THE AUTOGRAPH BUSINESS. The autograph business used to be very profitable. Every morning the pages would go around from member to member as they reached the hall and solicit their signatures in big autograph books. A book containing all the names was worth from $5 to $10 to the page who had it. They found a ready sale for these books as fast as they could fill the signatures. A Worm of Australia The Megascolides Australis, an earth-worm of Australia, is the size of an ordinary adder and at least six feet long. It is usually to be found on the banks bor dering small rivers, though it occasion ally seeks the open country, where one may come upon it by pulling up a stump or upturning the earth. It is not an easy matter to drag this gigantic worm from the winding galleries which form its re-treat. It lives a comparatively peaceful life, since its physical features furnish admirable defense against such enemies as it might naturally have. Its body exhales a strong odor similar to that of the steps by the vice president's desk to to a distance of several inches, jets of a milky fluid. Moreover, its life is entirely a subterranean one, and thus it is secure from the attacks of carnivorous animals. Naturalists, of course, have an interest the creature resolves itself as a remedy for rheumatism, but it is not very actively sought. When such worms are once dragged from beneath the surface, however, they lose the agility which, Autœus like, they seek to gain from contact with the earth, and lie absolutely passive, making no attempt to move.-

The Baby Was Dead. "I had a strange experience the other day," said Mr. Friend, the Woodward avenue photographer. "A woman came in here carrying a baby in her arms and said she had an engagement for a picture of the child. I said all right and told her to get it ready. Then she went to the dressing room and I asked my perator if he had made an engagem for that hour. He said he had, and I told him it was all right, to go ahead. I let him attend to it and sat down to read my morning paper. I could see the wonan from where I sat in a mirror that ung opposite, and as she placed the baby in the chair and attempted to pose neither she nor the operator could handle the child. In order to allow this the nerchant must raise the price of all his goods as much beyond the regular retail price as is the amount of her percentage. She frequently buys goods for her customers, and on these she clears her per-centage. But the merchant's trouble does not end here.

Every excuse for changing goods pur chased by customers will be resorted to. and as soon as a change is made an allowance of percentage is demanded. Some old merchants descended from the Scotch, who are famous as a nation for asking and giving the full worth of money paid, have steadily resisted the demand of dressmakers to tax customers for their benefit, and have been boycotted in effect in consequence. The merchant, in this case, is a money loser, as thousands of dollars of custom is thus girls. They serve all the desserts. The Old Age at Last. Well known phrases are sometimes sad, so mysterious in the minds of little people who are making their first acquaintance with grief. A child whose dear grandpa had been taken suddenly ill was one morning asked by a neighbor

"He isn't that," said the little thing, her lips quivering. "He's dead."
"Dear, dear me!" cried the neighbor. 'I didn't know he was so sick." "Mamma said he had a cold last night." explained the little mourner, "and the loctor said-oh, I don't know just what,

The cooks and assistants are always attired in clean, white jackets and caps; the ranges, pots, pans and kettles are always shining, and the floors look as if they had been freshly polished each morning. It is a good cook's pride to have his kitchen as neat as a pin and as bright as a dollar.

The entire cooking apparatus is heated by steam, which can be regulated as the occasion demands, thus insuring the roper cooking of the food. KITCHEN WONDERS.

One of the wonders of a hotel kitchen is the potato masher. The potatoes are placed in the boiler with the jackets on. When they have become sufficiently cooked they are put in a machine called "peeler;" a few turns of the handle rolls them out as cleverly pared as an expert could do if the potato was hard and raw. From the "peeler" they are put in the "masher," and here, after a few revolutions, they are found on a plate beneath, neatly mashed and steaming hot. The egg boiler is a clever invention When an order comes from the dining room for this product, the egg is placed it I noticed something was wrong, as in a wire basket and set in what seems to be a pan of water. In a second the cook has turned on the steam from somewhere and the water is soon bubbling all around "Was it dead when she brought it the basket. Toast is perhaps the only article of food not prepared by steam, save the bread, pastry and creams. The carving stand is one of the most interesting sights in a hotel kitchen. When the meats are cooked the kettles are lifted from the large pot in which they were prepared and are set in large noles in the carving stand. Steam circulates all around underneath and keeps the meat warm. In front of each kettle is a small pan in which is kept the sauces which go with the different meats. The carving stand is presided over by two expert carvers in white jackets and caps, whose knives are as sharp as a razor. All

The third cook sees to the roasts and the boiled pieces. The fourth cook is known as the "fry" cook, and everything that needs to be fried is given to him. He has but little to do at dinner time, but has his hands full at breakfast and supper. The fifth cook acts as butcher, and sees that all fowls and game are properly dressed and pre-pared for the pots. One assistant gives his entire services to the preparation of the salads. Two cooks preside over the vegetable department, and everything on the vegetable list is from their hands. One woman presides at a big range and cooks waffles and cakes at a rate so rapid

From every window in the giant tenements human heads are thrust, in every doorway is a group of women, and clus-tered on every hand are little knots of children, on whose peaked faces is stamped the desire to lose no portion of what is going on. Stretched along the curb is a long string of coaches, headed to suit whatever purpose intended.—New by a hearse decked out in all the trappings of woe. She sways her body to and fro, and rubs her eyes viciously with her handkerchief. A crowd gathers around her, and she is bustled out of sight into the coach with three other women in rusty black clothes. A little boy in well worn knickerbockers climbs up in the driver's seat and there graciously recog-nizes a crowd of little chaps on the sidewalk, who gaze at him with envious

It was when the consumption increased enormously, while the business of supplying the demand was not too much subdivided that it became and continued so remarkably lucrative. The prices were not high enough to be prohibitory, and yet were sufficiently good to permit of a handsome profit to growers, buyers, brokers and sellers. This is no longer the case. The people who expect to live by the traffic have multiplied out of all proportions to their customers, with the inevitable result that prices have been whittled down to a figure which admits of little margin. In China-so it is affirmed by those in a position to know-a suicidal attempt has been made by the native growers to recoup themselves for falling prices by more slovenly manufacture and even by flagrant adulteration. A fact even more conclusive is that while the exports of China tea have fallen off enormously, those of the newer tea producing districts have increased in an inverse ratio. It is known that between 1861 and 1886 the export decreased dian and Cevlon teas increased by nearly 35,000,000, and since then the disparity to be Dr. J. Mortimer Granville. green tea, and seems determined to grow great deal more, now that the western narkets are open to her traders. CHEAP LABOR AND CHEAP TEA. Tonquin and Cochin-China are never ikely to prove serious competitors for our custom, their tea being of an inferior brand. But Java is not falling behind in the race, and all the hill countries of India - Assam, Duhra-Dun, Kumaun, Darjiling, Cachar, Kangra, Hazaribagh, Chittagong, the Tarai and the Nilghiris -are extending their operations in black tea. Natal has been demonstrated to be a tea growing region, and there are grounds for believing that the West In-dies, the southern United States, Brazil, Fiji, Australia, and even the south of rope can produce fair marketable leaf. ut there are other elements besides mality which enter into the tea growing lustry, and the first of them is cheap abor. We must remember that in India and China a laborer capable of picking and firing leaf may be had for from twopence to sixpence per day, and that it is ifficult for any other countries to enter into competition with regions where a primary margin of profit is so fully insured as in those portions of the east. It would be idle to attempt the appraisement of the different qualities of these teas. Apart from the fact that those best qualified to form an opinion rarely come to the task with a judicial mind, a great deal must be allowed for individual tastes. But most tea drinkers prefer the cheaper Indian and Cingalese teas to the ordinary "chops" from China, while it nicety of preparation the latter are com-

Cured by Cuticura.

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICURA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age was so bad with eczema that he lost all his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scald-head, and that his hair would never grow again.
Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began the use of CUTICURA REMEDIES, and, am happy to say, with the most perfect success.
His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTICURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy,
economical, and sure cure for all skin disease
of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has and afflicted child will thank
me for so doing.

Science gives us interesting details about what the human eye has been and what it may become. The Vendas of India, which are the most ancient written documents, attest that at times most remote, but still recorded in history, only two colors were known-black and red. A very long time elapsed before the eye could perceive the color yellow, and a still longer time before green could be distinguished; and it is remarkable that in the most ancient language the term which designated yellow insensibly passed to the signification of green. The Greeks had, according to the generally received opinion, the perception of colors very highly developed, and yet authors the time of Alexander the Great the Greek painters knew but four colors, viz.: white, black, red and yellow. The words to designate blue and violet were wanting to the Greeks in the most ancient times of their history, they calling these colors gray and black. It is thus the colors in the rainbow were only distinguished gradually, and the great Aristotle only knew four of them. It is a well known fact that when the colors of the prism are photographed there reviolet in the spectrum a distinct impression which our eyes do not recognize as a color. Physiologists tell us that it is reasonable to suppose that as the color organ becomes more highly developed, and even before the human eye becomes perfect, this outside band will evolve into a color perfectly discernible.—Phila-

The driver returned from the outside two change packages, a blue and a white one, simultaneously. With true gallantry Mr. Kavanagh waited for the young lady to help herself, which she did, inadvertantly taking out the blue one, and, by mistake, dropping two dimes into the "Pay Here" lock box. Kavanagh demanded his change, but the driver obdurately refused to give any more. Hard words ensued, to the great embarrassment of dawn of history. For a number of years it was known to the Indians and early settlers as Seneca oil, and used as a medicine, chiafty as a liminant. take the ten cent package, which re-

WHAT THEY HAVE TO DO. The Megascolides Australis, an earth-worm of Australia, is the size of an ordinary adder and at least six feet long. It is usually to be found on the banks bordering small rivers, though it occasion ally seeks the open country, where one may come upon it by pulling up a stump or upturning the earth. It is not an easy matter to drag this gigantic worm from the winding galleries which form its retreat. It lives a comparatively peaceful life, since its physical features furnish admirable defense against such enemies as it might naturally have. Its body exhales a strong odor similar to that of creosote, and has the power of ejecting, to a distance of several inches, jets of a milky fluid. Moreover, its life is entirely a subteranean one, and thus it is secure from the attacks of carnivorous animals. The Baby Was Dead. "I had a strange experience the other day," said Mr. Friend, the Woodward avenue photographer. "A woman came in here carrying a baby in her arms and said she had an engagement for a pic-ture of the child. I said all right and told her to get it ready. Then she went to the dressing room and I asked my perator if he had made an engagen for that hour. He said he had, and I told him it was all right, to go ahead. I let him attend to it and sat down to read my morning paper. I could see the wo-man from where I sat in a mirror that hung opposite, and as she placed the baby in the chair and attempted to pose it I noticed something was wrong, as neither she nor the operator could handle the child. I went to their assistance and then I saw that the baby was dead."

"Yes, and she carried it in her arms, taking the street car to our door. She had no one with her and did not seem to think it was anything out of the way. But excuse me. I don't want another such experience as that."-Exchange. The fashionable dressmaker, it is state ed, demands of the retail dry goods paratively few people, as they sit at their tables in the big hotels, have the least conception of how the food is prepared by the small army of cooks. To work, and a meal twenty-four hours shead is being cooked as another meal s being served.

