ASKS SECOND TERM ON HIS ACHIEVEMENT

Mayor Kennerly Issues Statement Showing Voters What He Has Done In 2 Years.

EXPLAINS SAVINGS MADE DURING ADMINISTRATION

Reasserts That He Found Only $4.14 In City Treasury Upon Taking Office Two Years Ago—Says That Present Administration Is Saving $2500 In Street Cleaning.

Stating that he believes the voters should know the condition of things at the City Hall when he took office, Mayor Kennerly says in an open letter in this issue that he "was astounded to find but $4.14 in the City Treasury, many unpaid bills of long standing, and but $3.03 in the sinking fund." Despite this draw-back, says Kennerly, on the second of January the City had paid off "practically every outstanding bill against Salisbury."

Sufficient funds have been kept in the savings account to take care of payments on the bonded indebtedness of the city as they fell due and to make payments on the fire fighting equipment that was bought by the preceding administration.

During the year of 1921, says the mayoralty aspirant, many streets of Salisbury were resurfaced with stone and tar; West Main street was paved; and nearly $5,000 was spent for a sewer for the West Main street section before the State Roads officials would construct the road. A better street cleaning system has been adopted, resulting in an estimated saving of approximately $2500 a year.

As for protection of the city, Mayor Kennerly says that the Police Department has been reorganized along an efficient line and that today it is second to none in the State.

Speaking of his program for the future, Mr. Kennerly outlined the needs of the city and stated that if elected he would carry out the following plan; resurface South Division, Camden, Lake, West Isabella from Dock to Main street, and Naylor Court with stone and tar. Several other streets are on the docket for resurfacing also.

Concluding his statement, Mayor Kennerly says "I am asking for a second term because I have lots of unfinished business I want to complete." It seems to have become a well established precedent that the mayor shall serve two terms and on this basis the present incumbent of office says "Why not accord to me the same and not subject me to the chagrin of defeat when I have tried to do my duty and serve the people of our city to the best of my ability."

The present mayor, in speaking of the things achieved during his term of office declares that "That Mayor and City Council are proud of their administration. I can truthfully say that every man of the governing body of Salisbury has tried to the best of his ability to serve the citizens as they should."

Mayor Kennerly faces April election with confidence. He feels that he has filled his office well and that the people of Salisbury realize this fact and throw their support to him as they did two years ago. Closely in touch with the situation, he states that the outcome is more than doubtful for they believe that the women constitute an unknown quantity.

Public Warned About Unauthorized Agents

Miss McCormick Of The Near East Relief Says Unaccredited Parties Have Solicited Funds Here.

Field Day for the Near East Relief will be held in Salisbury on Sunday, April 9, at which time the story of the suffering Armenians will be told from every pulpit in the city. Miss McCormick, who was here recently, issued for an organization in this city and this body will have charge of the work of Field Day and the drive which will immediately follow.

Officers of the organization were given specified work. Former Senator Atwood Bennett will have charge of the work through the Sunday school; Mrs. Atwood Bennett will work through the Woman's Club; Thomas C. Evans will work with the fraternal orders; and Dr. Irving Cone will work through the Ministerial Association.

Miss McCormick in an interview with a News reporter made it clear that the only authorized representative of the Near East Relief in this country and that the public should carefully investigate anyone asking for funds or clothing for the relief. Details of the campaign in this city will be published at a later date. Mr. J. P. Adkins is general chairman.

FIRE ON LAKE STREET

About three o'clock Tuesday afternoon did slight damage at the home of Reese Wimbrow on Lake street. The fire started in the roof but was quickly extinguished by the Fire Department made a record run when the alarm sounded.

ROTARIANS ENGAGE PROMINENT SPEAKER

Dr. Charles E. Barker Will Make Three Addresses On Tuesday—Public Urged To Hear Him.

Rotary has done many good things for Salisbury, as those who know will testify, but one of the best things it has ever done has been to engage Dr. Charles E. Barker of Grand Rapids, Michigan, to make three addresses to the citizens of Salisbury on Tuesday, April eleventh.

The first address of the day will be at three o'clock at the High School when Dr. Barker will speak to the boys and girls on "Making the Most out of Life." At four o'clock he will speak to the women of the city at the Y. M. C. A. on "A Mother's Relation to her Daughter." At eight o'clock in the evening at the "Y" he will speak to the men of Salisbury on "A Father's Responsibility to His Son."

The meetings are open to the general public which is most cordially invited to be present and hear one of America's foremost lecturers. The meeting for women, while primarily of interest to the women, is not closed to men. The men's meeting, likewise, is not closed to the women. All are urged to attend the addresses.

Dr. Chas. E. Barker is a man with a genuinely unselfish message. He realizes the grave responsibility of parents who love their children—but who sometimes wonder how best they can impart those lessons which are so vital and yet so intimate as to be difficult of expression. No parent—father or mother—can hear him without wanting to bless him for making a hard task easy and pleasant.

His suggestions are not only practically helpful and informative, but they have helped thousands of loving but puzzled parents to get closer to their boys and girls than ever before. Dr. Barker is intensely human. He is thoroughly in earnest. His motive is to help you and to help you help those you love.

WOMEN'S CLUB MEETS

The first meeting of the officers and chairman of the departments of work of the Eastern Shore District Federation of Women's Clubs was called by the president, Mrs. A. A. Hathaway, of Easton, on March 22 at which time working plans were discussed and allotted, and it was decided to hold the district convention at Hurlock the latter part of April. The exact date of the convention will be announced later.

SALISBURY CLUB GETS A MANAGER

PLAYER-MANAGER HAS HAD WIDE EXPERIENCE

Has Played On And Managed Pennant Winning Teams In Many Parts Of The Country—Last Year Managed Clearfield, Pennsylvania, Club Which Had Joe Harris Of Boston Red Sox.

Salisbury is ready to go when the Umpire calls "Batter Up." The manager of the local club arrived in the city on Tuesday afternoon and immediately went into consultation with the officers of the Salisbury aggregation. His name is Harry C. Hoffman, known as "Izzy," and if anyone doubts his ability to get together and train a real team, let him read "Izzy's" record.

A few of the many leagues in which he has played are the Connecticut League, now the Eastern Association, the old Eastern League, today known as the International, the Pacific Coast League, and others. He played on the pennant winning team three years out of four in the Connecticut League.

For two years he was with the Oakland, California, club, winning the pennant one year. He has also played with the Boston Nationals, Providence Club, Mt. Holyoke Club, and Hartford Club. He managed the Peoria, Illinois, Club of the Three Eyes League.

Among the pennant winning clubs Mr. Hoffman has managed are the Ridgeway, Pa., club of the Interstate League, the Reading Club of the Tri State League, the Modesta, California, Club of the California State League which was also a winner.

Last year he managed the Clearfield Club of Pennsylvania, a strong semi pro team with a number of players who have won for themselves an enviable place. Among them are Joe Harris, now of the Boston Red Sox, Gus Getz, now with Chief Bender of the Reading International Club, and Johnny Mealer who is now playing with the Pittsburg Nationals.

The new manager was selected because of his ability, experience, and personality. As a player, he knows the game from the player's point of view. As a manager, he knows the executive end of the game as well. A successful season is predicted for him. The season's schedule is published elsewhere in this issue.

Mrs. John H. Tomlinson spent several days in Philadelphia last week.

Only Three Candidates Present At Open Meeting Of The Woman's Club On Friday

Open Meeting Held Under Auspices Of Wicomico Woman's Club Brings Out Three Aspirants Who Tell Public Where They Stand On Prohibition Enforcement, Malaria Prevention, And Similar Measures Vitally Important To Salisbury. Others Do Not Accept Invitation.

Local political observers seem to be up in the air as to the outcome of the democratic primaries for mayor to be held on April eleventh. The unknown element is the vote of the newly franchised women, for no one seems willing to predict to which candidate they will throw their ballots. It is absolutely evident that the women are determined to vote for that man who will, to their way of thinking, do the most for Salisbury.

The Wicomico Woman's Club, for this reason, last Friday invited the mayoralty and councilmanic aspirants to appear at an open meeting in the Court House at two o'clock and explain just why they sought office. To make their way easy, each candidate was furnished with a questionnaire and was asked to reply thereto.

No intention was evinced of trying to heckle the candidates, rumors on the street to the contrary notwithstanding. The women showed a sincere desire to learn what are the vital matters being considered by the office seekers and planned the meeting solely with the wish to gain information in order that they may intelligently vote next week. Leaders of thought and politics in the community are outspoken in their commendation of their action.

Former mayor I. E. Jones was the first speaker who referred to his previous administration, told of what had been accomplished, and pledged that he would support any move or measure calculated to bring about the betterment of the city. He said that he was for enforcement of the Volstead Act and that if elected would lend his efforts toward breaking up illegal traffic in liquor.

Mr. Charles L. Dickerson, the second speaker, said that he stands for the uplift of Salisbury both "morally and spiritually." He is opposed to the sale of liquor in any form in Salisbury where such a sale is contrary to law and if elected promises to do what he can to break up the evil. He also promised to keep the tax rate as low as possible. The third candidate for the mayoralty was not present, having sent a letter in which he stated it would be impossible for him to attend.

Only one candidate for Council appeared. Captain Gordon Banks, in his short talk before the gathering, said that he was ready and willing to co-operate in any way with anybody to make Salisbury a clean and healthful place in which to live; that he was ready to enforce the ordinances of the city, with which he is familiar, as well as the Volstead Act. He had no specific measures for the betterment of the city in mind.

Mrs. William M. Cooper, who was presiding, stated that she was sorry the other candidates had not appeared at the meeting. She then gave those present a chance to ask any questions they might wish of the candidates present, but no one took advantage of the opportunity. The meeting was then thrown open to the public for discussions along any line.

Mrs. F. P. Adkins urged that proper steps be taken to prevent the spread of communicable diseases and called particular attention to the malaria situation. Mrs. J. S. Taylor urged the candidates to see that Salisbury is made a clean city in every way. And Miss Mary Kell, Red Cross Nurse, stated that one of the most urgent needs of the city is proper sewerage. Mr. Lewis Morgan also spoke briefly along the same line.

Mrs. Carson insisted that the breeding places of the malaria mosquitos be done away with, and Mr. R. McK. Price stated that sewers in Camden are connected with the surface drains. The Court House was nearly filled and the audience was unduly attentive.

More than six hundred women are registered for the Democratic primaries and they cannot help being a real force in politics this year. Whichever way they throw their strength, that strength will be heavily felt. More interest has been aroused in this fight than any in recent years and the result is hard to forecast. The vote on the municipal election usually runs about five or six hundred. This year it may pass two thousand.

The fight for first place on the ticket has, for the most part, been entirely friendly. On a number of occasions the principal candidates have been seen in earnest conversation, while at the voting booths on Monday they appeared even more friendly. April eleventh, say those who know, will tell the tale.

Ocean City Chosen For Summer Meeting

Maryland Sunday School Association Announces Summer Training Plans.

The Maryland Sunday School Association announces Summer Training Schools Mountain Lake Parke, July 10-17, 1922. Ocean City, July 20-27, 1922.

A faculty of six specialists will provide thorough courses in Bible, Psychology and Pedagogy which will be open to all. Special courses in Children's Division ages 1-11; Young People's Division ages 12-24; Adult; Administrative and Officers' Courses. Complete information will be furnished all Sunday Schools in Maryland.

BENEFIT A SUCCESS.

Patronized by a good house, the benefit picture at the Arcade Theatre on Monday night was a distinct success. The play featured Bert Lytell in "The Idle Rich" and was favorably received by the spectators. Proceeds were for the benefit of the Red Cross local work.

THE JESTERS MAKE HIT.

The Jesters, an aggregation of singers and actors from Western Maryland College presented their performance on Tuesday night at the Arcade Theatre before a well filled house. The program from beginning to end was enjoyable and both principals and instructors received deserved congratulations. The offering was distinctly something "different." The Jesters leave Salisbury to play in several other towns on the Eastern Shore.

"Y" DRIVE PROGRESSING

Secretary Hammerslough of the Y. M. C. A. states that the drive for funds for the Association for the current year has been successful thus far. Subscriptions amounting to more than half the amount needed have already been made. There are still many teams to be heard from and a complete report at this time is impossible.

FORT McHENRY RESERVATION

Senator Joseph Irwin France has introduced a bill to make of Fort McHenry a national park as a perpetual memorial shrine as the birthplace of the "Star Spangled Banner." The sum of $100,00 is appropriated to restore the historic old fort and $10,000 a year for upkeep.

Coulbourn-Bayliss

The M. E. Parsonage was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Monday morning when Miss Frances Bayliss, daughter of Mrs. George Lang of Franklin City, Virginia, became the bride of Mr. Frank W. Coulbourn of Salisbury, Rev. Richard L. Shipley officiating. After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mr. Vernon Powell where the bride has been staying. Those present included Misses Lillian Morris and Mabel Blades and Messrs. Larmore and Harvey Littleton. Mr. and Mrs. Coulbourn will make their home in Stockton.

SUNDAY SCHOOL FOLKS CREATE A NEW OFFICE

Maryland Now Has Full Corps Of Sunday School Specialists—Work Starts Here Soon.

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees held March 29th, by the establishment of an Adult Division, a new office of Superintendent of Adult Work was created and Rev. Maurice R. Hamm was promoted to fill this important position.

Maryland is now provided with a full corp of specialists; Miss McCormick having charge of the Children's Division; Col. Cudlipp the Young People's; Rev. Mr. Hamm the Adult, and Mr. Brown will give some attention to the remaining department, known as the Administrative.

As Adult Superintendent, Rev. Mr. Hamm's work will be so vast as to make it impossible for him to cover the state the first year, but he will lay a most thorough foundation for the entire program of the Adult work in several of the counties, and will put on a campaign in Baltimore, where only one adult in forty is a member of a Bible class. He will not wait, however, until autumn but will initiate a series of great Adult Rallies in this city this spring that will lay a foundation for future work.

APPEAL FOR ARMENIANS IS MADE TO ROTARIANS

Miss McCormick, Duly Accredited Representative Of Near East Relief, Presents Strong Address.

An appeal to the members of the Rotary Club collectively and individually was made on Thursday night by Miss McCormick to aid the sufferers in the Near East. The speaker stressed the treacherous character of the Turk and told of her personal experiences in Turkey and Armenia. She spoke with conviction and carried her appeal to a strong close with the request that the Club write President Harding urging that he request the Allied Governments to take whatever steps may be necessary to protect the Armenians.

Acting upon her request, President Allen appointed a committee to write a letter in accordance with the suggestion. Miss McCormick very graphically told of the rising tide of Islamism and stated that the Christian peoples of the world must stand against it. She brought the question of the Near East relief before her hearers in such a way that they could view it sympathetically.

Rotarians Lewis Morgan, F. Hooper White, A. T. Grier, and Wil Allen told what they had gained by attending the Fifth District Conference at Washington on March 26, 27, 28, and gave interesting accounts of various phases of the gathering. Mr. Grier stated that the Rotarians had been given greater concession in the National Capital than has any other convention ever held there up to the present time.

Attention of the Club was directed to the fact that Dr. Charles E. Barker will speak here on Tuesday, April 11, and that all Rotarians and their friends are expected to be present and hear him. Comprehensive plans to insure a large attendance are being worked out.

Bishop Davenport was in the city on Sunday and on Sunday night confirmed a class of eight at St. Peter's Church.

Large Radio-Phone Is Installed In City

Dr. Wininger Puts In Novel Apparatus To Make Time Of Patients Pass More Quickly.

In order that his patients may relieve the tedium of waiting their turn during appointment hours, Dr. J. Lewis Wininger has installed in his office in the Liberty Building on Division street the largest radio-phone set in use at present on the Peninsula. So far as known, his is the only chiropractic office in the country to have the equipment.

Associated with Dr. Wininger is Dr. J. Harry Biron who has offices in the Advertiser Building. The latter is taking care of appointments at Princess Anne and Crisfield, while the former is in Pocomoke and Snow Hill.

Dorothy Gish will be the main attraction at the "Y" on Saturday night. The play in which she takes the stellar role is called "The Bookworm" and is said to be once well fitted to the popular star. In addition there will be shown two reels of the American Navy in action.

FREE SEED READY

Thanks to the consideration of Senator Joseph Irwin France and Representative J. Alan Goldsborough, The News has received a quantity of seed to be distributed to anyone calling at the office within the next week. The packets contain beet, lettuce, onion, radish and squash seed. News subscribers are urged to call as soon as possible as the supply will be quickly exhausted.

FIRE ON DOCK STREET

Fire starting about six o'clock Tuesday evening wiped out the dry cleaning and pressing establishment on Dock street near the T. & T. Filling Station which was run by Powell and owned by Mrs. H. C. Tull and Mrs. F. A. Grier, Jr. The loss was covered by insurance. The Fire Department was on its way to the scene within less than sixty seconds after the first tap of the bell. For a time it looked as though the gas tanks of the filling station might go up, but the firemen had the flames under complete control within a few moments after their arrival.

FIRE AT LAUREL

Fire endangering the city of Laurel caused an appeal for help to be made to Salisbury late Saturday evening. The call reached here at 5:45 and at once the Salisbury fire fighters with one truck were in action. They were in service about two hours. Thompson's theatre was burned with a loss of about $30,000.

Asbury Folks Hold A Social And Reception

The Congregation of Asbury M. E. Church will hold a social and reception on Friday evening, the seventh, at the Church. The purpose is not only to welcome the return of Dr. and Mrs. Herson for the seventh year to the Church, but to have a real social and enjoyable occasion together.

The Conference year just closed has been the best in the history of the Church. All members and friends of the Church are cordially invited to make this a very pleasant affair.

SWINDLER USES FAKE POST OFFICE ORDERS

Man Giving His Name As W. Banks Hits Local Merchants For Large Sums—Not Yet Arrested.

Giving the name of W. Banks, a stranger on Saturday night swindled several local merchants out of various sums of money, the total running up quite high. The crook bought some articles at Kennerly & Mitchell's giving them a money order for $100 in payment and receiving a large sum of cash in change. He stated that he had bought a farm here and intended to live in the community.

Next he went to Ulman Sons where he presented an order for $70 with equal success, and he followed this visit with one to Rubenstone's where he cashed a money order for $50. The man had evidently carefully thought out his plan of action, for he seemed to be more or less well acquainted with local conditions, for he had written a real estate man here and made arrangement to see a farm which he offered to buy. His check, however, was found to be worthless.

After cashing his money orders, he went to the hotel and spent the night, leaving early the next morning without paying his bill. When the merchants went to cash the postoffice orders they discovered that they were no good, having been stolen. Washington was at once notified and it is said that Postoffice Department officials are close on the swindler's trail.

Sunday School Workers To Meet April Seventh

First District Meeting Of Young People's Division Called To Convene At Fruitland.

The First District meeting of the Young Peoples Division of the Wicomico County S. S. Association will be held Friday night, April 7, at 8 o'clock, in St. John's M. E. Church, Fruitland. All the Young People of all the Sunday Schools in Trappe District, including Union M. P., St. Luke M. E., and Eden M. E. S., as well as the young people's teachers, superintendents and pastors of those schools are urged to attend.

Devotions, Franklin Griffin.

President's Message, Ernest Wunder.

The Organized Class, Harry Smith.

The Fourfold Program, Carrol E. Bounds.

Address, Rev. R. R. Burnette.

Council Fire, Conducted by Mr. Twilley Malone.

Friendship Circle and Benediction.

SALISBURY IS SELECTED FOR LARGE SCHOOL

NORMAL SCHOOL FILLS GREAT NEED OF SECTION

Senators Disharoon, Robbins of Somerset, and Harrison of Worcester, With State Superintendent Cook, Supt. James M. Bennett, and L. W. Gunby Appointed To Select Site.

Salisbury is to have a Normal School. The efforts made here from time to time to have such an institution located on the Eastern Shore have at last borne fruit and a clause was inserted in the general budget bill, which passed the Assembly by a unanimous vote, appropriating $117,000 for a site and building in Salisbury.

A commission consisting of State Superintendent Cook, Superintendent James M. Bennett, and Senators Disharoon, Harrison of Worcester, and Robbins of Somerset, and Mr. L. W. Gunby, will select the site in the very near future. The bill sets aside $84,000 for buildings and the balance for land.

A Normal School here will fill a great need and should do much to provide sufficient teachers for the schools of the State. Heretofore it has been necessary for pupils from the Eastern Shore to go to rather great expense to attend a Normal School and consequently the enrollments have not been so large as they should be. This will now be overcome because in Salisbury many students can attend school while living at home.

Closing the 1922 session, the General Assembly cleared its files of most of the important measures it had considered. It has accomplished a great deal, but some of the things left undone were giving the State police general powers of arrest; passing the prohibition enforcement act and the anti race track gambling bill; and killing the bill to make women liable for jury service.

The soldier bonus bill was passed by a vote of 83 to 4, 16 ex-service men being excused from voting and five members being absent. The bill now depends on the Governor. Important measures passed by the legislators include reorganization of State government; fewer elections; increased representation for Baltimore city; and making women eligible for public office.

JONES AWAITS VOTE VERDICT CONFIDENTLY

Makes Clear His Position On Administration Of City Affairs For Future.

GOES BEFORE PUBLIC ON HIS FORMER RECORD

Says He Believes The Qualified Voters Of The City Have An Inalienable Right To Know Where Any Candidate Stands On Any Subject At Any Time.

"The qualified voters of Salisbury have a right to hear what any candidate has to say on matters of vital importance to the city and for this reason I went before the Woman's Club at their invitation last Friday to tell them where I stand," said former mayor I. E. Jones in an interview Tuesday with a News reporter.

Speaking of the action of some citizens opposed to one of the candidates in spreading from house to house a circular which stated that "a concerted effort was reported to have been made to line up the colored men and women of Salisbury in order to 'put over' a certain candidate and that the present mayor has appointed two colored policemen already," Mr. Jones said that such procedure was very regrettable and he emphatically stated that he had nothing to do either with the preparation or sending out of the circular. He characterized the method as one insuited to, and unlike, Salisbury politics.

Contradicting statements alleged to have been made during the campaign that the city treasury contained only $4.14 when he left office, Mr. Jones said that when the city accounts were audited on May 1, 1920, there was a balance in the hands of the city officials of more than $2000. He also pointed out that the tax rate at that time was only 58 cents on the $100.

During his administration, Mr. Jones succeeded with the efficient help of the City Council in decreasing the indebtedness of the city from $60,000 to $43,000; buying a motor fire engine; and during the influenza epidemic insisted on closing all places of public gatherings. He states that he believes the public approved of his former administration and that he will give his time and attention to it again if he is elected.

Mr. Jones avers that he is ready at any and all times to co-operate with the citizens of Salisbury or any group or individual from among them for the betterment of the city, and that he is pledged to run the city in a clean and economical manner in case he is once more honored with the robes of office.

Each of the candidates who has before served in public office has made clear just where he stands. The facts are before the electorate and that electorate is alert. The effect of the women's ballot is unknown, as each of the candidates is claiming strength from this source.

Mr. Jones states that he is satisfied to leave his fate in the hands of the voters of the city, fully confident that they will weigh the facts and vote as their conscience dictates.

Excellent Lenten Concert Thursday

Mildred Matthews, Isabel Spring Dryden, and Grace Sefton Mayer To Present Joint Recital.

Salisbury music lovers will be pleased to learn of the joint vocal and organ recital at the Wicomico Presbyterian Church on the night of Thursday, April 11, at 8.15 o'clock when Mildred Matthews, Isabel Spring Dryden, and Grace Sefton Mayer, who is a violin pupil of Bernard Linsheimer and a voice pupil of Oscar Saenger, will present the following program:

Concert Overture, Wm. Faulkes; Mrs. Dryden.

My Star, Spross; Sing On, Denza; Miss Matthews.

PLENTY OF COAL

Despite the strike of the coal miners all over the United States, which became effective on April 1, the industries of Salisbury are not likely to suffer, at least not for some months to come. The Eastern Shore Gas & Electric Company has a plentiful supply for months and the Citizens Gas Company has enough on hand to run the plant eight months. Other plants are likewise well supplied.

Will You Be Called A Well Dressed Man As You Walk By Her Side In The Easter Parade?

Clothes may not always "make the man"—but the right kind of clothes cannot help but make the right sort of impression, put you in tune with the season, and give you a new self-confidence and general feeling of well-being.

This store has a very real clothing service for men—it has the very latest spring suits,—the sort of shirts and other furnishings that well-dressed men know instinctively are right in every detail — INCLUDING PRICE. And the men's shop is conveniently located on the first floor separated from the rest of the store.

And remember, there are no better clothes than those that are Tailored at Fashion Park. They can only be purchased in Salisbury at this store.

Messrs. George W. T. Insley and Russell Langrall visited Laurel and Seaford on Thursday of last week.

Mr. W. W. Roberts of Baltimore, spent several days here last week contracting for tomatoes for the Roberts Bros. canning factory. Their contract is 20c per basket. Some contracted at that, while most of the farmers thought best not to plant any tomatoes at that price as they can see no profit at 20c per basket.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin P. Anderson and son Howard Anderson of Laurel, spent the week-end with their son, Mr. John W. Anderson.

Mr. F. A. Willing spent last week in Baltimore.

The flu which has been raging here for several weeks seems to have about run its course, very few new cases being reported.

Saturday was observed by the young folks as April fools' day, many being the tricks that were played on the unsuspecting ones. Imaginary air planes were seen flying above, sugar tasted suspiciously like salt, and April fool candy, containing soap, quinine or some other equally distasteful ingredients was innocently passed around.

CLARA

ALKALI OR ACID IN SHOE POLISH HARMFUL TO LEATHER

Polishes that contain free acid or alkali are likely to injure leather. This is one of the conclusions from tests made by the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture. A polish of the emulsion type containing free alkali caused cracking across the vamp of shoes where the leather is subjected to frequent bending. Many of the liquid cleaners, often put up in a combination with paste polishes for use on light-colored shoes, contain oxalic acid, which is likely to injure leather.

In the absence of water-soluable dye in the polish, free acid or alkali can be detected by stirring up some of the polish with warm rain water and testing the clear water, after settling, with red and blue litmus paper. A change from red to blue indicates free acid. In the presence of water-soluble dye, free acid and alkali can be detected only by chemical analysis.

There is a general belief that turpentine in shoe polishes is injurious to leather, but the tests did not bring out any injury that could be ascribed to it. The turpentine sometimes becomes rancid, acquiring a sharp, disagreeable odor and causing the polish to become gummy and unsatisfactory to use, but the quality of the leather does not seem to be affected.

Various other constituents are used in the manufacture of shoe polishes. Most modern polishes for leather consist of mixtures of waxes colored with dyes and softened to a pasty consistency, usually with turpentine. Those free from turpentine are produced by emulsifying the mixed waxes by boiling them with a solution of borax or soda, coloring with dye or finely powdered bone charcoal, and mixing with a solution of ordinary soap to form a paste or with a solution of Castile soap to form a liquid polish. There are also liquid polishes consisting of shellac, waxes, and dye in alcoholic solution.

A chapter on shoe polishes is one of the additions to the revised Farmers' Bulletin 1183, The Care of Leather, which may be obtained free by addressing the Department of Agriculture at Washington, D. C.

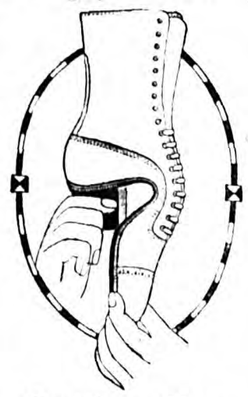
Cantilever Shoes Benefit Weak Arches



We claim that if everyone would start wearing Cantilever Shoes at sixteen years of age, there would be few, if any, men and women with weak feet, fallen arches, etc. However, if we didn't say this early enough to help you keep your arches strong, we can help you now unless you ought first to consult a foot specialist. In that event, we can help him to help you.

The number of people in this country who have weak feet, or a kindred foot trouble, is so many millions that we hesitate to publish it. Practically all of these cases could have been avoided.

Exercise Makes Strength

Your foot arch is composed of small bones held up by ligaments, muscles and tendons. Keep these healthy by free circulation and natural exercise, and Nature will see that those arch bones never fail. Cantilever Shoes permit this free circulation and unrestricted foot action by being shaped like the foot, flexible like the foot and arched like the foot. They support a weak foot not uncomfortably but flexibly while Nature restores strength. They're good looking shoes and reasonably priced. Sold in this city only by

YOUR DUTY.

Every American citizen, native born or naturalized, owes a solemn duty to this country. That duty is to vote for the very best men for public office, without regard to the ties of friendship or other considerations.

It is possible that a conscientious discharge of this duty may require that a person vote against a warm personal friend in order to install in office a man who is better fitted to perform the duties of the position.

This fact, painful though it might be, should not deter any man from following the course which he deems to be right and just, for the ties of country are greater than those of friendship—or at least they should be.

Many otherwise good citizens feel that if they are busy on election day that fact should be sufficient excuse for refraining from voting.

But they are mistaken. They are setting a bad example to the rising generation. They are strong for the inalienable rights of citizenship, yet weak in the discharge of one of the most sacred duties that devolves upon a citizen.

They are good citizens except in the matter of voting.

In that they are not good.

CHANGING YOUR MIND.

In sizing things up, especially those having a bearing upon local conditions, it is well to remember that there is more than one angle from which a question should be viewed.

Many people err in judgment purely from haste and over-zealousness.

Impressions are often formed at first glance, and unless a person is willing to probe beneath the surface and consider all available facts those first impressions will remain and become fixed convictions, irrespective of whether they be right or wrong.

Then there are those who, having formed a hasty conclusion, refuse to recede from their position even when confronted with indisputable proof of their error of judgment. That is pure stubbornness.

But in this town, as in all other towns, there are many people who are quick to form impressions, but are willing to, and do, analyze the arguments of the opposition. Often their views are completely changed as a result of the additional information they thus acquire.

Sizing up local conditions is an admirable habit, but undue haste in forming conclusions is regrettable.

HEALTH MEASURES SATISFACTORY.

Citizens of Salisbury will be glad to read the statement of Dr. Jones of the State Board of Health in regard to the manner in which the local health officer, Dr. Potter, has handled the scarlet fever and influenza situation. The manner in which the Salisbury official has gone about his work has met with the unqualified approval of the Deputy Health Officer of the State and he does not hesitate to say so.

Both scarlet fever and influenza are on the decrease and it is hoped that before long we shall have seen the last of the epidemic. There are now comparatively few cases of either disease, and there are fewer than a dozen children out of school on account of the epidemic.

The question of placarding homes in which there are cases of the diseases under consideration seems to be of negligible importance to the State Health Board, it being deemed wise for the local official to be guided largely by the attitude of the people with whom he has to deal. Quarantine comes under the same head.

The full statement in reference to health conditions in Salisbury appears on page nine of this issue and the public is urged to read it.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1922.

We all seem to agree that New Year's resolutions are good for the soul, so why should we stop at New Year? What's the matter with a few spring resolutions, for instance: I do hereby promise myself that from this time on I won't insist on having my own way, because if I get it the world is likely to be upside down in ten minutes. What I propose to do is to find out which of the bunch of us humans has the best way and then root for that. It's better to accept the best than to force the worst just for the sake of winning, because when you win you lose, and that's a poor kind of a game to play.

WICOMICALITIES.

Spare the rod and the child will probably feel the weight of the policeman's club.

"Civilization follows the razor," says a newspaper headline. Thank you. Now we understand Russia.

The decapitation of Landru, the French Bluebeard, will not prevent other men from losing their heads over women.

The weight of world weariness and the ennui of unemployment will soon be forgotten when Mr. Ump calls "Batter up!"

Says Johnnie Bull to Uncle Sam: "Don't Genoa Conference when you see one."

Rhode Island has not yet approved the Eighteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, but we must not lose faith in Providence.

"Miss Risteau" to be done in oil for the State House", says a dispatch. Shucks, lots of us have been "done" in oil.

Now is the time for Christendom to slam Islam.

KENNERLY'S RECORD

Editor Wicomico News:

Believing that the time has come for me as Mayor of Salisbury to inform the Voters and Taxpayers of our City Relative to what conditions I found when I was installed into office I wish to make this statement.

I was astounded to find but $414 in the City treasury. I found many unpaid bills of long standing and but $3.03 in the sinking fund.

It was impossible for us to do business with these amounts and there was nothing left for us to do but borrow money.

One can imagine what a task it is to pay as you go and take care of back bills. Nevertheless we have accomplished this and on the second day of January 1922 we paid off practically every outstanding bill against the City of Salisbury.

We made arrangements to take care of the payments of a new motorized Fire Engine that was bought by our predecessors. We have made every payment when due.

We have always kept sufficient funds in our savings account to take care of and retire Bonds when they came due.

During the year of 1921 we resurfaced many streets with tar and stone in our city. We with our friends are responsible for the paving of West Main street. That required an amount of from $4,000 to $5,000 for the laying of a sewer that was necessary before we could get the State to build the aforesaid. That bill has been paid with the rest. I cannot take the space to tell of all the improvements that have been made during my term of office.

Yet this has been accomplished besides adopting a different and better street cleaning system at the saving of from $2,00 to $2,500 a year.

Our Police system is under a new form and up to the minute in regulation.

We have tried to give to the people of Salisbury cooperation (so said by many) that was never given before. The Mayor and council of our City are proud of their administration. I can truthfully say that every man who is a member of the governing body of Salisbury has tried to the best of his ability to serve the citizens as he could.

I have a program made out which I shall put into execution if elected again to office. Resurfacing South Division with tar and stone. Resurfacing Lake street with tar and stone. Resurfacing West Isabella street from the Dam to Main street with tar and stone. Resurfacing Main street from end to end with tar and stone. We have on our program many streets to be worked with the tar and stone but space does not permit me to mention them. As for my part in any change which you have a Mayor [illegible]

I am very grateful to the voters for the [illegible] I have accomplished in this business I want to complete.

As far as I can I want to be every Mayor that ever held two terms in office. Way [illegible] of me the cartoons [illegible] I read in the [illegible] I gave [illegible] to the [illegible] advertising.

I appeal to every law abiding citizen to support me in my efforts for the next two years. On April 11, 1922 be sure to give your vote and influence to the right and vote to give me the opportunity to serve you as Mayor of Salisbury. As ever I am a booster for Salisbury.

W. ARTHUR KENNERLY, MAYOR.

Musical Fantasy At Arcade Theatre Soon

"Listen To Me" Will Be Presented Here On Tuesday, April 18, By Large Company.

One of the many wonderful scenes in the musical fantasy, "Listen To Me," which is the season's smartest hit coming to the Arcade, April 18, is the midnight frolic at the North Pole. This scene is an effect of ice and snow scintillating beneath an azure sky, while the aurora borealis diffuses its beams upon the land of the midnight sun. It is a night of gaiety amid fantastic wonders while the characters revel in dancing, singing and frivolity.

The Eskimo "pony" ballet engage in a snow ball battle with the black face comedian and eventually build a snow man about him. The sleigh bell number in this scene has gained extreme popularity which has strengthened the support in making this fantasy a success from the first performance; for the cast, chorus, beautiful costumes, novelties, singing, dancing and amazing scenic effects have shared alike toward this success.

Easter

On a recent trip to the market, we were able to procure the newest and most popular garments at attractive prices. You will therefore have little difficulty in making a selection. The prices, too, are as modern as the styles—nothing like they were last Spring.

For instance—

SUITS of Tweed or Jersey, $12.00, $14.50, $17.50, $21.75, $25.00 and up to $35.00.

Many models to select from.

Suits of Tricotine, Twill Cord and Poiret Twill. Box styles and tailored models, $20.00 to $55.00.

Coats, Wraps and Capes

If it's a coat you are thinking about you will surely find what you want here. There are the Polo, Camels Hair and Tweed in the Sport Coats, while the more dressy ones are made of Shawsheen, Valdyn and Velour.

They range in price from as low as $8.95 to $59.50.

DRESSES

The dresses this season are the prettiest ever. Such colors and such becoming styles and too, the wonderful new materials. There is KrepeKnit, Crepe Faille, Canton Crepe, Crepe back Satin, Taffeta, and Crepe Julia, and prices are moderate ranging from $11.75 to $65.00.

FRINGE OR TAILORED SPORT SKIRTS

Once upon a time a skirt was just something to wear with a blouse,—a necessary enough garment, but a total loss from the standpoint of thrills in purchase. Not so today—because they are tailored—and fringed—and we're showing them $6.50 to $10.75.

MILLINERY

Surely you will want a new Bonnet for Easter. We are having a special showing of new Easter Millinery.

SHARPTOWN

Dewey Bradley, who has just returned from a trip to Europe, is spending several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Bradley.

A few days ago a shepherd dog came to the home of Charles J. Mooney suffering with a lame foot. Mr. Mooney made several attempts to drive the visitor away but he would soon return. He has shown himself to be such an interesting pet that Mr. Mooney would not part with him under any consideration.

Three months ago, Captain Major A. Elzey placed one hundred and ten dollars between the feather bed and mattress where he and his wife slept. In a few days he went to get his money and it was gone, but no evidences of robbery could be found and no trace of the lost money was ever seen. Last Monday night he and his wife left home for a short time and next morning his wife asked him to help remove the mattress and spring from the bed and in doing so the pocket book containing one hundred and ten dollars fell on the floor. Since the money was stolen the bed and mattress had been taken off several times and often the bed had been put out of the window and remained during the day. Captain Elzey is confident the money is not the same he put in the pocket book, which was eleven ten dollar bills all apparently new, the money returned was old money and contained one twenty dollar bill. Again when he put the money away it was put in the pocket book flat and a rubber band around it, but when found the money was rolled up and the rubber band around the money instead of the pocket book. The money was gone exactly three months.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Windsor of Laurel, were the Sunday guests of her father, George T. Gootee.

News reached here a few days ago of the serious illness of Mrs. Major H. Bennett of Camden, N. Y., and her mother, Mrs. Annie Knowles left Friday to be with her until her condition changed.

Mrs. Ira Vickers died near here on Monday after several weeks sickness, the immediate cause of death being pneumonia. She leaves a husband and an infant only a few weeks old.

Idaho Tribe No. 128, I. O. R. M. had a special occasion on Monday night, members of Tuscarora Tribe of Seaford, of Naumkeag Tribe of Federalsburg and of Algonquin Tribe of Preston were present. Short addressess were made by George E. Owens, W. D. Gravenor, L. T. Cooper, C. R. Vickers, Geo. W. Brown, Leonard Covey, J. T. Blades, Johnson Barner, G. L. Murphy, John S. Bradley and Elbert Lydon. W. T. Selby and J. T. Bailey sang a duet. Ice cream and cake were served and at ten thirty the occasion closed.

Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Ellis who have been in Camden since last September returned home on Friday last and Mrs. Ellis will remain during the summer, but Mr. Ellis will return to his work, after the Easter Holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Archy Brody formerly of Salisbury have moved here where they will reside.

Mrs. Ida O. Howard has been confined to her bed for several weeks.

Dr. Howard S. Bennett is spending much of this week in Baltimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Selby of New Jersey have moved on the Hastings farm in upper Dorchester near where Mrs. Selby's childhood days were spent and where many of her relatives reside. For several years Mr. Selby has conducted a commission business in Philadelphia and operated a truck farm in the rural section. Mr Selby will engage in trucking and has an excellent farm for that purpose. Mr. Selby is one of the Sharptown boys who has made a success of life and all are glad of his return.

The entire stock of blackberry plants seems to have been exhausted this spring, new patches on almost every farm. Strawberries have also been given much attention. For several years the berry crop has been very much neglected but now farmers are returning to the growth of both the strawberry and blackberry crops, both of which have proved to be very profitable within the last few years.

Farmers are now busy bedding sweet potatoes and the number of baskets bedded will be larger than in any previous year. A few farmers will grow tomatoes, but no definite contracts between the canners and growers have yet been made. Most farmers are going to grow tomatoes with the hope of good prices whether contracted for or not. The sweeping reduction of phosphate and its guaranteed analysis have had a good effect upon the sales and added to this quite a number of general agents have gone among the farmers and made guarantees and such reduction in prices that the sales have been unusually large. There seems to be labor sufficient at reasonable prices and with all these favoring conditions the farmers enter their year's work with much hope.

Misses Mary and Louise Mann and Lynn Mann spent the week-end in Baltimore returning home Sunday.

Miss Mildred McAbee of Baltimore, is home on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. McAbee.

HEBRON

Mr. Edwin Howard returned to Chester, Pa., on Saturday after spending several weeks with his parents here.

Mrs. Ella Elzey left Saturday for Philadelphia, where she expects to spend several weeks with her son, Mr. Paul Elzey.

Mrs. Annie Windsor of Sharptown, visited her sister, Miss Octavia Knowles last week.

Mr. T. R. Taylor returned home last Saturday after spending several days with relatives in Philadelphia.

Misses Louise Mitchell and Alma Holliday and Mr. John Wright Jr., are home from Western Maryland College for a week.

Mrs. T. J. D. Culver has returned home after spending several days with her daughter near Delmar.

Mr. Alonzo Phillips who has been sick for several days, is much improved.

Mrs. H. P. Bradley and Miss Emma Bradley returned home last Friday, after spending several days in Washington.

Misses Mildred and May Owens of Sharptown visited Miss Grace Thorn last week.

Rev. W. E. Mathews who for the past two years has been pastor of M. E. Church has returned and moved to his home in Smyrna, Del., last Tuesday.

Rev. J. A. Wright left last Tuesday to attend the Annual Conference being held at Chestertown. We will be glad to hear of his return again, for another year. He has been with us for four years, has done splendid work and has made many friends.

Mr. Annie Palls of Philadelphia is visiting her mother, Mrs. Lizzie Harrison.

Mr. Jos. A. Phillips is out again after being sick several days.

Mrs. L. T. Walter of Parksley, was called home last week on account of the illness of her father, Mr. J. A. Phillips.

Easter Is Just Around the Corner

Plan Your Easter Outfit Now——TO-DAY

If You Are To Have a Suit For Easter Let It Be of Tweed, Plenty Of Colors.

Yes Tweed Suits are the most popular this season, and most especially the colors—rose, blue, orchid, grey and, of course the ever ready brown, tan and grey mixtures. Lots of dash and go to them, in fact there are several models that include along with the skirt a pair of knickers, making of them a three piece suit. Belted or plain—with pockets or without, but mannish in every detail.

Not every suit is developed in tweed however. Suits of Poiret Twill, Serges, Tricotines—some with cape instead of coat are eagerly sought—the suits are priced from

$10.00 to $50.00

The Crowning Achievement Your Easter Hat

We capitalize "if" because at this time it isn't necessary to pay more than a dollar or a dollar and a half to secure yourself the very smartest hat that is made and to get one that suits your face and that you can feel sure you look on at its most becoming angle. You will know it's your own.

Jaunty bandeaux and other small brimmers are the thing for the matron whose face is large, becomes her. Large brimmed hats for the woman whose face is somewhat round, suits that may be comfortably worn the back. And for the little youngster that breathe the spirit of Spring.

And ribbons! Why the vivid Joseph Coats. If you're dark haired, blue eyes and fair complexion and dandelion colors will look fine among. If you're a blonde, those are pretty of course, flower and sweetheart hues, jade green and many others. And for all the shades of hair, old colors, and other shades that make both ends meet the shades.

Yes, YOUR Easter hat is here, and you needn't pay more than $5.00.

Your Dress Is Likely To Be Made of Lustrous Crepe

—if it's to be of silk—for there are all sorts of variations of this fascinating weave, Roshanara, Giverette, and Canton Crepe, Crepe Romaine, Crepe Knit, and many others. Or perhaps you prefer Taffeta, Foulard or Satin. You will notice in this store's showing, many of the fashionable, long-waisted styles, with side drapes or panels to form to the irregular hemline.

The Jenny, Bishop, and Leg-o'-mutton sleeves are all featured. The dresses are often beaded.

Cloth frocks, of Eponge, Poiret Twill, Jersey, are usually straight of line, and have a decidedly tailored air, relieved by much Egyptian and Bulgarian embroidery. Would you believe it, Easter Frocks as low as $18.00 and then on up to

Again the Tailored Blouse Becomes More Important

The vogue for Tweed Suits has brought with it a brisk demand for those smart little flat collar blouses "to top 'em off." You will be glad to know we have all of the newest colors to match the favorite tones in Tweeds, and of course there are plenty of good-looking plain whites. Priced at $2.00 to $6.00.

CAPE OR COAT

--The Question of the Hour--

Best decided, it seems by the preference of the wearer, and the service to which it is to be put. A long grey mixed Tweed Cape, for instance, lined with red satin and set off with a shawl collar of red velour. Can't you picture it over a Crepe Frock on Easter Day? Price $18.00. Other Capes at $11.00 to $20.00.

