a shilling; twopence fine for any one who has not laid the table for dinner by half past 10 or supper by 6; any one being absent without leave, fourpence fine, a penny fine for any follower visiting the cook; a fine of a penny for any visitor's room left untidy for four hours after he or she has dressed; a penny fine if the hall be not cleaned by 8 in winter and 7 in summer; a fine of threepence if the stairs be uncleaned every Friday after dinner.

All these fines were deducted from the servants' quarterly payment of their wages. London Standard.

Some criticism has been heard that by the legislation that was enacted to float the necessary bonds to build the new Court House, the payment of the bonded indebtedness was postponed for so long a time, but it is respectfully submitted, that in view of the county's meagre resources and general financial condition, it was not only wise public policy but good financing, to so legislate as to enable the county first, gradually to liquidate outstanding bonded indebtedness known as the "Deficiency Bond Indebtedness of 1898," created by previous administrations, which now aggregate $18,000, and are being paid for at the rate of $1,500 per annum by the present generation; and also to postpone the payment of any of the principal of these Court House Bonds to such a period as will enable the people of Somerset County to pay the school bonds of 1902, amounting to $18,000, in full, before paying any of the principal of the bonded indebtedness for the erection of the Court House, which will serve the people of Somerset County as well as a hundred years hence as it serves them now.

A significant fact that should always be borne in mind in connection with the taxation problem in Somerset County is that the total valuation of property for taxation purposes is lower in Somerset County than any county on the Eastern Shore.

FACTS ABOUT BABIES.

Some That Surprised and One That Pleased the Professor.

"I never knew before I had one," said the professor of physics to his bachelor assistant. "Just how closely our science could be applied to a baby. I have been astounded at the following true conclusions:

"As two similar bodies vary in weight as the cubes of their dimensions, I find that a baby two feet long should weigh just about one-sixteenth of a man five feet high; also that, as the surfaces of two similar bodies vary as the square of their dimensions, a baby as before would have about one-sixth the surface of the man. So the extent of surface proportional to weight in the baby is vastly greater than in the adult. In fact, a square foot of the baby's skin would shield just one-third the substance of what a square foot would on an adult.

"Arguing from this and knowing that the rate of cooling of a solid depends on the extent of surface, I found that a baby got cold quicker or warm quicker when exposed to a fire than a man; also, as any living body is higher in temperature than the surrounding air and has to lose heat continually—the rate of loss depending on the surface—it is readily seen that a baby, in order to keep up normal temperature, has to furnish more heat in proportion to its weight than man, and therefore has to eat more in proportion to its weight than man. To prove that a baby gives out an enormous amount of heat, keep the heat from escaping by wrapping a heavy blanket around it. In a half an hour the temperature under the cover will be almost unbearable to the hand, and the baby will be found covered with sweat.

"The same knotty problem comes up when the baby is bathed. You know yourself how cool you feel when you bathe in a cold room in warm water, but in very little of it, so that most of your wet body is out of the water on account of the heat of your body being taken to evaporate the water? The baby suffers much worse on account of that same big proportion of surface.

"But I find one encouraging thing in this peculiar geometrical problem of the human form. I find that if a dress is made for my little daughter two feet high and one for her mother five feet high, it takes only one-sixth the cloth to do it, although the dresses were made in exactly the same style."—Lawrence Hodges in Chicago Record-Herald.

Big and Little Ships.

Speaking of the problem of unsinkable ships, the New York Commercial says:

"Few people outside of practical shipbuilders and navigators understand the difference between a large vessel and a small one in point of structural strength. The strongest vessel that floats in the water is a common rowboat. One can take an ordinary rowboat and carry it by the ends or it can rest on cleats under each end without breaking in the middle. But the strongest man-of-war or ocean liner that floats today would break in two if subjected to a similar strain. The larger a vessel the weaker it becomes in this respect, and for this reason many apparently good ideas which work out well in model form have failed utterly when applied to large vessels."

Billions of Beans.

"Beans—what do you know about beans, even in New England?" writes an American from Manchuria. "Come to Dairen and see the bean mills which turn out 63,000,000 pounds of bean oil in a year and over 10,000,000 bean cakes, weighing about sixty-five pounds each. Some beans! The bean cake, from which the oil has been extracted, goes for the most part to Japan, which country received last year about nine-tenths of the product. Japan also took over 100,000 tons of beans in natural form. Some beans!"—New York Tribune.