In all the leading hotels throughout ne country the kitchen is a most interesting sight, and yet it is the most myserious, as it is only on rare occasions that a visitor is allowed in the sacred precincts in the rear of the dining room. The cooking department in all first class hotels is kept scrupuously clean, more so, in fact, than any other portion oily fluid into which the dead body of of the entire hostelry. The cooks and assistants are always attired in clean, white jackets and caps; the ranges, pots, pans and kettles are always shining, and the floors look as if they had been freshly polished each morning. It is a good cook's pride to have his kitchen as neat as a pin and as bright as a dollar.

The entire cooking apparatus is heated by steam, which can be regulated as the occasion demands, thus insuring the proper cooking of the food. KITCHEN WONDERS. One of the wonders of a hotel kitchen is the potato masher. The potatoes are placed in the boiler with the jackets on. When they have become sufficiently cooked they are put in a machine called a "peeler;" a few turns of the handle rolls them out as cleverly pared as an expert could do if the potato was hard and raw. From the "peeler" they are put in the "masher," and here, after a few revolutions, they are found on a plate neath, neatly mashed and steaming hot. The egg boiler is a clever invention. When an order comes from the dining room for this product, the egg is placed in a wire basket and set in what seems to be a pan of water. In a second the cook and the water is soon bubbling all around the basket. But a short space of time elapses until the egg is on its way into broiled in an instant. The carving stand is one of the most interesting sights in a hotel kitchen. When the meats are cooked the kettles are lifted from the large pot in which they were prepared and are set in large holes in the carving stand. Steam circulates all around underneath and keeps the meat warm. In front of each kettle is a small pan in which is kept the sauces which go with the different meats. The carving stand is presided over by twoexpert carvers in white jackets and caps, whose knives are as sharp as a razor. All the roasts and boiled food is served by head and the second cooks prepare the soups and entrees. The third cook sees to the roasts and the boiled pieces. The fourth cook is known as the "fry" cook, and everything that needs to be fried is given to him. He has but little to do at linner time, but has his hands full at breakfast and supper. The fifth cook acts as butcher, and sees that all fowls and game are properly dressed and prepared for the pots. One assistant gives his entire services to the preparation of the salads. Two cooks preside over the vegetable department, and everything on the vegetable list is from their hands. From every window in the giant tenements human heads are thrust, in every doorway is a group of women, and clus-tered on every hand are little knots of children, on whose peaked faces is stamped the desire to lose no portion of what is going on. Stretched along the curb is a long string of coaches, headed by a hearse decked out in all the trap-pings of woe. The drivers, a brawny set of men, used to such scenes, stand together idly talking. In the mouth of one of the tenements stand a dozen women. "She must be heart broken," said one. "Indeed she must," said another, "or she'd never have spent so much money. "It'll cost a heap to pay for such a eautiful funeral."

Contrary to the popular impression, we did not receive our first supplies of what was then known as "chaw," and drunk out of "silver porringers," from China, prepare a dinner requires many hours' but from Java, which, until the Dutch obtained possession of the island, was an English settlement. The commerce in the herb could not, however, have been great, for at first the price ranged from £6 to £10 per pound. Even during the reign of Charles II and his brother it was disposed of at from fifteen shillings to fifty shillings, according to quality, the duty payable on every gallon of the beverage sold in the coffee houses being eightpence. The tea trade was, however, in that era a comparatively small branch of commerce, being mainly a monopoly in the hands of the East India company, It was when the consumption increased enormously, while the business of supplying the demand was not too much subdivided that it became and continued so remarkably lucrative. The prices were not high enough to be prohibitory, and yet were sufficiently good to permit of a handsome profit to growers, buyers, brokers and sellers. This is no longer the case. The people who expect to live by the traffic have multiplied out of all proportions to their customers, with the inevitable result that prices have been whittled down to a figure which admits of little margin. A fact even more conclusive is that while the exports of China tea have fallen off enormously, those of the newer tea producing districts have increased in has turned on the steam from somewhere an inverse ratio. competitors who have disputed the China monopoly Ceylon is likely to prove the most formidable, though she entered the field so recently that tea was only regarded as a likely crop when the destruction of their coffee plantations compelled the owners of estates to try other products. Now, thanks to the experience of India with which the planters began, and to the advantages of climate and soil, the export of Ceylon tea is increasing year by year, while the quality, taking one son with another, is of a decidedly high standard. These countries are, however, only two, if the two most vigorous, of China's rivals. CHEAP LABOR AND CHEAP TEA. Tonquin and Cochin-China are never likely to prove serious competitors for our custom, their tea being of an inferior brand. But Java is not falling behind in the race, and all the hill countries of India - Assam, Duhra-Dun, Kumaun, Darjiling, Cachar, Kangra, Hazaribagh, Chittagong, the Tarai and the Nilghiris -are extending their operations in black tea. Natal has been demonstrated to be a tea growing region, and there are grounds for believing that the West Indies, the southern United States, Brazil, Fiji, Australia, and even the south of ope can produce fair marketable leaf. But there are other elements besides quality which enter into the tea growing industry, and the first of them is cheap We must remember that in India and China a laborer capable of picking and firing leaf may be had for from two-pence to sixpence per day, and that it is ifficult for any other countries to enter into competition with regions where a primary margin of profit is so fully insured as in those portions of the east. It would be idle to attempt the appraisement of the different qualities of these teas. Apart from the fact that those best qualified to form an opinion rarely come to the task with a judicial mind, a great deal must be allowed for individual astes. But most tea drinkers prefer the cheaper Indian and Cingalese teas to the ordinary "chops" from China, while it cannot be honestly contended that in nicety of preparation the latter are com-

I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTICUBA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age was so bad with eezema that he lost all his hair. His scalp was covered with eruptions, which the doctors said was scald-head, and that his hair would never grow again.
Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began
the use of CUTICURA REMEDIES, and, am happy to say, with the most perfect success.
His hair is now splendid, and there is not a

economical, and sure cure for all skin disease
of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has and afflicted child will thank
me for so doing.

The Vendas of India, which are the most ancient written documents, attest that at times most remote, but still recorded in history. only two colors were known-black and red. A very long time elapsed before the eye could perceive the color yellow. and a still longer time before green could be distinguished; and it is remarkable that in the most ancient language the term which designated yellow insensibly passed to the signification of green. The Greeks had, according to the generally received opinion, the perception of colors very highly developed, and yet authors of a more recent date assure us that in the time of Alexander the Great the Greek painters knew but four colors, viz.: white, black, red and yellow. The words to designate blue and violet were wanting to the Greeks in the most ancient times of their history, they calling these colors gray and black. It is thus the colors in the rainbow were only distinguished gradually, and the great Aristotle only knew four of them. It is a well known fact that when the colors of the prism are photographed there remains outside the limit of the blue and violet in the spectrum a distinct impression which our eyes do not recognize as a color. Physiologists tell us that it is reasonable to suppose that as the color organ becomes more highly developed, and even before the human eye becomes perfect, this outside band will evolve into a color perfectly discernible.—Phila-

A special dispatch to the Baltimore Sun last Monday from Washington, says: Although the Chilian minister here has disowned any responsibility for the utterances of Don Anseimo Morago as to the failure of practical results from the deliberations of the Pan-American Congress, it is generally conceded that the observations of Mr. Morago were eminently just and true. On the eve of the assembling of the congress it was distinctly foreshadowed in this correspondence that no results of consequence could possibly accrue from its meeting, and the prominent features would be simply those pertaining to social intercourse and enjoyment, This prediction has been literally verified, and not one cent's' worth of additional trade will be established between this country and South America by reason of the months spent in the sessions of the congress. All the delegates realized this, and so expressed themselves for weeks prior to the adjournment. Every intelligent man, of course, possessing the least knowledge of the laws of trade, could not help knowing the inability of the United States to present tariff and navigation laws, which the Republican party so much loves, continue in force. The South American delegates were generally disgusted, be-

The Secretary of State, it is asserted knew perfectly well before he dispatched the southern train from Washington that the delegates would not join it, and its stoppage at Richmond was prearranged: As has been intimated, Mr. Blaine a locomotive and combination car well would perhaps have reason to feel satisple of arbitration between the nations of North and South America, but if goesip in diplomatic circles here amounts to anything, even this poor satisfaction will be denied, and all the United States will get for its costly expenditure will be the resentment of the South Americans that they were cajoled into sending their delegates here under false pretence So far as the article on arbitration adopted by the Congress is concerned, it is now ard, the contractor; Mr. G. It required very little talking to convince Maryland capitalists of the advantages of the plan or Baltimore business men of the benefit capital took hold of it here and elsewhere. The only public aid is to the extent of $75,000, contingent now upon the vote of the people of the four Eastern Shore counties directly benefited locally. this amount is divided among the counties as follows : Talbot, $25,000; Caroline, ico, $20,000. The people will vote on these subscriptions next November, and the money will be needed to complete the work. To ines it is necessary to travel 161 miles-while by the new route the distance is reduced to 55 miles The Eastern Shore Road, it should be remembered, brings into further development and into closer relations with the business centre of Maryland four old settled counties, Talbot, Caroline, Dorchester and Wicomico. It is not like projecting a line of railway into new and undeveloped territory. Here all the business operations of life have been carried on for a century or two. There are many thriving towns, with banks and business houses and industries in full rogress, together with a thrifty and prosperous agricultural population and many business possibilities, needing only railway facilities to develop them fully. Starting on their tour of inspection our party of Baltimore business men. bankers and capitalists occupied the day in carefully examining the route to within twenty miles of Salisbury. This is as far as the track has been laid, though the road has been graded to Vienna, in Dorchester county. The excursionists ran down by the Annapolis Short Line from Camden Station to Bay Ridge, where Capt. T. B. C. Howard met them with the State steamer, Gov. Phillip F. Thomas, and took them across the bay twelve miles to Claiborne, Talbot county. At Bay Ridge a railroad pier is being built by which to run trains on a large transfer barge, similar to those in tions showered upon them, they did not use by the B. and O. to cross the harbor of Baltimore. preferred samples. We are always willing to exchange goods which do not please after being received, provided they are returned to us in perfect condition. In returning them by mail, they must be so wrapped that the contents of the package may be examined at the Post-Office, without having to cut the wrapper or the cord with which it may be tied. If tied with string, a slip-knot, and not a hard knot, should be made. The package must not be pasted or sealed. An envelope notched at the corners is not a proper wrapper. Writing of any kind must not be enclosed in the package, but the name and address of the sender may be written upon the outside. Wicomico Falls Mills.

When the scarcity of corn in this county is considered, the following statements are calculated to surprise the reader. Mr, Jas. K. Disharoon, Lessee and a mager of the Wicomico Falls Mills, frequently turns 150 bushels of corn into grist in one day. The leading feed merchants of Salisbury are among his customers. For Messrs B. L. Gillis & Sons Mr. Disharoon has ground and delivered as high as 120) bushels of corn-meal per month.