Sports Coats come in a variety of weaves, Tweeds, Polos, Homespuns—and they have the most generous pockets!

You need not pay more than $12.00 for your coat, and ranging up to $50.00.

You'll Need Fresh New Collars and Cuffs for Easter

Some of them are of fine white linen, and edged with the narrow-style of the same material usually est of lace, others in Peter Pan embroidered — some have cuffs, others without. Can't you picture them demurely setting off that blouse—75c to $1.50.

Ankles May Be Broader But They Dare Not Be Less Trim

Nor need they be. Full-fashioned Lehigh Silk Hose have a reputation for wrinkleless fitting about the ankle and calf.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION

Pratt D. Phillips, H. Lay Phillips, Grover C. Layfield, vs.
Jacob E. Taylor, Hannah A. Ross.

No. 2980 Chancery.
March Term, 1922.

The object of this suit is to procure a decree requiring Jacob E. Taylor on the one part and Hannah A. Ross on the other part to interplead and adjust their several claims and demands, relative to the purchase price of certain timber mentioned in the bill of complaint, between themselves, the plaintiffs in this case being willing and desirous that the balance of the purchase price of said timber should be paid to such of the defendants as shall be entitled thereto; and in the meantime to restrain the said Jacob E. Taylor and Hannah A. Ross, their counsel, solicitors, agents and attorneys, by order and injunction of this Court from prosecuting or commencing any action or actions at law against the plaintiffs for or in respect of the several matters in said bill alleged.

The bill states that on November 1, 1920 the plaintiffs entered into a written agreement with Jacob E. Taylor to purchase all the growing timber and wood of every kind and description, upon all that piece or parcel of ground situated and lying in Quantico Election District of Wicomico County and State of Maryland, located on the Northerly side of but not binding upon the old county road leading from the Darby farm, via the residence of Rufus Dashiell, to Tyaskin adjoining the land of G. A. Rounds and Company and the land of others, containing twenty-two acres of land, more or less, for the sum of $2500.00, $100.00 thereof being paid in cash and the balance being secured by the note of the plaintiffs to the said Jacob E. Taylor for $2400.00 payable in twelve months, and that the said note has not been paid nor have any credits been paid thereon; that the said Jacob E. Taylor claims the full amount represented by said note to be due to him, claiming that the land upon which said timber is growing was devised to him by his mother, Isabella Taylor, by her will dated October 26, 1896 and duly probated and recorded in the office of the Register of Wills for said Wicomico County, that the said Hannah A. Ross claims that one half of the purchase price of said timber is due to her as one of the heirs at law of her mother, the said Isabella Taylor, claiming that as to the land upon which the said timber is growing, her mother, the said Isabella Taylor, died intestate, and that upon her death intestate the said land descended to the defendants, Jacob E. Taylor and Hannah A. Ross, equally; the said Jacob E. Taylor has demanded and claims that the amount due as the balance of the purchase price of said timber shall be paid to him, and on December 31, 1921, caused a judgment to be entered by confession in the Circuit Court for said Wicomico County upon the said note against these plaintiffs, and on January 24, 1922 ordered an execution to be issued on said judgment; that the said Hannah A. Ross has demanded and claims that one half of the amount of the purchase price of said timber shall be paid to her, and has repeatedly warned those plaintiffs against paying that part of the said money to the said Taylor; that your orators are unable to decide between the aforesaid conflicting claims and, while ready and anxious to pay the balance of the purchase price to or for the use of the true owner or owners thereof, these plaintiffs cannot safely make any payments on account thereof, or recognize either of said conflicting claims until the questions involved therein are settled authoritatively by some Court of competent jurisdiction that these plaintiffs are apprehensive of a suit of the part of the said Hannah A. Ross to recover one half of the said purchase price of said timber, and that the said Taylor has already entered judgment against them as above set forth; that these plaintiffs have taken possession of and are cutting and removing the said timber and have no claim or interest whatsoever in the balance of the purchase price thereof, and desire and tender to pay the amount of the same, with proper interest, into this Court under this proceeding, and that the said Hannah A. Ross is a non-resident of the State of Maryland, residing in Bridgeton, New Jersey.

It is, thereupon, this sixth day of March, 1922, ordered by the Circuit Court for Wicomico County and State of Maryland, in Equity, that the plaintiffs, by causing a copy of this order to be inserted in some newspaper published in said Wicomico County once in each of four successive weeks before the seventh day of April, 1922, giving notice to the said Hannah A. Ross absent and non-resident defendant, of the object and substance of this bill, warning her to be and appear in this Court in person or by solicitor on or before the twenty-fourth day of April, 1922, to show cause if any she has, why a decree ought not to be passed as prayed.

EASTERN SHORE, THE GARDEN SPOT, AND SOME OF ITS TOWNS

Famous Eastern Shore Families Are Traced. Gordys Have Distinction of Long Line of Eminent Descendants. Original Founder Of Family In U. S. Wrecked at Milford Creek.

Lying north of the North-West Fork river and north-west of the Nanticoke river, extending from these bodies of water to the Delaware line, is "The Fork." In the geography of Dorchester county, it is the "Fork District." The name is derived from the stream and was known as the "hundred of North-West Fork," which dates back to 1682. The Nanticoke river and the North West Fork river and the ramifications of their branches are the chief sources of irrigation north into Delaware until the water shed turns toward the Delaware river. Many of these streams however, are too shallow to afford mill facilities, beyond Federalsburg.

North of these streams is one of the finest farming sections on the Peninsula. Two hundred years ago large quantities of tobacco were grown and much sugar cane was also grown and sent North to the sugar mills. For at least one hundred years neither of these crops has grown in this section. The assessment roll of colored slaves in 1824 showed five hundred and ten slaves in North-West Fork hundred.

Though much of this land was in Delaware the Penns exercised no control over it, for all the land patented down to 1776 was upon Maryland patents. The largest of these grants was to John Polk, all parcels containing over sixteen hundred acres, on the east side of the North-West Fork river, being known as "Polk's Chance." John and Robert Polk were brothers and the original ancestors of that family in America. They are now scattered all over the United States, president, James K. Polk being a descendant of this family.

There are a few other biographical and historical facts in connection with the past and present history of this section that we recall for the benefit of the many readers of the News, being of far more than more local interests and touching the lives of many people living in different sections of the country.

The Gordy family was a very prominent family in the early history of upper Dorchester county and the bordering county of Sussex, Delaware. So far as can be traced, all the Gordys in this country descended from one Moses Gordy who came to this country in 1742 direct from Ireland. His vessel, bringing a party of immigrants from Ireland to Philadelphia, was shipwrecked at the mouth of Milford creek, Delaware, where the remains of the ill-fated vessel may still be seen on low tide. After being taken off and safely landed, some of the passengers decided to settle in the nearby country. Among these settlers was Moses Gordy.

Moses began life anew in his adopted country. He had two sons, John and Aaron, John died in 1802. From these two sons were four children, Nathan, Jackson, Milley and Hannah. From Nathan and Jackson the records show that there were nine children, Thomas, Lottie, Hessey, Seth, Nancy, Isaac, Kendal, Nutter and John.

Jackson Gordy was a large land owner and farmer in Sussex county and left all his estate to his son Seth, who immediately upon the death of his father, in 1836, moved west to Minnesota, where he lived until the time of his death by cyclone in 1862.

John Gordy, Jackson's brother, dying in 1802 willed to his brother, Jackson, one still with cap and worm, one Negro named Major and all his wearing apparel.

Kendel Gordy, Jackson's son, was a shoe-maker by trade. It was the custom then for tradesmen to go around the community, take orders for boots and shoes for the family, and then move his shop to the house of the family and live there until the orders were all filled; hence journeymen shoemakes. While making shoes at the home of James Wallace in 1824, the son of Col. James Wallace, a colonel in the Revolutionary war, Kendel fell in love with the daughter, Rebecca. He must have made Rebecca a fine pair of shoes because on the 19th day of February 1825 they were married. Kendel's son, James I. M. Gordy spent most of the years of his life in Fork District, dying there in 1920 at the age of eighty eight years.

The immediate descendants of J. M. Gordy are Sorin, of Texas, who by the introduction of modern farm machinery throughout the South has greatly enhanced the farming industry of that section; Milton of Wilmington, Del., Prof. Eric Lee Gordy of Chambersburg, Pa., superintendent of the schools of that city and prominent in educational circles and was for several years was a prominent teacher in Wicomico county; J. M. Gordy, farmer and poultry fancier still living at the Gordy homestead in "The Fork," Mrs. Luther Price of Denton, Mrs. Daniel Lutz of Seaford and Mrs. Homer Smoot of Sharptown.

Nathan Gordy, grandson of Moses Gordy, was born in Delaware and crossed over the line into Maryland and settled at Worcester, now Wicomico county, four miles east of Delmar. He was succeeded by Garrettson, Spicer and Levi Perry Gordy. From these sprang the Gordys in Wicomico county and many other sections of the United States. John Perry Gordy had four sons, the oldest, Benjamin Butler Gordy was born in 1825 and died at Delmar 1910 at the age of ninety two years. The next oldest son was John Spencer Gordy who married a Miss Parker, daughter of Henry Parker, and started a fine farm in [illegible] Salisbury, [illegible] since cut up into building lots.

The next two sons were Levi Williams Garrison and James D. Gordy born in 1831. William Garrison Gordy was a member of the House of Delegates from Wicomico the first year of its existence. He was also a surveyer of the railroad at Pocomoke from the time the old Wicomico and Pocomoke railroad was opened in June 1868 until his death in June 1880. He was the father of James A. Gordy, now president of the Gordy Coal Corporation, Broadway, N. Y. Mr. Gordy is not only a prominent business man of New York, but is financially interested in several business concerns of this county and still deeply interested in the land of his birth.

The widow of the James D. Gordy, who was before her marriage a Miss Hastings, married a Mr. Nelson near Hebron, one of the most prominent families of that section. The mother of James Gordy was also a Gordy before her marriage, daughter of the Rev. William Gordy and the youngest of her mother's sixteen children, and she was married in 1852 at the age of fourteen years.

Wade Hampton Gordy, manager of the Marvil Package Company, at Sharptown is the son of Levy Gordy, prominent in the early history of this county, and grand-son of Garrett Gordy, who died in 1897. S. E. Gordy, prominent in the business circles of Salisbury for more than forty years and who has but recently retired from the firm of R. E. Powell & Co., W. S. Gordy, Jr., one of the most popular bank cashiers in the State and at present the honored Comptroller of the State of Maryland, George Gordy, manager of the Standard Flour & Feed Co., of Salisbury, Dr. L. L. Gordy, a prominent physician of Baltimore, in fact all the Gordys in this or any other county or State are probably lineal descendants of that one man, Moses Gordy.

Perhaps the most distinguished Gordy of this long list of great men are Dr. John Penncoast Gordy and Dr. Wilbur Fiske Gordy, natives of Wicomico county. Their father, Elijah Gordy, uncle of Jas. A. Gordy, of New York, lived at Quantico and at one time owned and operated the Quantico mill. Dr. J. P. Gordy was at one time a professor in the Columbia University, New York. He was the author of many text books on pedagogy and Gordy's Psychology is regarded as the standard authority on the subject. He died in 1912. Dr. W. F. Gordy is a retired school superintendent, now living at Springfield, Mass. He is the author of Gordy's United States History, considered one of the best ever written.

We have digressed in this letter because of the available facts regarding this family which we consider of much interest to the readers of the News.

MR. WELLER APPROVES CONFERENCE TREATIES

Maryland Assemblymen Urge Ratification Of Arms Treaties In Formal Resolutions.

Unreserved approval of the treaties negotiated at the Arms Conference with the statement that their negotiation is "the greatest accomplishment of the first year of the Harding Administration," was expressed by Senator O. E. Weller in a letter to State Senator Charles F. Goodell, at Annapolis.

Acknowledging receipt of resolutions adopted by the Republicans of the Maryland Assembly urging his support of the treaties, Senator Weller says he sees in these documents no entangling alliances, and their defeat would mean the failure of the Arms Conference, which this country, and not another, iniated.

In his letter to Senator Goodell Senator Weller says:

"I have yours enclosing a copy of the resolutions adopted by the Republican members of the General Assembly of Maryland requesting that I give my support and approval to the ratification of the treaties adopted by the Conference on the Limitation of Armament. I have been in favor of all these treaties since their adoption and have already voted to ratify the one relating to the Island of Yap.

"In my judgment these treaties represent the greatest accomplishment of the first year of President Harding's administration. They promote the peace and safety of the world and of the United States, and will reduce the burden of taxation upon all the nations affected. They have terminated the Anglo-Japenese alliance, have brought about a reduction of naval armament and a naval holiday for 10 years, have secured the restoration of Shantung to China and have materially aided that country in maintaining a free government.

"These pacts do not constitute an entangling alliance with foreign powers. Any doubt about this will be removed by the Brandegee reservation to the four-power treaty. These treaties differ from others in that they do not rest upon armed force. They have a moral basis, which is a much more potent influence, in the state of word public opinion brought about by the European war. Prince Tokugawa, one of the Japenese delegates to the Conference, in a speech to the American-Japan Society, has just interpreted the four-power treaty to mean a moral pledge of four powers to consult one another in a friendly manner to maintain the general peace of the Pacific.' This is the interpretation accepted by the representatives of all the nations at the Conference. These treaties constitute the most important stride made in history toward the prevention of great wars.

The Conference on the Limitation of Armament was not called by the other countries, but by ours. Not to ratify these treaties means the failure of the Conference. I cannot believe that this is the wish of the people of Maryland and of our country. I am for the treaties."—Balto. Sun.

BOAT LINE SCHEDULE AT LAST PUBLISHED

Will Give Adequate Transportation To Points On Western Shore—Patronage Essential.

Years of dreaming and ceasless effort have at last resulted in a boat line connecting the Eastern with the Western Shore. Through the activities and tireless energy of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce, aided by the hearty support of the people of the Northern Neck of Virginia, the new boat line will commence operations about the middle of May. The schedule for the line is announced below. The business people of both Shores must get behind the project now and make it a success.

Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday Friday Leave Millenbeck 6.30 a. m., Irving 7.30 a. m., White Stone 8.00 a. m., Mill Creek 8.30 a. m., North End 9.00 a. m. Kilmarnock 10.30 a. m. Reedville 12.00 noon, Mila 12.30 p. m. Blackwells 1.00 p. m., Arrive Crisfield 3.00 p. m.

Steamer will leave Crisfield, Md. weather and tide permitting, 11.45 p. m., Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday for Millenback, Va. direct, and take up the above schedule.

Steamer will leave Crisfield, Md., Friday, weather and tide permitting, 11.45 p. m., Arrive Reedville 2.30 a. m., Kilmarnock 4.00 a. m., Irvington 6.00 a. m., Remlik 7.00 a. m., Sharps 9.30 a. m., Tappahannock 12.00 noon. NOW DO MY WORK WITH EASE

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored My Health

Hornell, N. Y.—"I was in bad health but there didn't seem to be any one thing the matter with me. I was tired out all over and it was an effort for me to move. I was irritable and could not sleepnights and had trouble with my bowels and at my periods. It seemed that nearly every one around me knew of your medicine and wanted me to try it, so at last I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine and improved every day. I do all my own work now except the washing and do it with ease. I can accomplish as much in a day now as it would have taken me a week to do last winter and I try to get every one I know to take your medicine to build them up. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you like."—Mrs. Chas. Barrie, 21 Spencer Ave., Hornell, N.Y.

In almost every neighborhood there are women who know of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. They know because they have taken it and have been helped. Why don't you give it a trial?

COMPASSION

What a world of trouble and heartache would be eliminated if people could look to the within of each soul, as life brings them into contact one with another. There would be no idle words of gossip, nor hurtful words of judgment. Each would know that no matter what was in or a part of the others life, it was a something for the best and in so far as it was best, it was the best that could be according to the light of the inner vision of that person.

So it is with these words "Judge not lest ye be judged." God understands each little thought, each little act and divinely asks of us to judge not. He knows all of our short-comings and yet so often we carry the sword thrust on our lips that pierce his loving heart anew.

Let us then reach out with the thought of true fellowship and remember that "Thoughts are Things," and that in time will return to the individual of their creation, so let us create thoughts of helpfulness and of an upbuilding character and ever keep the mind pure from creating a hurtful unkind thought that would lead to the lips a cruel word of idle gossip or judgment against our fellowmen. God alone is our judge. He knows the thought of each individual heart, yet He is the one who never judges, for He loves beyond condemnation. He understands the mortal each as we are, just wee toddling children in this world, each in our way, striving for progression and unfoldment for He is Eternal Plain.

LIGHTNING PROTECTION MEANS TO BE STANDARIZED

There are practical methods, practices, and appliances for protecting buildings against lightning, but because of unscrupulous agents who a score or more years ago succeeded in selling equipment that did not protect, all methods and equipment came into disrepute among farmers and others. In order to put the mark of official and scientific sanction on lightning-protection methods, there was recently appointed, through the collaboration of the Bureau of Standards, the Weather Bureau, and the American Institute of Electrical Engineers, a committee to prepare a code. Progress already has been made in the solution of this problem and many well-established principles have been made known to interested scientists and workers. It is hoped that the work of this committee will result in developing practical methods, practices, and appliances and make farm buildings and other structures safer.

ICE COMPANY ISSUES INFORMATIVE BOOKLET

Attractive And Interesting Pamphlet Gives Good Advice To Housewives On Use Of Ice.

The Salisbury Ice Company is distributing illustrated booklets on the use of ice in the household. It treats of ice as a household necessity, the proper protection of foods and the care of refrigerators. It contains an interesting treatise on the principle of air circulation in refrigerators, many valuable sanitary suggestions in connection with foods in refrigerators and suggestions of the many ways in which ice can be used to add to the pleasure, comfort and health of the family, and suggestions on the use of ice in ways that many have not considered as a toilet accessory, as a remedy for the sickroom, as a means of cooling hot rooms, and for the table.

This book should be read by every user of ice in the community and will no doubt be kept as a reference by the housewives of this city and county. It treats scientifically of the uses of ice as applied to present day daily requirements. The Company is to be commended for their effort in supplying this valuable information to the thousands of homes in our community.

STATE DEPT. APPROVES DR. POTTER'S METHODS

Letter From Deputy State Health Officer Says Local Official Is Doing Exactly The Right Thing.

Unqualified endorsement of Dr. Potter's measures for safeguarding the health of the city is made manifest in a letter just received from Dr. Edgar A. Jones of the State Department of Health who made a recent visit to Salisbury during which he surveyed health conditions of the community as regards the scarlet fever situation.

Speaking of the manner in which the municipal health officer has gone about his work, Dr. Jones says "Your method of handling the reported cases—isolation of the patient, restriction of other non-wage earners to the home premises for a period of three weeks—is all that can be done."

"Visiting all absentees from school to determine the cause of their absence is a particularly valuable procedure and I would suggest that this be extended to all the schools in the town."

With reference to placarding homes in which scarlet fever exists, the State Health official says" As to placarding, I think it rather unimportant one way or the other. It depends somewhat upon the attitude of your people, particularly those who are going to be placarded."

All cases of scarlet fever must be reported, says the State health officer, who states that "It is possible that the public does not know that parents and householders are bound to report cases of scarlet fever to the local health officer when no physician is in attendance."

Dr. Jones' letter gives the local health officer a clean bill of health and the public will be glad to know that he is doing the right thing to prevent a spread of the epidemic. At present there are fewer than twelve children out of school on account of scarlet fever and by next Monday most of those will be back at their desks. The disease is on the decrease and with the public properly supporting the health officials, further trouble should be negligible.

WEATHER CHARTS SAVE MONEY IN PLACING RAILROAD TIES

The relationship between railroad ties and weather reports would seem to be rather distant, but a report received by the Weather Bureau of the United States Department of Agriculture from one of the large railroad systems of the west shows that the rainfall charts prepared by the bureau saved this railroad a large amount of money.

During the war this road was unable to get creosote and had to subcreosote, the engineers secured a substitute zinc chlorid as a preservative for ties. The zinc salt is a satisfactory preservative in dry climates, but where the rainfall is heavy it leaches out. When the war ended this company had on hand 2,500,000 ties that had been given the zinc treatment. Instead of re-treating them with Weather Bureau chart and transferred the lines of average precipitation to a map of the system. Then they distributed the zinc-treated ties for use on those parts of the road in relatively dry regions.

There are 12,000 railway workers in India.

33 x 4½ "	67.00	42.85	36%
33 x 5 "	81.50	52.15	36%

HOW the cost of building quality tires has been brought down to the lowest level in history was explained by H. S. Firestone, President of the Company, to the stockholders at the annual meeting on December 15, 1921.

1. All inventories and commitments at or below the market.

2. Increased manufacturing efficiency and volume production reduced factory overhead 58%.

3. Selling costs reduced 38%.

Mr. Firestone stated, "This reduction in prices is made possible by our unusually advantageous buying facilities, and the enthusiasm, loyalty and determination of our 100% stockholding organization.

"Due credit must be given to Firestone dealers who are selling Firestone tires on a smaller margin of profit. This brings every Firestone saving direct to the car-owner."

The saving through first cost plus the saving through high mileage doubles Firestone economy and is daily adding new fame to the Firestone principle of service—

He Had Never Had a Stomach!

Weekly Health Talk No. 2
By Dr. J. Harry Biron, Ph. C.

A Western mining engineer was being interviewed by a magazine writer. Though he had spent his life at it he criticised everything and refused to see anything interesting, hopeful or human in mining. Then the interviewer switched to the subject health. The truth came out. The mining engineer had never had a stomach. He was tortured and soured by everything he ate.

When there is stomach trouble of this character, the cause is in the spine, as otherwise a change of diet, or a reduction in the amount of food would give relief. The chiropractor by chiropractic spinal adjustments of the vertebrae pressing upon spinal nerves to the stomach lifts the pressure and Nature restores normal digestive vigor. A good stomach makes an optimist.

HEALTH FOLLOWS CHIROPRACTIC CORRECTS PRESSURE ON SPINAL NERVES IN DISEASES OF THE FOLLOWING ORGANS:

RECOMMENDS CHIROPRACTIC FOR ALL STOMACH TROUBLES

"I was troubled with ulcers of the stomach and was in a hospital for an operation, but was too weak. Then I tried chiropractic spinal adjustments and now I am feeling as good as ever. Therefore, I highly recommend the adjustments to those afflicted with stomach troubles."—J. J. Schneider, Chiropractic Research Bureau, statement No. 1304H.

is to know that Karo is a wonderful energy food for children. Delicious on pancakes, hot biscuits and for making ginger bread and cookies. Ask your grocer for Karo—the economical syrup in full weight cans.

Here is how you can make Karo Fudge at home:

3 cups Granulated Sugar
2 cups Light Brown Sugar
½ cup Karo, Red Label
1½ cups Milk
1 tablespoon Mazola
½ teaspoon Salt
½ pound Nuts

Mix brown and white sugar thoroughly, add Karo, milk, Mazola and salt. Cook until it forms a soft ball when dropped in cold water. Remove from fire, add flavoring, and let stand until cool. Beat until creamy, pour into pan oiled with Mazola and cut in squares.

POULTRY NOTES

BY H. W. RICKEY

CARING FOR THE HOME FLOCK

The one most widely known and most dreaded of all infectious diseases of young chicks is that of white diarrhea (bacillus pulorum infection), the symptoms of which are profuse diarrhea; the excrement consisting principally of the white secretions of the kidneys and mucous from the inestines. There is a tendency for the affected chicks to huddle together, their eyes close, the wigs droop and the whole appearance of the chicks is one of weakness. They seek the seclusion of the hover and as the disease progresses do not come out to eat or drink. As the excrement is voided it usually sticks to the feathers or down around the vent in such a way that further evacuation is prevented, which condition is known as "pasting up."

The excreta from the digestive tract thus accumulates in the lower intestines, apparently causing considerable pain as indicated by a more or less constant peeping of the chick in its effort to void this waste material. This accumulation of the feces in the intestines often causes a distension of the abdomen to such an extent that it gives to the chicks the appearance of being short-bodied.

White diarrhea is so infectious that when it attacks a brood practically all chicks in that brood become infected and die. Death may come quickly or the disease may linger on for several days. Infection must take place within four days after chicks are hatched, though the outward symptoms may not appear until three weeks later. Occasionally such chicks recover and then carry within their bodies the germs of the disease and later may transmit the infection through their eggs to the offspring.

Sometimes infection takes place within the incubator, particularly in cases where the machines have not been thoroughly cleaned and disinfected after they have been used. The organisms may also be carried on the outside of the egg shell. As a preventive measure the interior of the incubator, including the egg tray, should be sprayed with a 5 per cent solution of zenoleum or creolin. Prof. Graham first recommended the use of zenoleum and advised that it be applied immediately before the eggs are put in the machine. The United States Department of Agriculture recommends the wiping of the eggs with a cloth wet with grain alcohol of from 70 to 80 per cent srength, but as this tends to rub off the outer coating of the shell it cannot be considered the best practice and I hardly think it advisable unless there is strong reason to believe that the germs may be present on the shells.

It is apparent that incubator hatched chicks are more susceptible to infection than are those hatched and brooded by hens. Chicks of low vitality are more susceptible than those of great vitality therefore anything that weakens or lowers the vitality of the chick, such as faulty incubation, brooding or feeding or a combination of all three may be the prime cause of infection.

White diarrhea however, is not as widespread nor as common as most poultry keepers think. We are too ready to excuse our own blunders and to lay most of our troubles to this disease, when in reality it is not present at all. Overheating in the incubator, chilling or overheating in the brooder and overfeeding during the early days of incubation cause diarrhea, the ecrement of which often contains in excess of the white urates from the kidneys, and as in white diarrhea, the pasting up condition is present. It is true that such unfavorable conditions increases the susceptibility of the chicks to the ravages of the white diarhea organisms, so that in many instances simple diarrhea develops into the infectious white diarrhea.

If eggs are used from good strong hens only, then properly incubated, and the chicks brooded and fed as they should be with wholesome foods, under correct sanitary conditions, we need have little fear of infection. If, however, we have reason to believe that the disease is present then precautions must be taken to prevent its spread. The affected chicks should be isolated, while those showing no symptoms should be moved to a new location and put in fresh, clean coops or brooders. Their former living quarters should be thoroughly cleaned and disinfected and the surrounding soil sprayed with disinfectants andsprinkled with air slacked lime.

There is no known cure for bacillus pulorum infection, though it may, in a great measure, be prevented or held in check by feeding milk in considerable quantities to the young chicks from the very beginning. As mentioned in a previous article, this food promotes or stimulates growth and the full and vigorous development of the chick. For several years it was thought that sour milk had some peculiar virtue as a curative or preventive agent, that the lactic acid in sour milk destroyed the organisms in the body of the chick, and sour milk was recommened for this purpose; but later investigations have proved conclusively that sweet milk is as affective as sour milk in the treatment of white diarrhea. Permanagate of potash in the drinking water aids somewhat in preventing the spread of infection.

Brooder pneumonia is another form of infection more or less common among young chicks. It attacks principally incubator-hatched and brooder-reared chicks. Its name is somewhat misleading. The organisms responsible for this disease is not the pneumonia organism of animals or of human beings, but a fungus growth, "aspergillus," which is inhaled into the lungs and thence into the small air passages, causing a fatal infection and one which is accompanied by a diarrhea similar in character to that of white diarrhea, "bacillus pulorum infection."

But unlike that of white diarrhea infection is not carried wthin the egg consequently it is not transmitted to the young in that way. Infection comes in most instances from moldly feeds, or from straw, hay or other material used for litter or bedding in the brooders or from material in which the eggs are packed prior to incubation.

The general visible symptoms of brooder pneumonia are very like those of white diarrhea, and except in cases where the infection is accompanied by a more rapid and difficult breathing as the air passes over the roughened surface of the air tubes, the two diseases can only be distinguished by laboratory tests.

There is no cure for this trouble, but if proper precautions are observed it can usually be prevented. Cleanliness is necessary, as is the right use of disinfectants as recommended by the prevention of white diarrhea. Pure nourishing foods only should be used and materials for litter, bedding and packing should be sweet and clean.

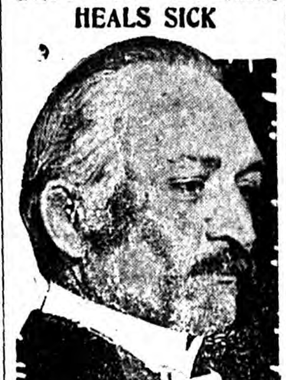
BROOKLYN MINISTER HEALS SICK



Spiritual perception which makes possible physical healings seem to be developed with more frequent regularity of late years, as indicated by newspaper reports in world affairs. The most recent is by Rev. Charles W. Dane of St. Mark's Congregational Church in Brooklyn, N. Y., whose cures by simply laying on the hands has aroused considerable attention throughout the East.

Preventive Medicine.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grippe. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle.—Advt.*

For any pain, scald or bruise, apply Dr. Thomas' Eclectic Oil—the household remedy. Two sizes 30c and 60c at all drug stores.—Advt.

The Coal Strike

BEING mindful of our customers' interests and realizing fully the necessity for continuous electric service both for light and power, we have been accumulating for the past several months a reserve supply of coal at our generating stations, in anticipation of the existing serious fuel situation.

Our present coal reserve represents a cash outlay of some Thirty Thousand Dollars ($30,000), and is sufficient we believe to insure the full operation of our plants without interruption for the duration of the strike.

The value of a reliable source of power and light to the modern town or city in a critical time, such as this, can be easily appreciated by every citizen.

When we have completed the extensions and improvements now being made to care for the constantly increasing demand for electricity, the property of the Company will have a value of Two and a Half Millions of Dollars. The largest and healthiest local business enterprise on the "Shore."

CORTLEY JUNIOR

Boys' clothes with snap and wear

The wear of a boy's suit is measured by its weakest point

THAT'S something a good many women have recognized, yet has seldom been considered by manufacturers.

Cortley Jr. Clothes for boys are reinforced at every point of strain. Elbows, knees, trousers' seat—each is backed by an extra thickness of the cloth, absolutely invisible from the outside.

That's why a Cortley Jr. suit never gives way before every part has given its normal maximum service.

Every suit represents a thorough working out of details—mohair lining, pocket edges double stitched, special non-ravel pocket facing.

The whole suit not only has the snap and style that the boy appreciates, but retains the manly, up-standing appearance that mothers look for.

REEDVILLE

Editor W. Y. Morgan, accompanied by his wife, motored down from Warsaw, the home of the Northern Neck News, for a recent day or two with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Omohundro, of Lilian, attending the morning service at Bethany M. E. Church, South, in our town Sunday morning. Mr. Morgan was looking after business matters here, at Fluton, and elsewhere.

Mrs. C. E. Davis of Fleeton, entertained about twenty young people most of them Reedville High School folks, on Friday evening last, in honor of her niece, Miss Clarice McKnight, who has been here for the past two weeks. Miss McKnight is a Goucher girl, and spends her spring vacations here.

Mrs. F. C. Jett, and Mrs. J. M. Carey of Reedville, spent several days last week in Baltimore, seeing friends and sopping. While in town they were guests of Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards, on Harlem avenue.

Miss Emily Biddlecomb, who has been nursing at Capt. Frank Haymie's has returned to her home at Fairport, leaving Delmar Haymie, her patient here, very much better. Her father, Capt. Alfred Biddlecomb is now able to be up and out again. The nurse from Richmond has given up her little patient at Mrs. T. W. Haymie's Estelle Robinson and gone back to report for duty in town. Every one is glad to know that all the pneumonia cases here are now over, though we still hear of lots of grippe.

Mrs. J. F. Shackleford, of the Reedville House, and Mrs. John Hinton have been sick the past week.

A number of gardens are being prepared for early planting. The plows and horses of Mr. Upton, and "Pete," are greatly in demand for the first turning over of sod, but the frequent rains have delayed any planting of seeds. The heaviest rain fall in months visited this section Tuesday evening last, accompanied by wind, thunder and lightning. Many have planted a few early vegetables, potatoes, peas and have set early cabbage plants out, but until the soil is warmer and dryer, others must wait.

Capt. E. W. Edwards of Fleeton, has been sick the past week.

Mrs. Ella Smith who is making her home with her daughter, Mrs. Francis Slaughter, at Fleeton, is spending some time at Lottsburg, her old home.

Mr. John A. Palmer, Jr., of Fleeton, was out of town last week.

The Ladies' Guild of St. Mary's Episcopal Church, Fleeton, is doing a good work this Lenten season, sewing for needy children of the church in mountain sections. They meet every Thursday at different Fleeton homes, having luncheon with the hostess of the day. Mrs. R. W. Brooking of the Rectory, Mrs. J. Clarence Jett, and Mrs. C. E. Davis, have entertained the workers recently. After Easter a box is packed, and shipped to some place when the call is most urgent. This is not a new charity with the Guild, but their usual Lenten custom.

Mrs. J. W. Pearson of Reedville, is a victim of grippe at this time, Miss Emily Biddlecomb has returned and is taking care of her. Miss Florence Gates, of the Telephone Office is also ill with Mrs. Perry Davis taking her place at the switch board. We are hoping they will soon be on the convalescent list.

Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Morrison of this place have been going to Burgess Store frequently, called by the illness of the latter's mother, Mrs. J. H. Covington. Miss Maggie Gough of Sunuybank, is nursing the sufferer now. Dr. Hudnall is in constant attendance and many loved ones and friends are extending deepest sympathy to all the family at Chestnut Grove.

Mrs. Janet Covington Haymie of Surprise Hill, was a recent guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Covington, in their handsome home up town.

Many fish have been caught by the Chesapeake and Potomac trappers the past week. Shad have been selling as low as 20c at Fleeton, though they are always a little higher here. Mr. Luther Rice, has opened his packing houses at both places and has been paying $5.00 a thousand for the herring. They are sent in different stages of curedness, immediately to Baltimore, Richmond and probably other markets, by both sail boat and fish steamer route. The Phillips from the Reedville Oil and Guano Co., has been taking out corned herring.

Mr. Elliott Wallace who has waited with his parents at the Methodist parsonage in Heathsville until the Northern Neck roads would allow his automobile factory at Newark, N. J., to send down a car for demonstrating, has been awarded for his patience, and a Kelsey with chauffeur attached, also Mr. Wallace, salesman, was in Reedville a day or two recently. People were greatly interested in the new car. There is talk of some of the auto dealers here handling the Kelsey in the future.

Mr. Wm. A. Sheppard of the W. E. Sheppard & Co., wholesale grocers, at Salisbury, was in Reedville this week, going from here to Lancaster county. The people in this section never manifest unusual enthusiasm in any way or over anything, but they are becoming thoroughly interested in the oncoming Crisfield steamer line, which will eventually lead on to Salisbury and open up a wonderful opportunity for our long suffering, shut in people. We are also hoping that the connection will be beneficial to our neighbors across the bay, and believe it will.

Hon. E. Hugh Smith and Mrs. Smith of Sunnyside, Heathsville, were in Reedville Monday, the former attending a directors' meeting at the Peoples Bank, the latter visiting Mrs. R. L. Haymie just from the adjourned legislature, Richmond, they were warmly welcomed.

A Farmer Cured of Rheumatism.

"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and told him to use it freely" says C. P. Rayder, Patten Mills, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar saying, give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment; I want it in the house all the time for it cured me."—Advt.

DON'T RISK NEGLECT.

Don't neglect a constant backache, sharp, darting pains or urinary disorders. The danger of dropsy or Bright's disease is too serious to ignore. Use Doan's Kidney Pills as have your friends and neighbors. Ask your neighbor! A Salisbury case:

Mrs. Ernest Lucas, 317 Elizabeth St., says: "I was troubled for years with weak kidneys and was confined to my bed for two weeks at a time. I also went to the hospital but got no better. My hands, feet and limbs swelled and puffy sacs hung benath my eyes. I was certainly in bad shape, and wasn't expected to get over the trouble. Finally on a friend's advice I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they saved me after everything else had failed. I always keep Doan's on hand." (Statement given July 22, 1916.)

On January 8, 1921, Mrs. Lucas added: "I never fail to recommend Doan's for they certainly did wonders for me."

"Healthful Spine Overcomes Headaches"

—By—

DR. TRUITT

THE CHIROPRACTOR

HEADACHES are from various causes. Sometimes the headache is due to idigestion, some times it is biliousness, sometimes it is traceable to female troubles, some times to a catarrhal condition. An adjustment quite frequently gives immediate relief, but the cause cannot be removed in one adjustment.

Nervous headaches due to indigestion, for instance are quite often given immediate relief by an adjustment which frees the nerves in the region where the ache is felt, but the cause can only be removed by a series of adjustments calculated to restore a full degree of nerve impuse transmission into the stomach and liver, whose faulty action is the cause of such headaches. Geting rid of the headache (a symptom of something wrong), is not always getting rid of the cause. To get rid of the tendency to headaches, a series of adjustments is necessary.

WANTS OTHERS TO PROFIT

I am writing this in hope that others may profit by my experience. I had nervous headches, indigestion and inflammatory rheumatism, all of which every remedy I tried failed to relieve. Chiropractic spinal adjustments put me back on my feet and at work once more."—A. W. Carter, Chiropractic Research Bureau. Statement No. 1253P.

The Way To Get Rid of The Troublesome Flies

is to screen them out before they have a chance to get into the house and breed. If flies once take possession of your home, you will have a hard time to run them out. The simple, effective way to avoid troublesome flies is to keep them out from the first of the warm weather. Start to screen your house now.

Interior screens, half-length, made to slide, strong and simple in design, 16 mesh wire, galvanized or copper, plain or furnished in any desired finish, can be supplied without delay.

Exterior screens, full or half length, strongly made, fastened at top and bottom with hooks, easily removable, with galvanized or copper wire, 16 mesh, plain or in finish to suit purchaser, can be furnished at once.

Screen doors in any finish, strong and simple in design, mortised and tenoned, galvanized or copper 16 mesh wire, high class in every respect, are ready to help you in your fight against the flies.

Screened porches are becoming less a luxury and more a necessity. Screen yours this spring. We have everything needed for this work and will be glad to talk the matter over with you.

All our products will stand years of wear if they are given the proper attention. Take down screen doors and windows at the end of the summer season and store them away. They will last indefinitely. The important thing, however, is to screen the house early enough in the spring to keep the flies out from the beginning.

Insure your health and comfort

"The Standard by which all other Makes are measured"

MANY a community has its dangerous road. A retaining wall above or below might make it permanently safe. The old saying of a stitch in time, is worth remembering.

Concrete retaining walls for public highways or private homes are a permanent improvement when properly built. Your contractor is familiar with reinforced concrete construction and would gladly estimate just what this would cost.

Atlas Portland Cement for more than a quarter century has given satisfaction on all types of construction. Both your contractor and your dealer are familiar with it as "the Standard by which all other makes are measured."

Indigestion

Many persons, otherwise vigorous and healthy, are bothered occasionally with indigestion. The effects of a disordered stomach on the system are dangerous, and prompt treatment of indigestion is important. "The only medicine I have needed has been something to aid digestion and clean the liver," writes Mr. Fred Ashby, a McKinney, Texas, farmer. "My medicine is

COMPANY 'I'S' EXPERT SHOTS TO BE TRAINED

Captain Russell Announces Plans For Coming Tour Of Duty On the Rifle Range—Recruits Needed.

Now that Spring is almost here and the time for out-door activities is fast approaching, plans are rapidly being developed for the field training of Company "I" First Infantry, Maryland National Guard. Probabaly no part of the soldiers out-door training is more popular or of greater benefit to the country than the instruction given in the firing of the various weapons with which the Infantry soldier is equipped.

The service rifle with which soldiers in Company "I" are armed is probably the finest weapon of its kind in the world. No other rifle can compare with it in range, accuracy, and dependability. It is without question, the most important weapon in the service, although by no means the only one used by the Infantry to produce fire power, as the machine guns, 45 calibre automatic pistols, 37 millimeter guns, and the light mortars must not be under-estimated in value, and will come in for their share of instruction on the target range.

Every red blooded American is extremely proud when he becomes an expert shot with some sort of fire arms, as with this qualifications comes a sense of security not otherwise felt. Many people have the erroneous impression that good shooting is the result of a natural gift. The best authorities, however, on this subject agree without exception that the expert use of any weapon is brought about by means of proper instruction, and that any-one with normal physique can easily become a good shot.

In order to devote the maximum amount of time while on the range to actual firing, much of the preliminary instruction will be given in the Armory before going on the rifle range. Rifle shooting in the Army is at long rages as compared to civilian practice, and therefore requires careful, systematic instruction. The methods followed in making good shots of the users of the weapons of various kinds, do not differ materially, and they will be given the same instruction as the rifle.

After having completed the preliminary instruction at the Armory, there will follow a tour of duty at the State Rifle Range, at Glenburnie, Maryland, where the soldier will demonstrate by record firing his qualification. There are three classes into which soldiers qualifying are divided; first the Expert Rifleman, which is the highest; next the Sharp-Shooter, and the other Marksman. As a mark of distinction a silver badge appropriate to the classification is issued the soldier qualifying, and will be worn by him as a part of his uniform.

Men interested in learnig how to shoot who are not members of Company "I" should speak to Captain Russell without delay so that they may enlist at this time and take advantage of the instruction from the start, and in so doing they will not be at the disadvantage of having received less practice than the other men of the Company.

In no previous year at camp or on the rifle range has the shooting efficiency of the National Guard received the consideration that it will during the coming summer, and it is hoped and expected to establish a record for the Maryland National Guard and to place Company "I" at the head of all the Companies in rifle marksmenship.

'BUILD WITH THE BIRDS' MOVEMENT STIRS CITY

Local Interest Keen In Home-Making Program; Several New Houses Already In Prospect.

Looking at building sites and talking over plans for new houses or discussing the possibilities of remodeling old ones, is the favorite pastime this week of Salisbury residents since the full import of the "Build with the Birds" campaign, as announced last week exclusively in The News has been realized.

Enthusiastic approval of the movement as a civic and community enterprise has been expressed by representative citizens and business men, who point out that it will bring a revival of commercial and industrial activity in many lines.

"It is right in line with the new idea of thrift which is being emphasized all over the country this year," explains one business man. "Thrift is now defined as a judicious expenditure of one's funds, and there is certainly no more commendable object of investment than home. Given a home and the other necessities and luxuries for the family follow as a matter of course.

"In promoting this movement the business men who deal in building materials and home furnishings are not only stimulating activity in their own lines, but are encouraging a resumption of trade in various commodities and creating a demand for a larger volume of labor."

What hand tailoring means in a suit of clothes

It's the quality that makes a suit retain its style and fit through the long months of hard wear.

Cortley Clothes for young men have it. It is hand tailoring that gives lasting value to their correct style features, which are metropolitan in their standards.

Cut Will Affect Nearly 7000 Users On Eastern Shore. Reduction Is In Line With Policy Of The Company Which Desires To Pass On Any Benefits To General Public

In keeping with their fine policy of passing on to the public any benefits that may come as the result of stricter economies of operation, lower prices for coal, and greater efficiency of production, the Eastern Shore Gas & Electric Company this week, thru the General Superintendent, Mr. C. O. Culver, announces a decided reduction in lighting rates.

Approximately ten per cent will be stricken from all light bills beginning with the month of May. A complete schedule showing just how much this reduction will affect each user will be enclosed in the April bills. The whole Eastern Shore territory of the Company will benefit by the reduction.

The Eastern Shore Gas & Electric Company is blazing the trail and is, probably, one of the first public utility companies in the East voluntarily to reduce the price of its service. The reduction was made by the management of its own volition without any pressure whatsoever having been brought to bear.

Speaking of the reduction, Mr. Culver said "It has been made possible because we are not attempting to produce current with antiquated machinery. Our plant is excellently equipped, efficient, and capable of taking care of the needs of more than 7000 users. This reduction is made possible by reason of the greater efficiency of our plant and is strictly in line with the policy of the Company which is to treat the public squarely all the time."

Coal is somewhat cheaper and has, therefore, entered into this cut in lighting rates, but freight rates are still so high that the reduction is not all that it might otherwise be. Coal at the mine costs $2.75 a ton and the freight on that ton is $5.00, making the coal $7.75 on the cars at Salisbury. The public in general fails to realize that the freight, at least on this item, is nearly double the cost of the actual commodity.

Despite this condition, Mr. Culver states that the reduction in lighting rates was made on a basis of lower freight rates which are expected to be granted some time in the future, and he also said that the public may rest assured it will benefit by any further economies in production or saving in freight rates at any later periods.

This announcement will undoubtedly meet with the full approval of the public in general and with that of the users in particular. It is a sound policy for a sound business and will unquestionably be amply rewarded.