Champion Mean Man.

"My husband is a very mean man about some things," complained the wife to the woman around the corner. "He has a deaf ear, and every time I try to call him down he acts as if he didn't hear me."

"That's certainly provoking," said the neighbor. "But one of his ears is good. Why don't you talk into that?"

"He won't tell me which it is," wailed the wife.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Honest Child.

"Since you worked your examples so nicely," said the pretty teacher, "I shall give you a kiss."

"Teacher, I didn't know there was to be a reward," responded the honest urchin. "It's only fair to tell you that my big brother did them sums."—Pittsburgh Post.

Took Her Time.

"Thought you were going away today."

"Couldn't buy a ticket."

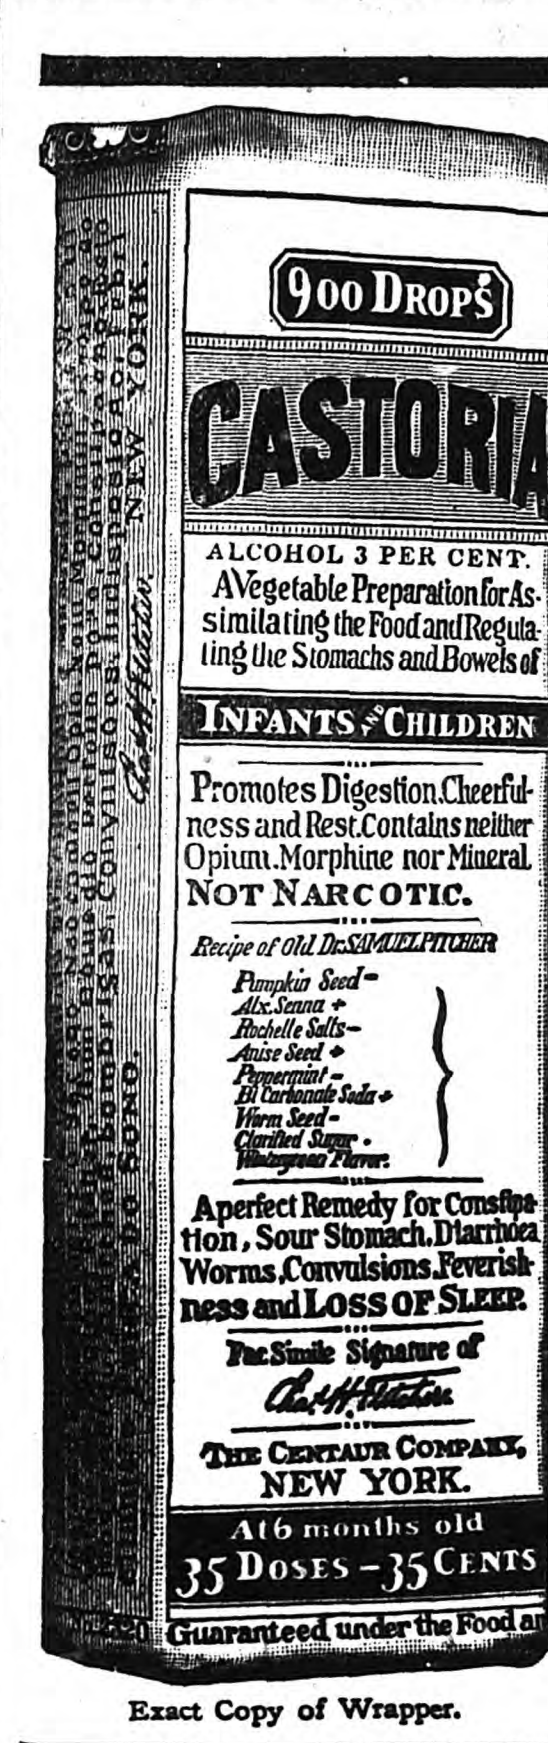

"Nonsense. The ticket office is never closed."

"No; but there was a girl at the window ahead of me."—Washington Herald.

PROCLAMATION

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of Maryland.

