

SALISBURY ADVERTISER.

COL. 45.

SALISBURY, MARYLAND, SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19, 1912

NO. 10.

Widespread Interest Aroused In The Advertiser's Florida Tour, Diamond Ring and Gold Watch Contest.

Applications Should Be Made Early So That Contestants May Get Away With A Good Start. Many Names Already On File. Division of Territory Into Three Districts Gives Everybody A Chance.

VOTES CAN BE WON IN ANY TERRITORY.

Interest in The Salisbury ADVERTISER's big voting contest increases daily. It is assured that there will be keen competition in every district for the six prizes offered—The Florida Tour, Diamond Rings and Gold Watches. Those who intend to enter the contest should do so without further delay—send in your application today. Little work will be required and the limits only extend over eight weeks.

Start At Once.

Clip the coupon from today's issue of The ADVERTISER and vote for your favorite in the list of candidates which appears in today's issue. The opportunity to enter is NOW, and the hesitating ones should not forget to get their applications in so that the contest representative can call on them and start them in the race from the beginning. This will give them an opportunity to interest others in their behalf before the field is covered.

As To Territory.

Let us forget. Candidates May Work in Any Territory They Choose in Securing Subscriptions. If you have a friend in South Africa or Van Diemen Land, votes will be counted on this subscription should you secure it. But contestants must be residents in the district from which they enter. They may go into any other district to get the ballots that are printed in the paper, and to secure the paid subscriptions on which votes in blocks are issued.

There are no conditions which do not apply to all alike. It is a fair field, where the ambitious contestants have an equal chance of winning. As many may enter as comply with the rules of the contest. When you enter get all of your friends to help you; get hold of all the coupons that appear in the paper that you can. Make a list of prospective subscribers. Have your friends see their influence with their friends, and before you know what has happened you will have an endless chain of workers in your behalf.

Develop System.

Careful, systematic planning and work is what will win. The "average" at it" will secure the prize for you. Inside information about the great contest will be given any one who drops in on the Contest Manager or telephones to see.

The Contest Department is just inside the door in The ADVERTISER Office, on Division Street. Phone number 304.

Districts.

In the Contest, Wicomico County is divided into three districts. That known as District No. 1, will include that section of Salisbury east of Division Street; District No. 2, that section of Salisbury west of Division Street; and District No. 3, will embrace all the outside towns of Wicomico County—including Sharptown, Fruitland, Bivalve, Pittsville, Willard, Tysack, Delmar, Mardela, Hobson, Nanticoke, Trappe, Netters, and others and all that territory in Wicomico County, not included in the first two districts.

The highest winner in the three districts will receive a two weeks tour to Florida, the Land of the Sunny South, or a one hundred dollar diamond ring. She will be allowed the privilege of choosing between the two prizes. Remember, this prize goes to the highest winner, regardless of districts.

The highest winners in each of the other two districts will each receive a $75 diamond ring—pure, white stone. The second highest winners in all three districts will receive a twenty five dollar gold watch. As soon as the arrangements are completed, these prizes will be on exhibition at some of the leading merchants.

The candidates from any one district, however may solicit votes and subscriptions anywhere within the county or outside of it, so that their field is not limited. But the lady having the highest total vote at the end of the contest, which begins October the nineteenth will be a winner, irrespective of what the total vote shall be in the other districts, and likewise that lady having the highest vote in Districts Nos. 2 and 3 will also win, irrespective of the votes in the other districts.

The Rules.

No. 1.—Any lady, married or single, fifteen years of age, living in any one of the three districts may enter The ADVERTISER's Florida Trip, Diamond Ring and Gold Watch contest by having one of the nomination blanks, printed in the ADVERTISER, properly filled out and mailed or brought to the Contest Manager of the Salisbury ADVERTISER, Salisbury, Md.

No. 2.—District No. 1 includes all that section of Salisbury east of Division Street. District No. 2, all of that section of Salisbury west of Division Street. District No. 3 will embrace all the outside towns of Wicomico County, including Sharptown, Fruitland, Bivalve, Pittsville, Willard, Tysack, Delmar, Mardela, Hobson, Nanticoke, Trappe, Netters, and all that territory in Wicomico County not included in the first two districts.

No. 3.—The first publication of names of candidates will be made on Saturday, October the nineteenth, and the first vote exhibit will be published Saturday, October the twenty sixth.

All coupons clipped from the issue of The ADVERTISER will be known as "Stingles" and in order to be voted must be neatly trimmed for filing. All coupons on paid in advance and past due subscriptions will be known as "Specials" and must bear the receipt numbers from which they are issued for proper recording of the same in the vote ledger.

No coupon, either "Single" or "Special" will be sold for money or other consideration, but shall be obtained only by being clipped from The ADVERTISER or secured through the regular subscription channels.

No vote coupons will be issued on subscriptions to The ADVERTISER during the life of this contest, unless accompanied by money for same and for no shorter period than six months. No. 4.—Any district that may have only one active candidate will be declared off and said district will be merged with the one closest to it from a voting strength.

No. 5.—All coupons will be filed away and be subject to the inspection of contestants and their friends at any time during the contest.

No. 6.—A Board of three responsible business men will have exclusive control of the ballot box the last day of the contest, and shall declare the winners of the contest.

No. 7.—No employee or close relative of an employee of The ADVERTISER is eligible to enter the contest.

No. 8.—Contestants can only enter from the district in which they live.

No. 9.—Votes are not transferable from one contestant to another.

No. 10.—This contest will close at eight P. M. Saturday December the fourteenth 1912.

No. 11.—No statement or promise made by any solicitor, canvasser or agent varying from the above rules as set forth will be recognized by The ADVERTISER.

Address all communications relating to the contest to:

"The Talk of The Town"

Success. Splendidly Produced For Charity's Sake—Proceeds Will Be Helped.

The entertainment, "The Talk of The Town," which was given for the benefit of the King's Daughters on Monday and Tuesday evenings of this week was a perfect success in every way even financially, but owing to the heavy expense did not receive as much money as in the past, but did realize $83.00 and with the $19.00 now in, means $102.00 to begin the winter's work. Three persons contributed money during the extremely cold weather in January, that with the other dues of the members and $160.00 realized from the entertainment given in October's year ago for the benefit of the Society, was the money with which we had to do our work, and no one except those who were engaged in relieving distress, and suffering can imagine what it meant, especially during the month of January. The Society desires to thank the parents of the children who took part in the entertainment, also the children for they could have done no better. The grown people did their best and there can be no unfavorable criticism whatever. We have local talent to be proud of both of the children and older people. Miss Bookwalter complimented them very highly, by saying that she had over trained anywhere that they learned so readily, and in such a short time.

We must not forget to thank Miss Bookwalter for she was indispensable in her efforts to make the entertainment a grand success. Some of the older people were averse to taking part and only did so to help the cause for which we thank them, and if they could only know how the money is used to relieve suffering and distress, and are sure they would feel amply compensated. Some complain that we use some of our money to help men who will not work to support their families. Perhaps we do, but not willingly. We cannot see the mothers and children suffer on account of the worthless husband and father. Rest assured the money will be used to the best advantage.

Let me again in the name of the Society, thank all who contributed in any way to the success of the entertainment and those who have donated to the cause.

Mrs. L. D. Collier, Treasurer.

DEMOCRATS PREPARE FOR AMENDED REPORT RAILROAD.

Big Meeting—Prominent Speakers To Be Present—Chairman For Afternoon And Night Meetings.

The Democrats are making preparations for what bids fair to be one of the biggest meetings ever held in the Opera House. This meeting will take place on Saturday, October the twenty sixth, and all Democrats in the County are invited to come in and listen to the arguments and speeches of some of the ablest men on the stump in this country. The list of speakers announced is quite an imposing one and ought to be a sufficient drawing card in itself. Among those who will be present are:

Hon. A. J. Montague, Ex-Governor of Virginia, and an able speaker; Hon. Frank S. Monnett, formerly Attorney General of Ohio under Republican rule, and the man who first conducted a successful case in the Courts against the Trusts; Hon. J. Thos. Heflin, Congressman from Alabama; Hon. Rob. L. Henry, the well known orator and Congressman from Texas; Hon. Blair Lee, Senator from Montgomery; Hon. J. Harry Covington, Congressman from this District and the nominee of his party for re-election.

The afternoon meeting will be presided over by Mr. L. W. Gunby and the evening meeting by Mr. C. R. Disharoon.

The reception committee to meet and entertain the speakers and other distinguished visitors is composed as follows: Sen. Jesse D. Price, C. E. Harper, K. A. Toadvine, R. Frank Williams and John F. Hagan.

CHANGE IN MERCANTILE

Firm—The Kennerly-Shockley Company Stock Changed Hands Saturday.

This week marks a change in the personnel of the Kennerly-Shockley Company, the big dry goods firm on Main Street. Mr. B. Frank Kennerly retired as head of the firm. Mr. Kennerly organized the firm in February, 1908, and was president of the Company, the other officers being J. E. Shockley, secretary and treasurer, and G. W. Tilghman, vice president. The other stockholders retiring with Mr. Kennerly were: Dr. J. McF. Dick, S. King White, W. F. Allen, Charles R. Disharoon and Edward D. Mitchell. The stock was taken over by Messrs. J. E. Shockley, G. W. Tilghman and W. C. Carey.

The firm will continue on with the same firm name and Mr. Shockley will be president of the new Company. This firm bears a fine reputation in this community and the present members are all young, hustling business men who will keep up this reputation in the future.

Mr. Kennerly still retains his interest in the Kennerly-Mitchell Company, the well-known Main Street Clothiers, but will not be actively engaged in any business for several months, as he intends to take a rest.

READY TO RECEIVE

Contributions—C. R. Disharoon, Local Treasurer—Democratic Auxiliary Committee.

Senator Blair Lee, Treasurer of the Democratic Auxiliary Committee, has notified Mr. C. R. Disharoon of his appointment as Treasurer for this Committee for Wicomico County. Mr. Disharoon has already forwarded close to $100 received from Democrats interested in the Campaign. Those who wish to contribute to this State fund can hand their money over to Mr. Disharoon and he will forward same to the proper authorities.

Senator Lee has the following to say in his letter to Mr. Disharoon in regard to this fund:

The Committee desires that there be, generally speaking, two kinds of contributions sought, first, a class of subscribers for amounts above $5 and second, a popular subscription class of $5 and under. It is thought that the popular subscription of $5 and under would come along more strongly as the campaign progresses.

Very truly yours,
Blair Lee.

Furnace Property For Sale

Messrs. Wm. H. Jackson, Wm. F. Jackson, John Walter Smith and John P. Moore, owners of the historic old "Furnace Property" will sell the same as the Court House Door, in Snow Hill on Tuesday, November the nineteenth, at two o'clock P. M.

This property is covered with a great deal of valuable timber and has large quantities of bog iron ore. The old furnace which was at one time in operation for iron is still standing on the property, but is in ruins. It was here that the scene of the "Entailed Hat," the novel written by George Alfred Townsend was laid and here lived the chief character in the book "Rampson Harmon," the negro who could run down a deer and capture it with his own hands. The property will attract a large number of bidders, especially those people who are interested in timber.

Flag Raising and Box Social

On Saturday, November the second, the Junior Order of the United American Mechanics will present the Free-Masonry School, on the shell road between Salisbury and Delmar, with a flag.

The presentation exercises will begin promptly at four thirty P. M., and at six P. M., a supper will be served. At seven thirty an entertainment will be given and refreshments served. Delightful and appetizing boxes will be for sale by charming young ladies, who will talk to the purchaser as he comes.

Be with us because you believe in the stars and stripes and the Public School, and lend a hand in the grand cause of public education.

—Miss Edith D. Dennis and Mr. Lawrence H. Perdue, both of near Pittsville were married at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Olie Messick, on Saturday evening, October the twelfth, at Parsonburg, by Rev. E. H. Collins.

The amended report shows that the New York, Philadelphia and Norfolk railroad and the Baltimore, Chesapeake and Atlantic Railway are assessed to pay $1,600.00 in cash and to give a large portion of land towards opening these streets. The N. Y. & N. gives the paved street to the town from E. Church to Elizabeth and also moves its present station at its own expense. The N. Y. & N. gives 11,000 square feet of land and has to tear down its present station and offices practically and locate at some other point. So it will be seen that the Council did not spare the railroads in amending the report and considering the fact that the two railroads will expend in the neighborhood of $100,000.00 in all to make a way to get a new Union Station and proper side tracks, it would seem that they have been liberal. The action of the Council in amending this report should certainly receive the support of the people of the city and the property owners whose property is taken to make this improvement should view it liberally as it will mean a great improvement to their remaining property and will increase the value of same.

The report shows the following benefits and damages as per the amended report: the new street to be 35 feet wide.

B. C. & A. Ry., Co. damages $1,000.00; benefits, $1,900.00.

Jonathan Waller, damages, $600; benefits, $830.

George W. D. Waller, damages, $539.40; benefits, $830.00.

John H. Tomlinson, damages $2,000.00; benefits, $1,150.00.

New York, Philadelphia & Norfolk R. Co., damages $200.00; benefits, $1,000.00. This makes the damages foot up to $4,783.00, and benefits $4,702.00, leaving the city to pay $81.00 in cash and to pay the expense of opening and grading the street, which will amount to about five or six hundred dollars. In arriving at the above figures the Mayor and Council treated all the property on the same basis, allowing 11 cents per square foot for all property taken and assessing one dollar per linear front foot as benefits.

This whole question is now up to the property owners and to the citizens of the city as to whether or not we are to have a new Union Station. The railroad people have gone as far as they will go, and if the matter of opening the streets is hampered by law suits and litigation then the whole project will be dropped and Salisbury will go for a few more years with its present railroad depot accommodations.

On Saturday, November the second, the Junior Order of the United American Mechanics will present the Free-Masonry School, on the shell road between Salisbury and Delmar, with a flag.

The presentation exercises will begin promptly at four thirty P. M., and at six P. M., a supper will be served. At seven thirty an entertainment will be given and refreshments served. SORDID TALE OF T. R.'S FUND

Treasurer Sheldon and J. P. Morgan Tell of Millions Subscribed in 1904.

BIG FAVORS IN RETURN

Frick, Gould and Morgan Gave $100,000 Each—Corporations Gave 75% Part of Entire Amount Received.

John D. Archibald's statement that the Standard Oil company contributed $200,000 to Mr. Roosevelt's campaign fund in 1904 was confirmed by George W. Sheldon, who succeeded Cornelius W. Bliss as treasurer of the Republican national committee.

Not only did the Standard Oil company give $100,000 to elect Mr. Roosevelt president, but J. Pierpont Morgan & Co. gave $100,000. H. C. Frick gave $100,000 and George Gould gave another $100,000. Mr. Sheldon testified that 75% per cent of Mr. Roosevelt's total campaign fund was contributed by corporations.

Naturally these people gave their money freely to the Roosevelt campaign fund.

Testifying that he had contributed $150,000 to the Roosevelt campaign fund in 1904 because he was "especially interested," Mr. J. P. Morgan added, "The only interest we had was in the welfare of the public."

Mr. Morgan emphasized his devotion to Mr. Roosevelt's political fortunes by the further statement that J. P. Morgan & Co.'s usual contribution to Republican campaign funds was only $300,000; that he never heard of any donation by his firm to the Democrats; that when Mr. Taft was a candidate in 1908 the sum subscribed was $300,000 and that this year neither he nor his banking house had subscribed a dollar.

How It Was All Done.

To grasp these pregnant facts we have only to recall a little modern history. In 1904 Mr. Roosevelt had his bureau of corporations in working order. Mr. Cortelyou, lately in control of it as secretary of commerce and labor, had been made chairman of the national Republican committee. He and Cornelius N. Bliss, treasurer, were collecting money. As George R. Sheldon, Mr. Bliss' successor, says, 75% per cent of the funds received came from the named corporations.

If we do not find in these disclosures a sufficient explanation of J. P. Morgan & Co.'s "special interest" in Mr. Roosevelt's election, it is possible that later events may reveal it.

Mr. Roosevelt never prosecuted J. P. Morgan & Co.'s steel trust. He emphatically stopped the proceedings instituted by others against J. P. Morgan & Co.'s harvest trust. When the panic of 1907 was at its height he turned over to J. P. Morgan & Co. who used them and made money and reputation by the process. He met Gary and Frick, representing J. P. Morgan & Co.'s steel trust, before breakfast one morning and licensed them, in violation of law, to absorb the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, thus giving J. P. Morgan & Co.'s steel trust a monopoly of high grade iron ore. He put Mr. Bacon, a partner of J. P. Morgan & Co. into the state department and the diplomatic service. He made Herbert Batterlee, J. P. Morgan's son-in-law, assistant secretary of the navy. In a letter to Attorney General Bonaparte he testified feelingly to the virtues of the "Morgan interests which have been so friendly to us." Never before was the "public welfare" so cheaply protected.

Extent of Morgan Interests. The "Morgan interests" are not confined to J. P. Morgan & Co. by any means. The Morgan interests comprise head life insurance companies, banks and trust companies, railroads and manufacturing enterprises. If the part most honest increased its regular Republican contribution in 1904 because of its "special interest" we may easily imagine that the policy was widely imitated by affiliated corporations and individuals. Perhaps in this almost unexampled favor by the Morgan interests we shall find an explanation of the Roosevelt administration's hostility to the Standard Oil interests, which have not always agreed with J. P. Morgan & Co. concerning "the welfare of the public."

It may be that the senate committee will be able to throw more light on this point, but it can hardly add anything to the scandal of the Morgan Roosevelt alliance. It was Mr. Roosevelt who opened up to J. P. Morgan & Co. the possibilities of government by big business. It was Mr. Roosevelt who persuaded J. P. Morgan & Co. to plunge deeply into politics. It was Mr. Roosevelt who, consulting "the public welfare," registered the decrees of J. P. Morgan & Co. in the White House.

Not until Mr. Roosevelt had lost control of the Republican machinery and the law providing for publicity of campaign contributions had gone into effect did J. P. Morgan & Co. disappear from the list of regular contributors to the colonial corruption funds of the Republican party. Are J. P. Morgan & Co. now operating politically under cover of their recent partner, George W. Perkins?—New York World.

Gravely to a Vacationist.
That's what I call me.
"What?"
"I sent Brown a card from our summer cottage, and to make him jealous I wrote on it that I was having fresh fish for dinner every day."
"Well?"
"He sent me one right back saying that after receiving my card he went into a barber shop for a shave, ate a porterhouse steak for dinner, and before retiring took a nice cold bath in a porcelain tub, then mentioned incidentally that there were no fish in his bedroom, either."

Quite Likely.
"Here is a country newspaper which contains the account of a rural dance, but, strange to say, the editor does not refer to the crowd as 'tripping the light fantastic.'"
"Perhaps they don't."
"How is that?"
"Oh, rustic folk are much enlightened these days. Perhaps they did the 'turkey trot' and the 'grizzly bear.'"

Awful Fix.
"Peggy's in a terrible fix."
"What's the trouble?"
"She's just counted up and found she's refused a dozen offers of marriage, and now though she's crazy to marry Dick, she's afraid to accept him because he's the thirteenth."

The Judicial Mind.
"I think my husband must have a judicial mind."
"Why?"
"Whenever I catch him doing anything he ought not to be ready to spring a precedent on me by insisting that some other man whom I have respected has done the same thing."

ARMORY SITE CHOSEN.

The Commission named to select a site for the New Armory have decided to take the lot of The Salisbury Realty Company on the corner of Division Street and Clarks Avenue. This is the site recommended by many of the leading citizens some time back, and will meet with the approval of the public in general. This location is near enough to the center of the city to make the New Armory available for the many public purposes for which it may be used outside of its regular functions.

The Commission is to be congratulated upon the common sense used in this selection, and the public will have the satisfaction of knowing that when the new Building is finished they will have a site which will give them a permanent Hall, centrally located.

BROTHERS AFTER ALL.

At times we are prone to think the world is growing worse and more selfish all the time, then there comes a great misfortune and we see an entirely different side of humanity. The shooting of Mr. Roosevelt is a good illustration. In the midst of a campaign seldom if ever equalled in bitterness and personal feeling one of the nominees is suddenly injured—at once all abuse stopped, the whole nation turns its eyes filled with sympathy and regret to the man who was being battered by the Press and speakers from one end of the Country to the other a few minutes before. His opponents in the Presidential race with rare courtesy and good taste lead the others in genuine expression of sorrow and in order not to take the advantage of an unfortunate foe, cancel their campaign engagements. We are sorry that Mr. Roosevelt was shot and hope that his reported recovery will prove correct, but if it had to happen, we are glad to see the better side of human nature, and to find that politicians of all parties have a kinder side to their nature than is usually shown to the public.

POLITICS STARTING UP.