LIFE OF CHRIST IS TO BE DEPICTED AT ULMAN'S

"Behold The Man" Is Exceptionally Suited To Easter Season. Special Music and Choral Selections.

Peculiarly appropriate is the photoplay scheduled for Ulman's Opera House on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 18 and 19. The production is called "Behold the Man" and is built around the life of Christ. Special music has been engaged and will render several choral selections such as "The Holy City," Handel's "Largo," and "O Sanctissima."

One is carried in the picture from the time Mary receives the command of God in Nazareth that She is to be the mother of His son, Christ the Lord, to be born in Bethlehem. From there, through the interesting periods of the Saviour's life up to the time of his crucifixion and burial by Arimathea.

This interesting event in history, upon which civilization has been built, is told in a narrative form, related by a mother as a bed-time story to her two children and told in so vivid a manner that it is visualized for the children in beautiful natural color motion photography.

Dues Will Be Discussed By Chamber Commerce

Important Meeting Scheduled For Thursday Night At Which Time Questions of Import Come Up.

A call has been issued for a meeting of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce on Thursday night, April 13, and the secretary is urging that every member of the organization be on hand. Several matters of routine business will come before the Chamber for consideration, but perhaps the most important is that of dues.

Dues will be thoroughly threshed out and the outcome of the discussion will affect every member and every business man who expects to become a member. The Chamber is doing excellent work and undoubtedly should have the fullest support of the business people of Salisbury.

Scarlet Fever Seems To Be On Decline

Malaria Beginning To Make Its Appearance. "Flu" Cases Are Reported. Nurse Makes 133 Visits.

Thirty four cases of sickness have been reported so far this month, ten of which were scarlet fever. Malaria is beginning to put in its appearance, six cases already having been noted. During the month of March the Red Cross nurse made 133 visits, 70 of which were nursing cases.

During the last week of March there were reported 19 cases of scarlet fever and cases were noted the first week in April. Scarlet fever seems to be on the wane but it is feared that many people are not reporting as they should to the health office.

RADIO PROGRAM.

The radiophone program for two hours this week at the offices of Dr. Charles Wininger in the Liberty Bonds Division street is as follows: Thursday, Vocal solo by J. Wade accompanied by Mrs. J. Wade. Saturday: Piano recital by Miss Ruth Louis and violin solos by Mr. Goldman of Washington, from the station at Baltimore.

ATTEND GEORGIA WEDDING.

Mrs. J. Robertson and Miss Iris Claxton of Salisbury attended the wedding of Mrs. Charlotte Turner and Mr. E. Bingham of Dublin, Georgia, on April 5th. The bride is the widow of the late W. Pitt Turner.

Lenten Concert Is Thoroughly Enjoyed

Miss Mildred Mathews And Others Offer Vocal And Instrumental Treat At Presbyterian Church.

The Lenten concert at the Wicomico Presbyterian Church on Thursday evening, April 6, was a great success and largely attended. The program was presented by Miss Mildred Mathews, Isabel Spring Dryden and Grace Stefton Mayer.

Mrs. Dryden played a number of very beautiful solos for pipe organ, and also acted as accompanist for Miss Mathews and the violinist.

Miss Mathews gave a very beautiful rendition of "Miriam's Song of Triumph" and made an interesting explanation of solo which made it desirably pleasing. In this she showed the dramatic quality of her voice to best advantage.

In two other groups of songs she was very entertaining and pleasing. It was indeed a treat to hear Miss Mathews in recital and Salisbury is fortunate indeed in possessing such a singer.

Grace Sefton Mayer appeared on the program in a versatile way playing violin solos as well as singing several songs. She has just left New York where she had been in the studio of both Oscar Saenger, noted voice teacher, and Bernard Linsheimer, violinist, and has been giving a series of recitals in many cities. Her work was excellent.

NEWCOMER IN BUSINESS

Mr. C. C. McIlvaine, formerly of the Cappelle Hardware Company of Wilmington, has accepted a position with the Dorman & Smyth Hardware Company of the city. Mr. McIlvaine is said to be thoroughly versed in the hardware business and his advent will relieve to some extent the busy staff of the local store.

PHILLIPS—HUGHES

Miss Ruth Rebecca Hughes of Vienna became the bride of Mr. Harlan G. Phillips, of Quantico, at the Asbury M. E. parsonage on Saturday, April 8th, Dr. Joseph T. Herson officiating.

BASEBALL SCHEDULE ON P. 7.

MRS. E. E. WEST HELD PARTNER WITH HUSBAND

Test Case in Worcester Court Determines Status of Wife of Man Who Bought Wicomico Melons in 1920.

According to a decision of the jury sitting in the case of James Driscoll versus John G. West and his wife, Edith E. West, which was tried in the Circuit Court for Worcester County on Tuesday and Wednesday fo last week, Mrs. West was held to be a partner with her husband in certain transactions in 1920 when they bought thousands of dollars worth of cantaloupes from the farmers of Wicomico County.

The Driscoll-West case was a test case and it will settle definitely some hundred cases pending against the Wests unless the latter carry their fight to the Court of Appeals. Between twelve and fifteen thousand dollars will be paid in the near future to Wicomico County farmers if the defendants make no further efforts to stave off payment.

A formidable array of counsel represented the Wicomico County farmers in the fight. They were Messrs. James E. Ellegood, Amos W. W. Woodcock, F. W. C. Webb, A. M. Jackson, L. Claude Bailey, William G. Kerbin, and William F. Johnson.

MOOSE TO STAGE REAL LADIES NIGHT SHORTLY

April 21 Set As Date For Grand Jollification At The Armory. Preparations Will Be Made for 400.

Ladies Night is the next big feature scheduled for the Loyal Order of Moose. The event will take place in the First Regiment Armory on the night of April 21 at which time about four hundred Mooses and their guests will be entertained with a combined dance, card party and vaudeville show.

The committee in charge has spared no pains whatever for making this one of the most enjoyable occasions ever held in Salisbury. The Moose Orchestra, augmented to no slight degree, will furnish music, and professional entertainers will be on hand for the amusement of the Moose and their guests.

Refreshments of a delicious kind will be served during the evening. The members of the local order are anticipating a huge crowd and a jolly time, and judging from past performances, there is little doubt they will be disappointed in either.

LOVING CUP IS PRESENTED TO DR. JOSEPH T. HERSON

One of the largest receptions of the season was given on Friday night by friends and members of Asbury M. E. Church in honor of Dr. and Mrs. J. T. Herson. The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion with spring blossoms and evergreens, and an orchestra rendered delightful music during the evening.

Honorable James E. Ellegood made an appropriate address of welcome to which Dr. Herson responded, showing deep emotion and expressing a desire to make this, his seventh year at Asbury, the most successful of all. Mrs. Harry L. Harvum then presented the minister with a beautiful loving cup, the gift of the Standard Bearers and the Young Men's Service Class.

Miss Elizabeth Rider, representing the Ladies Aid Society, then presented beautiful bouquets to Mrs. Herson and to Mrs. Vaughn S. Collins. The guests, after the presentations, returned to the lecture room where they were received by Dr. and Mrs. Herson and Dr. and Mrs. Collins. Mrs. Julia Bayard Clark and Miss Mildred Mathews rendered several solos and Miss Mary Hearn gave an interesting reading.

DEATH CLAIMS A PROMINENT SALISBURY BUSINESS MAN, JOSHUA ERNEST SHOCKLEY

Was Head Of J. E. Shockley And Company And Was Very Influential In Business Circles In This Section Of The Country. He Established An Enviable Business Here.

Joshua Ernest Shockley, age fifty-four, for many years one of the most prominent of the city's business men, died at his home on Park avenue on Friday afternoon after suffering from paralysis since February. His death was not entirely unexpected, though favorable reports of his condition have been made public from time to time since he was stricken.

Mr. Shockley was born in Worcester County in 1868, the son of Handy B. and Martha Carey Shockley. As a young man he came to this city and began work in the store of his uncle, the late S. H. Carey. He was later associated with Mr. C. J. Birckhead. Mr. Shockley, after being in business for some time here, formed the Kennerly-Shockley Company with Mr. B. Frank Kennerly, and then bought out his partner, changing the name to J. E. Shockley and Company.

Known to all with whom he had come into daily, intimate contact as a business man of the highest integrity, Mr. Shockley's death was cause for mourning among a huge number of friends and acquaintances. He was an alert, progressive business man and commanded a position of influence in business circles. His store is known and patronized by thousands in this section of the Eastern Shore.

Funeral services were held at the home on Sunday afternoon, April 9, the Rev. Mr. Robert A. Boyle of the Presbyterian Church, of which Mr. Shockley was a devoted member, officiating. Deceased was a member of the Loyal Order of Moose and of the Knights of Pythias. He is survived by his widow, who before her marriage was Miss Bessie Parsons, daughter of the late E. W. Parsons, and one son three years old.

He leaves a brother, Mr. Arlie Shockley who was associated with him in business; Mrs. James Hall, of Whiton, a sister; Mrs. Elijah Toadvine, of this city, a sister; Mrs. J. Robert Green, of Georgetown, Pa., a sister; Mrs. Albert Carmean of Philadelphia, a half-sister.

The business of the company is being carried on by the remaining members of the incorporation. Mr. G. W. Tilghman will have active charge of the establishment and with him will be Messrs. Arlie Shockley and A. C. Carey in charge of the several departments.

KENNERLY IS AGAIN WINNER AT THE POLLS

Primary Contest On Tuesday Shows Strength of "Barefoot Boy" Who Has Won His Way.

DECISIVELY DEFEATS BOTH HIS OPPONENTS

Victory Indicates That He Has The People With Him—Woman Vote Equally Divided, It Is Estimated—Jones Holds Second Place With 582 Votes—Politicians Active.

Lacking but a scant dozen votes of having a number equal to that polled by both the opposing mayoralty aspirants combined, W. Arthur Kennerly was again accorded first place on the Democratic ticket in the primary municipal election on Tuesday, April 11.

The contest came to a close after an unusually active campaign in which influential leaders of all factions worked with greater or less enthusiasm. Charges of Kennerly's trying to line up the colored vote of the city were made in a circular which was spread broadcast throughout the community and which, according to the opinion of many citizens, did him more good than harm.

To this circular Mr. Kennerly replied in kind with the statement that he is the people's candidate and that he will serve them faithfully. He also pointed out that he has been living in Salisbury since he was a "barefoot boy" and therefore was well acquainted with the needs of the city. He stands pledged to carry out certain reforms and make a number of improvements, and gave as an additional reason why he should be re-elected, this program.

The tally showed that of the 1514 votes cast for mayor, Kennerly received 754, Jones 582, and Dickerson 178. This is the largest vote cast in a municipal election for years, being almost three times the usual number.

As for the council, the following aspirants were elected: Messrs John W. Serman who received 843 votes, leading the ticket; Ernest B. Hitch who got 755, and Ernest L. White who was given 720. The votes for the other councilmanic candidates ran 671 for Captain Gordon C. Banks, 602 for Mr. Ernest T. Lucas, and 338 for Mr. James White.

This puts the same members of the Council back in office. The holdovers are Messrs W. F. Bounds and John Melson. As Mayor Kennerly has been working with this group of officials for the past two years and has accomplished a great deal during that time, he should now be able to make greater strides than ever in carrying out his program.

Interest in the election has been unusually stimulated for a number of reasons. In the first place, the chief contest was between the present incumbent of the mayoralty and a man who had successfully served two years some time ago. When Mr. Jones came back, supporters of both gentlemen began to take an active part in the campaign.

A third candidate further stirred up the usual placid stream of events and then when the circulars mentioned above began to make their appearance on the street, all parties were kept busy, some explaining that they had nothing to do with their preparation, others urging that the facts cited in the circulars were true, and still others trying to smooth the troubled waters.

Prohobition also came in for its influence. The woman vote, it is thought, was more or less determined by the manner in which the candidates made public their attitude on the question of enforcing the Volstead Act. But perhaps the greatest stimulating factor of all was the action of the Wicomico Woman's Club in inviting all the candidates to attend an open meeting and there discuss certain matters vital to the welfare of the city, such as prohibition enforcement and health regulations.

Farmers & Planters Place Stock On Sale

Open Subscription Books For Limited Amount Of Common And Preferred Stock—Expansion Probable.

The management of the Farmers & Planters Company of this city has opened its stock books and will sell a limited amount of preferred and common stock. The entire issue is being placed by Mr. C. B. Headley, fiscal agent, with headquarters in the Adkins Building.

A prospectus prepared for the stock sale shows that the company has had a remarkable growth during the past few years and that it is today in an enviable position. Business has been good and the Farmers and Planters officials state greater is necessary if the Company is to take care of all the business it can handle.

CATCH SWINDLER.

Dispatches from Washington indicate that the swindler who passed a number of counterfeit postoffice money orders here about two weeks ago was arrested the other day in Tennessee. An effort to identify him as the same man who bunkoed the local merchants will be made.

ATTRACTIVE EVENTS ARE STAGED FOR RED CROSS

Work Last Month Netted $153—Benefit Pictures Seems To Be Growing In Popularity.

One hundred and thirty dollars was added to the Red Cross treasury for local work during the month of March, and more seems to be coming in all the time. The ladies committees are working hard and are nearing the goal they have set for themselves.

A rummage sale in the old Thoroughgood store, loaned by Benjamin's for the occasion, netted $53.00. The sale was in charge of Mrs. F. W. C. Webb and Mrs. Todd. On April 3 a benefit picture at the Arcade Theatre, "The Idle Rich," drew large crowds and netted $58.00. Mrs. Taynton has realized $12.00 on the sale of home-made candies.

Future events include a musical at the home of Mrs. Fred P. Adkins on Thursday, April 27. On Monday April 16, Mrs. H. O. Wailes, Miss Victoria Wailes, Mrs. Will Slemons, and Mrs. H. Winter Owens will hold an Easter egg hunt at the Wailes home, and on Saturday at the Y. M. C. A. there will be a benefit picture, "The Courtship of Miles Standish." Mrs. Fred Smith will give a card party at her home on April 20. Mrs. S. A. Graham and Mrs. Springer will sell candy at the "Y" on Saturday.

SHARPTOWN SHOOTING ENDS SERIOUSLY FOR ONE

Wilmer Collins, Age 68, Wounded By Thos. H. Richardson, Age 70, When He Tries To Enter House.

Wilmer Collins, shot and seriously wounded by Thomas H. Richardson Monday afternoon, is in the Peninsula General Hospital where he is expected to recover. Richardson is in jail in Georgetown, Delaware, awaiting the result of his assault.

The fight came about when Collins attempted to enter the home of Richardson's sister, where he had been boarding, to obtain his clothes. Richardson forbade his coming in and warned that he would shoot, but Collins persisted. When the householder got his gun, Collins turned to leave.

As he turned, it is said, Richardson shot him and he fell on the porch. Medical aid was summoned and the wounded man was later taken to the hospital. Collins is 68 years old and Richardson is seventy. The latter lived just across the Delaware line.

CAMDEN HOUSE IS SCENE OF PRETTY WEDDING

Miss Marguerite Disharoon, daughter of Mrs. Samuel E. Disharoon, became the bride of Mr. Barney L. Hayman at six o'clock Tuesday morning, April 11. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's mother on Maryland avenue, Rev. Mr. Richard L. Shipley officiating.

The bride was attended by Miss Annie V. Johnson as maid of honor and the groom by Mr. Avery Hall as best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Jane Truitt. The bride's costume was a dark blue traveling suit with hat and gloves to match, and she wore a corsage bouquet of bride's roses and sweet peas. The maid of honor wore dark blue canton crepe with dark blue hat to match.

Only close friends and members of the two families were present. The house was beautifully decorated with evergreens and cut flowers. Immediately after the ceremony, the happy couple left for a honeymoon trip to Baltimore, Washington, and other cities in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Hunt of Cape Charles, Va., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Tom M. Hunt, New York avenue.

SERIES OF LECTURES UNDER AUSPICES OF ROTARY CLUB WIN GREAT APPROVAL

Dr. Charles G. Barker Addreses Three Audiences Here On Tuesday, High School Students, Mass Meeting For Women, And Mass Meeting For Men. Speaks Plainly.

Dr. Charles G. Barker, noted lecturer, on Tuesday delivered three strong addresses before attentive audiences in Salisbury under the auspices of the Salisbury Rotary Club. The first talk was made at the High School at two thirty. William E. Allen, president of the Club, introduced the speaker. With him on the rostrum were Rotarians Charles R. Disharoon, Louis W. Gunby, Oscar L. Morris, Wilbur S. Nock and James M. Bennett.

Dr. Barker's address to the students was on the business of making a success of life and he stressed the fact that one must have three things; a strong arm, a clear head, and a brave heart. Speaking of a clear head, the lecturer emphasized the value of concentrating on the task in hand and pointed that boys and girls during study periods are too prone to let their thoughts wander far afield.

At four o'clock, Dr. Barker spoke to a group of women, about forty in number, at the Y. M. C. A. on the responsibility a mother bears her daughter. He indicated the necessity for development and urged that children be made to take a certain amount of exercise. In regard to obedience, he stated that children should be taught to obey without question and that if they did not they should be punished. He also devoted some little time to the methods of punishment.

Perhaps the most important thing the speaker took up was the imperative need of teaching children what they should know about life as they grow old enough to absorb the knowledge. Much of the world's trouble comes from a violation of this cardinal principle of conduct.

At eight in the evening, Dr. Barker spoke to a mass meeting of men at the "Y" on the subject of fathers and sons. In plain words and without attempting to mince matters in the least, he showed just what a father should do for his son, how to teach him, how to guide him, how to protect him.

The lecturer created a decidedly favorable impression by the strength of his talks, by their fearlessness, and by his engaging personality. The thanks of the public are due the Rotary Club for bringing such a disciple of truth to speak to the citizens of Salisbury.

GAS RATES COME IN FOR DRASTIC CUT. MAY MEAN NET SAVING OF 20c PER 1,000

Citizens Gas Company Lowers Price Of Gas From $2.50 Gross Per Thousand Cubic Feet To $2.30 Net. Policy Shows Public-spiritedness Of Owners And Management.

Drastically breaking away from the established order of things, the management and directors of the Citizens Gas Company, composed entirely of Salisbury business men, at a special meeting of the board on Tuesday afternoon decided to reduce the gas rate here and in Delmar from $2.50 gross per thousand cubic feet to $2.30 net per thousand feet. This means a net saving to the user of gas of 20 cents on the thousand.

The decision to reduce the rate was reached because the owners of the company fully realize that something must be done to lower the costs of living here, and they are willing to lead the way in reducing these costs. The reduction comes as a purely voluntary action on the part of the Company, for no action has been brought to bear on them in this matter.

Reduction has been made possible because of production and managerial efficiency, although coal and freight rates are still very high. Since the new Gas Company was formed, more than $10,000 has been spent on equipment and today there is not a more up-to-date gas plant in the country than the one in Salisbury.

Eighteen hundred users of gas will be affected by the cut in rates, which will be effective both in Salisbury and Delmar on and after June first. The request for permission to enforce the new rate has been made to the Public Service Commission and there is no doubt it will be granted.

In speaking of the cut, one of the officials of the company stated that they have always made a strong effort to supply good gas at the cheapest possible rate. Just as soon as they were able to do so, they have cut the price per thousand feet, which was fixed at $2.50 upon the request of the old company which was bought out in July 1920.

The company is owned and operated, said this official, entirely by local business men. The directors are Messrs. W. J. Downing, president; E. D. Mitchell, vice-presiden; John W. Downing, treasurer; W. J. Downing, Jr., secretary; and D. J. Whealton, C. R. Disharoon, Carl S. Goslee, and George F. Sharpley, directors.

Such a drastic cut in price as that noted has for its aim three objects; first and foremost, to help the present consumers of gas meet the problems of high living costs. Second, to induce new business. And third, to lead the way toward getting back to a more equitable economic basis in this community.

The public will heartily welcome the reduction and will assuredly endorse the policy of the only home public service corporation in Salisbury.

Local Dealer Corrects Wrong Impressions

J. Waller Williams, Owner Of Williams Garage, Discourses On The Value Of Several Tires.

Many people have an idea, according to Mr. J. Waller Williams, that the famous Kelly-Springfield tires cost so much more than other tires that they never even consider asking the price of them. This is, perhaps, due to the national advertising carried on by the tire company in some of the higher class magazines.

This idea, says Mr. Williams, the local Kelly dealer, is all wrong. The Kelly now costs no more than other tires of equivalent grade. Not only this, but Kellys are made in all styles and sizes, from the little Ford to the huge truck. Mr. Williams is beginning an intensive advertising campaign this week to convince the motor-traveling public that they can, if they wish, ride on Kellys for the same price.

American Mechanics Here Last of April

Junior Order To Hold 52nd Annual Session In Odd Fellows Temple On April 18-19.

Members of the Junior Order United American Mechanics are preparing for a grand rally here on Tuesday and Wednesday, April 18 and 19, at which time, in the Odd Fellows Temple on East Main street, they will hold their 52nd Annual Session of the State Council of Maryland.

On April 18th, class initiations will be held at the Temple when the degree team from Baltimore will put through a large number of novices. Several speakers of great prominence will be present and will make addresses.

GRANGE TO INITIATE.

Members of the Salisbury Grange will have an opportunity to watch the degree team in action on Saturday night, April 15th, when the fourth degree will be put on for the benefit of a few candidates. After the meeting, refreshments will be served.

WETIPQUIN WOMAN DIES SUDDENLY

Mrs. Ella Tyler Hambury, Widow Of George H. Hambury, Passes Away Suddenly At Home.

Mrs. Ella Tyler Hambury, widow of the late Geo. H. Hambury, died at her home in Wetipquin early Friday morning of bronchial pneumonia. Her death came as a shock to her many friends, as she had only been ill for a few days, and death was unexpected. She was the mother of Pvt. James Carroll Hambury, who lost his life while in the service of his country in France, a little more than three years ago. Deceased will be sadly missed in her home to which she devoted her entire life, although her health had always been very delicate.

Funeral services were held at the M. E. Church, Sunday afternoon, conducted by Rev. Julius A. Brewington, a former pastor. Interment in church cemetery.

Deceased is survived by three children, Geo. Gorman, Henry Lester, and Miss Lella Ruth Hambury of Wetipquin, three brothers and three sisters, as follows: Geo. E. Tyler, Solomon W. Tyler and D. T. Tyler; sisters: Mrs. Noah T. Sterling, Mrs. Hance L. Sterling and Mrs. Andrew Sterling all of Crisfield, Md. The floral tributes were many and beautiful.

Annapolis Invites National Guardsmen

Admiral Henry B. Wilson Invites Officers of Md. Nat. Guard to Witness Review of Midshipmen.

Admiral Henry B. Wilson, U. S. N., Superintendent of the Naval Academy at Annapolis has extended through the office of the Adjutant General of the State of Maryland an invitation to the officer personnel of the Maryland National Guard to review the Regiment of Midshipmen at the Academy, have luncheon, and then attend the Navy-Swarthmore baseball game.

May 13 is set as the date for the affair at Annapolis and all officers of the Guard will probably be present. The honor thus conferred by Admiral Wilson is no small one and it will serve to strengthen the bonds between the Guard and the officers of the Navy. All officers stationed on the Eastern Shore are expected to attend.

Benefit Picture To Be Shown For Red Cross

For the benefit of local work of the American Red Cross Association, there will be shown at the Y. M. C. A. on Saturday evening, April 15, at seven o'clock and again at eight-thirty, a six reel educational and literary photoplay entitled "The Courtship of Miles Standish."

Taken from Longfellow's famous poem and following that source as closely as possible, the play is an accurate story of the early settlement of this country. Margaret Shaw is the demure little star who takes the role of Priscilla. It is expected that the school children especially will attend the presentation.

INSTALLS RADIO OUTFITS

Mr. Thomas Cale of the Electric Development Company, Richardson Building, has installed a large radiophone in the lounge room of the Salisbury Fire Department and daily concerts are now an actuality. He has also placed outfits elsewhere, one of the most recent installations being in the home of Mr. Graham Gunby.

HARDING INVITED TO ADDRESS EDITORS

President Harding is shaping plans for his Alaska trip next summer so that he can attend the 37th annual convention of the National Editorial Association to be held at Missoula, Montana, early in July. The president is a paid-up members of the National Editorial Association and proud of his affiliation with this organization of newspaper owners. Such an address would be of national interest.

Preparations are made for two special de luxe trains to transport the editors during their entire tour of twenty-one days, starting and ending at Chicago.

Besides visiting Yellowstone and Glacier National Parks, the newspaper party will travel over the vast stretch of Montana, stopping in twenty or more towns and passing through the mining and agricultural districts of the state. Part of the journey will be by water, up Flathead Lake, which is one of the many scenic spots that lie outside Yellowstone and Glacier National Parks.

Missoula is making extensive arrangements to entertain the visitors during the three days they will be there for the convention. All the other towns on the itinerary are vying with one another in plans to show their hospitality.

Special entertainment will be provided in Yellowstone Park where the semi-centennial celebration of this national playground will be in full swing. And, later on the trip, when the editors arrive in Glacier Park they will be greeted in a picturesque manner by the original inhabitants of the Rocky Mountain country, the Blackfeet Indians, who still stick to their tribal custom of registering their arriving guests with the mammoth quill of the Golden Eagle.

Nash Leads the World in Motor Car Value

NASH

IT IS interesting to observe to what lengths Nash goes in painstaking shop practice, because it bears directly upon the quality that has earned Nash cars their nation-wide esteem.

To make certain that Nash cylinders are absolutely true, a stream of cold water is circulated through the water jackets as the barrels are machined. This prevents heat being generated by the operation of machining, and it is heat that expands the cylinder and causes the variations in size which distinguish inferior cylinders from Nash cylinders.

Preparing Meals is A Pleasure With No Fuel To Carry and No Fire To Build.

Quite a contrast to what it was, not so many years ago when breakfast was cooked on a big cook stove. In those days there was first to buy the fuel and get it placed in your yard, then the fuel to lug in from the out side, and the task of building a fire, then wait for the stove to warm up—all of which meant arising with the sun to get a breakfast on the table on time.

SHARPTOWN

The members and friends of the Methodist Episcopal church gave Rev. and Mrs. Henry S. Dulaney a reception on Thursday evening. A musical and literary program was rendered. William H. Knowles presided, Wildy D. Gravenor made the address of welcome, music was furnished by the choir. Dr. H. S. Bennett, representing the Sunday School made an address, invocation by N. W. Owens. Responses were made by Rev. Dulaney and Mrs. Dulaney. The attendance was quite large.

Sunday was observed as Palm Sunday in the Methodist Episcopal church. On Sunday morning a Palm Sunday sermon was preached by the pastor standing just in the rear of a veritable bed of flowers. Large palm leaves were in evidence and at the session of Sunday School it was agreed that all present should have a piece to take home to remind them of the occasion. Cards were distributed to the congregation requesting that the recipient of the card should sign it obligating himself to give one tenth of his earnings for a period of one week for benevolent purposes.

Profs. Gorman Mann, teacher at Eldorado high school and J. E. Ford principal of the Sharptown high school attended the group meeting of high school teachers of the nearby counties held at Princess Anne on Monday.

Joseph P. Cooper, S. J. Lowe and O. N. Bennett, the latter as delegate made a second visit to the session of the Maryland Conference on Monday. Rev. H. L. Schlinke of Cumberland, who was the guest of J. P. Cooper from Friday and who preached in Methodist Protestant church on Sunday morning and evening and at Mt. Hermon church on Sunday afternoon returned to Conference on Monday. He was a former pastor here.

Arrangements are being perfected by which special music will be given by the church choirs on Sunday next, Easter. A great many visitors and members of families absent will be here on next Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Flora Collison who has been spending the winter with her daughter, Mrs. James Hastings, Newark, Del. returned home on Sunday for the summer. She was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Hastings and little daughter. Mr. Hastings returned to Newark on Tuesday and Mrs. Hastings will remain until after the Easter holidays.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Clash of Philadelphia and little son are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. T. White. Mr. Clash returned on Tuesday but Mrs. Clash will remain until after the Easter holidays.

The ladies of the Methodist Protestant church presented Mrs. Rev. George R. Donnaldson with a fine new quilt called the "Friendship" quilt.

A. R. Conley of Oxford was in town on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Kuhlman spent Tuesday last week in Baltimore city.

Edward Lowe made the largest catch of fish on Monday morning here for many years. He caught two boat loads on a boat having all it could float with.

Edward H. Cooper, representing Salisbury Lodge No. 101 Knights of Pythias of this town, and Holland Dennis representing Riverton Lodge Knights of Pythias left here on Monday for Frostburg, to attend the meeting of the grand lodge of Maryland which is in session this week.

Misses Reba and Jesse Phillips of Camden, N. J., formerly of this town were here on Sunday as the guests of their uncle, Capt. John W. Hartt. They came to Laurel on the excursion boat and left here for home late Sunday afternoon.

The anniversary exercises of the American Men will be held in the Pythian Hall on Thursday evening. Members of the Salisbury, Athol, Gravenor, Brookview, Vienna and Sharptown, also Columbia councils have been invited. The following program will be rendered after which refreshments will be served.

Welcome by Gravenor, national treasurer of the order will preside. The address of welcome will be made by L. T. [illegible] response by G. L. Murphy of Princess Anne.

PAR-VEE
Expresses the New Thought In Sports Wear

There are some sport clothes that admirably serve a sport purpose—and look out of place for business wear.

Yet men are beginning to wear sport clothes at business—and want a model that serves one use as well as the other.

Our tailors at Fashion Park developed the PAR-VEE to serve the particular needs of such men—and Par-Vee does.

You've never seen Par-Vee before—it's entirely new—and yet you're comfortable in it the minute you put it on.

It's taking hold rapidly—better dressed men are wearing it—you'll be better dressed if you wear it.

Par-Vee is a copyrighted back development which Fashion Park has applied to the Norfolk Type Jacket.

Par-Vee as well as all other features of Fashion Park Clothes can only be secured in this locality from this Store.

BLAZING THE WAY.

Blazing the way to lower living costs, both the public utility companies operating in Salisbury on Wednesday announced decided reductions in the cost of two commodities that affect nearly every resident of this city as well as residents all over this section of the Eastern Shore.

The Eastern Shore Gas & Electric Company will put into effect on May first a reduction of ten per cent on all lighting charges. This lowering of prices will mean a saving in dollars and cents to some seven thousand users of electricity on the Eastern Shore, and will, it is estimated, mean an aggregate saving of nearly $25,000 a year to the consumers treated as a whole.

The Citizens Gas Company simultaneously announce a reduction of their rate on gas from $2.50 gross per thousand cubic feet to $2.30 net per thousand cubic feet. A saving of twenty cents per thousand cubic feet on gas will undoubtedly have two effects; first, it will stimulate the use of gas by present consumers, and second, it will induce people who are not now users to take advantage of gas service.

In each case, the reduction has been brought about by means of increased efficiency as applied to management and to methods. Both companies have the best of equipment and are, therefore, in position to produce a greater volume at less cost than they possibly could with antiquated equipment. No pressure has been brought to bear on either utility to make it lower prices; the reduction has been purely voluntary.

The action of the Citizens Gas Company is peculiarly significant inasmuch as the company is owned, controlled, and managed solely by Salisbury business men. These gentlemen have realized that something must be done to bring down living costs in this city, and that some one must lead the way. This they have done. It remains now for others in other lines to follow.

Cost of coal is a vital factor in determining the price of both gas and electricity, but while the cost of coal is still high, a cut in price to the consumer of gas and current has been made. The officials of both companies assert that in arriving at their new rates, they have taken into consideration cheaper coal, which they hope to obtain when the coal strike has been adjusted. In this way, they are assuming a loss until cheaper coal does become an actuality.

Cheaper coal cannot, it seems, become an actuality until freight rates have been materially lessened. At present, the excessive transportation charges make the cost of coal in Salisbury just about three times what it costs at the mine. It is probable that the public does not realize this, yet such is the case.

Taking into consideration all these things, the reduction will be doubly appreciated. It seems strange that after all we have heard of large corporations holding up prices, we should have two such striking examples of the very opposite policy right here in Salsibury.

The public will fully approve the policy of each of the utilities companies, and we believe that that policy will gain for them many strong friends and much good will.

GHOULS AT WORK IN SALISBURY.

Reports from the care-taker of Parsons Cemetery indicate that some one has been cutting flowers planted on the graves. That the flowers were not taken by an occasional casual wanderer in the sacred enclosure is proved by the fact that in one case at least two dozen blossoms were cut off with long stems, showing that they were taken for commercial purposes.

Isolated cases of this sort have come to the attention of the caretaker from time to time, but of late they have grown so serious that those who own lots in the cemetery are deeply concerned over the matter. In one instance a reward of twenty-five dollars has been offered for information leading to the arrest of the despoilers, and the one who made this offer will prosecute to the fullest extent of the law any person found guilty of such desecration.

It would seem unnecessary to resort to law for a matter of this kind. It hardly seems possible that anyone, particularly in a comparatively small community, would stoop so low as to rob the graves of the dead. But those graves have been robbed, not once, but many times, and every citizen of Salisbury should lend his efforts to put a stop to it.

The co-operation of those who live near the cemetery, or pass it daily in their comings and goings, can do more to break up such a sacrilegious practice than all the blue-coats in Christendom. Those who have suffered from this practice ask that co-operation from their fellow-townsmen. We cannot believe it will be refused.

THE ROMANCE OF AGRICULTURE.

Eugene Grace, President of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, one of the later millionaires created by Schwab just as Carnegie put Schwab into the millionaire class, reports that the steel industry is sound, with business improving and with indications pointing to a steady growth. What a change in a decade. Before the visoin of the elder Morgan molded for the business world the picture of a co-ordinated trade, the three or four hundred steel plants were in a chaotic state. The bold stroke of the iron hand of finance started the industry along the lane of amazing accomplishment. The people were staggered at the results. They had not even thought of industry in terms of the billion. The timid shook their heads. It was admitted that behind the great issue of common stock there was not an asset worthy of the name. The plants had to be replaced every year or two, and the industry seemed to rest on a shifting sand. But time, and energy, backed by the sterling character and ability of men like Schwab, soon turned nebulous assets into a basis for sound credits, and today the steel industry is regarded almost as the unfailing barometer of the world's trade.

The romance of steel excites the imagination more than do the tales of Hans Anderson, but it will be nothing as compared with the romance of agriculture when some great organizing genius shows his head to lead the farmers to their promised land. Agricultural organization is more complex, of course, because where there were only a few hundred steel plants there are six and one-half million farms, but the financial returns will be correspondingly great and far more lasting when organization is perfected. The business problems are almost identical, the co-ordination of production of selling and of distribution. The Farm Bureau and the agricultural bloc are the two first signs of the times. Upon that foundation is bound to be built the emancipation of the farmer from a life of drudgery and a world-wide industry that will benefit all mankind.

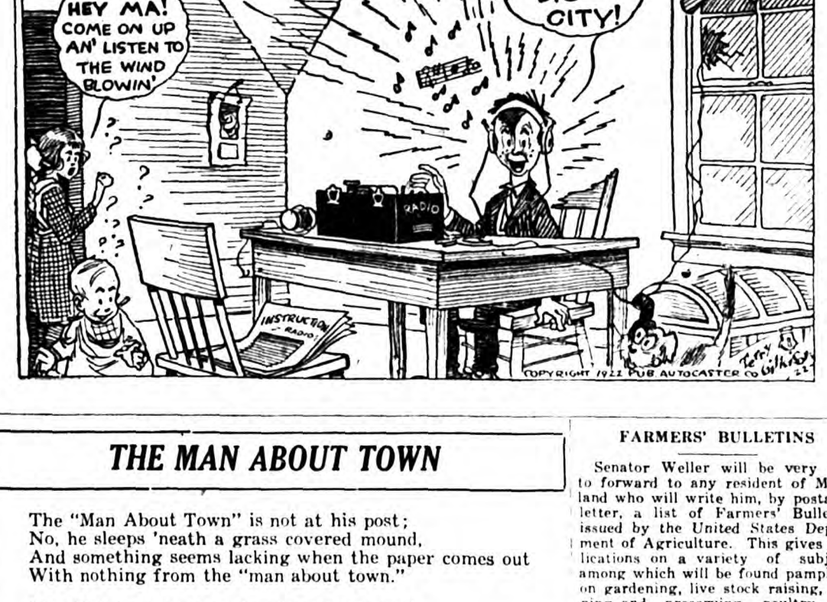
As somebody has already said: "The meanest thing the Government does is to frank our income tax blanks to us and make us pay postage when we return 'em."

In Touch With The Outside World



THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

The "Man About Town" is not at his post;
No, he sleeps 'neath a grass covered mound,
And something seems lacking when the paper comes out
With nothing from the "man about town."

Unselfish he served, and unfearing he went,
When death her dark curtain rang down,
To exchange for the pen that had labored for truth,
The reward of his service, a crown.

We are reading the news in the home paper still,
As we've read it thru all the long years,
But we miss the old column as we scan the new page
Thru eyes that are misty with tears.

All the news of the day can be found.
It is way up in "G" as a weekly, 'tis said,
And it's Editorial policy sound.

But the hand of the Master who fashioned it true
Lies pulseless and cold in the ground,
And tho 'neath the daisies he's sleeping today

PRINCESS ANNE

Mr. Clifford Kirwan, manager of the Wenona Packing Company, gave a delightful reception at his pretty home on Parsonage avenue, Deal's Island, Saturday evening, March 25th, in honor of the 16th anniversary of his daughter, Miss Gertrude Kirwan.

Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald Coe, daughter of the late Edward P. Fitzgerald and Mrs. Fitzgerald, of Princess Anne, was married Saturday last to Mr. Edward Gamble Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Young, of Hartley, N. J. The ceremony was performed in Princess Anne by the Rev. Fred. W. Clayton.

After a short automobile trip Mr. and Mrs. Young will be at home at "Almodington on the Manokin," which Mr. Young has recently purchased.

Messrs. W. A. Lankford and son, have installed a Grebe three-stage radio telephone and telegraph outfit in the music sale room at their store, which is attracting much local interest. Each evening last week they received programs which had been rendered in Detroit, Mich.; Pittsburgh, Pa., and Newark, N. J. The programs included entertainments by grouped artists of the musical and theatrical world and sermons by noted ministers of the gospel. They will equip the radiophone with an amplifier and then it can be heard through out the room.

Mrs. Hannah Rider Lacy, a native of this town, died at her home in Washington, D. C., about noon on Sunday last after an illness of ten days. Mrs. Lacy was a daughter of Chas. H. Rider of Quantico, Wicomico county, and a niece of the late Judge H. L. D. Standford and of Mrs. Joshua W. Miles.

Miss Lenora Brown and Miss Mary Baker motored to Chestertown last Tuesday.

Mrs. Clara L. Woolford returned home last week after spending part of the winter in Washington, D. C., with her daughter, Miss Lena R. Woolford.

Miss Katherine Richardson of Snow Hill, is visiting her brother, Mr. G. Samuel Richardson, Beechwood street.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Shields, who have been guests at "linden Hill" returned to Philadelphia, Monday morning.

The Shoreland Club was entertained by Miss Rachael D. Stewart, at "Linden Hill" last Thursday afternoon.

The following ladies were guests of the club: Mrs. Edward Shields and Miss Henrietta Fitzgerald of Philadelphia; Mrs. Marshall, of Washington, D. C. and Mrs. E. P. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Samuel H. Sadler, Mrs. E. Herrman Cohn, Mrs. Chas. Fitzgerald and Miss Irene Taylor of this town.

"Yeh, curling iron or toaster, I presume."

This is the shop that keeps its promises. We get our repair work out on time and don't ask you to pay for time that never should have been used on a job. This is a fair service auto shop where you'll get the right kind of treatment.

Tired of Being Tired?

If weariness overtakes you every day, it may be caused by shoes that bind the feet, that check the circulation, or that cause strain and nervous derangement by encouraging poor carriage. Foot ills and, indirectly, many serious ailments may result from wearing shoes that bind the muscles, press on the nerves and weaken the arch.

Increased Comfort

To correct foot troubles, and to increase your comfort and vitality, change to the Cantilever Shoe. It is a trim, good-looking shoe, patterned on the graceful lines of the foot, made of the finest leathers.

Instead of a stiff sole, the Cantilever Shoe has a shank flexible like the foot arch itself. The shoe bends with every step. The muscles grow healthy from exercise. The result is a normal foot, which does not tire from long standing or walking.

An Easy Posture

The Cantilever last conforms to the foot. The toes are not twisted, but point straight ahead. The foot lies in its natural position, as it would in a moccasin. This, with the correct set of the smart, moderate heel, encourages an easy, untiring posture.

Try a pair this week.

Just a Few Remaining Days

To Purchase Your Tweed Suit, If You Are to Have It For Easter

Although our stocks were depleted by the overwhelming business of the past week on tweed suits, they have been replenished in ample time to not disappoint you for Easter. We do say however, that you should not delay any longer than possible to insure that you will have your tweed suit, especially if there are to be alterations to be made.

Come In and Let Us Show You the Tweeds

Colors? Yes, a plenty, Blues, Greys, Orchids, Rose, Tan, in Home-spuns and Tweeds as wel as the Grey and Brown Mixtures. Belted jackets or boxed coats, they are here for your selection.

Easter Will Be Ablaze With Color especially if one takes the hats for a criterion. Color, color everywhere in the hat salon and especially colorful are the new arrivals, even a futurist painter will have to sit up and take notice on Easter Day. Mallard, orange, cornflower, coral, sphinx, paprika, and begonia are but a few of the many new colors favored in the Easter Fashions at this store. Hats at

$3.50 to $15

Verily, Verily; The Shoe Styles are Many

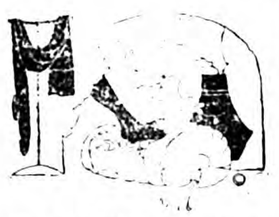
One Strap, Two Strap, Three Strap, No Strap Pumps; with medium, low or high heel, of which the medium heel is the favorite.

Oxfords in kid, calf, patent leather which also have the various heel treatments.

Sports Oxfords in white, with contrasting bands of black; smoke tan banded with brown; only in very flat heels.

If your shoes are so smart that you know every woman is envying, and every man admiring them—if they are so comfortable that you can walk for hours in them, and dance all evening with perfect comfort—then you know that your shoes are right.

Dorothy Dodd Shoes are sold at this store, and if you know that your shoes are right, they must be Dorothys. If you are not wearing Dorothy Dodd Shoes we want you to come in and try on several pairs, they combine all the essentials of the Shoe Perfect for women.



EASTER----and the Last Minute Hose

You can depend upon our stocks of hose to provide for the last minute rush before Easter.

Clocked, lace worked or striped for evening and afternoon; plain weaves in beige, grey and other delicate or dark tones for the street; stunning new sports designs to wear with smart Oxfords for sport and general wear, "roulette" the new Kayser ready-rolled stocking all have their place in our stock of good hose.

Our stock of women's silk hose is the most complete of any in town we are told by discriminating shoppers — will you not investigate this statement?

For Sports Wear or Business

The Heavy Wool or Silk Crepe Skirt

We say heavy, which it is for silk but just the right weight to set well, some are fringed at the bottom, others with just the plain hem. One example is of the new wool crepe in cream, box pleated and pocketed, specially priced at $11.00

others at

$6.50 to $13.50

Just Gloves

And a Very Important Item.

You have planned your Easter costume, your hat, your shoes; have you thought about your gloves?

The proper glove is a matter of careful study, we may be of service to you in the proper selection.

All of the dress shades are matched in silk gloves of the proper length whether they be short or elbow length. The sports suits are enhanced by the cuff glove with strap wrist. The dressier suits of tricotine and poiret necessarily mean dressier gloves.

All are shown in the glove section on the first floor.

SALISBURY MARYLAND

Why the $10.90 USCO is better than just a $10.90 tire

IN November 10, 1921, the 30 x 3½ "Usco" was marked to sell for $10.90.

This odd and closely figured price was the lowest quotation ever made on any tire of known standards.

* * *

Unfamiliar to look at—with perhaps an atmosphere of having been made to meet the price.

But the "Usco" still occupies a place by itself. A good old standby on millions of cars for years. Better than it ever was.

Still putting the emphasis on honest quality, even if it does sell for only ten dollars and ninety cents.

The tire that people still buy for the dignity of its quality regardless of the low amount they pay.

"The Standard by which all other Makes are measured"

Concrete retaining walls for public highways or private homes are a permanent improvement when properly built. Your contractor is familiar with reinforced concrete construction and would gladly estimate just what this would cost.