Whereas, at the January Session of the General Assembly of Maryland, held in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty, the following amendments to the Constitution of Maryland were proposed: Section 1, Article 2, and adding a proposed new section to Article 3, of the Constitution of Maryland, which said Amendments are in the following words, to wit:

CHAPTER 402.

AN ACT to propose an amendment to Article 3 of the Constitution of this State, adding a new section, to be known as Article 3, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for the adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following new section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Article 3, title "Legislative Department," of the Constitution of this State, the same to be inserted after Section 40 and to be numbered A, and in case of its adoption, the qualified voters thereof, as herein provided, said section shall become a part of Article 3 of the Constitution of Maryland.

Sec. 2. The General Assembly shall enact no law without compensation, but no law shall be taken for public use without just compensation, to be agreed upon between the parties or to be determined by a jury, first paid or tendered to the party entitled to such compensation, but where such property is in the hands of the City and is desired by this State or by the Mayor and City Council of Baltimore, the General Assembly may, by a majority vote, appoint appraisers by a Court of Record to value such property, and that, upon payment of the amount of such valuation to the party entitled to compensation, or into Court and securing the payment of the amount of such valuation, the property shall be awarded by a jury, such property may be taken.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the said foregoing section, hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State, shall be submitted to the qualified voters of this State at the next general election, to be held on Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, 1922, and shall be submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof, for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the directions contained in Article 14 of the Constitution of this State, and at the said election, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment," and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," and the qualified voters thereof shall be made to the Governor of the State for the adoption or rejection of the said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Approved April 8, 1912.

CHAPTER 401.

AN ACT to amend Section 21 of Article III, title "Judicial Department," of the Constitution of this State, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for the adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section 21 of Article III, title "Judicial Department," of the Constitution of this State, and at the said election, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment," and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," and the qualified voters thereof shall be made to the Governor of the State for the adoption or rejection of the said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Sec. 2. Any bill may originate in either House during the session, and shall be amended, amended or rejected by the other, but no bill shall originate in either House during the session, and shall be amended, amended or rejected by the other, unless two-thirds of the members elected thereto shall so determine by yeas and nays, and no bill shall become a law until it be read on three different days of the session in each House, unless two-thirds of the members elected to the House, where such bill is pending shall so determine by yeas and nays, and no bill shall be read on the time until it shall have been actually introduced or printed for a third reading.

Approved April 8, 1912.

CHAPTER 403.

AN ACT to amend Section 21 of Article III, title "Judicial Department," of the Constitution of this State, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for the adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section 21 of Article III, title "Judicial Department," of the Constitution of this State, and at the said election, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment," and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," and the qualified voters thereof shall be made to the Governor of the State for the adoption or rejection of the said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Sec. 2. For each of the said circuits (excepting the eighth and third) there shall be a chief judge and two associate judges, to be elected by the Circuit Court to be elected or appointed as herein provided.

And no two of said associate judges for any of the said circuits, except the third circuit, shall at the time of their election or appointment or during the term for which they may have been elected or appointed, reside in the same county. If two or more persons shall be candidates for associate judges in the same county in any of the circuits, except the third circuit, that one of them shall be declared elected judge in that circuit. In case any two candidates for associate judge in any of the circuits, except the third circuit, residing in the same county, shall have an equal number of votes greater than any other candidate for associate judge in the circuit, it shall be the duty of the Governor to order a new election for one associate judge; but the persons residing in any other county or counties shall not be declared elected. The said judges shall hold not less than two terms of the Circuit Court in each of the counties composing their respective circuits, at such times as are now or may hereafter be prescribed, to which jurors shall be summoned, and in those counties where only two such terms are held, two other terms, until otherwise prescribed, and shall adopt rules to the end that all business not requiring the intervention of the jury shall be as far as practicable, disposed of at said intermediate terms.

One judge in each of the above circuits, including the third circuit, shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of any business; and the said judges, or any of them, may hold special terms, at their Courts, whenever in their discretion, the business of the several counties renders such terms necessary.

The additional associate judge for the third circuit herein provided for, shall be elected by the qualified voters of Baltimore and Harford Counties, at the first election that shall be held in said counties subsequent to the adoption of this amendment, and the judge so elected shall be subject to the same constitutional provisions, hold his office for the same term of years, receive the same compensation and have the same powers as are herein provided for the other associate judges in the third circuit.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of this State shall be, at the next general election for members of the General Assembly, submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the directions contained in Article 14 of the Constitution of this State, and at the said general election the vote by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment," and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," and the qualified voters thereof shall be made to the Governor of the State for the adoption or rejection of the said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Approved April 8, 1912.