It seems absurd to say that politics are just beginning, but this is about the case as far as the actual work is concerned in this County. Of course the voters have had a pretty long and thorough course in the issues of today by means of the various Primary Campaigns which have been waged, and through the Press which for several months has been conducting a very active and educational campaign.

Things locally, however, are beginning to hum. The Democrats through the various Wilson-Marshall-Covington Clubs were about the first to get in the game, though evidence is not lacking that the Republicans have not been asleep nor as far as that goes have the Progressives.

Today starts the first big meeting in the Opera House when the followers of the Bull Moose will open their fire and try and persuade our voters that the country cannot be saved but by their agency.

Next Saturday the Democrats have completed their arrangements for a monstrous mass meeting in the same place, and will try to prove to the voters here that at last the good old party is coming into its own and that the high cost of living will be reduced as well as other evils eliminated. The Saturday following the Republicans will have a whack at the question and prove the present prosperity to be the direct result of the able administration held while they were in power.

The people will attend all these meetings and the chances are good that they will vote as they would have done anyway. Meetings however have a very distinct value in that they cause more interest to be taken in the election and lessen the danger of our voters staying home on the day the votes are cast. This paper can hardly be expected to urge its readers to attend any of the meetings except the one scheduled by the Democrats but it does urge them to attend this one. There is no objection to every voter attending all the meetings and thus get all sides of the question. The Democratic Party is not afraid to meet any with the platform adopted and with a man like Mr. Wilson to carry it out.

Come out next Saturday and show that Wicomico County is proud of Mr. Wilson and intends to give him the biggest vote ever cast for a President in this County. Come yourself and bring your friends with you.

ROOSEVELT OUT OF DANG.

or—Condition Regarded As Favorable—May Get Into Campaign Again.

The latest bulletin from the Hospital at Chicago where Mr. Roosevelt was taken after being shot in Milwaukee, indicates that there is but little fear felt by the surgeons in charge of his recovery. Mr. Roosevelt is reported as being very anxious to get on the "hustlings" again and it is regarded as likely that he will make one or more speeches before the campaign is over.

Mr. Roosevelt was shot by Frank Bohrank, a former New Yorker, supposed to be demented, while getting into his automobile to ride to the Hall in Milwaukee to deliver an address. Despite the fact that a 38 caliber ball had entered his chest, Mr. Roosevelt with most remarkable grit and nerve proceeded to the Hall and spoke for over one hour. An examination made after the speech showed the wound to be much more serious than was at first supposed and he was rushed to a Hospital in Chicago. People of all factions and parties joined in expressing regret and sorrow and it was the wish of a United Nation that he recover from the attempted assassination.

Governor Wilson—The Man

Government can only be effective through the instrumentality of man. Political Parties are effective—rise higher or sink lower according to the men who compose them. At certain times certain types of men are needed. England needed a Cromwell to rebuke the doctrine of "Divine right of Kings;" Germany a Bismarck for the unification of the German people; and who can doubt that in our country a Washington was needed to steadily launch the "Ship of the State;" a Marshall to limit, define and expound the Constitution; a Jefferson to put to the test the principles of Democracy? And these men were furnished and gave form to their respective political schools of thoughts which have survived to this day.

There can be no doubt of the steady and persistent trend of Government in the interest of the people. In the public interest as opposed to Special Interest. Since the French Revolution this has been going slowly but steadily on. In our own Country the public conscience is being stirred and a true self interest is making clear the vision that no one class of society can suffer without injury to all.

From all that appears in the daily press can any one doubt that a crisis is at hand in the public life of the Nation? There is a need of strong measures and strong men of intelligence and will, unselfish and devoted to the public interests. Men who are willing to have the affairs of the Government administered in the open, subject to the broad light and scrutiny of public opinion; men who are willing to assume the full responsibility of leadership and who profoundly realize the purpose and object of our American system of Government—the principle that public office is a public trust and makes those principles real and vital in the life of our nation.

To carry these principles into execution, is to necessarily antagonize the false friends of the people, to meet the many economic and social problems involved is a tremendous task and requires above all, great moral courage, great intelligence and an absolute freedom from control—except the voice of intelligent public opinion and the instinctive perception of the welfare of every man.

Is it too much to say that in a happy conjunction of circumstances Governor Wilson meets the need of the hour? Governor Wilson does not need to say that he is a Democrat, because he is a living embodiment of Democratic ideals. His whole career spells "equal rights to all and special privileges to none." Is he sincere? Is he honest? Is he playing politics? Ask the people of New Jersey whether he betrayed their trust or not. Is he intelligent? What is the ripest and best matured product of University life? What about Government? A specialist in Jurisprudence and political science for thirty years; a practical and successful administrator in the office of Governor and a manager of the large business affairs of a modern University.

Is he safe? If the above is correct that question is answered. Is the Nation safe with injustice? It is true that Governor Wilson has given expression to advanced opinions both on economic and social questions compared with statesmen of a few years ago but they will be found on inspection to meet different situations and to keep pace with ever changing conditions. This I understand to be no change in principle but in its true sense what is meant by progressive men.

He understands the Government to be an instrument of the general welfare, not to be used for private ends or to administer to the ambition of any individual. Having spent his whole life in the public interest it is but natural he should antagonize special interest in legislative business and discover the motive power in men active in politics.

Believing in party cooperation of all men who agree on public questions, he doubtless believes devotion to the public interest the highest expression of Democracy and more partnership the lowest. In a word he would make the name of politician instead of being odious as it was in his own State, entirely respectable and worthy the emulation of any citizen.

Nor need any one fear in Wilson a feebleness in the Executive Department of the Government. He is no more of a weakling than Andrew Jackson or Grover Cleveland.

Regarding his views on Economic questions, what right has any man to complain if he has exactly the same opportunity as his fellows. Gov. Wilson does not believe one industry should be allowed to monopolize all there is in that line. Nor does he believe the law should be so shaped as to give some industry special advantage. Nobody ever pretended to defend such policies from the standpoint of Justice. The most that can be said for them is that they were sometimes expedient. Slavery had the tendency to render all free labor inefficient. Any industry dependent upon the Government for support tends to make that industry inefficient, with little incentive for skill or anything requiring initiative industry or strict management.

While he believes these things to be wrong and a product of conditions which long ceased to exist, yet he believes they should be approached not with the hand of violence but in a spirit of gradual adjustment to the growing moral sense of this modern period.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Account of Meeting Last Monday Evening.

Building permits were granted as follows:

John L. Baker, dwelling on Market Street; Home Gas Company, stables on Cemetery Street; Frank J. Booth, storehouse on Vine and Hastings Streets; Ida M. Cordy, store and dwelling on Barkley Street; Frank E. Konefska, barn and stables on Smith Street.

Messrs. Bradley and Towdine were appointed a committee to examine Cooper Street and report the number of lights needed and also on the general condition of the street.

The City Auditor reported that they had audited the books of the Treasurer and found everything correct.

The City Solicitor was instructed to proceed to collect amounts due the city for street curbing on East Camden, Broad, Newton, Imbellia, East William and East Church Streets, and to use the full limit of the law to force these collections at once.

A new ordinance was passed for the extension of Main Street and the Mayor appointed Messrs. J. Cleveland White, William T. Phoenix and William F. Menick a commission to lay out and assess damages and benefits on said street.

The committee having in charge the matter reported that the city should erect two new street lights on New York Avenue. The matter was laid over.

TELLS THE CHARACTER

By Facial Features. Shape of Head. Style of Talk and Walk, Etc.

Thursday forenoon, Prof. A. D. Willis, of New York, gave a very interesting lecture on Physiognomy to the students of the Salisbury Business College. Prof. Willis is an author of some note as well as a lecturer and handled his subject in a highly interesting manner. He has made a study of Physiognomy for over thirty years and his views are original as well as practical. Prof. Willis took pains to define Physiognomy which most people understand to mean fall feature but which he uses in the broader meaning—natural history. The four ways of reading character thereby are as follows:

Form or shape, color of hair, eyes and skin, expression of face and action of the body. Every gesture we make is a manifestation of character. People will probably look in the next world like the characters they have developed in this life. Difference in character is responsible for no two people looking alike. It is impossible to separate the body from the soul.

In the animal kingdom all of the savage selfish animals have broad flat heads—good examples of which are the alligator, crocodile, rattlesnake and bull dog. All of the kind, inoffensive, useful animals, such as the horse, cow, etc., have long narrow heads. Everyone looks like some animal, some people like two or three.

Daniel Webster and Gladstone both resembled a lion in the general cast of countenance. Different nations resemble different animals. Broad, high features indicate selfishness and temper. Moses had broad head—and he slew an Egyptian and smote rock in anger but Moses was fitted to be a reader of the people. Broad heads have a use in the world; have executive ability but selfish. A man whose head is higher in the back than in front, if an ignorant man, is a mule on two legs, the high and broad head the man of aristocratic ideas, the big little you, best exemplified in "The House of Lords" the desire of the few to rule, the masses, accumulation of wealth in hands of the few. The back part of the head denotes will power, the disposition to dominate over others. A head high in the front and middle denotes intelligence and altruism, the Christ like spirit, kind, gentle and love. A great many people have the largest part of their brain in the wrong part of their head, such as criminals who have the back part or stubbornness will power and temper too well developed and genius who have the other part of their brain too well developed. Such people are mentally lop-sided. A valley across the head denotes lack of reverence, disrespect for elders, etc. Physiognomy teaches how to educate, improve and develop along the right lines.

Noses—Greek or straight nose signifies aesthetic tastes developed—seen sometimes now in England among the aristocracy. Roman nose denotes character, strength. Washington a good type of this class. Flat nose as well as the pancake face in common among the lower classes of the human race. Unprogressive Chinese have flat faces. A lump on the nose shows fighting qualities, combativeness, aggressiveness, etc. A man with a lump on his nose is a live fish keen alert. Broad nose, where joined to face, denotes good business ability. Such noses as Carnegie, John Wanamaker, Pierpont, Morgan, have this type of nose. Even a preacher with this kind of a nose looks out for a better salary. Speculator or hooked nose—the real thing. People with this type of nose never die in the pothouse. Baby nose, childhood, feminine nose; its four characteristics are confidence, trust, teachableness, eagerness, over sensitive people of this type.

Musical ear—the symmetrical perfect oval ear. All great musicians have this ear and also lovers of music. Pates and Damosob good examples.

Eyes—The mind looks through the eyes, an immoral sensual life shows in the eyes. Vice like virtue has expression in the face. Solomon truly said "Wisdom maketh a man's face to shine." Education and religion make good faces. A light blue eyed person although cold natured and reserved is good at keeping secrets. These people are hard to read as they do not let their feelings be shown. A clear brown eyed person is warmer and more sociable. They usually talk too much and too loud.

Mouth—Love, or the heart shows in the mouth. Thick lipped people are too much controlled by feelings. Thin light lips denote rigid economy in business, although sometimes carried to the extent of meanness, stinginess and selfishness. Grant, Washington and Napoleon all had these lips.

Prof. Willis also demonstrated how a man's character shows in his walk how the business man, Hobo and good natured man walks. He also demonstrated different forms of laughter: the coarse vulgar laugh, the giggling laugh and the clean wholesome chortle laugh. Character can also be read by the kind of anecdote one enjoys. People who enjoy cheap, coarse jokes have cheap coarse characters. Prof. Willis likewise in a humorous manner gave the students some advice in regard to the selection of future husbands and wives.

Housekeeping Is Not the Task It Used to Be

MODERN invention has done away with much of the hard work. For instance, the cleaning and polishing of hardwood floors, the dusting of moldings, the tops of high furniture, the stairs, under the radiator, etc. These back-breaking tasks are now made easy with the

O-Cedar Mop Polish

With it you can dust, clean and polish a hardwood floor in the time it formerly took you to get ready to do it. Besides, you do not have to get down on your hands and knees to dust under the bed or other hard-to-get-at places, or to stand on a chair to dust the top of the high furniture. All of the hard work is now made easy with the O-Cedar Polish Mop. It gathers all the dust or dirt from everywhere and holds it. The mop is easily cleaned by washing and then renewed by putting on a few drops of O-Cedar Polish.

Try it at Our Risk. Try it two whole days with all the dust or dirt from everywhere and hold it. If you do not find it satisfactory in every respect we will return your money. The price is only $1.50 and it will save its price many times over in a short time.

Thomson's Kidney

Trunk and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your urine and let it stand twenty-four hours; a brick dust sediment, or stringy or milky appearance often indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back are also symptoms that tell you the kidneys and bladder are out of order and need attention.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills almost every wish in correcting rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. Corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effects of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. Mention this paper and remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

MILDREDINA HAIR REMEDY.

Grows Hair And We Can Prove It.

Hair troubles like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action. The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grows, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutriment; when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or tree would die under similar conditions).

The natural thing, to do in either case, is to replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should. Mildredina Hair Remedy makes the scalp clean, healthy and wholesome. It quickly penetrates the pores and stimulates the hair glands and scalp tissues, thereby promoting the growth of the hair. Its action is quick and the hair soon shows the effect of its wonderful cleansing and stimulating qualities.

One 50 cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.

Mildredina Hair Remedy is put up in 50c and $1.00 bottles. Sample bottle by mail for 10c. If your druggist will not supply you, we will send you the $1.00 size by mail prepaid on receipt of price. Mildredina Specialty Co., Boston, Mass.

SENT ABOVE. KIDNEY THEY HAD BEEN planned to satisfy the disconcerting eye, jealous of every addition or alteration at the Mount. My lord, the ancient potentate, leisurely ascending in ecclesiastical gown, while conscious of an earthly power reaching even into England, could still fancy he was going up a Jacob's ladder into realms eternal. Seated at the head of the long table, with gaze occasionally bent toward the sculler de dentelle of the chapel to the left, might well exclaim no royal road could compare with this inspiring and holy way; nor is it difficult to understand a sudden enchantment here, or beyond, that drew to the rock on these pilgrimages that other Louis, more sinner than saint, the eleventh of his name to mount the throne of France.

But those stones, worn in the past by the footsteps of the illustrious and the lofty, were deserted now, and for the moment, only the moon, which had escaped from the cloud, exercised there the right of way; looking squarely down to efface time's marks and pave with silver from top to bottom the flight of stairs. It played, too, on facades, towers and battlements on either side, and, at the spectacle—the disk directly before him—the Black Selgeur, about to leave the dark and sheltering byway, involuntarily paused. Angels might walk unscathed up and down in that effulgence, as, indeed, the old monks stoutly averred was their habit; but a mortal intrusion on the argent way could be fraught only with visibility.

To reach the point he had in mind, however, no choice remained; the steps had to be mounted, and, lowering his head and looking down, deliberately he started. As he proceeded his solitary figure seemed to become more distinct; his presence more obstructive and his pace more deliberate, resound louder. No indication had been seen or heard, however, reached him; to all appearances espionage of his movements was wanting, and only the saint with the sword at the top of the steeple—guardian spirit of the rock—looked down, as if holding high a gleaming warning of that unwanted intrusion.

Yet, though he knew it not, mortal eye had long been on him, peering from a window of the abbey's bridge spanning the way and joining certain long unused chambers, next to the Governor's palace, with my lady's abode. Against the somber background of that covered passage of granite, the face looking out would still have remained unseen, even had the young man, drawing near, lifted his glance. This, however, he did not do; his eyes, with the pale reflections dancing in them, had suddenly fastened themselves lower; toward another person, not far beyond the bridge; some one who had turned in from a passage on the other side of the overhanging architectural link, and had just begun to come down. An old man, with flowing beard, from after the new-comer looked not unlike one of the ancient Druids that, in days gone by, had lighted and watched the sacred fires of sacrifice in the rock. He, too, guarded his light; but one set in the tall, power lamp of the medieval watchman.

"Twelve o'clock and all's—" he began when his glance, sweeping down, caught sight of the ascending figure; and, pausing, he leaned on his staff with one hand and shaded his eyes with the other.

A half-averted exclamation of disappointment was suppressed on the young man's lips; had he only been able to attain that parallelogram of darkness, beneath the abbey's passage, he would have been better satisfied, his own eyes, looking ahead, seemed to say; then gleamed with a bolder light.

"A sword and a blade
A drab and a jade;
—Life's one to the King's men of the army!"

he began to hum softly, as with a more reckless swing, quickly he went up in the manner of a man assigned some easy errand. At the same time the patriarch slowly and rather laboriously resumed his descent, and just below the bridge, without the bar of shadow, the two came together.

"Think you it is too late for his Excellency, the Governor, to receive a message?" at once spoke up the young man, breaking off in that dashing, but low-murmured, song of the barracks.

"That you may learn from the guard at the palace," was the deliberate answer, as, raising his lamp, the watchman held it full in his questioner's face.

"Thanks! I was going to inquire." As he answered, at the old abbey's window in the bridge above, the face, looking out, bent forward more intently; then quickly drew back. "Good night!"

But the venerable guardian of the fane predest was not disposed thus lightly to part company. "I don't seem to know you, young man," he observed, the watery, but keen and critical eyes peering deliberately over the other's features.

"No!" Unflinching in the bright glare of the lamp, the seeming soldier smiled. "Do you, then, know all at the Mount—even the soldiers?"

"I should remember even them," was the quiet reply.

"Those, too, but lately brought from St. Delard?"

"True, true! There may be some of those," uncertainly.

"No doubt! So if you will lower your lamp, which smells rather vilely—"

"From the miscreants it has smelled out," answered the old man grimly, but obeyed; stood as if engrossed in the recollection his own response evoked; then turned: walked on, and, as he went, he sang:

Saved By His Wife.
"She's a wise woman who knows just what to do when her husband's life is in danger, but Mrs. R. J. Flint, Baltimore, Va., is of that kind. She insisted on my using Dr. King's New Discovery," writes Mr. F. "for a dreadful cough, when I was so weak my friends all thought I had only a short time to live, but it completely cured me." A quick cure for coughs and reliable medicine for many throat and lung troubles—croup, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quins, tonsillitis, hemorrhages. A trial will convince you. 50c. and $1.00. Guaranteed by all druggists.

Twelve O'clock, and All's—

a few moments later, his call, suddenly remembered, rang, behind him, in the doorway: "Twelve o'clock and all's well!" A new day, and St. Aubert guard us all!"

A sword and a blade;
A drab and a jade—

The words, scarcely begun, above his breath, died away on the seeming soldier's lips, as the watchman on the bridge, looking down to follow first the departing figure of the old custodian, crossed quickly to the opposite window, and, from this point of vantage, gazed up after the young man rapidly vanishing in the track of the moonlight. A moment the onlooker stood motionless; then, ere the figure, so vividly defined in shine and shadow, had reached the top of the stairway, made an abrupt movement and swiftly left the window and the passage.

At the head of the steps, which without further incident or interruption, he reached, the Black Selgeur, stepping to the shadow of a small bush against the wall, glanced about him; with knit brows and the resolute manner of one who has come to some definite conclusion, he left the spot of observation, almost the apex of the Mount, and plunged diverging to the right. From glint and glimmer to darkness unobtainable! For some time he could only grope and feel his way, after the fashion of the blind; fortynearly, however, was the path narrow, although tortuous, fairly well paved, and no serious mishap befell him, even when he walked forward regardlessly, in feverish haste, beset with the conviction that time meant all at all, and delay the closing of the tolls and the failure of a desperate adventure. Several times he struck against the stones; once fell hard, but picked himself up; went on the faster, only, after what seemed an interminable period, to stop.

"Am I, can I be mistaken?" But the single star he could see plainest from the bottom of the deep alley, and to which he looked up, answered not the fierce, half-muttered question; coldly, enigmatically it twinkled, and, half-running, he continued his way, to emerge over-suddenly into a cooler well of air, and—what was more to be welcomed!—an outlook whereof the details were in a measure dimly shadowed forth.

On one side the low wall obscured not the panorama below—a ghostlike earth fading into the mist, and nearer, the roof of the auberge des voleurs, a darkened patch on the slope of the rock; but in this direction the man hardly cast a glance. Certain buildings, ahead, austere, Norman in outline, absorbed his attention to the exclusion of all else, and toward them, with steps now alert and noiseless, he stole; past a structure that seemed a pile of des gardes whose window afforded a view of four men nodding at a table within; across a space to another passage, and thence to a low door at the far corner of a little triangular spot, alongside the walk and near a great wall. At once the young man put out his hand to the door; tried it; pushed it back and entered. Before him a wide opening looked out at the sky, framing a multitude of stars, and from the bottom of this aperture ran a strand, or rope, connecting with an indistinct object—a great wheel, which stood at one side!

POULTRY

FAVOR INDIAN RUNNER DUCKS

Hardest of All Domestic Fowls and Do Equally as Well Confined as on Free Range.