Atlas Portland Cement for more than a quarter century has given satisfaction on all types of construction. Both your contractor and your dealer are familiar with it as "the Standard by which all other makes are measured."

A Happy Household.

Little Louise was lost on the street and was brought into the police station. The officers tried in every way to learn her name. Finally one of the officers said, "What name does your mother call your father?" "Why," said Louise, very inocently, "she don't call him any name: she likes him."—Harper's Magazine.

ODD FELLOWS MEET IN BALTIMORE SOON

Ninety-Fourth Annual Session Of Grand Lodge of Maryland Will Convene On April 17th.

The 94th annual session of the Grand Lodge of Maryland, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, which marks the 103rd anniversary of the institution of Odd Fellowship in America, will convene at the Temple, Baltimore, on Monday and Tuesday, April 17 and 18.

Representatives from every lodge in the State will be in attendance, and because of the business to be transacted, it is expected to be one of the most important meetings ever held by the Order.

Grand Master Saul Praeger of Cumberland, will preside, and there will be two sessions on Monday and three on Tuesday, at 9.30 A. M., 2 and 8 PP .M. The Grand Lodge Degree will be conferred upon all past Grands of the lodges, who present proper certificates, in which all the Grand Officers will participate.

The Building Commission of the Odd Fellows Home for Orphans and Aged to be erected at Frederick will meet on Monday morning, prior to the opening of the convention and will consider plans and other data to be placed before the delegates for approval. It is estimated the cost of the Home will be nearly $200,000, of which over one-half has been raised, and as soon as the other contributions are received building operations will begin in the near future. Four new Temples have been added, at Salisbury, Capitol Heights, Hyattsville and Hampden.

During the year, according to Grand Secretary Wm. A. Jones, the Order in Maryland has increased over 3000 members, including the Rebekahs; four new Temples costing a total of $150,000 have been built, or are in course of construction, while over $70,000 has been spent in relief and benefits. The total membership in Maryland is now 26,000 Odd Fellows and 7000 Rebekahs, while in the Order at large there are over 3,000,000 members.

The election of officers will be held Tuesday, and Rev. L. B. Hafer of Taneytown, will become Grand Master. Other officers are: Judge Frank I. Duncan, grand warden and J. Frank Plummer, grand treasurer.

MALONE FAMILY REUNION.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Malone entertained at dinner on Sunday in honor of their children and friends. Those present were: Mrs. Rebecca Hammond, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Jones and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hammond and son, Mr. and Mrs. Nut Hammond and family, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Smith, Mrs. Mamie Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pruitt and son, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Beauchamp, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Pusey, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Chatham and family, Mrs. Cora Malone and daughter Marian, and Mr. Robert Hammond.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE CITY COUNCIL

The City Fathers on Monday night granted the following permits to build:

Mrs. E. M. Elliott to erect a garage on the north side of Isabella street, adjoining the property of T. J. Truitt.

Alice F. Smith to erect a dwelling on east side of 3rd street, adjoining the property of Emma Brewington, was rejected.

Wm. Shockley to erect building on the south side of old Water street adjoining the property of Salisbury Realty Co., with the understanding that the building be removed within 30 days at the request of the Council.

Geo. T. Gordy to build an addition to a dwelling on the south side of Isabella street adjoining the property of John M. Toulson.

E. E. Twilley to erect a garage on the west side of Locust street adjoining the property of Oscar Grier.

S. Franklyn Woodcock to erect an office building on the west side of Division street adjoining the property of the Salisbury Loan association.

Ira F. Hitchens to build an addition to a dwelling on the north side of Church street adjoining the property of Birdell Cordrey.

Robert S. Windsor to erect a milk house and repair barn on the east side of Brown street adjoining the property of Jesse D. Price.

BRADSTREETS REPORT FOR BALTIMORE DISTRICT

A general but gradual improvement seems to be under way while a very noticeable lack of stability features all lines. Trade is spotty and uncertain. Buyers are most cautious and show no disposition to anticipate future wants to any extent. The spring season has been late and so far disappointing. In clothing, dry goods, notions and shoes business has been especially slow.

Millinery sales are considerably below normal and jewelry has taken a decided slump. Jobbing and retail trade were anything but satisfactory during March, while Easter buying up to date has attracted but little attention. On the other hand, the past month witnessed material improvement in manufacuring which continues better than fair. Lumber and building materials are in better demand, and lumber is higher. March showed a gain in building operations of $2,599,800 over February, actual construction being valued at $4,668,720.

Box manufacturers report business better but profits small and competition keen. The value of goods exported though Baltimore during the past week was $2,409,009 while imports aggregated $1,474,405. Beef cattle, lambs, sheep and calves are quiet. The season for old wool is over and there is no definite idea at this time as to the likely opening values of new wool.

Butter, eggs and poultry are in fair demand. In a wholesale way white potatoes are quiet. Wheat flour and corn have a quiet domestic market but corn is in fair demand for export. New export business in rye is decidedly lighter and trading in oats has little or no life. Money is easier but the prevailing rate of interest is still six per cent. Collections show no improvement and are reported as generally slow.

HUNT—DELAINE

Miss Vivian DeLaine of Carrollton, Ky., and Mr. Ernest J. Hunt of Cape Charles were quietly married Sunday, April 9th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. DeLaine. Mr. Hunt is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Hunt of New York avenue, this city. The bride and groom will make their home in Cape Charles. Mr. Hunt is well known in Salisbury, being a very active member of the Tall Cedars.

DEATH AT CLARA

Mrs. Olivia A. Roberts, age seventy-eight, died at her home in Clara on Saturday after being ill for two years with Bright's disease. She was the widow of the late James Massey Roberts, a farmer and merchant. Funeral services were held at the home of Mr. Andrew Phillips, Quantico, on Monday, Revs. T. N. Givan and J. M. S. Van Blunk, officiating. Interment was made at Tyaskin. Mrs. Roberts is survived by several children; Mrs. John F. Phillips and Mrs. Clara Insley of Baltimore, Mrs. Andrew Phillips of Quantico, Capt. William Roberts of Princess Anne and Hon. H. W. Roberts of Clara. She left one brother, 16 grandchildren, five great grandchildren, and one sister.

PARIS APACHE BAND ROB IN NEW YORK

In a bold daylight robbery in which a band of eight thugs held up the entire household of A. R. Shattuck, retired banker living in the very heart of New York, making away with valuables worth $100,000, the police think they see the work of a Paris Apache band which sailed here for the job. Eugenio Doiset, shown here, was captured.

ROTARIANS ELECT

Messrs. Ralph H. Grier, Carl M. Paynter, Oscar L. Morris, Fred P. Adkins, and Donald A. Hannaman were elected directors of the Salisbury Rotary Club for the ensuing year at the last regular meeting of the organization on Thursday night. These directors will elect the president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer.

PAINS SO BAD WOULD GO TO BED

Two Women Tell How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Stopped Their Suffering

Iron Mountain, Mich.—"I had terrible pains every month and at times had to go to bed on account of them. I saw your advertisement and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with very good results. I can work all day long now at my sick time. You may use these facts as a testimonial and I am recommending the Vegetable Compound to my friends."—Mrs. A. H. GARLAND, 218 E. Brown St., Iron Mountain, Michigan.

Xenia, Ohio.—"Every month I had such pains in my back and lower part of my abdomen that I could not lie quietly in bed. I suffered for about five years that way and I was not regular either. I read an advertisement of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done for other women, so I decided to try it. It surely has helped me a lot, as I have no pains now and am regular and feeling fine."—Mrs. MARY DALE, Route 7, Xenia, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a medicine for women's ailments. It is especially adapted to relieve women. If you suffer as did Mrs. Garland or Mrs. Dale, you should give this well-known medicine a thorough trial.

Salisbury Hears New York Singer

Grace Sefton Mayer, Accompanied By Isabel Spring Dryden, Presents Enjoyable Numbers.

Salisbury people were delighted at the recital held Thursday evening. Grace Sefton Mayer is an artist and her songs were given in a most finished manner.

The numbers chosen displayed the high lyric quality of her voice. One felt there was a real study of text with the singing and personality was brought to bear on each one.

Indigestion and Constipation.

"Prior to using Chamberlain's Tablets, I suffered dreadfully from indigestion. Nothing I ate agreed with me and I lost flesh and ran down in health. Chamberlain's Tablets strengthened my digestion and cured me of constipation" writes Mrs. George Stroup, Solvay, N. Y.—Advt.*

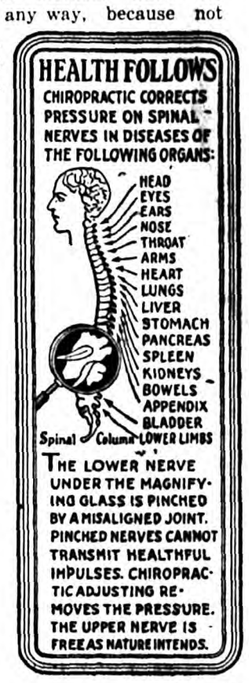
Caesar's Sickness and Other Chronic Ailments

Weekly Health Talk No. 3. By Dr. J. Harry Biron, Ph. C.

Julius Caesar's ailment, epilepsy, or the falling sickness it was known in Caesar's day, and a number of other chronic ailments are of a character and quality to clearly indicate that if chiropractic spinal adjustments are tried, there is an even chance the victim may get well.

There are but three methods of healing—the mental, the medical and the mechanical—and in every disease that has become chronic it may be assumed that the mental and the medical have been pretty thoroughly tested out. Chiropractic spinal adjustments are mechanical corrections of the alignment of spinal joints. The other methods have not touched this mechanical condition in any way, because not directed in any way to its correction. Of course when the spinal bones are realigned the cause of the ailment is removed, and the victim gets well.



NO RETURN OF EPILEPSY IN THREE YEARS

"I am thirty-eight years old and I suffered from epileptic attacks beginning about the age of thirty. In July 1919 I turned to chiropractic. The night before my first chiropractic spinal adjustment I had a severe attack. It was my last one. I was adjusted over a period of time, but not since the first adjustment to this date have I had any return of the trouble or any indication of it."—J. M. Campbell, Chiropractic Research Bureau Sworn Statement No. 1311H.

POULTRY NOTES

BY H. W. RICKEY

CARING FOR THE HOME FLOCK

On the general farm more consideration should be given to the management of the ducks kept for breeding purposes. If, as in the case of the poultrymen who specialize in duck raising more time and thought were devoted to the selection of the breeders and to the feeding of these fowls much better results might be expected.

On the duck farms the heaviest, most vigorous and best shaped ducks and drakes are selected as future breeders at the time of fattening the young stock for market. On the general farm the selection may be made at any suitable time prior to the beginning of the breeding season. In practically every flock there are individual specimens that show signs of exceptional vigor and rapid growth. These should be picked out and leg banded as soon as discovered. By such selection the vigor of succeeding generations may be maintained and the rate of growth increased. Drakes grown under such conditions sometimes weigh as much as nine pounds in ten weeks, while the ducks reach seven pounds. These weights, however, are not common and are only possible when care has been used in the selection of the breeders.

Early hatched and well grown ducks begin to lay in midwinter, about the first of December, and continue to lay until some time in July, provided they have a constant supply of feed of the right kind to support production. Toward the latter part of July the heavy moult usually begins and as in the case of all poultry, production falls off rapidly; this is especially true of ducks.

Up to within one month prior to the beginning of egg production and to the breeding season the ducks and drakes are kept apart either on free range or in large pens with grass pasture. Their food consists largely of grass and other green growing forage crops such as clover, alfalfa, rape and the sprouts of young grain, all of which are exceedingly nutritious. Bugs and worms also furnish valuale food materials. But in additions to this, other feeds in the form of whole cracked grains and mash composed of mixtures of ground grain and meat products are usually fed in moderate quantities. If the ducks are kept on pasture one feeding of mash is given in the morning and one of whole or cracked grains, which for convenience we may term the scratch feed, in the afternoon. Many duck raisers prefer to feed three times daily, with two light feedings of mash, morning and night, and one of scratch feed at noon. The scratch feed usually consists of equal parts by weight of corn and wheat, corn, wheat and oats or corn, wheat and barley, the mixture depending to some extent upon the availability and the cost of the different grains, and should be scattered about on the ground or on a board floor at the rate of about a pint to every fifteen ducks. A very satisfactory mash and one which I unhesitatingly recommend is made up of 200 pounds of wheat bran, 200 pounds of wheat middlings, 100 pounds of corn meal, 100 pounds of ground oats or oat flower, 80 pounds of high-grade meat scrap and 40 pounds of limestone grit. The oats may be omitted, in which case the amount of meat scrap should be reduced to 70 pounds and the grit to thirty. If good pasture is taking the proportion of meat scrap may be increased to 100 pounds. It must be borne in mind that the character of the range, the quantity and variety of the natural food materials found on the range must regulate to some extent the character and quantities of the feed mixtures to be fed.

One other commonly used mash mixture now recommended by the United States Department of Agriculture consists of one part by weight of corn meal, two of wheat bran, one of green feed, with 5 per cent of meat scrap and 5 per cent of grit. In the feeding of ducks, care must be taken to feed only that amount which the fowls will consume in a certain limited time. The wet mash which seems to be more palatable and which gives quicker results, should not be allowed to stand for any great length of time in the feeding troughs.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

This is No. 67 of the fourth series of articles issued by the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West 40th St., New York City. They are appearing weekly in these columns.

HAND OCCUPATION WITH AN ENVELOPE

By Jenny B. Merrill, Ph. D.

It will interest mothers to know how much can be done with an envelope and pair of scissors in the way of providing diversion, occupation and even instruction for children. These hints apply to different ages. The first eight may be used with many children of five or six years of age, the rest with children from six to ten.

1. Cut out the stamp neatly from the corner of an envelope, also cut out the post-mark. Explain why there is a post-mark. There may be more than one.

2. Keep stamps after cutting out, using them to make pretty borders and other designs. Mingle stamps of different colors.

3. Draw on the inside of the envelope the train that carries letters to us, or the rural delivery wagon, or the automobile.

4. Cut off one or more clean corners of the envelope in the shape of a triangle. Each triangle may be used as a book-mark by slipping it on the corner of a leaf. Decorate these triangles with simple designs. Older children may paint a flower and younger children may mount a pretty little picture on each triangle.

5. Cut an envelope into pieces using the creases as guides. Cut several and form designs with the pieces. Each piece may be colored with crayons, paint, or colored pencils.

6. Fold the envelope so as to form a basket or any other object you choose.

7. Draw a door and windows on a long envelope. Press the corners of the envelope out, so that it appears to be a house. The doors and windows may also be cut so as to open and shut. Color the house.

8. Play postman. Make a mail bag to swing over the shoulder. Make a letter box in which to mail letters. A child may deliver letters to the different mmebers of the family. He should be made to appreciate this duty as letters are often very important. There is an ethical lesson here on responsibility.

9. Learn to open a closed envelope neatly with a paper cutter without injuring the contents. This can sometimes be done by rolling a pencil carefully under the flap.

10. Open out the whole envelope and notice its shape, then try to make one of the same size; first measure the paper to be used, place the envelope on the paper, trace it and then fold carefully.

11. Practice, if old enough, addressing an envelope to a father, a mother, to an aunt, a cousin, or a friend. Also mount a stamp in the upper right-hand corner leaving a white margin around the stamp. Explain the importance of using the correct corner.

12. Write the name of the man whose face is engraved on the one cent stamp, the two, and others if you have stamps of other denominations.

13. Write the names of the colors of these stamps under the men's names. Think why these particular men are honored in this way. Why is Washington's head on a two-cent stamp rather than on a five-cent one?

Even quite young children are attracted by the coming of the postman, and love to play postman. A little girl of three once said, "This is my letter. Then pretending to read the address, she said, "It says 'Miss Me.'"

Overcoming the Handicap of Distance

YOU can talk to any place in the United States where there is a telephone. You can even talk to Cuba! Your field is unlimited.

You may seldom, if ever, have occasion to talk to points hundreds of miles away, but you do have use for service to nearby places.

Chestertown	50c	Easton	30c
Washington	60c	Cape Charles, Va.	60c

The rates are reasonable, and station-to-station rates are greatly reduced after 8.30 P. M. The pages in the front of your telephone directory explain the different classes of calls and reduced rates fully. The minimum reduced rate is 25 cents.

Ask the operator for rates to any place.

We'll Show You the Road to Bigger Profits!

No doubt you have been told by scores of individuals and concerns that they could get the highest prices for your fruits. But you cannot afford to take anybody's mere say-so for this.

A clever talker for even an irresponsible concern could probably convince you that his house is the most reliable.

We are willing to let facts talk for themselves. We are willing to let you compare prices at which we sell fruits at auction with prices you receive for your goods at private sale. Such a comparison will talk for itself.

Further, we are willing to let our customers—many of whom have dealt with us for nearly a quarter of a century—tell you that they have received the best prices and fairest treatment from us. We will gladly furnish names on request.

Not only do we get top market prices for your fruits, but we return to you the full amount received less our small selling commission. Of that you are assured. We could not do otherwise, even if we were so disposed, because you can easily find out what your goods sell for by referring to prices printed in the New York Daily Fruit Reporter. No other method gives this publicity.

Another thing, our large financial resources make bad credits a thing of the past for you. We guarantee you your money within 24 hours after sale. Write today for full particulars.

CORTLEY JUNIOR

At every point of hardest wear an invisible "patch"

SLEEVES strained and "out" at the elbows—knickerbockers worn by sliding on bannisters and cellar doors. No single thickness of the finest all-wool material can stand that sort of wear.

Made throughout of the sturdiest goods, and with these extra layers at the five points of greatest wear, Cortley Jr. Clothes are made to give consistently long service. It is never necessary to throw a Cortley suit away because one or two spots have broken through. Every part of each garment is adjusted in wear to every other.

The whole suit not only has the snap and style that the boy appreciates, but also the manly, upstanding appearance that mothers look for.

After years of experimenting the Founder of this Firm—over Forty years ago—developed Tilghman's Mixture "B"; there was not much known, at that time, about the Chemical Analysis of Fertilizers, but the farmers soon found by experience that the combination of materials used in "B" made mighty good Crops.

There are conditions under which some crops need a Plant Food containing more or less of one of the elements contained in the "B"; and to meet this need we made several Brands of various analyses, using the same High Grade Materials from which the "B" is made—but in different proportions.

We have what your Crops Need—Plant Food of the highest quality, in good drilling condition and can ship when you need it.

Preventive Medicine.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grippe. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle.—Advt.

One snappy day recently Johnnyts mother sent him to the store to get half a dozen eggs. On his return he handed her a paper bag containing six articles, which, the egg-shape, were certainly never laid by a hen.

"What are these?" said his mother. "It was eggs I sent you for."

"Well, ma," said Johnny, "the streets were awful slippery an' so I thought I'd better get lemons instead."—Boston Transcript.

EASTERTIDE

Easter, the symbol of "everlasting life" thru the resurrection of Christ and the wonderful demonstration of his greatest prophecy "There is no death."

How beautiful and inspiring to the hungry souls seeking for the truth of Christ's ministry to the world, are his words telling his love for us. "Where I am there ye may be also." "In my father's house are many mansions. I go to prepare a place for you." And again, "I am the way, the truth the life."

Beyond mortal comprehension are the historical events in the life, symbolic day so long are these the greatest psychic and the greatest mind, this world has ever known was brought before the high council, tried, condemned and [illegible] to die—for what? For telling the truth and demonstrating his wonderful powers "miraculous" to the people of those days called them, but as we today know them to be God's natural expression that man, God had given him those [illegible] to give them unto all the world, teaching immortality of the soul, soul progression, spirit communion, healing, prophecy even to the foretelling of his own death and resurrection. And still there are many who see not the great truth of why his majestic sacrifice to the world had to be.

Visualize that sensitive compassionate soul going from city to city healing the sick of all disease, making the blind to see, the lame to walk, the deaf to hear, feeling of all human woes and pressing unto the people and demonstrating the divine power of God that they thru him might learn of God's great truth and heavenwise ministry unto the people.

He said unto his disciples, "I say unto you, He that believeth in me, the works that I do shall he do also; and greater works than these shall he do; because I go unto my Father."—John 14-12.

Again Christ demonstrated God's sublime revelation when he took Peter, James and John up into a high mountain apart by themselves and was transfigured before them, his raiment became shining as white as snow." "And there appeared unto them Elias with Moses and they were talking with Jesus."—Mark 9-4. "And as they came down from the mountain he charged them that they should tell no man what things they had seen, till the Son of man were risen from the dead."—Mark 9-9.

After many centuries Elias, Moses and Jesus meet as though contemporary. What an event? What could have been their theme? Great men discuss great affairs when called together. Do you wonder what they were talking about? History tells us they were discussing Christ's approaching death; that was their theme. How sad he must have been to know the people he loved and was sent on earth to teach and bring into realization of their God given power, were going to condemn him and take his life. Sad indeed he must have felt when he said unto his disciples, "My soul is exceedingly sorrowful; tarry ye here and watch." "And he went a little way and fell to the ground and prayed that the hour might pass from him." "Father all things are possible unto thee; never theless not what I will, but what thou will."

Man of sorrows, man of visions indeed, with soul so devoted to his principles he forgot himself in his duty as he saw it. And then came the days of darkness, the dread humiliation of final suffering. He scorned the price of freedom and bid his persecutors do their worst.

That march was one of the most significant processions in history. The elements of ignorance leading, thinking to death that they could dim a light of such radiance, purity and strength. Dragging with him the cross on which his mortal body was to hang and suffer for the bigoted ignorance of the world, he struggled and stumbled under the oppressive burden on thru the streets to Calvary where he was nailed to the cross, crucified—symbolizing life beyond the curse "life everlasting." Lifting up his anguished eyes unto the Father he said, "Father forgive them for they know not what they do."

We make that mistake today. We turn away from the promptings of the soul toward the finer higher attributes of God's infinite laws for the souls growth in wisdom and understanding. The ideals of Christ are built up in the souls of civilization and the patterned after modified Christ himself is to the thoughts of our soul and we crucify him daily to give place to the devil—selfishness and greed. Power, politics, wealth, position all are the bribes of weak humanity.

The celebration of Easter is very significant to the beautiful life Christ demonstrated to the world. Even in death his persecutors had lost for he triumphed over death. He fulfilled his wonderful prophecy—"There is no death," but "life everlasting." The weary, sorrowful were greeted by the angel. "Come and see where he lay. He is risen."

He was greater than death. He was greater than life. "He is the light of the world."

May Eastertide proclaim Christ's wonderful life not only the crucifixion and resurrection but, "the purpose," that will be His will.

"Behold I show you a mystery. We shall not all sleep but you shall be changed."—1st Cor. 15:51

"Healthful Spine Overcomes Headaches"

—By—

DR. TRUITT

THE CHIROPRACTOR

HEADACHES are from various causes. Sometimes the headache is due to indigestion, sometimes it is biliousness, sometimes it is traceable to female troubles, sometimes to a catarrhal condition. An adjustment quite frequently gives immediate relief, but the cause cannot be removed in one adjustment.

Nervous headaches due to indigestion, for instance are quite often given immediate relief by an adjustment which frees the nerves in the region where the ache is felt, but the cause can only be removed by a series of adjustments calculated to restore a full degree of nerve impulse transmitted into the stomach and liver, whose faulty action is the cause of such headaches. Geting rid of the headache (a symptom of something wrong), is not always getting rid of the cause. To get rid of the tendency to headaches, a series of adjustments is necessary.

WANTS OTHERS TO PROFIT

I am writing this in hope that others may profit by my experience. I had nervous headaches, indigestion and inflammatory rheumatism, all of which every remedy I tried failed to relieve. Chiropractic spinal adjustments put me back on my feet and at work once more." A. W. Carter, Chiropractic Research Bureau. Statement No. 1253P.

REEDVILLE

Mrs. J. Harry Covington, died at the old Covington home, "Chestnut Grove," near Burgess Store, on Saturday evening, April 1, after an illness of several years, though only the last week of her life was spent in bed, so great was her energy, and so well did she look after the welfare of her family. Rev. A. J. Reamy of Faith M. Papist Church, where the deceased had been a lifelong member, conducted funeral services at the home Monday afternoon. Interment was made in the family burying ground, just beyond the house. Many beautiful flowers were brought from home [illegible] and local florists, Mrs. Hayden Blackwell's and Mrs. W. T. Bailey of Fleeton. The deceased leaves a husband two daughters, Mrs. [illegible] Morrison of Reedville, and Miss Flora Covington, teaching in Wicomico High School, and four sons, Dr. J. Harry Covington, of Alexandria; Mr. [illegible] Covington of Lancaster [illegible] Messrs. R. L. Covington and Hayden Covington, merchants at Burgess.

Mrs. B. Haynie of Bay View, near [illegible] Mrs. T. W. Jett, and the week-end Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. [illegible] Jett, upon the occasion of Mr. Jett's birthday. That night Mr. and Mrs. C. Morris [illegible] Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Evans, of the Bethlehem Range, Mr. A. Wiles of Milan, [illegible] others took passage on the "Comet Bros." entoute from the Post Office at Reedville, to [illegible] Chesapeake.

Mrs. Haynie and little grandson, Jr., are in Norfolk this week visiting Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Haynie.

Mr. [illegible] Cockrell is now working for the Lewis Motor Co., in Fredericksburg, Va. He recently left Reedville for several days visit to his parents in Fredericksburg.

Mrs. [illegible] of Capt. Jas. E. [illegible] this place will be glad to learn she has been feeling much better lately.

Mr. [illegible] of Marshy is putting in a [illegible] of the fish house Tilghman, anticipating the advantage [illegible] markets which the new [illegible] from here to Crisfield [illegible] season. It is said that [illegible] expects to have as much produce as possible to be shipped over the Chesapeake this way.

Mrs. M. E. Haynie of Fairport, spent a few days last week with Mrs. R. P. Waller, at Fleeton. Mrs. Haynie recently spent a month in Baltimore.

The "fish scale" industry is comparatively a new thing here having been brought about by a Mr. Killoran, who came to Reedville, spring before last, buying this hitherto unused part of the fish for the first time. Last spring he came back and had a large building put up on the creek to do his work in. Needless to state that the process by which the common scales are to be converted into pearls, has been rigidly guarded and still is. This spring Mr. Killoran has opposition. There are scales a plenty, competition sharpens both interest and market price and the hard-pressed fisherman deserves all he gets. At Fleeton (as stated last week in The News) Messrs. T. C. Slaughter and E. Warren Edwards, are buying and preparing for the scales for shipment. They had a French woman, and her interpreter, it was said, at Fleeton for awhile, initiating them in the mysterious process.

Here at Reedville Mr. T. Wayland Marsh, is conducting the same business on quite a successful basis at the Blandon-Hinton Canning factory. Mr. S. G. Hecht, and Mr. G. La Dante, of New York, have been stopping at the Reedville House, for a week or two, while they are having the pearly substance prepared, which is to be shipped on to Spain, we hear, to be probably returned to American shores in opes, and diadems of rich and lustrous pearls, a little later. They paid at Blandon-Hinton's last week, 10c a pound for the fish scales. Mr. La Dante, as the name implies, is a Frenchman.

The Fleeton League is preparing "The Modern Ananias," a popular drama, to be given at Reedville Hall soon for the benefit of the Fleeton school. The characters will be professionals, some from this town taking part.

Rehearsals are going on daily now for both Easter and Children's Day programs for Bethany M. E. Church. Miss Janie Marsh is preparing an interesting service for the Sunday School on Easter morn. Special music is also being prepared by the church choir for morning and evening services.

Mrs. Will Armsworthy, and some of her children, were in our town recently, shopping, visiting Mrs. Hilton Evans.

Mr. Owen Lewis motored over from Richmond the past week for two or three days with his people here. Mr. R. B. Moore went back to Richmond with him, driving home a new Cadillac for the garage.

Many interested folk (including some from this place) have been listening to market reports from the New York Stock Exchange, music and other far-away things which come via Capt. I. M. Bussells' Radio equipment, in his home at Fleeton. The Captains' sons, Messrs. Clifford and Glesner Bussells, of Norfolk, who handle the radio, with other electrical supplies, have been at Fleeton recently.

Rev. Mr. Dobson of Burgess Store, pastor of the Methodist Protestant churches in Northumberland left Monday for Chestertown, to attend the Maryland Annual Conference of the M. P. Church. Mr. Dobson is very popular here with his people, and with other denominations too, and will probably be returned for another year.

Mr. Bevery Robinson, Beverlyville merchant was in Baltimore last week.

Mrs. Ray Phillips of Salisbury, who has been visiting her mother at Burgess Store, was here last week with her sister, Mrs. Lela Rawlings.

CARDUI HELPED REGAIN STRENGTH

Alabama Lady Was Sick For Three Years, Suffering Pain, Nervous and Depressed—Read Her Own Story of Recovery.

Paint Rock, Ala.—Mrs. C. M. Stegall, of near here, recently related the following interesting account of her recovery: "I was in a weakened condition. I was sick three years in bed, suffering a great deal of pain, weak, nervous, depressed. I was so weak, I couldn't walk across the floor; just had to lay and my little ones do the work. I was almost dead. I tried everything I heard of, and a number of doctors. Still I didn't get any relief. I couldn't eat, and slept poorly. I believe if I hadn't heard of and taken Cardui I would have died. I bought six bottles, after a neighbor told me what it did for her.

"I began to eat and sleep, began to gain my strength and am now well and strong. I haven't had any trouble since . . . I sure can testify to the good that Cardui did me. I don't think there is a better tonic made and I believe it saved my life."

For over 40 years, thousands of women have used Cardui successfully, in the treatment of many womanly ailments.

If you suffer as these women did, take Cardui. It may help you, too.

ANNUAL DUES ARE SLASHED TO ONE-HALF

Sixty-One Members Of Local Chamber Of Commerce Favor Lower Membership Fees.

LOCAL ORGANIZATION BELONGS TO COMMUNITY

Dues For Those Living Outside The City Limits Will Be Only One Dollar A Month—Charles M. Peters Stresses Importance Of Getting County People Interested.

Reduction of membership dues from $50. to $25. a year for City members, with a further reduction to $12. a year for members living outside the city limits, was the most important action of the Chamber of Commerce at its last regular meeting on Thursday night. A large number of business men were present and took part in the discussion, which went into all phases of the question.

Marvin C. Evans was the first member to speak on the subject and he brought out several arguments for the reduction at the same time pointing out the disadvantages of such a cut. H. W. Carty suggested that a committee be appointed to classify the members and those who should be admitted to membership in the future with a view to making the dues commensurate with the amount of business done and to make a survey of the county to determine the possible number of new members that might be enrolled.

L. W. Gunby made a motion carrying out the suggestion of Mr. Carty and further discussion prevailed. Colonel A. W. W. Woodcock suggested that a classification might be worked out on the basis of gross or net volume of business or on the amount of capitalization. Mr. Samuel Feldman also took this view.

Fred P. Adkins then stated that if the dues were cut to $25, those who are now members would continue to support the Chamber to the same extent by taking out enough memberships to keep their payments what they are now. He added that the big thing now for the Chamber to do is get the County people interested and sell the Chamber to the people. He declared that the real name of the organization should be The Wicomico County Chamber of Commerce because its primary purpose is to serve this entire section. It never has worked, and never will work for the selfish ends of a chosen few. It is here for the good of the people of this city and this county. It is working for them day and night. It is always striving to lower living costs for them and to help them find markets for their products and services.

The results that have been accomplished toward this latter end are outstanding. Great results will follow as the work of the organization goes on as more business people of the community realize that it is their duty to become members of it. There seems to be a belief in some quarters that the officers drew quite handsome salaries for their work.

Nothing could be farther from the truth. The secretary is paid a salary that is not commensurate with his valuable work, and he gives his entire time to the needs of the Chamber. The other officers do not get one cent for their time or their work. On the contrary many of the leading workers are constantly putting up out of their own pockets considerable sums that the beneficial work of the Chamber may not be hindered. These facts were clearly brought out in discussion by a number of those present.

Augustus Toadvine then pointed out that those who are now members of the organization fully realize its value and would continue to support it to the fullest. To get a line of the matter, however, it was suggested

EXCEPTIONAL MUSICAL IS PLANNED BY MRS. ADKINS

Recital Of Modern And Classic Songs In Park Avenue Home By Edwin Swain For Benefit Of Red Cross.

A recital of songs, classic and modern, will be given by Mr. Edwin Swain of New York City, on Thursday evening, April 27th at the home of Mrs. F. P. Adkins on Park Street.

Endowed with a voice of infinite sweetness, glorious resonance, and wonderful interpretive skill, Edwin Swain has made himself one of the foremost singers of the age. Whether in the ballad, masterly oratorio or grand opera, Mr. Swain's singing is always a revelation of noteworthy advancement.

He has given recitals from coast to coast in every state in the Union, in almost every city of over ten thousand inhabitants. The musical people of Salisbury will be fortunate indeed to hear a singer of Mr. Swain's reputation and ability.

Reserved tickets for the recital can be secured at the office of the News Publishing Company or from Mrs. F. P. Adkins. The proceeds will go towards a fund which the ladies of our town are striving to keep Miss Kell, the very efficient and necessary district nurse in the community.

Moose To Honor Departed Brothers

R. D Grier, M. V. Brewington, A. D. Toadvine, And J. Ernest Shockley To Be Eulogized Sunday.

Honoring the memory of their departed brothers, R. D. Gried, Marion V. Brewington, A. D. Toadvin, and J. Ernest Shockley, members of Salisbury Lodge Loyal Order of Moose will hold memorial services in the Arcade Theatre on Sunday, April 30, at three o'clock in the afternoon.

Supreme Lecturer William Trickett Giles of Baltimore and Rev. V. L. Edmunds of the Division Street Baptist Church will deliver orations. Appropriate vocal and instrumental musical numbers will be rendered. The public is invited to attend these very beautiful and impressive services.

BIG CLOTHING CONCERN FORMS A CORPORATION

Keanerly & Mitchell Incorporate With $100,000 Capital Stock And Take In Denwood Mitchell.

To provide a place in the organization for Mr. Denwood Mitchell, son of Mr. E. D. Mitchell, the firm of Kennerly & Mitchell was incorporated as of February first, 1922, with Mr. E. D. Mitchell as president, his son as treasurer, and Mr. Charles W. Bennett, as vice president. The capitalization is $100,000, all the stock being owned by the three officers.

The youngest member of the corporation is 22 years of age and is a graduate of Wicomico High School and of Mercersburg. For the past two years he has been associated with his father in the clothing business and has studied hard in order that he might become proficient. To fit himself the better for the position he is to occupy, he also graduated some time ago from Pierce Business College in Philadelphia. He is the only son of the founder of the business.

More than a quarter of a century ago, Mr. B. Frank Kennerly and Mr. E. D. Mitchell went into the clothing business in Salisbury. The store grew steadily and in 1908, Mr. Kennerly withdrew to become president of the Kennerly-Shockley Company. At that time, Mr. Charles W. Bennett, who had been with the firm since 1901, when he came to this city from Mardela, was admitted to partnership and has in large part been responsible for the further growth of the firm.

The present site of the big Kennerly & Mitchell store was bought in 1910 and about three years ago it was found necessary to build a new home. This was done and today the big daylight store of Kennerly & Mitchell is one of the largest on the peninsula, with the founder still in active, progressive charge.

CROWDS ATTEND CHURCH TO HEAR EASTER MUSIC

Cantatas Presented In Several Of The Churches—Special Music Attracts Large Throngs.

Music lovers of Salisbury were delighted with the Easter music at the churches this season. Always of the best, this Easter season it seem to surpass all previous efforts and a grateful public has spoken in no uncertain terms its appreciation.

At St. Peters, Gaul's famous Lenten cantata, "The Holy City" was exceptionally well rendered. Every seat in the edifice was filled and those fortunate enough to hear the offerings are profuse in their praise. At Asbury M. E. Church, the choir rendered "Victory Divine," a sacred cantata in which the voices were beautifully balanced. The rendition was excellent.

In the Presbyterian Church, the Easter music consisted of a number of selections by the choir expressive of the Easter season, organ solos by Mrs. Dryden, and violin solos by Miss Marie Walls. At the Baptist Church, the choir sang several anthems, and at Bethesda the choir gave a beautiful cantata, "Life Everlasting." Special music at Trinity consisted of organ solos and anthems by the choir.

WOMANS CLUB MEETS

At the regular meeting of the Wicomico Womans Club in the Chamber of Commerce rooms on Tuesday afternoon, it was decided to invite Miss McCormick to speak at the next meeting on the Near East Relief. A Bird Program in charge of Miss Wilsie Woodcock featured several beautiful solos by Miss Mildred Mathews accompanied by Miss Marian Dobson and a number of interesting readings on birds by Mrs. Carson.

"Y" DIRECTORS ELECT

Directors of the Y. M. C. A. at their regular board meeting on Monday re-elected Walter S. Sheppard as president of the Association for the coming year. The other officers are Wm. M. Cooper, vice-president, George P. Chandler recording secretary, and Ralph H. Grier treasurer. Reports on the membership campaign indicate that $4,500 has been raised so far. Other teams are still to be heard from. The "Y" movie on Saturday will be Billie Burke and Charles Ray in "Peggy."

BUILDS ON DIVISION STREET

Mr S. Franklyn Woodcock has begun the construction of a one-story building next to the Central Bank on Division street which he will use as an office when it is completed.

Heart Of Pocomoke City Swept By Flames Damage Estimated At $2,000,000 Or More

Blaze Devastated Community Under Martial Law For Two Days—Fire Departments From Eastern Shore Cities Answer Distress Call—High Winds Aid Flames—Telephone Girls Stick To Posts In Face Of Danger—Two Banks Destroyed—Scores Homeless—Business Section Gone.

Four blocks in the heart of the business district of Pocomoke City lie in blackened ruins today. Fire starting on Monday from the burning of rubbish near a stable swept through the community destroying all in its path More than $2,000,000 damage is estimated, part of which was covered by insurance, and nearly three hundred families are homeless.

The two banks, 36 dwellings, stores by the dozen, and a hotel went up in flames. The two big Hargis stores are utterly destroyed. For hours Second, Market, Clarke and Maple streets were a mass of flames fanned to frightfulness by a southerly wind. Sparks carried even as far as a mile in the country where a barn and a house were set on fire and burned to the ground.

One of the first buildings to go housed the telephone exchange where the operators stuck to their posts until, scorched by flames and suffocated by smoke, they were driven out. Their calls for help brought the fire departments from Salisbury, Laurel, Crisfield, Princess Anne, Snow Hill, Seaford, Berlin, and Cambridge.

Practically every house in the business district on Maple, Willow, and Market streets was burned to the ground. Telephone and telegraph connections were severed early in the afternoon but by six o'clock had been partially restored.

Company "I," First Infantry, Maryland National Guard, under command of Lieutenant Ralph O. Dulany was sent to Pocomoke on the 7;26 train which was held here for an hour waiting for the troops. Martial law was proclaimed and the Guardsmen established their protectorate over the ruined community as soon as they arrived.

When news of the conflagration reached the surrounding cities, thousands of men and women hurried to the scene, some to watch but the majority to help fight the flames. The fire, it is understood had its origin in a pile of rubbish that was being burned near the barn of F. M. Wilson on Maple street. Mr. Wilson is president of the Pocomoke National Bank.

Milton L. Veasey, owner of the big Hargis stores, is perhaps the heaviest individual loser. His loss is estimated at $150,000. Mr. Veasey, it is understod, is already in consultation with architects relative to the new buildings he intends to erect. It is said that he would build the largest department stores on the peninsula.

Other losses are estimated at varying amounts: Callahan's Clothing Store, $30,000; Pocomoke National Bank, $50,000; Citizens National Bank, $40,000; F. M. Wilson, $25,000; F. J. Lloyd $20,000; Lloyd & Blaine, $30,000; and W. H. Clarke, $15,000.

The following buildings were in the path of the flames and were either damaged or totally destroyed.

Pocomoke City National Bank.
Citizens' National Bank.
Postoffice.
Lloyd & Blain drug store.
R. J. Lamden shoe store.
Market Street Pharmacy.
W. H. Schoofield & Co.
Eastern Shore of Maryland Produce Exchange.
Ford Hotel.
Empire Theater.
I. H. Merrill's store.
Mathews & Lankford's hardware store.
A. H. Stevens ice-cream manufacturing company.
American Stores Building.
Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Exchange.
Western Union Telegraph Company Office.
Law offices of Ewell & Child.
Municipal Building.
T. E. Hargis department store; building owned by Milton L. Veasey.
Stores of H. W. Calahan & Sons.
W. H. Clarke and Co. Drug Store.
Downtown office of Electric and Ice Manufacturing Company.
Offices of Peninsula Produce Company.
Confectionery store of David Wiltbank.
Store of J. T. S. Miller, Jr.
Hardware store of Picken & Hall.
M. I. Helwig, men's furnishings.
W. M. Sartorius, jewelry.
Cluff & Coulbourne, hardware.
Bunting Garage.

From authoritative sources it is learned that most of the business men of Pocomoke intend to re-build and resume operations at once. Architects and contractors have already been engaged and will be redy to go to work as soon as the debris has been cleared away.

No one was hurt either during the fire or while fighting the flames. The Rotary Club of Salisbury sent the following committee to Pocomoke to offer whatever aid it could: Messrs E. Homer White, Henry S. Todd, Jr., Hooper S. Miles, and Marvin C. Evans. President McSherry of the Dover, Delaware Club, also offered his services.

Tall Cedars Plant Some Saplings Here

Ceremonial at Armory in Salisbury on Wednesday Night to be Followed in Wachapreague on April 28.

Eastern Sho' Forest of the Tall Cedars of Lebanon are again on the move, a big ceremonial having been planned for Wednesday evening at which time a number of saplings were planted. In addition to the regular entertainment, a boxing contest was one of the features of the evening.

On April 28, the Forest will go to Wachpreague to plant a few more saplings and Grand Tall Cedar S. N. Culver is urging all Cedars to be prepared to accompany him to the place for the ceremonial.

HILL—HAGAN NUPTIALS CELEBRATED WEDNESDAY

Miss Louise Mildred Hagan Becomes The Bride Of Mr. Franklyn Bowen Hill At Pretty Home Wedding.

One of the season's most interesting affairs was the marriage on Wednesday, April 19, at one o'clock of Miss Louise Mildred Hagan, daughter of Captain and Mrs. John Hagan, and Mr. Franklin Bowen Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Hill.

The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents on Camden avenue which was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and evergreens. Rev. Robert Alexander Boyle, pastor of Wicomico Presbyterian Church, officiated. Miss Jean Dashiell at the piano and Miss Marie Walls, violinist, played the wedding march.

Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to a number of guests and the happy couple left on the northbound train for a honeymoon trip during which they will visit several northern cities. The bride wore a dark blue traveling suit with hat and gloves to match and a corsage bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

Upon their return to Salisbury, Mr. and Mrs. Hill will make their home at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Riffe on Camden avenue.

DOWNING STARTS TO BUILD

Mr. William J. Downing, president of the Citizens Gas Company, has begun work on his new building on East Main street where the Gas Company will be housed in the future. The building will be large and will be modern in every particular.

RIDER—MASON

Miss Grace Mason and Mr. Reigart Rider were married at Deal's Island on Saturday evening at eight o'clock. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Rider left on the "Joppa" for Baltimore to visit the groom's mother and sister.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR AND LADIES OFF FOR SOUTH

Salisburians Join Party at Baltimore Trip To New Orleans On The Beauseant Limited. Fine Itinerary

Knights Templar from all sections of the United States will attend the 35th Triennial Conclave at New Orleans on April 25, 26 and 27. The days in the famous southern city will be full of interesting events and nothing has been spared to make the most of the occasion.

A partial program of the entertainment contemplated includes a reception and ball by the Grand Commandery of Louisiana on Monday night, a Grand Encampment parade on Tuesday morning, when more than 50,000 knights are expected to be in line and a grand Mardi Gras or carnival parade on Wednesday.

Exhibition drills, boat rides on Mississippi, banquets, balls, electric illuminations, band concerts and other features are carded for the conclave and the visiting knights will have a wonderful time.

The Maryland party, composing the Pilgrimage of the Beauseant Commandery, with whom are many Salisburians, will travel to New Orleans on the finest train that ever left Baltimore city leaving there on Thursday, April 20th. On Friday the knights and their ladies will stop in Asheville, N. C., have breakfast and take a sight-seeing trip. Dinner will be served at Knoxville and on Saturday the party will spend the day in Chattanooga, taking trips through the famous Chickamauga Park reservation and over the Signal and Lookout Mountains.

They will reach New Orleans Sunday and will stay at the DeSoto Hotel. On the following Thursday they will embark for Pensacola, Jacksonville and other points in Florida. Monday the will leave Jacksonville and arrive in Richmond, Virginia, on Tuesday. From Richmond they will return to Baltimore.

