On motion of Mr. Dorsey, the following message was read,

Gentlemen of the Senate,

Intimately acquainted with the wants and wishes of our constituents, we cannot refrain expressing our unfeigned concern for the disappointment they will sustain by your denying to them the advantages contained in the bill, entitled, A further supplement to the act, entitled, An act relating to the equity jurisdiction of the county courts. It will not be deemed inconsistent with the decorum due to your honourable body, to examine the reasons why you refuse your sanction to this bill, so interesting to the less wealthy of our citizens. The house of delegates, annually elected from the people, is constitutionally supposed to be the organ of their immediate will, and in their acts of legislation to express the opinions of those by whom they are selected; therefore, their sanction to any proposition of a general nature presupposes a coincidence of opinion in those they represent, a practical construction, corresponding with this constitutional inference, has uniformly prevailed in the legislature of this state; nor is it recollected, that any of the important reforms in our jurisprudence owe their existence to any other expression of the public will, than that of the immediate representatives of the people; it is presumed that it is the only mean by which the unequivocal and undoubted wishes of voters can be ascertained, and we should be guilty of a base dereliction of our rights did we recognize any other expression of the public voice than that proceeding from this house. But independent of these general propositions, the rise and progress of the bill, the subject of the present message, prove beyond all doubt, that the extension of the equity jurisdiction of the county courts is a most desirable measure to the freemen of Maryland.

In the session of 1808, the contemplated change was much agitated in the popular branch; it was negatived by one vote. The election of 1809 brought an accession of real strength in favour of the reform, and the bill passed the house of delegates with only thirteen dissenting votes; it was negatived by your honourable house. The house of delegates made an appeal from your determination to the state, & caused the very bill which we have added on this session, to be published for the consideration of the people; the bill excited the public attention, and the voice of the people has been manifested in its favour by the selection of delegates who have, with an unanimity unparalleled in the records of legislation, presented to your house the bill for your concurrence; you have again refused to do so, not because the provisions of the bill are inconsistent with the public weal, but because you have no "evidence that the change is required by those essentially interested in its passage." The preceding narrative, and our solemn affirmations that it is required by the people, ought, and we confidently flatter ourselves will, dispel this objection.

We can recognize no reasons flowing from principles of general policy, why the appeal to a court of dernier resort, composed of six enlightened judges, should be denied to, and the adjudication of a court composed of one individual, and not of final jurisdiction, should be concluded on, the future of this state; such proceeding is inconsistent with the spirit of our judicial establishment, and, as applicable to the bill under consideration, is highly objectionable. To compel the suitors on the eastern, to follow their suits on the western shore, for adjudication, is productive of real inconvenience and much expense, and to enforce an appeal to a tribunal where the perquisites of office being twice as much as are allowed to the officer of any other court, can never be assented to by us. till we believe that the officer demands more than our constituents the consideration of the legislature; the rights of this house are entrusted to us for their preservation, and we are bound to enter our solemn protest against a principle of legislation attempted by your body, the tendency of which will be to avoid a decision on any question presented for your concurrence. We therefore send you the bill, and flatter ourselves, that upon reconsideration you will adopt the same, and thus render yourselves dear to the freemen of Maryland, by giving them a pledge of your direction to their will, legally and constitutionally expressed.

On the second reading thereof, On motion of Mr. Archer, that the whole of the said message be stricken out for the purpose of inserting the following:

"We have disagreed to your amendment to the bill passed by us enlarging the equity jurisdiction of the county courts, and have returned it to your honourable house in hope that upon a reconsideration you will recede from your amendments." A division of the question was called for, and put on striking out? Determined in the negative—Ayes 25. Nays 29.

On motion of Mr. Dorsey, the following words were stricken out, "and we should be guilty of a base dereliction of our rights did we recognize any other expression of the public voice than that proceeding from this house."

On motion of Mr. Dorsey the last clause of the message was stricken out.

The question was then put, That the house assent to the said message? Resolved in the affirmative.

Mr. Bowles delivers a favourable report on the petition of Cornelius Mills; which was read.

The bill to tax bank stock, and other monied institutions, the bill to open and lay out a road in Anne Arundel and Montgomery counties, the bill for the relief of George Jones, and the bill for the relief of Abraham Fuller, severally endorsed, "will not pass."

The resolutions relative to the arsenal at Frederick-town, the armory at Easton, the resolution to remunerate the several clerks therein mentioned, the resolutions in favour of John Brewer, John S. Skinner, Thomas Rogers, James Harwood, and Young Wilkinson, severally endorsed, "assented to." The resolutions in favour of Robert Leatherbury, Samuel Huggins, Richard Butler, and Henry Leeke, severally endorsed, "dissented from." Also the following message.