Messrs. F. C. & H. S. Todd recently handled in thirty days over 500 bushels of meal manufactured at the Wicomico Falis Mills. This trade is supplemented by orders from Messrs. L. B. Gillis, E. S. Adkins, William Gordy and J. C. Johnson, which give an aggregate total of about 2000 bushels, exclusive of the transient county custom, manufactured per month at these mills, also doing a large custom work grinding wheat. The above facts and figures are a sufficient recommendation to the dealer and consumer to go to the Wicomico Falls for good grist.

The young woman, it seems, had had some dealings with magazines herself, and not being troubled with conscientious scruples, she made two copies of the article, mailed one to a periodical to which she had before sold some matter, and under some pretext delayed delivering the other one to its author for some time. The article was promptly accepted and a check for it sent to the typewriter. Then the author of the article mailed it to the magazine for which she intended it, and a few days later there was an explosion. It seems that the typewriter, as such would have it, had mailed the stolen matter to the very same editor that its rightful owner had intended it for. The offer of a copy of manuscript which he had already accepted or paid for actually caused the editor to institute an inquiry, which in a very short had an awful row. But the latter couldn't very well lay the matter before the chief and ask for the girl's dismissal, for of course she had no right to have the matter copied in the office, and didn't care about having the fact that she had exposed. She will, however, have her manuscript copied elsewhere in future.-Washington Critic.

I imagine that when we look back from our home in the unseen universe ages hence we shall see, without much doubt, a race of men differing from those of today much as the man of today differs from his simious, perhaps simian, ancestors. The brain will be developed o meet the more complex and serious taxation of a more complex and trying civilization; the vital powers will be intensified; the man, reducing the powers of nature still more completely to his service, will depend less on the exertions of his muscles, and they will be correspondingly and comparatively less powerful, though they will probably, nevertheless, 1 imagine, continue to grow somewhat in size, as they unquestion ably have grown since the Middle Ages; the lungs must supply aeration to a larger and more rapidly circulated vol-ume of blood richer in the phosphatic elements especially needed for the build-ing up of brain and nerve; the digestion must supply its nutriment in similarly increased amount and altered character and composition; the whole system must e capable of more rapid, more thorough and more manageable conversion of the energies of the natural forces to the uses of the intellect and the soul which inhabits it.—Professor Thurston in North

It is quite a common thing for the white sailors of vessels from American and European ports to desert at Hong Kong, Shanghai or Yokohama, and to replace them skippers have been compelled to seek native help. This has given the almond-eyed individuals a hance to learn seafaring, and they have ceeded so well that a rough estimate y an authority on the subject places the umber of Chinese sailors on vessels in the Atlantic and Pacific trade at fully 20,000. SKIN AND ITS DISEASES. The DERMATOLOGICAL AND NEURO-TIC INSTITUTE was established here seven years ago for the special purpose of treating and curing Diseases of the Skin and Nervous Diseases by DR. C. W. BENSON, and his suc-cess is well known. Putients come from eve-ry county in the state, as well as city to be cured, and they are not disappointed. It makes no difference how bad, obstinate or long standing the case may be, if it is cura-ble, he will cure it, having devoted eighteen years to the treatment and cure of these dis-eases. Skin diseases and nervous diseases are years to the treatment and cure of these dis-eases. Skin diseases and nervous diseases are difficult and hard to diagnose and cure except by an experienced specialist, and people waste much money in advertised medicines and going to doctors who cannot, in the na-ture of things, know much about these spe-cial diseases, and who, as a rule, are not pre-pared nor have the remedies for their proper treatment. Dr. Benson at his insitute is treatment. Dr. Benson at his insitute is thoroughly prepared in every particular to diagnose and treat Skin Diseases and Nervous Diseases and Nervous Diseases successfully, and sufferers from any form of these troubles, whether in adults or children, will save time, money and suffering by placing themselves under the care and treatment of Dr. Benson, who is a graduate of medicine of the University of Maryland, and who practiced medicine in a general way for ten years; but eighteen years ago he gave it up, and became a specialist in these diseases. He has a laboratory in his building, and all medicines he prescribes are prepared under his own supervision. SKIN DISEASES

Includes the treatment of the Hair and Scalp Loss of Hair, etc., as well as the Eczemas, Tet-ters and Acne or Pimples. Blackheads and all kinds of Skin troubles, from a roughness of the skin to the worst forms of eruptions and Superfluous Hairs. Dr. Benson permanently removes them from ladies' faces, lips, etc., with the electric needle, and guarantees them never to return. Also, Warts, Moles and all blemishes are per-manently and perfectly removed by the Elec-trolysis without blood or leaving any mark

Who is it that does not at times wish they had no nerves? Nothing renders a person more wretched than to be nervous or to suffer from some form of nervous disease, and nothing leads to more trouble and disaster than neglected nervous diseases. They are the origin of insanity and suicide, of paralisis and despondency, loss of power, prostration and exhaustion, and should not be neglected. Why remain wretched and miserable and in danger of worse troubles when you can be cured? There are no classes of diseases that yield more promptly to proper treatment in the hands of a specialist who understands them than nervous diseases. Since specialists have devoted their time to the study and cure of nervous diseases, great strides have been made in curing them. Diseases that were a few years ago considered incurable are now cured without difficulty, and many who were hopeless sufferers, as they thought, are now rejoicing in perfect restoration. So much for science and specialists.

Electricity has worked a reformation in the treatment of nervous diseases, and has accomplished wonders. But skill, practice and experience is required to apply it with effect. The different kinds of electricity and batteries vary as much in their effects upon the system as different kinds of medicine do, and the doctor who uses one battery for all kinds of diseases might, with as much propriety, use one kind of medicine for all diseases. Diseases might, with as much propriety, and is prepared to use electricity in any and every way; also, electric aths.

In writing, give full particulars.

1st. The High Arched Standard cannot be choked, and is provided with Side Flanges on its front arm and a clamping device on its rear arm which POSITIVE-LY prevents any side movement to the Beam, insuring the proper "land" and the correct running of the Plow, no matter how long in use.

2d. The Beam is disconnected from the Handles, and is secured to the standard by two bolts assisted by the Improved Beam Seat and Beam Holding Device, uniting and holding these parts together with more firmness and greater security than is possible under any other known arrangement.

3d. Under the rear end of the Beam is a simple device to make the Plow runders or shallow, or to land, more or less, to regulate both the papers and wights of the papers and wights of the land, more or less, to regulate both the papers and wights of the land.

deep or shallow, or to land, more or less, to regulate both the BEPTH and wipth of the furrow. This is the most perfect "Beam Adjuster" yet devised, and should be examined to be appreciated.

4th. As with all of our Plows, neither handle is attached to the Moldboard to collect trash, weeds, etc., and their lower ends are not near enough to the ground to collect dampness and invite decay.

The shape of our Moldboards, as well as our Numbers for them, O. X, 1, 2, 2\frac{1}{2}, 20, etc., have been adopted by others, and the public is CAUTIONED to look for the word "Atlas" in connection with the above Numbers, when they will be sure OUR WHITE'S CHILLED PLOWS significance, the clerk of the Circuit Court issued 344 tonger's licenses. In the following season, 340 licenses were granted; 289 were issued in 1888; and in 1889, applications numbering 297 were recorded. Of this last number 196 were to white, and 101 were to colored boats-

Capt. George D. Insley, commander of the state sloop Carrie Franklin, and to whom, perhaps, the present condition of our oyster interests is largely due has furnished us with some interesting figures. He estimates the number of bushels of oysters taken from the two rivers in this county to be about 350,000. The average price paid during the season, was 35 cents per bushel, to the tonger. The mother heard an exclamation of terror, and dashing to the well, was struck dumb with anguish at the sight of her child, whose feet only could be seen struggling desperately in the effort to elevate the head above the water, which the smallness of the curb prevented. Some men succeeded in taking the lifeless body out eight minutes

Great Scheme for Reclaiming Arid Lands

Operations will soon be begun on the work of reclaiming the arid lands along the Rio Grande river, which is receiving the attention of the government, Major Powell, superintendent of the geological survey, having recently been sent to investigate its practicability. One company owns 1,000,000 acres of land along both sides of the river from a point seven miles above Pena Blanca to the Mexican frontier at El Paso. Five million dollars has been naid in for the construction of a canal on each side of the Rio Grande between the points named, a distance of 300 miles, making in all 600 miles of canal. Valuable Farm.

I will sell at private auction my farm in Nutter's District, containing 140 acres. This is a most desirable little property. The dwelling is a nine room frame structure, and is in good condition; the same may be said of the outbuildings. About half of the cleared land is fresh and has a clay bottom with a light stark loam surace soil. There is a pienty of timber for fuel and repairs, with some to spare. The farm lies four miles from Sailsbury railroad depot, and is within half mile of Mt. Hermon church and Jones school. Heason for wanting to sell, need capital to develop other business.

I also have some good machinery which I will sell for much less than its actual value: Namely, One line of shaft 22 feet long, 2 inches in diameter, with seven pulleys; one pulley 48 inches in diameter, 8 inch face; one pulley 48 inches in diameter, 8 inch face; one pulleys 81 inches in diameter, 6 inch face; one 24 inche sundiameter, 6 inch face; one 24 inche cutoff saw and fixtures; one large double 'saw mandrel, carrying 24 inch saw on one end 16 inch saw on the other—Mandrel five feet long, 2 inches in diameter; tables and carriages all complete on wheels suitable to do all kinds of batten work and to saw shingles; one double and one single rip table and fixtures. With this machinery in operation, I have made from 15,600 to 20,000 peach slats and plastering laths per day.

For prices and further particulars concernaths per day.

Exclusively to Dry Goods.

We make no charge for samples of any kind of goods, even the most expensive; and for that reason we request you, when writing for them, to be very explicit in stating exactly what is wanted-the width, price, quality, color, etc., so that we can send you just what you need, instead of a great lot of samples that are of no use to you and cost

Our stock changes so rapidly that it is not advisable to order from the samples that have left our establishment longer than a month. Send for new samples, or give us the privilege of selecting the goods nearest to the

We are always willing to exchange goods which do not please after being received, provided they are returned to us in perfect condition. In returning them by mail, they must be so wrapped that the contents of the package may be examined at the Post-Office, without having to cut the wrapper or the cord with which it may be tied. If tied with string, a slip-knot, and not a hard knot, should be made. The package must not be pasted or sealed. An envelope notched at the corners is not a proper wrapper. Writing of any kind must not be enclosed in the package, but the name and address of the sender may be written upon the outside. Any violation of these regulations subjects the package to letter postage, which, in many cases, exceeds the value of the goods. When you return goods, always write to us about them on the same day.

When writing to us, be sure to have your name, post-office, county, and State written plainly. Full and legible addresses, besides greatly facilitating business. insure prompt attention. Illegible orders and imperfect addresses are necessarily attended to last. After making out your or der, it is advisable to look carefully over it and see whether it is correct. It takes but a moment, and often prevents much after trouble. We strongly advise our customers to order all valuable parcels to be sent by express, or the new method of postal insurance.