CHAPTER 404.

AN ACT to amend Section 3 of Article 1, title "Executive Department," of the Constitution of this State, so as to permit the General Assembly to excuse the vote seller from any penalty for selling his vote, and to place the penalty for the purchase of votes upon the vote buyer alone, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for the adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section 3 of Article 1, title "Executive Department," of the Constitution of this State, and at the said election, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment," and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," and the qualified voters thereof shall be made to the Governor of the State for the adoption or rejection of the said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Sec. 2. If any person shall give, or offer to give, directly or indirectly, any bribe, present or reward, or any promise or security, for the payment of or delivery of money, or any other thing, to any person, to prevent him in any way from voting, or to procure a vote for any candidate or person proposing himself for an election of President and Vice President of the United States, or for a Representative in Congress, or for any office of profit or trust, created by the Constitution or Laws of the United States, or of the State, or of the City and County of Baltimore, the person so receiving the same, and any person who gives or causes to be given, an illegal vote, knowing it to be such, at any election to be hereafter held in this State, shall, on conviction in a Court of Law, in addition to the penalties now or hereafter to be imposed by law, be forever disqualified to hold any office of profit or trust, or to vote at any election thereafter.

But the General Assembly may in its discretion remove the above penalty and all other penalties upon the vote seller, so as to place the penalties for the purchase of votes on the vote buyer alone.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the said foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution shall be, at the next election for members of the General Assembly of this State to be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, nineteen hundred and thirteen (1913), be submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the directions contained in Article 14 of the Constitution of this State; and at the said election the said proposed amendment shall be printed upon the official ballot and the vote given shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment," and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," and the qualified voters thereof shall be made to the Governor of the State for the adoption or rejection of the said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Approved April 11, 1912.

CHAPTER 405.

AN ACT to amend Section 9 of Article 5, title "Attorney General and State's Attorney," of the Constitution of this State, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for the adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Section 9 of Article 5, title "Attorney General and State's Attorney," of the Constitution of this State, and at the said election, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment," and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," and the qualified voters thereof shall be made to the Governor of the State for the adoption or rejection of the said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Sec. 2. The State's Attorney shall perform such duties and receive such fees and commissions or salary, not exceeding three thousand dollars, as are now or may hereafter be prescribed by law; and if any State's Attorney shall receive any other fee or reward than such as is or may be allowed by law, he shall, on conviction thereof, be removed from office; provided, that the State's Attorney for Baltimore City shall receive an annual salary of fifty-four hundred dollars and shall have power to appoint one deputy at an annual salary not exceeding four thousand dollars, and such other assistants at such annual salaries, not exceeding twenty-five hundred dollars each, as the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City may authorize and approve; all of said salaries to be paid out of the fees of the said State's Attorney's office, as has heretofore been practiced.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the said foregoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution shall be, at the next election for members of the General Assembly of this State, to be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, nineteen hundred and thirteen (1913), be submitted to the legal and qualified voters thereof for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the directions contained in Article 14 of the Constitution of this State; and at the said election the vote on said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment," and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," and the qualified voters thereof shall be made to the Governor of the State for the adoption or rejection of the said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Approved April 11, 1912.

CHAPTER 406.

AN ACT to amend Section 3 of Article 5 of the Constitution of this State, and to provide for the submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of this State for the adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two houses concurring), That the following section be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to Article 5 of the Constitution of this State, and at the said election, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment," and "Against the Constitutional Amendment," and the qualified voters thereof shall be made to the Governor of the State for the adoption or rejection of the said amendment, as directed by said Article 14 of the Constitution.

Approved April 11, 1912.