Gentlemen of the house of delegates,

The senate cannot consent to reconsider the bill, entitled, An act for the relief of Philemon Towson and Sebastian Grass, for the reasons which influenced them in negativing it in the first instance.

Which was read.

FROM LISBON.
Lithalia, Nov. 10.—Lord Cochrane's came in on Thursday, in 48 respective numbers and states of the two armies, are favourable in the highest and warrant our indulging the anguine expectations. The allied

the necessities of life in abundance.—
On the contrary, fall short of Indian corn, cooked in various ways, use of which has produced fluxes among

they are masters of no other part of the employ whole divisions as foraging par-instance, a whole battalion deserted in a

VACHEL STREYNS, Esquire, late Ex-General of the Western Shore of land, in the 58th year of his age, after a most painful illness, which he bore with Christian Fortitude, feeling well assured, that could be received by that God in whom religiously believed, and whom he frequently and fervently addressed during his illness.
A truly good man; this fond Huf-
this inextinguishable Friend; whose gen-heart ever felt Delight in relieving the sufferings of a Fellow Mortal, is gone fore-from our sight; but his Memory res, and must ever be held dear by all who knew him well. Slander never his lips; to utter harm of none if he not speak in their praise, was his fa-maxim. If Confidence could be word—He never gave his family pain

Paul's Domestic Infallible Columbian Oil.

THE inventor of this highly esteemed medicine
is a native of America, and the composition
is the production of American soil, consequently
it is in every sense of the word domestic; it is not puffed up with a numerous train of pompous foreign certificates of persons from whom by the great difficulty that separates us 'tis impossible to obtain information, therefore the public has better security
for their money as it cannot be the least shadow of deception over his medicine, for he simply appears before the community with his invention and an experimental detail of the various
cases in which it really is so wonderfully efficacious,
and in which he is supported by the following certificates of respectable characters, whose names are not only subscribed, but their persons may be also consulted, being residing within the circle of our own neighbourhood. The following are the complaints in which the Columbian Oil has been found to be efficacious and rarely ever fails of effecting a cure—viz Rheumatism, Consumption, Pains in any parts of the body, but particularly in the neck and breast, Colds and coughs, Toothach, Pleuritis, Cholic, Cramps, External and Internal Bruises,

Sprains and Flesh Wounds, Scalds and Burns,
Whooping Cough and Mumps, and Dysentery or Bloody-flux, Croup and the summer complaint in children, and in a weak stomach that is caused by
indigestion, a constant sinking and loss of appetite,
it will be a powerful brace to the relaxed fibre
and restore it to its proper tone.

It seems also as if nature had ranked it the first of the class of all pectorals and expectorals for the relief of the breast and lungs, as it scarce ever fails of removing obstructions in either, particularly those who are troubled with Phthisis or Asthmatic complaints, who in the act of walking tall, sloping or lying down, are almost suffocated, half a tea spoonful of the Columbian Oil
will render some relief instantaneously, and it continued agreeable to the directions in such cases,
will prove a radical cure by producing the full
power of inflation to the lungs and free expansion
to the breast.

CERTIFICATES OF ITS EFFICACY.

No. 1. Sept. 1809.
I do certify, that I have been ailing nearly two years with a hectic cough and violent oppression at the breast—I applied to the most eminent physicians and could get no relief from my low state of health, until I got Paul's Columbian Oil, and found immediate relief. I take this method of informing the public of the efficacy of this valuable medicine, from the cures which I have experienced—I think it an incumbent duty to offer the same to the public.

ELISHA SOWARD.

plough.

No. 2. Sept. 1809.
SIR,
From the great benefit I received from your Columbian Oil, I am induced to state, I was taken with a violent sore throat, about the 26th of August, which continued till the first of the month,
when I applied your oil externally, and washed
the part affected with the oil diluted in the same quantity of molasses, which took away pieces of putrid flesh and healed my throat in about 48
hours.

N. B. I also certify, that I nursed my grandchild, an infant of 17 months old, which was taken about the first of August with low fevers and loss of appetite. We immediately applied for a physician who gave every attention for about 10 days
but all to no effect; the child was given up by the
physicians, and had every appearance of death,
when I applied for Paul's Columbian Oil, and
gave five drops morning and evening for five days,
when the child began to recover, and is now in perfect health.

MARY UNDERWOOD.
Baltimore, by Peter's Bridge.

No. 3. Sept. 6.
I hereby certify, that I had a cough and pain in my stomach for upwards of two years, when I was recommended to Paul's Columbian Oil. I procured one phial of that valuable medicine, which
has restored me to a good state of health again.

THOMAS ELIOTT.
On the Hook's-town road near the turnpike gate.