Indian Runner ducks are the hardest of all domestic fowls. As they do equally well in confinement or on free range, they may be profitably kept by persons in town or city as well as by farmers. They do not require pond or running water—just water to drink in, something deep enough so the whole head can be immersed, says the Interstate Poultryman. They may be kept more cheaply on free range, as they will find many things of little or no value, such as bugs, worms, grasshoppers, grass, etc. These they convert into large white eggs, which if not sold for hatching will command several cents above the market price of hen eggs and at Easter will bring twice as much. They do not differ in flavor from hen eggs, but are superior for all kinds of cooking. As a table fowl the Indian Runner duck is excellent. The meat is tender, juicy and fine-grained. Thus far the demand for breeding stock and eggs for hatching has been so great that the duck has not been raised to a great extent as market stock; but wherever it has become known as a table fowl it is wanted.

As egg-producers the Indian Runner females are too valuable to sell on the market until from three to nine years old. A flock from a good-laying strain will average from 240 to 260 eggs per layer per year, if properly managed. I find by actual test that the feed that will keep a Plymouth Rock hen in good shape will keep a Runner duck plump, so I think it safe to say that they can be kept as cheaply as any of the large breeds of hens in winter and cheaper in summer if on free range, as they will range farther into the fields. We like them much better than hens, as they do not destroy crops, neither are they so much of a nuisance around the buildings as hens. The ducklings of this breed can be raised to a marketable size cheaper and more quickly than those of any other breed. As the ducks never set, the ducklings must be hatched by incubators or hens. Hens give the best results, often hatching every egg given them. The eggs are very fertile and may, if desired, be hatched any month in the year. Ducklings hatched in June or July often lay all winter, while, if hatched in March, they will lay in time to hatch ducklings from them by the 1st of October.

PLAN FOR A HEN HATCHERY

Door Placed in Front of Each Nest, Hinged With Leather and Held by Wooden Cleats.

Here is my plan for a successful hen hatchery. I take 18-foot lumber and make stalls for 15 hens which makes the nest boxes a little over 14 inches wide, writes J. A. Crandall of Norwich, Kan., in the Farmers' Mail and Breese. Slat and slat lumber may be used for the 11 partitions. Floor the nest department. Chicken wire is used to cover the top of runs except for the doors A, each of which is 28 inches long, enough to cover two runs. The doors B are the same length. There is also a door C by 10 inches in the front of each nest box and all doors are hinged with leather and held with cleats. The roof board is not hinged or nailed but held in place with cleats and may be lifted off.

A Hen Hatchery.

POULTRY NOTES

Rape makes a good crop for late green food.

Poultry is extremely profitable if properly handled.

Poultry, fruit and bees form a combination hard to beat.

Fowls have no sense of smell. They have nostrils, but not noses.

A cement floor in the laying pen and roosting closet is advisable.

Don't let lice "get away" with your chicks, while you wonder what ails them.

Keep the males separated from the growing pullets. Both will develop better.

Ducklings generally begin molting when eleven weeks old and continue for about six weeks.

Don't forget that wet and leaky coops do not tend to produce healthy chickens, but early death.

It is a good plan to let all the breeding stock out of the yards to enjoy free range during the summer.

Don't try to breed from poor stock. It takes too long and good stock is cheap enough for you to start right.

Free range for the flock greatly simplifies the feeding problem, because the fowls can balance their ration, to a large extent, with the food they pick up.

Cautious Stalking Required.

Anty Drudge Tells How to Prevent Washday Smells.

Jones—"Holy smoke! Is some one burning glue in the kitchen?"

Mrs. Jones—"No, Theodore. It's washday you know, and what you smell is the suds-steam from the wash-boiler."

Anty Drudge—"Why don't you use Fels-Naptha and do away with the washboiler? Then there will be no steam to permeate the whole house every washday."

The Different Kind of Soap. That, in a nutshell, is Fels-Naptha.

Different—because Fels-Naptha is more than a soap—it is a different way of washing.

Different—because Fels-Naptha gets the wash ready for the line in about half the time of any other soap.

Different—because Fels-Naptha itself does the work of loosening the dirt from the fabric, which every other soap leaves to you to do with the washboard.

Different—because with Fels-Naptha there's no backache; no need for long bending over the tub, as with other soaps.

Different—because Fels-Naptha saves the clothes: (1) from weakening of the fibre by heat; (2) from the wear of hard rubbing.

Different—because Fels-Naptha actually does in cool or lukewarm water what the best other soaps will not do even in scalding hot water.

PUBLICITY LIGHT THAT SAVES

The Advertiser's Pledge of Honesty and Square Dealing is Like a Confession Before Men.

(Abstract of an address delivered at the banquet by the Fort Worth Advertising Club of America, at Fort Worth, by James Schenck.)

Publicity can do for us what the light that fell upon the Damascus road did for Saul: it can save us from ourselves. It is the searchlight turned back upon our own purposes and methods. It can save nations, states and parties by uncovering the refuge of deceit and the hiding place of duplicity. Some far-sighted corporations are beginning to love light rather than darkness. They are coming out of their secret places to give their side of the case to the common people.

Professional reserve is blinding in the sunlight of publicity. It thinks it may be able to stand it eventually. What a blessing to mankind if ministers, doctors and lawyers would daily let their credentials and records be known of all men, so that publicity could point the way straight to the right door in the urgent hour of stress and need.

The medical associations have a greater horror of getting into print than they have of transmitting infection through the marriage of the physically unfit—a frequent tragedy that might be averted if ethics did not impose solemn silence upon the learned men who could save the race through preventive publicity. Publicity can save bodily health through popular enlightenment and business through multiplied appeal.

As a man advertises from day to day in his own business, so is he. It is really the old-fashioned sign of conversion, "taking a stand in meeting." It is the formulation of your business creed, your confession before men.

You are putting into form your best promptings, your fondest hopes commercially. What you have written you have written, and when it stands out from the printed page day after day, it may speak to the necessities and purposes of others, but it speaks to your sense of consistency and integrity.

If at the outset your promises are fairer than your performances, there is hope; for your copy proves that you know what you ought to do in your dealings with the public. Give conscience time and it will catch up with your copy; for self-accusation is a self-starting and not restricted by the speed laws.

Daily advertising may be self-revelation to begin with; but on a long contract it is pretty liable to become self-regeneration. For we all aspire to become what our friends feel we are capable of becoming. It is the distrust that despair. Publicity is the advertiser's pledge, his covenant with the consumer in the open.

Daily repetition and daily tested it should come to be in good time for true worth is not gained at a bound, but toils upward through the night—the lodestar of his better self, the light that saves!

The advertiser who will not listen to reasons and truths is much like the man who saw a camel for the first time and walking around it said: "There ain't no such animal what lives."

HOW TO REACH THE PEOPLE

Unit the Most Potent Force in Advertising, Says Thomas E. Dockrell—Home Paper the Best.

Thomas E. Dockrell, the well-known advertising expert, in a talk before Detroit advertising men declared that most of the world's ideas on advertising are upside down and need reversal.

"The unit is what must be looked to," said Mr. Dockrell, "not the one supreme directing head. It is the unit in the store, the salesman or the salesgirl, that must be tuned to the sales, or all other work is nearly useless. A big department store is sometimes likened to a pyramid, with the thousand of employees as the base and the big owner as the apex. But this is an upside down view. Let us suppose the head of the business has a new garment and this manager has got the best goods and patterns and advertised in the best way, and the customer comes in and meets Allice, the 44-week salesgirl, and Allice doesn't rise to the business, what use has been all the other study and energy? We then see that Allice, not Mr. Wansamaker, is the apex, and that as in most cases the pyramid is set upside down and all pointing on the apex, it may topple over."

"The game with advertising," a manufacturer has a small quantity, say 500 worth, of goods in a store in Peoria, Ill. He desires to see the goods sold and his trade in Peoria built up. How would he do it? There are four big circulation periodicals that are recognized as the biggest national advertising mediums. Suppose you suggested one of these as the advertising medium to reach Peoria people. He might not call you a fool, but he would remind you that he was after the Peoria field. The direct thing to get at the Peoria trade would be the Peoria newspaper, wouldn't it? There is your unit idea again. Get right at the spot and the medium for that spot. There is no question that the home newspaper is the medium to reach the people in any locality, and the addition of the units covers the broad field."

Everyman admires an attractive woman—one with a beautiful complexion—but there are many women who do not know the secret of securing it. Mildredina Cream is many a woman's secret for beautifying the complexion and giving the skin a fresh, clear, velvety texture. MILDREDINA SPECIALTY CO., Boston, Mass.

A bargain in a hot it has decided to a recent famous for that sport. Poor Mother Earth.

GREAT MEN IN DEMOCRACIES

It is said that democracies have no great men, no heroes, no geniuses. Why is it so? When you raise the average of intelligence and power in the community it is very hard to be a great man. That is to say, when the mass of citizens are only ankle high, when among the Lilliputians a Frodo-Baggins walks, he is a great man. But when the Lilliputians grow until they get up to his shoulder he is not so great a man as he was by the whole length of his body. So make the common people grow and there is nobody tall enough to be much higher. — Henry Ward Beecher.

THOUGHT AND CONDUCT.

Your manners will depend very much upon the quality of what you frequently think on, for the soul is as it were tinged with the color and complexion of thought. Be sure therefore to work in such maxims as show: Whether a man lives he may live well. By consequence a life of virtue and that of a courtier are not inconsistent. Again, that which a thing is made for is that toward which it is carried, and in that which it is naturally carried to lies the end of the act. Now, where the end of a thing is, there the advantage and improvement of it are certainly lodged. Now, the happiness of mankind lies in society, for is it not plain that the lower order of beings are made for the higher and the higher for the service of each other?—Marcus Aurelius.

THE LAST WORD.

Creep into thy narrow bed.
Creep and let no more be said.
Yea, they onset! All stands fast.
Thou thyself must break at last.
Let the long contention cease.
Gone are swans, and swans are gone.
Let them have it how they will.
Thou art tired; best be still.
They outtalked thee, blimed thee, tore thee.
Better men fared thus before thee.
Fired their ringing shot and passed.
Hotly charged—and sank at last.
Charge once more, then, and be dumb.
Let the victors, when they come.
When the forces of folly fall.
Find thy body by the wall.
—Matthew Arnold.

TYRANNY OF CONVENTION.

You may talk of the tyranny of Nero and Tiberius, but the real tyranny is the tyranny of your next door neighbor. What law is so cruel as the law of doing what he does? What yoke is so galling as the necessity of being like him? What espionage of despotism comes to your door so effectually as the eye of the man who lives at your door? Public opinion is a peremptory influence, and it exacts obedience to itself. It requires us to think other men's thoughts, to speak other men's words, to follow other men's habits. Of course, if we do not, no formal ban issues, no corporal pain, no coarse penalty of a barbarous society is inflicted on the offender, but we are called "eccentric." There is a gentle murmur of "most unfortunate ideas," "singular young man," "well intentioned, I dare say, but unsafe, sir—quite unsafe."—Walter Bagehot.

WHAT CONSTITUTES A HAPPY LIFE.

The happiest life for a woman contains three elements: husband and wife whose tastes sympathize, your home and your children. I've often said that husbands and wives reach their truest and noblest development when they are complementary to each other. It seems to me that a woman has almost enough to do in attending to her home. While I believe it was for a wife to know everything about her husband's business affairs, I do not believe in a wife interfering in his business affairs. The home is woman's sphere; the world is man's. A man does not want to be bothered with house-keeping details. As a rule, they are too trivial to be discussed. It is a good rule for wives not to trouble their husbands with the vagaries or idiosyncrasies of the butcher and the baker. Do not take this to mean that a wife should not spur her husband on in his vocation. That seems to be the double function of woman—ambition accelerator and mental recreator. A wife should make it her business to see that her husband secures a few hours' mental recreation every day.—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson.

Hunters Born, Not Made.
A hunter is born, not made. Unless a man has the love of the chase bred in his blood he's not going to get any blue ribbons pinned on him for sportsmanship. Some men take to the trail as naturally as a duck beats it to the puddle after cracking the egg-shell. Then there are others who never seem to learn the game—they think they like to hunt but when you set them into the trail and unnumbered, they prove to be infants who are eternally doing the wrong thing at the inopportune time.—National Sportsman.

In A Few Days Backache And Kidney Misery Vanish.

Your out-of-order kidneys will act time, ending most severe bladder trouble. No man or woman here whose kidneys are out of order, or who suffer from backache or bladder misery, can afford to leave Bloodline Blood and Kidney Tablets untended.

After taking several doses, all pains in the back, sides or loins, rheumatic twinges, nervousness, headache, sleeplessness, inflamed or swollen eyelids, distension, tired or worn out feeling and other symptoms of clogged, sluggish kidneys simply vanish.

Uncontrollable urination (especially at night), smarting discolored water and all bladder misery ends. The moments you suspect slightest kidney or bladder disorder, or feel rheumatic pains, don't continue to be miserable or worried, but get a fifty-cent treatment of Blood and Kidney Tablets from your druggist and start taking as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine at any price made anywhere else in the world, which is so harmless and will effect so thorough and prompt a cure.

This unusual preparation goes direct to the cause of trouble, distributing the cleansing, healing and vitalizing influence directly, upon the organs and glands affected, and completes the cure before you realize it. A few days' treatment of Bloodline Blood and Kidney Tablets means clean healthy, active kidneys and urinary organs—and you feel fine. Accept only Bloodline Blood and Kidney Tablets—fifty-cent treatment—from your druggist or of the Bloodline Corporation, Boston, Mass.

nd, passing, he leaned on his staff with one hand and shaded his eyes with the other.
A half-savage exclamation of disappointment was suppressed on the young man's lips; had he only been able to attain that parallelogram of arkness, beneath the abbot's passage, he would have been better satisfied, in own eyes, looking ahead, seemed to say; then gleamed with a bolder light.

"A sword and blade
A drab and a leader of the army?"
he began to hum softly, as with a more reckless swing, quickly he went up in the manner of a man assigned some easy errand. At the same time the patriarch slowly and rather laboriously resumed his descent, and just below the bridge, without the bar of shadow, the two came together.

"Think you it is too late for his Excellency, the Governor, to receive a message?" at once spoke up the younger, breaking off in that dashing, but unmurmured, song of the barracks.
"That you may learn from the guard of the palace," was the deliberate answer, as, raising his lamp, the watchman held it full in his questioner's face.

"Thanks! I was going to inquire," he answered, at the old abbot's window in the bridge above, the face, looking out, bent forward more intently; then quickly drew back. "Good night!"

But the venerable guardian of the inner precinct was not disposed thus easily to part company. "I don't seem to know you, young man," he murmured, the watery, but keen and critical eyes peering deliberately over his other's features.

"No!" Unflinching in the bright glare of the lamp, the seeming soldier smiled. "Do you, then, know all at the Mount—even the soldiers?"
"I should remember even them," as the quiet reply.

MONUMENTS

In erecting a monument, one should remember that it is not a mere mass of stone, but a memorial of honor that is to perpetuate the memory of the departed. Therefore, select the best to be had. Look to its beauty of design, and the quality of material. Many years in the monument business has taught us that good monuments cannot be made at cut prices, but it has also taught us how to make the best monument at the lowest possible price. We have on hand a complete assortment of designs, which we place at your disposal. We use nothing but the best stone. NEW POT FOR TRANSPLANTING

Made in Two Sections, Which Are Easily Separated and Damage to Flowers Eliminated.

A simple and effective pot for flowers and shrubbery that requires transplanting has been patented by an inventor. Of course, it costs more than the ordinary pot, but that is equalized by the fact that it lasts much longer and damage to transplanted flowers is eliminated. This new pot consists of two parts of steel metal, with dovetailing hinge eyes. Rods run through the hinge eyes on both sides and hold the pot together. When a plant is to be transferred from the pot to the ground a hole is dug in the latter and the pot inserted. The two rods are then withdrawn and the two sections of the pot fall away from the dirt surrounding the roots. The earth can then be packed back into the cavity and the flower transplanted without the slightest trouble or danger to the roots.

PLAN FOR WATERING TREES

Tanks Bunk in Ground Supply Needed Moisture—Need Not Worry Over Drought.

Owners of valuable trees and plants need no longer worry about droughts if they will install the apparatus patented by a man in the state of Washington. This comprises a pair of tanks that are sunk in the ground on either side of the tree. In the bottom of these tanks are discharge outlets, and the flow of water through these outlets is regulated by means of plugs. There is also a drain opening in the bottom of each reservoir. Pipes extend up from these tanks to above the surface of the ground, and through these pipes the reservoirs can be filled when the water gets low. This can be discovered by watching a float in one of them. As the water sinks this float slowly drops down with it and when the top of the float has fallen to the top of the pipe it is time to fill up again.

For Watering Trees.

HORTICULTURAL NOTES

The quickest growing tree for a shelter belt is the willow. Blackberries are started from sprouts and by root cuttings.

After the raspberries are through fruiting, the old canes are taken out. Old canes of all bramble berry bushes are best cut out when through fruiting.

Jewberries and black raspberries are propagated in the same manner as blackberries.

New varieties of strawberries, like all of our cultivated fruits, are produced from the seeds.

While sandy soils are probably good for strawberries, any soil not too rich will bring good results.

Prune a little every year rather than too much in one year. It will be much easier for you and a great deal better for the orchard.

A moist soil, when kept in an unfrozen condition as long as possible, is the surest means to prevent winter killing of trees.

The holes for your new trees must be made larger and deep enough to receive the entire root system without crowding or cramping.

Remember that the wood ashes that come from the cook stove, fire places or furnaces are the best kind of fertilizer for the orchard.

As soon as the old canes of blackberries and raspberries are through fruiting, cut them out and burn them, thus destroying many insect and fungus pests.

Where He Belonged.

At the dinner table on board an ocean liner one man was much annoyed by the vulgar manner in which his next neighbor fed. He tried to take no notice of the man, but after watching him pick a bone in an extremely primitive fashion, he could not control his feelings any longer, and turning to the offender, he said: "Don't you really think you would be more comfortable if you took that bone out on the mat?"—Youth's Com-

PROFITS INCREASED BY SILO

Dairymen Should Be Ready to Take Advantage of Opportunities to Reduce His Expenses.

(By J. H. DORMAN.)

If a dairy farmer were told that he could roll silver dollars down a hill and then pick up two dollars for every one he rolled down, and this statement was verified by some of his neighbors and hundreds of other dairy farmers in the country, that farmer would stay up nights and roll the dollars. But when told that he could double the profits by the use of the silo he becomes very indifferent and keeps on in the same old rut, feeding dry feed, wasting nearly half of his corn crop and doing a lot of unnecessary work. In these days of close competition, dairymen should be ready to take advantage of every opportunity to reduce the cost of production, and it will be found that it is easier, if the proper methods are used, to do that than to raise the selling price of the dairy products. The results are the same; a large net profit.

In the corn plant about 40 per cent of the feeding value is in the stalk and 60 per cent in the ear. When the ear alone is fed, nearly half of the corn crop is wasted.

Where the dry stalks are fed, at least half of them remain uneaten, while if stored in the silo the loss is almost nothing.

Every dairymen knows that cows will do their best on fresh June pasture. The grass is succulent and palatable and the conditions for a maximum milk flow are ideal. These conditions, however, do not last very long.

The silo comes as near to supplying the ideal conditions as anything that can be found, and it is available every day in the year. It provides a uniform feed for every one of the twelve months.

Highly sensitive dairy cows resent any sudden or violent change in feed, and will show it by a decreased milk flow. The change from fall pasture to dry feed is always followed by a shrinkage in the milk.

In changing from the pasture to the silage, the change is not so great, and often the cows increase the flow of milk when started on silage. Several dairymen have recently made the statement that the increased profits paid for the silo the first year.

DAIRYNOTES

Cows that are on pasture should have free access to salt.

Don't hesitate to increase the grain ration to keep up the milk flow.

The heifer whose first milk period is long, frequently develops the habit of long periods.

With silage crops and some grain the dairy herd should maintain a profitable production.

Green feed fed to milk cows will insure larger profits, and as a good aid to this result is a silo.

When a dairymen learns to use the Babcock test he is started on the way to economic salvation.

One paper says: "Clean up frequently." It would be better for the dairy farmer to keep things clean all the time.

Among the men who have been phenomenally successful on the farm those who have followed dairymen stand out prominently.

If the calves that are in the pasture are expected to do well they should have plenty of shade and plenty of good clean water.

CAUSE OF PLUM BLACK KNOT

Tree Wart Is Undoubtedly Due to Fungous Growth and Most Prevalent in Hot, Damp Seasons.

The plum tree wart or black knot is said to be due to a ball produced by an insect or from fungous growth. Mr. P. Barry, in his Fruit Garden, says it is undoubtedly due to fungous growth. It is most prevalent in hot, damp seasons. He says: "Clons should never be taken from a diseased tree. Cutting out the diseased branch clean to the sound wood, the moment the knots begin to appear, in an effectual remedy, and these cuttings should all be burnt at once. We have saved trees six inches in diameter, that were affected on the trunk so seriously that one-third of its thickness had to be removed to get below the disease. After it was cut out we applied a plaster of grafting composition, covered it with a cloth and in two years it was all healed over and sound."