The Salisbury party, which left for Baltimore Wednesday morning, included Mr. and Mrs. Ralph H. Grier, Mr. and Mrs. E. Dale Adkins, Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Walls, Mrs. Robert D. Grier, Miss Laura Wailes, Mr. Charles O. Culver, Mr. Charles T. Bourne, and Mr. R. W. Hammersough. With them went Mr. Gordon Wonnell, of Snow Hill.

EASTER DANCE

The Salisbury Cotillion Club gave the last dance of the season on Tuesday evening at the Armory, the Original Six Orchestra of Wilmington furnished the music. There were about two hundred couples present, many of them from out of town. One of the latest jazz hits, "The Jump Steady Blues," composed by Mr. Millard Coffin of this city who was among those present, was played by the orchestra.

Name the Salisbury Ball Team

The management of the Salisbury Base Ball Club will give a prize of one season ticket to the person who will first suggest the best name for the local aggregation of stars. The names offered will be submitted to a committee whose decision will be final. Something short, snappy and suggestive of this community should be selected. Turn your answers in today to the office of The Wicomico News.

DEEP FAMILY SECRETS REVEALED BY ROTARIANS

President Allen Instructs Each Member To Explain Why He Has An Initial In His Name.

Ralph Hall Grier, senior member of the R. D. Grier & Sons Company, heads the Salisbury Rotary Club for the coming year as president, having been elected at the last regular meeting of the Club at the "Y" on Thursday night by the other directors, Fred P. Adkins, Oscar L. Morris, Donald A. Hannaman, and Carl M. Paynter.

Carl M. Paynter was re-elected as secretary of the Club and Oscar L. Morris was unanimously elected vice-president. After the election, president Allen called on each of the Rotarians present to stand and tell the Club what the initial in his name means. Varied in the extreme were the answers, a few of which are quoted.

Mr. L. W. Gunby stated that his middle name at baptism was "Morris" but that he had changed it to "White" out of affection for the man for whom he first worked in the hardware business. Mr. David J. Ward explained that the "J" in his name stood for "Jenkins," given him by his father. He also said that until the meeting of the Club, he believed there was only one man in Salisbury who knew his full name.

Mr. Charles O. Culver of the Eastern Shore Gas & Electric Company confided that "O" of his cognomen meant "Orlando" whereupon Rotarian David Dallas presented him with a bouquet, and State Roads Engineer P. E. Bourroughs admitted that his first name was "Percival." The " stunt" was greeted with much applause and upon adjournment the members felt that they knew each other a great deal better than before.

ADKINS—LAYTON

Miss Laura P. Layton, of Pittsville became the bride of Mr. Homer Frank Adkins, of Wango, on Monday, April 1. The ceremony was performed by Dr. J. T. Herson at the Asbury parsonage.

Women Take Part In Vestrymen Election

Three New Members Of Board At St. Peters, Messrs F. W. C. Webb, L. Claude Bailey, Travers L. Ruark.

The annual vestry meeting of St. Peters Episcopal church was held Monday, and the usual business was transacted. In the evening an appointment of vestrymen was the main feature.

Wm. M. Cooper, Dr. E. Riall White, Benjamin Parker of the old board were re-elected in addition to F. W. C. Webb, Travers L. Ruark and Levin C. Bailey.

The retiring members were William E. Booth, Vandalia Perry and Arthur Leonard. This was the first time the ladies were allowed the privilege of taking a part in these appointments.

Mr. O. L. Tawes Declares That Line To Western Shore Will Grow In Volume Of Business Rapidly.

As guests of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company with Superintendent R. H. Pinkham as official host, about twenty representatives from Salisbury and Crisfield made a tour of several of the more important centers of the Western Shore last week, leaving Crisfield on Friday morning and returning home by way of Cape Charles late Saturday night.

They visited Reedville where they held an enthusiastic meeting in Percival's store, and then journeyed to Ottoman and Kilmarnock where similar gatherings were laid. The rooms in each case were filled, and the Virginia folk stated that they were willing to support fully the new boat line. Chambers of Commerce were organized in each of the three communities named.

The delegation especially stressed the importance of picking right, packing right, and grading right, as well as the forming of organizations to grow and handle produce. It was for this last reason that the Chambers were formed.

So cordial was the welcome extended the visitors, and so great is the prospect of an ever increasing volume of business, that Mr. O. L. Tawes of Crisfield predicts that within 14 months a second steamer will be needed. The trip over was made on the tug "Cape Charles."

Those from Chisfield were Messrs Webb, Tawes, Thorington, and Loreman. The representatives from Salisbury comprised Messrs. Charles M. Freeman, G. William Phillips, F. P. Adkins, Marvin C. Evans, J. Virgil Bailey, William P. Ward, L. T. McGaughran, John Melson, Murrill Morris, Marcellus Bounds, Oliver Cordrey, Henry Todd, Jr. Fred Smith, and Mr. Kinsman of the Express Company.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY DOING SPLENDID WORK

Will be represented in Danville, Virginia, at Annual Conference by Mrs. I. Ernest Jones

The Woman's Missionary Society of Trinity M. E. Church, South, met with Miss Emma Powell on Camden Avenue on Monday evening, Miss Mary Smith, the treasurer, making the following report for the month of April:

Talent money, $207; Easter offering, $7.00; dues, $6.50; total, $250.50. The treasurers' report for the first quarter ending March 31, was as follows: Circle of Thirty for the support of a missionary, $75; dues, $21; Farran School in the mountains of Virginia, $25; Hong Kong, China, nurse $25 Virginia School for Girls, Shanghai, China, $26; total $197.00.

This society of thirty members is studying the life and letters of St. Paul in addition to their regular missionary monthly studies of foreign and home fields. The Annual Conference will meet on April 20th in Danville, Virginia, and the Salisbury organization will be represented by Mrs. I. E Jones, Mrs. W. R. Dobson is president of the local society.

DR. SHIPLEY RETURNED

Dr. Richard L. Shipley was returned to Bethesda M. P. Church at the recent annual conference at Chestertown, much to the delight of his congregation and his friends in other churches of the city. Dr. Shipley has done excellent work here and is regarded as one of the most influential ministers on the Eastern Shore. His church will undoubtedly progress under his able ministry.

GRANGE INITIATES

Members of Salisbury Grange had the pleasure on Saturday night of seeing a large class initiated in the third and fourth degrees. A number of visitors were present from Mardela. Refreshments were served after the routine business was concluded. Pomona Grange will meet on April 27 at 11 a. m. in the K. of P. Hall, Salisbury, and dinner will be served at 12:30. All members are urged to be present.

LONG—DOLBEY

Miss Katherine Lee Dolbey, of Salisbury, and Mr. Ralph Walter Long, of Delmar, were joined in wedlock at the Asbury M. E. parsonage on Saturday morning, April 15, by Dr. J. T. Herson. The bride and groom were ecompanied by Miss Mildred White and Mr. J. F. Brown.

NATION-WIDE MARKETS ARE ESTABLISHED

American Fruit Growers, Incorporated, Send Representatives Here.

MACHINERY IS SET UP FOR HANDLING PRODUCE

Wicomico Farmers Association Will Have Outlet This Season In 365 Carlot Markets—Organization Of The American Fruit Growers Is Vast And Efficient.

Farmers of Wicomico and Somerset counties will be glad to learn that Mr. L. T. McGaughran, sales manager of the Maryland-Delaware Division of the American Fruit Growers, Incorporated, has established his headquarters in Salisbury and is getting ready to handle the produce of this section during the coming season. This becomes one of the eighteen permanent divisions of the A. F. G. and great things are expected of it.

Highly organized along the most efficient lines, the American Fruit Growers are in position to place the produce of this section in most of the carlot markets of the country. The divisions such as that at Salisbury handle the produce through the other divisions and in case of less than car load shipments, as for instance at the end of the season, ship produce to one of four market divisions where it is stored until it can be profitably marketed.

Each sales manager is furnished with a calendar of produce so that he can instantly know exactly what sections of the country are ready to ship any product. By keeping closely in touch with each other, they are able to find the best markets for the produce and at the same time find the best produce for the markets. Market divisions with full cold storage facilities are established at New York, St. Louis, Chicago and Pittsburgh. They are, in reality, clearing houses and make for insurance against gluts the slow handling of small shipments.

District sales managers travel constantly around specified territories and keep in touch with marketing and growing conditions. In this way the various selling divisions are kept on their toes at all times and this, too, insures for the most part better markets. In the larger cities, there are 10 men on salaries who devote their entire time to the selling end of the business, attending to both public or auction and private sales.

In addition to these, there are 166 representatives in the principal jobbing joints throughout the United States, each of whom covers a certain territory working the trade. Through this system, the A. F. G. has an outlet in 365 carlot markets in the country. Not only does it have these markets: it uses them to the best possible advantages.

Next week, according to Mr. McGaughran, Mr. C. W. Brown, the general auditor of the American Fruit Growers, Inc., will be in Salisbury to equip the local office and as soon as he leaves everything will be in readiness for work, although the local sales manager is selling goods today.

Later in the week, Mr. H. L. Huber, manager of the New York Division, the division through which Mr. McGaughran expects to market most of the Eastern Shore produce, will be a visitor here. And just before the season opens, Mr. W. H. Baggs, vice-president and general sales manager of the entire organization will be here to get acquainted with the Eastern Shore growers.

Mr. McGaughran does not predict anything startling in the way of prices but he states that growers will certainly receive a fair profit on the things they grow. This will be a good year, according to all forecasts, and in times of plenty sky-high prices are not always prevalent.

The Eastern Shore territory has been barely scratched, it is thought, and with close co-operation and strong organization, there is no limit to what this section may do, lying as it does within hailing distance of some of the greatest centers in the East.

PUBLIC AUCTION SALE OF LOTS IS SCHEDULED

Jackson Mill Property, Part Of Which Has Been Sold, Will Be Offered At Auction On May Third.

After selling a large number of lots on their property on South Division street at private sale, the owners of the large tract on which Jackson Brothers Lumber Company plant was formerly located have decided to dispose of the rest of the property at a huge auction sale.

They have selected Wednesday night, May 3, seven o'clock p. m. as the date and hour, and at that time will have on the premises a brass band for the entertainment of spectators and purchasers. Prizes will be given away. The lots, it is understood, will be sold regardless of the price bid.

The sale is being conducted by S. Franklyn Woodcock. Messrs John K. Gunby, William S. Gordy, Jr., Graham Gunby, and S. Franklyn Woodcock are the owners.

PEACHES AND CHERRIES FOR THE HOME ORCHARD

There is no need to debate the question whether the average family—your family—would like to have a goodly supply of peaches, plums and cherries for the home table.

If you should ask this question of the youngest member of the family, his probable response would be "Lead me to 'em."

And that is exactly what we are going to try to do,—at least to try to tell you how easily you can have a supply of peaches, and plums, and cherries for your own table, if you are any kind of a hand at all at growing things.

It is a small place, indeed, that has not room enough for at least a few trees of these delicious fruits. Particularly, so, because they are almost as valuable as ornamentals as they are for fruit.

In Japan where they have almost worshipped beautiful flowers for centuries, the cherry is considered the most beautiful of all flowering trees.

Some people are deterred from setting out their own fruit trees because they think they will have to wait for several years before they get anything for their trouble.

This is not the case with any of the fruits mentioned above.

Peach trees under fairly good conditions will make such a vigorous growth that they will bear a considerable number of fruits the second year after planting.

Plums and cherries are almost as generous in the rapidity with which they reward the planter. Plums will begin bearing the second summer after planting, and by the fourth year will be loaded down. Cherries also will very often bear a little fruit the second year after planting, and quite a crop the third year.

Isn't it worth an eighteen or twenty-four months to wait to begin to enjoy these delicious fruits from your own trees.

You know how disappointing it is to take home a box of beautifully packed cherries that look as though they would melt in your mouth (and cost you almost as much as a young cherry tree!) only to find that they are hard and bitter, because they had to be picked so green in order to "stand up"? Or to take home a basket of plums only to find them bruised and half decayed from the handling and shaking up they have had? And it is almost as hard to get good peaches.

The Lord never intended any of these fruits to be shipped any great distance to market; and if you want to be sure of getting them in ideal condition, as well as an abundant quantity, the only sure way is to"grow your own!"

While it is true that any of the fruits we have been discussing are extremely ornamental, as well as providers of delicious fruit, it is always the greatest mistake to think that you can stick them out on the lawn or in the back yard and have them drop crops of fruit into your lap!

Set your trees out in a little orchard by themselves where they can be kept cultivated and properly pruned and sprayed.

A good young peach tree will yield anywhere from five to ten sixten-quart baskets of peaches (I have seen twenty baskets from a single tree). Figuring only five baskets, however, you can see that half a dozen trees, when they begin to get their growth, will give a pretty generous supply for a family. The same number of plums and cherries will give an equally generous supply of their delicious fruits. In fact, no more than three of each if there is not room for more, would be very well worth while.

In a space so small as 60x80 you can set out a half dozen peaches, a half dozen plums, and three cherry trees—enough for a very good supply of fruit over a long season.

To be sure to get durnig the first season a good, strong growth, such as will make the foundation for some fruit the second season, three things are necessary. First, plant as early as possible. Second, give the young trees plenty to eat. Third, keep the surface around the newly set trees well cultivated to conserve moisture.

To plant early, you must have your trees early. To make sure of that order them now. And decide where you are going to put them, so that you can get ready for them the minute the frost is out of the ground.

To provide plenty of plant food, use three or four forkfuls of well rotted manure, and a couple of shovelfuls of wood ashes (or is these cannot be obtained, three or four handfuls of bone meal) for each tree. The manure or fertilizer must be mixed most thoroughly with the soil, before setting the tree. Sprinkle a handful or so of nitrate of soda around each tree, after growth starts. Vegetables may be grown between the trees for the first two or three years. This not only saves space but helps keep the surface thoroughly cultivated.

Annual Dues Are Slashed One-half

that a poll be taken to determine the number of members who would continue to pay for more than one membership in case the annual dues were reduced to $25. It developed at this point that four are at present carrying double memberships at $50, these firms being L. W. Gunby Company, R. E. Powell and Company, E. S. Adkins and Company, and the Eastern Shore Gas and Electric Company.

There are now an even hundred members, two having been admitted to membership on Thursday night, Dr. W. T. Truitt, chiropractor, and Herman L. Purnell, of the H. L. Purnell Company, barber supplies. The present members, of course, stand committed to the higher dues. To balance this, however, its is proposed to issue all memberships on a flat basis of $25, and those who can do so will take one or more memberships on a flat basis of $25 and those who can do so will take one or more, each membership carrying one vote.

The motion to reduce the dues was carried by a vote of 61 to 1 and becomes effective immediately. The $25 membership applies only to members who live within the corporated limits of Salisbury. All others will pay only $12 a year, a dollar a month.

Charles M. Peters declared that the Chamber and its work are more or less misunderstood, particularly outside the City. For this reason he urged that farmers be taken into the organization on a lower fee and that every possible attempt be made to sell them the Chamber. David Dallas then moved that the Secretary write to each member of the Wicomico Farmers Association showing the necessity for a Chamber, what it is doing for the farmer and everyone else, and urging the farmers to join.

The president then asked the Chamber whether or not it approved the action of the officers in going to other communities on the Eastern Shore to help them form a Chamber of Commerce. His procedure in this matter was unanimously approved. It was stated that anything that could be done to draw the Eastern Shore Communities closer together should be done.

Members of the Chamber were asked by the chair to consider the plan of a national advertising campaign to induce people to locate here, and in this connection it was suggested that a Del-Mar-Va Chamber of Commerce be formed. Mr. Freeman was directed to take the necessary steps to call a preliminary gathering of representatives from the other Chambers with a view to forming such an organization.

William M. Cooper discussed the malaria problem and asked that the Chamber of Commerce appoint a committee to co-operate with the Wicomico Woman's Club in ridding the City of the disease breeding mosquitos. Messrs William M. Cooper J. H. Carpenter, and Chas. M. Freeman were appointed on the committee requested.

Messrs, Augustus Toadvine, Chas. M. Freeman and Calvert L. Estill were appointed a committee to draw up resolutions of regret on the death of the late J. Ernest Shockley.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE WILL BE ENLIGHTENED

Members Of American Legion To Put Business Men Straight About Adjusted Compensation facts.

All posts of the American Legion in the State of Maryland have received a request to take immediate action on resolutions urging the adoption by the General Assembly of the American Legion State Bonus Bill which is now being considered by the Finance Committee. The bill provides for the payment of ten dollars a month for each person who was in the service of the United States during the World War, and it will probably be reported out this week.

In addition to having each post pass resolutions urging on local representatives the adoption of the measure, each legionnaire has been asked to write to the Delegates and Senators in person. The bill was introduced because at the last convention of the Department of Maryland, it was duly authorized by the delegates assembled at Baltimore. The Salisbury Post has done nothing definite yet in the matter but it is probable that Commander Adkins will act within the next day or two.

Since the United States Chamber of Commerce has expressed its disapproval of the Federal adjusted compensation bill, popularly miscalled the "Bonus Bill", and will shortly hold a referendum upon the question to determine the sentiment of its members, local legionnaires are preparing to go before the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce and explain their side of the matter. The case they will present will really be arguments in rebuttal and refutation of arguments adduced by national officers of the Chamber of Commerce. Part of the Legion's argument is embraced in a letter recently sent to the president of the United States Chamber by the National Commander of the Legion, Hanford MacNider. The letter says:

A hurried reading of your arguments for and against the cash feature brings to light the following inaccuracies and inconsistencies:

1. In your argument against cash, an attempt is made to establish that a soldier with base pay of $30 a month was financially better off than the average civilian during the war period. In the first instance, $30 a month as base pay is inaccurate, as the pamphlet itself states in its arguments in favor of cash compensation. Your pamphlet states this $30 was subject to $15 compulsory allotment deduction, an insurance deduction averaging $7, and a liberty bond deduction, the amount of which was not stated. Excluding the liberty bond item, this would bring the $30 down to $8 on your own figures. Actually the amount averaged around $6. But your negative argument you cling to the $30 figure, going on to say that food, shelter and clothing which the government provided the soldier cost him that the soldier actually had spent on him $90 a month, or $1,080 a year. Contrasted against that, it is set forth that in 1918 the average annual wage paid laborers in important industries was $1,094. The inference that the soldier was little worse off financially than the civilian laborer is further supported by the statement that the pre-war earnings of four thousand wounded men averaged $1,051 a year.

These figures are unfair and misleading. The $1,094 represents the earnings of all wage earners in industry, women and children, etc. The soldiers were recruited from a class receiving wages above that average as indicated by the figures submitted on the earnings of wounded men in 1916 (we presume your pre-war figures are of that date) the average earnings of four thousand wounded men was $1,051, though in 1916 the average wartime inflated wages of those who did not join the military forces was only $1,094. This seems to prove conclusively that the average soldier was of a type equipped to earn better wages than the average man who stayed at home.

The pamphlet attempts to show how such increases as civilians received during the war were more than consumed by increasing living costs. In its zeal to do this, the pamphlet makes rather adroit use of figures on page 14 in the argument against cash. A hasty reading of this paragraph is apt to create the impression that living costs increased 72% during the war, whereas a clear analysis on the basis of the figures given shows the increase of living costs from 1917 to 1919 was just 31%, or 15% less than the increase in wages for the same period. The result is that the civilian laborer was 15% better off in 1919 than he was in 1917, but your pahphlet does not say this and it requires considerable figuring to bring the fact to light. It seems to us the pamphlet makes a visible effort to create an impression which is not a fact—namely, that what the civilian laborer gained in increased wages, he lost in living costs.

4. The inference may also be found that civilians alone bore the brunt of mounting living costs and that the soldier was not touched by them. How about the families and dependents at home whose bread-winner was at the front? Army allotments and allowances were not increased 46% as wages were; they were not increased at all.

5. Reverting to your statement as to the pre-war earnings of the four thousand wounded men these earnings you give as $1,051 as what they made in 1916. By your reasoning, if these men had stayed at home and not gone to war and been wounded, their wages would have increased 46% at least. This would have meant about $483 annually per man, or probably more than most of them will ever receive under the provisions of the adjusted compensation bill.

6. Your pamphlet makes the point that "there was no abnormal increase in savings bank deposits from 1915 and 1919." This does not seem to us to be a very impressive argument. Whether the civilians saved their money or not, they had it to save, according to your own figures. The carnival of spending which went in the wake of inflated wages is still a vivid memory.

7. A rather surprising impression gained from reading your pamphlet is that industries as a whole did not profit abnormally during the war. What about the prodigious crop of new war-time millionaires disclosed by the income tax returns for 1918 and 1919? Income and other taxes imposed as a war measure were more excessive, more numerous and more burdensome in all the other allied countries than they were in the United States. Most of these taxes have been discontinued in America, while the greater portion of them are still effective in the allied countries. Furthermore, it is too obvious for comment at this time that all taxes aimed at excess profits have been passed on to those lower in the economic scale by adding taxes to prices.

8. It is regrettable to us to note that the Chamber has not abandoned an attitude once so common among those who were opposed to adjusted compensation, namely, to attempt to confuse the issue by reference to the condition of the disabled, whose welfare has always been the first consideration of the American Legion. The pamphlet says, "No country has made so generous provisions for the men who were wounded and for the dependents of men who were killed." It is true that no country has made so generous provisions for these men, but it is also true that the United States, through legislative shortcomings and administrative incompetence, has failed to a disgraceful degree to make these provisions available for the men for whom they were intended.

9. The pamphlet points out that $298,000,000 was distributed by the government as allotments and allowances for the dependents of men while they were in uniform. Your pamphlet does not point out, however, that probably half of this sum was contributed by soldiers themselves and deducted from their pay.

10 You mention as another mark of government beneficence to soldiers that War Risk Insurance policies totaling $39,000,000,000 were written. Your pamphlet is silent on the fact, however, that these policies were the result of a purely business transaction between the government and the soldier. He paid for his insurance and the premiums were deducted from his pay. Incidentally, this insurance venture was highly profitable to the government as hundreds of thousands of men after carrying their insurance for a year or two, dropped it and lost all they paid in premiums.

11. Your pamphlet goes on to discuss the difficulties of raising the money to defray the cost of carrying out the provisions of the adjusted compensation bill. The American Legion has never entered into a discussion of this phase of the question, but just as an example of the method of argument pursued in your pamphlet, we cite the following:

11 (a) You point out that it has been suggested that interest on the allied debt be used. The pamphlet states this would be insufficient since last year only $17,000,000 was forthcoming in interest from foreign governments. Of course, you do not mean to imply that $17,000,000 is all the interest we had coming. Our obligations outstanding with the allied countries total about $10,000,000,000, we believe. At 2%, this would be $200,000,000 a year, or all that is necessary to take care of the provisions under the adjusted compensation bill.

11 (b) The pamphlet goes on to say that "interest on the foreign debt, even if available, should not be used, because it properly belongs to the whole country which by loans and taxes provided the principal and which is entitled to have all proceeds applied to reduce the public debt." Isn't the obligation to restore the economic balance between the men who went to war and the men who did not, an obligation of the whole country? If an obligation of only part of the country—of what part?

A LESSON DRAWN IN FLAMES.

Pocomoke City's pitiful holocaust will sadden the hearts of every Eastern Shoreman. The catastrophe is still too close for us fully to realize completely what havoc has been wrought. Our minds are still too full of sympathetic thoughts and our hearts too full of condolence for us to draw a lesson from the flames. Yet that lesson should be drawn now while the moral stands clear in the crimson colors of destruction.

From the meager details of the beginning of the conflagration, it seems that the fire started from the burning of rubbish, sparks from which set fire to a near-by hay-loft. Drastic fire ordinances, supported by rigid inspection, and backed up by sufficient punishment when offenses were committed, might have saved our neighboring community. Of this we cannot be sure, for it is only surmise.

We do know this, however, that the same dangerous system of burning trash is prevalent in the heart of Salisbury today. Rubbish fires can be seen behind stores and office buildings on nearly every street in the center of the city. For the most part, the fires seem to be unwatched and often burn far into the night.

As has been pointed out on more than one occasion by experienced fire fighters of the Salisbury Fire Department, the business district of the city is teeming with fire traps. Some of these are so dangerous that officials of the Fire Department have issued warnings to tenants and owners that in case of fire they will refuse to enter the building.

If the owner of tenant is content to run this risk, it might be argued that such is his privilege. When that risk endangers the entire business section of th city, however, it becomes a matter of public interest and the public should see that every building, every store, every office in the business district of Salisbury is, so far as humanly possible, protected against fire.

The News has advocated before, and it now insists upon, the appointment by the Mayor and City Council of a municipal fire inspector with full power to enforce fire protection rulings and clean up the danger spots in the heart of the city. If any inhabitant refuses to safeguard his own and his neighbor's property, the city should take a hand and compel him to do so.

We believe that as men entrusted with the administration of the public affairs of Salisbury, and therefore vitally interested in the welfare of the city, the Mayor and City Fathers will appoint such an inspector and support him without stint or limit. By doing this they will have gone far toward safeguarding property interests in Salisbury.

SELLING THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

This is the day of victories in salesmanship. Other things being equal, and sometimes unequal, it is the man who best understands the needs of the other fellow and can make clear just what those needs are who carries off the laurel.

It is with a full understanding of the needs of this community and a complete realization of what its own functions should be that the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce has reduced its annual membership dues from fifty to twenty-five dollars. Double the membership at one-half the price is more than a good, catchy slogan. Carried into reality, this idea will make the local Chamber bigger, stronger, more influential than it has ever before been.

In proportion as it grows in strength, so will it grow in good works. It is not a Salisbury organization. It belongs to this county, to this section. It has a place and work for the farmer no less than for the merchant and professional man. It will benefit the agriculturist just as truly and as largely as it does the business man.

Consider for a moment the kind of activities in which the Chamber has been engaged. It has had established a boat line between the Eastern and Western Shores. It has fought for and will obtain lower freight rates. It is endeavoring to have the channel of the Wicomico deepened and straightened so that goods can be shipped in and out of this territory by water. It is working with municipal and State officials to prevent an epidemic of malaria fever. It has co-operated fully with the Wicomico Farmers Association. All these activities directly benefit no one individual or group or individuals, but this entire section of the Eastern Shore.

The Chamber of Commerce was established for one purpose only: for the advancement of Salisbury and Wicomico County. It is holding, in all its work, rigidly to that purpose. It is absolutely unselfish, except as regards the progress and prestige of this part of the Eastern Shore, which we believe to be the heart of America's garden of Eden. The machinery of the Chamber is as ready to help in any way it can the farmer as it is to help the business man. Several of the staunchest members of the organization are farmers and they never tire of telling others what a good thing the Chamber is.

The merchant of Pitsville, of Hebron, of Mardela, of any community in the County is as eagerly welcomed into the Chamber as the largest business firm in Salisbury. To prove that this is so, the membership dues for all those residing in Wicomico County outside the limits of the city of Salisbury have been reduced to twelve dollars a year.

The farmers of Wicomico County and the business men of the Wicomico County communities are urged to enroll with the Chamber. With the progressive citizens of this county to support the organization, there is no limit to the big things that may be done for this section. Surely the work is worth twelve dollars a year. That twelve dollars backed earnestly by the whole-hearted work of the members will make this one of the most progressive sections of the East.

Mail your check with your application for membership now. You will never regret it.

READY FOR WORK.

The Wicomico Farmers Association is ready for work. Through the agency of the American Fruit Growers, Incorporated, the Association will have an outlet for produce this year of scores of carlot markets in all parts of the country and will have hundreds of active, experienced salesmen right in those markets on the job selling Pine Cone products.

L. T. McGaughran, sales manager of the Maryland-Delaware Division, one of eighteen permanent divisions, has arrived in Salisbury where he will make his headquarters. Mr. McGaughran will arrange for the selling of produce thrown on the market here and he has at his command a vast selling agency. There can be little doubt that through organization such as this, this community must benefit.

The local sales manager does not look for any startling prices this year, but he does expect that a fair price with profit to the grower will be paid for produce shipped from this point. This will be a year of big crops, is the general belief, and in times of plenty prices may be good but they are seldom sky-high. The A. F. G. claims to do nothing marvelous. It is an excellent business organization and is run on 100 per cent efficient lines. It will, we firmly believe, be able to maintin a good market and all those who deal with it through the Farmers Association will undoubtedly profit.

The national market opened up by the American Fruit Growers is one that we could not without many years and much expense duplicate. This vast market comes to our hand ready-made. Let us make the most of it.

WICOMICALITIES

"Famous whiskey case is settled" screams a newspaper headline. We presume the Court took the case up p'int by p'int.

Maybe the great strides women are making are due, in some degree, to the prevailing fashions.

"Peace is concluded in Ireland," says a dispatch. With peace concluded, we assume the war will start again.

Another sample of dry reading: Prohibition articles.

Chemical warfare is now taboo, but we will still have comical warfare in the South American countries.

The real booster is the one who boosts his belief to the point of action and then acts.

Faith in ourselves, in our community, in our country, will do more than anything else to rid the nation of pessimism.

Uncle John's Poem ~

NUDGIN' ELBOWS.

When a feller nudges elbows, as you know a feller will, that's a-doin' his very durndest to scramble up life's hill, I never stop to jaw him, or to envy him his speed, or disturb a feller-feelin' that we both are sure to need—so we keep a-nudgin' elbows, as in friendliness we trudge,—each one a-feelin' better'n if the other didn't nudge. . . .

It never hurts my feelin's, nor affects my mortal pride to have a feller-traveller sorter nudge me in the side; when my corns has got rebellious, or my breath's a-gettin' short,—the little nudge reminds me that I've got to be a sport . . . I'll leave it to a court house full of solemn circuit judges, if it don't improve a feller's nerve, to spur it up with nudges.

Yr. own Uncle John.

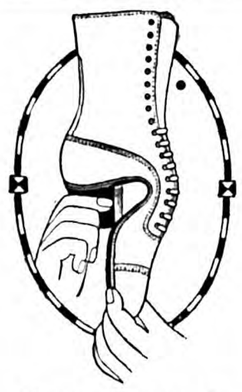
MINISTER WELCOMED

Rev. John A. Wright of Hebron, Methodist Protestant church, was returned to Union charge by the Maryland Conference for the fifth year, and on Thursday evening, April 13, the parsonage at Hebron was filled to overflow with friends from Providence, Charity, and Hebron churches including the M. E. church of Hebron, who welcomed him and his family back with them. After greetings and song by all present, the pastor led in prayer, refreshments were served and the friends departed leaving many tokens of love and appreciation.

HUMPHREYS--HASTINGS

Miss Grace Hastings, of near Salisbury, became the bride of Mr. Benson Humphreys, of Hebron, at the M. P. Parsonage of that community on Saturday, April 15, the Rev. John A. Wright officiating.



Grow Young in Cantilever Shoes

What man or woman, reaching the age of wisdom, would not discard a dozen years of physical progress—and lose none of the mental richness gathered in years of struggling existence? For a woman, it takes more than a paint box and lip stick to do it.

Foot troubles, and the physical impairment that often proceeds from wearing harmful shoes, make their mark—not altogether where none but a doctor can see it, but on the face where everyone can see it.

We believe women will be interested in this letter from a lady in Canada: "I felt fully ten years younger today than I did Saturday. Do you know why? I've had on my new Cantilever Shoes all day long and feel so comfortable. I even feel like singing."

They Bring Happiness

They do bring joy. Cantilever Shoes. They seem so perfectly suited to one's foot. Flexible, light, well made, good looking, they help you, comfort you, lighten your step. The Cantilever shank contains no hidden metal. It flexes when you walk, harmonizes with the arch of your foot which Nature designed to flex with every step. The Cantilever flexible arch supports restfully and healthfully; instead of restraining and weakening the foot it permits muscular exercise and circulation, which strengthens. So you avoid, or correct, weak arches. Dr. Douglas Stewart of New York says, "The foot is a cantilever spring." Surely that needs a flexible shoe—not a rigid one.

Keep your feet in trim. The spring of eternal youth which Ponce de Leon sought, may have been the spring of Cantilever Shoes!

Arcade Musical Comedy Draws Crowded House

"Listen To Me" Proves To Be Far Above The Average Road Show And Wins Over Audience.

Enjoyable beyond expectation was the offering "Listen to Me" which was presented at the Arcade Theatre on Tuesday evening to a crowded house. It was a real musical comedy, with beautiful costumes, extremely pleasing scene effects, good songs well sung, splendid dancing, and just enough plot to make it interesting and hold the attention.

One of the most original of the scenes was that in the "Sleigh Bell Ballet," though the entire production showed an unusual amount of originality. The black face comedian was particularly good as was the toe dancer. The Arcade management is to be congratulated upon having brought to the city such an offering.

PLENTY OF APPLES

By F. F. Rockwell, Horticultural Editor o "Farm and Fireside"

It use to be that our "city cousins" looked forward to getting back to the old farm once in a while, largely because that meant having plenty of nice, juicy apples to bite into once more.

Now it is almost getting to the point where it is the "country cousin" who enjoys a good apple as one of the treats he gets when he goes to the city!

You can hardly take an hour's ride in an automobile in any section of the country without passing scores of places where anywhere from a half dozen apple trees around the house, up to fifty or a hundred in a snug little "home orchard", could be grown just as well as not.

Even so few as four trees—if there is not room for any more—will give the average family all the apples they want for cooking and eating for many weeks in the fall and early winter.

I feel sure that if more home owners (those who have no thought of growing apples on a commercial scale) could realize what a tremendous decrease there has been in the number of apple trees in this country in the last ten years, they would immediately take steps to make sure of their own supply in the future.

Do you, for instance, realize that in the ten years between 1910 and 1920 the number of bearing apple trees in the United States fell off over 36,000,000 or nearly 25%; and that in the same period, the number of young trees, not yet in bearing, decreased over 29½ million, or 40%. With these figures which are taken from the census just completed staring us in the face, it looks as though every home owner who likes apples would do well to put in his own supply.

A good many years ago, when grandfather planted apple trees, everybody grew them and there didn't seem to be much of anything to bother them. Then came the introduction of the San Jose scale, and one new pest after another. These enemies ruined thousands of small home orchards, and hundreds of thousands of trees planted for home use, because only the big commercial orchardist knew how to fight these pests, or had the equipment to mix and apply sprays to control them.

Now, however, when one can get ready made spraying materials of a kind that need only be mixed with cold water before applying, or that can even be "dusted" on without using any water at all, the home orchardist can give his few trees practically as good protection as the big commercial grower.

If one is willing to attend to the spraying, which for a few trees for home use will not require, at the most over two or three hours, three or four times a year, it will be possible to produce just as perfect apples as the fancy Western apples in boxes which you pay eight or ten cents a piece for.

Intelligent spraying is absolutely the only big "secret" about growing fine apples. Anyone who is farmer or gardner enough to grow the ordinary vegetables can quickly learn what the trees need in the way of cultivation and fertilizers, to produce a good growth.

When the good Lord designed the apple tree, he was practically generous. Not only does it give us one of the finest of all fruits, but at blossoming time in spring, no other flowering tree surpasses it in beauty; and during the long, hot days of summer and early fall, it furnishes an ideal shade.

You may think it is looking a long way ahead to speak of shade in connection with apple trees to be set out now, but as a matter of fact you will be surprised at the growth they will make even in the first three or four years, if they are at all well taken care of. Trees set out this spring will make a growth of two to four feet the first season and three or four years from now will have become big enough to be quite a decorative feature of the place.

Many people do not realize how soon after setting out apple trees for their own use they will begin to be repaid for their trouble. Many varieties will set a few fruits the second or third year after planting. And while this would not be a big return commercially, it is a big return to the person who is looking for some extra nice apples for dessert purposes grown by his own hand.

I may mention here, too, for the benefit of those who have only a very little space around their homes, that the standard varieties may be obtained on dwarf growing stocks, so that the trees can be planted as close as 10 or 18 feet apart.

"Yeh, curling iron or toaster, I presume."

This is the shop that keeps its promises. We get our repair work out on time and don't ask you to pay for time that never should have been used on a job. This is a fair service auto shop where you'll get the right kind of treatment.

BUILDING PROGRAM IS LARGE FOR BALTIMORE

Permits Issued In 1921 For Buildings Worth $37,000,000. This Year May Pass $50,000,000.

Baltimore building activities which last year surpassed in valuation the previous high record of 1920 are again under way in volume, and promise great relief to any unemployment problem the city might otherwise face. The work now in progress and that in prospect will necessitate before completion the expenditure of more than $50,000,000. Building permits issued during 1921 aggregate approximately $37,000,000, hence it is seen what a vast amount of work is now in course of construction or scheduled to begin within the next few months.

Construction started off with a rush in January, permits to the value of more than $3,250,000 being issued, compared with the total of $1,737,460 for the same month of 1921, and $2,575,400 for January, 1920. A number of large projects were included, among these being two hospital buildings costing $780,000; a brick school house, $375,000; a steel gas holder of 10,000,000 cubic feet capacity, $875,000, out of a total of $2,451,000 representing new construction in the city proper. In addition there was $423,100 involved in new construction in the annex. Garages and dwellings made up a major portion of the remainer. A total of 99 brick houses were started costing $300,000, and there were 55 frame dwellings, costing $216,000. There were 60 private garages authorized at a cost of more than $65,000. Thus the widespread nature of the city's program is evident.

Throughout February the applications for permits came in steadily. Apartment houses, theatres and hospital buildings featured the bigger operations, but home building stood out prominently in the aggregate.

Judging from plans now in the hands of architects and builders the volume of building will steadily increase during the spring months, and with the opening of good weather a building program of diversified character and unprecedented volume will be under way.

Keeping pace with the construction work of individuals and corporations in varied lines is the municipal building program, which will necessitate the expenditure during the current year of many millions of dollars and give employment to thousands of persons. Paving and bridge construction will cost more than $5,500,000; sewer construction, $8,000,000; water extensions and improvements, $11,000,000, school repairs, $1,100,000; conduit work, $800,000; port and harbor improvements, $6,900,000; miscellaneous improvements, $1,000,000; new school buildings approximately $5,000,000. Ten new school buildings will be erected, and plans for these are now at various stages, as are the plans for other municipal improvements.

The construction of a War Memorial building on a site now being prepared will cost approximately $1,000,000. A city hospital for treatment of contagious diseases will necessitate an investment exceeding $750,000.

Improvements and additions to Baltimore hospitals this year will cost several millions. Long delayed because of high costs of materials and labor, contracts for many such structures are now awarded.. Johns Hopkins Hospital work already under way will cost $800,000; the new building of the Union Memorial Hospital will cost close to $1,000,000. $450,000 is the value of new units for the Church Home & Infirmary; the University of Maryland has immediate plans for spending $300,000 in new buildings and the full program will cost many times this amount.

The outlook for the future is indeed very bright, and the city is going forward to a period of intensive activity in development and expansion work on a scale heretofore unknown.

Jobs For The Idle

To put 700,000 ex-soldiers into jobs is the American Legion's immediate objective, according to an announcement from Legion national headquarters. To accomplish this, a nationwide drive will be launched from local posts in every city and town in the country on March 20, and employers and business men will be called into conference to devise ways and means of creating jobs and putting an end to a situation which Hanford McNider, Legion commander, has called "the greatest crisis in the Legion's history."

Civic orgaizations from Maine to California have been asked to swing into line to back up the Legion and make a concerted effort which will be felt in all sections of the country. By stimulating industry, by pushing engineering projects and municipal developments, by speeding up public utility enterprises, roadbuilding, paving, dredging, truck gardening, reforestation and reclamation, and by encouraging the "back-to-farm" movement, the Legion hopes to break the labor slump which has kept worthy men out of work ad caused widespread distress. Each city will be divided into regions, each under its own post and employment committee, with a general committee coordinating the efforts of all.

Endorses Bill

The Assembly of the State of New York, in legislative session, has passed a resolution endorsing the American Legion's five-fold adjusted compensation measure and urging its passage. Copies of the resolution were sent to New York's members of Congress.

Girl Wins Contest

It took a small Jewish girl and a little maid from Italy to win first and second prizes for the best essays on "Our Greatest American." The contests was held by the American Legion at Auburn, N. Y.

Big Eaters

Napoleon was right! Fifty cakes, 40 cases of soft drinks, two bushels of peanuts, 20 gallons of ice cream, 4,000 sandwiches, and a crate of oranges were consumed by 900 ex-soldiers (and friends) at an American Legion housewarming at Binghampton, N. Y.

Some Initiation

"There is only one god, and that god is Allah," yelled a young man at midnight, from the top of a lonely hill in Nashville, Tenn. The police were not placated until American Legion comrades explained that he was being initiated into a Greek letter fraternity.

Aerial Polo

Wounded Off Coast

Capt. Charles Ansleigh, skipper of a coal barge in 1918, was the only American wounded off the coast by enemy fire. He was hit by a shell from a submarine while his small son stood on deck and waved an American flag. Jobless for almost a year, Ansleigh, through the American Legion, has landed a position as watchman at the State House in Boston, Mass.

Soldiers Migrate

To Colorado alone 25,000 tubercular ex-soldiers have migrated. Only two per cent of all hospital cases are Colorado citizens. The American Legion is sending the names of the service men to posts in their home states to set up lines of communication for them with friends and relatives.

IN MEMORIAM.

BAILEY—In sad but loving remembrance of our dear son, Pratt L. Bailey, who departed this life two years ago, April 20, 1920.

Two years have passed and gone,
Two years of sorrow and pain,
But in this life we're wandering on
With hope to meet again.
Some may think that we forget you,
But no one on earth can tell
Of the sad and lonely heartaches,
For our boy we loved so well.

WOMAN MAKES OWN FUNERAL PLANS

Mrs. Ida M. Howard, age Sixty-three, Gives Minute Instructions Regarding Funeral Services

Mrs. Ida M .Howard, widow of the late Loudy Howard, died at Sharptown on Sunday after much suffering with cancer of the liver. She was sixty-three years old, the daughter of Levin and Lydia Cook Bennett, who lived for many years at the Barren Creek Mills. She was married forty years ago to Loudy Howard, who died fifteen years ago.

She leaves three sons, Walter, of Salisbury, Warren, who lives in Barren Creek district, near the residence of Thomas Bennett, and Earl, of Sharptown, who lived with and cared for his mother. She also leaves one daughter, Mrs. Straughn Wilson, of near Delmar, and two brothers, Oliver Bennett, of Baltimore, and Levin H. Bennett, of Philadelphia.

She requested that Rev. Henry S. Dulaney should preach her funeral from the text found in Second Corinthians and selected the following hymns to be sung: "Nearer my God to Thee," "Abide with me," and "Asleep in Jesus." She selected the following pall bearers: Joseph T. Bailey, G. T. Gootee and L. T. Cooper, of Sharptown, Samuel P. Wilson, Willard English and J. T. Shields. She had prepared the clothes to be buried in and directions for their use.

Her requests were carried out as far as possible. Her remains were taken to Mardela on Tuesday afternoon and funeral services held in the Methodist Protestant church of which she had been a member for nearly forty years, by Rev. H. S. Dulaney, after which the remains were interred in the adjacent cemetery.

JUNIOR MECHANICS IN ANNUAL SESSION

Large Gathering of O. U. A. M. at Odd Fellows Temple Transacted Business.

Meeting here in annual session at the Odd Fellows Temple on East Main street, representative of the Junior Order of American Mechanics on Tuesday were welcomed and given the keys of the City by Mayor W. Arthur Kennerly. The address of welcome was responded to by State Councilor of Maryland C. N. Satterfield, of Chestertown.

Mr. Satterfield then introduced ex-senator L. Atwood Bennett who also welcomed the 180 representatives in a very pleasing speech in which he touched upon the importance of having the Bible read in the public schools and having the American Flag flown from every school building in the State. The State Councilor then opened the session.

Nomination of officers was the first business to be transacted and resulted in the following names being placed before the session: for State Council, I. S. Hoskin of Baltimore; for vice-State Councilor, Samuel Moore of Funkstown; State Secretary, Charles S. Davis of Baltimore; assistant State Council Secretary, W. S. Kaufman; State Treasurer, W. P. Wright; State Conductor, Percy Dudley; Warden, Wm. Vaughn.

Inside Sentinel, John Langdon and M. J. Parsons; Outside Sentinel, J. W. Vawter and J. W. McKenzie; State Chaplin, M. R. Etchison. The election of officers was held Wednesday. On Tuesday night, a class of more than 150 candidates was initated by a crack degree team from Star of the West Council of Baltimore under the direction of George W. Ritter.

During the nomination of officers, the following national officers were introduced; National State Councilor George A. Davis of Baltimore; East National Councilor H. F. Lochner of Louisville, Kentucky; Martin Wood, National Secretary and Thomas H. Waters, a member of the National Finance Committee from Philadelphia.