No. 13.
SIR,
Having experienced so much benefit from your Columbian Oil, it would be an act of injustice to you, and a want of feeling for those who may suffer under similar complaints, were I not to use my utmost endeavours to give this public testimony of the wonderful virtues it possesses.

I was attacked with a violent pain in my left leg, which I supposed was a touch of the rheumatism; it continued to grow worse every day, so that at last my knee began to get stiff, and could by no means bend it; during this which lasted about five weeks, I was seized with a most dreadful pain in my right breast, which pierced through to my shoulder blade, and extended down my arm. During this situation a variety of remedies were applied, but all without effect. At last I was advised to try Paul's Columbian Oil; I accordingly procured a bottle, and found some relief from the first application; and by paying proper attention to the directions for using it, I was, to the astonishment of all who were acquainted with my situation, in five days entirely free from all pain, and have now the use of my leg as well as ever;
and any person who may peruse the above certificate, being desirous of any information respecting my case, I have no objection on their making application, to give them every satisfaction in my power respecting it.

I am Sir, yours, &c.
GEORGE L. HUGHES,
Market-street, Baltimore.
To Mr Thomas Paul, inventor
of the Columbian Oil, Harrison's Creek, Baltimore.

No. 5.
SIR,
I comply with your request, of stating my opinion of Paul's Columbian Oil, being an effectual remedy for the tetter worm. I have been afflicted with the tetter in my hand for 12 years, and have made trial of many medicines which have been recommended, but all to no effect. Hearing of Paul's Columbian Oil, about the 15th of January
last, proving an effectual cure for the ringworm
and similar complaints, I immediately got a phial
of your Oil, and applied it exactly to the directions for about two months successively—when
the tetter left me, and has not made its appearance
since.

SUSANNA BURDEN.
N. B. My Sufanna, a child aged twenty months
and six days, was taken about the middle of July last with a violent cough, which the neighbours said was the whooping cough; I gave her six drops of the Columbian Oil, which gave immediate relief, and proved an effectual cure.

TRANSLATION OF ONE OF BUCHANAN'S PSALMS.

O-BRIGHT and happy is my lot!
And sweet the path of life to me
All praise to my eternal king,
Whose favour fix'd the fair decree.
He guides me through the busy day,
And through the long and lonely night;
Fills me with hope and holy joy,
And guards me with his matchless might.
My mind, in all I act or plan,
Looks to my God and his commands,
And to uphold my feeble steps,
Protector by my side he stands.
My heart shall beat with grateful joy,
Pleas'd shall my tongue thy praise proclaim,
For thy benign and grace shall fill
Preserve & bless this mortal frame.
And thou this warm aspiring soul,
That breathes its humble vows to thee,
From Hell's dread gloom wilt kindly save,
And from the grave's corruption free.
Thou, the bright way of Heaven wilt show,
Thy blissful courts the just receive,
Thy hand bestow celestial joys,
No tongue can tell, no heart conceive.

PHILADELPHIA, JAN. 3.
The whole of the outward bound fleet, amounting to about 70 sail, remained at the wharves yesterday morning, wind bound. The Bainbridge, for London, was at 11 o'clock.

FURTHER FROM SPAIN.

From Gibraltar papers.
We have received the particulars of action, in the fields of Salagosa, between the Marquis de Compoverde and the French, whom our brave troops pursued as far as the gates of Mont Louis. We had 8 killed, 56 wounded. The enemy's loss was considerable: the field of battle was strewn with their dead, whose number exceeded 300, exclusive of 68 prisoners, and a large quantity of arms and ammunition and cattle were taken and remained in our hands. The intrepid General, Marshal D. Jose Obispo and Manro have covered themselves with glory the former on the 24th of last month, between la Cruz de Fajinas and Coll de los, and the two latter, on the 7th instant, at Hospitalet. The gallant Roviro has penetrated into Raudillon, laid the country waste, and spread terror and desolation through the district.

Alcant letters of the 14th state as follows: "Nothing new has occurred in our army. The enemy's numbers in Baza are between 8 and 900 horse, and 7 to 800 foot, those who marched to Baza for Loja, having been replaced by a garrison of Granada. There they have perished, all the inhabitants to enlist in the vic Guards, and given orders for a levy, includes, without exception of persons, rank all individuals from 16 to 50 years old. The division which was in Almeria, is collecting for the purpose of going to which occupies Baza."

Brigadier Empelundo beat on the 1st near Cifuentes, a French division composed of between 900 and 1000 foot and horse; and Col. Mina, who being attacked by very superior forces, had withdrawn to Vina de Arragon, is advancing again into the interior of Navarre. The French have under the necessity of evacuating Sigüenza. Gen. Carvajal has already 9,000 men. Teruel. On the 7th of Sept. M. Villapa attacked a body of the enemy who escorted a convoy and was proceeding to Villagruengo to Alcaniz, when forced to declare to decidedly in his favour, the foot and 28 horse of which that body consisted, it is confidently said, that 130 have reached their destination. On our side we have 4 killed and 19 wounded.