"Plum and damson trees are the two fruits most injured by this fungous disease. If the warts are not cut out and the branches upon which they grow are not burnt, it will not be long before the entire tree is affected, causing the loss of the tree. Wild trees with this disease should be cut down and burnt. 'Slugs, which eat the tender leaves of the cherry and pear trees may be killed by dusting with fresh slaked lime. Apply early in the morning when leaves are damp. Two applications will nearly always kill the worms and their larvae. 'The late broods of caterpillars should be destroyed before they leave the nest. If not killed when small, the worms will quickly eat up the young tender leaves, causing the loss of one or more branches of the tree. An asbestos torch, attached to the end of a pole of suitable length, is an effective way to destroy the nest and worms. The torch is sprayed with a little coal oil and when lighted, held under the post and around the branch where the worms are, the heat kills the worms at once and will not injure the branches."

FEW MUSKMELON DISEASES

Leaf Blight Causes Large Dead Area in Leaves—Fungus Attacks Stems of All Plants.

(By A. D. SELBY.)

Muskmelon leaf blight is a disease more or less peculiar to the muskmelon, although the fungus which causes it has also been found upon cucumber leaves.

The leaf blight causes rather large dead areas in the leaves, which are usually distinguished from those of mildew by their larger size and the tendency of the central portion to break out. The prevention of muskmelon leaf blight is by no means an easy matter, requiring of itself great thoroughness and carefulness in the application of the Bordeaux mixture and also requiring that the downy mildew shall be watched during the same period. For this reason earlier sprayings, if made before August 1, should be repeated at fortnightly intervals, while those after August 1, should be at weekly or ten-day intervals. Melon growers have succeeded by following these lines, while others

Muskmelon Leaf Attacked by Blight, who were less thorough were less successful or failed entirely. The Bordeaux treatment is recommended with confidence.

The common anthracnose fungus of the muskmelon attacks the stems of plants of all sizes as well as the leaves. In these the fungus produces the fruiting bodies. After the seedling stage is passed it is usually possible to keep the anthracnose in check by spraying with Bordeaux mixture.

Killing Trees.
Feeling trees in the late summer will kill them. The stumps can easily be removed with a stump puller or if the ground is cultivated around them they will rot in time. They may be destroyed by fire or blasted with a small can of dynamite. Sprouts can easily be killed after the trunk is down by continually cutting them under the surface with a mattock and by steady cultivation.

CURRENT WIT and HUMOR

A Better Test.
The man is lying in a seemingly lifeless condition. "I can find no pulse whatever," says the physician who has been summoned. "Bring a looking-glass. We will place it against his lips and see if his breath is still in him."

"Pardon me, doctor," suggests a besom friend of the unfortunate man; "perhaps a wineglass would work better with him."—Judge's Library.

Her Probable Future.
"He drinks heavily."
"I know it."
"He gambles."
"I am going to marry him to reform him."

"My girl, listen to me. Try one experiment before you do that."
"What experiment?"
"Take in a week's washing to do, and see how you like it."

How He Got It.
"How did you get that fine spring overcoat?"
"I had a sure tip on a horse race."
"I never knew one of those sure tips to pan out."
"Neither did I. So I didn't play it. Put the money into an overcoat instead."

The Critic.
"Look at those flowers! Aren't they beautiful? They are so round and regular that one might almost think they were artificial."
"They are artificial."
"Are they? You don't say so! Why, one might think they were natural!"—Lippincott's.

A Statesman's Prudence.
He paused amid the talk he heard. Quoth he, "I shall refrain. Since he who never says a word Has nothing to explain."

Ungentlemanly.
He—The great trouble with Gabeleigh is that he talks too much. She—That's strange. When he's been with me he's scarcely said a word. He—Oh, he's too much of a gentleman to interrupt.—Tit-Bits.

More Spacious.
Madame—This flat would suit us very well but for this room, which is so small. Concierge—It would do for one child, madame. Madame—It isn't a question of a child, but of my hat boxes.—Pete Mele.

Polite Assurance.
"Mr. Conductor, do you think this tunnel is perfectly safe for our travel?"
"Don't be afraid, madam. Our company got you in this hole, and we're bound to see you through."

The Worst Variation.
Mark—It seems to me your new house doesn't look much like the architect's design. Parks—No, but it looks more like it than the actual cost looks like the original estimate.

Her Recommendation.
Eben—Say, Cyrus, is it true you're going to marry Sam Jones' widow? Cyrus—Why shouldn't I, Eben? Sam always seemed to find her pretty satisfactory.—Harper's Bazar.

Up-to-Date Burglars.
Burglars who forced an entrance into a jeweler's office in New York a few days ago carried with them an electrically driven drill for boring into the safe, which they proceeded to use successfully after connecting it with an electric light socket.

Why Can't They Keep Quiet?
The trouble with most men who make fools of themselves is that they insist on calling public attention to it.

Oldtime Dinner Reproduced.
A reproduction of a ninth-century dinner has been served at a recent Vienna cookery exhibition. The menu consisted of pike cooked in oil and then pressed into a paste; a paste made of venison with millet; and a roast peacock containing a whole chicken, the chicken in turn stuffed with a pigeon, and the pigeon again stuffed with roasted eggs.

Was a Dandy Story.
"He invented a dandy story to tell his wife when he got home after midnight. 'Good one, was it?' 'A peach; it would satisfy any woman.' 'Did it satisfy her?' 'It would've, but he couldn't tell it.'"

Hot Blast
The housewife who has her own work to do (who has no servants) is the one who appreciates the many "handy features" embodied only in this range.

The manufacturer of this range claims to have embodied features suggested by users—the housewives—when making this marvel of range construction.

Cole's Hot Blast Steel Range embodies every feature of convenience and durability contained in—Every malleable range made.
Every cast iron range made.
Every other cooking stove or range at any price.

In addition, there are (14) special and patented features embodied in Cole's Hot Blast Range which are not to be had in any other make or style range or stove at any price.

Consider this, and then we believe you will cease to wonder why we persist in calling to your attention this range—the first real improvement made in 20 years in range construction.

We want you to examine it in every detail—We want you to note its finish—its appearance—then we want to show you how convenient it is—how simple to operate.

We want you to buy Cole's Hot Blast Range, because we know it will please you. Furnished with plain or polished top.

WAS SHE SELFISH?

Cupid Thought Not and Was Right.

By M. DISSELL.

"The game isn't worth the candle," said Jocelyn dejectedly. "We postally can't live on in this way; the ends simply won't meet—I must go to work at something."

"But what can you do, child?" queried her sister. "You have never learned anything but housekeeping well enough to teach it, and nobody wants lessons at that."

"Well I might at least keep somebody's house."

"Oh Jocelyn, is it not better to starve respectably than to go out as a common servant?"

"It certainly is not. I have a good healthy appetite every day of my life, and I intend to do my best to produce the three satisfactory meals which Providence intended me to have. Besides, a housekeeper is an important person nowadays—she oversees the doings of everybody else."

"Where do you expect to find such a responsible position? They don't go begging."

"Now my great secret shall be divulged," Jocelyn answered triumphantly. "I had a long talk with Mrs. Derment before she returned to the city this fall, and she quite approved of my idea. In her letter which came today she says that a dear friend of hers is in such poor health that she is no longer able to look after household affairs, but cannot bear to think of giving up her home. Mrs. Derment told her about me, and was authorized to make me a proposal. The salary is generous, and she is sure I will like Mrs. Norton. So can you suggest any reason why I should refuse such an offer?"

Miriam only gasped, as she gazed into the eager face of her energetic young sister.

"You dear old Miriam—you just can't help knowing that it is the very best thing on earth I could do. You can live here in peace and comfort and come over to see me if you get homesick, and was severely taken to task by him for leaving her sister to die of loneliness.

When she tried to defend her action he waved aside her explanation, but his next words opened the mental eyes of his bewildered listener.

"The only way out of it is for Miriam to marry me. I have been wanting her to do it for ten years. I am not going to sit quietly and see her pine away before my eyes—I want you to tell Miriam that it is her duty to be my wife, not to keep a home for you as she has always insisted. You would be as dear as a sister to me and could have a home with us always if you would."

Jocelyn gave a little laugh. "You nearly scared me to death, but now I see through your deep laid scheme. You know I have always liked you, Oliver. Why didn't you ask me to help you before, instead of keeping your courting of Miriam secret all this time? To-morrow is my day for visiting, and I shall surely lay down the law to my dear old goose of a sister. She shall be happy, even if I have to force her into it."

"What a dumb-head I have been," remarked Oliver disgustedly. "I never dared speak to you on the subject for fear you would go into hysterics—Miriam was sure the mere suggestion would break your heart."

Jocelyn's hand a brotherly squeeze as he took his departure.

Jocelyn kept her word, and on the day following gave Miriam a severe lecture on her duty to the man who had loved her so long and waited for her so patiently. Before she left, a brother-in-law for herself had become an admitted possibility in the near future.

On returning to the Norton residence after this interview, its housekeeper found unusual signs of excitement.

"Oh, Miss Newell," was the greeting of Mary the parlor-maid, "Mrs. Norton's nephew has come, and they have been talking together over an hour. Mrs. Norton said put him in the blue room, and he would stay a long time she hoped."

"I am glad he has come, Mary; it will do Mrs. Norton good and we must make him comfortable," Jocelyn hastened to her room, feeling to her own surprise decidedly blue.

Removing her wraps, she threw a shawl about her shoulders and slipped out of doors. Mrs. Norton and her nephew were evidently settled for the evening, and a lonely feeling came over the young housekeeper as she heard their voices in passing.

After rambling for some time in the moonlight, Jocelyn seated herself on a bench by the boundary wall, and faced the situation. "What a selfish thing I am! Just because Miriam is to be made happy in spite of herself, and Mrs. Norton has so kindly consented to have me on earth left to love come to brighten her up, I fall into the dumps! It's a nice way of practicing the Golden Rule."

But this self directed lecture failed of its effect, for to Jocelyn's disgust she found herself sobbing softly. She rubbed the tears fiercely away.

"Why Miss Newell, what is the matter?" asked a sympathetic voice, as Jocelyn gave a final dab. She looked up with a start to find herself confronted by a tall young man, who continued, "Aunt Alma sent me to bring her treasured housekeeper in out of the dew, but she will be sorry I found you in tears. Can't I do something to help you?"

"No, for I am crying because I am the most selfish creature on earth," she answered. "Should you sympathize with some one who cried because she was going to have for a brother-in-law a man she had always liked?"

"I should sympathize with my aunt's perfect housekeeper whatever her trouble—she has told me all about you—but I am glad it is no worse."

"Mrs. Norton is the best woman that ever lived," Jocelyn rose as she spoke. "I must see that she is properly fixed for the night. Please don't tell her what a goose I have been."

"You need not fear that I will betray a confidence," he answered.

Eugene Ralston proved a great addition to the household, he carried both Mrs. Norton and her housekeeper off on all sorts of excursions. "I am a stranger and want to see the country," was his excuse, and Jocelyn silently blessed him as she saw the pink beginning to creep back into Mrs. Norton's cheeks.

Miriam was married to her patient Oliver in mid-summer, and the couple went for a short trip, but Jocelyn found that only joy for her sister filled her thought.

"I must be growing less selfish—I certainly hope so," she said to herself.

On the night of the wedding Eugene Ralston and Jocelyn wedded together. It seems better to have a brother-in-law that you feared, doesn't it? Eugene asked.

"I am delighted—I begin to hope that I am overcoming selfishness."

"The idea of your being selfish—you don't know the meaning of the word."

Jocelyn laughed. "That only shows how little you know of the real me."

"I know that Aunt Alma found a new lease of life when she found you, and I know that when I found you I found the one woman in the world for me. Jocelyn will you marry me, and let me love you forever?"

Jocelyn's answer was peculiar, but surely satisfactory to Eugene. "I thought I was overcoming selfishness when it was only that I was learning to care for you—what an awful hypocrite I am!" But the hypocrite's lips were sealed.

His Mother.

The poet Goethe owed much of his greatness to his mother, a woman well made to bear such a son, a perfect mother, and, better still, his intimate friend and confidant. Brought up in strictly bourgeois and limited circles, with very little education, such was her natural intelligence and sympathy that she afterwards became the friend of princes, poets, and philosophers, and her house a rendezvous for the great minds of her day.

"Honestly, What Are You Running For, the Presidency or For Revenge?"

—From the New York Herald.

PATERNALISM AND SOCIALISM.

It is idle for a thoughtful man in America, whether millionaire or pauper, to lounge play the ostrich. Safety does not consist in hiding one's head in the sands of either sentiment or hope. It is foolish for the vastly rich to keep on insisting that more and more shall be added to their riches through a specious system of special legislation, ostensibly enacted to run the government, in reality enacted to loot the people.

It is worse than ignorance for them to smile at the large body of intelligent Americans who regard themselves fortunate if the debt and credit accounts of life balance at the end of each year and to assume that the mighty many, who are becoming convinced that that social system which we call democracy is but a glittering generalization, will long endure. Industrial slavery being produced. The hour has come when patriotism must consist in something more than eulogies upon the flag. Whether voting the ticket or not, men everywhere looking upon the awful injustice of this economic system are becoming socialistic in theory if not in conduct.

And shall any fair minded man say that if it redounds to the interest of the people of this country that a hundred men should control its business to the good of every one, there is anything fallacious in the theory that government instead of transferring business to a favored few for the benefit of all should itself discharge that business for the benefit of all?

I have never been able to convince myself that either system would not cast a pall over human action and dull the motives which have heretofore moved mankind to the very loftiest endeavor. And yet I do not hesitate to say that if it be impossible to restore this republic to its ancient ideals, which I do not believe, and I must make the ultimate choice between the paternalism of the few and the socialism of the many, count me and my house with the throbbing heart of humanity.—Thomas R. Marshall.

FOREIGN EDUCATION.

In this country a young man goes to college for one of two reasons. He has either a definite plan in view or he goes because his father went before him. The former usually accomplishes his purpose. He is an apt scholar and a close student. The other, well, we all know him. He was never known to become prostrated by overstudy. It is all in laying the foundation. In this country the boy's book is a fetish. In Europe it is a tool. It is a means to an end. I know whereof I speak, for I have studied in our own schools and I have taught in them. Here our boys have a lesson to learn. They study it in a perfunctory manner without regard to what has gone before. When they have finished the book they proceed to forget it. In Europe they study a book until they have mastered it, all the while getting the culture and breadth of view. They are grounded in the fundamentals. The training draws out what is in the boy.—Dr. W. H. Tolman.

ASPIRATION.

Ah, when shall all men's good Be each man's rule, and universal peace Lie like a shaft of light across the land And like a lane of beams athwart the sea Through all the circle of the golden year? —Tennyson.

CONFESSION.

The impulse to confession almost always requires the presence of a fresh ear and a fresh heart, and in our moments of spiritual need the man to whom we have no tie but our common nature seems nearer to us than mother, brother or friend. Our daily familiar life is but a hiding of ourselves from each other behind a screen of trivial words and deeds, and those who sit with us at the same hearth are often the farthest off from the deep human soul within us, full of unspoken evil and unacted good.—George Elliot.

COURAGE.

Courage consists in equality to the problem before us.—Emerson.

Courage and modesty are the most unequivocal of virtues, for they are of a kind that hypocrisy cannot imitate.—Goethe.

Courage consists not in blindly overlooking danger, but in meeting it with the eyes open.—Jean Paul.

AN ENDOWED NEWSPAPER.

How shall the endowed journal be organized? First, shall it be a daily, weekly or monthly? I can see no reason why all three types should not be endowed. But if some great capitalist or some group of public spirited citizens want to endow a paper that will have the greatest influence throughout the entire nation it cannot be a daily. The country is too large. A daily will not be read more than a few hundred miles from its seat of publication. No man in Chicago, for instance, will read a New York daily, no matter how good, if he can get substantially the same news twenty-four hours ahead in a Chicago paper. In a small country like England or Holland, of course, the case is different. Nor can a national paper in the United States be a monthly. The intervals at which a monthly comes out are too great to permit it to have much influence on pending events. The national American paper then must be a weekly. A weekly alone can circulate all over the land and exert a maximum influence on current events. The money to endow such a great national weekly should be given outright to a board of trustees composed of the most eminent men of different political parties and social classes, whose duties should consist in supervising the finances and selecting the managing editor and seeing that the journal lives up to its principles. The functions of the board should correspond to those of the trustees of a university.—Hamilton Holt, Managing Editor of New York Independent.

CODE OF A JAPANESE HERO.

A soldier who would perform his duties with credit on the battlefield must have trained himself to perform all that may be expected of him in time of peace. There ought not to be any neglect or defects in his daily life. A conqueror of himself in time of peace must be a man if he would aspire with any right to the honor of fighting under the flag of the rising sun.—General Nogai.

GREAT MEN AND THE PEOPLE.

Great men, said Themistocles, are like the oaks under the branches of which men are happy in finding a refuge in the time of storm and rain, but when they have to pass a sunny day under them they take pleasure in cutting the bark and breaking the branches.—Goethe.

Overlooking a Bet.

If baseball were played in Esperanto that language might have some show of getting into universal use.—Toledo Blade.

THE INITIATIVE AND REFERENDUM.

The initiative and referendum as the ordinary means of legislation involve a fundamental change in our system of government, one that should not be lightly adopted. In a great country like ours the adoption of all laws by this system would be cumbersome and impracticable. In smaller communities, where there is not such a diversity and complexity of interests, social and industrial conditions, it has worked beneficially. But we have vast diversified interests, such as our financial institutions, industrial corporations and great railway lines, difficult problems of governing our cities, the equal or greater problems growing out of our foreign commerce and agricultural communities, the delicate relations between state and federal governments, and to apply the initiative and referendum in the framing of such laws would tend to more complexity and instability in government. Laws which require careful consideration, the examination by committees, special knowledge of lawyers and students of economy, cannot be drawn and passed in this way. This duty must be delegated to representatives responsive to the direct will of the people who may devote the time necessary for such work.—Frank B. Kellogg.

AUTUMN.

Now autumn's fire burns slowly along the woods, And day by day the dead leaves fall and melt, And night by night the mottled bluish Wails in the keyhole, telling how it passed O'er empty fields or upland solitudes Or grim wide wave, and now the power is felt Of melancholy, tenderer in its moods Than any joy indulgent summer dealt. —Allingham.

FASHIONS AND MORALS.

No self respecting Christian woman, no pure minded Christian maiden, should ever be the slave of vulgar fashion. Their Christian modesty should shrink from appearing in public and especially from entering God's holy temple in a style of dress that offends against Christian decency and can appeal only to the vulgar and evil minded. Let Christian parents impress this on their daughters and, instead of teaching them sinful vanity and foolish extravagance, inculcate prudent moderation and Christian self respect and simplicity. Modesty, beauty and common sense join in the demand for reform, which need not, as reformed fashions are wont to do, leap to the other extreme. In this case a few extra inches of material will make all the difference between gracefulness and disgracefulness.—Rev. P. N. Breslin of New York.

SAYINGS OF KEIR HARDIE.

I had one business deal with Andrew Carnegie. We haven't spoken since, but I still think him a very good business man. Cleanliness is not much of a recommendation to the poor. The cleanest places they know of are the workhouse and the hospital. The most useless thing on this earth is a man who has to worry over keeping his job. There are three sizes of clothing made in England—boys', grown men's and mill workers', who have no chance to grow. The only way to get real enjoyment out of life is to lead it for other people's sakes.

THE HOSTAGES.

There came three minstrels in the days of old To the Avic savage. In their hands Their own Slavonian citharas they hold. "And who are ye?" the haughty khan demands, Frowning from his barbaric throne. "And where— Say, where your warriors—where your sisters be?" "We are Slavonians, monarch, and come here From far borders of the Baltic sea. We know no wars. No arms to us belong. We cannot swell your ranks. Alone, along the dear domestic song." And then they touched their harps in doubtful joy. "Slaves!" said the tyrant. "These to prison lead. For they are precious hostages indeed!" —Sir John Bowring.

CULTURE OF THE LIMA BEAN

Dwarf or Bush Variety is One of Best Vegetables That Can Be Grown for Home or Market.

(By J. W. GRIFFIN.)
The Lima beans, both the pole (those that require poles or trellises for support) and the dwarf or bush forms that do not require any vine, are of the best vegetables that we grow in the garden, either for home use or for market.

There are many varieties of each. By some, the small-seeded varieties are preferred, as the flavor is finer and the bean is not so large and coarse. I think this rather a matter of custom, for I was very much in favor of the small variety until I tried the larger ones and I find if there is any difference in quality, flavor and texture, the large ones excel. The dry beans are just the same as those just matured, the only difference is, there is a greater per cent. of water in the green ones than there is in the dry.