State may be interested, and he shall give his opinion in writing whenever required by the General Assembly or either branch thereof, the Governor, the Controller of the Treasury, or any State's Attorney, on any legal matter or subject depending before them or either of them, and when required by the Governor or General Assembly he shall aid any State's Attorney in prosecuting any suit or action brought by the State in any Court of the State, and he shall commence and prosecute or defend any suit or action in any of said Courts, on the part of the State, which the General Assembly or the Governor, acting in addition to law, shall direct to be commenced, prosecuted or defended, and he shall have and perform such other duties and shall appoint such number of deputies or assistants as the General Assembly may from time to time by law prescribe; and he shall receive for his services an annual salary of three thousand dollars, or such amount as may be fixed by the General Assembly, and he shall be entitled to receive any honorarium or reward or reward whatever, authorized by the General Assembly, for the performance of any official duty; and he shall be entitled to receive any honorarium or reward or reward whatever, authorized by the General Assembly, for the performance of any official duty; and he shall be entitled to receive any honorarium or reward or reward whatever, authorized by the General Assembly, for the performance of any official duty.

Now, therefore, I, Phillips Lee Goldsborough, Governor of the State of Maryland, in pursuance of Section 1, of Article 1, title "Executive Department," of the Constitution of this State, do hereby order and direct that a copy of each of said Acts proposed as amendments to the Constitution of Maryland, be published in at least two newspapers in the City of Baltimore, one of which newspapers, shall be the City of Baltimore, and one of which shall be published in the German language, once a week for at least three months next preceding the Tuesday next after the first Monday in the month of November, 1922, and at which election the vote on said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be submitted, in the form and manner prescribed by the law, and the qualified voters of the State, for their adoption or rejection.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State of Maryland, Done at the City of Annapolis, on this 15th day of April, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and thirteen.

PHILLIPS LEE GOLDSBOROUGH.

Largest Carriage, Wagon and Harness Dealer In the State of Maryland

Don't buy old style rigs, shop-worn and rusty; buy nice fresh painted up-to-date brand new jobs. We are unloading two cars each week, and selling them as fast as our factories can rush them to us. Never before was there such a demand for Wrenn Buggies, Runabouts and Surreys.

Mr. Wrenn was here April 6th. I gave him the largest order the factory ever entered on their books. We will sell over 50 car loads of Wrenn's Vehicles this year. We have the goods and make the price that shuts out all competitors.

I have in stock for your selection:

- The Lightest Surrey made in the United States for one horse
- The Lightest Runabout with 4 styles axels
- The Lightest Novelty Wrenn Buggy with 4 style axels
- The Lightest Speed Cart on the market
- My Farm Wagons cannot be equalled for $10.00 more. We don't only guarantee our steel axles but we guarantee every part of the wagon. Our rims are deeper, our spokes and hubs are larger. Look them over, you can see the difference.

We have 3 car loads of different styles of BERRY WAGONS—our prices suit you.

We bought over $6,000.00 worth of Harness before the advance in price. Our customers are more than satisfied with their purchase.

He has a right to be. He put in a new fire-back only a few months ago—and it is gone—burned out.—And the oven is ruined, too.

Cheap ranges—cheap castings—poorly made—tell the tale. Tough on the owner (because unnecessary), but fine for the repair man. Note the construction of a

Cole's Hot Blast Range

The range built to last a lifetime by the greatest stove and range experts in the U.S.—the Cole Mfg. Co.

Nothing flimsy—everything substantial. Listen: Heavy boiler-plate oven—one piece—can't warp or buckle. Heaviest body material used in any range.

"Coleized Steel" fire-back and short center—made of a fire-resisting metal—outlasts five ordinary backs—and saves you $20.00 in repairs alone.

Thin, quick-heating, Coleized steel lids—annealed and unbreakable. Everything top quality and combined with the world-famous Cole's Hot Blast economy principle of burning the gases wasted with other ranges. Burns soft coal, hard coal or wood. This modern, up-to-date range embodies the only real improvements made in range construction in 20 years. It has 14 special features of economy and convenience not found in other ranges.

MYSTERY FLAGS.

Trophies That Are Souvenirs of Long Forgotten Battles.

In the midst of that wonderful collection of the souvenirs of battle that are on permanent exhibition in Trophy Hall at the Naval Academy in Annapolis are the nation's unknown trophies. Flags that were captured in now forgotten engagements are hung in the cases side by side with those whose glorious history is known.

Two of these souvenirs of forgotten battles are British flags. One is a Jack marked Avon and nothing more; the other is the ensign of a warship and is marked Berford. From the condition of both of these flags it is supposed that they date back to the war of 1812, but history gives no record of ships bearing those names being sent to American waters by Great Britain.