[Cádiz Diary.]
Extract from a private letter.

Atamonte, Oct. 10.
Maffena finds himself in great difficulties and danger, within six leagues of Lisbon without communication with Cadiz, surrounded by enemies and starving. Ross has joined Wellington with 12,000 men and we expect shortly to see the end of this.

Ballesteros is in Arcena and the cavalry Frexenal. Mortier in Seville and his troops in the environs.

By a Confido of a later date than Cadiz diary, from which the above paragraph is taken, we learn that after ranging plundering French Cerdagne, the Marquis division re-entered Spain and on the 10th Oct. was stationed in the environs of Gerona making part of the cordons formed by the bodies of Spanish troops round the French army, which is represented as being in a difficult extending from the last mentioned town to Lerida. The general opinion is that the French general would, before attempt to break through the cordons, get into Barcelona; and yet it was thought by some, that he would not stir from his position, as he had nothing else in view, to cover the siege of Tortosa, for which he continued to prepare with increased activity.

[Gibraltar Chronicle.]

JANUARY 8.

We believe the following abstract of events at Lisbon, which we have collected in conversation with an intelligent gentleman, passenger in the Cumberland, is correct. On the evening of the 16th of Nov. Maffena commenced his retreat from camp, in front of the British line; and pursued, in the same night, by the British troops.

On the morning of the 17th Lord Wellington marched with the whole of the British army, consisting of 80,000 men, and reached Lisbon that he had over the French army, supposed 60,000 men on the 22d, and it was expected a battle would be fought on the 23d, the day on which our informant left Lisbon.

Great numbers of the French horse perished, and the remainder were exterminated from the want of provender, while the British cavalry, being amply supplied, were the best order and highest spirits.

Maffena was retreating towards Coimbra an opposite direction from Cadiz, rendered his junction with the troops of Soult still less probable.

Address to the Charitable Society.

OF all the emotions that can heart, those that flow from the most dignified, and prompt to the succour of the poor, and the most generous to feel for, and the most delightful. Heaven it is, that has made them the feelings like these, unalienable, and made them the inheritance of those in whom it has been implanted, with the disposition to be respectable society to whom it is addressed, ever be enabled to feel their finer feelings, and may make glad the hearts of the poor. It is certain that human, and less extravagant pleasure, than any purchase of the plan of this society, as well as benevolently managers. They were aware many who would cheerfully, and that there were could not solicit where a reward, who could not solicit, these are the people for who, was more particularly, the deserving, as well as in people it was thought general, worthy, to resolve themselves, by this system collected, & faithfully and efficiently this excellent system all able to be charitable, and the writer believes the advanced in barbarity, says, that the generous, the excited the blith, that the success a solicitation. Charity is a duty inculcated by our Divine religion, and consequently more incumbent duty which could be promised reward of it is than any earthly gain or pleasure to the poor lengthen, at whose favour he life of every thing he there be a man who would his Great and Benevolent, portion of that superfluous him; in the world, perhaps iron hearts, but to the nature, it is hoped they are gently believed that not will refuse his quota to the fine Deceit.

The objects of this charity are not confined to the giving momentary relief, procuring employment for the means of useful education on the scale of bare subsistence of this necessitous, uncultivated poverty, and managers of this benevolent, in the rules of employment to those of the able to work, by the purchase, to be worked up; and the success of the wealthy, and his well-devised scheme in, for contribution will, and they contemplate, and which will, at a future day, school, to teach the young, and honest livelihood.

MARYLAND GAZETTE.

ANNAPOLIS, WEDNESDAY, JAN. 16, 1811.

Address to the Charitable Society of Annapolis.

OF all the emotions that agitate the human heart, those that flow from sympathy are evidently the most dignified, from sympathy, prompting to the succour of those whom it is generous to feel for, the most heartfelt and delightful. Heaven it seems has decreed feelings like these, unalienable to unvisited nature, and made them the incomparable reward of those in whom it has associated the ability with the disposition to relieve. May the respectable society to whom these remarks are addressed, ever be enabled to gratify these finer feelings, and may they long live to make glad the hearts of the distressed poor.