Professional Hammer Throwers Needed Here

Harry W. Ruark Asks All Who Can Use Saw Or Hammer To Aid In Erecting Stand In Ball Park.

Mr. Ruark, one of the chief promoters of the Salisbury Base Ball Club has issued an invitation to all fans to turn out with their fatigue clothes on and help erect a grand stand in the park. The old stand has been torn down, the fence moved back, and the field has been put in excellent condition.

It is now proposed that lumber for the stands cut to the right lengths be stacked up conveniently and on a given day about twenty-five or thirty husky fans get together and have a grand "grand stand raising." The party could be made somewhat in the nature of an old fashioned log raising and it is believed that those participating would have quite as much fun as they did in the old days.

With a score of young fans on the job, it would not take much more than two days to get the stands up, and the saving that would be thus effected would go a long way toward insuring smoother financial conditions for the home team. L. C. Hopkins has very kindly consented to put in the foundations free of charge and it is thought that other fans should have as much interest in the team.

Those who can wield the hammer or the saw, carry planks, hold ladders, play water boy, or in any way make themselves generally useful, are urged to leave their names at once at the Central Bank stating just what kind of work they would prefer. E. Wilson Booth has very graciously contributed his services to laying out the plans for the stands.

RIVER CHANNEL TO BE DEEPENED AND WIDENED

Salisbury as a port seems on the point of development. Hopes are now high that the War Department will commence again on the river and harbor projects held up during the war and one of the first projects to be considered will be the dredging of the Wicomico River from Salisbury to the mouth.

Assurance of this was given Mr. Charles E. Harper this week when he called upon Major Harrington of the Baltimore department. The official stated, it is said, that he is waiting the return of certain papers from Washington and as soon as they are received, the department will advertise for bids. It is understood that there are ample funds on hand to do the work in the right way.

The plans proposed call for a channel 100 feet wide and nine feet deep at low water. At present a vessel drawing eight feet can make Salisbury on high tide. With the channel deepened and widened, a vessel taking twelve feet can make this port easily. The north and east prongs at Salisbury will also be dredged to the same width and depth as the main channel.

Mr. Charles E. Harper has been responsible for the action it is expected the War Department will take. More than twenty years ago, he began working on the proposition and actually succeeded in having the Mill street prong fixed up. It is estimated that close to a million dollars worth of business now is carried on annually above the point on Mill street where formerly only very small boats could go. He did not stop with this, however, but has kept steadily at work and it now seems that his efforts will be crowned with success.

Surveys were made of the river about eight years ago and the plans for dredging were completely drawn up. The war however, stopped all work of this kind and the War Department is now just about ready to go ahead. The deepening of the river channel will be of inestimable value to Salisbury and to all the section which draws from or ships through this city.

With Mr. Harper at Baltimore were Messrs Avery Hall of the Smith & Williams Company, Carroll Banks, A. L. Wooten, and Charles M. Freeman.

FASHION PARK CLOTHIERS

THE RIGHT IDEA IN BUYING CLOTHES.

It's important, of course, to get settled on what you want to spend—every man knows the best for himself.

But, more important than either of these, is the right model—you can't really enjoy your clothes unless the model you select is the right one for you to wear.

Too many men pay little attention to this most important item—we make models the outstanding feature of our clothing service.

We're in a position to do it well—our tailors at Fashion Park devoted to the model thought, too. Their co-operation is what makes our model service possible.

UNCLE BEN SAYS: Because a wife couldn't sleep for her husband he had his tonsils removed and her nerves and her curiosity, but those two events wouldn't let her sleep.

LOST VOICE AFTER "FLU"

Weekly Health Talk No. 1
By Dr. J. Harry Biron, Ph. C.

After the "flu" there invariably follows some weakness. The lungs may be weakened. Perhaps there is a bronchial trouble. With some a heart flurry is noticed. Quite often the kndneys are affected. Usually when there is loss of voice, the loss is permanent unless the victim turns to chiropractic spinal adjustments.

When there is a noticeable chronic weakness following the "flu" it is a clear indication of a primary weakness, something that is interfering with the transmission of mental impulses by way of the spinal nerve openings at the spine. By chiropractic spinal adjustments this disorder of the spinal vertebrae is righted, and the spinal nerves freed of pressure deliver a 100% volume of mental impulses.

HEALTH FOLLOWS
CHIROPRACTIC CORRECTS PRESSURE ON SPINAL NERVES IN DISEASES OF THE FOLLOWING ORGANS:

LOST VOICE COMES BACK

"In the first place I want to apologize for not showing that I appreciate what you did for me before the Christmas Holidays. Today I talk and sing and my voice is perfectly natural again, and I want to thank chiropractic for this. I am indeed grateful to you for my present condition." Mrs. C. D. Murray, Chiropractic Research Bureau Statement No. 1310H.

New Columbia Records

Melodies that everyone always loves

THERE are certain songs that nobody ever tires of—old airs, like "Annie Laurie" and "Swanee River," that wake the same emotion in us all. You can give the realest kind of pleasure to your family and friends by a concert of these dear old melodies on Columbia Records. You will find every song you ever heard of, and sung in just the way you like to hear it.

Every note, every shade of tone is brought out on the New Process Columbia Records with a clearness that gives you the unimpaired beauty of the original voice.

When you hear a familiar song, some favorite hymn, a solo or quartette that grips your heartstrings, look at the record and you will pretty generally find that it is a Columbia. After all, "home folks" are pretty good judges of the sort of music that is worth while. Here are some favorites:

POULTRY NOTES

BY H. W. RICKEY

A constant supply of fresh drinking water is essential, but contrary to the commonly accepted theory, water for bathing is not a necessity, as has been shown time and again on successfully managed duck ranches, the owners of which furnish their fowls, both young and old, with drinking water only. Many poultry men however, feel confident that the fertility of the egg is improved when the mated fowls have the run of ponds and running streams. Such bodies of water also supply additional foodstuffs such as small fish, shell fish, crabs and the usual worms and snails found in and about the water, and for this reason on farms bordering rivers creeks and bays the matter of food supply and food costs is greatly simplified. The drinking water should not be put in shallow pans, as the water must be sufficent depth to permit a thorough cleansing of the nostrils of sand and dirt. Some arrangement must be made to prevent the bathing of ducks in the drinking water, as it should be kept as free as possible from filth and dirt. A large stone placed in the center of the pan and extending a little above the surface of the water, leaving only space enough between the edges of the stone and the side of the pan to allow the fowls to drink freely will answer the purpose. The commercial or homemade drinking fountain consisting of an inverted can in a pan is a valuable appliance and is used on many large plants.

In spite of all precautions ducks have a way of slopping the water out of the drinking vessels. The surrounding soil soon becomes wet, muddy and filthy, a fit place for the breeding of disease producing organisms. Such a condition should not be allowed to exist. It may be prevented by digging a shallow pit and covering it with heavy fine-mesh wire. On the wire is placed the pan or drinking fountain, so that the waste water falls into the pit. By moving the pan occasionally and exposing the pit to the full rays of the sun, drying it out and then sprinkling air-slacked lime over the bottom and sides and on the surface of the soil surrounding the pit, proper sanitation may be obtained and maintained indefinitely.

After the fowls are mated and the season advances into winter, with a corresponding decrease in the supply of natural foodstuffs, more meat food must be fed to take place of the bugs and worms, and green feed must be fed in abundance. For breeding ducks during the cold weather I would suggest the following mash mixture: Two hundred pounds of wheat bran, 200 pounds of wheat middlings, 100 pounds of gluten meal, 100 pounds of corn meal and 125 pounds of meat scrap moistened with water, and fed in trough twice a day, at the rate of ten pounds (weighed before the water is added) for every thirty birds at each feeding. In addition to this feed one of the scratch mixtures as given above. Should the eggs show low fertility, increase somewhat the scratch feed and decrease the mash in proportion.

Young ducklings require about the same kinds of foods as young chickens and they should not be fed until they are from thirty to thirty-six hours old. All that is needed for the first day's feeding is a mixture of rolled oats and bread crumbs, with 3 per cent sand moistened with skim milk or water and fed five times daily. If rolled oats cannot be had the bread may be used alone for several days. On the second day an equal part of bran should be added to the bread crumbs and rolled oats, and on the third day 5 per cent of finely ground meat scrap, one part of corn meal with 10 per cent of green food, such as chopped lettuce cabbage, scalded clover or alfalfa should be made of the ration. After ten days of this feeding, the mash may be changed to two parts of bran, two of middlings, one and one-half part of corn meal and one part of meat scrap, with 5 per cent sand or fine grit, and fed four times a day. Green food may be chopped fine and fed in the mash or it may be thrown to the ducklings in bulk either once or twice a day and about as much as the duck will clean up within a reasonable time. Never permit food of any kind to lie about on the ground. Do not expose the young puddles or pools of water in the runs. The combined effects of prolonged exposure to the hot sun and the drinking of and the bathing or swimming in stagnant water often prove fatal.

H. W. Rickey.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

This is No. 68 of the fourth series of articles issued by the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West 40th St., New York, City. They are appearing weekly in these columns.

DEVELOPING GOOD JUDGMENT

By Edith Lochridge Reid.

Much of the inefficiency throughout the business world today is directly due to the lack of proper early training in the home. No business system or course in salesmanship and technique can ever quite overcome the habits and mind development acquired while the individual was passing through childhood and the most impressionable years of his existence.

One Monday morning I discovered that I was out of laundry soap because Jennie, our laundress, had not reported the fact before she left the previous week. There was just time for Robert to go to the store before school. "Get five bars of M. B. Laundry Soap," I told him as he started off. Meanwhile Jennie sat around waiting all because she hadn't told me about the empty soap box the week before. However, while this fact is not exactly the point I am making in this article, yet nevertheless it proves that Jennie had not been taught to use her judgment when she was small.

But to go back to Robert. In the course of time he appeared in the kitchen with empty hands. I had told him to get M. B. Laundry Soap but the store had none, and although the grocer wanted him to bring the next best he decided not to spend his money for something I hadn't told him to get. Now Robert is nine years old and he knew that the washing could not begin until we had the soap. But there were only twenty minutes between then and school time so I dispatched Jennie herself for the soap and used ten minutes in trying to impress upon Robert when NOT to conform to implicit obedience. I showed him how to reason that the washing was soaking. And that there wasn't any soap in the house Jennie was waiting. The clothes had to be washed. And to get them clean we must use soap.

Now it would have been much easier to have said, "Oh, Robert, run along to school; you do use such poor judgment." But some day Robert is going to work for an employer. And that employer will not always be on hand to tell him what to do when the right kind of material is not available. That employer will hire him for that very purpose, namely to do his thinking for him and take some of the responsibility of his department. We can't always get the kind of soap we ask for in this world, and we must make quick decisions and wise ones in choosing the next best thing.

But I was rewarded the very next week. The soap ordeal made its impression on Robert.

One evening "Daddy" telephoned out that he was bringing home a guest for supper. My first thought was, "No bread." So I sent Robert to the store for two loaves of bread. But it was late in the day, and the store had nothing left but graham bread. Robert walked out and started home, then he reflected—actually reflected—as I had suggested to him. There was no bread in the house. A guest was due. Something in the nature of bread food was necessary. So he returned to the store and said he would take the graham bread. "Two loaves?" asked the grocer. Again Robert used his brains. Our family does not care for graham bread. So we would not want any left over for the next day, and he came home with one loaf. I was so pleased I could have hugged him for joy if I hadn't been in such a dreadful hurry to get a hasty meal prepared. But the next day I had a nice talk with Robert, and I found that he had reasoned about the bread question just as I have indicated above, and he said, "Mother, I would have come home without ANY bread and the store would have been closed before you could send me back, IF IT HAD NOT BEEN FOR THE SOAP."

How I did feel repaid for taking that few minutes on a busy Monday morning to explain How To Use Good Judgment!

Mothers and teachers can recall instance after instance similar to the two mentioned when a child had to make an independent decision. If he had been wisely trained he made a wise decision. If not, he probably came home without the soap. It pays to have patience and spend a little time teaching logic even to the tots. Eventually the time saved by such instruction will be multiplied a hundred fold, and even though we get no immediate results, we owe it to the future of the boy and girl to expend this energy in stressing the vital importance of using good judgment. If they do not learn to weigh and measure and decide things for themselves at the impressionable age, they will not have this faculty developed when they are grown. Habits are not mushrooms that grow over night. They are oak trees that must be planted many years before they are actually needed for shade. But the acorn must drop where the soil is fertile.

Inventor of Telephone Sees Radio Future

Wireless days for commercial telephoning have arrived. The radiophone has been taken from the "plaything" class. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, smiles as he recalls that his invention received the same public reception. The Bell Company announced the opening of a million dollar radio broadcasting station at New York. Similar plants are to be built in other cities throughout the U. S. Services may be had for any purposes except advertising, say officials. This new photo of Mr. Bell was taken at Atlantic City. With him is his daughter, Mrs. Gilbert Grosvenor.

Preventive Medicine.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grippe. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle.—Advt.*

CORTLEY JUNIOR

Boys' clothes with snap and wear

There the Cortley Junior has extra thicknesses of cloth

MANY a woman judges clothing "value" by the material. Yet the most expensive all-wool cloth may never get a chance to show its wear. A suit is like a chain — no stronger than its weakest point.

A sudden scrape, an unusual strain may cause some part to give way, making a new suit into a shabby, old-looking thing before it should begin to wear.

Designed by the makers of the famous Cortley Clothes for young men, every suit not only has the snap and style that the boy appreciates, but also the manly, upstanding appearance that mothers look for.

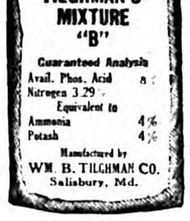
TILGHMAN'S FERTILIZERS



After years of experimenting the Founder of this Firm—over Forty years ago—developed Tilghman's Mixture "B"; there was not much known, at that time, about the Chemical Analysis of Fertilizers, but the farmers soon found by experience that the combination of materials used in "B" made mighty good Crops.

There are conditions under which some crops need a Plant Food containing more or less of one of the elements contained in the "B"; and to meet this need we made several Brands of various analyses, using the same High Grade Materials from which the "B" is made—but in different proportions.

We have what your Crops Need—Plant Food of the highest quality, in good drilling condition and can ship when you need it.

NEW TREATMENT OF SAN JOSE SCALE

By A. L. QUAINTANCE

Entomologist In Charge Fruit Insect Investigations, United States Department Of Agriculture.

The San Jose scale is just now exceedingly abundant and destructive in many orchards in the Bentonville, Ark., section, and growers state they are unable to adequately control the pest with the usual dormant tree treatments with lime-sulphur spray. While the Bureau of Entomology believes that thorough spraying with dormant tree strength of lime-sulphur will control the San Jose scale, yet to meet the desire of orchardists for other than lime-sulphur treatments, a number of experiments with sprays were undertaken. The purpose of the present article is to call attention to results secured in the treatment of the scale by the use of a spray containing 2 per cent of lubricating or engine oil emulsified with potash fish-oil soap.

The careful experiments in Florida by W. W. Yothers with various sprays for the control of citrus scale insects and the orange white fly, as published in Farmers' Bulletin 933 and elsewhere, resulted in a formula of engine-oil spray which has been found remarkably effective in view of the small amount of oil used, namely, 1 per cent, emulsified with potash fish-oil soap. Mr. Yothers found that any one of several oils of the lubricating type, when thoroughly emulsified and used at the dilution indicated, was quite effective against these scale insects and the white fly, and these sprays have now come into large commercial use in Florida.

The surprising efficiency of a spray containing such a low per cent of oil suggested the desirability of testing sprays of this character against the San Jose scale. The abundance and destructiveness of the scale in the Bentonville section of Arkansas and the desire of growers for other than lime sulphur sprays, has offered excellent opportunity for testing various dilutions of engine oil sprays against this pest. The experiments were carried out by A. J. Ackerman, of the Office of Deciduous Fruit Insect Investigations, and have included tests of lubricating oils of a strength of from ½ per cent to 4 per cent or 5 per cent, thoroughly emulsified with potash fish oil soap. The results showed practically complete killing of the scale by one thorough application of the spray of a strength as low as 2 per cent of oil. Orchardists have been so pleased with the results that the 2 per cent oil spray will be extensively used in their present necessity of bringing the pest under subjection.

A point yet to be established in connection with the present experiments is the possible injury of the oil spray which may result to the trees, twigs, or fruit buds, and several seasons' experience will be necessary before a final decision on this question can be reached. In view of the experience in Florida in spraying citrus trees in foliage with 1 per cent of oil, it is felt that dormant deciduous trees will probably stand without injury one annual treatment containing 2 per cent of oil.

In order that entomologists who desire to do so may make tests of the treatment the present winter, and also to render the treatment available to orchardists who may wish to test it on a small scale, the following directions for making the stock emulsion are given:

Formula For Stock Emulsion.

Red Engine Oil, or oil of similar grade	gallon	1
Potash Fish Oil Soap	pound	1

The oil, water, and soap are placed in a kettle or other receptacle and heated until the contents come to a boil. A brown scum appears on the surface of the mixture as it first begins to boil. After boiling for a few minutes the brown scum begins to disappear and at this stage the kettle is removed from the fire and the entire mixture is pumped twice under pressure of about 60 pounds while still very hot. A proper emulsion can not be made by stirring nor should the mixture be allowed to cool before it is pumped. Too much pumping will often break up the emulsion. During pumping, ordinary pump packing is burnt up rather quickly by the hot oil mixture. For making the stock emulsion on a large scale an all-metal pump would be necessary.

The stock emulsion contains 66 2-3 per cent of oil. To make a 2 per cent emulsion for use in a 200-gallon spray tank it is necessary to use 6 gallons of the stock emulsion.

Precaution should be taken to prevent the stock emulsion from freezing, which occurs at a temperature of about 15° F.

In case difficulty is experienced in making a proper emulsion, due to hardness of the water, the water used should be softened by the addition of 1 pound of caustic soda or lye per 100 gallons of diluted spray. The caustic soda should be disolved in 2 or 3 gallons of water and then added to the spray tank and thoroughly stirred, after which the proper quantity of stock emulsion can be added.

Any one of the following, or similar oils, may be used, some one or more of which can doubtless be obtained in most parts of the country:

Diamond Paraffin Oil.
180 Red Neutral.
Jr. Red Engine Oil.
Nabob Oil.

SCIENTISTS SEEK PARASITES OF TWO DESTRUCTIVE MOTHS

The search for foreign parasites of the gipsy and the brow-tan moths, serious insect pests introduced some years ago in the United States, has been resumed by the United States Department of Agriculture, following an interruption due to war conditions. S. S. Crossman and Dr. John N. Summers, who have been associated with this branch of the work of the Bureau of Entomology for several years, left this country the latter part of January to take up the hunt in Europe and Japan, respectively.

Prior to the war parasites from abroad were received in this country and were propagated and disseminated throughout the area infested with the pests. Many of the species imported were successfully established, and it was purposed to continue the work of importing, studying, and colonizing in the field all species of parasites found to aid in the control of the two pests in their native homes. The outbreak of the war, however, prevented this. It is believed that much benefit will be derived from further work abroad in importing beneficial parasites to aid in control in this country. A number of the species imported prior to the interruption did not become established for various reasons, some of which are not well understood at this time. It seems certain, it is said, that some of these species can be established. Mr. Crossman will visit Portugal, Spain, Italy, Austria, Czechoslovakia, France, and Germany in an endeavor to supplement the information which the department already has regarding the moths in their native homes, as well as the parasites which attack them. Dr. Summers will visit the localities in Japan which promise the greatest results.

FROM many points of view, construction in the country is more important than city construction. Property is apt to be under the same ownership for a lifetime instead of a few years. Fire protection is not efficient at long distances. These and other angles argue for building well and permanently.

TO IMPROVE TOMATO YIELD AND QUALITY

Two Eastern Shoremen Represent Growers In Meeting With Tri-State Canners Association.

Improvement in the yield per acre and in the quality of tomatoes produced, the adoption of the contract system between canners and growers and the formation of local cooperative associations to handle the crop, are among the recommendations to tomato growers of the State which have been drawn up by a growers' committee from the Maryland Agricultural Society following a meeting of that body with a similar committee from the Tri-State Canners Association.

J. E. Patten, East New Market, C. C. Gelder, Princess Anne, and A. C. Ensor, Forest Hill, composed the committee which represented the growers' interest. In their report of the meeting the members point to the fact that the future market for tomatoes is not particularly bright despite the light pack last season and that some contracts thus far made show prices of from 80 to 85 cents per dozen No. 2 can.

Both growers and canners should return to the contract system, says the report, because "it insures safety to the grower and enables the canner to forecast in part his pack, thus assisting in creating of business in futures, and enabling the jobber and wholesaler to plan their sales for some months in advance."

"Particular emphasis was placed upon the desirability of inspiring confidence in the trade by the fulfillment of the contract by both parties," continues the report. "Your committee recommends a careful consideration of this feature of the business to all local farmers' associations. In fact, it is the opinion of the committee that farmers should not grow even a small acreage of tomatoes this year except under a properly executed contract between the grower and the canner.

"It was felt that if the joint committee could be a factor in promoting a serious consideration of this question much would be accomplished towards establishing the industry in the State.

"Every effort should be made this year to increase the yield per acre. Seed should be selected, special care should be taken in the preparation and fertilization of the land and the tomato plants should be planted in the field at least two weeks earlier than has been the custom in the past. All plants should be in the field by May 20. Tests have sown that early planting is most profitable in securing increased yield. Plants should also be sprayed in the bed and field to prevent flea, beetle, blight and other troubles. Tomatoes should not be planted in land affected by wilt. Special meetings of growers should be held to discuss these questions. Growers should secure a special circular, Number 53, of the Extension Service, University of Maryland, from their county agents, which gives special suggestions for increased yield.

"It is the belief of the joint committee that the problem of the proper marketing of the crop is largely a growers' problem. That is, the grower should consider the outlook and plant acreage according to contract.

"It is the belief that the growers of each county or region should cooperate in raising the best quality of fruit and sell cooperatively by contract to the highest bidder. If this crop is grown and sold through an organized agency in the county or locality much greater results will be secured by both grower and canner.

"We therefore recommend that the growers of each county get together to consider this problem and see if it is not possible to grow and sell tomatoes on a commodity basis as is now being done by the Maryland dairymen with milk.

"The committee has no special recommendations to make at this time regarding price, except that it is reported that the canners are offering $12.60 per ton and the growers feel that they cannot grow tomatoes for less than $15.00. However, this is a matter for each growers' association to take up as suggested before."

$20 a Pound for California Rooster

Miss Marie Arfsten saw "Mike," a white leghorn rooster, at the cockerel show in Petaluma, Calif., and she decided then and there she must have him for her poultry ranch. So she bid up to $182.50 and got him, top price for nine pounds of fowl meat.

INTEREST IN PUREBRED SIRES DOUBLED DURING PAST YEAR

Judging from records of the United States Department of Agriculture, which conducts the "Better Sires—Better Stock" campaign, interest in purebred sires is more than double that of a year ago. During January and February the Bureau of Animal Industry issued 512 emblems of recognition to persons who signed declarations stating that they would use purebred sires exclusively in all classes of live stock kept. The number of persons granted emblems during the same time last year was 239.

Continuation of interest is shown by the unusually large number of enrollments early in March, more than 150 having occurred the first week. Henceforth all these owners will breed their cows, mares, sows, ewes, and hens to purebred sires only and will use breeding methods leading to further live-stock improvement.

"There is increasing evidence," declares Dr. J. R Mohler Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, "that raising scrub live stock is an unnecessary waste of time and feed. Any live-stock owner can improve the quality of his herds and flocks by the better sires route. Purebred sires permit the raising of grades, crossbreds or purebreds—whichever is preferred—depending on the kind of females used."

According to reports from more than 500 live-stock owners who have used purebred sires for several years, the greater returns derived greatly exceed the initial outlay and the benefits accumulate with each generation of animals raised.

KEEP THE STOMACH HEALTHFUL

—By—

DR. TRUITT

THE CHIROPRACTOR

"So you too, have been forced to live on crackers and milk and other equally uninteresting and joyless diets." How often has this remark been addressed to you.

Barring abuse, every one should be able to eat what he likes in reasonable quantity, without suffering. The facts, however, are that nearly every one is limiting himself, and trying to temper the quantity and kind of foods eaten just to pamper a delicate stomach.

Stomach health depends upon a normal supply of nervous energy. The chiropractor finds the alignment of joints of the spine disturbed at what is known as "stomach place" in every case of stomach disease. When a chiropractic spinal adjustment accurately restores the alignment at "stomach place" digestion once more becomes vigorous and effective.

STOMACH HEALTH IS RESTORED

"At the age of sixteen I went into a long and hard work and poor meals gave me a nervous stomach weakness. I suffered terribly for four years, paying specialists of all kinds for relief which never came. I had about given up hope when I began chiropractic adjustments. Today I am cured and well." Bessie Tan. Chiropractic Research Bureau, Sworn Statement No. 12459.

Cornell-Wood-Board

The Answer to the Housing Problem

FOR OFFICES

In the face of today's high rents and the cry for quarters, all spare space in every home, office, store and factory should be finished up with Cornell-Wood-Board, the strong, rigid panels that take the place of plaster.

An old attic charmingly finished in Cornell-Wood-Board paneling at a few dollars cost can be rented for $20 or $25 a month, and more; or be converted into a cozy nursery, sewing room or den. Many costly homes are finished throughout with Cornell-Wood-Board. It is easily and quickly applied right to the joists or studding, or over the old plaster.

Cornell paneling is in highest favor with architects, carpenters, contractors, decorators and home owners, not only because it is elegant and permanent, but because Cornell is unequalled for painting and calcimining.

REEDVILLE

The Seniors of Reedville High School, are very busy this week getting ready a drama entitled, "A Perplexing Situation," which they will play at the Town Hall just after Easter. There are fourteen graduates this year, most of them quite young. It has been customary in the past years to charge an admission fee to the commencement exercises, but the class of 1922 does not wish to do this, the drama is for the express purpose of making money enough to pay expenses that their friends may be entertained free in the coming finals. Since the hall rent is $15.00 a night and $1.00 extra for all rehearsals, the Seniors feel the weight of their responsibility.

Mrs Carlyle Omohundro, Mrs. Howard Rice, and Mrs. Clyde Parsons of Reedville, spent a recent, and very charming day with Mrs. Fitz Lee Harding, and Mrs. Slater Rice, in their apartments in the Hotel Northumberland, at Fleeton.

Mr. S. Clyde Haynie, of Reedville Motor Service Co., sold an Overland touring car recently to Mr. Archie Cockrell, near Tipers. Mr. Haynie, and Paul Muir, of "Muir House," were also at the Irvington last week, demonstrating one of their Republic trucks.

Mr. Eugene Cockrell, is now connected with the Jones Motor Co., at Fredericksburg, and was here this week delivering a beautiful Oldsmobile coupe to Mr. W. A. Edwards, of Fleeton. Eugene, and Mr. Jones had supper with Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Cockrell, returning to the Old Burg that evening.

Mrs. James C. Fisher, of "The Gables" Reedville, is in Washington for a week or two, attending conventions of the D. A. R's. and Daughters of 1812. The former met at Continental Memorial Hall, which is the home of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and is said to be the only building in the world built and planned by women. The women of 1812 will meet at the New Willard, the 24 of April. Mrs. Fisher has been notified of her recent election as 1st Vice President of the Virginia Society of Founders and Patriots. Mrs. Gibson, of Washington, a very attractive and interesting visitor at "The Cables" last summer, was at the same time made President of the Society.

The Perkins house, next door, is being painted this week, Mr. T. J. Parks, of Beverlyville, doing the work. The result is a wonderful improvement, the combination of white body, maize trimmings, and green shutters being beautiful.

Mrs T. J. Marsh returning to Washington, Thursday, via Coan, after spending a week here with relatives, Mrs. J. C. Jett., at Fleeton, Mrs. H. Crowther, at "Water View," near Tibitha, and Mr. Wayland Marsh, of this town. We were glad to hear that Mr. John C. Marsh, of Washington household, is very much better, after a severe operation for the removal of tonsils and adenoids.

Eugene Tarrant, son of the popular druggist at Reed and Rice's, made a trip to the old home in the King William, last week, driving back to Reedville the family horse and buggy. "Nell" made the trip in good time, and is now installed with Mr. Howard Marsh, on the farm near Tibitha, for awhile.

We had an interesting talk recently with Mrs. Mildred Towles, who is Secretary of the Thomas Herrick Lee Chapter, Children of the American Revolution, which was organized here last summer, by Mrs. John Taliaferro, of Norfolk. There are fifteen members at present, not all of them from this locality. Mrs. Taliaferro is President, Master Edward Harding Russell, of Mila, Treas. Miss Cecelia E. Steelman, of Ocean City, N. J. Historian. The Secretary, Mrs. Mildred Towles, and her little brother Spotswood, are quite proud of their ancestry, having been admitted into the society on three lines, through ranking officers in the Revolutionary Army, Col. Thomas Towles, Col. Henry Towles, and Major Stokely Towles. The Children of the Revolution will meet the D. A. R. next week in Washington, where an interesting time is promised them. Among other entertainment features they are to be received by the Mistress of the White House, take part in the Easter egg rolling, and make the annual pilgrimage to Mount Vernon.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Blackwell Jr., of Burgess Store, were very pleasant visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Jett, Sunday afternoon.

Miss Flora Jett has returned to "Chestnut Point," after more than a week here with her Aunt, Mrs. T. J. Jett.

Mr and Mrs. C. Morris Jett, returned Wednesday after a delightful visit to relatives at Norfolk, Baltimore and Mt. Airy, Md. At the latter place Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Jett Jr. are making their home.

Mr. Miller, of Baltimore, was in town last week visiting his daughter, Mrs. Hie Lewis, and his sister, Mrs. Grover Lewis, and their families.

Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Douglas of of Fleeton, and some of the smaller children, were in Baltimore last week.

Mrs. W. T. Covington, of this place spent some time in Baltimore last week, leaving W. T. Jr., with his great grand mother Mrs. A. W. McNeal of Fairport.

Mrs. R. B. Moore, uptown, has been sick this week, with something like grip again.

We have very little bloom here at this time. Pear trees, and the crab apple, were just bursting forth in all their beauty, when the furious Southwest wind storm swept over all day Tuesday and left in passing, only a few battered, withered petals behind. All the snowy fragrant blooms were carried, on the wings of the wind, indeed, far away. Early cheery trees are in full bloom, and also plum trees. Lilacs are blooming and dainty lavender and white tints, bringing to us a breath of "ye old time gardens." The very warm days of the past week have greatly hastened every growing thing, and strange as it may seem, we are wishing now for rain.

Misses Josephine and Bee Norris, of Baltimore, are at Reedville for Easter with their uncle Mr. E. R. Perkins and family. They are Bryn Mawr girls, and having visited here several summers, have many friends. Dr. H. W. Randolph and family, motoring over from Richmond, are at Fleeton working day, and sometimes at night, could not take care of them, and several factories took fish as a last resort. Not so many shad were caught on the Bay, as were taken by the Potomac fishermen. Here at Reedville last Tuesday in order to save the herring roe of the day's catch, a number of Reedville High School boys and girls went over and worked under Mr. Luther Rice, and Mr. Charles Hilson, at the Reedville Packing Co.

Mrs. Carrie Dolby has returned to Fleeton, after spending some time in Baltimore.

Miss Easter, and Miss Rosa Brooking, are with their parents at the Rectory at Fleeton, coming from their school rooms in Washington for the Easter holidays.

Quite a large delegation from the Irvington Lodge I. O. O. F., met with the Odd Fellows here Monday night. Refreshments were served, and a good meeting reported.

Representatives from the Chamber of Commerce of Salisbury and Crisfield, and from the Steamboat Line, were her Friday afternoon, in the interest of the new route which is planned for connecting the Eastern and Western Shores. The gentlemen were taken in cars to Burgess Store for a meeting there. Returning they had an enthusiastic meeting at Reedville, though we cannot give particulars at this writing.

EDEN

Mr. and Mrs. Ivy Ruark and Misses Hannah Bradford and Catherine Parks left Wednesday for Toddsville, after spending the past week with relatives.

Miss Helen Whayland of Salisbury, spent the Easter holidays with her parents.

Mrs. Ellen Denson and grandchildren spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Byrd of Royal Oaks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Malone spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Whayland.

Misses Edna and Bernice Whayland had as their guests Sunday: Misses Madeline, Ethel and Sarah Anne Whayland, Mr. Vernon Whayland and Miss Thelma Hamblin and brother William.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bounds and family and Mr. Earnest Bounds spent Sunday afternoon with friends of Siloam.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Moore entertained a few of their friends and relatives Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Cathell were visitors in this vicinity Sunday.

Mrs. W. P. Whayland is on the sick list this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Insley spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Otis Waller of Salisbury.

SURE TO HELP SICK WOMEN

Mrs. Baker, So Much Benefited by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, Anxious to Help Others

Lebanon, Indiana.—"I was completely run down from women's troubles and stomach trouble and for a long time was hardly able to do my work. I had some friends who had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they told me about it. I know what it has done for me and I recommend it to others, as I am sure it will be a great help to all sick women. It is a wonderful medicine, and I give you permission to use my testimonial and my photograph."—Mrs. EMMA BAKER, 310 S. East St., Lebanon, Indiana.

These letters recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound ought to convince women of the great worth of this medicine in the treatment of ailments to which they are often subject.

Mrs. Baker calls it "a wonderful medicine." If you are suffering from troubles women often have, or feel all run down, without any ambition or energy for your regular work, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a natural restorative and should help you as it has Mrs. Baker and many, many other women.

EASTERN SHORE, THE GARDEN SPOT, AND SOME OF ITS TOWNS

First Tide-water Mill on the Eastern Shore Was Built in Dorchester County by William Huffington. Some of Whose Descendants Still Live In The County.

The first tide-water mill on the Shore was evidently built in Dorchester county, above the North-West Fork river, in Mill Creek, which emper Huffington in this county, the south side of the State road at the foot of the concrete bridge that spans the Nanticoke river at Sharptown. It was not a success, but served a good purpose for a short time.

On flood tides the water passed through the mill and at its height the gates were closed and water dammed above the mill was used for grinding corn. This mill was built by William Huffington whose descendants are still living in this State and county. Prof. Walter J. Huffington, of Baltimore, superintendent of the colored school of the State and John Parker Huffington in this county, the lineal descendants of William Huffington. William Huffington at one time owned much of land now covered by the town of Sharptown.

The sills of the old mill may still be seen on low tide. Near the mill Huffington had quite a rice patch. This was but a few years after George Smith of South Carolina had spent thousands of dollars in an effort to grow rice in the marsh near Indian Town creek, a few miles south on the same side of the Nanticoke river. Huffington's experiment, like Smith's, failed. His next project was the building of a road from the mill out to the high land about three-quarters of a mile, and it is said much of the dirt was moved with wheelbarrows.

Before this only a very narrow Indian trail led out to the main land. The road opened up a line of travel from upper Dorchester to Somerset county. This road formed the bed of the State highway built ten years ago. There was no established ferry across the river at Sharptown at that time. Passengers with their grist were carried across the river in crude fishing barges and for this transportation the sum of five cents was charged. As soon as the road was made passable a ferry was put in operation with small boat for passengers and a flat bottom boat for team and passengers both. Robert and Hayes Windsor were the first ferrymen. This remained in operation, with greatly increasing traffic until the construction of the steel and concrete bridges which was built in 1911-21 and is six hundred and fifty-one feet long, with eighteen feet roadway with a draw providing two seventy-five feet openings for water traffic. This bridge was fourteen months in construction, costing about sixty thousand dollars, the advertised contract being fifty-five thousand, five hundred and two dollars and sixty-two cents.

Huffington lived at Sharptown while Major Frank Turpin lived at "Rehobeth" Turpin built a brig for the West India Trade at "Rehobeth" said to have been the largest vessel built on the Shore up to that time. Huffington was engaged to superintend the launching, which he did and named the brig for his only daughter, Isabella, then about eight years old. She later became the wife of Hiram B. Cooper, many of whose descendants now live in Wicomico county.

Turpin built the "Mariner Light," the "Jackson" and the "Lively Dove." The hulls of the three last named can be seen on a low tide near "Rehobeth" deeply imbedded in the mud. The "Jackson" was put together with copper and within the last few years hundreds of dollars worth of copper have been taken from the wreck and used or marketed.

Until 184 Somerset county claimed all that part of Nanticoke hundred lying east of North West branch of the Nanticoke. In November of that year, the Council of Maryland appointed a commission to settle the bounds between Somerset and Dorchester counties. They decided that the North East branch is the main stream of the Nanticoke river, and therefore the boundaries between the counties, which for years had been in dispute. While the Fork district lying between the Nanticoke and North West Fork rivers is not rated for large or important boards of trade yet Dorchester for average thrift. Wh the reputation of being the home of [illegible] Columbia Dispatch.

some prominent and distinguished families.

We have made mention of the Marines and Wheatleys and later will trace the Gordys, the Ellisses and perhaps others.

There are only two towns in the district, Eldorado which we have mentioned in previous letters, and Galestown. The first resident here was Henry Gale. He built the first house and also the mills, a saw and grist mill, and called the place Galestown. The creek which flows out into the Nanticoke, above Mill creek, south of the State road, he called Gale's creek. Many vessels were built on this creek among them being the "Ready," the "Expert," the "Method," the "Telegraph," the "Majestic," and the "Seven Sons." The grist mill at Galestown has been well patronized and today the mill, modernized and improved, operated and owned by Hearn & Moore, has a fine reputation for its products. There are two thrifty stores and a shirt factory. Galestown has always been an active mercantile center being surrounded by a good farming section.

There is an M. E. church with a good membership and a two-room school that meets the needs of the community so far as the primary and intermediate grades go. It is a splendid community and a happy prosperous people. There are two mill sites above Galestown, known as Wright's mill and Vincent's mill, the former a saw mill and the latter a grist mill. The grist mill is operated by Harry Newart and runs when the water supply is sufficient.

After much of the land bordering on the north-east side of the North West Fork river had been granted three men, Joseph, Isaac and William Wheatley came over from England and settled in what is now the Fork district of Dorchester county. The grants to these men were near the center of the district some distance from either river and extending up toward the State of Delaware. They had three tracts or grants of land and each built homes. These locations are easily defined at the present though two centuries have passed since their settlements were cleared. These places now represent the most highly improved sections of the upper part of the county.

There are living today more direct descendants of this family, of three brothers, than of any one family in Dorchester county. While a few have gone to other sections, some to the far west, the majority have remained close to their ancestral home and are classed with the best people, being industrious, honest, sociable and prosperous. They rank with the best tillers of the soil. So accurate have the traditional records been kept that the descendants now living can trace back their line to one of the three originals with accuracy. The families have always held a very close relation and recognized their family ties.

Last summer a family reunion of the Wheatleys was held at Wheatley's church within a short distance of the original settlement and at this gathering there were at least four hundred people who in some way were related or connected with the Wheatley families. A similar occasion is now being planned for next summer. They are now collecting data and every descendant who can be located will be notified of the day and date and if possible those interested hope to have the company reach the thousand mark on that day.

An elaborate program will be prepared and three family trees will be prepared tracing the descendants of Joseph, Jesse and William down to the present day. The family has contributed very much in every way to the growth and development of their native county and have been prominent in the social, political and religious life of the communities in which they have lived. They are practically the architects of their own fortune.

PURIFYING TOMATOES CANNING WASTES

Experiments recently completed by the U. S. Public Health Service on the purification to tomato-canning wastes indicate that these wastes and also those from factories packing other vegetables and fruits can be so purified that they may be discharged without nuisance into relatively small bodies of water.

The experiments were begun by the Service at Farnham, N. Y., at the request of a "full-line" canning company, after the company had found itself unable to obtain information from any other source as to methods of purifying its wastes, this factory, however, was burned while the testing plant was under construction, and the tests were carried out at a tomato-canning plant at Amelia, Ohio.

The wastes treated consisted of the liquids from washing down floors and cleaning utensils and apparatus and those from scalding the tomatoes but did not include tomato cores, skins or pulps. The solids including the pulp, which had to be wasted, were hauled away and ploughed into the ground. The volume of wastes treated averaged about one-half gallon per No. 3 can of tomatoes packed (1,000 cans to the ton).

The liquid wastes were pumped to settling tanks, in which about 85 per cent of the solid matter held in suspension was removed and the citric acid of the tomatoes was largely converted into lactic acid.

The solids separated in the settling tanks were disposed of on beds composed of a few inches of sand resting on a shallow bed of cinders. An area of 2.4 square feet will take care of wastes of this nature resulting from each 2,000 No. 3 cans of tomatoes packed.

The effluent from the settling tanks was run through a bed of coarse cinders 4.5 feet deep and later through a bed of sand of the same depth. The rate of filtration through each filter was 75,000 gallons per day.

HEAVY FROST KILLS FRUIT AND BERRIES

Saturday And Sunday Nights Bring Freeze That Plays Havoc With Early Crops.

ESTIMATES OF DAMAGE AROUND 90 PER CENT

Reports From All Sections Of The Shore Indicate That Grapes Are A Total Loss; Cantaloupes And Cucumbers Are Killed; Berries Are 75% Injured.

Killing frosts on Saturday and Sunday nights practically wiped out the early crops in this section. Estimates of the damage done vary from 50 to 90 per cent, but the majority of opinions cling to 75 as a safe and conservative figure.

After making a personal survey of the farms and orchards in Wicomico county, Mr. George R. Cobb, County Agent, says that 90 per cent of all apples and peaches are gone; the grapes are utterly ruined; 90 per cent of the early strawberries that are in blossom are killed and white potatoes from Maine grown seed are a total loss.

While the County has been depending strongly on a good crop of early berries to bring some cash into the community, it has likewise placed no little dependence in cantaloupes and cucumbers. These two crops are, according to Mr. Cobb, a complete failure. Beans are a total wreck and plums and cherries have suffered about 75 per cent.

All indications pointed to this being a most fruitful year, and local buyers and growers both agreed that a 25 per cent frost would not do much damage but on the other hand might enhance prices when the products start moving. Such a heavy loss, however, as that which has been experienced will cause infinite hardships here.

As an example of how completely the freeze did its work a well known grower of the Pittsville section said that he had picked six berry plants at random from his patch. On these six plants he found 42 berries which should have matured. Upon splitting them open and examining them, however, he discovered that of the 42 only four would have ripened. The rest had fallen victims to the frost.

On Monday the manager of Harrison's Nurseries at Berlin stated that about 75 per cent of the berries had been killed, but if the new blossoms come out as they should, there will be a fair crop anyhow.

Other reports from reliable sources indicate that the damage was well within the more conservative estimates. Individual losses are placed as high as $25,000 in some cases on berries alone. What the total loss to the peninsula will be cannot be estimated.

FAMOUS PHONOGRAPH STAR TO SING HERE

Ada Jones With Her Company Of Talented Artists Will Appear At Armory For American Legion.

On May 10th at the Armory under the auspices of the American Legion will occur the first personal appearance in this city of Ada Jones, who has been heard many times on phonograph records. Miss Jones with her magnetic personality and superior singing voice affords the greatest pleasure by her unique character songs and impersonations.

She brings with her a Company of talented artists. Miss Beth Hamilton, an American violinist who always arouses enthusiasm from critics and audiences. Her training has been with the most eminent masters of America and Europe. She always wins her audience with the first selection of her bow.

Miss Mabel H. Loomis is the pianist. She is an artist and although equipped to the limit of a virtuoso, she plays only as a means of expressing herself. She combines with a musical mind artistic temperament in such a way as to make piano playing a delight.

Miss Loomis also renders a number of delightful vocal selections.

EXCURSION TO SALISBURY

Officials of the Pennsylvania System have planned an excursion to Salisbury, Laurel, Harrington and Dover from Baltimore on Sunday, May 7th.

This excursion will bring many Eastern Shoremen who will be welcomed by their friends and relatives.

Many people here are planning to go to Baltimore on the return trip.

ENTERTAINS FRIENDS

Charles Farlow gave a card party Thursday evening in honor of Miss Beatrice Legates of Delmar. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Ship, Miss Mary Owens, Harvey Ivy, Miss Lelia Legates, Earnest Ivy, Owens, Miss Catherine Ward and Mr. Marion F. Smith. Delightful refreshments were served.

FIRE INSURANCE INSPECTOR MAKES SURVEY OF SALISBURY'S RESOURCES FOR PROTECTION

Official Of Middle Department Thoroughly Examines Fire Fighting Apparatus And Water Works—Change In Rates Is Not Expected—Compliments City Upon Fire Department.