THE BEST GENERAL PURPOSE

PLOW IN THE WORLD.

The Oliver Chilled Plow.

FARMERS AND PLOWMAN.

There are fifteen reasons why you should use nothing but the Oliver Chilled,

First—They are the Original and only genuine Chilled Plows made.

SECOND—They are adapted to all kinds of soil, and will do first class work in THIRD-The mouldboards are thoroughly chilled, have no soft spots in them will not scour in any soil, and will not wear out in ten years plowing.

FOURTH-Oliver's Chilled Metal will not corrode. The heaviest coat of rust that can accumulate on it will be entirely removed by a few minutes use, and the nouldboard will be as bright and smooth as before. FIFTH—The Oliver has a thorough centre draft, runs lighter than any other plow, and is under the direct and complete control of the operator.

Sixth—The wood work being free from mortises permits easy, rapid and per-

SEVENTH-The Oliver is economical in repairs, and when your share is renewed you have an entirely new cutting edge. Eлентн-The Oliver patent slip-nose share, can be furnished when desired; a

NINTH-All parts of the Oliver Chilled Plows are fitted over templates at the works, hence are exact duplicates, and by simply giving the number and hand, you are sure of a perfect fit. TENTH-The Oliver Chilled Plow has hundreds of imitators. No manufacturer

ELEVENTH-For ease of management, adjustability and lightness of draft, it has no successful competitor.

Twelfth—The "Oliver" has a record unparalleled in the history of plow making, from 1.500 in 1870, to over 100,000 in 1889.

THIRTEENTH—Your negihbors will tell you to buy the "Oliver" and to take no or. It will break hard ground when no other plow will. FOURTEENTH-There are over 1,200,000 Oliver Chilled Plows in actual use, and three times as many being sold at the present time as any other plow manufactured. It is warranted to do better work and more of it, with the same amount of draft, than any other plow in use.

FIFTEENTH—Finally, these plows are better known, have reached a larger sale, have had a longer run, have proved more popular and given better satisfaction, Look out for imitation plow points and other extras. The genuine points and other repairs are made only by the OLIVER CHILLED PLOW WORKS and have the name "OLIVER" cast on them. All others

Remember that the Oliver Chilled Plow is the best in the world, and be sure you get only the genuine points and other repairs, thus avoiding the dissatisfaction that is sure to follow the use of the spurious extras. We are sole Agents for Wicomico county, and a part of Worcester county, Md., and the lower part of Sussex county, Del. an absolute failure. This is a heavy on a wager to eat the whole crop of this county and then from the experience scarcely learn the flavor of a good peach. Large hopes rested upon a good yield this year. But the freeze of March nipped the prematurely advanced buds, and

Convinced that peaches were dead the armers turned their attention to other crops for market, and the present outook is encouraging. When there are no peaches shipped to the large cities from the peninsula, wotermelons grown here, which are always of the best quality, bring extra prices in the same markets. Our farmers know this and have planted extensively. Among the largest growers are Messrs. W. H. Jackson, who has about 20,000 hills in cultivation; J.

Windsor Bounds, 10,000; Goy, Jackson, 12,000; and Mr. Milton A. Parsons, 8,000. Numerous other growers of the county have patches of from 1,000 to 5,000 hills. Mr. Parsons has also, 5,000 hills planted in cantaloupes. He says that the cultivation of this melon has proven profitable with him in the past. The vines are exceedingly prolific, and the fruit commands fair prices in the cities. The overripe and surplus product he feeds to his live stock with the most satisfactory results. The Immutability of the Law of Average.

SSESSMENT INSURANCE is doomed to certain failure for the simple reason that it ignores the immutability of the law of average, (upon which all sound Life Insurance is based), and undertakes to perform impossibilities. In mathematics there are certain propositions laid down which are called axioms, or self-evident truths. They are not open to discussion, for there is nothing to discuss. They are simply undeniable truths, and a mathematician who would undertake to set any of them aside, would be considered a fool. The principles which form the foundation for all sound Life Insurance, also contain some self-evident truths which a person might as well undertake to disprove as that two and two make four. Yet the advocates of assessment insurance wish you to believe that two and two make twenty, or what is equally absurd, when they tell you that a member's assessment can never exceed $20 for a death benefit of 2,000. A mathematicial absurdity.

Suppose, for instance, that one thousand persons at an average age of 30 years

Suppose, for instance, that one thousand persons at an average age of 30 years form themselves into a mutual assessment society, each insured for $2,000. It is quite evident that there will be one thousand policies in force of $2,000 each, or a sum total of $2,000,000 of so-called insurance at risk. In order to pay this total amount it becomes absolutely necessary that $2,000,000 be obtained from some source, as there is no other revenue in assessment societies, it must necessarily be collected from the members, consequently it will cost each member, on an average, $2,000 for their insurance. It will cost those who die early less than $2,000, and those who die late very much more.

It is plain that as the average age of the society increases, the death rate mu It is plain that as the average age of the society increases, the death rate must also increase. There are fewer members left to pay, necessarily the assessments are larger. It is claimed that this difficulty is overcome by taking in new and younger members, or the infusion of new blood, thus keeping the average age, and consequently the death rate down to a low figure. This is the principle argument used by the advocates of assessment insurance societies when they are questioned on the subject, and, at first thought a most reasonable one it appears to be, yet its utter fallacy can be easily shown.
Say, for example, that a society is composed of 100,000 members whose average equals 35 years, the number of deaths during the first year will be 895, leavin 90,105 survivors, each one year older. Now, in order to reduce the average age to 3 years, and thus have the death rate no greater than 895 per 100,000, an addition comparison of the second of the seco

The Phonograph

A loan association in New York recently invited a number of persons to hear a speech by the celebrated English statesman Mr. Gladstone. It was a phonographic oration. That is to say, a phonosylinder was produced, stated to have been just received from London, and when the cylinder was put through the machine a voice was heard, said to be Mr. Gladstone's. The message was short and rather dry. It related to self-help and thrift, both of which are very desira-

When the scarcity of corn in this county is considered, the following statements are calculated to surprise the reader. Mr, Jas. K. Disharoon, Lessee and Manager of the Wicomnos Falls Mills, frequently turns 150 bushels of corn into grist in one day. The leading feed merchanis of Salisbury are among his customers. For Messrs B. L. Gillis & Sons Mr. Disharoon has ground and delivered as high as 120 bushels of corn-meal per month.

Messrs, F. C. & H. S. Todd recently handled in thirty days over 500 bushels of meal manufactured at the Wicomico Falls Mills. This trade is supplemented by orders from Messrs. L. B. Gillis, E. S. Adkins, William Gordy and J. C. Johnson, which give an aggregate total of about 2000 bushels, exclusive of the transient county custom, manufactured per month at these mills, also doing a large custom work grinding wheat. The above facts and figures are a sufficient recommendation to the dealer and consumer to go to the Wicomico Falls for good grist.

The long training of the people in verse composing and verse reciting pro-disposes them to the composition of po-etry of some degree of excellence. Iriah-men and Irishwomen as a rule have a knack at writing if they receive any edu-cation at all, and are natural journalists and writers at an early age. The last re-markable poet of the file kind known in Irishad was Carrian the blind hard of eland was Carolan, the blind hard of the last century, whose portrait and some of whose verses, translated and in the original, were published by James Hardiman. He was as peripatetic as Homer is said to have been, blind also, and certainly a fine if not a great poet. Though the race is not extinct, little expect the prost of the prost of the present the prest of t ept the most ordinary verse is published in Irish today, the audience being too small to tempt the most ardent patriot. With all its inherited shortcomings, and with the evils that befell it owing to circunistances, the poetic guild of ancient freland did the world a great service in eeping from destruction historical and ational data lost from other parts of Europe. It also added not a little to the world's stock of tragic, of noble and of comic fiction.—Charles de Kay in Cent-

The Country Paper in the City. It would do the hearts of country ediors good to ride up town on the elevated cars in the afternoon of Friday and Sat-urday on any week in the year. On these two days a great many business men give only a hasty glance at the evening papers and then immediately draw from a pocket a copy of a paper that is in marked contrast to the city paper, so far as type and general appearance goes. The type is invariably larger and the displays of advertisements and headings to news articles commonly coarser. The ink is not always spread evenly over the page. Nevertheless, the business man opens the paper to the page devoted to village news and reads every line there. After that he not infrequently reads the village advertisements and gives a brief look at the editorials. The city man used to live in the village where that paper was printed, and he recognizes the names of people there as old acquaintances, and commonly old friends. The village paper comes like a letter from home to the city man who was once a villager.-New York

A New Lighthouse.

The new lighthouse at Hostholm is the most powerful in the world. The beam is of 3,000,000 candle power and shows clearly at Blokhus, a distance of thirtyive miles. It is produced by arc lamps, fed by De Meriten's dynamos, driven by im engines. To prevent the extin tion of the light through an accident to the machinery the latter is duplicated one set coming into play should the other fail. The light is further supplemented in thick weather by two powerful sirens, or fog trumpets, working with compressed air. The fascination which a powerful light exercises on wild birds is curiusly illustrated by this lighthouse. It is said that basketfuls of dead snipes, larks, starlings and so forth are picked up in the mornings outside the tower. They kill themselves in dashing against the windows of the lantern.—Montreal Star

W. & F. Smith Iron Company, of Boston, has three small cast iron plates, one of which is 81 by 5 inches, on which is cut in sunken letters—etched—the Lord's prayer in bold handwriting, and the other two, each 5 by 6 inches, containing outline drawings, one with three sketches-a pig in an inclosure, swan on water, and a deer, with pyramids in the distance, and the other plate con tained an outline drawing of a horse. Referring to these plates, Mr. Farra said: "What you see on them is done with a common steel pen on a piece of thin paper. The paper, when prepared is pinned into a sand mold, iron is poured into the mold and the writing is trans ferred to the casting."—Boston Herald.