The days of man are "few and full of sorrows" at the best, but when poverty adds a scorpion sting to embitter the hours of life, then it becomes miserable indeed, and even in the small city of Annapolis:

"Sore pierced by wintry winds, how many shrink into the fond heat of cheerless poverty. Thought fond man this, and all the thousand nameless ills, that one incessant struggle render life a scene of toil, of suffering and of fate, lies in his high career would stand appalled, and heedless rambling impulse learn to think; the conscious heart of charity would warm, and her wide with benevolence dilate. The social tear would rise, the social light and into clear perfection, gradual bliss, benign fill, the social passions work." The miserable habitations of the poor, interspersed with the commodious dwellings of the opulent, present a fair picture of what is within even to the casual observer. What sea can accompany apertures totally exposed or stopped with clay and rags, but a cold comfortless perishing scene within? Perhaps a mother hugging an infant in her arms from the piercing blast of winter, (unameliorated by the warmth of fire or even a close bed,) while elder, yet helpless ones, are howling their fingers, and with icy-tears imploring morsel of bread, to bestow which, she, (happy woman) "checks her own appetite." These scenes, it is feared, are not uncommon; to provide for them, a charitable society has been formed in Annapolis, and to so humane and laudable an institution, the citizens have already been liberal, and it is hoped and believed they will continue to be so. It is certain that humanity affords greater and less extravagant pleasure, to the reflecting mind, than any purchased in the heart of dissipation.

The plan of this society was judiciously, as well as benevolently fallen upon by the managers. They were aware that there were many who would cheerfully relieve the distressed, and that there were many poor who would not solicit where a refusal might follow, who could not solicit without invitations; these are the people for whose benefit the society was more particularly intended; people deserving, as well as indigent, for such people it was thought generous and highly credit-worthy, to resolve charity into a system; by this system collections are easily made, & faithfully and discretely distributed; by this excellent system all who are disposed and able to be charitable have opportunity, and the writer believes the world is not so far advanced in barbarity, as to find when he says, that the generous and charitable will excuse the bluntness, that he has erewhile felt succeed a solicitation to himself.

Charity is a duty inculcated in the precepts of our Divine religion, and its performance is consequently more incumbent upon us than any duty which could be proposed, and the promised reward of it is far more desirable than any earthly gain or pleasure. "He that loveth to the poor lendeth to the Lord;" to him, at whose favour he has the temporary use of every thing he enjoys; and can there be a man who would scruple to lend to his Great and Benevolent Donor, a small portion of that superfluity he has received from him; in the world, perhaps, there are such soft iron hearts, but to the honour of human nature, it is hoped they are few and it is confidently believed that not an Annapolitan will refuse his quota to the poor, due by Divine Decree.

The objects of this charitable & noble institution are not confined to the simple circumstance of giving momentary relief, they extend to procuring employment for the grown, and the means of useful education for the infant who on the brink of barren and, (until the foundation of this necessary and amiable system) uncultivated poverty. The president and managers of this benevolent institution contemplate, in the rules of their association, with the assistance of the charitable, to give employment to those of the poor who are able to work, by the purchase of raw materials, to be worked up; and when the benevolence of the wealthy enable them to carry this well-devised scheme into execution, their calls for contribution will, of course, be reduced, and they contemplate a still more judicious plan, and which will have its fruitful result at a future day, to establish a Free school, to teach the young the ways of virtuous and honest livelihood. These schemes are worthy the attention of this Benevolent Band of Philanthropists, who have evinced their zeal for their promotion, by voluntarily taking upon themselves the trouble, and subscribing to the expense of carrying the institution into effect. The writer flatters himself, that when the benevolent are called upon to forward, by their contributions, the charitable and useful ends proposed, that they will cheerfully and liberally bestow what they can spare. PHILANTHROPOS.

FROM PORTUGAL.

We have been favoured with Lisbon papers as late as the 23d Nov. We have placed them in the hands of our translators, and should they contain any thing of an interesting nature, it shall be given in a future number.

We have also received a short manuscript, written by a British officer, which places the circumstance of the retreat of the French on indisputable grounds. It is as follows: November 14, 1810—Light division moved from Carvelha, Adozore, and their vicinities to Arrida. Same evening the French moved off from Alanguer, and followed early in the morning of the 15th by the light division. Lord Wellington at Alanguer. 16th light division marched to Villa Nova, followed by the centre and right of the British army. On that day light division cantoned in Villa Nova, distant from the enemy about four miles. On the 17th light division at Azambujer—took several prisoners of the French rear guard. On the 17th light division at Santarém in close pursuit. On the 18th light division marched to Golega, 4 leagues from Santarém, nearly up with the enemy. Gen. Hill, crossed with 14,000 men at Salvaterra, and by general orders, head quarters at Santarém.

The light division were within 2 miles of the enemy, whose head-quarters were positively said to be at Thomar. [Phil. paper.]

Arrived, on Saturday evening the sch. Maria, Captain Nelson, from Lisbon, 36 days—failed the last day of November, at which time there had been no general engagement; but frequent skirmishes between the out posts and a number of prisoners were taken by the allied armies.