Making a complete and comprehensive survey of Salisbury from the point of view of fire risk, Mr. Hartman, an inspector of the Middle Department of the Underwriter's Association, called attention to the fact that there has been no improvement in the water works and at the same time unqualifiedly complimented the city upon its excellent Fire Department.

He stated that he liked the Department, liked the way the equipment is kept, and had heard of the good work of the volunteer firemen. He was unable, however, to say much for the water system.

Condemnation proceedings of the property have been suggested and it is possible that something will be done in the near future to obtain action that will enable the city to have a water supply adequate to any emergency.

At present, the pumps that fill the stand pipe on Lemmon Hill have a capacity of 800 gallons a minute. One of the firetrucks can pump 1,000 gallons a minute and the other can use 900 gallons a minute. The stand pipe holds about 90,000 gallons. If both engines were hooked to a water main, the reserve water supply would not last two hours.

Just how "adequate" such a system can be depends altogether on the point of view. As long as the river is nearby, part of the town is protected. The unfortunate fact, however, is that such big plants as those of the C. R. Disharoon Company, E. S. Adkins & Co., and Salisbury Ice Company, are dependent entirely upon the water mains for protection. This means that in case of a fire, only one engine could be used.

The same may be said of California. The river is too far away for hose lines to be run to all sections of this district. Some time ago, the Mayor and City Council appointed one of their number a committee to have a reservoir constructed in such a manner near the State Road that a supply of water could always be had there independent of the mains. This has not yet been done.

With fires epidemic on the Peninsula, many of the more serious minded property holders are beginning to turn their attention to fire prevention and fire protection. One of the first things needed, in the opinion of those who speak with authority, is an adequate water supply system that will at all times enable the city Fire Department to cope with any emergency.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR HAVE WONDERFUL TRIP SOUTH

A. M. Walls Writes Interesting Account Of Journey South—Having Wonderful Trip.

The Beauseant Special, with every modern convenience pulled out of Baltimore over the B. & O. R. R. Camden station at 2:30 p. m., Thursday April 20th, bearing the Maryland Knights Templar on their way to the 35th Triennial Conclave which convines at New Orleans on the 24th.

The Beauseant delegation of Sir Knights and ladies numbered over one hundred and thirty, including ten from Salisbury.

Our first stop after leaving Washington was Asheville, N. C., where we were met with automobiles and conducted to the famous Battery Park Hotel for breakfast and entertained by the Cyrene Commandery of Asheville.

After breakfast we were conveyed to many places of interest, including the Biltmore Estate, Sunset Mountain and the Unique Grove Park Inn. On the Biltmore Estate we visited the famous Biltmore Dairy which is the most completely arranged establishment of its kind, I have ever seen. Our party was served with splendid milk and ice cream by the managment. Our friend Harry Van Horn ought to visit the dairy and see the cow that furnished the ice cream.

From Asheville to Knoxville, Tenn., our next stop, the home of my boyhood thence to Chattanooga, where we viewed Look Out Mountain and went over the battlefields of Chickamauga and Missionary Ridge. The embankment about Fort Saunders at Knoxville may yet be seen. It was here that General Saunders was killed.

In Knoxville we had dinner served at the Farragut Hotel on the 21st, and breakfast and luncheon at Hotel Patten in Chattanooga, today the 22nd.

The Country from Asheville to Chattanooga is marvelously rich in natural resources and unsurpassed anywhere for its scenic beauty. No painter can reproduce the picture that has been painted here by the hand of the Master Artist of the Universe.

East Tennessee was also noted for its loyalty to the Union cause during the trying days of the Civil War, it having furnished a larger number of troops for the Union Army than any other section of our country in proportion to it population.

As I write this note we are nearing Birmingham, the steel city of the South. To visit this section now, after a lapse of only a few years makes one appreciate the marvelous development that has and is taking place in our wonderful Southland.

Everyone of our party has enjoyed every bit of the time to date and are looking forward to the stay in New Orleans, a city said to be, in many respects the most beautiful city in our Country. Best wishes to our friends on the Eastern Sho'.

LEONARD-SMITH.

Miss Alice Frances Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Smith, and Mr. George W. Leonard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leonard, were united in marriage at a quiet home wedding on Saturday morning by Rev. R. L. Shipley. Only the immediate families were present. The bride and groom are in New York on their honeymoon and upon their return will reside on Snow Hill avenue.

American Legion Plans Memorial Day Services

Exercise Will Include Short Church Service Followed By A Parade To The Cemetery.

Plans for the fitting observance of Memorial Day are being made by a committee of Wicomico Post, American Legion. The exercises will consist of a short service, probably in the morning, followed by a parade to the cemetery where the graves of all soldiers will be appropriately marked.

It is understood that the R. D. Grier & Sons Company have offered to furnish markers for all graves, and the thanks of the Legion are due them. The church in which the service will be held has not yet been selected. All former service men are uregd to clip and mail the coupon that will be found on page four of this issue of The News.

Peninsula Hospital Nurses Graduate Soon

Miss Margaret C. Henman and Miss Maude E. Young will receive their diplomas on May twelfth.

The 1922 class at the Peninsula General Hospital will graduate on Wednesday evening, May 12. Graduation exercise will be held in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium at eight o' clock and the Hon. Josiah Marvil of Wilmington will deliver the principal address.

Two nurses will receive their diplomas. They are Miss Margaret C. Henman of Snow Hill and Miss Maude E. Young of Pocomoke City. Miss Helen Wise, superintendent, says that her class for next year is quite large, and the members will have an opportunity for finishing their training with increased facilities, as the new addition will be completed before they graduate.

Tall Cedars Meet To Plant Some Saplings

Ceremonial at Armory not well attended on account of bad weather Initation followed by boxing.

Owing to bad weather, the Tall Cedar ceremonial on Wednesday night was not largely attended. Those present, however, made up in enthusiasm what they lacked in numbers and several saplings were planted in ground that was duly prepared.

After the routine of initiation, a boxing match was staged for the amusement of the members. The next ceremonial will be held at Wachapreague, Virginia, on April 28. The officials expect every member to be present.

CHAUFFEUR ARRESTED.

George Maddox, of Princess Anne, employed as a chauffeur by Mr. E. E. Dryden, was arrested early Sunday morning by W. W. White, a Pennsylvania Railroad detective, charged with operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was tried and found guilty. Justice Jones imposed a fine of $100.00.

FARCE AT "Y"

"Mirandy's Minstrels" concluded with a laughable farce "Mrs Black's Pink Tea" will be given at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening, May 1st., by the Ladies Missionary Circle of the M. P. Church.

DIES FROM INJURIES.

Fatally injured in an automobile accident near Snow Hill on the evening of April 21, Mr. Henry West of Pocomoke City died at the hospital two days later. The accident, according to the State Police, was caused by the parking of a car on the wrong side of the road. Mr. L. W. Gordy of Pocomoke, it is said, was the owner of the parked car.

ROTARIANS TO HOLD RECORD MEETING SOON

Regular Dinner Scheduled For Next Thursday Dispensed With On Account Of Absentees.

W. F. ALLEN LEAVES CHAIR NEXT GATHERING

Record-breaking Attendance Perdicted For Last Meeting Of Which President "Bill" Will Have Charge As Active Head Of Club. Ralph Hall Grier Succeeds Him.

Excellent attendance, taking into consideration the number of members out of the city, marked the last regular meeting of the Rotary Club on Thursday evening at the "Y." A number of visitors were present including Mr. E. W. Jones, general agent of the Fruit Growers Express of Jacksonville, Florida, who was the guest of Senator Jesse D. Price.

Rotarian Harry Van Horn had as his guests Dr. T. A. Laddson, head of the live stock Sanitary Board of the State of Maryland, Dr. G. H. Grapp, who is Dr. Laddson's assistant, Dr. L. B. Ernest, veterinary inspector from Washington, and Dr. J. J. Jones, a veterinary inspector stationed at Easton, who is in charge of the entire Eastern Shore.

Three new members were admitted to the club. They were Mr. Percival E. Burroughs, State Roads Engineer; Mr. Fulton Rounds, of the Salisbury Battery Company, and Mr. Wilbur Rounds of the G. E. Rounds Company, wholesale fruit dealers. Upon motion of Rotarian Freeman, the meeting for Thursday night, April 28, was dispensed with on the grounds that many of the members would be in Berlin attending the Banker's Convention.

Carrying out a suggestion made some time ago by Rotarian Fred P. Adkins, President Allen divided the entire Club into six membership teams in charge of captains whose duty it will be to see that each member of the team is present at every meeting. It is thought that this will stimulate a great deal of interest and rivalry and will mean increased attendance at the meetings.

The teams are composed as follows: Captain Henry S. Todd, Jr.; Rotrians E. Dale Adkins, Charles W. Bennett, David Dallas, Ralph O. Dulany, Fred A. Grier, Jr., Hooper S. Miles, Chas. M. Peters, Herman L. Purnell, Chas. F. Smith, Albert M. Walls, and Arthur Everett Williams.

Captain Herbert Riffe; Rotarians Fred P. Adkins, Charles T. Bourne, J. McFadden Dick, Calvert L. Estill, Ralph H. Grier, Franklin B. Hill, Carl M. Paynter, Jesse D. Price, Wm. A. Sheppard, Harry Van Horn and Charles E. Wilkins.

Captain Charles O. Culver; Rotarians Israel L. Benjamin, Mark Cooper,

Dr. Joseph T. Herson Appears Before City Fathers And Gives Excellent Talk—Members Of Governing Body Seem Favorably Impressed—Delmar Delegation Seeks Council's Aid In Road.

Believing that the heart and conscience of the public should be awakened to the fact that the men who gave their lives that America might be free have been forgotten, and that this city and this county should, without further delay, redeem its pledges made during the heat of War, Dr. Joseph T. Herson, pastor of Asbury M. E. Church, on Monday night appeared before the City Council with a plea that they do something to start a movement having for its purpose the erecting of some sort of memorial to Wicomico's dead.

The speech was excellent and made an extremely favorable impression. In concluding, the minister complimented the administration upon its achievements. Dr. Herson has always taken an active interest in plans for a memorial and it is hoped that his last effort will start a movement which will not subside until the men who fell on the field of battle have been fittingly remembered by their native county.

Headed by Mayor Thorington, Mr. S. Ker Slemons, and Mr. J. F. Brown, a delegation of about ten citizens from Delmar came before the Council seeking their co-operation in endeavoring to persuade the State Roads Commissioner to build the Salisbury-Delmar road at once and to begin at the Delmar end.

Messrs Thorington and Brown were the chief spokesmen. They pointed out the economic necessity of giving the Delmar District some consideration and stated that unless the road is put in first class shape, Salisbury will lose thousands and thousands of dollars worth of trade.

Much of the business that is now coming to this city will go to Seaford and Wilmington unless something is done to make travel to and from Salisbury a pleasure and not a hardship. There is also another reason which has been advanced as to why the new road should start at the Delmar end.

Many people believe that if three miles is built at the northern end, the people of Salisbury will make greater efforts to have the entire road completed. It is, of course, to the best interests of both communities that the entire road be built as soon as possible.

The City Council of Salisbury, the Mayor, and several business men seem to be generally in favor of co-operating with Delmar in the matter. The City Fathers, however, are making a study of the project and have not yet reached a decision as to what action they shall take.

Moose Entertain Ladies At Armory

The Moose Ladies Night at the First Regiment Armory on Friday night was considered one of the most enjoyable affairs of the spring. Professional entertainers from Philadelphia kept the guests in a roar of laughter, putting on one of the best vaudeville skits ever seen here.

After the vaudeville, refreshments were served and then the guests danced to the strains of excellent music furnished by the Philadelphia Moose Orchestra. The committee in charge of the affair included Messrs J. H. Carpenter, R. E. Latham, C. M. Freeman, W. J. Brewington, Ronald Pragg, Claude Dorman, Raymond Wimbrow, James McDermon, I. L. Swan, and Frank M. Ulman.

Mrs. Jas. B. Truitt Dies At Snow Hill

Mrs. James S. Russell Of This City Called To Snow Hill By Death Of Her Mother.

Word was received here Wednesday of the death of Mrs James B. Truitt, age sixty two at six o'clock Wednesday morning at her home in Snow Hill. She had been ill for about two weeks.

She is survived by her husband and by the following children: Mrs. James Russell, of this city; Mrs. Wm. B. Derickson, of Selbyville; Gertrude, Ida and Frances, and one son, George, all of Snow Hill. Funeral services will be held at the home on Friday afternoon and interment will be made in the cemetery at Snow Hill.

Senator J. I. France A Salisbury Visitor

Is Guest Of Former Senator W. P. Jackson—Receives Calls From Party Leaders Of City.

Senator Joseph Irwin France was the guest for a short time last week of Senator W. P. Jackson at the latter's home on Camden avenue. While here, Senator France received calls from several of the leading Republicans of the city.

It is supposed that the Senator was in this section to confer with leaders in regard to the coming primaries. He left by motor about one o'clock on Sunday.

There will be a linen shower at the Peninsula General Hospital on next Wednesday, May 3. Anything from a wash cloth up will be fully acceptable. A number of invitations have been sent out.

MARYLAND CROP REPORT FOR APRIL MADE PUBLIC

Conditions On The Whole Satisfactory—Wheat Shows Falling Off.

Condition of the winter sown crops is on the whole satisfactory. Germination in some quarters has been irregular, delayed by dry weather last fall. And in a few areas the cereals have been injured somewhat by the severe winter colds, where there was a lack of sufficient snow-covering; according to a statement issued to the press today by John S. Dannee, agricultural statistician for "the United States Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, cooperating in crop statistics with the Extension Division of the University of Maryland.

On April 1 the growing condition of wheat in Maryland was found to be 89 per cent of a normal, against 95 on April 1 a year preceding, and 88 per cent, the average condition on April 1 for the past ten years. Average price paid the farmer was $1.31 per bushel, against $1.44 on April 1 last year. Condition of rye was 90 per cent, against 93 a year ago, and 88 per cent, the ten-year average of condition on April 1.

March was generally favorable to crops and fruits. Locally, heavy rains fell hindering farm activities. The land was so wet to be practically unworkable. Towards the end of the month mild and drier weather prevailed and field work became general. Preparations for spring plowing went forward briskly, though somewhat delayed behind the seasonal average in some districts due to the unfavorable weather.

Highly optimistic reports concerning the fruit prospect pour in from all portions of the State. Southern Maryland growers say they are looking for a bumper crop this year as a result of the seasonal weather.

Tobacco farmers are now sowing their beds. Many farmers are sowing several beds because of the crop shortage last year, thereby assuring enough plants for transplanting when the proper time arrives.

The Eastern Shore says early truck crops are advancing satisfactorily. Livestock in good condition. There is plenty of feed.

Pastures over the State are greening nicely.

Brood sows are slightly (2 per cent) in excess of the number on the farms a year ago. Better prices of late for hogs have made farmers optimistic with a tendency to increase the number of hogs.

Farm labor is reported in adiquate supply 107 per cent of what was available a year ago, and 95 per cent in comparison with the normal supply. The demand for labor is reported as 90 per cent of what is was one year ago, indicating a ratio of 119 of supply to demand. But farmers insist that they are short of funds; that the continued low prices farm products are fetching prohibit employment of all the farm help they need, necessitating their doing much of their work themselves with the aid of their families. Few workers, reports say, are willing to desert the city for the farms at the wages farmers are able to pay at this time.

FIRE ON CHURCH STREET.

Fire about three o'clock Saturday afternoon did slight damage in a residence on East Church Street. The flames were quickly extinguished by chemical, the large engines not being used.

MARYLAND INSTITUTE.

The Maryland W. C. T. U. will hold an institute in Easton on May Second. An all day meeting is planned. The morning and afternoon sessions will be devoted to the study of the methods of work. The evening session will be given over to addresses and several splendid speakers have been engaged for the occasion. The public is invited to attend.

FLAMES MENACE THE CENTER OF BUSINESS AREA

Early Morning Alarm Brings The Populace Of The City To Scene Of Conflagration.

FLAMES SHOOT ACROSS STREET TO BUILDINGS

Loss placed at $15,000 partly covered by insurance. D. W. Perdue Auto Company and City Hand Laundry endangered for a time. Building occupied by Wood Richardson.

Fire early Monday morning completely destroyed the Auction Rooms of Wood Richardson on Camden street and for a time endangered much of the surrounding property.

Shortly after the alarm was given, the flames were shooting across the street licking at the buildings occupied by the D. W. Perdue Auto Company and the City Hand Laundry. The windows and plate glass doors in both buildings were cracked and had to be removed.

Mr. Richardson owner of the building was at work in the rear of the structure at the time, about six o' clock, painting an automobile. His attention was suddenly attracted by the crackling of the fire and looking up he discovered that a line of flames was playing along the lighting wires in the building.

He immediately ran to the phone and tried to get the Fire Department. After a delay of several minute the bell began to sound the alarm and within three minutes the first truck was on its way. The engine took station on the river bank and two lines of hose were brought up, with two heavy streams playing on the building which by then was a mass of flames.

It was seen at once that the building could not be saved and all efforts were then made to protect the surrounding property. Fortunately there was no wind, otherwise the loss would probably have been far greater.

Mr. Richardson estimates that his loss is approximately $15,000, fifty per cent of which is covered by insurance. He stated that he had just bought large stocks of goods to be sold at auction and that these were totally destroyed. The damage done to the buildings across the street is estimated at about $150.

The building has long been known as a fire trap. The Fire Department has three times been called to quench the flames there. The present owner said that within the past few months he has had the wiring tested because after every high wind the wires became loose, causing a short circuit.

The structure was a long shed-like affair, the front portion of which was two stories in height. The interior of the front part was lined with wall board. As soon as the big plate glass windows fell out, which happened as Mr. Richardson was leaving the building, the whole thing became a roaring furnace.

By 8:30, the fire was out. The proprietor of the Ross Boarding House on Main street extended to the firemen a very kind invitation to breakfast and many of them responded.

SALISBURY HOLSTEIN IS OFFICIALLY LISTED

Homestead Dairy Farm Cow Makes Record of 23992.8 Pounds Milk And 728.12 Pounds Butter Fat In Year.

In the latest "Reported Tests of Holstein-Friesian Cows," published biweekly by Malcolm H. Gardner, Delavan, Wis., Superintendent of Advanced Registry of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, W. P. Jackson of Salisbury, has one of his purebred registered Holsteins listed.

This cow, Pride Daisy Segis Hengerveld, is reported as having made at the age of three years and ten months, a record of 23992.8 lbs. of milk and 728.12 lbs. of butter fat, in 365 days, equivalent to 910 lbs. of butter. This record makes her the champion for the State of Maryland in the Senior three year old class for 365 day butter fat production. She displaces former champion, Barbara Pontiac, owned by the U. S. Dairy Division at Beltsville, Md.

Tests of this kind are supervised by one or more representatives from the Dairy Division of the College of Agriculture present at each feeding and milking to weigh the milk and test it for butter fat content. A duplicate sample of this milk is forwarded to the State College, where careful check is made before the record is reported.

Frank O. Lowden, former Governor of Illinois is President of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America. This Association has a membership of over twenty thousand breeders in the United States, and is the largest purebred cattle Association in the world, representing over one-half million purebred animals.

FINED $200.

TOMATO PLANTS FOR AN ENTIRE COUNTY

Huge Seed Bed Planted At Chesapeake City To Solve Difficulty Of Increasing The Yield.

Tomato plants for an entire county is the ambition of County Agent A. D. Radebaugh, Cecil county, who in cooperation with the growers has planned a large seed bed at Chesapeake City where plants will be grown as one means of solving the difficult problem of increasing the yield per acre of this important canning house crop without materially increasing the cost of production.

According to W. R. Ballard, specialist in vegetable gardening for the University of Maryland Extension Service, who has visited the rapidly developing project at Chesapeake City, the plan of the county agent and the Cecil county growers is to secure good vigorous plants which may be set out in the field at a date considerably earlier than is customary.

"Experiments have shown that the early set plants of the Stone variety of tomatoes have yielded from two to three tons more per care than plants of the same variety set in the field later in the season," says Mr. Ballard. "The University of Maryland Extension Service has been recommending early planting as one means of increasing the yield per acre. The disadvantage of the practice, however, lies in the fact that the vines frequently begin producing before the canning houses open. The Cecil county plan of growing the plants cooperatively on a large scale, however, should offer a very practical method of overcoming this objection because it will supply a large number of growers with the early plants and should thus make it profitable for the canning houses to open earlier in the season to take care of the crop."

The project at Chesapeake City will be watched with interest by practically all the growers in the State, thinks Mr. Ballard, because it will suggest similar possibilities of cooperation in other sections. Canners also will undoubtedly be interested in the final results of the enterprise.

Mr. Radebaugh has had much practical experience in growing tomatoes on a commercial scale and for a number of years produced exceptional yields on his farm at Bynum, Harford county. Forty pounds of tomato seed were purchased for the Chesapeake City enterprise. The plant bed has been heavily fertilized and the young plants will be frequently sprayed as a precaution against disease and insects. The Cecil county growers have contracted with the canners to sell their crops at $12.00 per ton.

Presiden Allen stated that the next meeting of the Club will be the last over which he will preside and he especially requested that a full attendance be accorded on that occasion. An interesting stunt is being prepared and every Rotarian will be repaid even more liberally than usual for his presence.

Members of the Club are unanimous in their commendation of the way in which President "Bill" Allen has conducted the affairs of the and declare there are few Rotarians in the country who can equal him in interest, pep and performance. A record attendance for his last appearance in the chair as the active head of the Club is predicted.

WAR MATERIAL DISTRIBUTED FOR BUILDING HARD ROADS.

A steady supply of surplus war material suitable for highway construction is being distributed to the States by the Department of Agriculture, which acts as a clearing house. A force of about 175 persons is kept in the field taking inventories and preparing material for shipment.

Lists of material available are sent to each State highway department and a period of thirty days allowed for the submission of requisitions. The material is allotted to the States on the same basis as monetary Federal aid for road construction, a value being placed on each item and a record kept of the total value received by each State. Up to February 1, of this year the value of the material thus distributed amounted to $126,000,000, of which 90,000,000 represented the value of motor vehicles and parts.

Recently an inventory was taken of about $40,000,000 worth of material at Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., part of which will be retained by the War Department and the remainder, suitable for road work, soon will be available for distribution. The work is being rushed, so that the material may be used for road work early in the season and the camp cleaned up by August 1.

Other surplus war materials recently received for distribution and located at Schenectady, N. Y.; Watertown, Mass.; and Dover, N. J., include 200 carloads of brick, about half of which is suitable for highway paving; 5,000,000 pounds of nails, 1,000,000 pounds of staples, 1,000,000 square feet of concrete reinforcing mesh, 200,000 monkey wrenches, and 133 carloads picks and pick handles.

PROGRESS MADE IN CONTROL OF CUCUMBER MOSAIC DISEASE.

Investigation of the cucumber mosaic desease made during the past year show that it is carried over winter by the common perennial milkweed, as well as the wild cucumber, United States Department of Agriculture, are menace to the growing of cucumbers, muskmelons, and related vine crops.

The eradication of wild cucumber for a considerable area around cultivated cucumber fields has given encouraging results in controlling mosaic, and it is believed that the combined eradication of wild cucumber and milk weed may prove a practical means of further control.

Another step looking toward the control of cucumber mosaic was taken recently through the action of the Seed Trade Association at its meeting held in St. Louis, when, at the request of the United States Department of Agriculture, it agreed to withdraw wild cucumber seed from the trade.

In addition, the investigations show that the rapidity and severity of the developement of cucumber mosaic are related to soil and air temperatures. A temperature of 86° F. (30° C.) favors infection and the rapid development of the desease, while temperatures below 68° F. (20° C.) retard or entirely prevent its appearance.

Cucumber mosaic is serious and wide spread in the large pickle-growing areas of the Middle West, as well as other localities, and the discovery of methods for reducing losses, from it is therefore a distinct contribution to the progress of the industry. The department plans to further test the eradication methods before making general recommendations.

MORE ANIMAL GLANDS USED BY PHARMACEUTICAL HOUSES.

Within the last fifteen years there has grown up in this country a highly diversified industry in the manufacture of products from the various glands of domestic animals that are slaughtered in the large meat-packing plants. According to the Bureau of Chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture rennet and pepsin were the first substances of this character. Shortly after the introduction of these first products came the extract of the thyroid gland.

Pharmaceutical houses making these and other preparations get the raw gland from the packers, but a number of the latter are now making the finished product in their own plants.

Glands and tissues used in making these products are obtained from cattle, calves, sheep and hogs. From cattle are taken the ovarian, pituitary, pineal, prostate, testes, suprarenal, parathyroid and parathyroid glands; from calves, the thymus; from sheep, the thyroid, ovarian and orchic; from hogs, the pituitary, ovarian, and pancreas. Products made from the thyroid, suprarenal, and pancreatic glands and rennet and pepsin are recognized as official. There are, however, many other preparations not so well known. One concern is said to put out 75 preparations of this kind for medical and surgical purposes.

AN OPPORTUNITY AND A TRUST.

"We should be willing to do almost anything that Salisbury asks of us, for we never could have done for ourselves what they have done for us in this great matter," said a prominent Virginian the other day in speaking of the boat line between the Eastern and Western Shores.

The people of the Northern Neck feel, full knowingly, that the Chamber of Commerce of this city, backed by the support of the most progressive citizens of other communities on both shores, is largely responsible for the establishment of that boat connection.

They know that Salisbury is deeply interested in seeing that steamer line made an unqualified success, and they know that all Salisburians will contribute what they may to the proposition. They know this because they realize that the opening of the fertile Western Shore will mean much for this community.

It is possible, on the other hand, that the people of this city do not so fully realize just what their opportunity is. Most of them know of the boat line, know that it will mean new friends on our streets, new business relations, new territory to cover.

Many, however, do not completely realize just how the operation of the steamer will affect them. Now is the time for them to learn. Within three weeks, the boat will be making regular trips. The first few weeks of operation will probably determine, to a large extent, the place Salisbury is to continue to hold in the minds of our friends across the Bay.

Salisbury is responsible for the establishment of the line and Salisbury will be largely responsible for its ultimate success. The responsibility of this city is the responsibility of each of its citizens. Let every man, woman and child in the County take an active, intelligent interest in this project. By so doing, we shall seize our opportunity and prove ourselves worthy of the trust our Virginia friends have placed in us.

HARMONY AND BUSINESS.

From time to time, there has been brought to the attention of the public the need for a municipal band, directed by a competent instructor, and supported jointly by the city administration and the business people of Salisbury.

The advantages of such an organization are quite manifest; on sultry summer evenings, band concerts would draw visitors from many miles away, would give them a view of our city which they might otherwise feel inclined to forego, and would provide a most enjoyable recreation for the townspeople.

From a business point, the band would also have many advantages. By drawing people here, it would be the means of making strangers acquainted with the city. What more natural, then, that they would afterward come here to do their shopping? If Salisbury had a good municipal band, and it is taken for granted that it would have no other kind, it would be invited to play in other communities, thereby advertising the city.

When interviewed, a number of business men stated that they believe a municipal band should be formed and they expressed their willingness to contribute to its support. What the proposition now needs is for some energetic citizen who has at heart the advancement of Salisbury to get busy and find out definitely, in black and white, just how much can be raised annually for the band.

If two hundred citizens would contribute twenty-five cents a week to a municipal band, the organization could be effected without difficulty. Surely as a drawing card and an advertisement, to say nothing of the pleasure, a band is worth twelve dollars a year to practically every business house in the city.

SAFEGUARDING THE PUBLIC.

A number of years ago, the Mayor and City Council deemed it important to replace with the most modern of motorized fire-fighting equipment the old horse- drawn steamers then in use. No one has ever questioned their sagacity in this matter, and probably no one ever will.

Salisbury is the recognized metropolis of the Peninsula. As such, the city has dependent upon it and the services it can render, thousands of people, hundreds of businesses. These are not confined to Wicomico County alone, but are thickly distributed over the whole of the lower section of the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia.

As the largest business center of the Peninsula, and as the heart from which flows the economic blood that stimulates the entire region into action, this city deserves every safeguard, every protection that human ingenuity can devise and modern methods can design. No expense should be spared to see that the Volunteer Fire Department has adequate and efficient equipment. Nothing should be left undone that might add to the effectiveness of the fire fighters.

After all is said and done, however, the ideal thing would be to prevent fires altogether. No one is more anxious to do this than are the men who compose our volunteer Fire Department. In many cases they have pointed out dangerous fire traps in the city and have been the chief cause of having them removed. One of the things the firemen have suggested time and time again, is the appointment of a building and fire inspector.

Such an official, well versed in the best methods of building to prevent fires and trained to observe defects and danger spots, backed by the full authority of the law, would, without question, do a great deal to lessen the fire risk in the city. By appointing such a municipal officer, the Mayor and City Council would be doing a real service for the public whom they serve.

The present administration has done much in the past two years to promote the welfare of the city. Let the City Fathers start their second term in office by making another forward step, the appointment of a building and fire inspector.

THE GO-GETTERS AND—THE OTHERS.

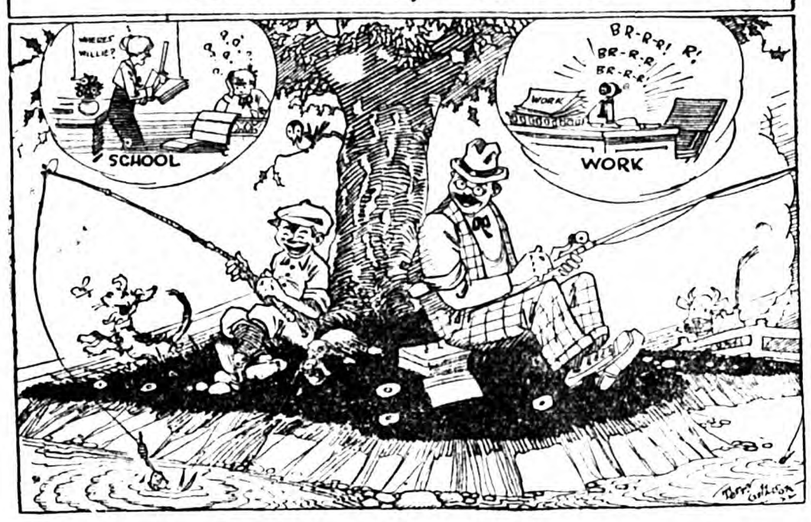
Hard times inevitably and invariably has the effect of dividing the public into two classes: the Go-getters and the Others.

When financial stringency strikes them, the Go-getters work a little harder, make their hours a little longer, never think of complaints because complaints take time and energy and sap morale, cut down expenses, watch waste more carefully, lay by something each week, be it never so little, and come through the storm battered and bruised but still going strong and in condition to forge ahead when things get better.

The Others quit working quite so hard, shorten their hours of industry, do a pile of complaining which saps their time, energy and morale, make no effort to cut corners and eliminate waste, fail to economize while the economizing is good, and come through battered hulks that cannot be patched up but lie helpless in the shoal waters of desperation—derelicts.

In what class are you: the Go-getter or the Other?

Like Father, Like Son



Uncle John's Poem

RESTLESS WAVES.

Tell me not in hopeful numbers, life is saved by drinkin' "Jake"—for the man is dead that slumbers in a jag from moonshine make. . . . Soft drinks don't improve the system—near-beer ain't no bosom friend. . . . Them old high-balls—how we've missed 'em, spiked with bar-keep's favorite blend! . . . Now, I front the sody-fountain,—somehow, can't supress the winks,—when my thirst could climb a mountain, I abhor them fuzzy drinks. Not enjoyment, and not sorrow, follers in their kickless wake. Man can't steal, or beg, or borrow snifters like he used to take!

. . . Like a dose of aqua-fortis, home-made licker finds the spot,—but the fits, an' rigor-mortis—I would jes' as soon be shot! Saw it lately in the paper, feller made a jug of "Hootch." When he went up in a vapor, neighbors said it beat the Dutch. . . . Then, it said, another duffer, tryin' out his private make,—awful how it made him suffer,—knocked him colder than a snake! . . . . Let us, then, be up and doin', with a heart that ne'er forgets. . . . Ain't no suds that's wuth the brewin' sence the drys kertlopped the wets. . . . Let us always all remember that the people has the say. Law is law in June, December, or in March, so let's obey.

HOMEY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1922

After all, the fellow who says "I should worry," has more sense than the chap who says "I do worry." What's the use of worrying anyhow? There are really only two things we can worry about, something we can't help and something we can help. There isn't any sense in worrying about what we can't help, and if we face something we can help then the best thing is to turn to an' help it as much as we can. We get further by using the brains we have to make things better than we do by weakening our brains by worrying about things and leaving them alone.

WICOMICALITIES.

"Remember that you grow only while you are green. When you become ripe, you begin to rot," is the admonition of Rotarian Bert Adams.

Recital at Home Of Mr. And Mrs. Fred P. Adkins Will Be One Of Genuine Merit.

The music lovers of Salisbury will no doubt avail themselves of the rare opportunity of hearing a real artist at the song recital by Edwin Swain, this Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Adkins on Parke avenue.

Mr. Swain is baritone soloist at the West Park Presbyterian Church in New York City where Anna Case was for several years the soprano soloist. Besides his Church duties he is in great demand for Oratorios and recitals.

Last week he sang for the Woman's Club of Providence, R. I. On Thursday night of this week he sang with Vera Curtis at the New York Rotary Convention. Last summer he was soloist with the New York Symphony Orchestra at Lake Chautauqua, N. Y.

The admisston to the recital will be nominal and the proceeds are for the Red Cross. The program will begin at 8:30 P. M.

SALISBURY MINISTER LOSES KIN AT BELFAST

Robert Herson, Brother Of Local Pastor, Dies From Wounds Received In World War.

Word was received here on Friday of the death of Dr. Joseph T. Herson's brother, Robert Herson, age fifty-one in Belfast, Ireland, recently. Death was due, it is understood, to illness caused by wounds incurred during the World War. The same message stated that another brother of the local minister was seriously ill. This is Johnson Herson, age forty-seven, who was also wounded in the World War.

When interview, Dr. Herson confirmed the report and said that at the outbreak of hostilities, nine of the sons of his family joined the colors, going out with the Ulster Volunteers. Of these, seven were wounded though now fatally. Robert Herson, he said, was in the first trenches dug by the British and served during the entire conflict.

"The Herson Family," said Dr. Herson, "was not one whit more patriotic than were thousands of other families. The world is only now beginning to realize the awfulness of the War."

BUTTER CONTESTS IMPROVE QUALITY OF FARM OUTPUT.

County and State butter contests a feature of South Carolina extension work for women last year, accomplished much in the way of improving the dairy industry there. South Carolina is not a dairy State. It passes annually about $11,000,000 worth of dairy products shipped in from other States. Some of this importation is due to the fact that while there is a large amount of farm butter produced within the State, no steady demand for it has been developed. For the purpose of creating an interest in this farm made butter, and to teach the women to make a better product, contests which opened in home demonstration club meetings were started during 1921 in 13 counties.

Butter demonstrations were given in all the women's clubs, and all interested parties were invited to a demonstration by the State specialist at the county seat. Three hundred and sixty women and girls enrolled for the contests and of these 150 sent butter for every judging. Without exception there was a great improvement in the packing, manner of marketing and the quality. Even better still, as the women learned of it, was the interest the butter raising stirred up in the care and cleanliness in handling and the feeds for the cow.

"Contest butter" sold very readily at the various city markets and those who did not enter the contest were obliged to make improvements in the quality of what they offered for sale or lose the market for their butter. Extension workers report that the United States Department of Agriculture that the butter season in all parts of the State has been materially improved as a result of these contests.

A City Of Wounded.

With its hotels, lodging houses and even streets full to the brim with wounded ex-service men, victims of Rochester, Minn., a town of less than 14,000 souls greatly resembles the small French villages which were located just back of the allied line of battle in 1918, to which the then maimed members of the A. E. F. were carried.

From all parts of the United States ex-soldiers, many of them with but one leg or one arm, all suffering from wounds in some parts of their bodies, have come seeking betterment of their condition at the clinic which the Mayo brothers operate here. Local authorities estimate that more than 3,000 ex-soldiers have visited this place in the past three years. Hundreds of them are still here and more arrive each day.

Cases of sufferings other than war wounds are brought to the attention of the American Legion and other patriotic organizations daily. Many of those visiting Rochester in search of health arrive without funds, all their money having been spent in transit. To care for these former soldiers and sailors was a task which the community was ill prepared to shoulder and the grater part of this necessary relief work has fallen on the American Legion and its affiliated organization, the Legion auxiliary.

During the three years that Rochester has been sought as a place where all ills can be cured, the Legion has spent thousands of dollars in providing food and shelter for their comrads. The two Mayo brothers have given their professional services gratis in many instances but in all have first required that the cases be passed on by the Legion.

In order that the expense and care of the ex-service men who visit Rochester in the future may be ably taken care of, the 30,000 Legion members in Binnesota plan the immediate erection of a 500 bed hospital here. The expense of building and maintence of the hospital will be borne in full by funds which the Legion posts of Minnesota are now collecting by entertainments and other means.

The Legion Everywhere.

The American Legion now has branches in practically every known part of the world, according to a report made public at national headquarters of the organization here. Ex-service men in Denmark and others in New Zealand are the latest to band themselves together into a Legion outfit, the report shows. These two brought the total number of Legion posts, scattered throughout the world, to 11,013.

One of the outposts is at Guam. Here a solitary member of the A. E. F. has established himself since the war. He is said has a regular bunch of the organization of ex-service men and all the paraphernalia that similar organizations in the United States have.

The lone Legionnaire on the little island in the South Pacific plan a real July Fourth celebration. To aid him, brother ex-service men who comprise the Legion of Minnesota are going to hold a correspondence course on how Independence Day should be observed in foreign climes. Parades and other features of a July Fourth fete are included in the list of things which form part of the exercises.

The report by states show that Pennsylvania ex-service men have formed the Legion in greater numbers than all others. Not far behind, however, is New York, which in turn is Massachusetts and Minnesota. These Legion blue ribbon states have runners-up in Missouri, California, Wisconsin, Indiana, Michigan and Kansas.

In the foreign countries the ask of caring for the graves of the men who died on Europena battlefields during the war has fallen on the Legion posts in these places. The Paris, London, Brussells and Constantinople posts and those in Ireland, Scotland, Wales and other places where war dead are buried have Legionnaries who visit the resting places oftheir dead comrades regularly.

Must Respect Flag.

After the college turstees had refused their request to have college President C. D. Duniway removed from office, students at Colorado College set off a huge giant firecracker on "prexy's" lawn, burned red fuses and hauled the American flag to half mast. For the latter act they aroused the wrath of American Legion members who demanded that the flag be rightly hung.

Jail For Frauds.

During the past few months the American Legion at Toledo, O., has caused 52 persons to be put in jail for falsely collecting funds for sick and wounded world war veterans, obtained the release from jail of seven ex-soldiers, found jobs for 1,057 more and conducted 135 military funerals.

Shell-Shocked Goes Back.

Large numbers of ex-soldiers who looking for work in New York City. The American Legion obtained work for one but he got into such a heated argument with the man who was hiring him that the Legion had to take him away and arrange for his commitment in a government hospital.

Legion Gets Land.

A tract of land along the Potomac river has been turned over to the American Legion and other veterans' organizations for use as a summer camp for the hundreds of disabled ex-service men from Maryland and West Virginia who are now confined in the four government hospitals at Washington D. C.

Wants Island.

News reaches some places quicker than it does others. The American Legion has received a letter from a world war veteran who says, "I understand the government is giving us adjusted compensation with the option of taking land or money. I've just discovered an island in the St. Lawrence river that I want, so tell the government that I'll take that."

Vets Open Store.

In order that the products of ex-service men in South Dakota hospitals may be sold and the profit returned to the men, the American Legion auxiliary has opened a store for the sale of these articles.

Ohio Questionnaire.

A questionnaire, "What will you do with your State bonus? conducted by the Toledo, O., American Legion, was answered by ex-service men as follows; 16 would use the money to help defray the cost of a home; 13 to pay hospital and other bills; three for clothing; two for furniture; one for a Ford and seven would bank the entire amount.

Don't Like Dempsey.

When State officials of the American Legion in West Virginia heard that several ex-service men's organizations were considering asking Jack Dempsey to appear before them, they issued a statement which refused sanction to any affair to which the World's bozing champion might be invited.

Boards Help Legion.

Reorganization of war-time draft boards to assist the American Legion in finding jobs for ex-service men has been proposed by Rev. Dr. John Grier Hibben, president of Princetown University, Syracuse, N. Y.

Denounce Socialists.

Describing the Social Science club of the University of Wisconsin as a "group of un-American radicals and extremists who are inciting unrest among the studets body," the University American Legion post has adopted a resolution asking the student senate to abolish the organization.

Wears Bogus Regalia.

After being picked up by American Legion members while wearing the uniform of a Belgian Aviator lieutenant, Emile Lamard, Grand Rapids, Mich., tobacco dealer, was sentenced to six months in jail by District Judge Sessions. His Honor then turned on court officials and took them to task for allowing Lamard to appear in court attired in his regalia.

New Posts.

American ex-service men in New Zealand and Danmark have joined together and formed posts of the American Legion. The ex-servce men's organization now has 11,013 separate posts located in practically every civilized country.

Sells Blood.

Jobless and without money, F. W. Smith of Omhha, Neb., ex-soldier and head of a family of three, grasped the chance for "work" offered by the American Legion employment service and sold a pint of his blood for $25. By his act Smith saved the life of Edward Belitz, Belgrade, Neb., farmer, who had been severely injured.

Ride on Springs— Walk in Cantilevers

Primitive people rode in ox-carts—heavy, rigid, without springs. Modern love of comfort and speed brought about the easeful motor car, travelling on springs so resilient and balanced that we seem almost to ride through the air— the modern "Wings of Mercury."

To a lesser degree, our feet in daily life should act like the springs of the motor car. Nature composed the human foot of resilient, flexible arches to absorb the body shocks. Nothing rigid about your foot as Nature made it.

The Flexible Arch

Does the arch of your shoe correspond with the arch of your foot in flexibility? Change to Cantilever Shoes. There is no concealed rigid metal embedded in the shank of Cantilever Shoes as in all ordinary shoes. They flex with your foot when you walk; permit the muscles to exercise and strengthen; allow free circulation; give room for all the toes. They give you complete comfort and trim appearance.

Wear the "Wings of Mercury." That means: Wear Cantilever Shoes. Sold in Salisbury only by

SHARPTOWN

A few weeks ago we mentioned the fact that the Marvil Package Company's plant in this town under the management of Wade H. Gordy was running overtime to fill orders and that two shifts of men were employed to operate the basket making machines. Since then Mr. Gordy as manager has received numerous letters from Pennsylvania, New York and several states writing on lies of machinery and labor saving devices. Some wanted to install new veneering machines, some carrying devices, and many other things to help the work along and increase output. Machinists, mechanics, labors and other classifications were writing to know if they could get a job, others to sell timber, all wanting to profit by the business development.

On Thursday night of last week the congregation of Sharptown Methodist Protestant church and of Mt. Herman church, Columbia, gave their pastor, Rev. George R. Donnaldson and Mrs. Donnaldson a reception in the basement of the church here, it being the occasion of his return for the third year as pastor of the charge. Capt. O. N. Bennett presided. An interesting literary and musical program was carried out and many of those present made short addresses, all expressing themselves as well pleased with their return. Ice cream and cake were served and avery enjoyable evening was spent.

WANTED AN EXPERIENCED Salesman to represent us on the Eastern Shore for our full line of butter, cheese and eggs. We want a high grade man, who can produce results, as we are manufacturers.—F. Horwitz, 912-14 Watson St., Baltimore, Md. T-563.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas: God in his infinite wisdom has withdrawn from us our respected and beloved fellow citizen, Joshua Ernest Shockley, who was at all times intercated in the progress and welfare of Salisbury and Wicomico County and stood ready and alert to further its advancement, not alone with his financial support but with his moral support as well. And:

Whereas: we, the members of the Chamber of Commerce of Salisbury, Maryland, collectively and individually, do feel the loss of his esteemed presence and counsel in our organization; therefore be it:

Resolved: That the Chamber of Commerce in regular session assembled make publicly manifest its regret at the loss of a prominent member and that the Chamber extend to the bereaved family and friends the most sincere sympathy in this, their hour of sorrow. And be it furthur:

Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of the Chamber of Commerce, a copy sent to the family, and a copy published in each of the newspapers printed in Wicomico County.

IN MEMORIAM.