She Forgot Too Soon. Paris officers, going to seize the goods of a woman against whom a judgment had been obtained, found her lying apparently dead and prepared for burial in her rooms. They were about to retire when one of them could not resist the temptation to pinch the plump arm of the woman. The supposed corpse promptly sat up on the bier and gave the impertinent officer a regular dressing down before she remembered that she was dead to her creditors, if not to the world. The execution was made at once and the goods sold .- New York

Yet this is what s done with the discarded leg coverings of the English soldiers, and what do you guess to be the use of the condiment when so cooked? The pulp thus pro-duced is used to stuff balls. A Lucky Bricklayer. A recent recipient at the court of Con-stantinople of the Turkish Medal for Art mason who put up a Russian stove in the sultan's palace. It appears that the sultan was struck with the stove at the Rus sian consulate at Constantinople, and had a similar structure of bricks and tiles ordered from Odessa. The Russian laborer who was sent with it to put it up was a simple moujik, but the sultan was so delighted with the man's skill in bricklaying—an art unknown in Turkey as applied to the building of fireplaces—that, besides a money present of $250, he conferred the above distinctions on the peas-

The use of the watch has become common and people are so accustomed to take note of time by the pieces which they carry in their pockets that they are apt to forget how recent an invention it old when America was discovered. The first great improvement of the watch-the substitution of springs for weights-was in 1650. These springs were not coiled, but were only straight pieces of steel. Soon afterward the fusee was invented, connected with a mainspring in a barrel. This was fastened to a piece of catgut, which was wound around a spiral grooved fusee in the shape of a cone. The 'last coils were around the small end of the cone, thus presenting in the running of the watch the least leverage to the greatest force of the spring. As the cone was unwound the leverage changed in proportion to the force of the spring. This made it possible to attain considerable accuracy in the running of the watch. A small linked chain was substituted for the catgut, and chain was substituted for the catgut, and the running devoted eighteen chain was substituted for the catgut, and chain was substituted for the catgut, and this style of chain remained until comspring, which is so necessary for equalizing the motion, was invented and attached about the year 1658 by Dr. Hook. Lengthening or shortening the spring

Lengthening or shortening the spring lessens or increases the vibrations and makes the regulation of the watch an easy matter.

The cases of the early watches were made for personal adornment and were of all sorts and shapes. One that belonged to Lady Fitzgerald tells in a curious way the classic tale of Jupiter and Ganymede. The works are contained in the body of the eagle, which opens across the body of the eagle, which opens across the center and displays the dial plate richly engraved with scrolls and flowers. ent use of the clock, and it was bout 600 years between the first clock and the first watch. That is as closely as one can estimate dates when the pre-cise year of either invention is unknown. The invention of the clock is generally ascribed to the monk Gerbert, who was afterward raised to the tiara under the name of Pope Sylvester II. The first clocks were cumbrous things, calculated only to be hung to the wall and worked with cords and weights. For a long time they were only used in convent and monasteries, where they helped to make miserable the lives of the inmates. clock was due to the Saracens. Some time in the Fourteenth century the escapement was introduced in what is known as De Wyck's clock. made the first watch in 1477, and Peter Hell, of that city, made watches of steel as early as 1490. It is certain that the first watches were called Nuremburg eggs, a fact that identifies both the place of making and the shape of the watch. The works were inclosed in circular metal cases and were hung from the girdle. They generally suggested the idea of the egg.

The first English watches had weights and were used as a pocket clock. Such early watches had only one hand and required to be wound up twice a day. The dials were of silver and brass, the cases had no crystals, but opened at the back and front and were four or five inches in diameter-about the size of a comm

I will sell at private auction my farm in Nutter's District containing 140 acres. This is a most desirable little property. The dwelling is a nine room frame structure, and is in good condition; the same may be said of the outbuildings. About half of the cleared land is fresh and has a clay bottom with a light stark loam surace soil. There is a plenty of timber for fuel and repairs, with some to spare. The farm lies four miles from Salisbury railroad depot, and is within half mile of Mt. Hermon church and Jones school. Heason for wanting to sell, need capital to develop other business.

I also have some good machinery which I will sell for much less than its actual value: Namely, One line of shaft 22 feet long, 2 inches in diameter, with seven pulleys; one pulley 24 inches in diameter, it inch face; one pulley 24 inches in diameter, it here pulleys 36 inches in diameter, 6 inch face; one 12 inches in diameter, 6 inch face; one 24 inch cutoff saw and fixtures; one large double saw man fixtures one large double saw man fixtures one large double saw man fixtures one large double saw on the other—Mandrel five feet long, 2 inches in diameter; tables and carriages all complete on wheels suitable to do all kinds of batten work and to saw shingles; one doub le and one single rip table and fixtures. > Who is it that does not at times wish they had no nerves? Nothing renders a person more wretched than to be nervous or to suffer from some form of nervous disease, and nothing leads to more trouble and disaster than neglected nervous disease. They are the origin of insanity and suicide, of paralisis and despondency, loss of pewer, prostration and exhaustion, and should not be neglected. Why remain wretched and miserable and in danger of worse troubles when you can be cured? There are no classes of diseases that yield more promptly to proper treatment in the hands of a specialist who understands them than nervous diseases. Since specialists have devoted their time to the study and cure of nervous diseases, great strides have been made in curing them. Diseases that were a few years ago considered incurable are now enjoicing in perfect restoration. So much for science and specialists.

W. G. PURNELL,

Secretary of the Senate. Riding in California one day my companion called attention to a bird in the road ahead of me. It was something like a prairie chicken, but much more slender and graceful in build. It was not using its wings, but it moved very to the comptroller of the treasury, to be collected and received into the State treasury as other State taxes are received My friend told me that it was a "road" runner," a bird that was noted there for > ways in the center of the road. When one of these birds meets a rattlesnake it behaves in such a coy man-ner that it leads the snake to think it will become the victim of its charm, and while it is keeping the snake in doubt as to some elevation and sits there to watch the snake stick himself to death on the thorns trying to get out of the ring.—

The latest improvement in artificial limbs consists in forming the leg and foot part of a single piece of wood, hav-ing the grain curved naturally in its growth, such pieces being procured from the parts of the trunk contiguous to the roots and branches of trees. Limbs made in this way are stronger with the same amount of wood remaining in them than when made of parts and glued together, and are made waterproof, which is a val-uable feature when the occupation of the wearer exposes it to constant damp-ness, or to water itself, as in fishing, mining, dredging, etc. By making limbs in this manner from natural curves in the growth of the wood it has become practicable to make light and substantial arti-ficial feet, adapted to partial amputa-tions of the foot.—New York Telegram.

A SHOPLIFTER'S EXPERIENCES. Three Incidents from the Life of a Skillfe

From a curious source two or three in idents in the life of a professi may be set down here. They might be termed confessions of a shoplifter. Stores in both Allegheny and Pittsburg have suffered by the depredations of a remarkably skillful thief, who is awoman. She prides herself on her skill in shop-lifting, and it is from her mouth that the following narrative originally came: Once she visited a large store in Allegheny and asked to be shown some expensive cloaks. The goods were brought out and the stylish looking shopper took off the jacket she wore and tried on a cloak. She was not entirely satisfied with it, she said, and the saleswoman who was waiting upon her went off to another part of the store to get some more cloaks. This was the thief's chance. She walked away, leaving her jacket as a token of her regard. On the stairsthe cloak department was on the second sailed on. She escaped. Another time she visited a shoe store in Pittsburg. She had a small foot and was proud of it. It was no easy matter to please her, the affable young salesman found. The stock of fine ladies' shoes was ransacked to suit her taste. It was all in vain, for she departed without buying anything. But although the best feathers in the store were brought out for her inspection, she found none that was long enough, heavy enough or black enough to suit her. > A Novel Beligious Method. One of the leading churches of Minneapolis has adopted a novel method of increasing its attendance, Each Saturday evening a committee of gentlemen visit the hotels and take off a list of the guests who are domiciled there over Sunday. Neatly printed invitations to attend service in the church are inclosed in envelopes, sealed up and directed to these guests. They are left with the clerk with directions to place them in the boxes in the morning. As each man comes down to breakfast Sunday

FIRST—They are the Original and only genuine Chilled Plows made.
SECOND—They are adapted to all kinds of soil, and will do first class THEED—The mouldboards are thoroughly chilled, have no soft spots in them. will not scour in any soil, and will not wear out in ten years plowing.

FOURTH—Oliver's Chilled Metal will not corrode. The heaviest coat of rust that can accumulate on it will be entirely re-mouldboard will be as bright and smooth as before. FIFTH-The Oliver has a thorough centre draft, runs lighter than any other plow, and is under the direct and complete control of the operator.

Sixth—The wood work being free from mortises permits easy, rapid and per fect adjustment, for either two or three horses.

SEVENTH—The Oliver is economical in repairs, and when your share is renewed you have an entirely new cutting edge.

Eighth—The Oliver patent slip-nose share, can be furnished when desired; a wonderful saving device.

Ninth-All parts of the Oliver Chilled Plows are fitted over templates at the works, hence are exact duplicates, and by simply giving the number and hand, you are sure of a perfect fit.

Tenth—The Oliver Chilled Plow has hundreds of imitators. No manufacturer will try to imitate an inferior plow. ELEVENTH-For ease of management, adjustability and lightness of draft, it has Successful competitor.

Twelfth—The "Oliver" has a record unparalleled in the history of plow maker, from 1.500 in 1870, to over 100,000 in 1889. THIRTEENTH-Your negihbors will tell you to buy the "Oliver" and to take no other. It will break hard ground when no other plow will.

FOURTEENTH—There are over 1,200,000 Oliver Chilled Plows in actual use, and three times as many being sold at the present time as any other plow manufactured. It is warranted to do better work and more of it, with the same amount of draft, than any other plow in use.

FIFTEENTH—Finally, these plows are better known, have reached a larger sale.

have had a longer run, have proved more popular and given better satisfaction, than any other plows on the face of the globe.

The Look out for imitation plow points and other extras. The genuine points and other repairs are made only by the OLIVER CHILLED PLOW WORKS and have the name "OLIVER" cast on them. All others Remember that the Oliver Chilled Plow is the best in the world, and be sure you get only the genuine points and other repairs, thus avoiding the dissatisfaction that is sure to follow the use of the spurious extras. One can almost imagine that he hear the shrill whistle of the engine which is soon to draw passenger and freight laden cars over the Baltimore & Eastern Shore railroad. Trains are already running over the road from Claiborne, near the bay shore in Talbot county, to Hurlock's in Dorchester, and the grading on that side has about been completed the Nanticoke river, where three pile drivers are daily at work driving piles across the stream and marsh. The construction forces have all been transferred to this county. There gangs, aggregating about eighty men and sixty horses are busy clearing the right of way and grading the road bed between the Nanticoke and Salisbury. One force is at work between the Springs and the river; anther is in Rockawalking; and the third gang located at Salisbury Thursday. This last one has tented in Mr. J. J. Morris' woods west of town. The bridge contractor reached Salisbury Wednesday, and began to take his bearings at once for the bridge across G. H. Toadvine's pond. The pile driver will be started Monday. A quantity of piles has already been delivered on the spot. Major Howard, chief engineer, accompanied by Mr. A. J. Benjamin, visited the Springs Thursday, where they were joined by Mr. T. A. Bounds, who assist-that two and two make twenty, or what is equally absurd, when they tell you that a member's assessment can never exceed $20 for a death benefit of 2,000. A mathematicial absurdity.

Suppose, for instance, that one thousand persons at an average age of 30 years form themselves into a mutual assessment society, each insured for $2,000. It is quite evident that there will be one thousand policies in force of $2,000 each, or a sum total of $2,000,000 of so-called insurance at risk. In order to pay this total amount it becomes absolutely necessary that $2,000,000 be obtained from some source, as there is no other revenue in assessment societies, it must necessarily be collected from the members, consequently it will cost each member, on an average, $2,000 for their insurance. It will cost those who die early less than $2,000, and those who die State Chemist's CASH VALUATION $31.54.