A few days before Captain Nelson failed, accounts were received at Lisbon that Maffei had broke up his quarters and retreated 60 miles up the country; Wellington had followed some distance finding the road strewn with dead horses and other evidences of distress; but on drawing near the French army he learnt that Maffei had received large reinforcements, and that this retreat was only meant as a feint to draw him from his strong lines; which he immediately returned to his camp, not thinking it advisable to risk an engagement under such circumstances. Opinions were various at Lisbon as to the ultimate issue of the contest but the predominant one was favourable to the patriotic cause.

Flour 18 dollars per barrel, and corn 2 dollars per bushel. [Alex. paper.]

FROM THE COLUMBIAN.

THE INDIAN WARRIOR.

Tread light on the reef which you dark wood enclose,
Where o'er the blue waters the wild willows wave;
For there, pale and breathless, a Warrior reposes:
The pride of his nation, the dread of the brave.
Ye spirits, who high on the red clouds are lying,
When the battle roars loud, and the death-shafts are flying,
Say, where was your power when the chieftain was dying,
When bleeding, and cold, he was laid in his grave!
At morn, from the mountain, the hunter descending,
Trod the woodpath alone, in pursuit of the deer,
Unconscious that woe o'er his head was impending:
He thought not of danger, nor harboured a fear.
Thro' the low winding valley, afar had he bounded,
Ere the dark robe of night, the horizon furrowed,
When sudden a shout thro' the forest resounded,
And pealed like the loud note of war in his ear.
He listen'd—it ceased—and he stood boldly daring:
When again rang the woods, with the same deadly yell!
The warrior his bow for defence was preparing,
When an arrow unseen pierced his breast, and he fell.
For concealed in the gloom, which the night was bestowing,
On the glade where the lake's rolling waters were flowing,
A traitor, revenge in whose bosom was glowing,
Directed his arrow too faithful and well.
Ah! how sad was that hour, when his life's blood was ebbing,
And his pale, ghastly visage, was crimsoned with gore!
How glared his dim eye, when his last gasp he was heaving,
And a deep groan declared that his death was o'er!
Around him the dark dews of midnight were falling,
The grim prowling wolves their companions were calling,
And their wild moaning outcry so dread and appalling,
Was the death-song which told that the Chief was no more.
Ah! long shall his friends of the forest be mourning,
And many a tear for the warrior shall flow:
For never again will they see him returning,
From the chase of the deer, or the death of the foe.
Around the lone grave, where his bones are decaying,
Wild flowers are blooming, mild breezes are playing,
And sounds of dread import, the wanderer diffusing:
Are heard from the spot, where the valiant lies low.

THE PRESS.

[The following elegant Eulogium on the Press is from the Oration of Danl. Waldo Lincoln, Esq. delivered at Boston on the 4th of July last:—]
"The press, (says Mr. Lincoln,) is the safeguard of public rights. It is the messenger of truth, the herald of science, the interpreter of letters, the amanuensis of history and the teacher of futurity. Like the sun it illuminates the gloom of the gothic night, irradiates the shade of ignorance, and pours a flood of knowledge on the world; it dilates the perceptions of man, extends his intellectual vision, inspires his heart with sensibility & his mind with thoughtfulness, & endows him with past and present omniscience. It directs his way to the Piero au mont and discovers to faith the radiant path by angels trod to Zion's holy hill."

Paul's Domestic Infallible Columbian Oil.

THE inventor of this highly esteemed medicine is a native of America, and the composition is the production of American soil, consequently it is in every sense of the word domestic. It is not puffed up with a numerous train of pompous foreign certificates of persons from whom by the great distance that separates us 'tis impossible to obtain information, therefore the public has better security for their money as there cannot be the least shadow of deception to cover his medicine; for he simply appears before the community with his invention and an experimental detail of the various cases in which it really is so wonderfully efficacious, and in which he is supported by the following certificates of respectable characters, whose names are not only subscribed, but their persons may be also consulted, being residents within the circle of our own neighbourhood. The following are the complaints in which the Columbian Oil has been found to be efficacious and rarely ever fails of effecting a cure—viz Rheumatism, Consumption, Pains in any parts of the body, but particularly in the back and breast, Colds and coughs, Toothach, Pleurisy, Cholera, Cramps, External and Internal Bruises, Sprains and Flesh Wounds, Scalds and Burns, Whooping Cough and Mumps, and Dysentery or Bloody-flux, Croup and the summer complaint in children, and in a weak stomach that is caused by indigestion, a constant sinking and loss of appetite, it will act as a powerful brace to the relaxed fibre and restore it to its proper tone.