This water may be returned to the beans by soaking them over night in lukewarm water. In the morning the beans will look just as they did when just full grown and when served like green beans the difference will be difficult to tell.

There are many varieties of each kind—the running and the dwarf, or those of the bush form. I grew the King of the Garden, one of the large pole varieties, for several years and found it very good as to yield and quality. The pole Limas are better yielders than the bush variety, but there is more labor attached in growing the pole variety; however, the difference in yield overcomes this to a great extent.

I find that the best methods of growing Lima beans is to use a trellis. In constructing these trellises, the end posts should be set deeply and well braced. The bottom wire may be of No. 12 or 14 (any light wire will do), but the top one must be of No. 8 or 10, as the weight of the vines is great. Brace the end posts well and set small posts every 10 or 15 feet and staple the wires to these. When more than one trellis is to be made side by side, the distance between them should be six feet and the trellises should run north and south—this will give sunshine to each side, and will insure more perfect fruit.

GARDEN and FARM NOTES

The ordinary farmer will gain by stacking his grain. The clover should be cut as soon as it is in blossom. Deep-plowed land has a great capacity for storage of moisture. A heavy crop of weeds will check the growth of the clover a great deal. The grain binder is the most satisfactory implement for cutting timothy seed. Sow some clover; if nowhere else, sow in corn after the cultivation is over. The most important factor in soil improvement is growing leguminous crops. The easiest way to eradicate weeds from the farm is to prevent their going to seed. Silage made of corn and soy beans is more digestible than that made from corn silage alone. One of the qualities of the soy bean that commends it to the stock feeder is its protein richness. Much of the feeding value of the clover depends upon how the crop is managed after it is cut. The best stock pea for grazing in the field is the black, Everlasting, Red and Red Ripper are also good. The silo means excellent feed stored in small space. Just what is needed when the grass in the pasture is dry. Peas that is grown upon the farm is often more palatable than that which is purchased in concentrated form and it is also cheaper.

Fortunes in Faces.

There's often much truth in the saying "Her face is her fortune," but it's never said when pimples, skin eruptions, blotches, or other blemishes disfigure it. Impure blood is back of them all, and shows the need of Dr. King's New Life Pills. They cleanse the blood and beautify the face. 25 cents at all druggists.

Luck.

Fortune unaided prevails over the plans of one hundred learned men.—Plautus.

DISADVANTAGES OF POSTERITY.

"The people who are to follow us in this world will have a great many advantages over us."
"Yes, undoubtedly. But there is one important advantage we have over the people who are to follow us."
"What is that?"

"We don't have to look at pictures of our mothers or our grandmothers, taken when they wore slits no bigger around than trousers legs and showing them with their arms bare to the shoulders, their legs gleaming through gauze-like stockings and their faces hidden under hats that lopped down like the spirits of a man who has lost his job for being more than forty-five years old."

His Kind Heart.

"I wish," said the man with the bulbous nose and the baggy trousers, "I had all the money I've wasted on liquor and tobacco."
"What would you do with it?" asked the gentleman with the long hair and the refined features.
"Oh, I suppose I'd spend most of it for the same kind of stuff again. But I'd put aside at least $10 of it to buy a rockin' chair for my poor old mother. She says she's got so she fairly hankers for a rockin' chair after she's done a hard day's washin'."

EAGER FOR INFORMATION.

"The great trouble with most of us is that we cannot learn to labor and to wait."
"If you don't call this labor, what is it?" asked the college student who was learning to wait in a summer hotel.

How Does She Do It?
It's something born in woman, it can't be learned in school. To wear the harness that she wears And still look cool.

A Common Affliction.
"My brother underwent an operation this morning that cut out part of his speech."
"At what hospital?"
"At home."
"Who was the operator?"
"Our telephone girl."

Learning.
Shopman—Here is a very nice thing in revolving bookcases, madam.
Mrs. Newrich—Oh, are those revolving bookcases? I thought they called them circulating libraries.—Christian Register.

Her Dilemma.
"I saw Maria just now in the midst of her household goods waiting to be transplanted to another home and she looked the picture of woe."
"Ah? I suppose, quite a moving picture."

Improper.
"Do you think it would be proper for me to place a reverent—kiss upon your fair hand?"
"I should consider it decidedly out of place!"—London Opinion.

Still Stronger.
"Did you notice the man who came in next to us after the first set, what a strong face he had?"
"No, but it must have been a strong one if it matched his breath."

A BIG HAUL.

Oh—If your sister has no other plans I would like to call tonight. Take—Oh! yes. She's planning to lead the count tonight.

Fashion Note.
The fashions have gone under seas. Or so one summer man asserts. He says the mermaids, if they please, Are all attired in bubble skirts.

Crosswise.
She—My aunt just gave me her watch.
He—How odd! I've just given mine to my uncle.

Change for Both.
Marks—Going away anywhere on your vacation?
Parks—No, don't need to; my wife's going.

Impure blood runs you down—makes you an easy victim for disease. For purifying blood and sound digestion—Burdock Blood Bitters. At all drug stores. Price $1.00.

Only a Burden.

"You have no slightest ruin such as we have in Europe." "No," replied Mr. Currox. "I thought of putting up a few, but I gave it up. They're mighty artistic looking, but they're too hard to keep in repair."

ATTEND TO-DAYS BIG MASS MEETING

Prominent Men to Draw Crowds—Democrats in Wicomico Alive.

Salisbury today has put on her gala dress for the Mass Meeting of the County Democrats. Today the able speakers whose services are enlisted to help the cause of Democracy out in this section will appear at two big meetings both to be held in the Opera House, one at two o'clock in the afternoon and the other at 7.30 in the evening. The list of the speakers scheduled for these meetings is one of the best ever presented to an audience in this city at a Political meeting.

The afternoon meeting will be presided over by Mr. L. W. Gandy and the evening meeting by Mr. C. R. Disharoon.

The Democrats in this county seem very much awake as to the importance of the coming election and as things look now the one thousand plurality in this city at Mr. Wilson will be a factor on election day.

A candidate who sells the people of this County, a platform embodying true democratic principles and a belief that at least the good old party which has been fighting so long without much hope of success is sure to triumph this year, make our Democrats more than usually interested in this year's election.

It matters not what the political belief of any man may be, he can not fail to be interested and benefited by attending the big meeting this afternoon and evening. A chance will be given to hear men of more than the average ability discuss issues and principles which every man should get all the light on possible, so as to better discharge his duty as a citizen.

Among the speakers will be the following:

Hon. A. J. Montague, ex-Governor

Arrested By Officers.

Sheriff Smith and his deputies arrested Edward Day, colored, of Delmar, charged with selling whiskey. He was tried before Justice Mills and sentenced to six months in the House of Correction. The Chief of Police and Sheriff picked up Homes Smiley charged with the shooting of Hattie Hoffman at Sharptown. He was given a hearing and held under a bail of five hundred dollars for the Grand Jury.

of Virginia, and an able speaker; Hon. Frank S. Monnett, formerly Attorney General of Ohio under Republican rule, and the man who first conducted a successful case in the Courts against the Trusts; Hon. J. Thos. Heflin, Congressman from Alabama; Hon. Robt. L. Henry, the well known writer and Congressman from Texas; Hon. Elmer Lee, Senator from Montgomery; Hon. J. Harry Covington, Congressman from this District and the nominee of his party for reelection.

The speech of Mr. Monnett is one of the most brilliant that has been delivered in the present campaign. His subject is the great Steel Trust and he uses 60 colored slides to illustrate the conditions of the so called skilled laborers and how they exist as well as other interesting facts in connection with this giant Monopoly which has contributed so many hundreds of thousands of dollars to the election of Republican Presidents in the last sixteen years in exchange for the right to rob the people under a protective tariff.

The reception committee to meet and entertain the speakers and other distinguished visitors is composed as follows: Sen. James D. Price, C. E. Harper, E. A. Towdine, R. Frank Williams and John F. Hagan.

THE SALISBURY ADVERTISER'S VOTING CONTEST IS NOW IN FULL BLAST

West Church, Wilmington, Calls Pastor.

On Wednesday evening, October 23 West Church Wilmington, extended a call to Rev. Uria Franklin Smiley, D. D., of the Presbyterian Church, Camden N. J.

Dr. Smiley was born in Philadelphia in 1868, and is a Princeton Theological Seminary graduate of '95. His first pastorate was in Fort Collins, Colorado, he then served in the Holmesburg Church, Philadelphia, then the Westminster Church of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, from which he was called to 2nd Church, Camden.

Dr. Smiley is a very able man, and West Church is to be congratulated. New Castle Presbytery will be glad to welcome the new member. Our most earnest prayer is that God's blessing may rest upon West Church and upon Dr. Smiley—Rock and Zion Presbyterian, of Cecil County.

SPECIAL NOTICE TO CONTESTANTS

Contestants are asked to turn in all their votes every Friday at noon at which time the votes are counted for the standing in the following day's issue. See if you can't lead your district?

LOST—A gold brooch, a stem with one pearl, Saturday evening either somewhere between Smith Street and N. Division Street or in some of the stores on Main Street. Reward if returned to this office.

To Advertise Your Campaign Right, Turn in Enough Votes To Head the List in Your District, and See How Your Friends Will Respond With Help and Encouragement

TRIP TO FLORIDA, DIAMOND RING, OR GOLD WATCH.

Now that they have started to vote in the ADVERTISER'S Florida Tour Diamond Ring and Gold Watch Contest, it behooves everyone who has entered the lists to be up and doing.

Head The List.

To advertise your campaign right, turn in enough votes to head the list in your district and see how your friends will respond with help and encouragement. Human nature is so constituted that everyone likes to help the one they think will be the winner and the prestige gained by being at the top or near the top will be of incalculable advantage to you.

The first start in any sort of race is important—ever notice how the riders and drivers in a horse race jockey for the advantage in starting off from the wire? Get a lead from the first jump and it brings assurance and a distinct advantage.

Bear this in mind for this race for Florida Tours, Diamond Rings and Gold Watches and you will find it easier after the discouragements of the initial beginning. A few are still hesitating about taking the first plunge—maybe they couldn't win anyway, is the way they put it—do you think people would ever accomplish anything in this world if they always hesitated and were scared of the outcome before they even made a try at the thing they wished to accomplish? No, several and distinct times, NO! Not on your life! If you were risking anything it would be different, but you are not risking anything except a little time to do some talking and that will be a benefit to you.

Have you ever stopped to consider that the people who make the biggest salaries and who hold down the big paying positions these days are the ones who have a talking job?

Talk Means Money.

Talking, the right sort of talking, the talk with a point to it is what everyone needs to develop if he or she expects to accomplish anything they set out to do. Did you ever envy the person, man or woman, who could meet all sorts and conditions of people and talk to them on their own footing—who were able to size up their party in a moment and meet them on their own ground?

Contest Good School.

The work in a contest is a regular school of experience for meeting different sorts of people and from every day you learn something that will be of benefit to you in reading human nature. You learn to adapt yourself to the mental calibre of the person to whom you are talking and meet him in his own argument. You can learn to think quickly, to talk convincingly and the experience gained will be of benefit to you all your life. To be at ease in any company, to acquire a pleasing personality, and to be a good conversationalist and acquaintance that many would like to have but few are blessed with it.

This accomplishment can be acquired and in a very short time of being a candidate in this contest of The ADVERTISER. And beside—there is plenty of incentive too—think of the prizes.

Don't you think so? If you do, then get busy and start something. If you need any help come in or write in to the contest department and one of the expert operators will be assigned to you in getting the first running start in this race that will bring considerable reward and a whole lot of satisfaction.

Will you do it—NOW?

Note To Out-of-Town Contestants.

Miss Lansing regrets very much that, owing to the rainy weather of last week, leaving the roads in such a bad condition, she has been unable to call on very many of the out-of-town contestants; but she will call on them all this week and will be glad to assist any in getting started.

Districts.

In the Contest, Wicomico County is divided into three districts. That known as District No. 1, will include that section of Salisbury east of Division Street; District No. 2, that section of Salisbury west of Division Street; and District No. 3, will embrace all the outside towns of Wicomico County—including Sharptown, Fruitland, Bivalve, Pittsville, Willard, Tyaskin, Delmar, Mardela, Hobson, Nanticoke, Trappe, Netters, and others and all that territory in Wicomico County, not included in the first two districts.

The highest winner in the three districts will receive a two weeks tour to Florida, the Land of the Sunny South, or a one hundred dollar diamond ring. She will be allowed the privilege of choosing between the two prizes. Remember, this prize goes to the highest winner, regardless of district.

The highest winners in each of the other two districts will each receive a $75 diamond ring—pure, white stone. The second highest winners in all three districts will receive a twenty five dollar gold watch. As soon as the arrangements are completed, these prizes will be on exhibition at some of the leading merchants.

The candidates from any one district, however may solicit votes and subscriptions anywhere within the county or outside of it, so that their field is not limited. But the lady having the highest total vote at the end of the contest, which begins October 26, will win.

WILSON'S STRENGTH GROWING ALL THE TIME

DORMAN—HOLMES

Pretty Wedding Solemnized At Asbury M. E. Church Wednesday Evening.

The marriage of Mr. George Humphreys Dorman and Miss Janette Holmes, both of this city, at the Asbury M. E. Church, Wednesday evening of this week, was one of the most elaborate of the social affairs of the year.

The bride was given away by her father, Mr. William Holmes, and was attended by her sister, Miss Grace Holmes, as maid of honor. The six bridesmaids—Miss Pardee, of New York; Miss Quigg, of Ridgeley; Miss Mary Collier, Miss Ruth Gunby, Miss Martha Towdine and Miss Sadler, of this city—were white satin gowns, trimmed in lavender Marquessette and carried large bouquets of flowers. The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Claude Dorman, as best man. The ushers were Messrs. Murray T. Quigg, of New York; A. H. Murphy, of New York; Earle Dulany, of Fruitland; Frank Adams, William Dorman and Euston H. Burck, of this city.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Howard Townsend Quigg, of New York City, assisted by Rev. Dr. Martindale, of Salisbury. The bride wore a beautiful white satin gown of crepe meteor with broadened train trimmed in Dutch lace and pearls, with hat and gloves to match.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the Holmes residence on Camden Avenue from 9.30 to 11.00 p. m., at which a large number of friends of the young couple attended.

The bride and groom left on the midnight train for an extended Northern tour, after which they will return to Salisbury and occupy the Holmes residence on Camden Avenue. The groom is connected with the Dorman & Smyth Hardware Company, of this city and is a son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Dorman. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Holmes, formerly of New York, but for more than two years residents of Salisbury. Mr. Holmes is a well known newspaper manager of New York City.

Progressives Hold Meetings

The Progressives of Wicomico County held two mass meetings in the Uman Opera House last Saturday, both of which were well attended. The night meeting was very large many ladies attending. The stage was very prettily decorated for the occasion and the Salisbury Cornet Band furnished music.

Col. Thomas Lavery presided at both meetings and seated on the stage were several men who have long been prominent in the Republican party in Wicomico County.

Hon. Charles H. Schirm, twice elected to Congress from Baltimore city as a Republican, was the first speaker of the afternoon, followed by Col. Joseph E. Baldwin, of Buffalo, a personal friend of Col. Theodore Roosevelt. Their remarks elicited vigorous applause especially when they mentioned the name of Col. Roosevelt.

The evening meeting was again addressed by Messrs. Schirm and Baldwin and Rev. E. T. Liddell. Mr. Robert D. Grier, Progressive candidate for Congress, also made a short speech in which he asked the earnest support of all Progressives and others.

Council Proceedings.

A building permit was granted to Albert J. Wyatt, dwelling on N. Division St.

The Council ordered two new street lights erected on New York Avenue and one new light on Main Street extended.

The bond of J. T. Parsons, City Collector was approved.

The Committee reported the purchase of a horse for the city, for which $187.50 was paid. The same Committee was instructed to purchase another horse at about the same price.

The clerk was instructed to notify the managers of the Home for the Aged to lay a concrete pavement in front of their property on E. Church Street.

The Street Supervisor was instructed to notify Benjamin Davis, Mrs. Bettie J. White to move their dwellings at corner of Main and Pittwater streets back from the pavement line. The Clerk was also instructed to notify all property owners on Main Street extended to lay cement sidewalks in front of their properties within thirty days from the date of notice.

—Mr. Clayton C. Kelly has sold one of his houses on Poplar Hill Avenue to Mrs. James Betts and daughter Miss Mollie Betts. The property sold is the one located between the home of Mr. Kelly and the residence of Mr. Milton H. Pope. The price paid was about $3,500.

Victory Claimed in Nearly Every State. Republican Split Makes Democratic Success Certain.

Election is drawing close to hand, and the nearer it gets the more certain it appears that the President will be Woodrow Wilson. States which have for years consistently supported the Republican party are put down in the certain Democratic States column, while those that usually go Democratic will largely increase their majority this year.

According to the reports of the big papers in New York City, most of whom are supporting the candidacy of Mr. Taft, Wilson is as certain of sweeping the State of New York as anything can be in the political world.

New Jersey reports show that in his home State Mr. Wilson will receive one of the biggest votes ever cast for a Democrat in that State, and his majority will be greatly in excess of the vote which elected him Governor years ago.

Ohio, the home State of President Taft, is almost as certain to go for Mr. Wilson as is the State of Maryland. Here as elsewhere the fight between Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Taft is very close and they will probably split the Republican vote in half making Wilson an easy winner.

Even in Pennsylvania, the most rock-ribbed Republican State in the Union, the Democrats are claiming an even chance of carrying. This State normally gives the Republican party a majority of close to 400,000 and the fact that the Democrats are claiming is only a proof of how everything is going if the Taft and Roosevelt forces split anywhere near half in Pennsylvania as it now seems likely then the Democratic claim of victory will more than likely be realized. Mr. Bryan is not willing to concede a single State to either Mr. Taft or Mr. Roosevelt but insists that the Democrats have more than an even chance of making a clean sweep.

While this is probably too much to expect yet it looks as though Mr. Wilson will go in with the largest vote ever cast for any President.

The Republican party in Maryland is badly split as in other States and it is an even guess as to which side will come out on top. This inter-party fight makes the State safe for Mr. Wilson as is Florida.

The only question is about the size of his plurality.

Conservative estimates place this at not less than 80,000 while others put it over 90,000. Wicomico County is in good shape and expects to put behind Mr. Wilson one of those thousands.

We give below one even dozen of the reasons why a vote should be cast for Mr. Wilson.

BECAUSE:

1. He is the only candidate for President who represents the real vital and effective progressive forces in this country.
2. He stands for tariff revision downward into the interest of lower prices and the elimination of monopoly.
3. He stands for trusts legislation which will prevent the control of prices through any sort of monopoly.
4. He stands for the income tax and believes that wealth should share the burden as well as the blessings of government.
5. He stands for the rights of labor and the protection of the man who earns his bread by the sweat of his brow, as shown in his record as Governor of New Jersey.
6. He stands for revival of our merchant marine and for the government encouragement of agriculture, industrial and vocational education.
7. He trusts the people and believes that the governed should govern; and that Senators should be chosen by the people.
8. He faithfully performs in office the promises made out of office.
9. He will "CLEAN HOUSE" as Washington as he has "CLEANED HOUSE" in New Jersey.
10. He preaches and practices clean politics, and practices it effectively. He unalterably opposes machine politics and the rule of the bosses.
11. He stands for legitimate big business every day, but for monopoly never.
12. As Senator LaFollette says, "He approaches every problem with the solemn promise to be really in the highest sense a servant of the people."

—The members of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of Trinity M. E. Church, South are urged to be present at the regular monthly meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. L. W. Dorman, Division Street, Monday evening, Oct. 28, at eight o'clock. An interesting program has been arranged and the annual election of officers will take place.

AN ANCIENT PANIC ARGUMENT

History Demolishes Republican Claim That Democrats Make Hard Times.

1893 WAS UNDER HIGH TARIFF

Every Panic Since the Civil War Has Been a Republican Panic—Lessons
From 1907 Upheaval.

The enemies of Democracy are making their anticipated and regularly recurring howl—they are predicting hard times if Woodrow Wilson is elected president on a Democratic tariff revision platform.

The Republicans are claiming all credit for present prosperity.

A glance backward will be worth while at this time.

Every panic since the civil war originated and developed under Republican rule.

The Republican campaign textbook of 1904 devoted much space to the many business disasters occurring from July, 1903, to November, 1904, intending the public to attribute them to the inauguration of President Cleveland in March, 1893. But the Republicans fail to refer to the fact that the Republican tariff law was in force during more than twelve of the sixteen months of greatest business disasters. This fact must be remembered—the McKinley tariff bill became a law Oct. 6, 1890, and the first indications of the 1893 panic were seen Nov. 11, 1890, scarcely more than thirty days after the McKinley law was passed, and the panic reached its worst stage in 1893 and early in 1894, during which time the McKinley law was in full force.