Another of the mystery flags is the "814" flag. In great white figures this number appears on a field of blue, and the entire flag is bordered with red. From some engagement in the war with the Moorish pirates the flag that the officers at Annapolis came to call the "house flag" seems to have come. Yet no one knows where that battle was fought or under what circumstances of heroic sacrifice it was added to the long list of the trophies of our naval victories.—Christian Herald.

BATHING A PRINCE.

Thomas Smoaker "Seen His Duty and He Done It."

George IV, while prince and residing in his Brighton palace kept in his bedroom a portrait of Mrs. Gunn, an old bathing woman who used to dip him into the sea when he was the little Prince of Wales. A picture book much prized by children in England in those days showed the old lady bathing the little fellow. Beneath the picture was this stanza:

To Brighton came he,
Came George the Third's son,
To be dipped in the sea
By the famed Martha Gunn.

A companion portrait to Martha Gunn was that of Thomas Smoaker, who had charge of the horse which drew the bathing machines into and out of the sea. One day the little royal highness, having learned to swim, swam out farther than Thomas judged to be safe. He called to him to come back, but the self-willed boy struck out with more vigor. Thomas went after the prince, overtook him, seized him by an ear and drew him to shore. "Do you think," he replied to the boy's angry words, "I'm a-going to get myself drawn for letting the king's heir drown himself just to please a youngster like you?"—Pearson's.

The First Reporter.

The modern reporter harks back to the return of Queen Anne and to the unknown scribe who attempted to tell the public the secrets of her parliament. He had a hard time of it, for parliament wished to keep its secrets to itself. In 1728 an order was passed "that it is an indignity and a breach of the privilege of the house for any person to presume to give in written or printed newspapers any account or minute of the debates or proceedings; that upon discovery of the authors, printers or publishers of any such newspapers this house will proceed against the offenders with the utmost severity." During the famous Wilkes case in 1772 the reporters won the victory which they have since held without dispute.—New York American.

A Dish of Tea.

"Disb" throughout the eighteenth century was a colloquialism for cup. In fashionable houses at first, and for long, tea was drunk from a cup without a handle brought from China. The vessel was termed a dish. When the Chinese cup was first copied by English potters, the convenience of a handle was added. The saucer also was brought from China. It received the name because of its resemblance to the English saucer, a platter in which sauce was served. The familiar gibe, "saucer eyes," was originally inspired by the saucer saucer long before Lord Arlington gave the first tea party in England in Arlington house, where Buckingham palace stands, at the restoration period.—London Chronicle.

Clearing Up History.

As a part of the squabble over the world's decisive battles a reader comes forward with the statement that Waterloo decided nothing. If Napoleon Bonaparte had won the battle he would have been crushed a few days later. Yet everybody concerned went through the fight as if it really meant something. It is strange how much clearer we see some things the further we get away from them.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

His Fad.

The Doctor—Every man needs a fad. It is really a mental safety valve. Better cultivate one. The Patient—I have mine—The Doctor—What is it? The Patient—Collecting unpaid bills. Perhaps you'll add one?—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Good Example.

"Maggie, tell Mrs. Brown I'm not at home. Robert has just told me a deliberate falsehood about the pie, and I must punish him severely."—London Telegraph.

So It Is Said.

Hoax—I wonder why there are no women bill collectors. Joax—I suppose it's because a woman's work is never done.—Philadelphia Record.

Saying well causes a laugh. Doing well causes silence.—French Proverb.

A Marvellous Escape

"My little boy had a narrow escape," writes P. F. Bastians, of Prince Albert, Cape of Good Hope. "It occurred in the middle of the night. He got a severe attack of croup. As luck would have it, I had a large bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house. After following the directions for one hour and twenty minutes he was through all danger." Sold by all dealers.

Baptist Church Dedicated

The new Old School Baptist Church, which has just been completed and which replaced the wooden one built in 1818, was dedicated at Salisbury last Wednesday and was the scene of a three-day convention of the Baptists from all parts of the peninsula. Many well-known elders, including Elders Durand, Chick, Francis and Lefferts were present. Thursday a fine dinner was served in the basement of the church to the friends and visitors. The new church is built entirely of brick, with all modern conveniences, and cost about $6,000.