It seems also as if nature had ranked it the first of the class of all pectorals and expectorals for the relief of the breast and lungs, as it scarce ever fails of removing obstructions in either, particularly those who are troubled with Phthisick or Asthmatic complaints, who in the act of walking fast, flopping or lying down, are almost suffocated, half a tea spoonful of the Columbian Oil will render some relief instantaneously, and if continued agreeable to the directions in such cases, will prove a radical cure by producing the full power of inflation to the lungs and free expansion to the breast.

CERTIFICATES OF ITS EFFICACY.

No. 1. Sept. 1809.
I do certify, that I have been ailing nearly two years with a hectic cough and violent impression at the breast—I applied to the most eminent physicians and could get no relief from my low state of health, until I got Paul's Columbian oil, and found immediate relief—I take this method of informing the public of the efficacy of this valuable medicine, from the cures which I have experienced—I think it an incumbent duty to offer the same to the public.

ELISHA SOWARD.

Baltimore, No. 15, Water-street, sign of the plough.

No. 2. Sept. 1809.
From the great benefit I received from your Columbian Oil, I am induced to state, I was taken with a violent fore throat, about the 26th of Aug. last, which continued till the first of the month, when I applied your oil externally, and washed the part affected with the oil diluted in the same quantity of molasses, which took away pieces of putrid flesh and healed my throat in about 48 hours.

N B, I also certify, that I nursed my grandchild, an infant of 17 months old, which was taken about the first of August with low fevers and loss of appetite. We immediately applied for a physician who gave every attention for about 10 days but all to no effect; the child was given up by the physicians, and had every appearance of death, when I applied for Paul's Columbian Oil, and gave five drops morning and evening for five days, when the child began to recover, and is now in perfect health.

MARY UNDERWOOD

Baltimore, by Peters's Bridge.

No. 3. Sept. 6.
I hereby certify, that I had a cough and pain in my stomach for upwards of two years, when I was recommended to Paul's Columbian Oil. I procured one phial of that valuable medicine, which has restored me to a good state of health again.

THOMAS ELLIOTT.

On the Hook's-town road near the turnpike gate.

No. 4. Feb. 12, 1809.
I have great reason to be very thankful for being recommended to Paul's Columbian Oil. I had been afflicted with a violent pain in my back, that I was not able to walk. I procured one phial of the oil, and I received immediate relief, & I have been very well ever since.

N B, I had a violent toothach about two or three months ago, when I dropped a few drops of the above oil on some lint, and applied it to the tooth affected, and I received immediate relief.

ELEANOR ELLIOTT.

No. 5.
I comply with your request, of stating my opinion of Paul's Columbian Oil, being an effectual remedy for the fever worm. I have been afflicted with the fever in my hand for 12 years, and have made trial of many medicines which have been recommended, but all to no effect. Hearing of Paul's Columbian Oil, about the 15th of January last, procuring an effectual cure for the ringworm and similar complaints, I immediately got a phial of your Oil, and applied it agreeably to the directions for about two months successively—when the fever left me, and has not made its appearance since.

SUSANNA PURDEN.

N B, My Susanna, a child aged twenty months and six days, was taken about the middle of July last with a violent cough, which the neighbours said was the whooping cough. I gave her six drops of the Columbian Oil, which gave her immediate relief, and proved an effectual cure.

SELECTED.

From a London Paper.
SATURDAY NIGHT.

BY A JOURNEYMAN MECHANIC.

NOW, wife and children, let's be gay,
My work is done and here's the pay;
'Twas hard to earn, but never mind it,
Hope rear'd the sheep, and peace shall bind it!

Six days I've toiled; and now we meet
To share the welcome weekly treat
Of toast and tea, of rest and joy,
Which, gain'd by labour, cannot cloy.

Come ye, who form my dear fire side,
My care, my comfort and my pride;
Come, now, and let us close the night
In harmless sports and fond delight.

To-morrow's dawn brings blest peace,
And each domestic joy's increase,
To him who honestly maintains
That course of life which Heav'n ordains!

Of rich and poor, the difference what?—
In working or in working not;
Why then, on Sunday we're as great
As those who own some vast estate;

For on to-morrow's happy day
We shall work less, perhaps than they;
And, though no dainties it afford,
What's sweet and clean will grace our board.

This known, for every blessing given,
Thankful we'll bow our knees to Heav'n;
In God's own house our voices raise,
With grateful notes of pray'r and praise!

Such duties will not interfere,
Nor cloud my brow with thought severe;
But still leave time enough to spend,
To take a walk or see a friend.

Sweet the serenity of heart
That public worship does impart!
And sweet the field, or sweet the road,
To him whose conscience is no load!

Thus shall the days, as God designed,
Improve thy health, unbend my mind;
And Monday morning, free from pain,
Cheerful I'll go to work again.