Good Advice.

Don't sign, says a contemporary. But such a caution as this seems, hardly necessary to any person in the full possession of his faculties. Yet it is astonishing how many people there are, includ ing good business men, who attach their signature to papers or documents whose contents might have a serious bearing upon themselves or their affairs, with scarcely a glance at their contents. Carelessness in failing to acquaint themselves with the contents of a paper before signing it has worked incalculable harm to housands of well intentioned people. fou sign them, particularly those that express or imply anything in the nature

One Way to Advertise. "Why don't you run a paper like that?" said a merchant to a publisher, throwing down a blanket-sheet city daily. "Why don't you run a store like that?" said the publisher of the country, sheet as he turned the paper over and pointed to a full-page advertisement that brought the city publisher $250 an issue. Just then the country publisher presented a monthly bill for $5, and the merchant began to talk of economizing by cutting down his advertisement and stopping his paper. He did both, and the sheriff is now doing his advertising for him.-Ex.

Wicomico Falls Mills

James Cannon, Agent, Salisbur

When the scarcity of corn in this county is considered, the following statements are cal-culated to surprise the reader. Mr. Jas. K. Disharoon, Lessee and Manager of the Wicom-Disharoon, Lessee and Manager of the Wicomroo Falls Mills, frequently turns 150 bushels of corn into grist in one day. The leading feed merchants of Sallsbury, are among his customers. For Messrs E. L. Gillis & Soos Mr.
Disharoon has ground and delivered as high as 1200 bushels of corn-meal per month.
Messis, F. C. & H. S. Todd recently handled in thirty divisorer 500 bushels of meal mannthirty days over 500 bushels of mest manu-actured at the Wicomico Falls Mills. This de is supplemented by orders from Messri B. Gillis, E. S. Adkins, William Gordy an L. Johnson, which give an accregate total Johnson, which give an aggregate out 2000 bushels, exclusive of the t sient county custom, manufactured per month at these mills, also doing a large cus-tom work grinding wheat. The above facts and figures are a sufficient recommendation to the dealer and consumer to go to the Wicomico Falls for good grist.

and General Interest.

A most interesting collection, consisting of over 180 varieties of hides, skins and leathers, each from a different species of fish, flesh or fowl, has been put on exhibition within the big show windows of a Union square jewelry shop.

The collection is a unique one, and it is the result of many years' labor and the expenditure of a large sum of money. expenditure of a large sum of money. It was got together by the proprietors specially for purposes of comparison and identification, and though on exhibition it is continually referred to every day.

From the elephant to the mole all the animals are represented whose skins are capable of tanning. Among others, one can see here examples of the hides, skins or leather of the sea lion, alligator, chameleon, lizard, eel, turkey, crow, hawk, codish, cassowary, porcupine, nawk, codfish, caseowary, porcupine, Persiau goat, wild boar, dog, seal, calf sea wolf, elk, Tampico goat, kangaroo, African antelope, porpoise, Rocky moun-tain sheep, Rocky mountain antelope, chamois, boa constrictor, shark, walrus, lamb, armadillo, elephant, cat, crocodile, garfish, pig boar, St. Bernard dog, West India pelican, wild swan, woodchuck, rabbit, monkey, sheep, Australian wolf, raccoon, black bear, buffalo, camel, Canadian wild trout, dogfish, European sturgeon, wildcat, opossum, badger, pan-ther, skunk, wild turkey, wild duck, wild goose, chicken, eagle, horse, East India goat, luwack, ant eater, Russian dog, agouti, squirrel, guinea pig, prairie dog, wolf, fawn, black monkey, peccary, red monkey, nylghau, waterbok, gray gnu, hartebeest, lion, koodo, caribou, alliga-M. One is that of a boa constrictor, which when alive must have measured over twenty feet in length. There is also the skin of a big alligator, tanned whole. It is owing to the introduction of alligator leather into trade that these animals are now fast becoming extinct. . One of the rarest of all the specimens is a piece of genuine mammoth skin, with some of the hair still on it, which was cut from the dead body of one of these great extinct ani-mals, which had melted out from beneath the primeval ice of Siberia.—New York Evening Sun. . George Bowles took advantage of a eautiful day to indulge in a drive with his wife. On one of the principal streets they passed a grocer's wagon on the side of which was painted in bold capitals

this queer inscription: IDOOREPO

Of course Bowles' curiosity was at once aroused and he drove up alongside of the wagon. When the grocer came out of a neighboring house with his empty basket George asked him what the sign meant. In a manner which seemed to express contempt of his inquirer for his ignorance he replied: "Those letters that my store is located just one loor east of the postoffice." Then Bowles looked at the inscription and wondered why he had not solved the riddle before. -Chicago Herald.

They walk around town and are as tame as cattle, some of them going up to children on the streets to eat food and delicacies given them. One band of fourteen were found near the banks of the river, above town. They were all bunched in the snow and left over night. The next day those who found them picked out what they wanted and took them to town, where, in a few days, they became perfectly tame. Some are kept tied in stables, and some wander around town at will, returning to the barn when they have had their exercise. The town dogs do not disturb them when

New Designs on All Money, Let us look at the knowledge of a nu-dematist in the history of all nations, How glibly he will tell you that such and such a king lived in such a year. He will recognize at a glance the lineaments of Cleopatra, Julius Cæsar, Antonius or any of the ancient worthies, and of more modern days he is familiar with the history of the dynasties of all the reigning families. Why? Simply from his study of the effigies of those rulers depicted What would we know of many oriental states were it not for their respective coinage? What would we know of many kings and emperors? What assurance have we of the duration of many historical eras? The answer is by the histor as depicted upon the coins of various countries. Rome had her libraries, so had Greece. War and fire destroyed their archives, and but for the coinage of the times our knowledge of the exis ence of such countries would be slight indeed. Then, if in the course of cen turies hence history should repeat itself, and the written history of our days be destroyed, would our coinage teach the people of that era anything of our history? No. From the uncouth designs upon our coinage we would be taken for parbarians. Then, I say, let us have coinage that will teach all nations until the end of time that we were a great and glorious nation. And how may we do this? By adopting suitable designs for our coinage.

I would advocate that one series coins, say the half dollar pieces, should be struck bearing the effigies of our presidents, commencing by issuing 1, 000,000 pieces bearing the head of Wash ington, then issuing each six months following as many bearing the effigy of each president until we arrive at the present time. After this, to carry out the idea, a series should be issued during the administration of each president By so doing you will teach your children and your children's children the history of their country more readily and effectively than by any other means, and leave imperishable monuments of these links in the history of our country. Ask any one how many presidents we have had how long they were at the head of the administration, how many could answe the question? Had we a coinage, one as I have described, almost every one would have a collection of the coins bearing effigies and inscriptions stating the duration of their administration, which would amiliarize them with our history. I then say let us have a coinage bear ing the effigies of our presidents. I am sure there is nothing antagonistic to a republican sentiment in this, for we have paper money displaying portraits of our presidents and great men; also on our postage stamps. Can we hope that in 3,000 years from now any of these paper mementoes will be in existence? No; bu a coin lasts forever, for surely we have coins extant that were issued six centu ries before Christ. If you are skeptical examine any good collection of coins age, and some of the Eighth century before Christ, and even older. Therefore we now reasonably expect our coinage

he will not only tell you the name of the king or emperor during whose reign it was issued, the history of the country, but, what is more to the point, he will tell you to what degree of artistic refine ment and civilization that country had arrived, whether its prosperity was on the increase or not, and how, simply by the purity of the metal used and the excellence of the die. I am sure we excel in skillfulness of die cutting and designing. This new coinage would also familiar ize the world with the greatness of our country for all time to come. Should we sue, say 1,000,000 coins of the denomina tion of fifty cents or of twenty-five cents. how many would be in circulation in one year? I would venture to say none. They would find their way to every nook and corner of the globe, be preserved in museums and private collections all over the world, and even the little Hindoo and Chinese boy centuries hence would as readily tell their contemporaries all about George Washington, the first president of the United States, of President Lincoln and of our present president, and the entire series, and would be as familiar with the history of the present era of the United States as that of their own era and country .- Paul E. Beckwith in

Valuable Farm.

I will sell at private auction my farm in Nutter's District, containing 140 acres. This is a most desirable little property. The dwelling is a nine room frame structure, and is in good condition; the same may be said of the outbuildings. About half of the cleared land is fresh and have a clay bottom with a light stark loam sursee sell. There is a plenty of timber for fuel and repairs, with some to spare. The farm lies four miles from Salisbury railroad depot, and is within half mile of Mt. Hermon church and Jones school. Reason for wanting to sell, need capital to develop other business.

I also have some good machinery which I will sell for much less than its actual value: Namely, one line of shaft 22 feet long, 2 inches in diameter. with seven pulleys; one pulley 48 inches in diameter, 48 inch face; one pulley 48 inches in diameter, 48 inch face; one hundred feet of belting; three pulleys 36 inches in diameter, 6 inch face; three pulleys 32 inches in diameter, 6 inch face; three pulleys 32 inches in diameter, 6 inch face; three pulleys 32 inches in diameter, 6 inch face; three pulleys 32 inches in diameter, 6 inch face; three pulleys 32 inches in diameter, 6 inch face; three pulleys 32 inches in diameter, 6 inch face; three pulleys 32 inches in diameter, and face; three pulleys 32 inches in diameter, and face; three pulleys 32 inches in diameter, and and carriages all complete on wheeld suitable to do all kinds of batten work and to saw shingles; one doub le and one single rip table and factures. With this machinery in operation, I have made from 15,000 to 20,000 peach slats and plastering laths per day.

SKIN AND ITS DISEASES.

The DERMATOLOGICAL AND NEURO IC INSTITUTE was established here seven ry county in the state, as well as city to be cured, and they are not disappointed. It makes no difference how bad, obstinate or long standing the case may be, if it is eurable, he will cure it, having devoted eighteen years to the treatment and cure of these diseases. Skin diseases and nervous diseases are difficult and hard to diagnose and cure except by an experienced specialist, and people waste much money in advertised medicines and going to doctors who cannot, in the nature of things, know much about these special diseases, and who, as a rule, are not prepared nor have the remedies for their proper treatment, Dr. Benson at his institute is thoroughly prepared in every particular to diagnose and treat Skin Diseases and Nervous Diseases successfully, and sufferers from any form of these troubles, whether in adults or children, will save time, money and suffaring by placing themselves under the care and treatment of Dr. Benson, who is a graduate of medicine of the University of Maryland, and who practiced medicine in a general way for the care and

Who is it that does not at times wish they had no nerves? Nothing renders a person more wretched than to be nervous or to suffer from some form of nervous disease, and nothing leads to more trouble and disaster than neglected nervous disease. They are the origin of insanity and suicide, of paralisis and despondency, loss of power, prostration and exhaustion, and should not be neglected. Why remain wretched and miserable and in danger of worse troubles when you can be cured? There are no classes of diseases that yield more promptly to proper treatment in the hands of a specialist who understands them than nervous diseases, Since specialists have devoted their time to the study and cure of nervous diseases, great strides have been made in curing them. Diseases that were a few years ago considered incurable are now cured without difficuity, and many who were hopeless sufferers, as they thought, are now repoicing in perfect restoration. So much for science and specialists.