Suddenly, at her home in Baltimore, on April the 11th, the spirit of Mrs. Maria Alice Freeny Campbell entered into Eternal Life. Mrs. Campbell was the daughter of the late William Freeny and Ann Maria Morris Freeny. After her school days at No. 1615 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, (now Ogontz) "Alice Freeny" spent the early years of her radiant womanhood at the family home, "Camden Hill," in Salisbury, beloved by those who knew her best and admired by all Salisburians of that date for her beauty, culture and gracious charm. From her early years she was a consistent Christian, and an active member of the Presbyterian Church, for many years having been organist of the Wicomico Presbyterian Church.

In 1890 she was married to Rev. John P. Campbell, of Caledonia, N. Y., and Baltimore, who several years ago resigned from a pastorate of forty-one years of Faith Presbyterian Church, Baltimore, a pastorate remarkable for the upbuilding, from a small city mission, of a strong and efficient church supporting missions of its own. As the wife of a minister Mrs. Campbell's life with all its richest attributes was consecrated to Christian work and the extension of Christ's kingdom, and was truly a life of service—to those she loved, to those in need, and to the causes of Christianity and humanity. The married life of Dr. and Mrs. Campbell was one of rare happiness, and blessed in its harmonious consecration to effectual Christian effort.

Beautiful and touching services were conducted at her Baltimore home on Thursday by Dr. Barr of the First Presbyterian Church. In compliance with her request Mrs. Campbell was carried to her final resting place in a cemetery near Caledonia, New York. Here, on Good Friday, with the singing of birds and the budding of nature to suggest a joyous resurrection, the final service was conducted by Rev. Dr. Higginbotham, Dr. Jewitt, and Rev. C. N. Frost, in the presence of her husband, her nephews, many friends, and her husband's relatives whom she loved as her own.

Mrs. Campbell is survived by her husband, Dr. Campbell, and her two nephews, Mr. Walter C. Humphreys, of Salisbury, and Mr. Morris Freeny, of Chevy Chase and Washington. 704

FICTIONIST RETURNS AFTER LONG ABSENCE

Dr. Cook Will Seek Recognition As Real Discoverer Of North Pole. Has Proofs.

After 14 years of almost unbroken silence, during which time he visited every continent in the world, Dr. Frederick A. Cook has announced that he will seek official and public recognition as the real discoverer of the North Pole. The recent finding of his missing field notes and instruments in the Arctics seems to strengthen his claim, and he expects before long that the matter will be brought to the attention of Congress, which he hopes will formally credit him with the discovery by voting him a medal.

Newspapers recently carried the story of the finding of Cook's field notes in a buried igloo, and the records therein, bearing his signature, showed where Cook had been. It was because he was unable to produce these records in 1909 that the world refused to believe his story. Cook said he had left these records and instruments with Harry Whitney at Etah, Greenland, and deep snows had held their secret all these years.

Dr. Cook claims to have reached the Pole on April 21, 1908, about a year earlier than Admiral Peary. Geographical societies accepted Peary's records, and Cook practically had none to offer. In 1891 and 1892 Cook was physician for Peary on his explorations and the two were close friends.

After Cook was branded as a faker, he roamed all over the world, trying it is said, to hide himself, but some one always identified him, whether in South America, Asia, Australia. In restaurants people looked at him covertly and avoided him. At his lectures he was hissed, and he ceased to lecture. According to accounts, he became a pitable, haunted figure and sank into oblivion. He accepted his fate and never denounced as fakers and liars those who opposed him.

Cook finally came to Fort Worth, where for the last few years he has been interested in oil production. He has done fairly well, but has not made a huge success.

But one day an afternoon newspaper carried a dispatch that Cook's missing records had been found. Immediately Texans began to look him up. Within a few days he was invited to make an address at First Baptist Church here, and his audience cheered him. Then the Chamber of Commerce at Weatherford invited him to become its guest of honor at a banquet. Next he addressed an audience of 2,000 at the Tabernacle, and again he was cheered, and at the close men, women and children crowded to the front to shake his hand.

"I am not asking for a pension," he says. "I do not want any money. All I am asking is justice. I want no more. The Congressional Record of February, 1914, shows that 69 explorers signed a statement supporting my claims. So little regarding this was ever published that the public knows nothing of it. But it is there."

Dr. Cook is now 55 years old, but looks to be rugged and strong. His wavy hair is turning gray. He says that he may go again into the Arctics or Antartics. He regards the airplane route the most feasible.

Regarding the famous gumdrop story, Cook says:

"It was only a newspaper story. There were no gumdrops. A reporter on the New York Herald got after Frank Bradley, my associate in the enterprise, when Bradley was worn out and had nothing new to give out. But the reporter insisted on getting something, anyway, and Bradley happened to tell him an Eskimo would go a long way for sweets or gumdrops. Using this little bit of information the reporter went back to his office and wrote a two-column story of how I fed the Eskimos on the polar dash with gumdrops. Now, who's the faker?"

Dr. Cook believes that President Harding will support his claims and use his influence in his behalf. He bases his belief in the fact that Harding's paper, the Marion Star, has always stood behind him instead of Peary, and because the Star helped in disposing of Dr. Cook's book on the "Polar Dash."—Balt. Sun.

PRESIDENT WILL INVITE NATIONS TO DAIRY CONGRESS

The dairy industry, which has its roots in $47,000,000,000 worth of American farms not to mention the $1,900,000,000 invested in 31,400,000 cattle and the billions more represented by creameries, milk distributing plants and cheese, ice cream, condensed milk, machinery and utensil factories—is trending toward a unity of effort under the influence of the World's Dairy Congress Association.

This was pointed out by Dr. H. E. Van Norman, president of the association, when the executed committee men and vice presidents met with Secretary of Agriculture Wallace on March 13 to adopt a working plan for the international meeting. It was the first time that the officials had come together since the association was formed while the last National Dairy Show was in session. A score of more of leaders of the industry were present from New York, Chicago, Harrisburg, Pittsburg, Detroit, Lincoln, Nebr., and elsewhere.

President Harding will invite foreign Governments to send delegates to the congress, which was authorized by an act of Congress, approved Mar. 3, 1921. The congress will be held just before and in the same city with the National Dairy Show of 1923. The meeting place has not yet been selected and a sharp rivalry is developing among the cities that would like the chance of entertaining the 500,000 visitors from home and abroad, which number, it is estimated, will spend a fortnight listening to the discussions and examining the exhibits.

The association will manage the congress with the co-operation of the Department of Agriculture.

SPIRITED MEETINGS

At Reedville, Burgess Store, Ottoman and Kilmarnock.

In Interest of Steamboat Line to Eastern Shore—Boat Starts May 15.

On Friday evening last an enthusiastic meeting to boast the Eastern Shore (Md.) and Western Shore (Va.) Steamboat connection, which will be inaugurated on May 15, was held in the large show room of the Reed and Rice Co. store at Reedville.

Besides the visitors from Salisbury and Cristfield, and Mr. Pinckham, of the N.Y. & P. Railroad Company, numbering about twenty, there were present about 100 citizens of Reedville and adjacent community, and a more enthusiastic gathering would be hard to find.

Mr. C. S. Towles presided and Hon. E. Hugh Smith, welcomed the delegation of business men from Salisbury and Crisfield in a most pleasing manner. He was followed by C. S. Freeman, secretary of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce, who spoke of the proper grading of produce and the right kind of package. He urged the importance of shipping in car load lots.

Mr. Pinckham, representing the railroad interests stated that they intended to give the public the very best service within their power, and asked for the co-operation of the public, that the steamboat schedule as mapped out might not be all that could be desired, but it would be improved from time to time. He urged the formation of an organization for the marketing of our produce. Thought the possibilities for the Northern Neck were wonderful, and now that we have assurance of the boat line to the Eastern Shore of Maryland we should do everything to make it a success.

Mr. Adkins, President of the Salisbury Chamber of Commerce, was the next speaker. He urged our people not to undertake too much, but do well what they undertook. He said go about it in a business like way. He urged that the assembly organize before leaving a Chamber of Commerce, stating the great advantages that the community would derive from concentrated action. Following his suggested a Chamber of Commerce was organized before the meeting adjourned with fifty odd members.

A representative of the Express Company, spoke, assuring the shippers of their great interest in the new route and every possible aid would be given them.

Mr. Thornton, seafood dealer of Crisfield, urged that the new line be liberally patronized, that his city was able to take care of the seafood shipments at the highest market prices.

Other speakers from Salisbury and Crisfield were heard.

Among the local speakers were: Dr. L. E. Cockrell, James C. Fisher, L. B. Rice, D. S. Truitt, Jacob French and Rev. W. B. Evans.

Before adjourning preliminary steps were taken to effect a Chamber of Commerce organization for Reedville and community. L. B. Price was chosen secretary, with the following Executive Board: Rev. W. B. Evans, D. S. Truitt, W. H. Blackwell and Jacob French.

A similar meeting was also held at Burgess Store (Perciful & Russell's store,) and while not so largely attended great interest was manifested. Besides the visiting speakers, Fuller Jones, Otis Harding, J. B. Hilton and R. F. Purciful took part in the proceedings. Monday night following the farmers in that vicinity effected an organization.

On Saturday the Eastern Shore delegation visited Ottoman and Kilmarnock, where public meetings were held and where they were given a warm welcome. Following a number of speeches by the visitors and local formed with the following officers: President, Frank Newbill; secretary, W. T. James; organization committee, W. A. Eubank, F. S. Chase, Warner Hurst and W. E. Currell.

PEANUT CROP NETTED U. S. $100,000,000

Fifty-Three Million Bushels Of "Goobers" Raised In This Country In 1918.

Most of us who have not given much thought to the peanut industry are surprised when we learn that the peanut crop of the United States in 1918 was approximately 53,000,000 bushels, valued at $100,000,000; while in 1921 we produced about 4,000,000 bags.

Practically all of these peanuts come from twelve Southern states. The most productive peanut states are Alabama, with 410,000 acres; Georgia 224,000; Texas 184,000; Virginia 138,000; Florida 115,000; North Carolina 113,000; and other Southern states about 80,000 acres.

The marketing of such a vast crop is naturally difficult. In the past, peanuts have been sold mostly through brokers, but the peanut growers have had some difficulty in disposing of their crop through these channels and are now turning to the auction. The first car of peanuts ever offered through auction is to be sold at the New York salesroom of the Fruit Auction Company on April 5th.

Although such a vast quantity of peanuts are grown in the United States, great quantities are also imported. In the first ten months of 1919, nearly 20,000,000 gallons of peanut oil were imported into this country mostly from China and Japan.

In addition to being used for human consumption in their natural form, in peanut butter, peanut oil, oleomargarine, soap, etc., peanuts are used extensively as food for all live stock. After extracting the oil from peanuts a meal is produced which is very valuable as a food, being exceptionally high in proteins and fat.

If people generally knew more about the food value of peanuts the chances are that growers could not keep up with the demand. One pound of peanuts yields 2500 calories, which is about three times as much energy as a person would derive from one pound of beef and about twice as much as would be derived from one pound of cheese. Peanuts are as solid a food as bread, butter, meat and potatoes.

Indigestion and Constipation.

"Prior to using Chamberlain's Tablets, I suffered dreadfully from indigestion. Nothing I ate agreed with me and I lost flesh and ran down in health. Chamberlain's Tablets strengthened my digestion and cured me of constipation" writes Mrs. George Stroup, Solvay, N. Y.—Advt.*

But Will It?

"What are th cold waves saying?" queries a correspondent. To reason's ear they are saying that ice should be cheaper next summer.—Boston Transcript.

"MAN"

Adorable "god" of the ages, look upon us as thy salvation, from thy egotism—Not as the dust under thy feet, or a mechanical invention, but as the godliest creature earth holds. For the brightest and loveliest things in the world, are not the most conspicuous. Nay, it is often hidden and obscure and somewhere along life's highway, at the wayside inn, may be found a time for retrospection and thoughtfulness. Then when "Man" comes face to face with man, (inner) and sums up "Life." If it balances "Peace" and "Happiness" kneel down humbly and thank "God". That He is with you so near to realization. For you are the Partaker of "Gods" greatest blessing "Love." Love—great love is all understanding, all wisdom, immovable like "God."

LEFT HATCHET AND SAW AND ENTERED MINISTRY

John T. Bailey of Sharptown Leaves Occupation At Middle Age For The Pulpit. Wins Success.

Rev. John T. Bailey, a native of Sharptown used the saw and hatchet until almost middle life, had a wife and several children, but felt the call to the ministry, disentangled himself from all business affairs, was given a charge in Virginia and began to succeed from the very first effort he made.

He was a member of the Methodist Protestant Church and placed his destiny in the hands of that organization. From the very beginning he became a hard student, passed all the examinations required by the Conference, and has been honored with some good appointments. He has been pastor of the First Methodist Protestant church Georgetown, Del. for four years and was invited to return with an increase in salary. During the year just closed he had thirty accessions to the church, bringing up his present membership to 255.

He has a Sunday School enrollment of 430 exclusive of the cradle roll and it is claimed that he has the largest Sunday School in Sussex county. The following items of expense have been collected: Sunday School, $11,000, sexton, $275, conference assessments, $350, parsonage improvements, $210, bills paid, $350, song books, $65. and Sunday School expenses $354. His native town and county should fully appreciate the achievement of Rev. Bailey.

Wool Prices Are Remaining Firm

Wool growers are making careful note of the fact that wool prices are considerable higher than they were at the same time last year. All indications are that prices will continue relatively high. A report issued by the United States Department of Agrilight in consuming Countries and that world prices have advanced considerably during recent months. Production in the United States decreased from 250,000,000 pounds in 1919 to 224,000,000 pounds in 1921

Maryland wools are being quoted on the Baltimore market at from 32 to 35 cents per pound.

POSTMASTERS TAKE FIELD AGAINST FAKE SALESMEN

H. Winter Owens Warns Public To Consult Competent Advisers Before Buying Stock or Securities.

Postmaster Owens of the Salisbury post office is cooperating in a nation wide campaign of the Government to protect the American people against fake and unwise investments and to bring hidden surplus funds into circulation.

The Government is warning people against financial transactions with strangers and advising them to put their money in good securities, place their funds in banks, or invest in Treasury Savings Certificates at the Post Office. It is difficult to convict swindlers who obtain money from unsuspecting people in this manner until some of the federal laws have been broken.

Department officials say they are amazed that people will pass by a bank or the post office which offer protection of funds and safe investments to hand their money over to some smooth-talking swindler about whom they know nothing. Postmasters have been called upon by the Department to use their influence in every way possible to prevent the loss of millions of dollars each year through unscrupulous promoters and swindlers.

Doan's Regulets are recommended by those who say they operate easily, without gripping and without bad after effects. 30c at all drug stores.

Million Dollar Companies Sell Their Fruits At Auction

66% of the Fruits sold through the New York Auctions are sold for the account of large Cooperative organizations and million dollar concerns like the United Fruit Co.

Big organizations can afford to hire big men to select the best selling methods. And big men, like big companies, do not make many mistakes. They know what they're doing before they make a move.

If you are dissatisfied with the prices you are receiving for your fruits—if you are displeased with the service you are getting, or with the delay in getting your money, then you will be interested in receiving full particulars about our 20th-century way of handling sales. Better let us send you full particulars anyway. What's your address?

Health turns the Clock Backward

Nervous Women Destroy Happiness

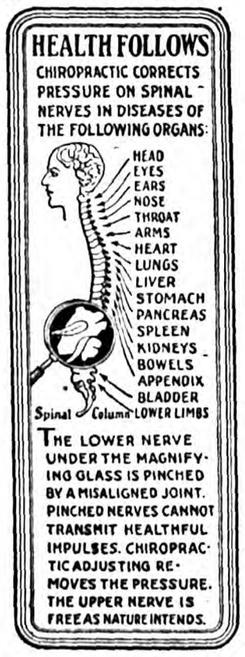
By Dr. J. Harry Biron, Ph. C.

Women apparently are more given to "nerves" than men, though women have no monopoly of the trouble. The woman who has suffered a nervous breakdown is irritable, lacking in strength or reserve, and apparently always about to give out. The condition is often the cause of much family discord for which disease rather than the woman should be blamed.

A nervous breakdown often is directly due to irritating pressure on spinal nerves to the stomach and the solar plexus region. Other points of irritation are usually found. The chiropractor adjusts the joints of the backbone that are causing this irritating pressure back to their normal position and the relief that is experienced enables the victim to relax and sleep, often this sleep is the first really restful sleep since the inception of the disease. Recovery is always slow, but with the irritating pressure removed, there is a chance.



SUFFERED WITH "NERVES" FOR ELEVEN YEARS

"About fifteen years ago my health broke down completely. I gave up school, in fact everything. Every doctor of medicine within twenty miles was consulted and treated me. But I remained a nervous wreck. Four years ago I tried chiropractic. There was a change from the start. Today I am enjoying work and health. I want to commend chiropractic." Miss Emma Johnson, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1312H.

POULTRY NOTES

BY H. W. RICKEY

CARING FOR THE HOME FLOCK

All successful chick feeding, no matter what the plan, is based upon well established principles. In the natural course of growth the body requires certain known food substances, for the repair of broken-down tissue, for the making of new tissue an for the creation of body heat and energy. Furthermore, these food substances are required in certain definite proportions, and how best to meet these requirements is the problem of the poultry feeder.

When the newly hatched chick is first taken from the incubator, it should be fed no solid food, as it has within its body cavity sufficient material to furnish all the needed nourishment for a period of at least seventy hours. This food material consists of the unused portion of the yolk of the egg, incased in a thin, membraneous sac, which is drawn into the chick's body a few hours before the chick is ready to leave the shell and is absorbed gradually and directly into the blood and thus distributed throughout the body. It is because of this fod supply stored up by nature that it is possible for us to ship newly hatched chicks a thousand miles or more by mail and express without additional nourishment and apparently without harmful effects.

Solid food should not be fed until the chicks are from forty-eight to sixty hours old, but liquid in the form of milk should be given as soon as they are put in the brooder. Messrs. Kirkpatrick & Card of Storrs, Conn., recommend the dipping of the beak of each chicken into sour milk until it swallows two or three times as it is being taken from the incubator. In some instances milk is the only drink furnished the chicks until they are from ten days to two weeks old, the reason given being that if water and milk are kept before the chicks some of them would be likely to drink only the water.

This may be true, but it is open to question. I do not think that we have reached the point where we have sufficient data to justify us in withholding all pure water from young chicks. I would suggest that where milk for drinking purposes is supplied in large quantities it would be well to put it in galvanized iron or stoneware drinking fountains and have it before the chick during the morning hours, and in the afternoon furnish a supply of fresh water along with the milk, or the milk may be taken away. I have for many years practiced the feeding of wet mash, or a mixture of ground grain products mixed with milk, and have given the little chicks less milk to drink. By this method the milk is evenly distributed among the chicks and there is less of that sticky condition of the plumage caused by the down and feathers coming in contact with the more or less sticky fluid.

Without doubt, milk is one of the most valuable feeds for young chicks of all available foodstuffs, not merely because of the quality and character of its digestible nutrients, but because of other factors, the presence of which have only lately been discovered.

Of course, it has been known for many years that young animals and growing fowls grew rapidly when fed milk, and slowly when milk was lacking; but it was not until two years ago that Dr. McCullor, then chemist at the University of Wisconsin and at present with the Johns Hopkins University at Baltimore, in the course of his investigations made the discovery that in the butter fat of milk there is found certain principles which in the feed stimulates or promotes growth, and without which growth ceases. Fortunately for us these principles, called vitarnines, are also present in quantities in the yolk fat of the egg and in the leaves of certain grasses and growing plants and most abundant in the plants of the clover family, but are not found to any appreciable extent in the grains or vegetables, and this fact should be kept constantly in mind when feeding young chicks.

H. W. Rickey.

Preventive Medicine.

The tendency of medical science is toward preventive measures. It is easier and better to prevent than to cure. Pneumonia, one of the most dangerous diseases that medical men have to contend with, often follows a cold or attack of the grippe. The cold prepares the system for the reception and development of the pneumonia germ. The longer the cold hangs on, the greater the danger. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy as soon as the first indication of a cold appears so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. It is folly to risk an attack of pneumonia when this remedy may be obtained for a trifle.—Advt.*

USE DODGE CHASSIS ON MEXICAN CITY RAILWAY

Successful Experiment In Port au Prince, Haiti, Leads To Installation In Monte Alto, Mexico.

Almost coincident with the successful experiment in Port Au Prince, Haiti, comes a report from Mexico City of the system of street cars built on Dodge Brothers chassis. According to William Benbow, Dodge Brothers Mexico City dealer, the motor railway was worked out only after a long series of experiments by the Monte Alto Railroad Co. For the real test of the practicability of the system, a Dodge Brothers motor was chosen. The results were decisive.

"It kicked their cars up the steepest hills and around the worst curves at a speed of 26 miles per hour," says Mr. Benbow, "and that is just about as rapid movement as any man in his senses wants on that particular railroad."

The street car chassis weighs approximately 6,000 pounds, with a wheelbase of seven feet. The transmission is adjusted with the original rear axle of the Dodge Brothers chassis, and sprockets for the chains are placed in the naves of the wheels. The diameter of the wheels is 22 inches. With this car the railway company claims to be able to carry 40 passengers, and with the addition of a trailer 80 can be transported. The 18-mile trip from Mexico City into the interior takes about an hour.

The operation of the motor-railroad has been so successful that the Monte Alto officials are planning to add eight or ten more cars of similar construction. Railroad officials in Desague, San Rafael and Atlixco are also studying the possibilities for similar cars in their territories.

Dodge Brothers chassis is also used on the same type of street railways in Haiti. In both instances the choice of this equipment was based on the unusual powerfulness, economy and reliability of the engine, which has long since won the complete admiration of the natives.

Stern Retribution.

"Did you lnch the man who stole your automobile?"

"No," replied Plute Pete. "He got away."

When Friends Move Away

IT is possible to keep the ties of friendship close even when friends move out of town. By telephone you can get in touch with them no matter where they live.

You can enjoy a chat with out-of-town friends or relatives at small cost and they will appreciate your thoughtfulness.

Baltimore	60c	Cambridge	25c
Chestertown	50c	Easton	30c
Washington	60c	Cape Charles, Va.	60c

The rates are less at night. Between 8.30 P. M. and midnight, the station-to-station day rates are reduced approximately one-half. These reduced rates apply only on station-to-station calls and the minimum reduced rate is 25 cents.

Why not let your friends know you think of them by calling them up this evening? You can talk a hundred miles for a small amount. See front of telephone directory for complete information.

First to establish the $10.90 price—"Usco"

THE makers of U. S. Tires made this announcement last November—

The lowest price ever quoted on a tire of quality reputation and standard performance.

And now, with the opening of Spring, there seem to be quite a number of "New and Special tires" coming into the market in the $10.90 price range.

Perhaps you are wondering just what there can be either "new" or "special" about these tires.

It can't be the $10.90 price—"Usco" established that five months ago.

Nor quality reputation and standard performance—for it takes more than one full season for any new tire to demonstrate where it stands in quality and value

• • •

With so many tires rushing into this $10.90 price field (now that the season promises business from the American car-owner), it is worth remembering that "Usco" showed its good faith by announcing this price last fall.

The same intent to serve that has made "Usco" a standard value for years.

The "Usco" Tire was never better than it is today—with its established quality, its time-tested performance, and its price closely figured in tune with the times.

$10.90 and even better than the price

DOCTOR ORDERED WOMAN OBEYED

Took Lydia E.Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and is Now Well

Chicago, Illinois.—"You surely gave women one good medicine when you put Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound on the market. After I had my baby I was all run down and so nervous it kept me from gaining. My doctor did everything he could to build me up, then he ordered me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound with his medicine and I am now a new woman. I have had three children and they are all Lydia E. Pinkham babies. I have recommended your medicine to several friends and they speak highly of it. You are certainly doing good work in this world."—Mrs. ADELITH TOMSHECK, 10557 Wabash Ave., Chicago, Illinois.

There is nothing very strange about the doctor directing Mrs. Tomsheck to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. There are many physicians who do recommend it and highly appreciate its value.

Women who are nervous, run down, and suffering from women's ailments should give this well known root and herb medicine a trial. Mrs. Tomsheck's experience should guide you toward health.

CHILD TRAINING AT HOME

This is No. 69 of the fourth series of articles issued by the National Kindergarten Association, 8 West 40th St., New York, City. They are appearing weekly in these columns.

RELIGIOUS TRAINING.

By Mary Collins Terry.

No little child should be without religious training, for it is as essential to the balance and beautiful growth of his character as the proper food is to his body. This training can be given in the home and in the Sunday School. Both are excellent means, and should supplement each other, for it is when these two institutions work together that the child receives the highest benefit.

Because of the ease with which the child learns, and the capacity to retain even unto old age what was learned in childhood, religious training should begin early. Do not say, "Oh, when my boy is old enough to decide for himself I will let him choose his church." You do not leave his manners until then, so why his morals? High ideals and a good moral code are most easily formed in his plastic years.

The child is naturally an imitator and hero worshipper. The stirring stories of Bible heroes and the applications of the truths of the great old Bible stories go far toward helping him formulate the rules which are to govern his own actions now and in later life.

The parents in the home are the ones whose high privilage it is to begin their children's religious training. It is a pity that so many, through thoughtlessness or neglect or a false sense of unfitness, neglect this sweet duty. The Sunday School next should take up and help to broaden and develop the child's religious experience.

There are several ways in which the Sunday School does its work a little better than the same work can be done at home. In the first place children are drawn to other children. They naturally tend to work or play in groups; to be with other children imitating or joining in their activities, gives incentive to Sunday School work.

The Sunday School carries on a regular and systematic course of Bible study, adapted to the ages of children, and presenting the most suitable Bible material in an attractive form.

Visit to the live modern Sunday School in the average church would be a means of enlightenment and surprises to many. Hand work, simple songs, and rhythm for little children; and home work, class competition, and even dramatics and pageantry for the older ones, have been the means of making Bible study delightful, attractive, and absolutely indispensable to our children.

There are ways in which we parents can and ought to co-operate with the Sunday School. Our children can learn to be punctual and regular. We should show our interest in their progress and experiences. How proud they would be if father or mother would also go to Sunday School, perhaps to the adult Bible class——"A little child shall lead them." Then let us have faith in the old Bible promise:

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old he will not depart from it."

SOUR STOMACH INDIGESTION
Thedford's Black-Draught Highly Recommended by a Tennessee Grocer for Troubles Resulting from Torpid Liver.
East Nashville, Tenn.— The efficiency of Thedford's Black-Draught, the genuine, herb, liver medicine, is vouched for by Mr. W. N. Parsons, a grocer of this city. "It is without doubt the best liver medicine, and I don't believe I could get along without it. I take it for sour stomach, headache, bad liver, indigestion, and all other troubles that are the result of a torpid liver.
"I have known and used it for years, and can and do highly recommend it to every one. I won't go to bed without it in the house. It will do all it claims to do. I can't say enough for it."
Many other men and women throughout the country have found Black-Draught just as Mr Parsons describes—valuable in regulating the liver to its normal functions, and in cleansing the bowels of impurities.
Thedford's Black-Draught liver medicine is the original and only genuine. Accept no imitations or substitutes. Always ask for Thedford's. E 68

We Know Batteries Like a Book!
Repairing batteries may look easy—but it isn't!
To be successful, a repair man has to know just how to handle the plates that hold the active material that keeps life in the battery. He has to know how to take care of the insulators that keep the plates apart. He has to know when it is cheaper for you to buy a new battery than to have the old one repaired.
Bring your battery in to Headquarters—no matter whether it's a Willard or not. We'll tell you what it needs, if anything, how much the cost will be—and whether repairs will pay or not.

BEAUTY AND PROTECTION
Plus Lowest Cost Per Square Foot
The retail price of Lucas Tinted Gloss Paint is as high, if not higher, per gallon than any other house paint on the market.
And yet it is actually the lowest priced paint you can buy. There are three important elements that determine the actual cost of paint—so consider them carefully.
First—Thorough and complete grinding in a Lucas factory reduces the pigments to such a fineness that Lucas Tinted Gloss Paint has a covering capacity of nearly double that of ordinary paint. One gallon of Lucas Tinted Gloss Paint will cover 350 to 400 square feet, two coats, while ordinary paint will cover but 250 to 300 square feet, two coats. This immediately reduces the price of Lucas Tinted Gloss Paint to a lower cost per square foot.
Second—The exceptionally high percentage of pure raw linseed oil used in Lucas Tinted Gloss Paint produces a full, even gloss of enduring beauty. Then, the hours of heavy milling that blend the various elements into one perfect paint product assure longer life and greater durability. Thus, Lucas Tinted Gloss Paint costs very much less per year of service.
Third—In painting the average house the paint represents about one-third of the cost, and the labor two-thirds. So that it costs just as much in labor to put on a paint that will last only two or three years as it does to put on a good paint that will give good service five years or longer.
Thus, paints costing less than Lucas Tinted Gloss Paint are actually more expensive. Lucas Tinted Gloss Paint, in Beauty, Spreading Qualities, Protection, and Durability, is not an expense. It is an investment.

REEDVILLE

The feminine portion of this section not being invited to attend the last meeting which was held at this place in the interest of the Steamboat Line to the Eastern Shore, though a number who happened to be at Reed and Rice's while the meeting was in progress went in and greatly enjoyed the occasion—the writer gathered her information second hand. A large and enthusiastic gathering met the visitors from Salisbury, Crisfield and Mr. Pinkham of the N. Y. P. & N., and were thoroughly interested in their plans for the future development of our fair and fertile land, by offering the people here the best transportation facilities they have ever had.

"We should be willing to do almost anything that Salisbury asks of us, for we never could have done for ourselves what they have done for us in this great matter," said a very much interested and prominent citizen, to the writer yesterday. A committee was appointed to take steps necessary to organize a Chamber of Commerce for Reedville and the surrounding country. Mrs. L. B. Rice, secretary and W. B. Evans, of Reedville; Messrs [illegible] Truitt of Callao; Wm. H. Blackwell of Sunnybank, and Jacob French of Carpert, form this committee. The boys from the Eastern Shore were entertained for supper Friday evening at the Reedville House, by Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Shackelford, Mrs. Henry Harland of Muir House, taking half a dozen number for the night, and breakfast. Next day they were carried by autos to down-the-bay points. Everyone is eagerly looking forward to the starting of the steamers, and more interest is felt in the "Eastern Queen" than ever before.

"Nora," a large power boat owned and operated by Capt. Simmonds of Baltimore, ran ashore at Fleeton last Monday and soon filled with water. Boats and men have been trying to get her off all this week, but as yet have failed to do so, and a Revenue boat has been sent for it is said. The "Nora" has been buying fish from the boats on the bay, and running them to Baltimore for the U. S. Stewart Co., of that city. She is said to be valued at $5,000 with no insurance, and grave fears are felt for her safety.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Echols and Miss Barbara Ruth, have been spending some time here with Mrs. Echols' father, Capt. and Mrs. W. M. Marsh.

Miss Elizabeth Downing of Lottsville is expected here this afternoon for the Field Day exercises and the week-end with Mrs. Albert Davis and her aunt, Mrs. Henry Blandon.

Miss Esther Brooking of Washington, was accompanied by her cousin, Mr. Carey Pendleton of the Episcopal High School at Alexandria, when she came for the Easter holidays at the rectory at Fleeton.

Before leaving for Charleston, S. C., Mr. and Mrs. M. V. McFarland of Norfolk, will visit Mrs. I. M. Bussels at Fleeton. They are expected this week. Many old friends will be wishing them all success in their new home in the far Southland.

Mr. G. N. Reed has been sick this week to the sorrow of many friends. Dr. Randolph and the little boys returned to Richmond yesterday, Mrs. Randolph remaining at Reedville until her father is improved.

Mrs. T. C. Slaughter of Fleeton, entertanied the Sewing Circle of St. Mary's Episcopal church, Thursday at which time the Lenten sewing of this year was ended.

Mrs. Beverly Robinson of Beverlyville and Mrs. S. Frank Atwill of this place spent last week in Baltimore.

Rev. and Mrs. Wallace Evans of the Methodist parsonage here, enjoyed a visit from their son Graham, who is a student at Randolph-Macon College, and was spending his Easter holiday at Reedville.

Mr. Eugene Cockrell of Jones Motor Co., Fredericksburg, was here for the past week-end with his people.

The Aid Society of Fairport Baptist Church, held their Annual Bazaar last Wednesday and Thursday nights. They had rain on the first evening, interfering somewhat with the usual attendance, but a very successful and pleasing result is reported.

Mrs. H. P. McNeal, and her daughter, Miss Velma of Fairport, spent the past week-end in Baltimore, visiting the shopping district. Miss Velma is an attractive member of the 1922 graduating class of Reedville High School. There are fourteen graduates this year, with the girls in the majority.

Miss Fannie Hull Robinson has been visiting her brother, Mr. Beverly Robinson and family of Beverlyville, for the past week. Miss Fannie is a great favorite here, and has many friends who gladly welcome her coming.

Wicomico High School basket-ball and baseball teams met Tuesday last, and carried off the honors in both games. Prof. Sisson of Wicomico and a number of teachers came with the team.

Miss Madeline Butler, accompanied Miss Charlotte Delano of Reedville High School to her home in Westmoreland for the Easter week-end.

Miss Bristow and Miss White of Reedville High School faculty spent their brief Easter holidays at Callao, the home of the latter.

The annual "Hen Social," of the Bethany Missionary Society was held at the church here last Wednesday. Though it rained steadily all day there were quite a number of ladies and one or two gentlemen in attendance, to say nothing of a goodly gathering of hens. An interesting program was enjoyed and a very good talk by Mrs. Evans of the parsonage was considered one of the best features. An abundant and delicious dinner was served in the ladies parlor. Mrs. Owen Booth is president of the Society. Mrs. W. B. Crowther of Tibitha, secretary and Mrs. F. C. Jett, treasurer.

Miss Lois Hughes was at her home here for the Easter week-end. She was accompanied by a friend, Miss Maud Clemmon, also a member of the Gloucester High School faculty.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Megill and family from their pretty home on the river near Mila, were at Reedville last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Megill. Little Miss Virginia stayed over here for the week.

Kinsale High School from Old Westmoreland, played Fairfield High School on the grounds near Burgess Store, Thursday afternoon. A good game and fine crowd to enjoy it. A Minstrel Show by Kinsale talent drew a number of Reedville pleasure seekers in that direction at night. The same show is to be at Reedville Hall tonight, the drama "Dust of the Earth" being called off that some of those taking part might attend a dance at Wicomico Hall at the same time.

The Senior Willing Circle met with Dr. and Mrs. L. E. Cockrell of this place, Thursday evening last. Mrs. W. B. Evans and Miss Fannie Robinson attended with the younger folk the latted making one of her splendid talks, which was thoroughly enjoyed by the Circle. During the evening a pleasant feature was the serving of cream and cake by the hostess and her daughter, Miss Virginia Cockrell. The officers of the Senior Circle are: president, Miss Virginia Douglas of Fleeton; secretary, Miss Martha Rice; treasurer, Mr. Stuart Jett, both of Reedville.

Fishing has been slack this week, so the fishermen say. Very few herring, not many shad, and some trout, hard heads, and other late-in-the-season fish. The scarcity has of course made the price a little better and the scales are still selling and helping out with the day's work.

A really welcome rain visited this section Wednesday, falling all day and greatly improving all growing vegetation. Many gardens are assuming a greenish hue and lawn mowers are frequently heard again. Asparagus is shooting up on the hill sides and banks conveying a promise of more to follow.

DELMAR

The yearly meeting of the Old School Baptists was held at Smith Mills Church on Easter. Assisting Elder H. C. Kerr was Elder H. H. Lefferts of Leesbury, Va.

Mr. Frank Lynch Jr. spent several days last week at Pennington, N. J.

The Annual Book Reception was held at the New Century Club, Tuesday evening. Mrs. Lewis Melson arranged the program.

Mrs. Clarence Matthews entertained her Sunday School Class Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Truitt and Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Culver attended the Hill-Hagan wedding at Salisbury, Wednesday afternoon.

O nFriday evening at the Elcora, Mrs. N. M. Waller's Sunday School Class gave a play entitled "The Sewing Circle Meets at Mrs. Martins."

Mrs. Howard Lecates is attending the Pan-American Conference at Baltimore this week as a representative from Delaware.

Mrs. James Brayshaw, Mrs. S. N. Culver, Mrs. Edwin Serman and Mrs. C. H. Truitt attended the card party given for the Red Cross at Salisbury, Thursday evening.

Mrs. John Beach spent Wednesday in Wilmington.

KEEP THE STOMACH HEALTHFUL

—By—

DR. TRUITT

THE CHIROPRACTOR

"So you too, have been forced to live on crackers and milk and other equally uninteresting and joyless diets." How often has this remark been addressed to you.

Barring abuse, every one should be able to eat what he likes in reasonable quantity, without suffering. The facts, however, are that nearly every one is limiting himself, and trying to temper the quantity and kind of foods eaten just to pamper a delicate stomach.

Stomach health depends upon a normal supply of nervous energy. The chiropractor finds the alignment of joints of the spine disturbed at what is known as "stomach place" in every case of stomach dis-ease. When a chiropractic spinal adjustment accurately restores the alignment at "stomach place" digestion once more becomes vigorous and effective.

Affections

Brain
Ears
Eyes
Nose
Throat
Arms
Heart
Lungs
Liver
Stomach
Pancreas
Spleen
Kidneys
Small Bowel
Large Bowel
Genital Organs
Thighs and Legs

STOMACH HEALTH IS RESTORED

"At the age of sixteen I went into a shop and hard work and poor meals, gave me a nervous stomach weakness. I suffered terribly for four years, paying specialists of all kinds for relief which never came. I had about given up hope when I began chiropractic adjustments. Today I am sound and well."—Bessie Tau., Chiropractic Research Bureau, Sworn Statement No. 1245D.

Cornell-Wood-Board

FOR HOMES

FOR GARAGES

FOR OFFICES

The Answer to the Housing Problem

In the face of today's high rents and the cry for quarters, all spare space in every home, office, store and factory should be finished up with Cornell-Wood-Board, the strong, rigid panels that take the place of plaster.

An old attic charmingly finished in Cornell-Wood-Board paneling at a few dollars cost can be rented for $20 or $25 a month, and more; or be converted into a cozy nursery, sewing room or den. Many costly homes are finished throughout with Cornell-Wood-Board. It is easily and quickly applied right to the joists or studding, or over the old plaster.

Cornell paneling is in highest favor with architects, carpenters, contractors, decorators and home owners, not only because it is elegant and permanent, but because Cornell is unequalled for painting and calcimining.

NANTICOKE INDIANS FORM ASSOCIATIONS

Remnants Of Once Powerful Tribe Now Live In Semi-Seclusion In Lower Delaware.

The remnants of the once mighty tribe of Nanticoke Indians, now living in semi-seclusion in Sussex County, Delaware, between Millsboro and Oak Orchard, have formed an association and obtained a charter from the State, granted Feb. 25. The purpose is to keep their people separate and distinct from both white and colored blood, and to promote the moral and literary developements of its members. The incorporators are William R. Clark, Chief of the tribe; Warren T. Wright, Ferdinand Clark, Ephriam L. Harmon and Issac H. Johnson.

Gladys Tanlaguidgeon, Secretary of the Mohegan Indian Tribe of Pennsylvania, was at a meeting on March 5, at the home of the Chief, near Warwick, when the association was formed.

There are fifty direct decendants of the Nanticoke Indians, who form a settlement along the Indian River, where they are prosperous farmers and conduct their own schools, churches, mills and stores. All are engaged in farming and they hold nearly 2,000 acres of the most fertile land in Sussex County.

These Indians are a separate and distinct class when compared with the Moors, whose main place of residence now is in Kent County, at Cresswold, where the race makes its headquarters. There exists in Delaware two separate tribes of strange races—the Moors, who are in the majority, and the the descendants of the Nanticoke Indians; the Moors' settlement is at Cheswold in Kent County.

Wrongly Called "Moors."

Because of an error in a short history of the Nanticoke tribe these Indians were grouped with the other element and consequently all have been called Moors. Even the educated people of Sussex County, and also the Indian Tribe's neighbors in Millsboro, fail to call the Indians by their right title. It is by the title of "direct" descendants of the Nanticoke Indians" that these people stand, and as such they have often fought and been persecuted by white and blacks. They have no social relations with any member of the colored race. Even their church relationship is entirely under the rule of white persons. Their church is under the Methodist Protestant denomination, and is known as the Indian Mission. They register as Indians in the church and in matters connected with civil authorities.

In 1881 they had a law passed incorporating their own school district, although, because of the prejudice of the Leglislature at the time, it is said, under the Delaware law they are known as Moorish schools. But these are Indian schools, and no one but a descendants of an Indian can attend them.

A Few Have "Gone Astray."

According to Chief Clark, "occasionally there is a case of a man or woman going astray from the Indians' moral code and marrying a Negro," but such instances are few, and the offenders are boycotted and disowned. These Indians, although farmers, are expert carpenters and wheelwrights. The Harman family is typical. It is said that Levin Harman, the oldest, is worth perhaps more than $50,000, and the other Harmans are considered nearly as well off. They live in comfortable homes. There are also a dozen or more other families of these people who are progressive, among them the Streets and the Johnsons.

These Indians trace their origin back about the time of the arrival of the whites who settled on the Delaware's shores. The new whits married Nanticoke Indian women and Indian men married the white, with the result that in a short time there was an admixture of the white and red blood, with the same strain continuing right along up until recent times, when, because of prosecutions by both whites and blacks, many of them emigrated, and descendants of the Nanticokes are widely scattered.

About 100 years ago most of the Nanticokes migrated to Canada, where for a time they led a sort of nomadic life, but finally were accepted by the Canadian Indians and incorporated in their tribes and then went to live on the reservations. The last migration was about 1860, when four carloads of men, women and children journeyed West and became assimilated with the whites to such a degree that no trace of any of them can be found now. The last word received by Chief Clark from any of his people in the West was about fifteen years ago.

These migrations were a serious setback to the Indians remaining, but they soon revived and began to progress. Then their success aroused jealousy which resulted in prosecution. Their church was burned, but the members raised money to erect a new and better church.

Served In World War.

Out of a colony of about 150 men, women and children of this tribe a dozen young men enlisted or were drafted for the World War. They served as Indians and were recognized by the Government as such.

The Nanticoke Indians in Canada were traced to a reservation by Dr. Speck of the University of Pennsylvania Indian Department. They are known as the Six Nations by the Canadians. The chief is Joseph Hill, a Nanticoke desendant.

Barley as a hog feed is coming on the market in increasing amounts, probably for the reasons that its use for brewing purposes has fallen off and the hog industry has been moving into the barley-producing districts. The United States Department of Agriculture has taken up the problem of finding out the relative feeding value of light and heavy barley. There are no Federal standards for this grain, but light and heavy grades are recognized on the market.

During 1921 the Department made feeding tests of the two grades, and the trials will be repeated. Not enough data are available yet for definite conclusions as to the relative merits of the relative light and heavy grain, but the results have shown that high-class barley has a feeding value only slightly lower than good shelled corn. When these tests are completed the Department will have additional information on the methods of feeding barley, whether or not it should be fed whole, rolled, dry, or soaked.

A Farmer Cured of Rheumatism.

"A man living on a farm near here came in a short time ago completely doubled up with rheumatism. I handed him a bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and told him to use it freely," says C. P. Rayder, Patten Mills, N. Y. "A few days later he walked into the store as straight as a string and handed me a dollar saying, give me another bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment; I want it in the house all the time for it cured me."—Advt.

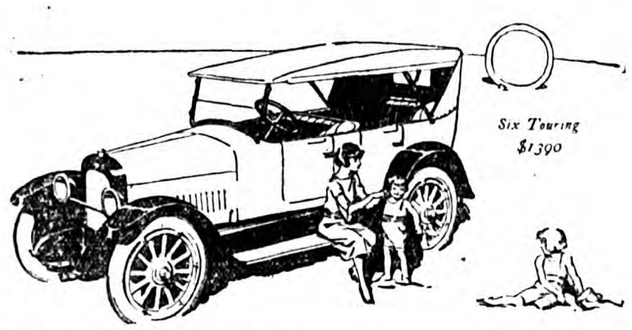
Nash Leads the World in Motor Car Value



Six Touring $1390

THAT leadership which Nash cars are assuming everywhere throughout the country in their respective classes can be seen reflected nowhere more clearly and unmistakably than in the figures for the annual sale of motor cars by all manufacturers.

But a scant five years ago Nash stood 24th in volume of business yearly. Now Nash is in 8th place and that in itself speaks weightily as to the quality and value embodied in the fours and sixes that bear the Nash emblem on the radiator.