Millions Lost Their Jobs.

It may be recalled, too, that the panic of 1873 under Republican rule and in a period of twelve years of high tariff taxation, was most disastrous. It continued five years, 5,000,000 wages were thrown out of employment and bankruptcy ran riot.

In 1890 the McKinley high tariff bill was passed, and there were 10,073 failures, followed by 12,594 in 1891. The tariff was raised to nearly 50 per cent, but wages stood still or declined while the cost of necessities advanced.

The most serious labor troubles in the history of the United States have occurred under Republican high tariffs.

Some Lessons From 1907.

The Republican panic of 1907 furnished another forceful refutation of the Republican claim that Democratic administration and hard times, lower tariffs and panics have been co-existing.

In 1907, in the midst of prosperity, thousands of leading banks, with hundreds of millions on deposit, suspended cash payments. The trouble began as a result of a struggle between great New York financial institutions for business.

The New York Post in October, 1907, said:

Condemn Themself.

"The certain and significant thing is that it will be known as a Republican and high tariff panic. Protest as Republicans may, they will be held responsible. Out of their own mouths the Republican party and the Dingelies will stand condemned. They fixed in 1896 the standard by which they cannot escape being judged. In the party platform of that year they referred to the panic of 1893, and the hard times following, squarely to charge up the entire responsibility to the party in control of the national government, and the political inference was stated with merciless logic:

"Every consideration of public safety and individual interest demands that the government be rescued from the hands of those who have shown themselves incapable of conducting it."

"Now, what are the Republicans going to do when the Democrats hand them back their poisoned chalice?"

"A great emergency has come and the high tariff is seen to be of no avail whatever. It is to keep us all rich and prosperous."

"Because the country has just got over the results of a Republican panic the president and his friends are urging us to perpetuate the Republican administration," says the Philadelphia Record.

Business Depression.

"As soon as business was checked five years ago the steel corporation, which was encouraged by Mr. Roosevelt to swallow the Tennessee concern, then its most formidable potential competitor, drew its fire and threw about half its workmen out of employment. Other industries did much the same thing. There was an extensive stoppage of mills in Philadelphia.

"The Republican candidate for congress in the Kensington-Richmond district is using the 'soup houses of 1893' as a means of scaring the wage earners from voting the Democratic ticket. Those soup houses existed under the McKinley tariff. But there have been more recent ones. After 1907 there were soup houses in the Kensington-Richmond district, and everybody who was charitably disposed was begged for contributions to feed the people who were out of employment."

Eight Who Deserve Slaps.

Eight men who deserve to be slapped on the face: He who despises a man of power; he who enters a house uninvited and unwelcome; he who gives orders in a house not his own; he who takes a seat above his position; he who speaks to one who does not listen to him; he who intrudes on the conversation of others; he who seeks favors from the ungenerous, and he who expects love from his enemies.—From a Persian Saying.

It embraces churches in Maryland, Delaware and Virginia. Many visiting Elders were present, among the numbers being Elders from New York, Kentucky and other distant points. The Elders belonging to the Association were present, including Elders Francis and Paulson, who are well known to the people of Wicomico county.

Bryan Speaks At Seaford.

It has been said over again that Mr. Bryan had killed himself and his influence upon the members of his Party would no longer be strong enough to compel recognition. Those who have any such an idea must have received strong shocks after the demonstration at Baltimore, and must be still receiving them when they see the reception he is getting at the hands of the people all over the country. As a matter of fact it is hard to say whether he is stronger in the West or East in the North or in the South. All sections unite in showing to him the regard in which they hold him.

There were probably more people in Salisbury who wanted to hear him speak in Seaford the past week than any other man in the country could have commanded.

Despite the uncertainty of the weather a large number of Salisburyans journeyed to Seaford and took chance on a drenching in order that they might see and hear the "Peerless One." And what is more, few came back expressing any regret or disappointment which is so often the case when so much is expected. Mr. Bryan is unquestionably one of the ablest orators of the day and this added to the confidence of the people in his sincerity and unselfishness explain to a great extent the remarkable hold he has upon the country. Mr. Bryan is very much interested in the Democratic ticket this year, and places his stamp of approval upon both platform and nominees without reservation.

He is dealing out effective blow after blow in the great cause which he has fought for since '96 and can not help feeling gratified that the principles he has so long espoused seem at last near fulfillment.

Housekeeping Is Not the Task It Used to Be

MODERN invention has done away with much of the hard work. For instance, the cleaning and polishing of hardwood floors, the dusting of moldings, the tops of high furniture, the stairs, under the radiator, etc. These back-breaking tasks are now made easy with the

O-Cedar Mop
Polish Mop

With it you can dust, clean and polish a hardwood floor in the time it formerly took you to get ready to do it.

Besides, you do not have to get down on your hands and knees to dust under the bed or other hard-to-get-at places, or to stand on a chair to dust the top of the high furniture. All of the hard work is now made easy with the O-Cedar Polish Mop. It gathers all the dust or dirt from everywhere and holds it. The mop is easily cleaned by washing and then removed by putting on a few drops of O-Cedar Polish.

Try It at Our Risk Try it two whole days with no money. The price is only $1.50 and it will save you money if you use it in a short time.

H. V. DICKERSON,
Salisbury, Md.MILDREDINA HAIR REMEDY.

Grows Hair And We Can Prove It.

Hair troubles like many other diseases, have been wrongly diagnosed and altogether misunderstood. The hair itself is not the thing to be treated, for the reason that it is simply a product of the scalp and wholly dependent upon its action.
The scalp is the very soil in which the hair is produced, nurtured and grows, and it alone should receive the attention if results are to be expected. It would do no earthly good to treat the stem of a plant with a view of making it grow and become more beautiful—the soil in which the plant grows must be attended to. Therefore, the scalp in which the hair grows must receive the attention if you expect it to grow and become more beautiful.

Loss of hair is caused by the scalp drying up, or losing its supply of moisture or nutrition; when baldness occurs the scalp has simply lost all its nourishment, leaving nothing for the hair to feed upon (a plant or tree would die under similar conditions).

The natural thing to do in either case, is to replenish the soil or scalp as the case may be, and your crop will grow and multiply as nature intended it should.

Mildredina Hair Remedy makes the scalp clean, healthy and wholesome. It quickly penetrates the pores and stimu-lates the hair glands and scalp tissues, thereby promoting the growth of the hair.

Its action is quick and the hair soon shows the effect of its wonderful cleansing and stimulating qualities.

One 50 cent bottle is enough to convince you of its great worth as a hair growing and hair beautifying remedy—try it and see for yourself.

Mildredina Hair Remedy is put up in 50c and $1.00 bottles. Sample bottle by mail for 10c. If your druggist will not supply you, we will send you the $1.00 size by mail prepaid on receipt of price.

E. P. PARSONS, Salisbury, Md.

REPORT wall winding around the head of the Mount like a monster guardian dragon, asleep at his post.
"Here is no one!"
"No one! Yet am I sure I saw—"
"A shadow!" answered the other.
"And we have nothing worse to fight!"
"Some one was there, Seigneur," stubbornly, "and fled!"
"Eh bien! He's gone!"
"He? It looked like a—"
"Back with you, quick! Is this a time for talk? Call those who can come—if they would save their necks!"

"Here they are now," exclaimed the servant, and, as he spoke, the first of their men, blowing out the light he carried, ran quickly across the guardchamber and into the open air. Others hastily followed, until the gathering, swelled by those brought with them from the dungeons, stood expectantly before the little stone structure.

"All the prisoners are here!"
"All!"
"To the wheel-house, then!"
But as they hastened across the square and into the narrow way, the Black Seigneur again spoke to the man just ahead:

"The hunchback?"
"We left him below, locked up in the Devil's Cage!"
"The Devil's Cage! Quelle bonne plaisanterie! Although," looking back,
"it may cost us dear!"

And indeed, behind the sound of pursuit came nearer; the clatter of soldiers' feet grew louder, until, reaching the little square and the guard-house, all tumult suddenly ceased. A momentary silence, strange, ominous, was broken by a din of voices, as the barrage here and there of torches showed grotesque reflections high against the grim background of black masonry.

To those now within the wheel-room, the cause of that abrupt clamor was not difficult to divine; his Excellency's soldiers had found the sentinels overpowered in the guard-house! Would the former stop to investigate; search first those subterranean passages? Already had the prisoners, the weaker of the Black Seigneur's men, filled the car, or hung clinging to the ropes above; already was the wheel turning almost before the key had turned in the lock at the entrance.

"Seigneur!"
"Sanchez!"
"When we left the wheel-room, we closed the door."
"When we got back, it—"
A footfall without interrupted, followed by the sound of a hand at the door, and other steps drawing near.

"Jacques!" An expectant voice spoke; waited; called louder. Then those outside listened; some one exclaimed, and hurried footsteps retreated toward the guard-house.

As they died away, in the wheel-room the car came up for the second time empty, and inquiringly the men there looked from one to the other;
but, even in that moment of danger, not one of them moved, or made sign of impatience. Some must go; others remain, and stoically they awaited the word of their leader.

"Down with all of you! I'll let you out the line," taking a turn with the rope around a stanchion near the wall, "and then come down myself."

The command was unexpected; for the first time those that had never questioned their leader's authority, hesitated, and more sharply was the order repeated; whereupon they obeyed; all save one.

"I'll let it out myself," said Sanchez.

"Get in!"
"No!" was the obdurate reply, when the Black Seigneur made a sign; hands reached up, seized Sanchez, and a moment later the car started down.
The line strained; as it played out,
now running free about the stanchion, then stopping with jerks, the man in the wheel-house almost looked to see it part. The hempen strand, however, proved sound; held its human freight;
but another danger pressed near.

Scarcely had the car begun its downward journey than an attack, indications of whose approach had not been wanting, manifested itself without. Beneath a sudden, savage assault, the door shook; yet engrossed at the line, every muscle strained, the man at the stanchion heeded not. Swiftly, mechanically he worked, apparently as unconscious of the clamorous soldiers without as of a silent presence within —some one that had been concealed in the little store-room adjoining, opening into the wheel-house, and now peered out; but at once drew back, as with a crash, the door fell in.

At first, in the comparative darkness, with only the sky at the aperture staring them in the face, the in-rushing black figures passed, uncertain; lights soon were pushed forward, however, and then could they see the great wheel going round, unwinding the rope; the man at the stanchion.

"The prisoners! He's letting them down!"
"Out the line!"

Some one with a knife rushed forward, severed the strand; but at that moment the car touched the bottom.

Then did the solitary man at the rope for the first time awaken to his own situation; with a backward sweep of the arm he struck so severely the foremost of those to rush at him that the fellow fell, hitting hard the stone floor.
Those nearest stumbled, and drawing his sword, with a thrust of point or blow of hilt, the Black Seigneur, for a moment withstood the first confused oncoming; then extricated himself and leaped to the narrow space behind the wheel. Here was he protected by the wheel. Here was he protected by
the wheel.

Saved By His Wife.
"She's a wise woman who knows just what to do when her husband's life is in danger, but Mrs. R. J. Flint, Braintree, Vt., is of that kind. She insisted on my using Dr. King's New Discovery," writes Mr. P. "for a dreadful cough, when I was so weak my friends all thought I had only a short time to live, but it completely cured me." A quick cure for coughs and reliable medicine for many throat and lung troubles—croup, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, tonsillitis, hem-orrhages. A trial will convince you. 50c.

Then He's a Genius.

The man with a new idea, is a crack until the idea succeeds.—Pud-shead Wilson.

And by the way: at one end, by the masonry jutting out, while, at the other, only one or two could attack at the same time. But in front, through the spokes of the broad wheel, they might well hope to reach him.

At once the soldiers sprang forward, when, seizing the wheel, the man behind, with a savage jerk, set it in motion. The sword thrust at him were turned aside, one or two of his assaults were caught in the ponderous mechanism, and before those attacking him had recovered from their surprise, the blade of the Black Seigneur shot in and out; to the right, to the left. Those ahead fell back upon their comrades; two, however, were unable to withdraw, and sank to the ground before the wheel. A third, with his hand to his throat and making strange sounds, staggered back to the wall.

Momentarily disconcerted, the others hesitated. "In the Lord's name, fear ye one man!" shouted an authoritative voice.

"A devil!"
"Tis the Black Seigneur! I had a good sight of him."

"Beat it!"
"Mid marsh-muck and mire—" came in mocking tones from behind the wheel.

"The mountebank!"
"Sacre tonnerre! But mountebank, or outlaw, you shall pay! This way!"
And at the unprotected side of the wheel the commandant sought to bring the issue to a conclusion. One blade the Black Seigneur struck down, while his own weapon retorted with more effect, though as it did so, another soldier made a lunge, and his sword entered the shoulder of the man behind the wheel. A shout of triumph that fell from the lips of the Governor's trooper was, however, abruptly checked; lurching forward with the stroke, ere he could recover, something heavy—a brass hilt—beat like a hammer on his head and he dropped to his knees. The others pressed closer; but with the desperation of a man resolved to sell his life dearly, the Black Seigneur fought on; regardless of cut and thrust, was holding the narrow entrance, when from the rear, somewhere, came the report of a firearm.

"Back! Stand back!"
Those nearest the wheel, not unwilling, perhaps, to desist, drew away;
other detonations followed and smoke filled the place, obscuring the gaze.

In the yellow fog they waited; until first it was swept aside close to the opposite wall by a draft of air from the aperture of the adjoining storeroom, and the commandant, an effort to see, moved impatiently forward. Ere, however, he could reach the wheel, near the threshold of the store-room, he felt his arm suddenly seized.

"Look, listen!"
The warning cry—a girl's voice—rang through the wheel-room; but the commandant did not at once heed it;
at that abrupt touch he had involuntarily wrested his arm away; he stared, not in the direction she who had called out pointed, but at her! The white, drawn face, the eyes dilated—

"You, my Lady! Here!" he stammered.

But she only made a wild movement; again grasped, drew him forward.

"Quick, or—" And suddenly was he brought to a realization of what she

"The Blade of the Black Seigneur Shot In and Out."

wished him to see; a figure drawing itself along, slowly, painfully, toward the verge—

"Don't you see? Rather than be taken, he's going to throw himself over!"

The excited, admonishing sound of her voice aroused the commandant.
He gave a sharp order and the soldiers sprang forward; laid roughly hold of the prostrate form; drew it back. The Black Seigneur yet struggled, but not for long! A moment, and his eyes turned to the Governor's daughter.

"Ma foi! I must needs yield—to your Ladyship! Yet, what matter, since I have done what I came to do!"
His gaze, darkly glowing, seemed to envelop the shrinking figure whose cloak only partly concealed the gay, rich gown beneath; lifted to the brilliant, frightened brown eyes. "Your Ladyship has bright eyes, forsooth!"
An ironical laugh burst from his lips.
"Far sharper than their swords!" He strove to speak further, when a hand holding a weapon fell heavily. At that a cry escaped the girl's lips.

"No, no; you shall not!"
The Black Seigneur lay still.

"Ciell! It's fortunate we got him," repeated the commandant gazed around. "It would have made a pretty tale, if—" he turned to the Governor's daughter, "I have your Ladyship to thank—" he began, and stopped.

My lady's figure had at that moment relaxed and fell: to the ground!

(To Be Continued.)

Why He Did It.
"So your oldest boy has joined the glee club?" "Yes." "What caused him to take that step?" "I don't know.
But, judging by sound, I guess it must have been melancholia."

SPECIAL DAYS AT EXPOSITION

Large Number of Functions to Mark 'World in Baltimore.'

"The World in Baltimore" Missionary Exposition, to be held in Baltimore from October 25th to November 30th, will be marked by the observance of a large number of "special days," or days devoted to some town or organization or church or branch of work. Many excursions will be run to take people to Baltimore from adjacent territory, and of course special arrangements will be made to accommodate the visitors. Thus far the following days have been set:

October 25—Opening Day.
October 30—German Evangelical Day.
October 31—Methodist Day.

November 4—Masonic Day.
November 7—Reformed Church
November 12—Presbyterian Day.
November 13—Washington Day.
November 14—Lutheran Day.
November 15—Baptist Day.
November 18—Episcopal Day.

Programs for these special days are being worked over with greatest care, and something distinctive is being provided for each one. Ambassador Bryce's address will be a feature of the Opening Day, when Gov. Gold-borough, and Bishops Cranston and Murray will also speak. Other days will be arranged for before the opening of the Exposition.

GORGEOUS NEW SCENERY.
Much of the scenery for "The World in Baltimore," to be given October 25 to November 30, has been newly painted for the Baltimore Exposition, and all the rest has been retouched.
The work has been done by the best New York artists, and the result is a truly gorgeous setting for the great pageant.

Anty Drudge Tells Why Mary Doesn't Object to a Big Wash.

Father—"Just look at the condition of the kids' clothes! Where do you suppose they pick up the dirt? You'll have Mary making an awful kick about the heavy wash. Why I'll bet she has to do up a dozen dresses every week for the babies!"

Anty Drudge—"More than that, son-in-law. I suppose it's nearer two dozen. But so long as she has Fels-Naptha soap on washday, Mary will never say a word."

Every mother knows what a lot of fun the baby gets out of crawling about the floor and making its tiny self just as dirty as a little pig.

But every mother has looked with alarm at the array of baby clothes to be washed on Monday morning.

And every one has seen with despair how the delicate little garments are cooked to pieces in the destructive washboiler.

But all that was before the Fels-Naptha wash-way became known.

The Fels-Naptha way means that baby's soiled clothes are cleansed quickly in cool or lukewarm water without the roasting fire, summer or winter—without the seething suds, without the terrific back-breaking rub, rub, rub.

What's the result? Why—

CAMPAIGN MUD ANGERS VETERAN

"Comrade" Editor's Effort to Distort Democratic Position on Pensions Rebuked.

CIRCULAR TO G. A. R. POSTS.

Bought "Means" and "Harsh" Expressions by Wilson Supporters, but Finds Facts the Reverse.

Ignoring the fact that the Democratic house passed the most liberal pension bill in the history of the United States and that it was the Republican senate that reduced the appropriation the editor of the National Tribune of Washington has appealed to grand army posts all over the country to supply campaign material for use against the Democratic party.

Colonel (Sergeant) John McElroy, the editor, has not met always with the co-operation he desired. This is evidenced by the fact that indignant grand army men have forwarded his circular letters to Democratic national headquarters in New York with their protests against the playing of such politics within the old soldiers' organization.

Quest For "Mean" Things. Editor McElroy's appeal was sent out, mimeographed, on the letterhead of the National Tribune, with his own name at the top. The letter read:

Sept. 13, 1912.
Comrade—We are anxious to get the expression of editors on pension from the papers supporting Wilson in your neighborhood. Will you kindly look over the files of your local papers and send us anything particularly harsh and mean which they have published. We want to show conclusively the attitude of the men who are supporting Wilson and who will control his administration if elected. Please send these at your earliest convenience, as the time is short. Fraternally,
THE NATIONAL TRIBUNE.

One of the replies sent to the Tribune was: Headquarters Cushing Post, No. 14, G. A. R., Astoria, Ore., Sept. 28, 1912. National Tribune, Washington, D. C.: Gentlemen—Your communication addressed to me as adjutant of Cushing Post, No. 14, of the 11th inst. I found today on my return from the national encampment at Los Angeles, Cal. Thus the delay in answering.

You wish me to look over the files of our local papers and send you "anything particularly harsh and mean" which they have published regarding pensions. As you have specified that these "harsh" and "mean" comments must be from papers supporting Wilson I must inform you that the pension tariff, which has been able to learn, are friendly toward the interests of the civil war veterans and endorse the action of the Democratic house of the United States congress in its passage of the pension bill in the special and last session of congress and have no fault to find with Senator Kern for his eloquent appeal in the senate in behalf of the civil war veterans.

If you are really looking for "mean" and "harsh" editorials along this line, if your object in this search is for the interests of the old soldiers, you will find enough "mean" and "harsh" things in the papers that are supporting Mr. Taft. And if you wish to prospect away out here in Oregon (politically) for other than pure gold please excuse the adjutant of Cushing Post, No. 14, Department of Oregon, G. A. R., in assisting.

B. F. ALLEN.

WHY TAFT OR ROOSEVELT?

Prices of Food Products Have Soared Under Them, Yet They Promise Reductions.

According to the bulletin of the federal bureau of labor the average price of a dozen or more of the principal articles of food has increased 50 per cent in the last ten years.

The price of flour has increased 30 per cent, lard 55 per cent, steak 50 per cent, hams 61 per cent, cornmeal 63 per cent, ribs roast 63 per cent, round steak 84 per cent, pork chops 88 per cent, bacon 93 per cent and Irish potatoes 111 per cent.

During these ten years of rising prices Roosevelt and Taft were at the head of the government. Both of them want to be at the head of the government again.