Electricity has worked a reformation in the treatment of nervous diseases, and has accomplished wonders. But skill, practice and experience is required to apply it with effect. The different kinds of electricity and batterles vary as much in their effects upon the system as different kinds of medicine do, and the doctor who uses one battery for all kinds of diseases might, with as much propriety, and is prepared to use electricity in any and every way; also, Electric Saths.

should carefully read the above. Professor F. W. Putnam, of Harvard college, has made some interesting dis-coveries of Indian remains at Winthrop, Mass. The spot is evidently an old glacial pothole, conical in form, the base being of blue clay and the surface chiefly sand, with a mixture of gravel. After much patient digging the skeleton of a man was uncovered, together with the skeletons of two children, all in an excellent state of preservation. The deaths, in the opinion of Professor Putnam, were undoubtedly caused by the plague, which visited the Massachusetts Indians about 1622 and carried away large numbers of them. With the skeleton of one child were found two pottery vessels, about the size of a modern tea cup, the outer surface being rudely ornamented. There was also a stone pestle, with one end carefully packed in a box and taken to the rooms of the Society of Natural History.-Philadelphia Ledger. The tenants of an unventilated cable may contrive to resist the atmospheric poisons of their hovel as long as they pass their days in steady indoor occupa-tions. The female members of the family may enjoy that immunity for weeks, but the first mild day will tempt their male relatives to take a hunting trip to the next mountain range, where their lungs open all their safety valves to drink in the largest possible draughts of the grateful, pure air. In that unprepared condi-tion of their respiratory organs the hunt-ers at night re-enter their air polsoned den, and the next morning are hardly able to speak for hoarseness and head-ache. If they had passed the night in do, you know. Now you haven't any ache. A Collection That Collects.

The sensitive people who dread the sight of the contribution box on Sunday should be given a little wholesome discipline of the sort in use at St. Peter's African Methodist Episcopal church. I think it was in 1849 that one was exhibited in Germany at a grand exposition "A green rose is nothing but a hybrid, and like all hybrid roses, it grows hardy, healthy and tall. Some specimens are larger than others, but they are about the same. None of them has any per-fume. Its petals resemble green leaves."

Origin of Silk Manufacture.

The origin of silk manufacture is, without doubt, to be found in China, and the elassical scholar will readily remember allusions to it by ancient writers.

For ages it would seem that the nature and source of ailk were utterly unknown to the western nations; indeed, it was not until about the Sixth century that Europe presented the worm which spins the fiber of silk.—New York Telegram.

Why, had I been the beggar they thought me, I'd have gone to an almshouse rather than eat Norris' bread all these years. As it was I enjoyed the one not of the household did, and shared at times in them.

Sometimes, when the old man's rod dangled over the water, a younger angler would take his place near him—a handsome young fellow with black hair and the brightest eyes in the world; and then the hours went by like hours in a dream, and Phemie felt happy as she had felt when a child by her mother's side. Cured by Cuticura. I cannot say enough in praise of the CUTT-CUEA REMEDIES. My boy, when one year of age was so bad with eversum that he fort all his hair. His seals was covered with wrup-ions, which the doctors said was maddhead, and that his hair would never grow again. Despairing of a cure from physicians, I began the use of CUTTOURA REMEDIES, and; am happy to say, with the most perfect success. His hair is now splendid, and there is not a pimple on him. I recommend the CUTTOURA REMEDIES to mothers as the most speedy, economical, and sure cure for all skin disease of infants and children, and feel that every mother who has and smileted child will thank me for so deing.

The Oliver Chilled Plow.

FARMERS AND PLOWMAN. There are fifteen reasons why you should use nothing but the Oliver Chillen FIEST—They are the Original and only genuine Chilled Plows made.

SECOND—They are adapted to all kinds of soil, and will do first class work in sod or stubble.

THIRD—The mouldboards are thoroughly chilled, bave no soft spots in them, will not scour in any soil, and will not wear out in ten years plowing.

FOURTH—Oliver's Chilled Metal will not corrode. The heaviest coat of rust mouldboard will be as bright and smooth as before

FIFTH—The Oliver has a thorough centre draft, runs lighter than any other plow, and is under the direct and complete control of the operator. Sixth—The wood work being free from mortises permits easy, rapid and per fect adjustment, for either two or three horses.

SEVENTH—The Oliver is economical in repairs, and when your share is renewed. you have an entirely new cutting edge.

Eighth—The Oliver patent slip-nose share, can be furnished when desired; wonderful saving device.

TENTH—The Oliver Chilled Plow has hundreds of imitators. No manufactures will try to imitate an inferior plow. ELEVENTH-For ease of management, adjustability and lightness of draft, it has TWELFTH—The "Oliver" has a record unparalleled in the history of plow making, from 1.500 in 1870, to over 100,000 in 1889.

THIRTEENTH—Your negihbors will tell you to buy the "Oliver" and to take no other. It will break hard ground when no other plow will.

FOURTHEATH—There are over 1,200,000 Oliver Chilled Plows in actual use, and three times as many being sold at the present time as any other plow manufactured. It is warranted to do better work and more of it, with the same amount of draft, than any other plow in page than any other plow in use.

FIFTERNTH—Finally, these plows are better known, have reached a larger sale, have bad a longer run, have proved more popular and given better satisfaction, than any other plows on the face of the globe.

Look out for imitation plow points and other extras. The genuine points and other repairs are made only by the OLIVER CHILLED PLOW WORKS and have the name "OLIVER" cast on them. All others Remember that the Oliver Chilled Plow is the best in the world, and be sure you get only the genuine points and other repairs, thus avoiding the dissition that is sure to follow the use of the spurious extras. tion that is sure to follow the use of the spurious extras.

This place presents a lively scene now owing entirely to one thing and that is strawberrsies, one hears of but litte else and agents representing the different cities are as thick as candidates in October and about as noisy. Most of the farmers who are growing strawberries are selling their crop before it is picked. I suppose it is safe to say that four-fifths of all berries shipped from this station are sold to the commission men before they leave here, by this means the farmers know what they are going to get, provided the commission men don't fail, but it seems rather unfortunate that when there seems to be a prospect of realizing handsomely on the crop speculators should get about all the money but so it is and the farmers, the hardest workers of any, get the least returns

SSESSMENT INSURANCE is doomed to certain failure for the simple reason that it ignores the immutability of the law of average, (upon which all sound Life Insurance is based), and undertakes to perform impossibilities. In mathematics there are certain propositions laid down which are called axioms, or self-evident truths. They are not open to discussion, for there is nothing to discuss. They are simply undeniable truths, and a mathematician who would undertake to set any of them aside, would be considered a fool. The principles which form the foundation for all sound Life Insurance, also contain some self-evident truths which a person might as well undertake to disprove as that two and two make four. Yet the advocates of assessment insurance wish you to believe that two and two make twenty, or what is equally absurd, when they tell you that a member's assessment can never exceed $20 for a death benefit of 2,000. A mathematicial absurdity. Suppose, for instance, that one thousand persons at an average ace of 30 years.

Suppose, for instance, that one thousand persons at an average age of 30 years form themselves into a mutual assessment society, each insured for $2,000. It is quite evident that there will be one thousand policies in force of $2,000 each, or a sum total of $2,000,000 of so-called insurance at risk. In order to pay this total amount it becomes absolutely necessary that $2,000,000 be obtained from some source, as there is no other revenue in assessment societies, it must necessarily be collected from the members, consequently it will cost each member, on an average, $2,000 for their insurance. It will cost those who die carly less than $2,000, and those who die late very much more.

It is plain that as the average age of the society increases, the death rate must also increase. There are fewer members left to pay, necessarily the assessments are larger. It is claimed that this difficulty is overcome by taking in new and younger members, or the infusion of new blood, thus keeping the average age, and consequently the death rate down to a low figure. This is the principle argument used by the advocates of assessment insurance societies when they are questioned on the subject, and, at first thought a most reasonable one it appears to be, yet its utter fallacy are the assily abown.

ject, and, at first thought a most reasonable one it appears to be, yet its utter fallacy can be easily shown.

Say, for example, that a society is composed of 100,000 members whose average age equals 35 years, the number of deaths during the first year will be 895, leaving 90,105 survivors, each one year older. Now, in order to reduce the average age to 35 years, and thus have the death rate no greater than 895 per 100,000, an addition of 99,105 new members averaging 34 years of age, becomes necessary, or 49,553 at age 33; or 33,055 at age 32; or 24,776 at age 31; or 19,821 at age 30. As will be seen by Table "A" this increase must go on with rapid progression from year to year, until at the beginning of the tenth year from 79,315 new members at 30 years of age, up to 23,-610,994 at 34 years must be secured to keep the average down.

Table A. NUMBER OF MEMBERS THAT MUST BE TAKEN IN AT AVERAGE AGE, 24,776 30,663 38,023 47,104 58,353 72,289 89,553 110,940 137,434

With the addition of this number of new members, as shown in Table "A," the Reliable Clothier and Hatter, total membership at the beginning of each year for the ten years, would be as shown in Table "B."

We have yet to see an assessment society having a membership of from 475,889 to 47,221,988.

The average life of all assessment societies is only five years. What same man, who expects to live more than five years, would join a society that must die sooner?

The word insurance is a misnomer when applied to a co-operative association, for as hereby demonstrated, there is nothing sure in a purely assessment society, for its only elements are uncertainty and disoppointment.

30 909 Co-operative Assessment Societies have failed during the last eight years, leaving over 1,850,000 sorrowing policy holders. These people, like many readers of this article thought they were insured, but found out, all too late, that they were not. The regular Life Insurance companies of America have over $700,000,000 security insected for the protection of policy holders. Why not take a policy in one of the very best of these companies, viz.:

Skin Diseases.

SKIN AND ITS DISEASES.

The DERMATOLOGICAL AND NEURO-TIC INSTITUTE was established here seven years ago for the special purpose of treating and curing Diseases of the Skin and Nervous Diseases by DR. C. W. BENSON, and his success is well known. Patients come from every county in the state, as well as city to be cured, and they are not disappointed.

It makes no difference how bad, obstinate or long standing the case may be, if it is curable, he will cure it, having devoted eighteen years to the treatment and cure of these diseases. Skin diseases and nervous diseases are difficult and hard to diagnose and cure except by an experienced specialist, and people waste much money in advertised medicines and going to doctors who cannot, in the nature of things, know much about these special diseases, and who, as a rule, are not prepared nor have the remedies for their proper treatment. Dr. Benson at his insitute is thoroughly prepared in every particular to diagnose and treatSkin Diseases and Nervous Diseases successfully, and sufferers from any form of these troubles, whether in adults or children, will save time, money and suffering by placing themselves under the eare and treatment of Dr. Benson, who is a graduate of medicine of the University of Maryland, and who practiced medicine in a general way for ten years; but eighteen years ago he gave it up, and became a specialist in these diseases. He has a laboratory in his building, and all medicines he prescribes are prepared under his own supervision.