Our life is but a lengthen'd week,
Through which, with toil for rest we seek;
And he whose labour well is paid,
A joyful Sabbath finds at last!

Paul's Domestic Infallible Columbian Oil.

THE inventor of this highly esteemed medicine
is a native of America, and the composition
is the production of American soil; consequently
it is in every sense of the word domestic; it is not
puffed up with a numerous train of pompous foreign certificates of persons from whom by the great distance that separates us 'tis impossible to obtain information, therefore the public has better security
for their money as there cannot be the least shadow of deception to cover his medicine, for he simply appears before the community with his invention and an experimental detail of the various
cases in which it really is so wonderfully efficacious,
and in which he is supported by the following certificates of respectable characters, whose names are
not only subscribed, but their persons may be also consulted, being residents within the circle of our own neighbourhood. The following are the complaints in which the Columbian Oil has been found
to be efficacious and rarely ever fails of effecting a cure—viz. Rheumatism, Consumption, Pains in any parts of the body, but particularly in the back and breast, Colds and coughs, Toothache, Pleurisy, Cholic, Cramps, External and Internal Bruises,
Sprains and Fleth Wounds, Scalds and Burns,
Whooping Cough and Mumps, and Dysentery or Bloody-flux, Croup and the Summer complaint in
children, and in a weak stomach that is caused by
indigestion, a constant sinking and loss of appetite,
it will act as a powerful brace to the relaxed fibre
and restore it to its proper tone.

It seems also as if nature had ranked it first of the aids of all pectoral and expiratory for the relief of the breast and lungs, as it cures ever falsely those who are troubled with the thick or Asthmatic complaint, who in the act of walking talk, it stops or lying down, are almost suffocated, half a tea spoonful of the Columbian Oil
will render some relief instantaneous, and if continued agreeable to the directions in such cases,
will prove a radical cure by producing the full
power of inflation to the lungs and free expansion
to the breast.

CERTIFICATES OF ITS EFFICACY.

No. 1. Sept. 1809.
I do certify, that I have been afflicting nearly two years with a hectic cough and a violent impression at
the breast—I applied to the most eminent physicians and could get no relief from my low state of health, until I got Paul's Columbian Oil, and
found immediate relief—I take this method of informing the public of the efficacy of this valuable medicine, from the cure which I have experienced—I think it an incumbent duty to offer the
same to the public.

ELISHA SOWARD.

plough.

No. 2. Sept. 1809.
SIR, From the great benefit I received from your Columbian Oil, I am induced to state, I was taken
with a violent sore throat, about the 26th of Aug.
last, which continued till the first of the month,
when I applied your oil externally, and washed
the part affected with the oil diluted in the same
quantity of molasses, which took away pieces of
putrid flesh and healed my throat in about 48
hours.

N. B. I also certify, that I nursed my grandchild, an infant of 17 months old, which was taken about the first of August with fever and loss of appetite. We immediately applied for a physician who gave every attention for about 10 days
but all to no effect; the child was given up by the
physicians, and had every appearance of death,
when I applied for Paul's Columbian Oil, and
gave five drops morning and evening for five days,
when the child began to recover, and is now in
perfect health.

MARY UNDERWOOD

Baltimore, by Peter's Bridge.

No. 3. Sept. 6.
I hereby certify, that I had a cough and pain in
my stomach for upwards of two years, when I was recommended to Paul's Columbian Oil. I procured one phial of that valuable medicine, which
has restored me to a good state of health again.
THOMAS ELIOTT.

No. 4. Feb. 12, 1809.
I have great reason to be very thankful for being recommended to Paul's Columbian Oil—I had been afflicted with a violent pain in my back, that I was not able to walk. I procured one phial of the oil, and I received immediate relief, & I have been very well ever since.

N. B. I had a violent toothache about two or three months ago, when I dropped a few drops of the above oil on some lint, and applied it to the tooth affected, and I received immediate relief.
ELEANOR ELIOTT.

No. 5.
SIR, I comply with your request, of stating my opinion of Paul's Columbian Oil, being an effectual remedy for the tetter worm. I have been afflicted
with the tetter in my hand for 12 years, and have
made trial of many medicines which have been recommended, but all to no effect. Hearing of Paul's Columbian Oil, about the 15th of January
last, proving an effectual cure for the ringworm
and similar complaints, I immediately got a phial
of your Oil, and applied it agreeably to the directions for about two months successively—when
the tetter left me, and has not made its appearance
since.

SUSANNA PURDEN.

N. B. My Susan, a child aged twenty months
and six days, was taken about the middle of July last with a violent cough, which the neighbours said was the tetter worm. I gave her six drops of the Columbian Oil, which gave immediate relief, and proved an effectual cure.