Does any sane man believe that if these men in ten years did nothing to retard the rise of prices which are oppressing the people they would do anything in four years? Rather, judging by the past, we should be paying approximately 25 per cent more than we do now, or 75 per cent more than we did ten years ago.

WHY NOT ELECT WOODROW WILSON

Chicago Post, Influential Republican Paper, Asks Its Readers a Leading Question.

FRAUDS OF PRESENT REGIME.

Says the Tariff Has Been Too High For a Generation and Must Be Lowered.

The Chicago Post, an influential independent Republican newspaper, propounds this question to Republicans:

"Why not Wilson? This question is addressed particularly to Republicans."

"Governor Wilson suits the Democrats down to the ground, suits all Democrats who are worthy to be called Democrats. But in an emergency like this, why should not Wilson suit a large part of the Republicans as well?"

"Why not Wilson? Governor Wilson is a thoroughbred American gentleman, not only in the accident of birth, but in his every ideal, impulse and principle. That should be the first requirement of every presidential candidate."

Governor Wilson is a tried and trustworthy executive. His brilliant record as governor of New Jersey proves that.

"Governor Wilson is an eminently sane and sensible man. He is an eminently honorable man. He has held every place which he has held. He has performed a splendid public service by lifting the present campaign out of the mire of mudslinging with which Roosevelt began it."

"In every personal characteristic, Governor Wilson is equipped to be any man's president, without regard to whether that man is a Democrat or a Republican. What, then, of his political qualifications?"

"Governor Wilson is and always has been a sensible Democrat, but he is not and never has been a silly, violent partisan."

"Governor Wilson stands for honesty and efficiency in federal administration. So do all save those who profit by graft and inefficiency."

"Governor Wilson stands for the curbing of trusts and monopolies. So do all, except monopolists and their defender, Theodore Roosevelt."

"Governor Wilson stands for a prompt and steady downward revision of the tariff. So do nine-tenths of the people of the United States."

"Governor Wilson believes in a more radical tariff revision than do a large number of the rank and file of Republicans. But Governor Wilson is the only candidate who if elected will permit the revision of the tariff at all."

"The tariff has been too high for a generation. Is it not better to take a chance at getting it too low—according to Republican standards—than to let the known frauds of the present regime continue for another four years to rob the public?"

"Why not Wilson? He will give an honest, a dignified, a capable administration. He will respect the constitution. He will see that the tariff is revised downward. He will curb trusts. He will serve the people."

"Why not Wilson?"

FACTS WORTH REMEMBERING.

John D. Archbold, for the Standard Oil company, gave $100,000 to Roosevelt's campaign fund in 1904, but refused to "come across" with $100,000 more, which was demanded.

J. P. Morgan of the steel trust and other interests gave the Roosevelt fund in the same year $100,000, and did give up $50,000 more.

Mr. Roosevelt furiously prosecuted the Standard Oil company, but he refused to prosecute the harvester trust and the steel trust and gave the steel trust permission to absorb its only serious rival.

George W. Perkins of the steel and harvester trusts gave $40,000 of the New York Life Insurance company's money to Roosevelt's campaign fund, and refunded it when the fact became public.

UNMASKING THE TARIFF DELUSION

Franklin Pierce Shows That Labor Is Not Benefited by Unjust Tax.

MANUFACTURER KEEPS PROFIT

Proof of Democratic Platform's Soundness Cited in Reports of Wage Investigations.

By FRANKLIN PIERCE.

For a hundred years of our history the manufacturers, believing that they received a benefit from the protective tariffs, have ingeniously devised plausible pretexts for imposing increased prices upon the necessities of life. At first they said that industry in our country was in its infancy and needed protection. When those industries had become strong and needed no aid the manufacturers invented the theory that the foreigner paid the duty. This theory was exploded, and they declared that cheap clothing meant cheap men and was not a blessing.

Driven from every one of these indefensible positions, their final and only argument left today is that the tariff is imposed upon foreign imports to enable the manufacturer to increase his profits and pay higher wages.

The Democratic platform declares that:

"In the most highly protected industries, such as cotton and wool, steel and iron, the wages of the laborers are the lowest paid in any of our industries."

Wages in Cotton Industry.

Under the existing Payne-Aldrich tariff law actual imports of cotton cloth paid in 1910 average duties of 54.4 per cent.

In 1905, when work and wage conditions in the cotton industry were exceptionally good, the wages of 202,211 cotton mill operatives in the United States—men, women and children—averaged only $0.47 a week. The average wage for men was but $7.71 a week, for women $6.30 and for children $3.21.

As to the profits, seventeen leading cotton mills, with total capitalization of $25,110,000 and total surplus of $21,863,501, paid in nine years dividends averaging 22 per cent.

The cotton manufacturers turned out in 1905 $442,451,218 worth of goods and paid in wages therefor $43,337,695, or 21 per cent of the value of the finished product.

Extortion of Wool Tariff.

Outside of the duties on two or three commodities of comparatively little importance, the duties on woolen cloth are the highest of any in the tariff schedules. According to Senator Reed Smoot, owner of a woolen mill at Provo, Utah, and chairman of the finance committee in charge of tariff legislation in the senate, wearing apparel valued at 30 cents a pound now pays 200 2/3 per cent duty.

This and other correspondingly high duties on the manufactures of wool are made to enable the manufacturer to pay his labor an increased wage over those of foreign countries. But the duty on woolen goods is nearly five times the entire labor cost, while the American manufacturers in 1905 paid wages only 18 per cent of the total value of their production.

At Lawrence in this most highly protected industry the laborers were obliged to strike even for a living wage. Thousands of adult males were receiving only from $6 to $9 a week and many only $5 to $6 a week. As a result of the strike the American Woolen company gave its employees slight increases in wages.

The wool tariff bill vetoed by President Taft reduced the duties on raw wool from 42.20 to 29 per cent and on manufactures of wool from 87.05 to 48.30 per cent. Mr. Taft said he vetoed it because the proposed rates did not comply with the findings of the tariff board. Senator La Follette contradicted the president, saying that the proposed rates varied from 1 per cent lower to 11.6 higher than the tariff board's findings justified.

Low Wages in Steel.

Manufacturers of iron and steel in 1905 paid in wages only 15 per cent of the total value of their production, while the duty then would average about 45 to 47 per cent, and on all metals it now averages 34.51 per cent.

American wages are really the cheapest wages in the world when you take into account the amount of production per man.

An illustration of this appears in the Stanley report, investigating the steel trust, as follows:

"The labor cost of producing pig iron in Pennsylvania fell from $1.25 a ton in 1902 to 82 cents a ton in 1900, yet the realized value of the pig iron output was $15.64 in 1902; whereas it was $17.44 in 1900. In other words, wage-workers in 1902 got $1.25 for producing only $15.64 worth of pig iron and in 1900 only 82 cents for producing $17.44 worth."

While thus treating labor the industrial combinations that have grown up under the protection of the tariff have fixed the prices of commodities at the highest point the home market would stand.

When will the laboring men of the country cast off this delusion that the tariff is for their benefit and with their votes strike down this monstrous injustice?

Pope—Ames Wedding.

Miss Maude Gresham Pope was married at her home on Poplar Hill Avenue, Salisbury, at 7 o'clock a. m., Wednesday morning, to Mr. John W. Ames, of Rutherford, N. J., in the presence of a few relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. F. Warner. There were no attendants. The bride wore a dark blue traveling suit, with hat and gloves to match and carried white Chrysanthemums. After a wedding breakfast they left on the 7.30 train for Philadelphia, Atlantic City, New York and Albany. After the trip they will reside in Rutherford, N. J. The bride is the daughter of Mr. Milton H. Pope, of this city, and the groom is a prominent business man of New York City, being connected with the Savannah Line of Ocean Steamships.

Report On Registration.

There were 1,254 changes made on the registration books in Wicomico county during the recent sittings of the registrars. There were added in the fifteen districts 751 names; 477 were erased and 95 were refused registration. The greatest changes were in the three city districts. In Parsons District 145 names were added and 110 were erased; in Salisbury District 113 are added and 75 erased; in Camden District 120 were added and 65 erased. The increase in registration in the county is about 260. With the registration closed, there are on the books in the county 8,500 voters who are qualified to participate in the Presidential election on November 5.

OAKLAND.

There were seven conversions during revival services at Union, for which we are truly thankful, but we feel and realize that, that is only a beginning of the good which might have been accomplished, for we can look around and about us and see lots of room for good on every side.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Covington spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. James Kelley.

Miss Jane Matthews and her son Robert spent Sunday with her son, Mr. Jackson Matthews of Mt. Herman.

One of our girls says she made a resolution when asked what it was she said it was to quit dancing, we congratulate her on making such a good one and pray she will keep it. It is one she will not regret when she becomes old and it is just one good step on the road which leads to a higher and brighter life. Some contend there is no harm in parlor or social dancing, but how many parents are able to restrict their children to parlor and social dancing only? Not one in a hundred, for if allowed to indulge in the parlor, and social dance, they become so fascinated with dancing as to want to go to most any place where they fall into most any kind of company. There are professing Christians who condemn the sale of liquor, advocate the closing of saloons, and frown on many other amusements and at the same time allow their children to attend so called select dancing parties where they are taught such as makes them a graduate of the saloon. I do not say that it always does but do say that it often does. The safe side is the best side. Keep them from taking the first step to ruin and they can never take the last. The social glass leads to a drunkard the social card game leads to a gambler and many girls who have been led to ruin by dancing waited for the first time at the social dance. The cheapest and most important and most enjoyable amusement is that of serving God. My young friends if you don't believe it try it and see. And when once you have enlisted you will only have one thing to regret, and that will be that you didn't enlist sooner.

LAKE OF THE DEAD.

An Uncanny, Mysterious Spot in the Oban Country, Nigeria.

It will be a long time before the shores of the Lake of the Dead, in the Oban country, Nigeria, become popular for summer resort purposes. An English traveler says: "When I believed I was in the neighborhood of this haunted spot and altered my course my carriers begged to be allowed not to proceed and were left behind. After a struggle through dense bush we could see the edge of a sheet of water, along the banks of which were the holes of crocodiles, whose tracks covered the shore. The scene was a weird one. The surface of the water was absolutely still, and round about were ten foot high bushes, with what were apparently great tufts of creamy flowers. These, however, proved to be nests of tree frogs."

"The place is a sanctuary for all wild things, for no hunter would dare to penetrate the bush to this dreaded spot. As we stood at the edge, gazing out over the water, its quiet was suddenly broken by a broad ripple, and little fish were seen to spring agitatedly above the surface. A great python was crossing, and this, we learned, shared with the crocodiles the guardianship of the sacred lake. Nothing, we were informed, must be allowed to trouble the water or even to touch its outer edge or famine and pestilence would ensue."

"Here, according to popular belief, come by night the ghosts of long dead Ekoi to drift in sad companies hopeless and waiting over the surface of the water. Even in the bright sun light the place has an uncanny look, and one can easily imagine that at midnight, when the white mists shroud ghostlike in the light of the moon, people with the terror and mystery of the 'bush' in their blood would rather sit chattering around the fire or dance by torchlight in the open spaces of the town than seek out this uncanny spot."—Chicago News.

WAKENED BY A GHOST.

A Woman's Startling Experience in a Washington Hotel.

From his diary under date of October 18, 1890, Sir Henry Lucy quotes in the Cornhill Magazine a remarkable ghost story which was told to him by a "lady bearing a name highly honored in the United States." The incident happened some years previously. The lady was at Washington at a time when congress was sitting and all the hotels were full. On applying for a room at the hotel which she was accustomed to patronize with her husband she was told that the house was full. After some little hesitation she, observing her husband's underlook that a room should be got ready for her. It was a small, plainly furnished room on the sixth floor.

She went to bed early and slept soundly until she was awakened by the sound of a hand knocking her face and a voice which cried with piteous accent, "Oh, mother, mother!" She was profoundly startled, but, arguing with herself that it was only a dream, went to sleep again. Again she was awakened by a hand that nervously stroked her face and the blood-curdling cry, "Oh, mother, mother!" She got up and lighted a candle. A chambermaid came with a startled look. The visitor related her experience.

"Yes, ma'am," said the chambermaid. "I told them they ought not to have put you in the room. He was only carried out an hour before you came."

"Who was carried out?" said the lady.

"Why, the young man who was lying here for a fortnight in delirium tremens and died a couple of days ago. He was always stretching out his hands, feeling for something and crying, 'Oh, mother, mother!'"

Glass Spoons.

Most of the millions of spoons manufactured for many uses are made of some sort of metal, such as gold, silver, iron or tin, but there are also made and regularly sold spoons of glass. This might seem like an especially fragile material for such use, but these glass spoons, while they are made of precisely the same shape and proportions as a metal spoon, are made thick so that they will stand any ordinary usage. They are made of pressed glass, though as they are finished they resemble cut glass. Glass spoons are used in the sickroom for administering medicines that would tarnish metal spoons.—New York Sun

Her Encouragement.

Mollie—And so you proposed marriage to her? Chollie—Yes, Mollie. And did she give you any encouragement? Chollie—Oh, yes, Mollie—Congratulations in order? Chollie—No, she refused me. Mollie—But I thought you said she gave you encouragement? Chollie—She did. She looked at me twice before she refused me.—Yonkers Statesman.

What Did the Bride Say?

The three times widower, with his newest choice, was once more making the necessary visit to the city official in Hoboken. Upon receiving the fee the clerk exclaimed heartily, "Thank you! Come again!"—Judge.

Appropriate.

Mal—She weighs only eighty-nine pounds, and she weighs 100. Lucille—What an ideal couple for light house-keeping!—Barber's.

To grief there is a limit; not so to fear.—Pitts the Younger.

Aviator Has Close Call.

A Spanish aviator nearly lost his life by colliding with a swarm of locusts. He was flying at a height of sixty feet, when he ran into the swarm, which so blinded him that he lost control of the machine and fell to the ground. It was regarded as remarkable that he escaped without injuries.

Deepest Mutual Sorrow.

Man never knows what mutual sorrow really is until he reads an editor's regrets.—Lippincott's Magazine.

STRONG PLAYS TO BE FEATURE

"The Pilgrimage" and "Two Thousand Miles for a Book" at Baltimore.

"The Pilgrimage," an Arabian play, and "Two Thousand Miles for a Book," an American Indian drama, will be given in the Missionary Play Hall of "The World in Baltimore," to be held from October 25 to November 30, at the Lyric theatre, Baltimore. Both of these plays are unusual, demanding many participants, the requirement of people for both being three hundred and fifty.

Beautiful incidental music will accompany these plays, the weird strains of Indian lyrics being heard in one, and mystical Oriental strains supporting the other.

The scene of "The Pilgrimage" is laid at Jiddah, the port of Mecca, at the time when the whole Moslem World makes its annual pilgrimage to the tomb of Mohammed. The populace becomes aroused over the conversion to Christianity of several natives, especially that of a young Mohammedan student of high caste, which is the work of Missionaries who have been working in Jiddah. Several perilous situations are encountered through the attitude of the natives to the Missionaries and their friends. The acknowledgment of a gradual conversion to Christianity is made by an high caste Professor of Mohammedanism, whose wife, a princess of high degree, finally joins him in sacrificing all dear to tradition among their native people, as well as their riches, for the sake of The Christ.

The wonderful longing for the "White Man's Book of Heaven," the Bible, is demonstrated in the play "Two Thousand Miles for a Book," when, in 1828, a delegation of American Indians went from the Oregon country to St. Louis for "The Book," long before promised by the white men who had passed their way.

Several short plays, lasting something less than an hour each, will also be given. In "Sun-Light or Candle-Light" the scene is laid in Japan; "Selection Day" takes one to the moonshine district of our own country;

Terri and Temple, Japan Scene, "The World in Baltimore."

China is the scene of "School-Girl and Slave Girl;" "Kosiki" is located in Korea, and a fifth play has its scene in Africa. The best talent obtainable in Baltimore has been secured for these plays, which are short enough to be snappy and interesting, yet intensely dramatic. Motion pictures, the best collection it has been possible to secure, will be shown. These rare pictures for the most part have been taken by special representatives for missionary societies especially to illustrate conditions in foreign lands.

BALTIMOREANS FINANCE

MISSIONARY EXHIBITION

"The World in Baltimore" Exposition, which will be opened in the Lyric theatre and a specially constructed hall, Baltimore, from October 25 to November 30, is under the management of committees of Baltimore men of the highest standing and reputation, who have provided a guarantee fund of more than $50,000 to finance the exposition. It is hoped that the admission fee, which the visitor will be asked to pay, will enable all expenses to be met, and any money advanced by the guarantors to be repaid. Should a profit remain after this has been done, it will be turned over to the Missionary Education Movement for the extension of missionary education. The great missionary boards and societies are supporting the exposition through the Missionary Education Movement.

SPECIAL BUILDING ERECTED

No public hall in Baltimore was large enough for the Exposition, "The World in Baltimore," to be held there October 25-November 30, so a special hall was built for the purpose. This hall will be the Hall of Nations; the Lyric theatre will be used for the permanent plays, etc.

A RESTAURANT FOR USE OF THE VISITORS.

A well equipped restaurant under the management of one of the best caterers in Baltimore, where meals and refreshments may be obtained by visitors at fair prices, will be maintained at "The World in Baltimore" Exposition, October 25 to November 30, and it is expected that this feature will add a little to the pleasure of those who attend.

Saves Leg Of Boy.

"It seemed that my 14-years old boy would have to lose his leg, on account of an ugly ulcer, caused by a bad bruise," wrote D. F. Howard, Aquone, N. C.

"All remedies and doctors treatment failed till we tried Bucklen's Arnica Balm, and cured him with one box." Cures burns, boils, skin eruptions, piles. 25c at all druggists.

Women as Well as Men are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers who found Swamp-Root to be just the remedy needed. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

By order of the Board of Supervisors of Elections:

SAMUEL S. SMYTH,
GEORGE A. BOUNDS,
WILLIAM T. PHOEBUS,

Supervisors.

House Plans Important.

The care of food in the home and all other forms of household work are greatly facilitated by right planning and then the use of suitable materials for the construction and furnishing of the home. An adequate and convenient water supply and other conveniences are essential, not only for comfort and for saving labor, but also from the standpoint of home hygiene.

Fishing, Their Occupation.

Over 1,200 small boats are used along the north coast of New Brunswick in fishing. Nearly every resident is a fisherman during portions of the year, while a majority follow fishing as an occupation. The greater number of small fishermen are farmers who find small fishing a profitable side line during the winter months.

Share Your Good Times.

Share your good times if you can. It takes only a little while to read a story to a child, it takes only a little effort to draw the less popular girl into your own gay circle. You will be surprised to see what good fun even quite elderly people can be under the stimulation of "being wanted by the crowd."

Record of Longevity.

A remarkable record of longevity is to be found in some of the rural parishes of France. In the village of St. Thomas de la Fliche there have been only 14 parish priests in 800 years, the fourteenth being still in possession. The parish of St. Germain du Val, in Paris, has had only three pastors in 100 years, while that of Olivry in Argonne has had but five in 180 years.

Preserving Wood.

Instead of treating wood to preserve it from rot, an inventor of Budapest arrives at the same result by a reversal of the operation, for he treats the earth to surround the posts in such a manner as to destroy all germ and insect life. This process serves as a substitute where it is difficult to secure the treated lumber. It is called "peristerisation."

Clothes.

He—"Did you ever observe what a difference clothes make on one's mind? Now, when I am in my riding togs, I'm all horse; when I have on my business suit, my mind's full of business; when I get into my evening dress my mind takes a purely social turn." She—"And I suppose that when you take a bath your mind's an utter blank?"—Stray Stories.

"As the speakers finished the train started, but they still remained outside, bowing and waving to the assembled citizens, so that it was under good headway before they came in. Sherman came up to Clemens, who sat smoking unconcernedly.

"Well," he said, "who told you you could go in this car?"

"Nobody," said Clemens.

"Do you expect to pay extra fare?" asked Sherman.

"No," said Clemens; "I don't expect to pay any fare."

"Oh, you don't! Then you'll work your way."

"Sherman took off his coat and military hat and made Clemens put them on."

"Now," said he, "whenever the train stops you get out on the platform and represent me and make a speech."

"It was not long before the train stopped, and Clemens, according to order, stepped out on the rear platform and bowed to the crowd. There was a cheer at the sight of his military uniform. Then the cheer wanted, became a murmur of uncertainty, followed by an undertone of discussion. Presently somebody said:

"Say, that ain't Sherman; that's Mark Twain," which brought another cheer.

"Then Sherman had to come out, too, and the result was that both spoke. They kept this up at the different stations, and sometimes Robert Lincoln came out with them, and when there was time all three spoke, much to the satisfaction of their audiences."

MARIE ANTOINETTE.

Two Dramatic and Contrasting Episodes in Her Life.