SKIN DISEASES

Includes the treatment of the Hair and Scalp Loss of Hair, etc., as well as the Eczemas, Tet ters and Acne or Pimples. Blackheads and al kinds of Skin troubles, from a roughness or the skin to the worst forms of eruptions and Superfluous Hairs.

Dr. Benson permanently removes them from ladies' faces, lips, etc., with the electric needle, and guarantees them never to return. Also, Warts, Moles and all blemishes are per-manently and perfectly removed by the Elec-trolysis without blood or leaving any mark Nerves! Nerves! Nerves!

Who is it that does not at times wish they had no nerves? Nothing renders a person more wretched than to be nervous or to suffer from some form of nervous disease, and nothing leads to more trouble and disaster than neglected nervous disease. They are the origin of insanity and sulcide, of parallsis and despondency, loss of pewer, prostration and exhaustion, and should not be neglected. Why remain wretched and miserable and in danger of worse troubles when you can be curred? There are no classes of diseases that yield more promptly to proper treatment in the hands of a specialist who understands them than nervous diseases. Since specialists have devoted their time to the study and cure of nervous diseases, great strides have been made in curing them. Diseases that were a few years ago considered incurable are now cured without difficulty, and many who were hopelessufferers, as they thought, are now cured without difficulty, and many who were hopelessufferers, as they thought, are now cured without difficulty, and many who were hopelessufferers, as they thought, are now cured without difficulty, and many who were hopelessufferers, as they thought, are now cured without difficulty, and many who were hopelessufferers, as they thought, are now rejoicing in perfect restoration. So much for science and specialists.

Electricity has worked a reformation in the treatment of nervous diseases, and has accomplished wonders. But skill, practice and experience is required to apply it with effect. The different kinds of medicine for all diseases. Dr. Benson has every form and kind of battery, and is prepared to use electricity in any and every way; also, Electric Baths.

In writing, give full particulars.

1st. The High Arched Standard cannot be choked, and is provided with Side Flances on its front arm and a clamping device on its rear arm which POSITIVE-LY prevents any side movement to the Beam, insuring the proper "land" and the correct running of the Plow, no matter how long in use.

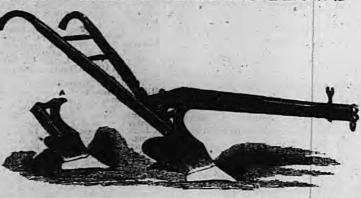

2d. The Beam is disconnected from the Handles, and is secured to the standard by two bolts assisted by the Improved Beam Seat and Beam Holding Device, uniting and holding these parts together with more firmness and greater security than is possible under any other known arrangement.

3d. Under the rear end of the Beam is a simple device to make the Plow rundeep or shallow, or to land, more or less, to regulate both the DEPTH and WIDTH of the furrow. This is the most perfect "Beam Adjuster" yet devised, and should be examined to be appreciated.

4th. As with all of our Plows, neither handle is attached to the Moldboard to collect trash, weeds, etc., and their lower ends are not near enough to the ground to collect dampness and invite decay.

The shape of our Moldboards, as well as our Numbers for them, O. X, 1, 2, 24, 3, 20. etc., have been adopted by others, and the public is CAUTIONED to look for the word "Atlas" in connection with the above Numbers, when they will be sure to get our Goods.

OUR WHITE'S CHILLED PLOWS

Are made with the same Beam Securing and Beam Adjusting devices now ad on the Atlas and herein described. The shape of the Moldboards of our Chilled Plows has also been imitated, but the metal used in ours is CHILLED and not the common hard white iron used in the Moulds of many so-called Chilled Plows. THE BEST GENERAL PURPOSE

The Oliver Chilled Plow

FARMERS AND PLOWMAN. There are fifteen reasons why you should use nothing but the Oliver Chilled First—They are the Original and only genuine Chilled Plows made.
SECOND—They are adapted to all kinds of soil, and will do first class

THIRD-The mouldboards are thoroughly chilled, bave no soft spots THERD—The moddboards are thoroughly chilled, have no soft spots in them, will not scour in any soil, and will not wear out in ten years plowing.

FOURTH—Oliver's Chilled Metal will not corrode. The heaviest coat of rust that can accumulate on it will be entirely removed by a few minutes use, and the mouldboard will be as bright and smooth as before.

FIFTH—The Oliver has a thorough centre draft, runs lighter than any other plow, and is under the direct and complete control of the operator.

SIXTH—The wood work being free from mortises permits easy, rapid and per fect adjustment, for either two or three horses.

SYNTH—The Oliver is economical in repairs, and when your share in repewed.

SEVENTH-The Oliver is economical in repairs, and when your share is renewed you have an entirely new cutting edge.

EIGHTH—The Oliver patent slip-nose share, can be furnished when desired; a NINTH—All parts of the Oliver Chilled Plows are fitted over templates at the works, hence are exact duplicates, and by simply giving the number and hand, you are sure of a perfect fit.

TENTH—The Oliver Chilled Plow has hundreds of imitators. No manufacturer ELEVENTH-For ease of management, adjustability and lightness of draft, it has Twelfth—The "Oliver" has a record unparalleled in the history of plow making, from 1.500 in 1870, to over 100,000 in 1889. THIRTEENTH-Your negibbors will tell you to buy the "Oliver" and to take a ier. It will break hard ground when no other plow will.

FOURTEENTH—There are over 1,200,000 Oliver Chilled Plows in actual use, as three times as many being sold at the present time as any other plow manufactured. It is warranted to do better work and more of it, with the same amount of draft, FIFTEENTH-Finally, these plows are better known, have reached a larger sale, have had a longer run, have proved more popular and given better satisfaction, than any other plows on the face of the globe.

Look out for imitation plow points and other extras. The genuine points and other repairs are made only by the OLIVER CHILLED PLOW WORKS and have the name "OLIVER" cast on them. It is plain that as the average age of the society increases, the death rate must also increase. There are fewer members left to pay, necessarily the assessments are larger. It is claimed that this difficulty is overcome by taking in new and younger members, or the infusion of new blood, thus keeping the average age, and consequently the death rate down to a low figure. This is the principle argument used by the advocates of assessment insurance societies when they are questioned on the subject, and, at first thought a most reasonable one it appears to be, yet its utter fallacy can be easily shown.

Okin Digaggag

The DERMATOLOGICAL AND NEURO-TIC INSTITUTE was established here seven years ago for the special purpose of treating and curing Diseases of the Skin and Nervous Diseases by DR. C. W. BENSON, and his success is well known. Patients come from every county in the state, as well as city to be cured, and they are not disappointed.

It makes no difference how bad, obstinate or long standing the case may be, ifit is curable, he will cure it, having devoted eighteen years to the treatment and cure of these diseases. Skin diseases and nervous diseases are difficult and hard to diagnose and cure except by an experienced specialist, and people waste much money in advertised medicines and going to doctors who cannot, in the nature of things, know much about these special diseases, and who, as a rule, are not prepared nor have the remedies for their proper treatment. Dr. Benson at his insitute is thoroughly prepared in every particular to diagnose and treatSkin Diseases and Nervous Diseases successfully, and sufferers from any form of these troubles, whether in adults or children, will save time, money and suffering by placing themselves under the care and treatment of Dr. Benson, who is a graduate of medicine of the University of Maryland, and who practiced medicine in a general way for ten years; but eighteen years ago he gave it up, and became a specialist in these diseases. He has a laboratory in his building, and all medicines he prescribes are prepared under his own supervision.

SKIN DISEASES

Superfluous Hairs. Dr. Benson permanently removes them from ladies' faces, lips, etc., with the electric needle, and guarantees them never to return. Also, Warts, Moles and all blemishes are per-manently and perfectly removed by the Elec-trolysis without blood or leaving any mark Nerves! Nerves! Nerves!

Who is it that does not at times wish they had no nerves? Nothing renders a person more wretched than to be nervous or to suffer from some form of nervous disease, and nothing leads to more trouble and disaster than neglected nervous disease. They are the origin of insanity and sulcide, of parallass and despondency, loss of power, prostration and exhaustion, and should not be neglected. Why remain wretched and miserable and in danger of worse troubles when you can be cured? There are no classes of diseases that yield more promptly to proper treatment in the hands of a specialist who understands them than nervous diseases, Since specialists have devoted their time to the study and cure of nervous diseases, great strides have been made in curing them. Diseases that were a few years ago considered incurable are now cured without difficulty, and many who were hopeless sufferers, as they thought, are now repoicing in perfect restoration. So much for science and specialists.

Electricity has worked a reformation in the treatment of nervous diseases, and has accomplished wonders. But skill, practice and experience is required to apply it with effect. The different kinds of electricity and batteries vary as much in their effects upon the system as different kinds of medicine do, and the doctor who uses one battery for all kinds of diseases might, with as much propriety, and is prepared to use electricity in any and every way; also, Electric Baths.

In writing, give full particulars.

THE IMPROVEMENTS ARE, Ist. The High Arched Standard cannot be choked, and is provided with Side Flanges on its front arm and a clamping device on its rear arm which POSITIVE-LY prevents any side movement to the Beam, insuring the proper "land" and the correct running of the Plow, no matter how long in use.

2d. The Beam is disconnected from the Handles, and is secured to the standard by two bolts assisted by the Improved Beam Seat and Beam Holding Device, uniting and holding these parts together with more firmness and greater security than is possible under any other known arrangement.

3d. Under the rear end of the Beam is a simple device to make the Plow rundeep or shallow, or to land, more or less, to regulate both the device to make the Plow rundeep or shallow, or to land, more or less, to regulate both the device, and width of the furrow. This is the most perfect "Beam Adjuster" yet devised, and should be examined to be appreciated.

4th. As with all of our Plows, neither handle is attached to the Moldboard to collect trash, weeds, etc., and their lower ends are not near enough to the ground to collect dampness and invite decay.

The shape of our Moldboards as well as our Numbers for them, O. X, 1, 2, 2\frac{1}{2}, 3, 20. etc., have been adopted by others, and the public is CAUTIONED to look for the word "Atlas" in connection with the above Numbers, when they will be sura to get our Goods.

OUR WHITE'S CHILLED PLOWS

Are made with the same Beam Securing and Beam Adjusting devices now used on the Atlas and herein described. The shape of the Moldboards of our Chilled Plows has also been imitated, but the metal used in our is Chilled and not the common hard white iron used in the Moulds of many so-called Chilled Plows. We warrant the moulds of our Chilled Plows not to be as easily corroded by wear; to wear longer and scour better in adhesive soils than any other and we further warrant ours in all respects.