Thistleton-Dyer, in his "Royalty in All Ages," describes two dramatic and tragically contrasted episodes in the life of Marie Antoinette, the lovely and ill-fated queen of France. Once, in the days of her greatest popularity, when she went to the opera of "Iphigenia," when Achilles came to the line "Let us sing and celebrate the queen," he turned toward the radiant young sovereign and sang two additional impromptu lines of charming compliment. This graceful and unexpected homage so delighted the audience that "all was shouting and clapping of hands, and what never happened at the opera before—the chorus was encircled, and there were cries of 'Long live the queen!' at which expression of feeling her majesty was so affected that she shed tears."

On the next occasion, when Marie Antoinette's son of popular favor had set and she was bearing the tragic close of her life, one of the actresses in "Unforeseen Events" bowed to her as she sang the words, "Ah, how I love my mistress!" In a moment all was in uproar, and the theater was full of hoarse, angry cries of "No mistress! No master! Liberty!" and "No queen!" and it was some minutes before the tumult quieted down and it was possible to proceed with the play.

Keeping Peace at Home.

How do they do it—the couples who win the Dunmow ditches by going a whole year without a quarrel? That undoubtedly plays a part. One recalls the simple system of a Sussex couple to keep peace at home. When the wife came in a little ruffled she flung her shawl over her left shoulder, and the husband knew that silence was golden. If he came home with hat cocked for ward the wife knew that something was wrong, and she likewise lay low. It's the simplest fact that keeps the peace at home, where you may never be at a loss for the quarrel you look for.—London Chronicle.

"It Suits a T."

The clause "it suits a T," meaning it fits exactly, is as old as the familiar instrument, the T square or T rule (so called from its resemblance to the letter T), used by mechanics and draftsmen for making angles true and for obtaining perpendiculars. The expression was in common use in the time of Dr. Johnson, who is quoted by Boswell as saying of Wharburton: "You see they'd have fitted him to a T."

Why She Couldn't.

"No, I didn't have a very good time," she said. "I wanted to talk, and there wasn't a man there."

"But there were plenty of other girls."

"Oh, of course, but that was no satisfaction, for they all wanted to talk too."

Rightly Named.

Hewitt—Why do you call this your grill room? Jewitt—This is where my wife corners me when I get in late at night.—New York Globe.

Beauty of Woodwork.

There is a friendly atmosphere in the presence of much woodwork—not painted wood, but wood finished to show the beauty of its natural growth—that is entirely lost in an expanse of smooth, hard paint. Its mellow lights and soft shades form a far more restful background than any papered surface, and its strength and durability make a wood finish ideal for a home that is to suggest the feeling of permanence and stability that belongs to the true home.—Suburban Life.

HIS WAYS AND MEANS

Chauffeur Is Caught by an Heir.

By CATHERINE COOPE.

When the smash came, Jimmy Constable was totally unprepared for it. There had been no warning that his stock would crash down and leave him with less than he had begun to speculate. But the certain knowledge that stocks would as readily, kept Jimmy from mental worry.

"In the meantime I must live," Jimmy cast a rueful glance at his big, healthy frame and sighed. After that he doctored his slightly worn thinking cap and sat down to ponder ways and means. In the end, he decided to maintain his right to a pleasurable existence as well as a money-making one.

Jimmy Constable had but one hobby, and that was a big one. He loved his great, speedy touring car almost as well as most men love their wives. Jimmy had not, fortunately for the moment, acquired one of the latter. It would have worried him to know that a girl would have to share with him his present more or less precarious fortune.

He sold every prized bit of costly antique furniture with which his bachelor home was filled to overflowing, but retained his touring car. Jimmy gazed with a lover's eyes at the polished brasses, the olive green coat and the great cozy cushions.

"You will be my home—till—," Jimmy paused with speculative eyes, "well, until stocks take a boost." He cast a last look at the home in which the auction cards were still hanging in the windows, cranked his engine and throbbed off toward the green fields of the country.

On the wide veranda of a spacious mountain hotel, Madge Lambert raised a dainty hand to her mouth to stifle a yawn.

"I am unutterably bored," she told herself by way of excuse. She gazed out over the magnificent perspective of mountains and lakes, then heaved a sigh of discontent. "If I had only brought my runabout I could have gloried in those distant roads. It positively maddens me to see them trailing off like golden ribbons through hills and dales and I can't so much as walk on them." Madge petulantly bemoaned the lack of her motor.

"Then Consider Yourself Engaged."

While she gazed at the golden band that was the motor road over the mountains a speck appeared, moving steadily nearer. Out of sight, then in sight, Madge watched it suddenly spring into the very near perspective. It stopped then and the girl on the veranda lost all sense of annual.

An exceptionally good-looking chauffeur had stepped from the car and was preparing a camp-fire. Madge Lambert shivered in the cool mountain air and realized that the fire looked cozy. She watched the man heat something in a swinging pan, then stretch himself out to enjoy his lunch.

Madge envied the man his complete happiness, contentment, and, more than all, she longed for the joy which the possession of that motor gave him.

"He can see every inch of this glorious country," she lamented. When he had finished his meal the chauffeur got up, opened the door of the car and there amidst the great soft cushions proceeded to find infinite comfort for a nap.

Madge breathed a sigh of exhaustion. She had concentrated with so much interest on the man that she felt a relief when he succumbed to the arms of Morpheus. Stiffing a second yawn she arose and decided upon a stroll. Her willing feet led her in the direction of the sleeping chauffeur. She would inspect that beautiful car at closer range and, most probably, without being seen.

When she drew near the spot where he had elected to camp Madge felt strangely excited. The little hair-toppers of an adventure were singing in her ears.

"I do not see how he has escaped being caught by an heiress like myself," exclaimed Madge mentally upon seeing the handsome head of the sleeping man. "He is far too good-looking to be roaming about near susceptible girls."

Nothing Good Ever in Vain. Dreams pass; work remains. They tell us that not a sound has ever ceased to vibrate through space; that not a ripple has ever been lost upon the ocean. Much more it is true that not a true thought nor a pure resolve nor a loving act has ever gone forth in vain.—W. W. Robertson.

Fine Sport for Girls. The most exciting thing to a girl about a flirtation is she might get in earnest any minute.

She became bolder at sight of those steadily closed eyes and the steady rise and fall of the big chest, and drew near enough to the great car to read the notice that was tacked on the back of the car.

Madge caught her breath in a little gasp of delight. "He is a chauffeur for people to drive about the country," she exclaimed aloud. "I shall engage him for my very own self." She decided, while a smile lit up her eyes and curled her lips into adorable lines.

Then Jimmy Constable opened his eyes. He jumped to his feet. "Oh!" gasped Madge, and much to her annoyance she felt the color sweep into her cheeks. Then recovering slightly from her surprise, "I want to know if I can engage you for the summer?" She spoke breathlessly as if fearful that this prize would be snatched from her grasp.

Jimmy Constable smiled. His first patron was indeed anxious to hire him. He looked for a moment into the eyes so eagerly awaiting his answer and his own face took on a dull red. Would it be safe, under his present financial difficulties, to be long in the presence of this magnetic, bewitching girl?

"You are not engaged, are you?" demanded Madge.

"No, no," he answered quickly, "no, I am not engaged." He smiled again and Madge hit her lip to keep from making a retort to his answer. Instead she said with what she considered great dignity:

"Then consider yourself engaged to me—for the summer."

It was at that moment that Jimmy Constable let his teeth come together with a determination to recoup every dollar of his lost fortune and to supplement two more words to Madge Lambert's last sentence.

There was no more annual for the two that summer. Madge did not raise a hand to her yawning lips and Jimmy Constable was kept alive by the electric presence of his first and last patron.

He tried very hard to conceal all trace of Jimmy Constable and remain only the hired chauffeur of Madge Lambert. It was not an easy task when the roads trailed behind them through arches of trees and the lake lay peacefully beside them; or when the sun moonbeams stole out and shone on the girl in the seat beside him. For Madge had insisted upon sharing the driver's seat and learning all there was to be learned about motoring and country roads. Also she insisted upon her chauffeur sharing the picnic lunches that she prepared.

"How foolish it would be," she reasoned with herself, "for me to sit on one fallen tree and my chauffeur on another and each eat a lonesome meal, especially when—" But Madge had finished her sentence only in her inner dreamings. "I will never love any one else," she frankly admitted in the silence of her room, and if her eyes were wistful they were not unhappy.

It was when the harvest moon was shining over a bronze-red landscape that they took the momentous drive. Jimmy had been silent with a sense of inner radiance shining in his eyes ever since he had stopped for his mail, and Madge had felt his joy and sorrow at it. In some subtle way, the chauffeur had vanished and Jimmy Constable had taken his place.

At the brow of a big hill and for no other apparent reason than that of giving his faithful engine a breathing space after the ascent, Jimmy stopped the car.

Madge looked at him as if in wonderment at his action. Her eyes, there in the moonlight, were unguarded, and Jimmy leaned nearer and with a swift, unexpected movement swept her into his arms.

"Madge, dear," he cried, unsteadily, "I am Jimmy Constable, millionaire again, and I love you." He drew a sharp breath and tightened his arms about the girl who had smiled up at him. (Copyright, 1912, by Associated Literary Press.)

SOME BIRDS ARE FASTIDIOUS

Bathing in Clean, Cold Water Keeps Them in Health and is One of Their Summer Joys.

"Polly have bath! Polly have bath!" The reiterated cry from a large green parrot, who stood in a tin basin full of water contentedly snapping his scarlet wings.

Few persons who keep bird pets know how to prevent them from languishing in the summer heat. Little do they imagine that big and small birds alike are simply longing with all their tiny hearts for a cold bath. Their owners, it is true, supply their small pets with water in a little glass vase; but these are for drinking purposes—not for the luxury of a refreshing and indiscriminate splash.

No; let those who really love their feathered friends provide little swimming baths for the birds. They must, of course, vary according to the bird's size. Whereas a padding bantam would accommodate a canary, a parrot would require something more commodious.

Then place the bird in his cage where he can gambol unmolested. In the back yard, on the lawn, or on the southerly floor are equally good positions. Anyone who knows anything of birds knows that, although inarticulate, they appreciate comfort.

Many a man resembles a dog in the manner because he wants to have a finger in the pie simply to prevent others from eating it.

Hereditarily and School Marks. A German educator has been making a statistical study of the relation between hereditary and school marks, and from 354 cases in which he was able to get full school records, through three generations, he concludes that the connection is very close.

SHAVED BY FORCE

Peter the Great's Merry War on Beards in Russia.

RAZORS FOLLOWED THE TAX.

When Heavy Fines Failed to Produce the Desired Result the Czar Had Barbers Seize His Subjects in the Streets and Mow Their Whiskers.

Peter the Great on his return to Moscow in 1690, after traveling through Germany, Holland and England, determined to make his Russian subjects look like Europeans, for at that time, in both appearance and manners, they resembled the Asiatics. They were dressed in long robes reaching down to their ankles, gathered in folds at the waist and girded by a belt or sash, the wealthier classes wearing garments of rich materials, lined with costly furs, and on their heads they wore a high cap with a fur border.

They took a great pride in their long beards, which were combed out over their breasts, and they reckoned them not only an ornament to the face, but a distinction from the surrounding nations, who were all clean shaved.

Peter began his reforms by ordering all the boyars, or nobles, to appear at court in English dresses on pain of his displeasure, and patterns of English coats were hung up at the gates of the city, and all persons passing through the gates in their long habits had to pay a tax or else have their skirts cut round by the knees.

The poor peasants alone were exempted from this rule. On the wearing of long beards a tax was imposed, but this measure only increased the czar's revenue, for the people willingly paid the money that they might retain their cherished beards.

Even those who adopted the English dress refused to submit to an act that they thought not only irreligious, but foolish. "For why," said they, "deprive the chin of its natural covering in a climate where the protection of fur collars was necessary during six months in the year?"

So, finding taxes and fines useless, the czar resolved to direct his subjects to the new fashions by force. At the gates of the city barbers were stationed, and all, except the peasants, who were allowed to retain their beards, were obliged to submit to a rapid shaving, in spite of entreaties and the offer of large bribes.

And venerable gray beards might be seen sweeping through the streets, pursued by the barbers, whom they fled from as they would from hounds, and when caught the poor runaways frequently lost skin as well as hair in this rough way of shaving. The barbers were most likely Germans or English and probably enjoyed the panic they caused among the Russians.

Shaving had at one time been denounced by the clergy, and a beard at that time was looked upon as a sign of orthodoxy, so that native barbers would have got but little custom. Those Russians who persisted in wearing their long coffins were obliged to kneel down, and their garments were cut off at the knees. Peter sometimes invited the nobles to his table and had them shaved in his presence, a process that some of them related, their faces suffering in consequence.

One day when the czar was out walking he met an old man coming from the barber's. Peter spoke kindly to him, telling him that now he had lost his beard he looked like a young man. Upon this the old man put his hand into his bosom and drew forth the beard that had been cut off and showing it to the czar, told him that he should preserve it and have it placed in his coffin, that in the next world he might show it to St. Nicholas to prove that he was a true Russian.

Peter did not confine his reforms to the men's habits. He also changed the dress of the Russian ladies; but, though the new costume may have been more convenient, it was certainly not so quaint or picturesque as the old one. The ladies of Russia lived in oriental seclusion, seldom appearing in public and having a separate part of the house appropriated to them, but the czar ordered that at all festivities or public entertainments women should be invited as well as men, but that they must all appear in English dresses.

Whether all of Peter's changes in costume were for the better may be doubted, for before his time stays were unknown in Russia, and when he first visited the German court and was dancing with the ladies he mistook their waists for corsets, and for their bodies and complained that the German ladies had such hard bones!—M. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Cole's Hot Blast Draft on top of the fire burns the coal from the top—burns the gas, which is wasted with all other stoves.

The force of this down draft forces the heat to the base which is made of steel—cannot burn out—and heats the floor.

Thousands of testimonials have been written regarding the best heating qualities of

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

The ideal heating stove is one which radiates all the heat thrown off from the fuel—into the rooms—instead of letting it go up the chimney.

The durable heater is the one which will withstand the severe use, year after year, which a heating stove is necessarily subjected to. Sheet steel is the quickest radiator of heat and is used as radiating surface only in Cole's Hot Blast heater. Wherever the fuel comes in contact with the linings—only first quality gray cast iron is used.

Cast iron withstands the wear of the heat from active combustion better than any other material, and the large, sensitive, sheet metal body and base radiate all the heat into the rooms.

REPUBLICAN HOPE RESTS IN WILSON.

Gov. Burke Declares For Democrat and Gives His Reasons.

By JOHN BURKE.
Governor of North Dakota.
The election of Governor Wilson is the only thing that can save the Republican party. Four years of President Taft has split it in two. We have no reason to believe that he will be any different or that his second administration, if he is re-elected, will be any more satisfactory to the people than his first. His re-election will mean the division of the Republican party into many warring factions, which can only result in final dissolution of all.

The end will come quicker and just as certain if Roosevelt is elected. He is no longer a Republican, but is the leader of a new party, at war with the Republican party, as it is with the Democratic party. On the other hand, if Wilson is elected the Roosevelt party will perish; the Republicans will reorganize their party, purge it of the baneful influence of corporate power and greed and make it again the grand old party it was in the days of Lincoln.

Louis D. Brandeis performed a real public service when he quoted the records to show that George W. Perkins is and always has been an enemy of union labor.

Wonder if Emerson was gazing upon a moose calf when several decades ago he wrote:
I am the owner of the sphere.
Of the seven stars and the solar year.

A Colossal Scheme.

The great highway of the commerce of the future will be the Pacific ocean. Mighty capitalists throughout the world are putting their heads together to erect the most colossal system for wireless telegraphy in the world. The system contemplates the linking together of all points along the western coast of America from Bering sea to the Straits of Magellan, and spanning the miles of the ocean, to link with this chain the whole easterly shore of Asia, running on down to the Straits Settlements. The contemplated system will cost in the aggregate many millions of dollars.

THE PLAIN TRUTH.

What More Can Salisbury People Ask?

When well-known residents and highly respected people of Salisbury make such statements as the following, it must carry conviction to every reader:

Mrs. Jennie A. Collins, 312 Williams St., Salisbury, Md., says: "My former words of praise for Doan's kidney pills still hold good. Since I gave my statement in 1909 I have personally taken Doan's Kidney Pills and I cannot say enough in their praise. I know so much of the merits of this remedy that I willingly confirm my former endorsement." The above was the substance of Mrs. Collins' conversation when she was interviewed on February 23, 1919. Her former endorsement of Doan's Kidney Pills was as follows:

"Doan's kidney pills have done good work in my home in relieving kidney trouble and I do not think anyone would make a mistake in giving them a trial." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Great Missionary Exposition Is Soon to Open in Baltimore—Native Life of Distant Places To Be Pictured.

"The World in Baltimore" will be the third Missionary exposition on a world-wide scale to be held in the United States. From October 25 to November 30, 1919, it will occupy the Lyric Theatre and a specially constructed hall in Baltimore.

Education and inspiration are the objects of the exposition. It has been organized and is under the management of committees of Baltimore men of the highest standing and reputation, who have provided a guarantee fund of more than $50,000 to finance the exposition.

be little shops and rooms from Japanese houses.

The China scene will have its tall central Pagoda, its temple shrines and its native homes. In Korea there will be a farmhouse and other buildings, with a peculiar wayide shrine and a devil post. There will be an India village, made up of a Kali Temple and a Bengali Zenana, a bazaar of shops, the Towers of Silence and a Monkey Shrine. An African village will have its huts, native blacksmith shop, schoolhouse and granary. In the section devoted to Mohammedan lands, which visitors may enter through the Damascus gate, there will be a rich man's house, a Bethany home, a Turkish Khan and a Bedouin tent. Houses which you would see if you visited Arabia and nance the exposition. It is hoped that the admission fee, which the visitor will be asked to pay, will enable the expenses to be met, and any money advanced by the guarantors to be repaid. Should a profit remain after this has been done, it will be turned over to the Missionary Education Movement for the extension of missionary education. The great missionary boards and societies are supporting the exposition through the Missionary Education Movement.

The exposition will demonstrate to the eye, by providing beautiful, artistic things to see, the scenery of all lands where the work of Christian missions is being carried on, the life of the people of these lands, their native religions and their needs from both a humanitarian and religious point of view.

Life-like scenery will surround each scene and section, enclosing groups of buildings copied from the characteristic town or village structure of each land. The first sensation of visitors will be the recognition that before their eyes is a feast of color and a spectacle such as rarely meets the gaze of the untraveled American. In one part of the hall, to be called the "Hall of Nations," will be located the sections devoted to foreign nations. As the visitor enters, before him will be a Japanese scene of peculiar beauty. From the beautiful temple garden of Japan you can step into a walled Chinese city and then walk through a Korean village street. Only a little imagination is needed to make you feel you are traveling in the Orient. The Japanese scene will be dominated by a Buddhist temple with the Torii arch before it. There will Persia, with the kind of shops you would find in a Turkish city, will also be a part of this section of the exposition.

One part of the Exposition will be filled with sections and scenes representing Christian Missions in all parts of the United States. The visitors will first enter a large space where there will be represented the life of the American Indian and the Eskimo of Alaska and the results of Christian work among them. The scene will have all of the characteristics of a large encampment of Indians in the northwest. Another important department of Home Missions will be illustrated in the Frontier scene. Visitors will be surrounded by views of prairies and mountains.

One of the most interesting sections will be that devoted to work among immigrants at the Ellis Island Immigration Station, New York Harbor. Splendid results in the Philippines, and in Hawaii, Porto Rico and Cuba, of developing the religious life of the people, will also be illustrated in a most interesting way.

Populating all the scenes, both of the foreign lands and the home land, impersonating the natives of every country, interpreting to visitors the meaning of everything they may see, will be an army of 5,000 stewards from churches of Baltimore. These will be prepared to answer the questions of visitors by weeks of study from appropriate textbooks. Nearly all will wear the costume of the scene to which they are assigned, and they will serve in relays, so that at all times there will be a sufficient number on duty to give life, character and color to the exposition.

SIXTY MISSIONARIES WILL PARTICIPATE

A large number of leading missionaries from all parts of the world are to be in Baltimore during "The World in Baltimore" Exposition, which will be held October 25 to November 30. They will take a prominent part in and manners. Some have done valuable work in the exploration of countries where they have been stationed, while others, fulfilling ex-officio the duties of ambassadors, have given valuable assistance to the United States government and also to our citizens traveling abroad.

While in Baltimore they will be on duty at Exposition Hall, in the departments which are representative of the countries from which they come. Their duties will consist of giving information to visitors and instructing the stewards of the exposition in their work. Short addresses by the missionaries will be given daily upon interesting subjects bearing upon foreign life and conditions of which they are recognized as authority.

India is filled with wayide shrines, and one of them will be shown at "The World in Baltimore."
